Have you noticed the large amount of traffic on the Rhine? There is a continual procession of heavily laden barges and even many of the pleasure steamers are being used to take cargoes, the open decks being utilized for this purpose.

Welcoming the Wanderer.

An old house in the Hildebold Platz has '1839' in big figures in one window and '1919' in another. The house is decorated with flags, festoons, coloured rosettes, etc., and over the door is "Herzlich willkommen," which means "hearty welcome."

Some Appetite.

In a certain institution for soldiers I noticed a Tommy sitting down in front of a plate containing no less than fifteen cakes. I didn't remain till the end.

Night Traffic.

It is probably due to the late balls and parties that the streets of Cologne, between 1 and 3 a.m., are by no means devoid of vehicular traffic.

Marricer Hotel.

I hear that the Marricer Hotel is making great preparations for a real good time, in a real British fashion, for Christmas. The family dances held there every Saturday evening are said to be the most enjoyable in Cologne.

Appreciated.

Troops appear at last to realise that they can get better value for their money at N.A.C.B. Hostels than at German cafes for while the latter in these days are almost deserted, the Staplehaus on the Rhine Bank is crowded. Give Tommy a good article for his money and he soon shows appreciation.

Where Tommy Leads.

If you watch a German policeman attempting to regulate the traffic you will find amusement. One I saw so engaged got himself into a tangle and had to call the assistance of a British M.P. to help him out.

The Cologne British Stores.

The "complete stores" in the Obermarspforten No 27 will, I hear, be open on Thursday. Strolling round there yesterday I felt quite at home for the place is arranged in a thoroughly British fashion. Grocery counters, clothing room, a mystic apartment labelled "ladies' department," another with the inscription "tobacco and cigars" and so on. And one "pays at the desk."

Formal Opening Day.

I hear a rumour that there may be a formal opening day with some sort of exhibition. I shall be there. By the way among the varied stock at the "wines and spirit" counter I noticed a fery fine assortment of operatifs and liqueurs, such an assortment as I have not seen for a long time.

RHINELANDER.

FOR BUSINESS MEN IN RHINELAND.

CONCERNING COMMERCIAL POSTAL BUSINESS.

In continuation of the important article published in our issue of Friday last, we are now able to give the following authentic information respecting the position of British and Allied Commercial travellers and firms conducting their German business by mail.

Allied trade in British occupied territory, in foodstuffs, fodder, articles of luxury, wine, seeds, tobacco (such as cigarettes, cigars, tobacco smoking and chewing) snuff and pharmaceutical products.

A. THROUGH THE MEDIUM OF THE POST

Allied Companies and traders domiciled outside Germany carrying on wholesale trade in the above articles with firms in British occupied territory through the medium of the post are not required to be in possession of a trading licence. It is advisable, however, that such Allied firms should assure themselves that the importer in British occupied territory is in possession of a trade licence in accordance with German regulations.

Attention is directed to the fact that, according to the present German law, firms domiciled outside Germany doing business in Unoccupied Germany through the medium of the post are required to have a trade licence.

Goods in the hands of unlicensed traders are subject to confiscation.

B. TRAVELLERS.

Bona fide travellers are not required to obtain trading licences, although their cards of identification must be submitted and stamped by the local Polizei Präsidium on their arrival.

For the benefit of those business men who wish to know where to secure direct and reliable information on all matters relating to overseas trade, the Department of Overseas trade (Development and Intelligence) at 73 Basinghall Street, London E.C. 2 is freely available.

The Department is a centre at which information on all subjects of commercial interest is collected and classified in a form convenient for reference, and at which, so far as the interests of British trade permit, replies are given to enquiries by traders on commercial matters. As far is possible, the Department supplies, on personal or written application, information with regard to the following subjects: Foreign and Colonial Contracts open to Tender and other openings for British Trade; Lists of manufacturers at home and lists of firms abroad engaged in particular lines of business in different localities: Foreign and Colonial Tariff and Customs Regulations; Commercial Statistics; Forms of Certificates of Origin; Regulations concerning Commercial Travellers, Sources of Supply, Prices, etc., of Trade Product; Shipping and Transport, etc.

In connection with the Commercial Diplomatic Service the appointment is announced of Major C. J. Kavanagh as Commercial Commissioner for Germany.

Major Kavanagh is at present working at the Department of Overseas Trade, and it is expected that he will shortly proceeed to Cologne, where he will establish his headquarters. The above appointment is additional to that of Colonel Thelwall, the Senior Commercial Commissioner in Germany with headquarters at Berlin.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

Fewer Recruits.—The Anglican Bishops are deploring the shortage of clergy.

Not so Picturesque.—The dress of Japanese schoolgirls has been westernised.

Small Force.—Bulgaria agrees to reduce her army to 20,000.

Beer Profits.—Mr. A. W. Hall an Oxford brewer has left a fortune of £146,226.

Our Tanks.—Lille is to have a British Tank as a war souvenir.

Travel Costlier.—Italian first-class railway fares are increased eighty per cent.

Poor Parsons.—Many incumbents in Ely Diocese have stipends of less than £200.

Democratic Bench.—Two miners, a docker and a postman have been made magistrates at Swansea.

Only Five Months.—A consignment of chemicals despatched to Wakefield from London in June has just arrived.

Profit Returned.—A Glasgow firm had to refund £40 to a man who had paid £100 for a bedroom suite.

Let there be Light.—While Mr. Asquith was speaking on the bright prospects of his party, the electric light failed.

In the Limelight.—Princess Mary is to take part in many public functions. She opens a woman's club in the city shortly.

A Hitch.—Until 900,000 German workmen arrive in France, M. Clemenceau refuses to hand over war prisoners.

The new Era.—A Whitley Council is to be set up among Portsmouth Dockyard workers.

Undignified.—The new premier of Ontario holds meetings of his Cabinet in a little room over a grocer's shop.

Who are They?—A party of ex-officers is touring as a mystery jazz troupe. They are masked.

Dumping.—Germany is exporting manufactures at "art" prices which the Allies cannot compete with.

Delivery — When?—One Birmingham motor company has £9,000,000 worth of orders to execute.

Their Value.—In Mongolia flapper wives can be bought for five camels. Widows of forty cost thirty camels.

Insane Murderer.—A Leeds miner who killed his child has been found guilty but insane.

Athletic Chief.—Miss Talbot, the Land Army's chief, was formerly the most famous woman cricketer of her time.

Unsavoury "Homes."—184,000 persons live in the London slum areas, says the Minister of Health.

Where does it go?—A Llanelly family earning £14 a week has applied for outdoor relief.

Can't move out.—Owing to an Australian railway strike, wheat shipments to Britain are held up.

Seeks Votes.—Ex-Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria is a candidate for the Imperial Presidency.

Fine Cider Year.—This year there has been a wonderful crop of apples for cider-making.

This Year's.—The new Peter Pan at the Duke of York's Theatre will be Miss Georgette Cohan.

Insidious Crime.—Mr. Justice McCardie says blackmail causes more misery and suicides than any other offence.

Dearer Bikes.—Bicycles to-day cost from £10 to £21. Cost of production has mounted up.

The Neglected goat.—Countess Bathurst has an extensive goat farm at Cirencester Park.

"Romance" Again.—Miss Doris Keene is to play the ever popular "Romance" for the movies.

The Cotton Boom.—Five more cotton mills in Lancashire have changed hands at high prices.

Honour for Sailor.—Captain Bertram Fox Hayes who commanded the Olympic during the war, has received the K.C.M.G. at the hands of the King.

Rose Garden Tragedy.—Mr. Willian D. Prior, one of the leading rosarians in England has been found hanging dead in his rosegardens at Colchester.

Big Cinema Deal.—Lord Beaverbrook has bought £400,000 worth of shares in a cinema combine owning thirty-five picture theatres.

Unclothed.—A Merthyr woman who neglected her four children, who were practically unclothed has gone to prison for two months.

Our Dear Furniture.—Americans coming to live in England are finding it the cheapest plan to bring their own furniture and pay the duty on it.

Starting the League.—A League of Nations conference is commencing at Brussels. Eight British delegates are present.

Meteor Crashes.—A vast meteor has fallen in Lake Michigan shaking several cities and causing a flare seen for fifty miles.

The Cattle Show.—Smithfield Cattle Show which has not been held since 1916 will take place this year from December 8th to 12th.

American Born.—Lady Astor M. P. is an American by birth and secured her British nationality by marrying her present husband.

Savationist Dies.—At a salvationist meeting at Hammersmith, Lieut. Col. Garvie, assistant chief secretary to the Salvation Army, was taken ill and died.

Great Florist.—After 31 years secretaryship of the Royal Horticultural Society, the Rev. W. Wilks, who introduced the Shirley poppy, is resigning through old age.

SORE HANDS

Quickly Healed

All chapped and sore skins should be promptly treated with Zam-Buk, the wonderful herbal healer.

Being so natural and refined, Zam-Buk penetrates beneath the outer surface of the skin. It soothes pain and irritation, purifies the inner tissue, and grows new healthy skin in an astonishing way.

Zam-Buk is completely free from the rancid animal fats and poisonous minerals of cheap ointments and salves. As a skin soother and healer Soldiers and Civilians will find that Zam-Buk stands in a class by itself.

Be sure you get Zam-Buk. Of chemists, canteens and stores, or obtainable direct from the Zam-Buk Laboratories, Leeds.

Unequalled for ECZEMA
ULCERS
POISONED WOUNDS PILES
CHILBLAINS CUTS BRUISES
BURNS
SCALDS, Etc.

Zam-Buk

YOUNGER SONS.

THE IDEAL CAREER.

The increasing industrial turmoil of the present day is rendering the question as to a future career for their sons one of ever greater difficulty to parents. Perhaps the most significant factor has been the introduction of female labour in all branches of commerce and industry, and the permanent employment of women in the professions and Civil Service.

The solution, however, would seem to be found in the fact that population is increasing faster than primary products, and the tendency of progress is towards a higher standard of comfort, better food, and more of it. The overcrowded professions will undoubtedly become an even more serious problem now that the remaining barriers against the inclusion of women are being gradually broken down.

If, however, the effect of this new orientation is to direct the energies of the male population away from the orthodox professions into the channels of direct production, then the world stands to gain thereby.

In the choice of a calling too much emphasis is often laid by parents upon academic success, too little on the practical bias in many young men, which, while unfitting them for high scholastic achievement, is all to the good in other spheres. Here is a young man, for instance, who has been given every advantage at school, has spent three years at a university, and yet has completely failed to realise the hopes which were centred upon him. Simply because he has little natural aptitude for learning, does it follow that his life should be made a misery to him on that account, that he should become the subject of constant reproach, and end in a ghastly failure? To force a young man at any stage to adopt a profession for which he is totally unsuited is to invite disaster.

In the realm of the practical such a young man will make good.

In times past the bias amongst the educated classes of Great Britain has invariably been in the direction of the learned and clerical professions—to such an extent, indeed, that to depart from family tradition in this regard was deemed high treason. Deep-rooted social prejudices ranked the farmer in a lower category. Farming in this country is carried on under such wretched climatic conditions that it has never attained the high standard which has been accorded to it in regions where these conditions are more favourable. In the Motherland this prejudice is passing away, and now parents are looking further afield in quest of a career for their sons.

In England there is an ever-increasing lack of opportunity. The professions are overcrowded, and except for the person with influence behind him or of brilliant achievement there is little scope. For the young man of adventurous spirit and determination, South Africa offers the best field, and orange-growing the greatest opportunity. What has happened in California will be repeated in South Africa. In the former country almost every type of business and professional man is represented in this calling, as witness the following testimony from Coit's "Citrus Fruits," a standard work on the subject:—

"California citrus culture, among all horticultural industries, is peculiar in that the people who have built it up have been, in many cases, retired business men or professional men from the New England and Central States. Persons who have lost their health in the process of gaining wealth have bought and developed citrus properties, the management of which, by requiring a life in the open sunshine and dry air, has resulted in renewed health and steadied nerves. These people brought to the industry much-needed capital, commercial habits and business ability. Citrus culture appeals to people of intelligence and refinement, and such are being drawn from many occupations. Now, since the automobile has come into such general use, the wealthy business man of the city builds a residence in his orange orchard in the suburbs, while among the inter-urban electric lines may be found the small orchards of the superannuated minister, the retired high-school teacher, the lawyer, the doctor, as well as those drawn from other walks of life."

In the Transvaal even better conditions prevail for the growing of citrus than in California, without the risk from frost which growers in the latter country have to face. To find the ideal district for a development proposition on a large scale, with a view to building up a considerable community, was no easy matter; but this was finally discovered in the Zebediela Estates, now in process of development. Experts are agreed on the possibilities of this undertaking, among others being Dr. William Macdonald, one of South Africa's leading authorities on agricultural problems; Mr. R. A Davis, formerly Chief Horticulturist to the Union Government; and Mr. A. H. D. Cochrane an expert agriculturist, who has an intimate knowledge of farming in South Africa, and recently went out to the country to report on large areas for an English company.

A five acre block on this estate may be purchased for £552 10s. cash, or £12 per annum spread over a period of five years; but for the settler desirous of making the most of his chances a minimum of ten acres is preferable. At the end of five years the return from each five acres, based on the experience of actual growers, is estimated at £500, after which the net profit would increase year by year, attaining its maximum about the twelfth year. In the intervening period the company is entirely responsible for development. The title-deeds to the land could, if desired, remain in the possession of a parent, until such time as he was satisfied with the progress made by his son, before finally turning it over to him.

An adequate water supply is the essence of a successful citrus proposition. On Zebediela there is a rainfall of 25 inches on the estate itself, and 35 inches in the watershed, 90 per cent. of which falls in the summer months.

The Company's Consulting Engineer is Mr. W. Ingham, M.Inst.C.E., M.I.Mech.E. London. Mr. Ingham is the leading irrigation authority in South Africa, being Chief Engineer to the Rand Water Board; Consulting Engineer to Durban and Port Elizabeth Municipalities and Lourenço Marques Water Scheme; President of the "A" Section of the South African Association for the advancement of Science; Ex-President of the South African Institute of Engineers, and recently nominated President of the South Africa Society of Civil Engineers. After exhaustive investigations Mr. Ingham has assured the Company that the scheme prepared by Mr. W. A. Palliser (the Company's Resident Engineer), with some slight modifications, will enable the Company to obtain sufficient water for all ground being sold for orange growing. The total expenditure on irrigation alone will be not less than £150,000.

On Zebediela one would be ensured of living a healthy and profitable life under ideal conditions, In this regard Dr. Macdonald writes:—

> In the whole of South Africa it would be hard to find a locality better situated for the production of citrus fruits of the finest quality. Here, indeed, is the natural home of the orange. Free alike from the cold winds and destructive frosts of the High Veld or the depressing fevers of the Low Country, this elevated Bush Veld is without doubt one of the healthiest agricultural regions in the world.
>
> Here, on the Zebediela Estates, the prospective settler seeking a home will find a land of eternal sunshine, fertile soil, crystal waters, and a climate with which none can compare. In the span of my own life I have seen the rise of the town of Riverside, in Southern California—the most famous orange-growing region in America—and I need no prophetic vision to forecast the advent of Zebediela City, set at the gateways to those citrus settlements, and bidding welcome alike to the people of South Africa and the settler from the Empire oversea.

Of the ground already sold, half has been disposed of to people in England, many of whom intend making their homes in South Africa, and the other half to residents in South Africa of a most desirable type. Young men at an impressionable age who settle on Zebediela Estate would be brought into contact with a highly refined and intelligent class of men, and would have every inducement to lead a clean, healthful, interesting, as well as prosperous existence.

A postcard addressed to the African Realty Trust, Ltd. (Incorporated in the Transvaal in 1902—capital £400,000 fully subscribed), of 36, New Broad Street, E.C.2. will bring full particulars regarding the project described herein.

AROUND AND ABOUT.

HIS KIND ACT.

A boy scout looked very sad and dejected at supper. His father inquired as to the cause of his downheartedness. "To tell you the truth, father, I have not lived up to our motto, to do a kind thing to somebody or something every day. I cannot recall having done a kind thing to any living creature the livelong day." The father kissed the boy goodnight and advised him to go to bed and sleep it off. Next morning quite a different boy appeared at the breakfast table. Lightheartedness had taken the place of depression. "Well," said the father, "how did you get rid of your troubles last night?" "Well, I went to bed, but for a long time I couldn't sleep. My conscience kept reminding me that I had not been true to my obligation. At last I could stand it no longer, so I got up and gave the cat my white mice."

STAGE CASUALTIES.

The recent sword accident by which Mr. Saintsbury, the Iago of the Scala "Othello," was wounded in the wrist, is only the last of a long series of similar mishaps, the most notable of which befell Barry Sullivan when appearing as Richard III. at Drury Lane in 1876. The Richmond was Henry Sinclair, and in their fight his sword cut through Sullivan's eyelid and injured the eye. But for the sword's point being blunted the sight must have been destroyed. As is was, Sullivan was off the stage for some weeks. Only a few actors have actually died on the stage, though many are said to have done so.

LIKE COLUMBUS.

M. Millerand, whose name is being freely mentioned in connection with the French Premiership, passed his 60th birthday last February. Lawyer, litterateur and wit, his opinion of England is, that it is a land made expressly for Frenchmen to discover. "How I discovered England" was to be the title of a book he has yet to write. "I feel," he said, when on a visit to this country, "like a little Christopher Columbus."

DWINDLING CRIME.

In recent years the volume of crime in England and Wales has steadily declined, and during the war period the fall was greatly accelerated. Whereas in the twelve months ending on March 31, 1914, the total number of persons received into prison was 136,424, the aggregate for the twelve months to March 31 last was no more than 26,050. When every allowance is made for such special circumstances as the absence of a large part of the male population with the Forces, and the operation of the liquor restrictions, these are striking figures.

POTTED UNICORN.

"And the next, ma'am?" said the country grocer to an ancient countrywoman booking her orders. She was silent; to inspire her the grocer suggested, "What about a nice tin of baked beans and pork, ma'am?" "None of them foreign canned meats for me," said the old dame, indignantly, "they be all lions and unicorns, they be."

A STORY OF B.P.

A story is told of Lieut.-General Sir R. Baden-Powell regarding the time when he was military secretary at Malta, and was noted for his love of fun. On one occasion at a Government House function he was sent to ask a young lady to repeat a skirt dance which had been greatly appreciated. The fair dancer, however, could not be prevailed upon to accede to the request, and informed him that if she did so she would be completely "blown." Where upon B.P. returned to the Governor looking somewhat sheepish and hesitating as if there was something he did not like to say. "Well?" asked the great man. "She won't," was the reply. "Won't?" echoed the Governor, "Why?" "Don't know," said B.-P., "but she said she'd be blowed if she did."

CHANGING HANDS.

Many of our famous and historic inns have been changing ownership recently, and to the list of such transactions has now been added the purchase of the "Saracen's Head," at Southwell, Notts, by Alderman Ball, the father of the great airman who lost his life in the later stages of the war. It was at the "Saracen's Head," a typical old-world inn, that Charles I spent his last night as a free man. Here he surrendered to the Scottish Commissioners, and thereafter remained in captivity, until his death.

A LONELY OFFICER.

Lonely officers were quite a feature of the Great War, but they seem since the Armistice to have gone out of fashion. All the same, Peace has produced what is perhaps the most authentic case on record—namely, that of the lonely Briton left in Archangel on liaison work. He is paid by the British Government, and his job is not without advantages; he knows not the profiteer (at least, not the home-bred variety), and he recks nought of railway strikes; he is his own O.C., and probably he gets plenty of parcels from home. In any case, it is to be hoped, he gets his papers regularly; they are a splendid cure for home-sickness.

JOHN CHINAMAN.

The Chinese Labour battalions who have been employed on salvage work in France and Belgium are being disbanded. At the rate of 500 a day the men are being repatriated, and soon the most picturesque of the many coloured groups of the Western front will have disappeared. John Chinaman has a record of excellent war work to his credit. His constantly grinning face endeared him to the heart of the British soldier, who, with his customary adaptability, picked up enough of the Eastern language to make the yellow man understand that war was "no good" and night-bombing aeroplanes "not nice."

FACE VALUE.

Really interesting women are more than pretty; they are beautiful, and one thoroughly enjoys watching them. French women owe much of their fascination to the fact that they express so much of what they feel by face and by gesture. A tradition of old standing among our own best-bred women that it was beneath their dignity to express any emotion is happily passing out, with a result of much improvement in the interest with which we meet them.

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE AND PERSONAL MEDIUM

Do you read the Personal Advts.? There may be a message for you. No advertisement inserted unless name and address is given. A Box No. may always be used, however, if desired. Send 4 Mks. for each line of seven words, including address, to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

FOR SALE.

PHOTO-HOUSE, Ubierring 29. Recommends: Contessa Nettel with "Zeiss" Triotar' 1:63 900 meter helen and great selection in apparatus.

WANTED.

BUSINESS lady requires comfortably furnished bed-sitting room. Apply Box G. O., Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

GERMAN SHEEP DOG wanted, about nine months old. Trained to house. Preferably over distemper. Apply Box 84 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

SUIT CASE, large, good, wanted. Particulars and price to Box 369, Cologne Post. A.P.O./S40.

RUSSIAN teacher required for English gentleman. Apply Box 82, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

GOOD MOTOR CAR wanted. Send all particulars to Box B.J.R. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

LADY TEACHER wanted to teach German to young boy of seven. Write to Box 83, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

PERSONAL.

FRANKIE returns minus ginger cat plus "Fluxite". State time and place.

WILL the gentleman who kindly adopted a British warm from No. 1 Club on 25th please communicate with Box 73, Cologne Post and arrange to collect the rest of the owners kit, as he is being demobbed.

SHOULD this meet the eye of a Lewis Gunner, name believed to be Scully, or something similar, of the 7th London, quartered with or near some Scottish troops in the Niehl or Nippes neighbourhood, on No. 7 tram route, would he please communicate with Box 79, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

WILL Capt. Laurence, Royal Munster Fusiliers, communicate immediately with Box 76, Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40.

MISCELLANEOUS.

UNIFORMS altered and pressed for British Officers and men. Take Nr. 643 Car to. Pius-Str. Price: Tunic 20 Mks. Trousers 7 Mks Breeches 7 Mks.

LOST.

LOST in N.A.C.B. on 26th inst. pair of Officer's breeches. Reward. Write Box 81, Cologne Post. A.P.O./S. 40.

During the evening of Thursday 27th, Suitcase having owners name and initials, containing uniforms, Munster Fusiliers Badges, with considerable sum of money. Substantial reward. Apply Box 75, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S 40.

LANGUAGES.

GERMAN LADY can take a few more pupils for private instruction. Evenings only. Box B.O. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 36 Marsilien-Strasse, Cologne, December 2, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S 40 British Army of the Rhine.

TRY AGAIN
FILL IN A COUPON
ANOTHER
BIG FOOTBALL
FORECAST PRIZE
THIS WEEK

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

YOUR "POST"
COSTS YOU LESS THAN THREE FARTHINGS

No. 211. COLOGNE, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

DEBATE ON PREMIUM BONDS.

TREASURY OFFERS STRONG OPPOSITION TO BOTTOMLEY'S PROPOSALS.

ITALIAN SOCIALISTS' GOOD BEHAVIOUR.

PREMIUM BONDS.

BOTTOMLEY URGES THEIR ADOPTION.

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Bottomley introduced a motion in favour of the issue of 2½ per cent bonds exempt from taxation, with a fund equivalent to 1½ per cent for prizes to be drawn for periodically. He said he believed that an enormous sum would be produced by such an issue, while the buying of the bonds by the workers would help to prevent strikes and revolutionary proposals and the wasting of money on backing horses.

The precise terms of the motion which was seconded by Sir Clement Kinloch-Cooke, were:

That, in the opinion of this House, the time has arrived when the Government should make an issue of Investment and Premium Bonds, tax free, and redeemable at a fixed period with compound interest, a certain number of such bonds being drawn at intervals and paid off with a premium or prize attached, the details of each issue to be settled by the Treasury.

The main amendment stood in the name of members of the Independent Liberal group, headed by Mr. Acland, who proposed.

That this House declines to consent to any scheme of raising a loan which is based upon a gamble with the savings of the people, which involves Government solicitation for a lottery, which will enrich the few at the expense of the many, which will involve a substantial immediate loss of the value of the money invested to all but those who chance to win prizes, which is contrary to the long-established usage of the British Treasury, is in conflict with public policy, and calculated to depreciate British credit.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, opposed the proposal. In his opinion the issue of Premium Bonds would encourage the gambling spirit and would not bring in more than fifty millions, an altogether inadequate sum. What was wanted he said, was sober, steady and honest work.

The debate is proceeding.

LENIN OR TROTZKY?

ENGLISH M.P. AMONG THE PROPHETS.

Addressing a "Hands off Russia" demonstration at Glasgow, Mr. John Maclean who has introduced as Soviet Consul in Glasgow, said Russia wanted peace, but Great Britain only wanted a breather till she made her next offensive. Once they got the working class on the move they could not stop short of Bolshevism.

Colonel Malone, M.P., predicted that the President of the new Russian Republic would yet drive along the streets of London as President Poincaré had done. He would get as great a reception, and probably be received at Buckingham Palace.

ECHO OF EPSOM RIOTS.

CANADIANS TO BE RELEASED.

In response to the petition presented by Mr. Bernard Abinger, solicitor, for the release of the Canadians imprisoned after the Epsom riots, the Home Secretary has replied that, after consulation with the Canadian authorities he has decided that the men shall be released on December 15 and handed over to a Canadian military escort for Canada.

AUSTRALIAN FLIGHT.

BRITISHER ONE DAY BEHIND.

The Air Ministry announces that Captain Ross Smith in his Vickers-Vimy machine arrived at Allahabad on the 27th November and left for Calcutta on the 28th. Poulet arrived at Calcutta on the 26th and left for Akyab on the 28th.

MAJOR FOUND SHOT IN BED.

Major Stewart, 49, who was found shot in a private hotel in Kensington Park-road on Saturday morning, died in hospital later in the day.

The police who were called to the hotel discovered the major in bed fully dressed, with a bullet wound in the head.

Major Stewart is said to have been attached to a Middlesex regiment.

LENIENCY FOR CONSPIRATOR.

In consequence of the Vladivostok revolt, the Siberian Government has decided to deport the Czecho-Slovak leader, Gaida, from Siberia without committing him for trial. This decision has been made in consideration of his military record.

FALSE ALARMS.

ITALIAN KING CHEERED BY PARLIAMENT.

Escorted by their suite, the King and Queen of Italy proceeded on Monday morning amid the firing of salutes and the pealing of bells, to open the Italian Parliament. Flags were flying from many buildings and the route was lined with troops, large crowds thronging the streets and cheering enthusiastically.

In his speech from the throne, the King said that the confidence and sympathy of the country are essential to Parliament. "Italy", he continued, "has obtained by war some of her natural frontiers but not all. The defence of the Italian populations on the Adriatic coast constitutes for us an imprescriptible duty, but we have no Imperialistic ambitions and we do not intend that the peace of Europe shall be disturbed. No cloud obscures the sincerity of our political relations with foreign powers."

The entry of the Royal party into the Parliament buildings was greeted with cordial cheers from the Senators and Deputies. When the Premier requested those present to seat themselves, the Socialists shouted "Long live Socialism" and left the House. Immediately there ensued a great outburst of cheering for the King and Queen and the ovation continued until all the Socialists had withdrawn.

DOUBTING THOMAS.

DISSATISFIED WITH RAILWAY NEGOTIATIONS.

Mr. J. H. Thomas, M.P., addressing a railwaymen's meeting at March on Sunday night, said it was due to the public that he should say that while there was nothing which could be called a crisis, the negotiations on wages were not proceeding as satisfactorily as he had hoped. "I know all too well the danger," he said, "that on one side it will be construed as an alarming statement, and on the other perhaps as bluff, but I take no notice of either of those views. I am simply stating what I know to be cold, hard facts, viz., that the railwaymen are expecting, and they are entitled to expect, a statement on the question of standardization before the end of the year. (Cheers.)

"The progress made is not such that satisfies me. It is likely to be accomplished in any case. The wages proposals now before us are such that will not be acceptable to the railwaymen. This, however, does not mean that the last word has been said by the Government. On the contrary, I have strong grounds for hoping that a result of the negotiations next week, a more hopeful proposal will be put before us. (Cheers.) However, I want to impress upon those members who do not hesitate to say that we must have another strike to settle matters, that that is not the way to deal with it. It is for us to exhaust every means open with a view to effecting a settlement." (Cheers.)

NEW LABOUR HALL.

At a joint conference of Trade Unionists and co-operatives at Manchester on Saturday it was decided to erect a great labour hall at Manchester. It is intended that it shall serve as a meeting place for Northern workers. The cost will be half a million, and the premises will include suites for Trade Union offices, meeting rooms, restaurant and hotel accommodation. The conference also urged Trade Unions to transfer their banking business to the Co-operative Wholesale Society.

MOND LIBEL ACTION.

In a libel action which came up for trial on Monday, Sir Alfred Mond was the plaintiff and the defendants were Lieut.-Commander Harry MacLeod Fraser and Harry Hamilton Beamish.

The alleged libel was shown on a poster exhibited in March last. It bore the words "Sir Alfred Moritz Mond is a traitor. He allotted shares to Huns during the war." Counsel for plaintiff asked the Jury to say that this was a wicked and false imputation.

The case was adjourned.

JUGO SLOVAKIA WARNS THE ALLIES.

Reuter's Agency learns that the Jugo-Slav Government has intimated to the Allies that any proposed extension of D'Annunzio's activities would inevitably lead to armed conflict with Jugo-Slavia. The Allies continue to use their good offices both with Italy and the Jugo-Slavs to prevent any unfavourable development of the crisis.

A Berlin message says that the British Government has agreed that the sending home of German war prisoners from India shall begin early in December.

EGYPTIAN AFFAIRS.

TWO UNIVERSITY SHEIKS ARRESTED.

After a brief visit to Beirut, Lord Allenby has returned to Cairo. He is very pleased with his reception at Beirut and especially with the spirit of complete accord existing between General Gouraud and himself.

Lord Allenby took a most drastic step on November 27th, ordering the arrest of two sheiks of El Azhar University, which, though known to be a hotbed of sedition, has hitherto been regarded as a "sanctuary." Extremists are already busy disseminating the idea that the arrests are the prelude to religious interference, but the population realises that Lord Allenby is taking a determined line of action.

Three more attempts to shoot officers have been reported from near the Nile. One officer was wounded and the assailants escaped in the darkness. Englishmen are indignant and demand a vigorous search for persons in unauthorised possession of firearms. At Alexandria curfew has been extended to midnight, but in Cairo the present series of attacks is effectively keeping English residents indoors. It is not believed that attacks are part of a programme, though the extremists are suspiciously quiet.

The Gamia El Azbar, the Moslem University of Cairo, is the most famous seat of learning of the East. Originally a mosque, it was turned into a University in 988 A.D., and the number of its students was some years ago as high as 10,000.

POLAND'S CABINET.

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IN PADEREWSKI.

M. Paderewski's Cabinet has resigned. Reuter's Agency is informed by the Polish Press Bureau, however, that M. Paderewski has received a vote of confidence from a majority of the Diet, being supported by the Constitutional Club, the National People's Union, the Popular National Association, and the National Christian Labour Party. He was only opposed by the parties of the Left, the Polish Socialist Party, and the People's Party.

M. Paderewski has therefore been asked to undertake the reconstruction of the Cabinet. A Committee of Ministers is to be formed, including the Premier and the Vice-Premier and the Ministers of the Interior, Foreign Affairs, Finance, and War. A plan is also being considered according to which M. Paderewski is to remain Premier and Foreign Minister, and is to go abroad as Polish Delegate.

It is proposed further that the Vice-Premier shall be given full powers to direct internal political affairs.

DUBLIN MURDER.

WELL-KNOWN DETECTIVE SHOT.

Sergt. John Barton, a Dublin Police detective, was shot in Dublin on Saturday night while walking at the lower end of Grafton-street. The detective was hurried to hospital, but died within a few minutes of admission.

The murderer made off immediately he fired the fatal shot and has not yet been captured.

Sergt. Barton was decorated by the King for his gallantry during the Irish Rebellion. He was the best-known detective in Dublin and one of the most capable.

Sergt. Barton's detective work was not connected with any political section, and his murder on the face of it seems entirely purposeless.

Four shots must have been fired as there are four bullet marks on the wall dividing Trinity College from College street, although only one cartridge case has been found. There was only one wound on the body the bullet having passed through the right lung.

SECRET SERVICE.

UNKNOWN MUNICIPAL OFFICIAL.

Undeterred by the fact that the woman profiteering inspector resigned within two or three days of commencing her work, the Bermondsey Committee mean to appoint another official to look for excessive prices.

But in order that the name of the new inspector should not be made known to the traders, the committee sat in private and declined to communicate their decision.

HOLOCAUST AT VIENNA.

Fire broke out in the early morning of the 28th November in a wooden shed belonging the Markgraf Neuseidl in the vicinity of Vienna where 108 Czecho-Slovak agricultural labourers were asleep. No fewer than fifty-four perished in the flames and twelve others were seriously injured. The catastrophe was due to an explosion of petrol, or ammunition.

EXPERT LUGGAGE THIEVES.

Between Sept. 15 and Oct. 30 no fewer than 1,189 persons were arrested at French railway stations attempting to steal passengers' luggage and other articles.

THE NEW MEMBER.

LADY ASTOR, M.P., TAKES THE OATH.

The debut of Lady Astor, the first lady member actually to enter the House of Commons, created enormous interest on Monday. The Peers gallery was so thronged that Lord Astor had to find a seat in the Distinguished Strangers gallery.

Before questions were over Lady Astor appeared at the Bar of the House. She was very simply dressed in a dark coat skirt and white blouse, and wore a dark tricorne hat. She was presently joined by her sponsors, Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. A. J. Balfour, one the Premier, the other an ex-Premier. The three stood chatting merrily until the Speaker uttered the words "Members desiring to take their seats will please come to the table."

The Coalition Unionist member for Croydon was first introduced and then followed Lady Astor, with Mr. Balfour on her right and the Prime Minister on her left. They advanced up the floor of the House, Lady Astor making the three regulation bows with her sponsors as they progressed from bar to table. There her sponsors left her and she took the oath in the prescribed form.

While the Chief Clerk was producing the massive volume for her to sign the roll, she created much amusement by turning round quite unconcernedly and engaging in conversation with Mr. Austen Chamberlain and other Ministers. She signed the roll as Nancy Astor and subsequently took her seat below the gangway on what used to be at one time the Opposition side of the House, but which is now occupied by supporters of the Government.

LABOUR LIQUOR POLICY.

NATIONALIZATION COUPLED WITH LOCAL VETO.

The Labour Party's News Service says:—A Bill has just been presented to Parliament to enable the Parliamentary electors in prescribed areas by direct vote to prohibit the issue within such areas of licences for the sale of intoxicating liquors, and also the common sale or supply of such liquors in licensed premises, clubs, or elsewhere within such areas. The Bill seeks to secure prohibition by local veto, and if carried into law would permit vested interests to operate so long as the electors decided against local prohibition.

The policy of the Labour Party on this question may be generally described as nationalization of the liquor traffic, coupled with local veto. While they are in favour of the question of prohibition being left for determination by the people, they are opposed to the continuation of the system of private ownership and control of the traffic, which is mainly concerned in output and profit.

PRISON FARE.

WHAT THE SOVIET SAYS OUR MEN RECEIVE.

There is apparently no prospect of an immediate termination of the conference between Mr. J. O'Grady, M.P., and Litvinoff, though it is understood that a successful issue is probable. Litvinoff has informed Mr. O'Grady that he saw some of the British prisoners just before he left Russia. They appeared to be contented, he said, except as regards food and the lack of warm clothing.

Litvinoff declared that the prisoners receive daily one pound of bread, one ounce of sugar, four ounces of meat or fish, eight ounces of potatoes, half an ounce of salt, half an ounce of fat, one twenty-fourth of an ounce of tea and three ounces of a kind of porridge. They also receive fifteen ounces of tobacco, eight ounces of soap and five boxes of matches per month.

MINERS INCOME TAX.

NARROW MAJORITY IN FAVOUR OF STRIKE.

The final results of the Welsh miner's ballot concerning resistance to payment of income tax on incomes below £250 is as follows:

For a strike	73,307
Against	72,837
Majority in favour.	470

The South Wales Miners' Conference has decided to defer action on the question and to ask the Miners' Federation of Great Britain to take a ballot of all the coalfields on the subject.

AMERICAN MINERS STILL OUT.

The mine owners of the central bituminous fields have posted notices granting fourteen per cent. advance as recommended by the Fuel Controller, but the miners have not returned to work. Governor Allen has undertaken to man the mines.

Four thousand volunteers were protected by six hundred Federal soldiers at mines in Kansas. Fifteen hundred switchmen have struck at Kansas City, thus threatening the stoppage of coal transport.

Sentences on various French citizens for taking part in the publication of the "Gazette des Ardennes" during the occupation have been quashed by the Appeal Court, and a fresh Court-martial ordered.

RUSSIAN LINE.

COMPLETE FROM CASPIAN TO BALTIC.

The War Office official communiqué on the situation existing on the South Russian front on November 25th is as follows; On the front of the Caucasus, Army, Bolshevist attacks on both banks of the Volga continue and while on the East bank General Wrangel has been forced to withdraw to fifteen miles North-East of Tsaritsia, on the West bank the Bolshevists suffered heavily without gaining any corresponding advantage. One of their columns was surrounded and destroyed with the loss of 1,000 prisoners, fifteen machine-guns and all transport. On the right and centre of the Don Army the situation remains unchanged. On their left wing the Bolshevists commenced an advance on the 22nd which has brought them to the line Bobrovliski—Ostrogotak, about fifty miles South of Voronej. On the Volunteer Army front the Bolshevists attacks which have been so persistent during the last month are now losing their impetus. A counter-attack on the 24th by Markov's Division on the Kharkov-Kursk railway recaptured Rjeva and penetrated as far as Solnitsovo, East of Kursk. Six guns and 600 prisoners were taken in this operation.

In the Western Ukraine, the Volunteers have driven the Bolshevists out of Berdichev, where the 86th Soviet Regiment forming the garrison was completely destroyed. Two guns, eight machine-guns and part of the Staff of the 12th Bolshevist Army which was holding this portion of the front fell into the hands of the assailants.

Against Petlura the Volunteer advance westwards also progresses uninterruptedly and has reached the line Proskurov-Kamenets-Podolsk, where Denikin's advance guards have now met these of the Poles. A united anti-Bolshevist front has thus been formed extending from the Caspian to the Baltic.

ORGY OF EXTRAVAGANCE.

SOCIAL SURGERY NECESSARY.

Mr. R. Munro, Secretary for Scotland, speaking to a meeting of Scottish War Savings workers at Perth, said it seemed to him that there was a sort of orgy of extravagance sweeping over the country, and people were spending money like water. This was very noticeable in London, where they saw the theatres crowded every night, the restaurants packed to the doors, shop windows crammed with gems, and sale-rooms reeking with gold. It was wicked, and there was a corrupting and corroding influence, insidious in its effects upon the State, which he hoped it would be their endeavour to counteract. The canker must be cut out, and they could take a hand in the social surgery which was necessary. (Cheers). When he read of a champagne glass selling at £92, a bid of £60,000 for a pearl necklace being refused, and a picture changing hands at £50,000, he really began to wonder if their national emblem in Scotland was to become their national food. (Laughter and cheers).

"REAL SPORTY."

PRINCE TAKES A WETTING.

When the Prince of Wales arrived at Victoria on Monday the weather was most inclement. Rain was falling heavily, and a black fog formed an overhead pall. The carriages for the procession were closed, but were hurriedly opened, on the Prince stating that he wished to drive through the streets exactly as if the weather were fine, in order not to disappoint the people. The crowd warmly appreciated this is as being "real sporty," and they cheered all the more heartily.

BAD ALL ROUND.

MINERS' PROTEST AGAINST NATIONALISATION.

A resolution was passed unanimously at a meeting of the Conservative Club at Senghenydd on Saturday: "That this meeting representing 500 members of the South Wales Miners' Federation, protests against the suggested nationalisation of the mines, and considers the proposal to be bad for the State and bad for every man who is engaged in the coal industry."

£4,000 FOR A KISS.

Mrs. Murphy, of Jersey City, is claiming £4,000 from her lodger, named Edgar, for a stolen kiss.

Her husband has joined in the suit and demands that £1,000 of the money shall be paid to him.

Mrs Murphy's story is that she was alone in her bedroom when the lodger forced his way in, put his arms around her and kissed her. She was frightened and fainted and has been under a doctor's care since.

The lodger says the whole story is a fabrication.

GENERAL SIR A. MURRAY.

The Exchange Telegraph Company states that the report of a serious accident to General Sir Archibald Murray is without foundation and that he is quite well.

THE PADRE CASE.

QUESTIONS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

As was only to be expected, the circumstances surrounding the arrest and subsequent acquittal by Court-martial of Captain O'Donnell, the Australian Chaplain, of the charge of using disloyal language, has raised a fierce controversy. In the House of Commons on Monday Mr. Devlin asked whether the Secretary for War was able to make any statement regarding the arrest of the Rev. O'Donnell; whether he was arrested on a charge of which he was found not guilty and whether he was subjected to every humiliation, including transfer to the Tower and being treated as a dangerous criminal, and who was responsible for this outrage.

Mr. Forster, Financial Secretary to the War Office, replied that he would make a detailed statement as soon as possible.

Mr. Devlin then asked Mr. Bonar Law whether, considering the vital importance of this matter and the indignation caused in Australia, it was treating the question fairly for the Under Secretary to come to the House and give such an answer as Mr. Forster had given.

Mr. Bonar Law said he quite realised the seriousness of the matter on account of its effect on Australian opinion, if it were found that steps had been taken which ought not to have been taken, but he could not see how it was possible to give an answer other than that the Government is going into the matter.

Pressing the point, Mr. Devlin asked whether the proper thing would not have been for some member of the Government, without waiting to be questioned on the subject, to rise and repudiate the action taken.

The Honourable member was quite mistaken, replied Mr. Bonar Law, in assuming that the Government had waited for his intervention before taking action. The Government quite realised that this matter must be gone into thoroughly and sifted to the bottom.

Mr. J. MacVeagh asked whether Mr. Hughes, the Australian Premier, had made any representations. Mr. Bonar Law said that he personally had seen none, but it was quite likely that there had been such, as it was reasonable that there should be some feeling about the matter.

After various furtner questions had been asked, the Speaker intervened and said that Mr. Devlin had already been given a great deal of latitude. The Government had showed that they had immediately instituted inquiries and more could not be expected. Later on Mr. Devlin endeavoured to move the adjournment of the House to discuss the matter, but the Speaker would not accept the motion. A protest was made by Mr. Devlin and then the matter was allowed to drop.

OCCUPIED TERRITORY.

IS GERMANY CREATING BAD CONDITIONS?

Sir Philipp Magnus asked in Parliament yesterday whether it was a fact that food and living conditions generally were much worse at Cologne and in occupied German territory generally than in the rest of Germany; and further, whether the German Government had not helped to create these conditions with a view to rendering the occupation unpopular. Mr. Bonar Law replied that the answer to the first of the question was in the negative. On the contrary, he said, our information tends to show that conditions are better at Cologne and in the occupied territory than in the unoccupied territory.

PERSUASION V. THREATS.

Speaking at Bristol on Sunday night, Mr. J. R. Clynes said that he believed that Labour had more to gain from the process of persuading people than from threatening them. The Labour Party should formulate the more immediate of their proposals for national examination and acceptance and should dare to offer themselves as an alternative Government to the present one. In this way their policy and programme could be considered side by side with the absence of policy and programme on the part of their opponents. The matters which should be prominent in their programme were unemployment, finance, nationalization of national property, and an international policy.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

Business was disappointing on Monday, this being attributed to the flood of new capital issues, the total amount offered being eleven millions sterling. British funds hardened in anticipation of the re-investment of the war Loan distribution of divid nds, but finished easier. Foreign funds were weak on further Continental sales. Brazilian undertakings were strong in response to a fresh rise in the value of the milreis to 18 9/16 pence. Oils met with further realisation and South Africa minings were irregular. Brokers report a fair number of enquiries from clients for the new French Lottery Loan. In the money market there was an excessive supply owing to War Loan dividends and Treasury Bills disbursements. During the day Loans were offered at 2¾ per cent. Silver advanced to 73½ pence, due to the small trade demand and the absence of offers. Gold was in good demand from the East and the Continent, 104 shillings being paid. German marks fetched 166 to 167 and Austrian crowns 540 to 560.

Ceratopogon Pulicaris!

You may not recognise his name—but you know him quite well. He's the little stinging fly which is biting everyone who tries to enjoy the evening outdoors. He will not bite you, however, if you always use. . . .

SAPON RUSSIAN TAR SOAP

You can defy all mosquitos, gnats and other pests which sting and bite.

A Doctor writes:— "I find your Russian Tar Soap gives wonderful results in irritable skin diseases, such as Scabies, Eczema, Pruritus, Insect Bites, Acne, etc." The following is the best method of application:— Moisen the Soap, rub it on the part affected, and allow it to dry.

Sold throughout all the Army Canteens at

OFFICIAL PRICE

Do not pay more. Insist on being supplied. If any difficulty advise us and we will pay postage.

SAPON SOAPS LIMITED
LONDON BRIDGE E.C.4., ENGLAND

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

FLIGHTS LTD

MILITARY TAILORS

LONDON. WINCHESTER. ALDERSHOT.

Owing to military requirements Mr. A. J. R. Lee has been compelled to change his address to

KRONPRINZ HOTEL
(Behind The Excelsior Hotel)

where he will have his usual excellent selection of material, both for Mufti and Uniform, also a stock of Hosiery of the best quality.

LATE OF THE OFFICERS' CLUB No. 1.

Ancestral Door-plates

still to be seen on the historic gateway leading to the cellars of John Harvey & Sons, Limited, Bristol, Naval and Military Wine Merchants.

Style of the Firm:—
1796 William Perry.
1816 Perry & Urch.
1825 Urch & Prichard.
1839 Urch, Prichard & Harvey.
1842 Harvey & White.
1871 John Harvey & Sons
1883 John Harvey & Sons, Ltd.

Among the many noted Wines and Spirits exported by this renowned firm to all parts of the world are the following:

HARVEY'S "HUNTING PORT,"
"BRISTOL MILK" (Old Golden Sherry),
HARVEY'S "SHOOTING SHERRY,"
The "19th" HOLE Scotch Whisky.

Send for Duty-free Price List.

The Trade Mark shown below is the recognised guarantee all over the world of consistently High Quality and Value:

JOHN HARVEY & SONS, Ltd.
BRISTOL, ENGLAND.
Founded 1796.

J H & S
BRISTOL
REGD BRAND

Change of Address.

R. C. FLACK & Co.

Naval, Military and Civil Tailors
CAMBRIDGE.

Their representative late of No. 1 Officers Club is now to be found in Room 6 at the KRONPRINZ HOTEL. Officers being demobilized can give their orders here — and be fitted — on their arrival in London. The largest selection of the newest materials to choose from. All military requirements in stock.

Agents for "Aquascutum" Raincoat.

Y. M. C. A.
BOOKSHOP
16, DOMHOF.
Special selection of Recent Novels and Childrens Story Books.
Hours 10—12.30, 2—4, 5—7.
Thursdays 10—12.30 only.

"Café Prinzess"

Corner of Waidmarkt.
Open to all Troops of the British and Allied Armies
DAILY CONCERT

Agrippina Café

Breitestr. 92—98, 1st floor. Tel. B 9935.
Artiste Concert daily from 4 p. m.
First class wines

Winehouse Köhler

(formerly Carlton)
Grosse Sandkaul 24—26
behind "Coffeehouse Germania"
The most fashionable place in the city.
Small-Orchestra starting at 5.0 p. m.
For officers and civilians only.

WINEHOUSE PALME

Ehrenstraße corner Benesisstraße
First class wines
Diners—Suppers
DAILY CONCERT

An open Motor Car Windhoff 1030 H.P. 6 seats in direction of drive — upholstery of club chairs — brown with black saddle — newly varnished — ready for use without tyres. Price 30 000 Mks. Poplog, Brandenburg, Jacobstr. 6, actually Probsteig. 31, Cologne, until Wednesday rich settings representing the 4 seasons, about 40 years old, for sale privately from private hand Mks. 30 000.

Royal Meissner china set

(clock and 2 side-pieces 50 cm. high)

Apply to Box A 401, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40 and inquire about the time of inspection at the private rooms.

Good Cologne Firm in the Foodstuff branch

(preserves and dainties)

established many years ago, with numerous customers and making good profits —having offices—depot—and staff wants connection with good firms in Holland, France and Great Britain

K. A. 3763, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

Open on Monday 1st Dec. 1919
A Dining Room for British Soldiers
Domhof No. 20
Head Office Domhof No. 24.
Proprietor Wilh. Cremer, Domhof 24.
Experienced Cook.

Please ask for:

DEUTZ & GELDERMANN

First-class Champagne

FRANZ JOSEF ROETTGEN, COLOGNE, General Agent.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre. Bismarckstr.

To-night and nightly at 6.00 p.m.
British Rhine Army Dramatic Coy.
Present
"LADY FREDERICK"
By W. SOMERSET MAUGHAM.
including
MISS DECIMA MOORE, C.B.E. in her original part
as LADY FREDERICK.
Book at Amusements Office.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.

To-night and nightly at 6 p.m.
Owing to continued popularity and success
RETURN VISIT OF Mr. ALFRED HURLEY'S LONDON VARIETY COMPANY
ARTISTES:
Mr. WARWICK PRICE
Entertainer at Piano from St. George's Hall, London
Miss GWLADYS STANLEY
Soubrette, Central Pier, Blackpool 1919
Mr. POWELL EASTBURY
Baritone & Humourist
Miss MARJORIE BOWYA
Soprano & Violinist
Miss MARGUERITE De LARA
Prestidigitator and
Miss MARJORIE BOWYA & Mr. POWELL EASTBURY
in a Pot Pouri of Rags & Gags.
Complete Change of Programme.
Prices 10 Mks. 6 Mks. 3 Mks.

No: 1 ARMY CINEMA. (The Boys). 32 Komödienstrasse

No: 2 ARMY CINEMA. (Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.

No: 3 ARMY CINEMA. (Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2 30 p.m.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
CINEMA
Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post

Telephones: Military, No. 653. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Wednesday, December 3, 1919.

NO ILLUSIONS.

War weariness and the natural desire for peace may very easily cause us to overlook or to minimise the dangers that menace the world and our own Empire though hostilities on the Western front have ceased.

As Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, said the other day, there are still some twenty wars going on in different quarters of the globe and the war has left us, as an Empire, with greater responsibilities than before.

Very few of the prognostications made during the war have come true. The world peace all of us looked forward to, has failed to materialise. Class hatred as well as race hatred appears to be more in evidence than before.

This therefore is no time for forgetting the hard lessons the war should have taught us.

France, as evidenced by the result of her recent elections has firm refused to abandon conscription and a large army.

Italy, as Major General Sir F. Maurice points out, is in much the same position as France and America proposes to maintain larger armed forces. These are signs that must be taken into account

There being scarcely a quarter of the globe, which is not ripe for trouble, it behoves us to be extremely wary of casting aside any of the essential weapons or organisations for war that we now possess.

If the matter lay entirely in the hands of our Naval and Military leaders we could be satisfied that due provision would be made for future contingencies. It is easy to see in what direction their thoughts are trending in this vital matter.

It is the vote-seeking politician and agitator who menaces the maintenance of adequate personnel and material on sea, land and air to cope with future conflicts that may arise. Blind faith in the yet untried League of Nations may easily lead to untold disaster. The world is not yet ready for so Utopian a solution of its difficulties and animosities.

It is not only "Europe that is in a state of ferment, but a wary eye must be kept on Asia. A determined effort is in progress to undermine European control over the Oriental races, whose battle cry is going to be "Asia for the Asiatics." The whole situation in the East has completely altered in the past five years and Europe, including of course ourselves, has to realise this and be prepared.

It is an unpleasant sequel to "a war that was to end war," but we are forced to face it. Let us have no illusions.

MISS DECIMA MOORE, AN APPRECIATION.

Miss Decima Moore's career has been one of unusual brilliancy; she has made her mark in every branch of the varied work she has undertaken. Starting at an age when most girls are at their lesson books, she won the Victoria Scholarship for singing at Blackheath Conservatoire, training under the celebrated opera singer, Madame Rose Hersee, and before the completion of her scholarship was selected by Sir Arthur Sullivan and Sir W. S. Gilbert for the girl heroine of the Gondoliers at the Savoy Theatre, thus starting her career at the top of the tree at one of the best London Theatres.

This engagement was followed by the leading rôles in various other comic operas, such as Miss Decima, Dorothy, La fille de Madame Angot, My Lady Molly, etc.; a tour round the world through America, viâ South Sea Islands to Australia, where she was received with the same enthusiasm as in London, winning all by her charm and delicacy of art. She has constantly appeared before members of the Royal Family and by Royal Command at Windsor Castle before Her late Majesty Queen Victoria.

Her successes in the comedies—All of a Sudden Peggy, The Truth, Mrs. Dot—have roused the enthusiasm of all who have seen her, press and public alike praising her talent; Keble Howard, the well-known critic, writing: "Miss Decima Moore has all the gifts—humour as well as pathos, lightness as well as strength." Thus Miss Decima Moore holds the unique record of being equally successful in comic opera, concert work, comedy or vaudeville; and during her visit to South Africa was spoken of by press and public as being one of the most successful artistes that have ever visited that country. During her time in that continent she covered over 30,000 miles, visiting, alone with her sister, Uganda, Lake Nyanza and the source of the Nile, a unique experience for two women alone; and her latest success in that difficult and charming part of "Lady Frederick" has added yet another laurel leaf to her interesting and successful career.

At the outbreak of war, Miss Moore was about to appear in a Repertory Season at the Court Theatre, having just returned from a lengthy "trek" in Northern and Southern Nigeria. She immediately undertook war work, and in August 1914, a few days after the commencement of hostilities she originated and founded the Women's Emergency Corps—the first organisation for the registration of women to replace men wanted for military service.

From it sprang the Women's Volunteer Reserve, the Women's Legion (from which many of the W.A.A.Cs were drawn), the National Food Fund, and the Women's Emergency Canteen working in Paris, Compiègne, Noyon, and Chauny. In October 1914 she organised the West African Chop Box Fund, and also worked at Compiègne. La Courneuve, and in the Vosges. From February 1917 to June 1917 she was at the Dénôt des Eclopés, Conty, and the Hôpital Militaire, Amiens.

From there she went to Paris to start and organise the British Army and Navy Leave Club, Paris, the first Club of its kind with its women guides, trips, dances and thence to Cologne and founded the British Empire Leave Club, in 1919 on somewhat similar lines, for the men of the British Army of the Rhine, where she is still acting as its Hon. Director General, having given her voluntary services unceasingly since the first days of the war.

In the early Summer of 1918 Miss Decima Moore was one of the first recipients of and appointed a Commander of the most Excellent Order of the British Empire (C.B.E.)

She is the wife of His Excellency Brigadier General F. G. Guggisberg, C.M.G., D.S.O., the Governor General and Commander in Chief of the Gold Coast Colony.

Appended is a press notice of Somerset Maugham's clever play, "Lady Frederick": "There is not the smallest atom of stagecraft that charming Decima Moore has not got at her dainty little finger ends, yet she never gives one the idea of acting at all, but just dances through her lines for sheer love of her work, and the pleasure she must know she gives to other people. When she drifts into her beloved Irish brogue, she is entrancing, and the character she puts into every single phrase, whether grave or gay, for the high-spirited, quick-tempered, happy-go-lucky spendthrift, is art in its highest form. By her dainty, refined method she robs the part of all extravagance, even in the boudoir scene, and no word or action could possibly be added to make the character of "Lady Frederick Berroles" more convincing. An admiring audience hangs upon every word that falls from her lips at each performance. She is like a dainty butterfly, and few actresses living could show a larger command of expression, as she flits so naturally about the stage in this play, enjoying the sunshine of life, and putting the ugly things behind her—until to-morrow."

A LANGUAGE PROFESSOR.

Has it ever occurred to you, dear reader, that the British soldier is the most versatile man in the world? He is, undoubtedly. He plays all games from Football to 'Pontoon' — always a sport. He has loved and been loved in every country where he has served, and in Germany to-day we have evidence of it, not that I hold any brief for 'frattin'. We have all done a bit of that in our time I think, however modest we may appear to the outside world.

It is not of sport that I write, or of the charms of the British soldier from an amorous point of view, and although it usually happens that the ugliest man gets the prettiest girl, whether she is a Miss, Mam'selle or Fraulein, there is no intention to eulogize Tommy's fair looks, because I have seen him going up and over, and he was none too pretty in those dark days.

So I will introduce Private Atkins T., Professor of Languages—the beribboned hero of a hundred and one fights. I bring this man before you, although he is not an individual. He is the Tommy we meet in every street in Cologne, and he is but a Private, with a regimental number attached.

I first met this gallant gentleman in the United Kingdom, in the days of mufti suits and caps, and when we did some splendid work with our 'D. P.s'. In those early days he showed his knowledge of the English language by being extremely fluent when the occasion arose. There is no harm in that, because it tended to relieve his feelings—and what man has not felt like 'coming away with it' after a gruelling hour or so under a strict instructor? Again, I know an old maid is reputed to put her head inside a drawer when she wishes to say things!

He came to France with no knowledge of the language of the country, and yet he had been there for but a short while, and he knew everything he wanted to know about 'parleying Francais.' Then came the Armistice, and our subsequent entry into Germany—to Cologne and its environs. Was Tommy to be daunted at the prospect of facing this new jargon? No, he was not, and I have had many opportunities of proving my emphatic reply to my own question.

On rare occasions, and they are the evenings when the Mess menu shows "Pork and Beans" for supper, I hie myself to a quiet cafe not far from the Hohestrasse in Cologne, and there I order chicken and potatoes—an ample meal for a growing youngster like myself. I may remark that I usually do that after pay days. At other times when I am sadly short of money, I have a walk around and a smoke—more palatable than 'P. and B.'

A few days ago I had a pay day, and I drew my bundle of greasy notes 'for services rendered', and I 'tally-ho-ed' to my particular café. I had been seated a few moments when in came our friend, the Professor, and following him were three German civilians. I hate to listen to the conversation of people in public cafés, but I could not help hearing many of the remarks from this Tommy's table, and it struck me that he was not to be beaten by the Germans, and he held his ground all the time.

His readiness with his 'Yah,' 'Nix,' 'Ah wee,' and 'San fairy Ann,' saved an awkward situation several times, and especially when the bottle of wine needed replenishing. The whole conversation was carried on a similar way, and our friend understood everything which was said—in his own particular way. That is the point which I would like to impress on all of you who have not yet tried to understand German language—and whenever a German asks you a question, or is trying to sell you something, just reply 'Yah,' 'Nix,' 'Ah wee' or 'San fairy Ann,' and you will find that he will easily understand you, and it will be less expensive, especially if you happen to be drinking wine with him. You may sometimes hear a German say 'San fairy Ann.' Avoid him like the plague, because he has copied our methods, and is likely to prove a wily person to deal with. We are told that "where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise," and I firmly believe that it is often wise to be ignorant, and particularly so in Germany. P.T.S.

REMARKS—RE MARKS.

They are the most demoralising things on earth and if not quickly exterminated or at least checked will be responsible for undermining the morale of every member of the Rhine Garrison including wives—Waacs—Wrens—C.C's—B.E.L.C's and any and all other of the species—male or female to be found within occupied territory.

Why? Look at our staid self respecting Bradbury. It calls itself a pound and is worth seven shillings. There you are—a mean old thing enough, but we respect it for its British solidarity. If it doesn't do us up, we always know more or less how far it will do us down. In sale seasons it has been known to go as far as seven and six, smiling with secret superiority over the knowledge that the extra sixpenn'orth of the purchase is trash.

But mark you on the debaucheries of the mark. I speak of the Bradbury of Great Britain, the frockcoated, tight-pocketed sound traditional old type of statesman. May I say I do not know the gentleman. That is the Bradbury at home.

But the Bradbury abroad, meaning by the Rhine, Ye Gods, and little trout!! a boozy, boshy, intoxicated old roué—a destroyer of young men, a deceiver of maidens—here to-day and gone to-morrow, which being interpreted financially signifieth 200 marks on Monday and 50 on Tuesday. What we do not want to-day, we resolve to buy to-morrow. Why? Because we may get zwanzig oder funfzig or heaven knows how much more zig for our Bradbury to-morrow than we do to-day? And if we don't.

If perchance the zigs go the other way and the value of the mark rises instead of falls, we are scared. We rush out and buy our luxury which through complacent contemplation has become a necessity.

If we wait another 24 hours instead of being half the price we remember it at home, it may be double. It enters not into our distorted conceptions that half the price means probably a quarter of the value. We must buy while there is yet time. In plain khakese "We get the wind up."

Well, there you are, take it or leave it. The Northcliffians may shriek about the road to ruin. Let Lloyd George send them out here and they will themselves be ruined. A word in their ear about spoiling the Egyptians and in less than a tick will they themselves be despoiled. Give any man (or woman) sufficient rope —I mean marks—and they will hang themselves. In trying to do others, we are ourselves undone.

The fever is in our blood. I, myself equitable and equaninimous (is there such a word?) think of starting business as vision officer twixt Lloyd and Cox. My commission would be reasonable and save much shoe leather. Cash your cheque when the mark is down—otherwise take it home and read it patiently. But all are not so prudent. I beseech you all my young friends (and elderly generals) lose not you hair (if any). Remember that your watch on the Rhine but briefly and that when again in Britain—the mark will be no more seen.

DUCHESS of DANZIG.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

Our Readers' Varied Views.

MISS SHIRLEY KING'S THANKS.

Dear Sir,—May I through the "Cologne Post" thank the Tommies of the Rhine Army for their very beautiful gift to me at the Deutsches Theatre on Saturday night.

I wish I could express my gratitude to them for their kind thoughts, as well as their beautiful gift.

I shall carry away with me very tender memories of the Tommies of the Rhine Army. SHIRLEY KING.

Deutsches Theatre
December 1st.

SELF-EDUCATION.

Sir,—The question raised by "Self-Educated" is a new one and important. I hope his advice will sink into the minds of the young soldiers out here.

There is no valid excuse for not acquiring knowledge, though it is not every one who can assiduously teach himself from text books. These are available in plenty, either by borrowing from the Army book shop or purchase at many institutes, etc.

The first necessity is the will to learn and that is the stumbling block. The next requisite is the necessary application. Both need fostering and here officers and N.C.O's can do such a lot in encouraging the young fellows in their charge, helping them in their choice of useful books, and keep in touch with them keeping them out of their difficulties etc.

I trust good will result from the letter of "Self Educated." W.J.A.

SWEEPSTAKE PROFITS.

Sir,—I am very glad to see that the question of the very large margin of profit left for the promoters of sweepstakes for the Army is being raised in the British press and I believe also in Parliament.

I am aware that at the outset there may have been a certain element of risk to the promoters, until they saw how popular such "sweeps" are, but once set going there can surely be no excuse for such big percentages being taken off the stakes for expenses and profits as ten or in the case of the Calais sweep, twelve per cent.

Most people when they venture their "ten bobs" on the chance of a big prize never give a thought to such details and the promoters doubtless know this trait of human nature.

Still I think the soldier and the sailor should be protected even if they do love a flutter.

If any more are promoted—though that seems unlikely now that a stir is being made about them publicly—some check should, I think, be put on the margin for expenses and profits.

Everyone knows these sweeps were run absolutely "straight." That has no bearing on the point I raise, of course.

FLUTTER.

COLOGNE ART EXHIBITION.

Sir,—When visiting the Leave Club the casual observer will notice that according to a placard on the notice board, an Art Exhibition to which soldiers are invited to contribute is to be held in Cologne on December 12th.

I feel sure that much excellent talent is hidden away in some obscure billet by the Rhine, and I look forward to it as do so many others, in the hope of discovering a man with the genius of a Turner. There could be no better way of discovering talent than this.

I hope to hear of some benevolent person offering prizes which will entice soldiers to paint.

It would be a good plan to form a Society of artists and writers in the Rhine Army. There is a good chance for the Army to show that it can handle a brush and pencil in the same efficient manner that it handles a rifle.

R.M.

SPEED UP THE DANCES.

Sir,—Novelists have written freely of the stiffness and dreariness of social amusements in England. Could they but stand a dance in Cologne, I should say they would have some difficulty in expressing the funereal atmosphere which usually prevails.

I remember one place where subscription dances were held. Noble efforts were made by the management to break down the barriers of reserve which appeared to separate the opposite sexes. Large notices on the walls informed the dancers no introductions were needed, but what did one see, but the dismal spectacle of male and female wallflowers, standing forlornly round the room, too shy (or too stupid) to dance together. The reason given is usually the same, though occasionally there may be some excuse.

The parties on being questioned indignantly affirm that they do not know each other—what a futile explanation; surely half the fun in life is trying something new. If the experiment turns out well, what could be nicer, if it turns out all wrong—well, it doesn't matter.

I suggested towards the end of a dance the other day that a Lancers might induce the performers to shake off their seriousness and indulge in a few minutes fun.

But not a bit of it, they were dancing in far too deadly earnest, and the suggestion was met with stern disapproval. "Surely, no one has the energy!" gasped one lady. Another with a withering glance, said, "It might so easily degenerate into a rag!" What an awful thought!

Are there no true Bohemians on the Rhine? As for those who are not, who dance up here and think they are enjoying themselves—let them book a seat in the P.L.M, and take a peep at Monte Carlo, or any other place where the world is gay (and dear), and people dance because they are happy, and not simply in order to execute better than their confréres, some wonderful step.

It won't do them much good as a matter of fact; they'll come back and tell you it's the climate. It isn't of course, it's the custom. "When you're at Rome, do as Rome does," they will say, but if you're a Roman, why make Rome horrid? JONATHAN.

THE DRIBBLING CODE.

Many Association Games in Rhineland.

INTER-COMPANY.

Third game of 51st. Battn. the Hampshire Regiment.

The meetting of "C" and "D" Coys in the 3rd Inter-Coy match, resulted in quite an exciting game. Play at first seemed mild until "C" obtained the lead from a shot by Poole. "D," striving to equalise, attacked strongly, but were held in check by the opposing defence. Their continued efforts, however, resulted in Lt. Mumford obtaining the equalising goal. The eager attempts of both sides to obtain the lead provided some good play. Shortly before half time, Hardy put in a shot which rebounded to Holloway who gave his side the desired goal.

The opening of the second half was marked by some rapid scoring, "C" Coy at first increasing their lead by another goal, this time from the efforts of Williams. "D" Coy followed this up by goals from Lt. Mumford and Cpl. Caine, thus equalising. Considerable time was still left for either side to obtain the winning goal but, despite strenuous efforts the game ended in a draw.

PEN v SHOVEL.

G.H.Q. Clerks Defeat 257 Area Employment Coy.

The above match was played on Saturday at Klettenberg. The ground was in a bad state and at the outset it was expected to be anybody's game. The Coy., were the first to attack, McKie shooting wide when awkwardly placed. The Clerks then took up the running and scored through Idol, the mud hindering Gilbert from saving. Soon after, the same player added No. 2 with a long range shot. For a time play was even until McKie receiving from Amond scored for the Coy., with a fine drive.

Upon resuming, the Clerks swarmed to the attack, Gilbert saving well from Armstrong. Play at this stage was more amusing than exciting; the mud-covered players were a strange spectacle. The Coy., strove hard to equalise, a shot from Wamburell, stopping dead in the mud with the goalie beaten. Close on time the Clerks were awarded a penalty. Gilbert saved the kick in grand style, but the mud prevented him from completing his clearance and from a scrimmage the ball was sent into the net. This was all the scoring and the game ended in semi-darkness with the score: Clerks 3; Employment Coy 1.

A GRAND FINALE.

18 G.H.Q. M.T. Coy R.A.S.C. 4; 20 M.A.C. 2.

These teams met at the Rhenania Sports ground, G.H.Q. winning an interesting game by four goals to two. This was particularly pleasing to the M.T. Coy owing to the fact that the unit is disbanding, this being their last fixture. Only two of the original eleven were playing; the remaining members having been demobilized.

The game opened in lively fashion, and each end was visited in turn, the teams appearing to be evenly matched. After about 15 minutes, McKenna scored for the 18th which was followed by another from Cpl. Driskell. The M.T. were now playing very good football and held the upper hand to the interval.

A Lovely Goal.

During the second half play continued fast, the 20 M.A.C. making tremendous efforts to reduce the home team's lead. But they were kept at bay and then Cpl. Phillips added a lovely goal for the 18th with a shot that the goalkeeper touched, but could not hold. The 20 M.A.C. now got away and their inside-left put in a terrific shot which hit the upright and went into the net. Play was now faster than ever and in the failing light a 20 M.A.C. forward again scored. From the centre kick the 18th got away, and, one minute from the close, scored again through a fine first time shot by Cpl. Heale.

The 18th deserved their success. Lieut. Holloway played a dashing game at centre-forward but had miserable luck with his shots, hitting the woodwork three times. Cpl. Phillips was again good, McKenna making him a good partner.

The 20 M.A.C. forwards were clever and nippy, their inside left being particularly good. Their goalkeeper also played a good game despite the four goals registered against him.

The 18th G.H.Q.M.T. Coy record to date reads:— Played 20: Won 15; drawn 2, lost 3. For, 94 goals, against 18.

A CLOSE GAME.

19th (S) Bn. Middlesex Regt. v 91st Wing R.A.F.

The Pioneers added to their list of victories, by defeating the 91st Wing R.A.F. at Bonnerstrasse Barracks, Marienburg, on Thursday after a hard fight, by the odd goal in five.

From the commencement, the Pioneers broke away and were soon testing the visiting custodian, and five minutes from the commencement, Thane got through and scored.

Again the Pioneers attacked, but failed when in front of the goal, and from a break away, with a placed centre, Tomlinson scored for the visitors. The Middlesex again attacked, but Gilson cleared and with some good passing broke away, and from a cross kick Keeping put the visitors ahead.

Half time came with the Pioneers still attacking.

Half time score. 91st Wing R.A.F. 2: 19th (S) Bn. Middlesex Regt. (P). 1.

Upon resumption of play, the Pioneers attacked strongly, and Chittenden scored the equaliser.

The sterling defence of the Air Force kept the Pioneers at bay, but during a scrimmage in the goal, Mulcer secured the winning goal. The closing scenes were very exciting, a free kick by the Middlesex being charged down and a penalty kick striking the upright post. Result:—19th (S) Bn. Middlesex Regt. 3 91st Wing R.A.F. 2.

"B" COY DEFEAT—?

Another 51st Hants Inter-Company Game.

In the following report our correspondent has omitted to mention which Company "B" opposed!

Judging from previous play, he says one expected the match to be a draw. The early part of the game supported this supposition for each side visited its opponent's goal without effect.

An effort to obtain the lead by "B" was spoilt by off-side. From the "free kick" Holloway secured and transferred to Saunders, who scored with a low shot. During the rest of the game "B" made valiant attempts to equalise, but were unsuccessful.

The opening play of the second half was surprising. "B" Coy's forwards after pressing hard broke through, the opposing defence. The forwards, were, however, checked at the goal line but their combined attack rushed the ball into the net. This goal was closely followed up by another Peacock giving "B" Coy the lead. The game now was entirely mid-field, the result of the efforts of both sides' defence. Apart from some interesting footwork displayed, nothing definite occurred thus leaving the score in favour of "B", 2 goals to 1.

41st BATT. M.G.C. v. LABOUR COY.

This game, played at Riehl on Saturday before a fairly good attendance, ended in a win for the Machine Gunners by four goals to two. The Gunners attacked from the start and a well combined movement by the three inside forwards put the Labour Coy goal in danger. After their goalkeeper had saved several shots, the Company relieved the situation and midfield play followed. Play was marred for a while by off-side tactics but the Machine Gunners eventually attacked once more. This time they were successful, a fine solo run by McCoy ending in the same player placing the shot well out of the goalkeeper's reach.

The Gunners were not satisfied with their lead and play was once more carried into the Labour Coy's half. Spruce sent in a centre which enabled McCoy to score their second goal.

The Labour Coy now began to find their feet, and from a break-away reduced the lead, after thirty minutes play. The Gunners retaliated and were rewarded a few minutes later, Walker putting them further ahead from a corner. Just before the interval the Labour Coy secured their second point.

In the second half no further scoring took place until the last ten minutes when McCoy scored the Machine Gunners fourth goal. Result:—M. G. C. 4 goals; Labour Coy 2.

MR. JAMES WHITE.

A HUMOROUS ALL-ROUND SPORTSMAN.

The average newspaper reader is perhaps very much interested in Mr. White as racehorse owner and patron of boxing. That glorious animal, Irish Elegance, a horse of altogether exceptional capacity, is his best-known representative; Ivanhoe won him a surprising Cesarewitch, and altogether Mr. White has won £12,000 odd in stakes this season. Mr. White once said that he never kept a horse that was not likely to win. "They put their half-dollars on my horses in Lancashire," he said, "and when Irish Elegance won a Ascot it saved a strike."

Boxing Patron.

As for boxing, well it was Mr. White who introduced Carpentier to England. I first saw him engaged in a sparring bout with Wells when the Bombadier was training for his expected fight with Johnson. Mr. White supplied many a camp in France with sporting gear for the men; he organised the weekly boxing entertainments for American soldiers at the National Sporting Club; he even came to the rescue in the recent Beckett-McGoorty fight when at the last moment the money for the American's side bet was not forthcoming.

For one big race this season Mr. White promised his jocky £500 if he won. There was also £500 for the trainer. "And," added Mr. White "£500 for his wife as well. That's most important."

Puck-like Humour.

He posesses a Puck-like humour. One day this summer, Mr. "Solly" Joel was acting as auctioneer for a sweepstake. It was a friendly gathering and "Jimmy" White, who sat opposite Mr. Joel, kept saying, "And seven-sixteenths," as an addition to bids for very large amounts, merely to puzzle Mr. Joel in his continuous announcements of the sum in the pool.

And once, Mr. White stopped a messenger boy in Piccadilly Circus and asked if he would take a message for him to America.

The boy looked hard at the millionaire financier, and said promptly, "Yes, sir."

"Well, I don't want you to go, but you are a lad of spirit, and that's what I like."

And the boy went off whistling with five shillings in his pocket.

Wrack's two-year-olds.

Wrack is making a big name for himself in the United States with his first two-year-olds. Altogether he has sired seven two-year-old winners of 16 races, worth 25,638 dols.

THE GREAT FIGHT.

Prince of Wales and other Notabilities to Attend.

DEMPSEY'S AGREEMENT.

The Prince of Wales has notified his intention to attend the Beckett-Carpentier match at the Holborn Stadium on Thursday.

Mr. C. B. Cochran the promoter in the course of an interview said:—"I have just received a cable from Dempsey who says he will not entertain proposals from any other promoter until he meets me in New York. I sail for America on Dec. 14th. Dempsey has not yet received a challenge either from Beckett or Carpentier, but states that he will be pleased to hear from the winner.

Referring to the Carpentier-Beckett fight, Mr. Cochran declared that he could easily have sold a hundred thousand seats if he had them. About four thousand people will actually see the fight, including many Peers, Cabinet ministers, Members of Parliament and a large number of ladies.

ENGLISH RACING.

Mist at Nottingham on Monday.

There was mist at Nottingham on Monday and the going was soft. The attendance was fair.

Details.

Castle Hurdle:—1, Hukin (9—4 on); 2, Helenium (100—7); 3, Brunswick (5—2). Three ran.

Trent Chase:—1, George B. (5—2); beat Warbine. Two ran.

Bentinck Hurdle:—1, Appleton (6—1); 2, Crom Aboo (5—2); 3, Ulswater (5—4). Five ran.

Mapperly Chase:—1, Jack Symonds (5—1); 2, Llangollen (5—4); 3, Shanbally (5—4). Three ran.

Clifton Hurdle:—1, Sam Temple (8—1); 2, Eothen (6—4); 3, The Cuban (6—4). Eight ran.

Elvaston Chase:—1, Sandy Cuba (6—4); 2, Victor Haig (10—1). Two finished.

TYNE BOATING.

Barry and Felton for Xmas Handicap.

Organised on a more representative basis than in any preceding year, the revival of the £100 Christmas boat handicap on the Tyne during the forthcoming holidays promises to yield most gratifying results. Success has marked the efforts which Mr. George Drummond, a former winner of the handicap, and his colleagues on the executive committee have made in securing an entry worthy of the traditions of this old-time aquatic festival on the Tyne.

All the professional clubs on the Tyne, Wear, and Tees are conspicuously represented, and an additional fillip will be given to the sport if Alfred Felton, the world's champion, and Ernest Barry fulfil their engagement, which, however, is doubtful.

INMAN RETIRES?

Championship Entry Not Received On Monday.

The secretary of the Billiard Association and Control Club stated on Monday that Inman's entry for the championship had not yet been received and unless it had been delayed in the post, he will be unable to compete.

Stevenson, Reece, Aiken, Smith, Newman and Falkiner have entered.

A BLACKBURN CAPTURE.

Irish International secured for £2,250.

We learn that Blackburn Rovers have signed on Rollo, the Irish International right back of Linfield. The transfer fee is said to be £2,250.

RUGBY RESULTS.

Cambridge United 0; Blackheath 3; headingly 9; Cardiff 19.

GATES RUSHED AT CUP-TIE.

By defeating Hampstead Town 2-0 in the replayed English Cup Tie, Gnome Athletic, playing at home, gained the right to meet Clapton at the Spotted Dog next Saturday in the next round.

The 5,000 spectators—of whom nearly 1,000 did not go through the formality of paying entrance money, preferring to rush the barriers—did not see the best of either teams.

Gnome gained an early advantage, for at the end of six minutes Dillimore opened the scoring. The only other goal was scored half an hour later by Dimmock.

KINGSTONIAN F.C.

Kingstonian F.C. have now concluded arrangements for the London Senior Cup-tie against Leyton on Dec. 6 to be played at Kingston. Leyton had choice of ground. On the following three Saturdays Kingstonians will meet Wimbledon—on Dec. 13 at Kingston in the Surrey Senior Cup, and at Wimbledon on Dec. 20 and 27 in the Surrey Charity Shield and Athenian League.

OLD ETONIAN ASSOCIATION.

The annual general meeting of the Old Etonian Association was held in the School Library on Saturday afternoon, when, on the nomination of the outgoing president (Lord Kinnaird), Field-Marshal Lord Plumer, G.C.B., was elected president for 1920. The following were elected on the committee: Lieut.-Col. A. C. Sheepshanks, D.S.O., Mr. G. W. Headlam, Sir Ian Malcolm, and Mr. G. W. Loder. A vote of condolence was passed with the family of Mr. A. C. Ainger, the late hon. sec.

FOOTBALL GOSSIP.

Racy Pars About Men That Matter.

BY W.Le.C.

Harry Makepeace the old Everton player is to train the Qwalle club in Holland, but will return at the end of the season.

It took £1,000 to get Hanney from Reading to Manchester City, and it cost Coventry £2,000 to induce the "Citizens" to part with him.

J. W. Schofield, the Liverpool amateur now assists Bury as a professional.

J. Hughes the clever Palace half back is due for a benefit in January.

The men behind the Player's Union who are working so hard for its success are Jimmy Lawrence and Charlie Roberts.

"Dicky" Bond, of Bradford, has chosen Newcastle United's visit for his benefit. He has played some of his best games against the Magpies and on Feb. 7th should get a "bumper."

McCall of Preston says a critic is the finest English centre-half at the moment.

The return of Craig Brown to Motherwell from Bradford at a cost of £1,000 (or near that figure) strengthens the "Wells" weak point.

The draw for the first round of the Cup takes place on December 8th.

Fred Brown, brother of the international of that name, who assists Sheffield United, has also signed for the Bramall Lane lot.

Orme, now of Notts Forest, and capably filling Jonnson's place, is the Millwall pre-war keeper.

LEAGUE POSITIONS.

Newcastle United Drop To Third Place.

Up to and including Saturday's matches, the positions in the various leagues were as follows:—

The League.—Division I.

	Fld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Goals. Agst.	Pts.
Burnley	17	10	3	4	28	24	23
West Bromwich Albion	16	11	0	5	45	23	22
Newcastle United	16	9	3	4	23	14	21
Sunderland	16	9	2	5	30	21	20
Manchester United	15	6	6	3	27	17	18
Manchester City	16	7	4	5	40	33	18
Chelsea	16	8	2	6	24	17	18
Everton	16	7	3	6	36	31	17
The Arsenal	16	5	7	4	26	25	17
Bolton Wanderers	17	6	4	7	31	29	16
Bradford City	16	6	4	6	29	29	16
Sheffield United	17	6	4	7	29	30	16
Derby County	17	5	6	6	20	24	16
Middlesbrough	16	6	4	6	21	26	16
Bradford	16	6	2	8	25	26	14
Liverpool	16	6	2	8	20	23	14
Preston North End	16	6	2	8	25	37	14
Aston Villa	16	6	1	9	27	34	13
Notts County	16	4	5	7	24	36	13
Blackburn Rovers	15	4	4	8	20	34	12
Oldham Athletic	15	4	2	9	21	25	10
Sheffield Wednesday	16	3	4	9	12	25	10

The League.—Division II.

	Fld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Goals. Agst.	Pts.
Tottenham Hotspur	16	13	2	1	47	12	28
Birmingham	16	10	3	3	31	15	23
Blackpool	17	10	3	4	35	17	23
Stoke	16	11	1	4	29	18	23
Hull City	17	10	2	5	35	24	22
Huddersfield Town	16	9	3	4	31	12	21
Fulham	17	8	4	5	25	17	20
Bristol City	16	7	5	4	19	14	19
West Ham United	16	8	3	5	17	19	19
Barnsley	16	8	2	6	37	20	18
Stockport County	16	7	4	5	24	16	18
Port Vale	16	7	3	6	24	19	17
Bury	16	7	2	7	19	20	16
South Shields	16	6	3	7	15	19	15
Notts Forest	17	3	6	8	16	28	12
Rotherham County	17	5	2	10	17	31	12
Wolverhampton Wand.	16	4	3	9	21	26	11
Clapton Orient	17	5	1	11	18	29	11
Leicester City	16	3	4	9	12	32	10
Grimsby Town	16	4	1	11	11	31	9
Lincoln City	16	2	4	10	11	42	8
Coventry City	16	0	3	13	4	37	3

Southern League.

	Fld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Goals. Agst.	Pts.
Portsmouth	18	11	4	3	34	12	26
Watford	17	11	3	3	26	11	25
Reading	18	8	8	2	23	19	24
Queen's Park Rangers	17	9	4	4	26	17	22
Crystal Palace	16	7	7	2	28	15	21
Cardiff City	16	6	7	3	28	18	19
Norwich City	15	8	3	4	33	21	19
Swindon Town	17	7	4	6	29	25	18
Exeter City	17	6	6	5	20	18	18
Brentford	17	6	6	5	19	19	18
Millwall Athletic	18	7	4	7	26	27	18
Plymouth Argyle	17	6	5	6	20	12	17
Southend United	17	5	7	5	22	25	17
Swansea Town	18	5	6	7	19	20	16
Merthyr Town	19	4	7	8	20	29	15
Bristol Rovers	16	5	4	7	24	30	14
Luton Town	17	5	4	8	21	31	14
Southampton	18	6	2	10	24	33	14
Northampton Town	17	3	6	8	29	40	12
Brighton & Hove A.	18	3	5	10	15	25	11
Newport County	18	4	3	11	15	34	11
Gillingham	17	3	3	11	9	35	9

Scottish League.

	Fld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Goals. Agst.	Pts.
Glasgow Rangers	18	15	2	1	52	9	32
Celtic	16	12	3	1	35	15	27
Motherwell	18	9	6	3	32	23	24
Dundee	18	10	2	6	36	22	22
Ayr United	19	8	4	7	41	31	20
Hibernians	18	9	2	7	34	31	20
Heart of Midlothian	18	9	2	7	25	23	20
Airdrieonians	18	7	5	6	23	17	19
Greenock Morton	17	8	2	7	28	15	18
Aberdeen	18	7	4	7	22	23	18
Queen's Park	19	6	5	8	26	31	17
Clydebank	16	7	2	7	32	27	16
Partick Thistle	16	6	4	6	23	25	16
St. Mirren	19	6	4	9	28	37	16
Third Lanark	17	5	6	6	22	30	16
Dumbarton	18	4	8	6	22	31	16
Kilmarnock	19	6	3	10	23	43	15
Raith Rovers	20	5	4	11	37	46	14
Falkirk	20	5	4	11	20	38	14
Clyde	19	4	5	10	24	35	13
Albion Rovers	17	5	3	9	17	30	13
Hamilton Academicals	18	4	2	12	26	45	10

HOCKEY.

P. & R. T. School defeated by Royal Warwicks.

On Saturday last a most enjoyable game took place on the P. & R. T. School ground at Riehl between G.H.Q. School and the 51st Bn. The Royal Warwickshire Regt.

Hockey in the Warwicks is quite a new venture as this was their second game since arriving on the Rhine in March last. The result of Saturday's game showed that the visitors have the makings of a very sound team, as after a very fast game, they got home by 3 goals to one. The visitors results to date are

v. R.A.S.C. (Mulheim) won 3 - 2
v. P. & R.T. School G.H.Q. „ 3 - 1

The secretary of the 51st Royal Warwickshire Regt. would be glad to fix a few matches.

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

"LADY FREDERICK."

A pretty woman, clever and of charming personality; a breaker of many hearts. Such is Lady Frederick Berolles. She proves to us in the end, however, that she has a heart worth many times as much as those she breaks, financial difficulties notwitnstanding.

At one time before the war the dramatic work of W. Somerset Maugham was drawing crowds to no fewer than four theatres in London at the same time. That alone is proof that any play of his is well worth going to see. Full of clever and exceedingly witty lines, "Lady Frederick" lost none of the author's purpose in the manner in which it was acted at the Deutsches theatre on Monday night.

Miss Decima Moore C.B.E., Director General of the British Empire Leave Club, in the title role made me extremely nervous in the first act, but from the moment the curtain rose on the second I realised that we were not going to be disappointed in her, and that she had lost none of her stage ability and charm which, as she told us at the end, she had not exercised since before the war. She managed to captivate the hearts of several people on the wrong side of the footlights before she had finished, even though she did her best to prove that before ten in the morning she was exceedingly unattractive.

Lieut. S.E. Percy, as Paradine, shared the honours of the evening with the lady he eventually managed to win by the quietest and most effortless methods I know of, although if I had been the lady in question I should have objected to the wig which rather spoiled his otherwise handsome appearance. Lieut. J. Humphrey, as Admiral Carlisle quite justified Lord Fishers' snappy letters about My Lords of Admiralty, if the gentlemen so scathingly attacked by him in "The Times" suffered from beards like the one which graced the noble features of the said Admiral. But there again, with a lady like Miss Decima Moore in the caste, I'm forgetting that this is not a London theatre, and that the brothers Clarkson are not here to look after us, for after all the gentlemen whose hirsute appendages I so disliked, acted magnificently, and I have seldom liked Lieut. Percy on the stage as much as I did in the character of Uncle Paradine.

The Marchioness of Mereston was a very dignified type of snobbish aristocracy, but she had the redeeming virtue of having her son's welfare at heart. This character was very ably portrayed by Miss Adeline Bourne. The part of her son was given to Captain A. M. Preston, Cheshire Regt. who, although he has yet to learn much technique, especially as to what to do on the stage with those trying extremities—one's hands, made a very efficient young lover of a woman much older than himself. Lieut. C. Field, as Captain Montgomerie, had a difficult part to play, but played it with great restraint and ability. Capt. J.K. Guinnell, M.C., showed to advantage as Sir Gerald O'Mara but hardly yielded sufficiently to the endearments of his fiancée, Rose, played with ability by Miss Marjorie Moore. Miss Inez Bensusan, as Madame Claude, was her own excellent self giving to the part those little touches of which she alone is capable. The maid appeared on the programme as being played by Mr. Hall, but I simply don't believe it. No female impersonator, however clever, could have made such a charming French girl. Lieut. Ingall and Capt. Ziegler did good work in the small parts of the servant and Thompson respectively.

"Lady Frederick" is a typical Somerset Maughan comedy and well worth a visit to the Deutsches any old night of the current week.

E. H. S.

AROUND AND ABOUT.

Fun of the Fair.

The problem of providing amusement for the long winter evenings for those battalions that are stationed in outlying villages is not an easy one. As a change from the usual whist drive, B Coy, 52nd Devons held an indoor fair in the concert hall Burscheid, on Friday last, and a most successful and cheery evening was spent.

The "Aunt Sally" did a roaring business, officers and men lining up in a long queue for their turn, and the crowds were equally as big at all the stalls. The Commanding Officer failed to win a prize at darts or basket-ball, but the medical officer gained an Iron cross for his skill at the ring game. No. 8 platoon scored heavily at the Sergeant-Major's fifty-to-one dice game, winning four times.

Owing to the noise and excitement from the various side shows, it was not found possible to hold the novices' singing competition.

At nine-thirty with all the prizes won and the doughnuts eaten, the fair closed with cheers for the officers of B. Coy.

52nd Durham's Concert.

A Battalion concert took place on Friday night, when a pleasant evening was passed. The band, under Bandmaster Etherington, rendered four selections. Songs were sung with great effect by Boy Etherington, of which "Der Strassenbahn" appeared to be the favourite.

His duet with Pte. Brown "It won't do at all," created great fun, whilst the latter's humourous songs and step dances evoked continuous applause.

"The Eccentrics."

Large audiences at the Palace theatre Cologne, on Monday and yesterday evening gave an enthusiatic reception to Mr Alfred Hurley's bright variety company, "The Eccentrics," who are this week paying us a return visit. The artistes are all as fresh as ever and the programme they submit is varied and up-to-date.

Fortnightly Dance.

The usual fortnightly subscription dance of the No. 1 G.H.Q., Warrant Officers and Sergeants Mess will be held at the Burgergesellschaft to-morrow (Wednesday). English ladies will be welcomed.

Doncaster Race Profits.

The Doncaster Race Committee announced that as the result of its race meetings for this year it will be able to hand over to the Borough Corporation Fund the sum of £13,000. This is regarded as very satisfactory, for although the average surplus before the war was between £15,000 and £16,000, expenses are now far heavier.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Wed.	Figaro's Hochzeit	Mozart	7	10.30
Thurs.	Tannhauser	Wagner	6.30	10.30
Fri.	Madama Butterfly	Puccini	7	9.45
Sat.	Martha	Flotow	7	10
Sun.	Der Zigeunerbaron	Strauss	7	10
Mon.	Armourer of Worms	Lortzing	7	9.[illegible]
Tuesday	No Performance.

At the Leave Club.

There will be another impromptu concert from 5 to 6 this evening, this will be followed by a dance at 6.30. There will also be German classes from 6 to 8. An impromptu concert is to be held on Thursday from 5 to 6 followed at 6.30 by a chess tournament and whist drive. Also at the same hour there will be a dancing class, followed by a dance at 7.30. A continuous cinema performance takes place on Friday from 2.30 to 8.30, and from 5 to 6 there will be a dancing class, which is followed at 6.30 by the usual weekly debate. There are also German classes from 6 to 8. Saturday's programme includes an impromptu concert from 5 to 6 followed at 6.30 by a dancing class. From 6 to 8 there will be German classes.

Inniskilling Dragoons.

The large partitioned dining room at the N.A.C.B. No. 2 Officers' Club Cologne was the scene of much revelry on Monday night when the officers, Warrant officers and N.C.O's of the 6th Inniskilling Dragoons partook of an excellent dinner. The event coincided with the day, two years previously, when the famous cavalry unit sustained the greatest number of casualties during the 250 years of its history. This was in the memorable battle of Villers-Cu slain when the cavalry took a very important part. The dinner was presided over by Col. B. Vincent, C. B., C.M.G. and in the post prandical proceedings, the speeches were brief and happily worded. The loyal toast having duly been drunk, "Col. E. Patterson, D.S.O." who was in command during the battle mentioned) was honoured. Col. Vincent and Col. C.R. Torrot, D.S.O., second-in-Command, spoke on the history of the Inniskillings and other speakers were Major Macpherson, Lieut. Freer-Smith Capt. Humphrey, M.C., R.S.M. Ogden, D.C.M. Cpl. Winter and others.

Leave Club Chess.

Results of Championship Games played on Thursday.

C.S.M.	Graham	2	Gnr.	Stanley	0
Gnr.	Peck	2	Cpl.	Williams	1
L/Cpl.	Sers	2	Pte.	Gilmore	0
Sgt.	Rogers	1	S/Sgt.	Hollowell	0
Cpl.	Jordan	0

Approximate position in Championship on Thursday.

1 Sgt. Yates
2 Sgt. Kemplin
3 L/Cpl. Howes
4 Sgt Taylor
5 Pte. Wooster
6 C.S.M. Graham
7 Cpl. Jordan
8 Gnr. Stanley
9 Pte. Hartley
10 Sgt. Fry
11 L/Cpl. Whyte
12 Sgt. Keight
13 Gnr. Peck
14 Cpl. Williams
15 Pte. Scully A.W.
16 Pte. Harrow
17 Sgt. Lloyd D. F.
18 L/Cpl. Raymond
19 Pte. Duncan
20 L/Cpl. Harrison
21 Sgt. Rogers
22 S/Sgt. Hollowell
23 Dvr. Shaw J.
24 Pte. Stones
25 Pte. Drewett
26 Pte. Hudson
27 Dvr. Rubinstone J.
28 Pte. Luer
29 M.S.S. Boy
30 L/Cpl. Sers W.
31 Pte. Gilmore

JACQUES.

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY.

To Atone For Failure In Our Competition.

The result of No. 10 contest which will be published to-morrow was, up to the time of going to press, still in doubt. No all-correct coupon had been discovered and the inability of many of the entrants to forecast but five of the matches set was surprising.

The chief causes of failure were the defeats of Newcastle, Bradford, Stoke and Bury, while the last match on the coupon, the drawn game between Falkirk and Third Lanark, floored 80 per cent. of the contestants.

Competitors have a chance to establish there reputations as judges of football form in No. 11 contest now running, in which we again ask for but ten results.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—
FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 11,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S.40 Rhine Army

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 11.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec 6th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 5th.

Sheffield U. v. Newcastle U.
Manchester C. v. West Bromwich
Arsenal v. Chelsea
Oldham v. Burnley
Huddersfield v. Blackpool
Fulham v. Tottenham
Coventry v. West Ham
Swindon v. Portsmouth
Gillingham v. Brentford
Celtic v. Motherwell

I enter Football Competition No. 11 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(In block letters.)
Rank and No. .....
Unit .....
Full Address .....

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

I Had to Say It.

In my billet is an excellent piano. A friend I invited in one evening started playing it vigorously. "You are fond of music?" he remarked, "Oh, yes," I said, "but go on playing."

Incentive To Drink.

An officer I know went to a recent fancy dress ball in Cologne disguised as a bottle of whisky and his fair partner represented a corkscrew. Someone told me that every time he saw the pair he developed an insatiable thirst.

Lady Cyclists.

Have you noticed how scarce lady cyclists are in Cologne!—The first I have come across was doing her best to ride down Hohe strasse on Monday evening.

Juvenile Compliments.

I noticed an amusing incident near the Dom on Sunday afternoon. Two little kiddies dressed in "navy suits" gravely saluted a passing tar. Their delight was reflected in their faces as he returned the compliment.

H.B's Double.

I have met Mr. Bottomley's double. He is a German policeman and would pass anywhere for the redoubtable "Horatio". Another of Fate's little ironies.

Reminiscent.

Walking through the archway of Cologne Main Station my attention was attracted by the direction "To the Cavalry Horse Show and Races." My thoughts at once went back to the sunny days when sport was in full swing in Rhineland.

And not Introduced.

"Yes, dear, I was spoken to by a man myself when I was in the Officers' Club the other afternoon." "Oh, how horrid! What did the wretch have the impertinence to say?" "Why, it'll be five marks, please ma'am. Kindly pay at the desk. Bitte."

A Tongue-twister.

The Cologne Tramway Coy. employ a number of women cleaners, and they are known by the ineuphonius name of Strassenbahnschienewienigunsfrau;

A Double Job.

A young lance-corporal had been put in the Orderly Room to help. The other morning when the Adjutant came in, he found him doing nothing in particular. "Can't you find something to do?" he snapped. When he had gone out the Lance-jack remarked to the Sergeant clerk, "Snakes; am I expected to do the work and find it as well?"

Minus Comedy.

Comedy does not figure very prominently in German Cinema performances and it is not uncommon for a programme to include no film of a funny character.

Issue of Rations.

From now onwards only British civilians will be allowed to purchase British rations on prepayment. No other nationalities can be given permission to buy British rations for themselves or their families.

When in Bonn.

All other ranks and their wives are invited to visit the tea rooms, lending library and bookshop opened by the Y.M.C.A. at 10, Munster Platz, Bonn. Dainty afternoon teas served in Bond Street china by charming ladies make it a most attractive resort.

The Nurse Girls' Parade.

If you want to see his Majesty the Baby holding Court, then pay a visit to the Rhine promenade one morning. British babies in the charge of British nurses take their airing in company with young Germans.

A Much Favoured Walk.

It is evidently a much favoured walk with British wives for I noticed several parties of friends enjoying the winter sunlight and giving passing attention to the sights of this part of the town.

A Mixed Congregation.

At a service held near Cologne on Sunday night, the congregation included American soldiers and one Russian. The latter, a stray sheep, could not understand a word of English, but he enjoyed the singing and was delighted to be with the British troops.

Quaintly Garbed.

Late last night I saw two civilians walking down Hohe Strasse, evidently more or less inebriated, each wearing, over his ordinary clothes, a large Asiatic looking tablecloth which was draped about like a toga. One was red and the other green.

Yule Logs and Firewood.

Many women and children can be seen collecting firewood and logs in the grounds owned by Baron Diergradt, near Wiesdorf. For the small sum of two marks, civilians can purchase growing timber and undergrowth covering one hundred square metres, — an average of thirty trees — provided they clear the land and dig up the roots. This is no easy task.

Orders which are Broken.

Although there are two G.R.O's in existence regarding the wearing of plain clothes it has been found necessary to issue another. It is laid down that plain clothes will not be worn on any occasion for walking out.

Her Retort.

I've heard of a Tommy recently on leave who saw a nice looking young woman sitting on the seat on the Brighton front. Somewhat timidly he went up to her and said, "Haven't I the had pleasure of seeing you somewhere before, miss?" "Very likely," was the prompt reply, "I'm a nurse at a lunatic asylum. How's your father?"

Big Xmas Tree.

I hear that on Christmas Eve there will be a grand Christmas tree in the Loreley Hall of the Cologne Central Y.M.C.A. for the pupils of the school for British children. All other British children in Cologne and district are invited. The children's parents will also be wecome.

Their number Grows.

A friend who claimed to be in the know says there are fewer wives on the Rhine than formerly, but judging by the number of brassards to be seen in and about Hohestrasse during the morning one would imagine that reinforcements had come along for the festive season.

Talented Trio.

The Sunday evening concerts at the Deutsches Theatre are becoming increasingly popular and this is only to be expected when such a talented trio as Gertrud Bender, Menzinsky and Alfred Barker provide the fare. On Sunday evening the large audience was enraptured by the highly finished renderings of some of the most choice operatic selections.

RHINELANDER.

VANITY FAIR.

A Feature for the British Woman in Rhineland.

A Plenitude of Pockets.

Some of the newest coats exhibit a positive plague of pockets. I have just seen one that has no fewer than six—three on each hip—each with a large button to curb its propensity to yawn too widely, for the raison d'être of this plethora of pockets is not, as might be imagined, to be "upsides" with men, whose number of them we often covet, but to give additional width in the region of the hips.

No "Gamps" to-day.

No accessory of modern dress has undergone more change for the better than the umbrella. We have all become very fastidious about these once-ridiculed articles, and the word "gamp" is hardly applicable to the chic affairs of dark-coloured silk rolled slimly over their steel sticks, and finished with handles of ivory, tortoiseshell, gold, silver or jade, carried by the woman of fashion of to-day, and chosen to match her costume. Her umbrella is quite a decorative factor in her toilette.

Health with the "Low-Back."

"What good results may be expected from the low-backed dress? Firstly, it will stimulate women to develop their arms and shoulders, and, by allowing a freer carriage of the head, will give them more grace and dignity. But one of the most gratifying results will be the effect on the face. There is no doubt whatever that many of the skin troubles endured by women have been caused by tight and warm clothing round the neck. When the blood is permitted to circulate freely the complexion will improve, wrinkles and pimples will disappear and other conditions being favourable, the face will become plumper, clearer, and of better colour.

Comfort for the Shocked.

Here's comfort for those who are shocked at the flagrant exposure of "back" that is a feature of fashion just now. Very few women, one fears, have anything worth showing in the back line; but, with her usual consideration, the Mode has stepped into the breach. The kindly qualities of pink tulle, too, can give a pleasing illusion of beauty where beauty is not.

A Wool Hint.

The vogue of coloured stockings brings many perplexities to the modern woman with the never ceasing search for wools to match for darning. A good plan is to cut off a narrow hem at top of stocking and to wind off a small ball of self-wool. By treating both stockings in the same way they will be of equal length, and the stockings may then be sewn down again.

To save Overalls.

When dirty work has to be done, it generally means the washing of an overall or apron when the task is completed. But this can be prevented if you make an apron of American cloth for wearing over the ordinary overall when a specially messy job has to be undertaken. It can be thrown off in a minute, and can be very easily cleaned, while its use will enable you to wear your overall much longer than would otherwise have been the case.

AGNES.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

Booming silver.—The Indian rupee is now 62½ per cent. above pre-war value.

In winter, too.—The United States are faced with a coal famine.

Peer's sale.—Lord Wilton is selling the greater part of the town of Weymouth.

Chinks press.—San Francisco possesses four Chinese daily papers.

No motors run.—The motor drivers at Dublin are on strike.

Little Rice.—Rice is getting scarce. Only half the usual supplies are coming to Europe.

Another rival.—China as well as Japan is competing with Manchester in cotton manufacture and is buying much machinery.

Caused by paper. — Lord D'Abernon considers the present high prices due to the vast increase in paper currency.

Goodbye coal! — The steamers of the P. and O. Line are in future to burn oil instead of coal.

Few offices. — There is a famine of office accomodation in London and rents have risen enormously.

Dailies Plentiful.—There are more daily papers in Cairo than in London.

Lance-Jacks go.—Lance rank is being abolished in the Royal Marines.

Lancashire's Rival.—Japan is importing 1,500,000 spindles for cotton manufacture.

Needs Learning.—There is a great scarcity of fishermen in Hull. But a fisherman isn't made in a day.

Nasty Upset.—Five men and a boy have been injured in a tramcar accident at Burnley. The car overturned.

Stiff Impost.—The main cause of dear whisky is the duty amounting to 5s 10d a bottle.

Rumbling.—Earthquake shocks are reported from a wide area in Southern France.

Printers' Squabble.—The publication of several papers in London has been delayed by trade disputes.

New Head.—The Hon. William Lonnon has been appointed Lieut. Governor of Queensland.

Independent.—The Socialist Mayor of Fulham has refused £400 for his Mayoral expenses.

Revivals.—Mediaeval "mummer" plays are to be produced in several London boroughs at Christmas.

Higher Pay.—Textile workers' wages in Yorkshire are 125 per cent. higher than before the war.

Big Clear out.—At the Armistice there were 111,000 employes at Woolwich Arsenal. Now there are 32,000 only.

A big Visitor.—The Aquitania, now on its way to the Tyne is the largest vessel that ever entered that river.

Old Comrades.—The 31st Royal Fusiliers, Old Comrades' Association have held a successful opening re-union in London.

Anti-British.—The notorious anti-British journal, "The Continental Times," has changed its title to the "European Press."

Linked Again.—A direct steamship service between Hamburg and Brazil will start in the New Year.

Another Batch.—Over a hundred Neath miners have been summoned for non-payment of income tax.

Poor Insurance Company.—A fire at Geldersome did damage estimated at thirty thousand pounds.

Up-to-Date.—Tavistock street Labour exchange has a canteen for the use of the unemployed.

Rapid Rise.—The producer of "Little Women" began her stage career as a chorus girl.

For Ladies Only.—Women M. P.'s at the House have had a room close to the terrace set apart for their use.

The Juror's "Bob."—Complaint is made that the common juror's fee remains at one shilling per case.

Ladies or Women?—Some Parliamentary officials hold the view that lady M. P's should be known as "Women Members."

The outcry. — The agitation being organised against premium bonds is pronounced if not very logical.

Irrepressible.—In spite of all past legislation the money lending harpy still thrives and carries on his old tricks.

Strong in U.S.A. — There are twenty million Roman Catholics in the United States.

Ours will soon. — In many American towns workmen drive to and from their jobs in their own motor cars.

Doing well.—The wife of a Scottish miner has just given birth to four children. All are alive and well.

Built by enemies. — The Poles are demolishing the Cathedral in Warsaw built by the Russians.

Making aircraft. — According to the French press thirty factories in unoccupied Germany are busy producing aeroplane parts and engines.

Veteran Volunteer.—Col. T.W.H. Mitchell claims that his sixty years' service in the old Volunteer and Territorial forces is a record.

Waiting for 'planes. — Aviation is not making the progress anticipated in Australia. Machines cannot be got from England.

OPINIONS OF THE MOMENT.

GAMBLING ETHICS.

Mr. J. Frankfort Moore, the novelist writing on the human instinct to gamble, says:—The man who makes the backing of horses the business of his life is usually referred to as one who is on the downward path, but the one who accepts the offer of a life assurance company is looked upon as being thrifty where the other is shifty. The one is called a gambler, the other is called provident. But the same principle underlies the transaction of each; only the life assurance companies make substantial profits by accepting the odds of a man not dying before he has paid a certain number of premiums; whereas the systematic backer of horses usually drops more money than he can ever recover by persisting in the practice.

SCIENCE AND RELIGION.

Canon James M. Wilson D. D. of Worcester, has been writing on the general attitude of the Church towards Science as compared with fifty years ago he says:—There is a pregnant saying of Augustin: 'Interrogate thyself, O man, and make of thyself a step to the things which are above thee.' Science has of late begun to do this. Previously it had turned its face to things which are below us. Faith has ever turned its eyes to that which is above us, dim though it is, proofs of the existence of which it finds in its own mental and spiritual faculties —in the sphere of the good, the beautiful, and the true. Through that experience, faith is led up to the conviction of a personal origin of Nature, with whom it is possible for us to be in some communion.

UNIVERSAL PEACE.

Mr. H. G. Wells, novelist and thinker in the prepace to the new "Outline of history", says:—There can be we realise, no peace now, but a common peace in all the world; no prosperity. But there can be no peace and prosperity without common historical ideas. Without such ideas to hold them together in harmonious co-operation, with nothing but narrow, selfish, and conflicting nationalist traditions, races and peoples are bound to drift towards conflict and destruction. This truth, which was apparent to that great philosopher Kant a century or more ago—it is the gist of his tract upon universal peace—is now plain to the man in the street.

COMING STARVATION.

Lord Robert Cecil speaking at a League of Nations meeting said one subject was not expressly mentioned in the Covenant of the League of Nations, and yet, for the time being, it transcends in importance all other subjects, and it is international co-operation to restore the economic position of Europe. Thousands, perhaps millions, of our fellow-creatures, are threatened with death by starvation in the course of a few months. I earnestly hope that may be averted, but it cannot possibly be averted except by international co-operation among the nations of the world.

THE WAR AND SCIENCE.

Sir Archibald Geikie, the great scientist looking before and after, says that the war has brought the economic value of science before the world on a colossal scale of demonstration. While scientific inventions have enormously augmented the offensive powers of the belligerents, it is pleasing to know that applications of science have not been all on the destructive side, but that at the same time the greatest stimulus in the history of mankind has been given to medicine and surgery, and that each of these great divisions of the healing art has made notable advances and gained fresh powers for dealing with diseases and wounds.

MUNICIPAL THEATRES.

Miss. Lena Ashwell says:—There are now signs which appear to indicate that, organised on a proper basis, the Municipal Theatre could well be an asset to the town. If speculators can make a good turnover by running entertainments, why is it impossible for the Municipal authorities to do likewise? A suitable building could deal with the cinema, music, and drama, and intelligent control could secure the performance of the finest of each kind. This Municipal effort would not destroy other enterprises any more than the public library prevents the sale of books, or the picture gallery interferes with other picture exhibitions or the sale of lithographs or photographs. But a standard would be established in the communal life.

A FUNDAMENTAL ERROR.

Mr. Charles Wicksfeed writing on the present economic position, says:—The industrial propaganda of the present day is poisoned by the fundamental error that the interests of the wage-earning classes are necessarily opposed to those of the rest of the community, and that the millenium must come by endless unions of the various wage-earners, each fighting for their own ends against the nation.

THE NEW N.A.C.B. DEPARTMENT STORES

TO-MORROW, Thursday will be opened the latest and greatest of all the N.A.C.B. enterprises in Cologne—the magnificent and commodious department stores, completely equipped to handle every kind of commodity and arranged in the manner of a first-class London shop. Here Officers and their wives will be able to fill all their immediate needs, under one roof, passing from one counter to another, paying at the desk for purchases in bulk.

WHAT YOU CAN BUY

A much wider range of articles may be purchased than it is possible to give here but the items mentioned will give some idea of the scope of your own stores.

ALL CAKES AND PASTRIES	GROCERIES
CONFECTIONERY	ALL WINES
CLOTHING	SPIRITS
SPORTS GOODS	LIQUEURS
FANCY GOODS	ALL BEERS
STATIONERY	TOBACCO
SOAPS ETC.	ALL CIGARS
PERFUMERY	CIGARETTES
	RAZORS ETC.

OFFICER'S CLOTHING

LADIES DEPARTMENT

A special room has been reserved and equipped for the sale of ladies clothing and other personal requirements.

THE TEA ROOM

The tea room is quite an attractive feature of the N.A.C.B. Store and will undoubtedly help in making shopping a pleasure instead of a tiresome necessity. Large and comfortably arranged with separate tables customers will, in company with their wives, be able to enjoy a real cup of tea with cakes, pastries and so on.

FOR OFFICERS & THEIR WIVES AT 27 OBENMARSPFORTEN

Turn off the Hohestr. towards the Rhine — opposite Brückenstr.

OPEN TO-MORROW THURSDAY DEC. 4th

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE AND PERSONAL MEDIUM

Do you read the Personal Advts.? There may be a message for you. No advertisement inserted unless name and address is given. A Box No. may always be used, however, if desired. Send 4 Mks. for each line of seven words, including address, to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

FOR SALE.

REGULATION POKER CHIPS, at Pundts, Coblenz, Firmungstr. 35.

POSTAGE STAMPS, large collection of Europe excellent condition, catalogue price Mk. 60,000 for sale at £ 275. Apply to P. Langbein, Richartzstr. 2 a.

A WONDERFUL ANTIQUE dining-room equipment with beautiful rich inlaid work, consisting of 19 parts for sale. Every part a piece of a museum. Write to A 395 Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40.

DOLLS artificially dressed, each with several dresses, own designing. Charming paragons for childrens dresses, for sale. Hegemann, Maternusstr. 8-10 III, near Ubierring.

GOLD watch (ladies), silver watch-bracelet for gentleman, silver key-watch for sale. 5h-7h. Cologne-Nippes, Christinastr. 82 II.

HOUSE with telephone, near Main Station to be partly inhabited in 4 weeks. for sale. Apply to A 407 Cologne Post. A.P.O./S. 40.

VERY OLD VIOLIN, 150 years old and very good, for sale, Assemacher, Vogteistr. 29 near Hansaring.

PHOTO HOUSE and camera repairing works. Aug. Lang, mechanician of precision. Kl. Neugasse 9/11. Always bargains in second-hand binoculars Zeiss-Goertz, Voigtländer & Leitz.

COLLECTION of stamps and envelopes for sale cheap. Lehmann, Köln-Ehrenfeld Venloerstr. 308 D (at Blömling).

ENGLISH gramophone without horn, with English records songs and orchestra, for sale. Moser Kyffhäuserstr. 25 A I. Entrance Heinsbergstr

WANTED.

BUSINESS lady requires comfortably furnished bed-sitting room. Apply Box G. O., Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

RUSSIAN teacher required for English gentleman. Apply Box 82, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

GOOD MOTOR CAR wanted. Send all particulars to Box B.J.R. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

LOST.

LOST in N.A.C.B. on 26th inst. pair of Officer's breeches. Reward. Write Box 81, Cologne Post. A.P.O./S. 40.

During the evening of Thursday 27th, Suitcase having owners name and initials, containing uniforms, Munster Fusiliers Badges, with considerable sum of money. Substantial reward. Apply Box 75, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S 40.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

YOUNG LADY, Serbian, speaks, writes, reads English, French, German (native language), Russian, classical and commercical studies, seeks appointment in England. Write to Marina Neuaxovics, Bohemia, Franzensbad. Sanatorium Dr. Neundovics.

MISCELLANEOUS.

UNIFORMS altered and pressed for British Officers and men. 11 Ross-Strasse. Take No. 6, 4 or 3 Car to Pius-Str. Price: Tunic 20 Mks. Trousers 7 Mks. Breeches 7 Mks.

PERFECT dressmaker would like to undertake repairs of Uniforms, Linen etc. Wagner, Cologne, Klingelpütz 70.

PERSONAL.

WILL Alec Hillman communicate present address, to Box Y.M.P., Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

SHOULD this meet the eye of a Lewis Gunner, name believed to be Scully, or something similar, of the 7th Londons, quartered with or near some Scottish troops in the Nichl or Nippes neighbourhood, on No. 7 tram route, would he please communicate with Box 79, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

WILL Capt. Laurence, Royal Munster Fusiliers, communicate immediately with Box 76, Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40.

HOW ordinary that the Rara Avis should dislike the ginger cat — FWANKIE.

LANGUAGES.

GERMAN LADY can take a few more pupils for private instruction. Evenings only. Box B.O. Cologne Post. A.P.O./S. 40.

YOUNG BELGIAN LADY wishes to have English conversation with Officer or lady. Box 72, Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40.

GERMAN, easiest quickest method. Call SPANDOW, 7 Rudolfplatz, near Opera House 20 years experience English schools.

VOELKER-SCHOOL, Neue Langgasse 3 I. German and French for Englishmen.

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 3, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. 3 (British Army of the Rhine).

TRY AGAIN
FILL IN A COUPON
ANOTHER
BIG FOOTBALL
FORECAST PRIZE
THIS WEEK

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

BOOKS
COLOGNE POST BOOKSHOP
ARCADE
HOHESTRASSE

No. 212. COLOGNE, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

GERMAN MILITARY FORCES.

CONSIDERABLY OVER ONE MILLION MEN STILL UNDER ARMS.

SOVIET TERMS FOR RELEASE OF PRISONERS.

PEACE TREATY.

AMERICAN DELEGATE To REMAIN IN PARIS.

Owing to the failure of the Germans to sign the Protocol, the American Peace Delegation, which had proposed to leave Paris to-morrow (5th), has postponed its departure. A high American authority points out that while the Protocol remains unsigned, the situation reverts to the statuts created by the Armistice. Consequently, despite the attitude of the Senate regarding the Treaty, the United States is as much interested as are the other Powers, and such arrangements will be made for American representation in any further negotiations that Germany will find all the Allied and Associated Powers co-operating to resist any possible effort to avoid compliance with the terms of the Treaty.

PRISONERS OF WAR.

GERMANY NOT KEEPING TO THE BARGAIN.

The reply of the Supreme Council to the Note from Germany concerning repatriation of the German prisoners of war declares that the agreement advancing the date of the application of the Peace Treaty as concerning the prisoners was conditional on Germany fulfilling the Armistice conditions, and was suspended on account of their non-fulfilment.

The Allied Note refutes the German charges, and declares that the German Goverment is endeavouring to excite public opinion against the Allies as regards war prisoners. Referring to the question of punishment of criminals the Note further says that Germany must not expect to re-enter the comity of the nations unless it fulfils its obligations.

GERMAN MILITARY ORGANISATIONS.

The Supreme Council has adopted a resolution proposed by Marshal Foch that Germany be called upon to supress the military organisations which are being formed in violation of the terms of the Peace Treaty. Foch uttered grave warnings respecting the size of the German Army, which he estimates at 1,200,000. Instructions have also been given for the drafting of a reply to the German Note regarding the sinking of the fleet at Scapa Flow.

FIRST RESULTS.

INTERNATIONAL LABOUR CONFERENCE.

A statement issued by M. Arthur Fontaine, the permanent Chairman of the Governing Body of the International Labour Conference at Washington, says:—The first session of the Conference which opened at Washington on the 29th October, at which were assembled delegates from forty-one States, ended on the 29th November.

This session is the first great manifestation of the League of Nations. The Conference has accomplished important work. It has approved draft conventions on the eight hour day and forty-eight hour week; the prohibition of night work for children in industrial establishments, holidays for working women before and after child birth; organisation of public labour employment bureaux and the question of unemployment funds.

N.W. FRONTIER TROUBLE.

SITUATION IMPROVING.

Telegrams from India dated 28th November show that the frontier situation is improving. Air operations against the Mahsuds continue successfully, but most of the other tribes have intimated their intention of fulfilling the British conditions.

A large gang of men of an identified tribe crossed the border on the 28th November and raided the British Cavalry lines at Kokat, one sentry being killed.

LODGE'S ULTIMATUM.

RESERVATIONS OR NO TREATY.

Senator Lodge has issued a statement declaring that his reservations to the Peace Treaty are the irreducible minimum.

If President Wilson wishes the prompt ratification of the Treaty, he has only to accept the reservations as they are.

Polling in the Spen Valley has been fixed for the 20th December.

O'GRADY CONFERENCE.

SOVIET CONDITIONS FOR EXCHANGE.

Prospects of a speedy termination of the Conference between Mr. J. O'Grady M.P. and Litvinoff are not bright, owing to the far-reaching character of Litvinoff's demands.

His objection is apparently the removal of the blockade, on which point the British Government will presumably consider it necessary to consult the Allies. The Conference has therefore reached a deadlock until the British Government has reached a decision and communicated instructions to Mr. O'Grady.

The question of peace must almost inevitably have come up, even though indirectly, in the discussions between Mr. O'Grady and Litvinoff, for Peace is indissolubly involved in the blockade question, but Reuter understands that the subject has hitherto not been formally raised by Litvinoff.

CHINA AND RUSSIA.

MONGOLIAN AGREEMENTS REPUDIATED.

A Presidential Mandate published at Peking, announces the receipt of a Mongolian petition requesting that Mongolia be allowed to come under Chinese rule. The Mandate therefore repudiates all the Russo-Chinese and Russo-Mongol agreements concluded since the declaration of Mongolian Independence, accepts the Mongolian proposal and promises to the Mongols cordial treatment and the "blessings of the Chinese Republic for ever."

The Russian Minister at Peking has protested against this arbitrary cancellation by China of existing agreements between Russia, China and Mongolia, which, he argues, cannot be cancelled except in case of war. Russia, he adds, maintains her right to determine her attitude as soon as a Government for the whole of Russia is recognised.

ALLIES AND ROUMANIA.

SUPPLIES CUT OFF.

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Cecil Harmsworth, in answer to a question, said:—It is decided owing to the attitude of the Roumanian Government, that it will not be possible for the Allies to continue to facilitate the provision of supplies.

All such facilities have been withdrawn until further notice.

On the other hand, a Paris Exchange telegram of yesterday's date says:—

"It is now thought probable that Roumania will sign the Peace Treaty without any reservations, and that she will accept the minority clauses.

"This conclusion is based on a speech made yesterday by the Roumanian Premier at a meeting of the Roumanian senators belonging to the Transylvanian Nationalist party, whose first duty, he said, was to ensure peace."

A long telegram was received at Paris from Bucharest yesterday together with a report of the resignation of the Roumanian Cabinet.

AMERICAN COAL.

WAR-TIME RESTRICTIONS RE-IMPOSED.

Wartime restrictions on the consumption of coal have been re-established in America for the duration of the strike. Supplies will only be provided for railroads, coastal and inland shipping, public bodies and essential industries.

WAR PRISONERS HIDDEN IN GERMANY.

A telegram from Dijon to the "Presse de Paris" reports the arrival there of a volunteer of the 1920 class, named Louis Boucher, who had been a prisoner in Germany and had been sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment for attempting to escape. He was discovered in prison at Danzig as the result of investigations made by a commission of French officers.

Six other French soldiers, it is reported, were also found. All of them were unaware of the fact that peace had been concluded.

THE TURKESTAN MANNER.

A notice in the journal of the Turkestan Soviet states that two Armenian regiments fighting on the side of the Whites were disarmed and shot to a man. The list of the killed fills three pages of the journal and is signed by Kizim Beg, the Turkish Bolshevist emissary.

"LET THEM BEWARE."

WILSON'S STERN WARNING TO AGITATORS.

President Wilson has sent a message to Congress in which, after saying that the Peace Treaty will be the subject of a separate later message, he makes general recommendations for legislation to combat the cost of living, labour unrest and radicalism and the re-adjustment of the nation to a peace time basis. The President urges the simplification of income and excess profits taxation and the alteration of the tariff system to conform with the fact that the United States is the "greatest capitalist in the world."

He declares that the Labour provisions of the League of Nations Covenant offer the way to industrial peace. "No other road lies open to us. Governments must recognise the right of collective bargaining and the right to strike, but a Government has the right to protect all its people against the challenge of any class."

Regarding the Tariffs the message argues that American productivity, stimulated by the war, must find an outlet by exports, otherwise there must inevitably be industrial stagnation and unemployment. "If we want to sell we must be prepared to buy. Therefore, whatever have been our tariff views during the growth of American business, we must now adjust our economic life to the fact that American business is full grown."

A large portion of the President's message is devoted to Labour. It deals with Labour's demands very sympathetically but adds, "Capital should receive a reasonable return and Government protection in emergency. In America the only road to great reforms is through the orderly processes of representative Government. Those who propose other methods of reform through disorder and revolution are enemies of the country. Let them beware." Concerning taxation, he says there comes a point where high taxes on income and profits discourage enterprise, encourage extravagance and produce industrial stagnation.

TRAWLER SKIPPERS FINED.

FISHING IN A MINEFIELD.

The skippers of seven Grimsby trawlers were fined fifty pounds each on Tuesday for fishing in a prohibited area of the Heligoland Bight which is still uncleared of mines, thus endangering the lives of the crews.

CAIRO SHOOTINGS.

The firing of revolver shots at British officers and men still continues at Cairo. Two shots were fired at some soldiers on Saturday night, but there were no casualties.

The number of casualties in the rioting at Cairo on the 16th November was thirteen Egyptians killed and seventy six wounded. Most of these occurred before the intervention of British troops.

HURRICANE IN LONDON.

A sudden hurricane burst over London for a brief space on Tuesday morning, a man being killed in Victoria Station by a falling chimney pot. Much damage was caused by falling slates, broken windows and the collapse of hoardings. A sixty-mile gale, accompanied by driving rain, prevailed in the English Channel. Heavy seas are breaking over the Dover breakwater and Admiralty Pier.

CONSCRIPTION DEAD.

Replying to a question in the House of Commons, Mr. Churchill states that all troops now being sent abroad are voluntarily enlisted regular soldiers. He added that it was not proposed to renew the Conscription Act.

SECOND INDUSTRIAL CONGRESS.

The second Industrial Conference summoned by President Wilson with a view to harmonising Capital and Labour opened yesterday, the proceedings taking place behind closed doors. Mr. Wilson, Secretary for Labour, explained that it was desirable for the delegates, to be able to think aloud, without having their ideas chained to hasty expressions.

NO PREMIUM BONDS.

The House of Commons rejected Mr. Bottomley's proposals for the issue of Lottery Bonds by 276 votes against 84. The leading members of the Cabinet, Independent Liberals, Labourites and Lady Astor all voted against the resolution, the minority consisting chiefly of backbench Unionists and a few Coalition Liberals.

WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES.

The National Savings Committee notify that the number of War Savings Certificates sold during the week ended November 22 was 1,434,416, bringing the total to that date up to 373,991,338. Seventy new Savings Associations were formed during November.

The two German tugs have been allowed to sail from Dover with the officers aboard. They are going to South America to tow back some German vessels interned there.

SIR EVELYN WOOD.

DEATH OF OCTOGENARIAN FIELD MARSHAL.

We regret to announce the death, at the age of 81, of Sir Evelyn Wood, V.C., which occurred on Tuesday.

Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood was born at Crossing, Braintree, Essex on 9th February, 1838. In 1852 he entered the Navy and served in the Crimea with the Naval Brigade from 1854 to June 1855 when he was severely wounded while carrying a scaling ladder at the attack on the Redan forts.

His connection with the army dates from 1855, when he joined the 13th Light Dragoons. He subsequently transferred to the 17th Lancers and served in the Indian Campaign of 1858. The Victoria Cross was awarded him in 1859. He took part in the Ashantee, Kaffir, Zulu, and Transvaal wars. In 1883 he was instrustrumental in raising the Egyptian Army, and served in the Nile expedition in 1884—1885. He was the author of a number of works on military subjects and his chief recreations were hunting, shooting, cycling and lawn tennis.

MAYOR OF DUBLIN.

DENOUNCES MURDERERS OF POLICE.

After the inquest on Detective-Sergeant Barton, who was murdered in Dublin on Saturday, the Lord Mayor of Dublin said that the jury had interpreted the feelings of the citizens in their abhorrence of and indignation against this crime. With full realisation of all the risks which such a statement might entail to himself he felt he would be almost as cowardly as the men who shot poor Barton if he did not say it was up to men in his position to help track down the men who committed these atrocious deeds.

In saying that, he did not wish to reflect on any cause whatever or say he wished to help any Government that had not the people's confidence, but he felt he would not be true to the aspirations of his country if he did not denounce crimes which deprived the citizens of the help of such men as Barton.

The Lord Lieutenant of Ireland is offering a reward of five thousand pounds for the detection of the murderers of policemen in Dublin.

HOUSING SCHEMES.

LIMITING THE GOVERNMENT'S ASSISTANCE.

The Committee appointed by the Treasury to consider the financing of local housing schemes has presented an interim report. The most important recommendation is that local authorities be empowered to issue short-term 5½ per cent. local bonds. The report declares that the effect on the country's credit would be most serious if the State, which is already confronted by exceptional demands, entered the market for the purpose of financing the whole of the housing schemes, and suggests that several authorities might combine to raise a Housing Loan. It further recommends that an active campaign be started to secure the support of investors. It is estimated that 535,000 houses are needed, at a cost of 430 millions.

GREEK POLITICAL PLOT.

An Athens telegram says that the judicial inquiry into the anti-Venizelos plot is proceeding. None of the more prominent opposition leaders seem to be implicated, nor is there any indication that the conspirators succeeded in spreading sedition in the rank and file of the army, their only supporters on the active service list being a few officers who retained their commissions under false pretences.

BRITISH TROOPS IN FRANCE.

It was officially stated in Parliament on Tuesday, that according to the latest returns, the number of British troops now in France is 3,500 officers and 50,000 other ranks.

The number of officers and other ranks of the British Army now stationed in the Paris area is twenty-five and 140 respectively, but it is expected that these will be reduced by the 31st December to twenty officers and twenty other ranks.

REPATRIATION OF PRISONERS.

During the week ended 26th November 2,790 Austrian prisoners of war were repatriated from the United Kingdom and France. Since the 12th Novembev 713 German prisoners and 5,665 Turkish prisoners have been repatriated from Egypt and 380 Turkish prisoners from Salonica. The number of prisoners repatriated by Great Britain since the 1st. September is as follows: Germans 267,423; Austrians 3,088; Turkish 33,414, Bulgarians 1,281.

DOCKERS' UNION ENTRANCE FEE.

The National Union of Dock Workers at Liverpool has fixed an entrance fee of five pounds for new memberships, except for dockers and ex-soldiers who were pre-war dockers. It is stated that this step is intended to check the influx of newcomers, as the supply of labour at the docks is considerably in excess of the demand.

SUMMARY COURT.

ATTEMPTED MURDER OF BRITISH SOLDIERS.

A fracas in the vicinity of the Ubier Ring had its sequel, when eleven men were brought up in custody at the Summary Court yesterday, in connection with the attempted murder of two British soldiers.

According to the statement of the Prosecuting Officer, the soldiers were attacked from behind as they were proceeding to their billets, one being stabbed five times.

On the table were several knives, an "oxtail," a knuckleduster and other weapons which had been found on the prisoners.

One of the soldiers gave evidence. He said:—"I was walking along the street when suddenly I felt a stab in the back. I fell forward on my face. I was stabbed four more times and kicked on the head and body."

The prisoners were remanded until Monday.

A DESPERATE CHARACTER.

"This is evidently a case of Bill Sykes and Nancy," observed the Presiding officer after investigating a charge gainst Fritz Bertz and Therese Dolman, of no fixed address. They were charged with being in possession of a loaded revolver and a number of loose cartidges.

Bertz was sentenced to six months with hard labour, the presiding officer describing him as a desperate character, but Dolman was acquitted on the ground that she was evidently only screening the male prisoner.

PARIAHS OF THE SEA.

AFTERMATH OF SUBMARINE WARFARE.

The first German vessel to arrive at a Canadian port under German officers since 1914 is the barque Paul, which was forced to enter Halifax owing to damage sustained in the North Atlantic. Its Commander, Captain Kruger, said his vessel was almost disabled and sent out signals of distress which were disregarded by several ships whose Commanders and crews had suffered through German submarine ruthlessness.

Finally the British ship Manchester Merchant, under Captain Musgrove, who also had his ship torpedoed during the war and his crew fired on by a submarine while in an open boat, offered assistance, but was unable to tow the Paul owing to the heavy seas. Eventually the Paul decided to go to Halifax instead of Philadephia and reached there after forty-four days out from Hamburg.

LEVANT MINE DISASTER.

MANSION HOUSE FUND OPENED.

The Lord Mayor has consented to receive at the Mansion House any sums which the London public care to send towards the fund for the dependants of the thirty-one men who lost their lives in the Levant mining accident in Cornwall about a month ago. The Workmen's Compensation Acts grant £300 in each case, but without regard to the number—large or small—of dependants in the family. To supplement this provision, a committee in Cornwall, headed by the Lord Lieutenant, has collected nearly £3,000, and the "Western Morning News" about £7,000. But £10,000 still remains to be raised.

RUMOURED PENDING RETIREMENT OF THE SPEAKER.

It is stated on good authority that Mr. J. W. Lowther will resign his seat and will cease to be Speaker of the House of Commons next May, and that the Conservative candidate for the Penrith and Cockermouth Division of Cumberland, which he now represents, will be his brother, General H. C Lowther, who was member for North Westmorland from 1915 to 1918.

In reply to an inquiry Mr. Lowther said the statement was not authorized by himself. When he intended to retire it would be his duty to inform the House of Commons of the fact, and that was the course he proposed to take.

TO BE TAKEN AS REQUIRED.

A West Lothian doctor, who is a candidate for Linlithgowshire County Council, has issued an address to the voters in which he says the National Health Insurance Act was badly misnamed, and is one of the most gigantic frauds ever saddled on a community without their consent. The address concludes:—"Beware of the sinister influences of shivering shirkers, greedy Jews, hangers-on, helpless gaffers, tied flunkeys, jobmongers, spurious Labourists, revolutionary loafers, plundering anarchists, men of straw, and dirty twisters of divers origin."

SOUTH AFRICAN FOOD SHORTAGE.

Considerable dissatisfaction is expressed at Capetown at the export from South Africa of foodstuffs, of which there a shortage. The Executive of the Federation of Trades Unions has unanimously decided to call on all affiliated Unions to refuse to handle all foodstuffs for export from South African ports.

A DOUBLE LIFE.

SUICIDE OF EX-TOWN MAJOR OF ARRAS.

Startling revelations were made at the inquest held on Tuesday on Major Sydney Douglas Stewart, formerly Town Major of Arras, who shot himself at a boarding house in Kensington Park road. The evidence showed that while at Arras he formed an intimacy with a French girl clerk named Jeanne Pignon aged 24, who later came to England, where the relationship continued. Mrs. Stewart thereupon complained to the War Office and Major Stewart was warned about his conduct, and especially about his having entered Mlle. Pignon's name in the hotel register as Mrs. Stewart.

Meanwhile his wife was appealing to him to return. Major Stewart then began to gamble a lot and to drink more than usual. On the night of the tragedy he contrived to elude the French girl at a station on the Tube, in order to meet his wife at Notting Hill-Gate station, where, however he never turned up. Mlle. Pignon, after seeking him at the Trocadero, Monico, Frascati's and other places, telephoned to the boarding house and the Major replied "I am going to commit suicide." She implored him to wait, but although she drove straight to the house, she found that Major Stewart had shot himself.

The coroner attributed the suicide to worry in connection with his double life and the jury returned a verdict of suicide whilst of unsound mind.

CRIMINAL CAREER.

AMAZING RECORD OF A BICYCLE THIEF.

A South African recently demobilized, James Parkin, twenty-six, who was convicted at the Westminster Police Court of an ordinary bicycle theft, was stated to have been sentenced to death for desertion on the battlefield, and, while in charge of an escort on the way to prison, escaped from bombs dropped from a German aeroplane, though the two men in charge of him were killed outright. He bolted and afterwards robbed a sleeping soldier of Treasury notes. Eventually he was taken into custody and twice escaped from his cell at Seaford.

The Magistrate (Mr. Francis), in ordering Parkin to gaol for six months, said that a more extraordinary and worse career of crime could not be imagined.

FREEMASONRY.

PRINCE ALBERT'S INITIATION.

In the presence of a distinguished gathering, Prince Albert was initiated into Freemasonry at Prince's Galleries, Piccadilly on Tuesday evening. He joined the Navy Lodge, of which the late King Edward, when Prince of Wales, was Worshipful Master. The Duke of Connaught, Grand Master, being unable to attend, the duty of conducting the ceremony developed upon the pro-Grand Master, Lord Ampthill, and Vice-Admiral Eustace, the Worshipful Master of the Lodge. The attendance included Earl Donoughmore, Grand Master, Ireland, and Brigadier-General Gordon Gilmore, Grand Master, Scotland.

"Hearty good wishes" from Cologne.

D'ANNUNZIO ON TOUR.

A semi-official message received at Belgrade from Sebenico states: "Eight officers, followers of D'Annunzio, arrived here on Nov. 26 by motor-car from Zara, and were escorted into the town by a procession of Italians with bands. The officers were the guests of General Viera, the Military Governor. They left for Zara on the 27th, accompanied by cheers from the Italians for D'Annunzio and ex-Admiral Millo. The visit of these officers was made by the Italians the occasion to insult our population in various ways. Official information received here from the Italian Government states that the latter will do its utmost to prevent a repetition of the Zara incident.

FINE FOR SELLING BEER.

The Holbeach (Lincolnshire) magistrates fined a farm foreman named Speed £45 on charges of selling drink to labourers on the farm. The defence was that local labourers, resenting the employment of Irishmen, prevented the publicans from supplying them, and that the Irish had threatened to stop work if not given beer. It was admitted, however, that Speed had supplied other labourers on the farm.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

Competition of new capital issues and adverse exchanges, together with the continued flow of Continental offerings, caused general depression during the morning. Subsequently, however, gold-mining shares rallied on a further increase in the premium on gold. Mexican Eagle oil shares were subjected to fresh liquidations, prompted by diplomatic trouble in Mexico. Foreign bonds remained heavy owing to reluctance of dealers to take securities. Johannesburg Consolidated Investment announce a distribution of 150,000 new State Areas shares, among shareholders, pro rata to their holdings.

Bar gold was in good general demand, 106s 8d being paid. Silver rose to 73¾ pence, owing to the fall in the American exchange.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS
FLIGHTS LTD.
MILITARY TAILORS
LONDON. WINCHESTER. ALDERSHOT.
Owing to military requirements Mr. A. J. R. Lee has been compelled to change his address to
KRONPRINZ HOTEL
(Behind The Excelsior Hotel)
where he will have his usual excellent selection of material, both for Mufti and Uniform, also a stock of Hosiery of the best quality.
LATE OF THE OFFICERS' CLUB No. 1.

Open on Monday 1st Dec. 1919
A Dining Room for British Soldiers
Domhof No. 20
Head Office Domhof No. 24.
Proprietor Wilh. Cremer, Domhof 24.
Experienced Cook.

Musical Instruments
Only for wholesalers
Big musical instrument firm in Cologne sells accordeons, concertinas mouth organs etc.
Apply to A 409 a, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

RAZORS very sharply ground and completely polished at
C.A. LÜTTERS, COLOGNE
Breitestr. 23.
Special store for razors.

Fox-skin rug, comprising 20 choicest selected pelts, for Mks. 2500, for sale. Write A 326, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

EXPORT
Manufacturers of Surgical Instruments
NEUMANN & CIE.
COLOGNE, Minoritenstraße 21A.

10 beautiful Goerz Binoculars 8×26 for sale
Blumenfeld, Balthasarstr. 24 near Deutscher Ring.

German lady wants exchange lessons with an English lady. Reply to Miss SCHMÜLLER, CÖLN, Sachsenring 52.

EXPORT
Solingen Steelware
Depot of manufacturers of razors, pocket knives, forks, spoons and knives, household machines etc.
Kölner Handelsgesellschaft m. b. H.
Brüsseler Str. 94 COLOGNE Tel. A 7866

FOTAX 1914
Dark room Lamp for Candlé . . . 2.75
" " 3.50
Bromide Postcards, per hundred. . 6.—
" " per thousand . 55.—
Self-toning Postcards, per hundred 12.—
Gaslight paper 9×12 per hundred. 6.50
" " 6×9 per hundred. 4.—
Tripods, brass telescopic 31.50
Camera 6×9 cm . . . . . 65.—
" 6×9 cm double anastigmat 150.—
" 9×12 cm . . . . . 70.—
" 9×12 cm double anastigmat 270.—
SCHILDERGASSE 55a
Next the C. of E. Military Church.

ANOTHER N. A. C. B. SERVICE
BOOT REPAIRS-
Men's, Women's, Children's.
Tie a label on and leave at the new Department Stores, 27 Obenmarspforten.

Y. M. C. A.
BOOKSHOP
16, DOMHOF.
Special selection of Recent Novels and Childrens Story Books.
Hours 10—12.30, 2—4, 5—7.
Thursdays 10—12.30 only.

For Experts & Wholesalers
Coutellerie-Cutlery
Pocket knives, Scissors, razors-spoons, forks and knives, safety razors, haircutting machines etc.
BAUMANN & Co.
KÖLN, Berlich 43.

HARDWARE
Tools, Articles for Penny Bazaars
House and Kitchen Utensils.
Always large stocks
R. H Müller, Manufacturer
SCHMALKALDEN, Thüringen
(Formerly in London)
Telegrams: THURINGIA Telephone: 8'4

A. VILLINGER, Bensberg
Telephone 58
Engineering and Metal Works
We deliver for export over 1000 Water taps daily and other metal articles. Importers of raw material.

Goerz Taro Tenax 9 by 12, with D. A. Dagor lens. Zeiss, Goerz and Voigtländer prismatic glasses.
Good opportunity to purchase.
Funk, Wholesale Photographic Dealer
Köln, Elstergasse 8, near Museum.
'phone B 4484.

ZEISS-GLASSES
If you want an EYE-GLASS
come to
S. Goldfinger, G.m.b.H.
Hohestr. 88 Optician Hohestr. 88
We test your eyes in specially fitted rooms.

The high grade "TUCKMAR" Razor

Do you know why everybody asks to-day for a "Tuckmar" razor and why they are called the "Worlds Perfect Razor"???
Because they are the very best and most durable razors in shaving!!!
The excellence of the "Tuckmar" razors consists in their being made from the very best silver steel and in their having the best reputation in the world!!! Every razor fully warranted! SOLD EVERYWHERE!
TÜCKMANTEL & MARTIN, Ohligs-Solingen.
Factory-Agent and Exhibition: Gormanns & Schallenberg, Cologne, Neumarkt 32-34.

TUCKMAR RAZORS P. LAAFF, Specialist KOMÖDIENSTR. 79 Opposite Army Cinema No. 1. Lowest prices.

Directly opposite the Dom and Main Station.
Special House for Amateur Photography
ANDREAS PILLEN
I. COLOGNE, Deichmannhaus, opposite the Dom & Main Station.
II. COLOGNE, Hohenzollernring 70.
Big depot for Ica, Goerz, Zeiss, Ernemann, & Nettel Cameras.
Projectors and Cinema Apparatus.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre. Bismarckstr.
To-night and nightly at 6.00 p.m.
British Rhine Army Dramatic Coy.
Present
"LADY FREDERICK"
By W. SOMERSET MAUGHAM.
including
MISS DECIMA MOORE, C.B.E. in her original part
as LADY FREDERICK.
Book at Amusements Office.

Palaçe Theatre. Herzogstrasse.
To-night and nightly at 6 p.m.
Owing to continued popularity and success
RETURN VISIT OF Mr. ALFRED HURLEY'S LONDON VARIETY COMPANY
ARTISTES:
Mr. WARWICK PRICE
Entertainer at Piano from St. George's Hall, London
Miss GWLADYS STANLEY
Soubrette, Central Pier, Blackpool 1919
Mr. POWELL EASTBURY
Baritone & Humourist
Miss MARJORIE BOWYA
Soprano & Violinist
Miss MARGUERITE De LARA
Prestidigitator and
Miss MARJORIE BOWYA & Mr. POWELL EASTBURY
in a Pot Pourri of Rags & Gags.
Complete Charge of Programme.
Prices 10 Mks. 6 Mks. 3 Mks.

No: 1 ARMY CINEMA. (The Boys). 32 Komödienstrasse
No: 2 ARMY CINEMA. (Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.
No: 3 ARMY CINEMA. (Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.
Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc.,
Staff Instructor in attendance.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
CINEMA
Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post
Telephones: Military, No. 653. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Thursday, December 4, 1919.

WICKED WASTE.

Officers and men returning from leave at home are unanimous in deploring the wanton waste and prodigality they see on all sides.

In the first flush of triumph, after five strenuous bitter years, the sense of reaction creating an incentive, gave reasonable excuse for some license. That was a phase that should by now have been left far behind.

Unfortunately, the snowball of extravagance seems to gather strength as it rolls. We hear of immense sums being paid for luxuries, furs, motor-cars, country estates, jewels, pianos and a hundred other things. The hotels and restaurants are packed to overflowing and are earning huge dividends, the dancing club, the theatre and the cinema never had such times; the smart modiste and tailors' books are overfilled with orders.

Thousands are frittered away on costume carnivals; the fashionable clubs have waiting lists as long as your arm.

A disgusting orgy of waste is in progress. And all the while statesmen and publicists, who should know, predict national bankruptcy unless the tide is stemmed speedily.

In business as well as in pleasure, the lessons of economy, which the war should have taught, seem to be thrown aside. There is a wild boom in company promoting; speculation is rife. Where thousands used to be talked of, it is now millions. There never was so much lavish advertising regardless of cost or result. Everything is on the big extravagant scale.

One example of the present trend will perhaps suffice. During the war paper was notoriously scarce. To-day, the demand has grown, but supplies cannot keep pace. Sufficient shipping is not available for imports; raw material is short for the home made article. So paper prices, instead of falling, are mounting up.

Yet waste paper which proved invaluable in war time, is now a drug in the market, and almost unsaleable. It is being destroyed ruthlessly. Dozens of other instances of national waste in all directions could be given. Everyone knows of them.

Few seem to realise where the recklessness of the hour must inevitably lead Great Britain ere long. Yet, if a strong united effort is made and made now, all may yet be well, for the nation has, as we know, immense reserve powers of recuperation.

LOTTERIES OF OTHER DAYS.

There is some talk now of a possible revival of lotteries in connection with the financial necessities of the State. But Victory Loan Bonds and Premium Bonds are one thing; State lotteries are another. When lotteries were put down by Act of Parliament in 1826 it was felt that a degrading moral cancer had been cut out of the body politic. "The lottery was the cause of every vice that could be practised and of every crime that could be committed; it separated families; it severed husbands and wives; it carried devastation all over the metropolis and ruined all sorts of people in masses." Such is a lurid contemporary account of the evils wrought by the lottery habit and the gambling fever by which it was accompanied.

This rose to its height in the eighteenth century, when at one time there were lottery oyster-stalls, lottery barbers, lottery drapers, lottery ham and beef shops and even lottery sausage stalls, where you could buy a hot sausage for a farthing with a ticket for a five shilling prize thrown in.

THE BEGINNING.

The first State lottery in this country was held in 1569, and the object was the thoroughly patriotic one of raising money for the repair of the seaports. Forty thousand tickets were sold at 10s. each, and the draw went on continuously day and night in a booth outside the west door of St. Paul's Cathedral.

Another famous lottery was that of 1612 to raise funds for the infant colony of Virginia. Even then their evil consequences were recognised, and they were prohibited as "a public nuisance" in 1698. A few years later, however, one of Queen Anne's Parliaments relented, and they started again in full blast, under State patronage, justified by their advocates on the ground of the revenue they produced.

The State lottery of 1779 was typical. Forty-nine thousand tickets were issued and £490,000 was offered in prizes. There were 16,330 prize-winning numbers and 32,670 blanks, and the prizes ranged from two of £20,000 each down to 15,820 of £20. The tickets were bought in huge blocks by firms of contractors, who divided them into halves, quarters, eighths and sixteenths and sold them to the public at prices which showed a handsome profit, while the Treasury benefited to the extent of anything from £300,000 to half a million.

THE "ADVENTURERS".

It was estimated that some 2,000 agents and clerks were engaged in the business and 7,500 "morocco men," so called from the red books in which they entered the "insurances" of the ticket buyers, or, as they were usually called, "adventurers." The drawings lasted for forty days, until an Act was passed in 1806 confining the drawing to a single day in order to put an end to the practice of "insurance."

This was carried on in the following way. Any number which a gambler fancied could be "insured" at a low premium on the chance of its being drawn for a prize, the premiums rising as the draw proceeded. The "insurance" offices were packed night and day by frenzied gamblers, and the literature of the period teems with references to their demoralising influence.

The State certainly drew a considerable revenue, for from 1793 to 1824 it made an average profit from the lotteries of £346,765. But it was purchased very dearly. In addition to the State lotteries, Parliament occasionally sanctioned lotteries of a special character. For example, Skinner Street, Holborn, an unfortunate building speculation, was disposed of by lottery.

LOTTERIES OF ALL KINDS.

The Mercers Company in 1745 paid off by means of a lottery the bonds they had issued when in financial difficulties. Alderman Boydell received permission to dispose of his stock of prints by a lottery, and Sir Ashton Lever's Natural History Museum at Leicester House shared a similar fate, though the owner only sold 8,000 tickets out of the 40,000 offered to the public.

The contractors, of course, did not fail to push their tickets with all the alluring arts of which they were capable. Their offices were gaily lit with coloured lamps; their windows were set out with a fine display of golden guineas pouring from a horn of plenty. The big prize was usually £20,000—then considered an enormous sum—and the agents vied with one another in advertising their previous success, as though they were the special darlings of Fortune. One firm paid an old woman, named Goodluck, an annuity of £50 for the use of her name as a sleeping partner. The mania was general, but the winners were few and the losers many.

On one occasion the prayers of the congregation at St. Andrew's, Holborn, were asked for "a lady who had engaged in a new undertaking." It was not till later that the Rector discovered that "the new undertaking" consisted of a ticket in a lottery. But Heaven detected the pious fraud, and the prayers did not avail. From "Country Life."

A BOXING LESSON.

It was a chance acquaintance of mine in the "Cheshire Cheese" that caused all the trouble. He was evidently a member of the boxing fraternity, that is, a squat nose, cut lip and cauliflower ear gave me that impression, and his talk was of boxers and boxing. So much indeed did he seem to know about Billy Wells, Carpentier, and Joe Beckett ("Joe," as he called him) that my heart warmed towards him as only that of a hero worshipper can.

Then he made a remark about my physical attributes and implied that I would make a World's Champion if properly coached. I felt honoured, and the upshot of it was, I repaired the following morning to a place appointed and found myself fifteen minutes later stripped ready for a lesson.

When I saw my would-be instructor, also ready stripped, stride into the centre of the ring I felt all my aspirations for boxing championships ooze out of my being. My heart began beating at an abnormal rate and I found myself wondering if I would be alive when the lesson ended.

However, he gave me a cordial greeting, and this somewhat restored my waning courage, for I reasoned how could such a friendly acquaintance wish to harm me. Next he gave me a few points about how my feet should be placed and the bout began.

His first instruction was "Hit me!" I made a gallant attempt but where I expected his face to be, it was not, and he deliberately planted a nasty blow on my manly chest. I felt hurt and yet nettled to think he could hit me so easily.

"Don't watch my gloves, watch my eyes" was his next instruction. But such was easier said than done; those gloves, held a terrible fascination for me.

After a few more words of advice we again "sparred" (I think that's what they call it) and filled with the desire to do big things I rushed at him and with a mighty swipe just missed his jaw. What an elation was mine as I thought how near I had come to hitting my instructor But it did not last a fifth of a second for I received two lovely drives, one right and one left, to my head in exchange and through the buzzing in my ears I could hear a calm voice saying "Don't rush unless you are well covered, laddie."

Up to now I had in my opinion made poor use of my lesson, but again I sailed into my man and with a glorious effort succeeded in planting a beauty on his nose.

Of what followed I have only a dim recollection. Something caught me a terrific wallop on the side of my head. Next, darkness, penetrated by myriads of shooting stars descended on my right eye.

Then a gloved hand with the kick of a mule behind it sought my nasal organ with disastrous results to that member. Weakly, blindly I countered for where my "destructor" should be, but I only struck air and I had the impression of a stray thunderbolt landing on my chin.

When I next took notice of my surroundings I was under the impression that I was back again in a trench before Bailleul after a "Minnie" had burst, but at last I gathered the facts, that I was on the floor and my instructor standing over me was asking "Want anything else?" "Yes, a doctor, please," was what I managed to gasp. Why he laughed beats me.

* * *

Yesterday I partook of some milk pudding and with my only operating optic read a number of the "Cologne Posts" and a letter signed "Anti-Box" in one of them. I agree with him, boxing is a brutal science and if any one says they think differently I would reply, "I don't think it. I know it."

My aspirations for boxing honours are now nil and if Carpentier could hit like my instructor I don't blame Billy Wells for that seventy-three seconds fiasco.

W. L. C.

BLUE EYES — A MARK OF DISTINCTION.

The blonde type, which has evolved under the rigorous conditions of North-West Europe, is of all human types the most energetic, enterprising, valorous, and hardy. This superiority is partly due to the direct effect of climate upon the individual, but still more to the rigorous conditions of life, which have imposed a correspondingly rigorous struggle for existence, issuing in the survival of a hardy, virile race.

The dominance of the fair type is shown in many ways. In all the struggles which have taken place between the fair North-West Europeans and the darker southerners, the northerners have proved victorious.

The view has been advanced and supported with notable arguments, that the civilisations of Rome, Greece, and even Egypt were founded by a conquering northern fair race, which in course of time became absorbed into the conquered, all traces of its blonde origin gradually disappearing. Be this as it may, there is no doubt that at the present time the blonde is the dominant type.

Viewing the recent war from a wide standpoint, what was it essentially but a war between two great blonde peoples who had evolved in the North-West of Europe—the British and the Germans? So long at the North-West of Europe retains its characters of coldness and cloudiness the blonde type will continue to thrive, and is likely to remain the dominant world type.

Consider such facts as the following: Every American President has had blue eyes, and of these thirteen have been Scotsmen. Most of the men with whose names we are familiar in connection with the recent war appear to be blue-eyed: The King, the Prince of Wales, the Kaiser, Asquith, Lloyd George, Balfour, Northcliffe, Smuts, Kitchener, French, Haig, Joffre, Foch, Hindenburg, Ludendorff, Mackensen—to mention a few of them. The like was also true of Wellington, Nelson, and Napoleon.

The blue eye, I should mention, is only a rough test of blondeness. Many with light-brown eyes are essentially blondes, and many with dark-blue eyes have brown skins. For these reasons those who do not happen to have blue eyes must not consider themselves as necessarily out of the running, nor must all blue-eyed folk run away with the idea that they are of the chosen.

I have said that it is peculiarly fitting that our future King should be a blonde. My reason for insisting on this is now clear. I venture with the utmost loyalty and respect to express the hope that it will be a fair-haired, blue-eyed Princess whom his Royal Highness will lead to the altar.— From the "Medical Press and Circular."

SUCCESS.

On speaking terms with Success?
A nod as you meet and pass;
If this be as far as ever you go,
You'll fail of its goal, alas!

Elusive she e'er has been,
As coy as a maid and shy,
If you have desire her favour to win,
Speak quick, ere she pass you by.

Faint heart never won fair maid—
Half efforts ne'er bring success;
If you would mount high the ladder of life,
Your best be your goal, no less.

—FRED SCOTT SHEPARD.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

Our Readers' Varied Views.

CHRISTMAS WATER SPORTS.

Sir,—"Mermaid's" suggestion is delightful. What a joyous carnival we could have—swimming, races, diving contests, water polo and other games, and if both sexes compete and wear bright and varied bathing costumes, it would beat any fancy dress ball for colour and beauty. Everyone would want to see it, too.

I do hope so much that a committee will be formed to take up the idea vigorously. There's none too much time and the costumes will need to be got ready. I have a dinky notion for mine.

WATER SPRITE.

DO NOT LOAF.

Sir,—While agreeing in the main with "H.C.W." I can't agree that natural history classes are likely to be a popular counter-attraction to the eventide "loafing" he deplores.

One would have thought the various institutes and clubs, theatres and cinemas sufficient, yet even these pall when you go to them every night. The young soldier is only human. He doesn't want to be continually instructed and shepherded.

Like most of us he is fond of studying human nature, of mixing with the throng and seeing a bit of life. If he is happy and comes to no harm, why should "H.C.W." or other well meaning folk interfere? FREEDOM.

Sir,—"H.C.W." calls attention to a growing evil, one which calls for direct action if the young soldier is not to suffer in after life. I refer to "loafing" which is very noticeable at night.

Have these men no interests outside their military duties? One would think not judging by their apparent indifference to welfare efforts made on their behalf.

What is happening regimentally? Where are all the concert parties which provided us with such excellent fare last winter? Have the men who succeeded the old Brigade no desire to better fit themselves educationally for their return to civil life?

I wonder when I see those small groups to which "H.C.W." quite properly calls attention. PADRE.

CIVILIANS IN THE CLUBS.

Sir,—May I be permitted to make an observation on the order prohibiting civilians from entering the Club other than as guests?

As an officer who is about to be demobbed and contemplates returning to Cologne as a civilian, I should not like to see young officers enjoying privileges from which many like myself, who have served from 1914 will be barred. Those who made these comforts possible, should at least be invited to enjoy them. Every demobbed officer has his papers and I feel sure that it is the wish of the management to be hospitable to those who have done their bit, but one cannot always meet a serving friend or acquaintance just at the proper time.

I would suggest that the order is not intended to bar demobbed officers, but to keep out the foreign element which has been so prominent of late. That should not be a very difficult matter. I think I can safely say that many serving officers will be as much annoyed as those demobbed.

Could not a kind of honorary membership be introduced? G. E.

N.A.C.B. GROUSES.

Sir,—When are we going to hear the last of the complaints regarding the N.A.C.B?

"Starlight" provides the latest. What possible difference is there between markings in Sterling and those in marks? If an article is priced at say fifty marks does it require much brain service to form an idea as to the equivalent in British coin?

Leave the N.A.C.B. alone. It is doing excellent service, the assistants from my own experience are courteous and obliging and the service is first class.

A little less of Bond street manner when shopping and not so much grousing and we should be the better for it.

GODIVA.

Sir,—Reference "Starlight's" suggestion re N.A.C.B. prices, may I point out that these prices are always given in two columns, one showing prices in "sterling" the other in marks at the current rate.

The latter is changed seven days after the official rate changes. EYES.

ADVICE TO YOUNG SOLDIERS.

Sir,—I have been an interested reader of the many articles in your paper in reference to the young soldiers in the Rhine Army.

I first made the acquaintance of the young soldiers in June 1918 and my first impression was an exceedingly good one.

Their instructors were in sympathy with them and tried not only to train in a military sense, but acted as "father and mother" to them. The result was gratifying.

Demobilization came and appeared to unsettle the lads. I spent much time in pointing out to these boys that although the fighting was over, an Army must be maintained and in fairness to those who had done the fighting, the young soldiers must carry on the traditions of the British Army.

There were no complaints then as to lack of interest. The young soldier of to-day lacks contentment. He thinks more of demobilization and self than of his work and of his comrades. Let him think of the claims of his Regiment, and his comrades before his personal desires, and he will then be on the right road.

I offer to every young soldier the following advantages of the Army of to-day:—Regular meals and sleep (every campaigner will agree with me that these two are more important than pay or duties); short hours of parade; easy duties; opportunity for sport; good rate of pay; opportunity for improving education.

Every young soldier should ask himself, "Am I doing the best I can for the honour of my battalion both on and off parade?" If he cannot truthfully say "Yes!" I would ask him to "look to it." Cut out, "on" and "off," "Roll on Demob."

RANKER '14—'17.

IN THE BALANCE.

Element of Uncertainty in To-night's Fight.

DEBT TO DICK SMITH.

The training of the principals for to-night's great contest at the Holborn Stadium—Georges Carpentier, heavy-weight champion of Europe, and Joe Beckett, heavy-weight champion of Great Britain—has been concluded and both men are now straining at the leash and ready for the fray.

In Rhineland as well as at home, thousands will be anxiously waiting to learn whether a new champion has been found or whether Carpentier has retained the honour.

There is so little to chose between the two men, and to decide definitely in favour of either would be unfair to the capabilities and possibilities of the other.

Never has there been a more pronounced element of uncertainty about a contest involving such tremendous stakes. The men have all to lose or gain by the fight, and there is not a shadow of doubt, but that every nerve will be strained, and every endeavour made to win such a prize.

It is probably the "Anything may happen" air which is mainly responsible for the almost unprecedented pitch to which public enthusiasm has been keyed, coupled of course, with the popularity of both contestants. Carpentier, by virtue of the clean, manly and clever performances he has previously put up in England, has won general esteem and regard, and as for Beckett, well, he is an Englishman with unknown possibilities, and as such could not fail to get abundant support. Both men will have plenty of sympathisers when they face each other to-night.

To get back to their training.

Debt to Dick Smith.

Carpentier's work has been ordered on different lines from the English champion's. It had reached its curve of greatest intensity some time ago—very soon after Carpentier took up his quarters at Stanmore, in fact—and since then he has slackened off bit by bit in his more arduous exercises, and devoted more of his attention to perfecting his boxing and increasing his speed alike in hitting and in footwork.

Carpentier ought to be really grateful to Dick Smith, for that contest with the "cruiser" weight champion last June in Paris, told the Frenchman more surely than any number of sparring partners could have done, just how and wherein he was lacking compared with his pre-war days.

Much, if not all, of the old skill was there, as well as the strength of hitting, but both Carpentier and his shrewd, observant manager, Descamps, discovered that not all the former precision of hand and eye was there, and that as a consequence the French champion was frequently at fault in timing his blows; and, as any intelligent boxer or boxing instructor knows, or should know, accurate timing is the great secret of delivering a blow so that it should exercise the maximum effect at the moment of impact.

The Postponement.

It is significant, that the request for a postponement came soon after Carpentier's own contest with Smith, and Beckett's decisive defeat of Goddard, and one can imagine that the French party were more than ever glad they had asked for time when Beckett out-boxed and out-fought Eddie McGoorty.

Full advantage has been taken of the extra time allowed since putting off the match from Sept. 2, and Carpentier has devoted more time to training and assiduous boxing practice in preparation for the contest with Beckett, than he has ever done in one stretch before.

It is a delicate compliment which no doubt the British champion will appreciate better than anyone else, and it will most certainly add to his satisfaction should he prove successful. The suggestion that Carpentier has been overdone in training is, we are assured, entirely without foundation, and that, on the contrary, he is as fit and fresh as he can ever wish to be, his appearance notwithstanding.

Everyone is hoping that such is the case, for then, whichever man is the winner, will have gained the victory strictly on his merits. The public does not care to hear "hard luck" stories of beaten men, and after Mr. B. J. Angle, the referee, has given his decision—if he should be called upon for one—it will accept the winner on his merits as the better man.

WHAT DRISCOLL SAYS.

In an article in the "News of the World," entitled "Why I think Beckett will win," Jim Driscoll, the eminent boxing authority says:

In fighting Carpentier, our champion will be meeting a man with a totally different style from those he has already met and beaten, and if a little advice will be accepted in the spirit in which it is given, then I should certainly advise him to adopt all sorts of methods for battling with a crouching boxer and an offensive fighter.

It is said that in one of the hot little scraps at Carpentier's quarters, McGoorty had the best of matters! The result of next Thursday's contest might depend a lot upon the truth or untruth of the latter statement. If it is true that McGoorty did have the best of the argument, then Beckett on form should also have the best of matters. If, on the other hand, it is not true, and Carpentier is boxing as well as ever, then he ought to win.

I saw Carpentier box at Joinville, where the French Military School was situated, in October, 1918, and he put up a great show. He was boxing one of the "instructors," and I felt that he was in his old form. But we must not forget that Beckett has been showing good form as well, and this in recent appearances. He is a vastly improved man, and if I had to pick a winner, I think I should go for Beckett, who, by actual performances of recent date, has proved that he is to be reckoned with in the search for a heavy-weight champion.

FAMOUS TEAMS—2.

Tottenham Hotspur's Remarkable Rise To Fame.

BY "TYNESIDER."

"Non stop Division One" was the expression used by a well-known director when asked what he thought of the chances held by Tottenham of gaining this season's honours. On all form they look like fulfilling this prophecy and a few words about the Second League leaders will not be amiss. In common with many of our famous teams, they had a humble beginning.

Nearly 40 years ago, some young men set their hearts on forming a football team. By dint of hard work, they got together a serviceable side and christened themselves "the Hotspurs," which name they later prefixed by Tottenham, owing to another team having adopted this same name. Gradually they gained fame and, captained by Jack Jull, a name the Spurs will ever hold to memory, they made great stricles.

In 1896 they sought and obtained permission to join the Southern League, but in the early days of their professionalism they were not of great account.

Winners of the Cup.

Then came Frank Brettel, a player-manager, who did so much to lift Portsmouth out of the rut. He took over the managership of the now fully-fledged Spurs and secured the signatures of many players of note in those days. Things began to look a lot more rosy, and in 1899-1900 they put a new record on the Southern League scroll by running out winners with a points total of 44. The fame of the Spurs was now established but they set the Thames on fire in 1900—1901 when they lifted the English Cup. To say London went mad was to put it mildly, the Spurs were the idols of the Metropolis. They drew at the Palace with Sheffield United, each scoring two goals, and on the following Wednesday, at Bolton, they defeated the "Cutlers" by three goals to one. They are the only London team that has won the cup and, as such, always hold a warm corner in the hearts of London's football enthusiasts.

Some Famous Players.

To Mr. C.D. Roberts one can pay no greater compliment than that he "made" the Spurs. Coming at a lean time, he saw the possibilities effered and under his guidance Tottenham rose to their present day affluence, and no one was more pleased than this popular chairman on the day they brought the Cup to London.

The mascot of the club is a stuffed pedigree game cock presented to the team in the season of their triumph.

Many great names have figured on their books, and among others are those of J. Cameron, player-secretary; Clawley a goalkeeper with as safe a pair of hands as any of our present day stars; Sandy Tait, a forward whose doings ever thrilled the spectators; J. McNaught, R. Cane, R. Erentz and J. Melia.

Future Ambitions.

Now the Spurs are all out for Division 1, and under the capable guidance of Peter McWilliam, they look like once again entering the upper circle. The old Newcastle United half-back, who was a gentlemanly player and never known to foul an opponent, knows as much about the game as any living man, and he has done not a little to get the Spurs where they are to-day. He is the power behind the team, and has generalled his boys into their present place.

They have a well balanced team, and a splendid defence. If they fail to reach Division 1 then all London will receive a disappointment. From a number of youths playing on Tottenham Marshes to first class football is their record, and good luck attend them in their bid for Second Division honours.

They have seen their dark days but this season fortune is smiling on this popular team, and one hopes they will not experience any of her frowns.

Finances.

The Tottenham Hotspur balance sheet, published a few days ago, shows that the club had a remarkably successful time financially last season. Though all the matches had to be played either on The Arsenal or Clapton Orient grounds, and these clubs naturally took a percentage of the gates, the Spurs profited largely.

The shareholders have reason to congratulate themselves, for the directors have advised that the dividend be paid for the last five years. This at the maximum percentage allowed by the Football Association means 5 per cent. per annum. Shareholders, therefore, will receive in dividends a quarter of their invested capital.

ONE-ARMED TENNIS PLAYERS.

At the annual general meeting of the Lawn Tennis Association, on Dec. 15, at the Cannon st. Hotel, London, among the resolutions to be considered are:—

Alterations to Laws.—To add the following words at the end of Law 9: "A one-armed player (or player with the use of only one arm) may utilise his racket for projecting the ball into the air for the purpose of the delivery of his service."

"To make, maintain, and publish regulations for the Professional Championship of the British Isles and the matches and competitions played therein."

Alterations to Regulations for Prize Meetings.—For Regulation 9 substitute: "All competitors shall be amateurs and shall pay their own entrance fees and all competitors (other than juniors) shall pay the Association fee."

OLYMPIA GAMES.

The American Amateur Athletic Union has voted to send a team for the Olympian games at Antwerp next year.

TOO DEMONSTRATIVE.

The Scottish Football League has issued a warning to brake clubs, who drive to distant towns for the purpose of cheering their favourites. The objection is to the employment, in demonstrations of enthusiasm, of bugles, rattles and other instruments of torture.

INMAN'S GRIEVANCE.

Why the Champion Billiardist Kicks.

DISPUTE WITH B.A. AND C.C.

As stated in the "Cologne Post" yesterday, owing to the failure of M. Inman, the billiard champion, to submit his entry for the 1920 Championships, his inclusion in the event was automatically nullified It was very widely known that Inman was very much aggrieved over the official conditions, but few anticipated he would carry his objections to the extent of withholding his entry.

Inman now makes the following statement for publication:—

I have not sent in my entry. To be called upon to play through is my primary reason, and another is my strong objection to the B.A. and C.C. taking one-third of the gross gate receipts. If I had played through in a very small hall there would be no gate receipts for myself or the others. I told the council that at one meeting I was privileged to attend. They had, however, apparently already decided where the championship was to be played.

Within the last forty-eight hours I have been informed by one of the players who have entered that the championship is not going to be played at the Burroughes Hall. I maintain I have been misled if this information is correct. I am still champion, and ought not to be asked to qualify. I hold the cup, and will continue to hold it, whatever may be said. Had a larger hall been selected for the venue, I might have waived all other objections and fallen into line.

There is certain to be some discussion on the attitude adopted by the champion, but whatever happens it can have no direct bearing on the event, which will now be contested by Stevenson, Reece, Falkiner, Newman, Smith, and Aiken, all of whom have complied with the official conditions of entry.

VICTORY TOURNEY.

Newman and Falkiner Meet in Third Heat.

At Burroughes Hall in the third heat of the Victory tournament of 16,000, Newman, (receives 1,500) opposes Falkiner, (receives 2,000). At the close of play on Tuesday evening the scores were:

Newman 3,917
Falkiner 3,182

Newman made a brilliant break of 750, his other best efforts being 108, and 115 unfinished. Falkiner's best contributions were 241, 108 and 126.

SMITH FORGING AHEAD.

At Thurstons where Inman and Smith are engaged in a match of 16,000 up for £100 a side, the latter, who is in receipt of 1,500 is doing well.

Closing scores on Tuesday were:—

Smith 3,918
Inman 1,168

Smith compiled breaks 626 and 132.

FUSILIERS FAIL.

13th Middlesex defeat 52nd Northumberland Fus.

A friendly match arranged between the above teams was played at the Bonner Strasse Barracks on Tuesday.

The visitors were welcomed with the band of the 19th Middlesex, Regt., who played selections before the game commenced.

The Northumberlands, winning the toss, took advantage of the strong wind. From the kick off the N.F's attacked giving the home team a busy time, until one of their forwards broke away and passed to Cpl. Chittington for him to register the first goal for the Middlesex. Even play ensued for about fifteen minutes, when one of the home team handled the ball in the penalty area. Sgt. Calthorpe taking the penalty, registered the first goal for the N.F.'s.

From the centre the N.F's attacked again, and, from a pass from Capt. Scott, Pte. Scawfield added the second goal for the visitors. The home team retaliated strongly and after a struggle in front of goal, Cpl. Chittington equalised with a fine bit of headwork.

Half time score — 2 goals each.

Two More Goals.

On resumption, the Middlesex took up the attack aud gave the N.F's a warm time until a fine kick by R.S.M. Hester relieved the pressure. Later rain commenced to fall heavily and hampered play somewhat. The Middlesex returned to the attack and Cpl. Chittington registered their third goal. The N.F's made a great effort to get even and were dangerous, until the home team's goalie cleared in fine style. Good work amongst the forwards ended in Thaine scoring the fourth goal for the Middlesex and time came with the score:—19th Middlesex Regt. 4; 52nd Northumberland Fus. 2 goals.

For the winners the left wing caused the N.F's great alarm. For the N.F's, C.S.M. Robinson, Sgt. Calthorpe and Cpl. Stapleton played very good games.

HACKENSCHMIDT IN LONDON.

George Hackenschmidt, the famous Russian wrestler, is in London, and yesterday it was reported that he had had a conference with a well-known sports promoter. But in any speculation as to his probable return to the mat, it must be remembered that Hackenschmidt is 41 years of age. He was 28 when he met and defeated Madrali for the second time on April 28, 1906, at Olympia.

Arthur Townley a Victim of "Flu.",

The Birkenhead heavy-weight, Arthur Townley, went to bed at a friend's house at Birkenhead the day following his contest with Bombardier Wells, and is still there, a victim of influenza, and not well enough to be moved. The doctor states that Townley must have been suffering from "flu" when he boxed Wells.

OVER THE STICKS.

Fine Weather and Interesting Racing at Nottingham.

JOCKEY INJURED.

Glimpses of sunshine attracted a large crowd to Nottingham on Tuesday for an interesting afternoon's sport. In the Midland handicap, Irish Rebellion fell at one of the jumps and the jockey, F. Lyall, had to be carried from the course, injured.

Results:—

Selling Handicap (three-year-old):—1, Mundella (2.—1); 2, On Rosy Picton (5—4); 3, Mowglisbride (10—1). Four ran.

Colwick Handicap:—1, Flying Winkfield (7—2); 2, Gamelyn (5—4 on); 3, Malton lass (20—1), Six ran.

Welbeck Handicap:—1, Landkeel (6—4 on); 2, The Cuban (8—1); 3, Dancing Wave (5—1); Ten ran.

Midland Handicap:—1, Steerstraight Head (5—1); 2, Kings Carol (2—1); 3, Roman (20—1). Seven ran.

Broughton Hurdle:—1, Sherwood-Forester (20—1); 2, Sunflower (6—1); 3, Eager Monk (20—1). Twenty ran.

Ruddington Chase:—1, Top Hob (5—2 on); 2, Earnest (100—8); 3, R.I.R. (100—8). Five ran.

THE FIGHTING HANTS.

Spirited 51st Bn. Novices' Boxing Competition.

An interesting Novices' Boxing Competition arranged by the 51st Hants took place on Sunday and Monday evenings. The officials were as follows:—

Referee:—Lieut.-Col. R.S. Triven D.S.O.;
Judges:—Capt. W.L. Clarke and Capt. W. Gebbons;
Time Keeper:—Capt. T.W. Butting;
M.C.:—R.S.M. G.H. Dewey;
Steward:—C.S.M. J. Buchanan.

Being entirely a "novices" affair, a grand display was not expected. Nevertheless, the contests showed that the Battalion possesses some promising material which, with training, will produce many good boxers. The competitors, generally, displayed marked keenness, determination and pluck.

Competitions for men of bantam, feather and light-weights were arranged, each fight consisting of two 2min. rounds, resulting as shown below:—

Bantam Weights.

1st Series:—Pte. Purchase, B Coy. beat Pte. Dawson, B Coy.; Pte. Hatcher, D Coy. beat Pte. Tanner, D Coy.

Semi-final:—Pte. Hatcher beat Pte. Purchase.

Feather Weights.

1st Series:—Pte. Tilbury, C Coy. beat Pte. Lee, D Coy.; Pte. Wright, B Coy. beat Pte. Collett, D Coy.; Pte. Ham, B Coy. beat Pte. Dickenson, B. Coy.; Pte. Durnford, B Coy. beat Pte. Small, B. Coy.

2nd Series: Pte. Wright bye; Pte. Durnford beat Pte. Ham; Pte. Dempsey, B Coy. beat Pte. Lewis, B Coy.; Pte. Stowe, B Coy. beat Pte. Kelly, B. Coy.

Semi-finals:—Pte. Wright bye; Pte. Dempsey bye.

Final:—Pte. Dempsey beat Pte. Wright.

Light Weights.

1st Series:—Pte. Needs, C Coy. beat Pte. Legg, B Coy. Pte. Moore, B Coy. beat Pte. Davis, B Coy.

2nd Series:—Pte. Moore bye; Pte. Hoskins, B Coy. beat Cpl. Cain, D Coy; Pte. Tarr, D Coy. beat Pte. Hicks, B Coy; Pte. Hipperson, C Coy. beat Pte. Hill, B Coy.

Semi-final:—Pte. Hoskins beat Pte. Moore. Pte. Hipperson beat Pte. Tarr. Final:—Pte. Hoskins beat Pte. Hipperson.

After the conclusion of the programme some successful special 3-2 round contests were arranged for volunteers who cared to try their skill.

On Monday evening Sgt. Dell and Pte. Edmunds gave a 1-3 rounds sparring exhibition which gave the "novices" an idea of what is expected of them after training.

At the close Mrs. R.S. Irwin distributed prizes to the winners of the finals and special contests.

It is hoped that other such competitions will be arranged in the near future.

AMBULANCE RIVALRY.

"A" Section v. "B" Section, 7th Field Ambulance.

A fast and exciting match took place at Mulheim between the above teams. Kicking against a strong wind, "A" Section were the first to press, and for ten minutes, "B" Section's goal was constantly in danger. S/Sgt. Wright, however, was equal to the occasion, bringing off some fine saves. Gradually the game began to open out, and end to end play was the rule. Towards the end of the first half, Pte. Jones made a fine effort for "A" section, the ball striking the cross-bar with the goalie hopelessly beaten. At half time there was no score.

Playing with the wind in the second half, "A" Section had much the better of the game, and twenty minutes from the resumption Jones, scored the first goal. Shortly afterwards, S/Sgt. Fenn added a second.

From a breakaway, "B" section forced a corner, and from the resultant kick were awarded a penalty.

Pte. Coldwell failed to convert and play and was once more transferred to the other end. Pressure was kept up, and Jones and Fenn both found the net again. "A" section continued to bombard "B" goal, but were unable to add to the score, which, at the end of a clean game, was. "A" Section 4 goals; "B" Section nil.

ARMY v. LONDON SCOTTISH.

The following fifteen will represent the Army against London Scottish at Richmond on Saturday next, Dec. 6:—Lieut. R. M. Welchman; Lieut. H. L. V. Day, Lieut. J. V. Savieil, Capt. Carey, Lieut. G. V. Palmer; Lieut. P. E. R. Baker-Jones, Capt. Cheetham; Major I. H. Lawless, Capt. G. Hedderwick, Lieut. G. Young, Capt. G. Penny, Capt. L. H. Kitton, Cpl. Hyland, Major Humfrey, Capt. G. H. C. Pennycook.

DAVIS CUP.

Norman Brooks, it is announced, will captain Australasia in the forthcoming Davis Cup Tie.

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

"Five Birds in a Cage."

A variety entertainment was held on Tuesday in the theatre of the British Empire Leave Club. The short farce entitled "Bill's Ghost," written and produced by Sapper Berrill, was cleverly performed by Sapper Parkinson, R.E., Sapper Berrill, R.E., and Sapper Simpson, R.E. A short programme of music included renderings by Miss Richmond, Miss Somers Cocks and Miss West. Pte. Green's two songs were much appreciated and Miss Mackenzie gave a charming rendering of "The Hills of Donegal" and "Leezie Lindsay." Perhaps the most popular item on the programme was Sgt. Gordon's wonderful performance on the "Bells" of "The Lost Chord" and Tosti's "Good-bye." The entertainment concluded with an excellent performance of that clever little comedy "Five Birds in a Cage" with a strong caste, including Miss Douglas, unfortunately her last performance, Miss Castelli, Major Chance, Capt. Ziegler and Capt. Barton.

52nd Devons' Practice Dance.

The third of a weekly series of practice dances for the members of the above Battalion was held in the Hall of the "Zur Alten Post" Restauration, Burscheid, on Tuesday evening. On this occasion the attendance was not quite so numerous as at the last dance, but there were nearly eighty present. Plenty of enthusiasm was shown, and the general standard of the dancing has already greatly improved. Undoubtedly these practice dances are gaining popularity in the Battalion, and amply justify the efforts of Sgts. Aubrey and Nicholson in arranging them. The fourth dance will be held next Tuesday at the same place, and another enjoyable evening is confidently anticipated.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Thurs.	Tannhauser	Wagner	6.30	10.30
Fri.	Madame Butterfly	Puccini	7	9.45
Sat.	Martha	Flotow	7	10
Sun.	Der Zigeunerbaron	Strauss	7	10
Mon.	Armourer of Worms	Lortzing	7	9.45

Tuesday No Performance.

"As a man Soweth—"

A film entitled:—"As a man soweth so shall he reap," will be shown on Sunday at 3 o'clock punctually in the Cologne Central Y.M.C.A. at the close of the weekly United Evening Service. This film has been specially prepared by the Y.M.C.A's of Great Britain, America, and Canada, with the co-operation of their respective Governments. It is an interesting story, admirably acted and reproduced. Admission will be for men only.

For or Against?

The subject for this week's debate at the British Empire Leave Club will be, "That in the opinion of this House the issue of Premium Bonds in England is desirable." The motion will be supported by Sergt. Woods, A.P.C., and opposed by Pte Turner, Labour Corps.

The debate will be on Friday at 6.30 sharp. There has been increasing keenness shown at each meeting, but treble the attendance would add to the pleasures of the debate.

JACQUES.

LANCASHIRE TEAMS MEET.

52nd Manchester Regt. 4; 52nd King's Liverpool Regt. 0.

The Manchesters were represented by Pte. Harrison; Cpl. Morrow and Sgt. Gregory; Cpl. Tyler, Cpl. Scholfield and Pte. Crowsher; 2 Lt. Hardy, Pte. Blackstone, Pte. Elendwick, Pte. Foster and Sgt. Price.

In fine but cold weather, these teams met at the Sports Platz, Bonn, on Monday, For the first few minutes mid-field play prevailed, the defence on both sides being sound. The Manchesters, through the medium of 2/Lt. Hardy, got in several good centres, which the King's defenders effectively nullified. Foster, obtaining possession of the ball, cleverly eluded the King's defence and scored the first goal for the Manchesters. Seventeen minutes play found Blackstone racing away with the ball at his feet. Steadying himself, he put in a well-placed shot, adding another to the Manchester's score.

Chadwick, the Manchester's centre-forward was particularly neat in his footwork, although he has played a faster game, but in consequence of taking things too easily, he lost one or two opportunities of adding to the score.

A Peculiar Goal.

2 Lt. Hardy took the ball from a very neat pass by Cpl. Tyler, and, running around the visitors' backs, collided with the custodian, knocking him down and forcing the ball into the air. He met it with his head, and placing the ball in the net, scored the third goal.

Within a minute of the resumption, Chadwick broke away in great style putting in a shot which missed by inches.

The King's were quite outplayed now, and, but for some brilliant goalkeeping, and sure kicking by the backs, would have suffered a heavier defeat.

Four minutes before the final whistle, Chadwick suddenly discovered himself in possession of plenty of energy. He went down the field in a dashing manner, putting in a terrific shot which had the goal-keeper beaten "all the way" bringing the fourth goal to the home side. Final score:—52nd Manchester Regt. 4; 52nd King's Liverpool Regt. 0.

INTER-COMPANY FINAL.

52nd Devon Regt's. Keen Competition.

Nearly four hundred spectators were present to see the deciding match in the above competition between "B" and "D" Companies. With practically the whole of the Battalion forward line on their side, and an unbeaten record in this competition, "D" Company were very confident of success, odds of five to two being laid by an enthusiastic supporter. "B" Company, with a very strong defence, were almost equally confident.

Kicking-off with a very strong wind behind them, "B" Company at once began to press, and a hot left-foot shot from Scott gave the "D" Coy. goalkeeper no chance. In spite of the favouring wind the "B" Company forwards were rather slow to take advantage of their opportunities, and there was no further score in the first half.

The "Dons" Recovery.

In the second half "D" Coy. came away with a dash, and from a beautifully-placed corner kick by Shaw the ball was put through the "B" Company goal. Still pressing, Pearson, five minutes later, scored again for "D" Company with a fine swerving shot.

"B" Company then rallied and the play was of a more even nature. A heavy shower of rain came on, but the enthusiasm of the spectators was not damped, and they were rewarded by seeing Cairns, for "B" Coy., score the equalising goal, the game thus ending in a draw of 2—2.

"D" Coy. therefore are the winners of the competition on points, but the "B" Coy. supporters are strongly in hopes of altering this decision at a future date.

During the interval, selections were played by the Regimental band, under the leadership of Band-Sergeant Bone.

TO HELP ST. DUNSTAN'S.

A great football day is being organised in aid of the blinded soldiers' and sailors' fund. Woolwich Arsenal directors have already given fifty guineas while Millwall, West Ham and Crystal Palace have consented to make collections on their grounds.

'VARSITY RUGBY.

Cambridge Team for Match with Oxford.

The Rugby team chosen to represent Cambridge against Oxford at Queen's club on Tuesday is as follows:—

Fullback, C.F.R. Watson, Peterhouse.

Three-quarters, R.R.J. Saxon, New Zealand and Emanuel; A. M. Smallwood, Cains; A. R. Trubshaw, Clare; G.E.C., Wood, Pembroke.

Halfbacks:—J.M.L. Lewis, St. Catherine's; A.B.S. Young, St. Johns.

Forwards:—J.E. Greenwood, Kings; G.S. Conway, Cains; R. Cove Smith, Cains; W.R.F. Collis, Trinity; A. Carnegie Brown, St. Johns; P.A. Batty, Cains; K.P. Smith, Cains; Sub. Lt. D. Orr Ewing, Navy and Kings.

OXFORD v. CAMBRIDGE.

The following have been selected to represent Oxford University in the cross-country race with Cambridge at Roehampton on Dec. 13:—E. A. Montague Rugby and Magdalen), W. A. Grace (Leys and Queen's), C. A. Lanyon (Wellington and New), A. R. C. Bolton (Berkhamssed and Merton), R. P. Brown (Rugby and Trinity). Reserves: W. R. Milligan (Sherborne and University). J. G. Broadbent (Eton and Magdalen).

FOOTBALL FORECASTS.

Three Prize-Winners In Contest No. 10.

In No. 10 Football Contest, despite the fact that only nine results were required as a result of the Blackburn Rovers match being abandoned, no competitor succeeded in giving an all correct forecast.

Three competitors sent in coupons showing one error and they share the prize. The total subscribed amounted to 2,229 marks, so that each of the winners will receive a cheque for 743 marks.

Their names and addresses are:—

L/Cpl. G. Freeman (WR) 263316
Headquarters R.O.D., R.E.
Cologne.

Pnr. A. Rudkin, 620216
6th Corps Signal Coy
Rhine Army

Pte. T. Potts, 111485
52nd D.L.I
Rhine Army.

We again ask for a forecast of ten matches, only results being required. Send in your efforts now for No. 11 contest.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—
FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 11,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S/40 Rhine Army

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 11.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 6th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 5th.

Sheffield U.	v.	Newcastle U.
Manchester C.	v.	West Bromwich
Arsenal	v.	Chelsea
Oldham	v.	Burnley
Huddersfield	v.	Blackpool
Fulham	v.	Tottenham
Coventry	v.	West Ham
Swindon	v.	Portsmouth
Gillingham	v.	Brentford
Celtic	v.	Motherwell

I enter Football Competition No. 11 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(In block letters.)
Rank and No. .....
Unit .....
Full Address .....

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

A Mystery.

A great many people are asking how that officer who is offering a reward for a pair of breeches lost in the club managed (1) to lose them and (2) to get back to his billet without them.

Musical Streets.

Apropos my remark the other day about streets bearing the name of great composers, I notice that in the same vicinity, are Richard Wagner Strasse, and Handel Strasse.

Mouth-organs.

A music dealer informs me that his sale of mouth-organs is greater now than ever it was. They make popular Christmas presents and are over a thousand per cent. dearer in the Old Country.

Officers' Repatriation.

Officers who are anticipating repatriation should note that the Officers' Wing Repatriation Camp at Pirbright has been transferred to Winchester and will form part of that repatriation centre.

A Strange Sight.

A motor cyclist recently on a country road near Cologne preparing to start, pressed the kick start without previously taking the precaution of putting the engine out of gear. The result can be imagined by any motor cyclist and it was a novel sight to see the machine careering across a field with the rider in pursuit.

The War Spirit.

I have seen some well produced story-books of the war with coloured illustrations of battles and hand to hand encounters which are being sold to German children for prizes and Christmas presents. One illustration depicts a Zeppelin attack on London.

Strange.

I noticed two men, the other evening, wheeling a handcart, one of whom carried a lighted candle wrapped in a paper, to preserve it, no doubt, from the wintry wind. The curious part of the affair, was that they were going down a large and brilliantly lighted thoroughfare.

Non-Regimentals Look Out.

To other ranks who are tempted to wear chamois leather gloves, officer badges and other articles of dress to which they are not entitled by reason of their rank, I would utter a word of warning. Strictly regimental dress is to be the order of the day.

"Poshness" Overdone.

Walking behind a soldier attached to a mounted unit my attention was attracted by the appearance of his breeches. "Tin whistle" breeches I have heard them called. The effect is produced by having them taken in, and it gives the wearer the appearance of a stable lad.

An Improvement.

Very few know that the demob' train service from Bon Tor Station by the familiar "cattle truck" type of train has recently been superseded by the comfortable express leave service from Cöln-Deutz to Calais, thus saving over twenty hours on the final journey home. Officers and O.R's going on demob' must of course still report to No. 1 Concentration Camp in the Ulrich Gasse.

Another Ten.

Our popular football contest is still going strong and this week the prize is again offered for but ten results.

Queue for Dainties.

If you desire some of those Christmas dainties which catch the eye in the shop windows then purchase at once. Each day sees these confectionery queues getting bigger and thoughtful Rhinelanders are anticipating a shortage.

A New Way.

If you wish to light your way when cycling, take a hand lamp and suspend it to your neck by string. This is how a civilian rider conformed to the law the other night.

Stamp Books.

The German post office issues stamp books on the same style as our own postal authorities. They cost three marks and contain stamps value 15, 10, 7½ and 5 pf. As seven little pages are devoted to advertisements this must greatly assist the revenue.

Welcome in Aix-la-Chapelle.

The Aix-la-Chapelle Officers' Club situated in the Kaiserbad Hotel, is open to all Officers of the Allied Armies. The Club is administered by the Belgian Army of Occupation.

Cinema Star.

One of Germany's most famous cinema stars is this week appearing at a well-known Cologne cabaret. From what I saw of her performance, I am certain she is making more of a success of this type of acting than did some of the American stars in England.

Have You.

I have never yet seen any cows or sheep being led or driven through Cologne streets. I suppose there are few to drive.

Similar.

A vegetable one often comes across in Rhineland is Kohlrabi. We in England scarcely know it, but it is a change from the eternal turnip, which it somewhat resembles.

Good and Bad.

It is quite a common thing to see false fifty mark notes in shop windows side by side with the genuine article. They are there by way of warning and incidentally give the shop a cheap advertisement.

Adjusted.

The present rates of exchange have been fixed at ten marks equal 1s. 1d. five francs (French) 2s. 7d. and five francs (Belgian) 2s. 9d. Just now the Command Cashier supersedes the banks in the esteem of the subaltern.

N.A.C.B. Enterprise.

The new super shop for officers and their wives in the Obenmarspforten, Hohestrasse, will be called the Navy and Army Stores. All classes of commodities are displayed, the counters being departmentalised and labelled.

A Costly Experiment.

In a Cologne Officers' Mess yesterday evening, a member with a scientific turn of mind, was demonstrating how two discordant sounds sometimes had extraordinary results. "For instance" said he, "if I tap this tumbler it emits a certain note which, if its relation with that sugar basin is of an exact degree, will shatter the basin." He tried the experiment but he was rather heavy handed, and, unfortunately, it was the tumbler that broke.

RHINELANDER.

IS THERE ROOM FOR THE EX-OFFICER?

BY ALFRED BARNARD.

The employment of ex-officers is a subject to which all employers should give most earnest attention.

Businesses, like individuals, are all struggling to get back to conditions of pre-war prosperity, with the result that those having the conduct and management of commercial undertakings have to consider expenditure more closely now than ever before.

Adding new members to a staff means increasing expenditure. But may it not also mean increasing business and thus hurrying on the work of economic reconstruction?

It is probably because increasing staffs is regarded only as adding to expenditure, that such a large number of ex-officers, who have served their country with devotion and gallantry are at the present moment out of work.

The employers of the country owe these men a debt which all should be only too anxious to pay. And, further, it would seem that the cause of business economy can be best served by the effort to pay this debt.

There are some employers who adopt the view that no limit should ever be imposed upon the size of a staff.

This sounds at first blush to be a rather daring principle to advocate. But since it was laid down within my hearing by a self-made successful business man, who had become managing director of a vast business enterprise, employing over two thousand men and women, it commanded my attention.

I asked him how he applied the principle in practice.

STAFFS WITHOUT LIMIT

"My staffs," he replied, "in the engineering shops, in the food factory, in the advertising and accountancy departments are full.

"By being full up I mean that for the work which we have to do at the present time we have the right number of men and women.

"If you say to me, 'Have you a vacancy for a young man as a clerk?' I shall answer 'No.'

"Then, having made the position clear by telling you the truth, I should question you about your young friend. If I gathered from what you told me that the young man in question was bright and capable, had initiative and energy, I should want to see him.

"That may sound useless to you, seeing that I have already said that my staff is full. But wait a minute.

"How do I know that that young fellow is not the finest accountant and best managing business man in embryo who ever wore shoe leather?

"And if he should possess the makings of a great success—can I afford to let him go into the arms of an opposition house just because at this moment I have not an actual vacancy?

"If I find a winner, my six pounds a week is only capital investment until the young man matures, and good investment, be it in stock, staff, or machinery, is the very raison d'etre of any and every business.

"So I get your young man up for an interview. If I find he is made of the right stuff I turn him into my organisation.

"He doesn't find his 'place in the sun' all at once. But a weak spot in my organisation will gather him in all in good time.

"The fact that he is good, raises the standard of my employees all round, because in a big staff all the members must try to work up to the standard of the best man or woman there, not down to the standard of the poorest. That law about the survival of the fittest sees to that.

THERE IS ALWAYS ROOM.

"Therefore, although I have no vacancy, I take your man on, with the sure knowledge that I am making a good investment, since every good man I get, improves the value of my business.

"The same applies to my engineering shop. I may have all the joiners and fitters I want for the repair work in hand now, but I never say 'No' to an applicant for a job, without running a rule over him. If I did I might turn away a future inventor of a bit of machinery worth untold gold.

"I have always got vacancies for good men. They not only carry out more efficiently the business I have already on hand, but the more efficient my organisation is, the more readily new business rolls up to my door."

In considering the question of the employment of ex-officers it seems to me that my friend's method might be employed.

If the employers of the country were to "run a rule" over all those out of work they might find a good proportion of men suitable to future development of their businesses.

It would be showing a willingness to do something for those who have done so much for the nation. And, economically the process is not unsound.—"The Daily Mirror."

AMERICAN SLANG ENGLISHED.

"Don't be fresh."	"Don't be cheeky."
"Rubber neck."	"Sightseer."
"Foxy gink."	"A sly person."
"Get wise to it."	"Ascertain the facts"
"To jolly you along."	"To chaff you."
"Shook me for a blond."	"Left me for another."
"Cut it out."	"Stop that nonsense; get to business."
"The jinx have a hunch on me."	"Evil spirits haunt me."
"Turn over; you've said a pageful."	"You've talked enough and too much."
"He's a bird and you want to watch him fly."	"He's smart; keep your eye on him."

AROUND AND ABOUT.

STRANGE UNKNOWN FLOWERS.

Strange unknown flowers are springing up in shell holes and dug-outs over the scarred surface of No Man's land, and many are the conjectures concerning the strange phenomenon. Botanists who have studied the strange plants have come to the conclusion that they have sprung from seeds buried in the earth for many decades. It is known that seeds have been buried for upwards of 60 years without losing their power of germination. Seeds of corn and wheat buried with Egyptian mummies thousands of of years ago have been planted out in the 20th century and have germinated in the ordinary way. It is quite possible that strange flowering plants—that is, strange to local inhabitants—are now flowering in the French battlefields. The heavy shell fire which has torn up the earth may mave created conditions for their growth after lying dormant so long.

ON RECEIVING LETTERS.

There are many people who write excellent and delightful letters even to-day when everybody lives in a whirl and a rush and has "no time" for elegant accomplishments. Letters give an immense deal of pleasure; there are lonely people to whom the postman's rat-tat means at least one streak of sunlight in a dull day. Everybody likes to be remembered—the House of Remembrance would be rather a pleasant name for a post office. Children love to receive letters—even though they are too tiny to read them—and after all "Men are but children of a larger growth." Some people proudly announce that they neither write nor receive letters. Somehow, it sounds so dreadfully dull—to think of the rattle of the letter-box meaning just nothing!

THE BEST CHRISTMAS GIFT.

"A fountain pen," answered an enthusiastic young philosopher to the question, "What was your best Christmas gift?"

"I had a £20 watch given to me once," he added, "but even that isn't as necessary as a fountain pen. If you get the right kind you simply wouldn't be caught dead without it. It never leaks. It never clogs. It'll write a clear, steady line on any old paper. It'd be cheap at £2, and it only cost 12s. 6d.

"What are you doing now?" I asked.

"Selling fountain pens," he said.

NEW BIRDS AT THE ZOO.

"What birds posses eyelashes?" As a matter of fact there are not many birds so decorated. The Hornbills are the most noteworthy eyelash bearers, and, were it not that their extraordinary beaks attract all the attention which most people are willing to give them, would probably be well known for this peculiarity. Among the most recent additions to the collection of birds at the Zoo is a fine specimen of this family, the Plicated Hornbill of Sumatra, in which the feature can be easily observed. Most of the new birds were obtained by Mr. Frost in New Guinea and the neighbouring islands for Lord Tavistock. More beautiful, if less futuristic in design, than the Hornbill are the lesser Birds of Paradise, and other noteworthy newcomers are the Red-sided Eclectus Parrots, the One-wattled Cassowaries, and the Crowned Pigeons. A very popular bird is the new Baby Toucan, whose queer voice and queer antics are a lesson for any music-hall comedian.

ECONOMIC NOTES ON FINANCE AND TRADE.

V. THE BANK SINCE 1844.

With the history of the Bank since the Bank Act was passed in 1844 I intend to deal very briefly. The only interesting episodes are those of panic periods. From 1842 to 1844 harvests were very good and as we depended more on harvests for our prosperity in those days than now the country was prosperous. The railway boom commencing about then also added to the general prosperity. In the two following years harvests were bad and corn had to be imported. This lead to great gambling in corn and many failures were caused and in this year, 1847, the Bank Act had to be suspended to allow of the following issue of notes. It is a peculiarity of the British public that it will always accept Bank of England notes even when it knows they are not backed by gold. In 1857 a large number of overseas traders by rash exportation and general loose methods of business caused a second suspension.

In 1866 the American Civil war caused a stoppage of trade which was of course followed by financial upset and the Bank Act had to be again suspended to allay the panic. The next crisis was when the old-established firm of bankers—Barings—had to suspend payment. The Bank of England had, however, somehow, suspected the crisis and had imported gold from France and Russia and was thus able to continue paying without recourse to the Government for a suspension of the Act. The same happened in 1907 when the American financial crisis was foreseen and gold had been imported from France.

In 1914 the crisis was hardly one in which it was either feasible or correct that the Bank should be left to weather the storm on its own. The Bank Act was suspended and in addition the Exchequer took a hand by issuing £1 and 10/- notes as well. The Exchequer also took other measures with which we are not concerned very much here.

In this short history of the Bank of England it will be seen that the people have confidence in the Bank such as they have in no other institution in the world. The public believe in the capability of the Bank to pay. They know the careful management which is lavished on it and over and above all there is the Government which is the British Empire behind it. The Government having all its money deposited in the Bank will naturally do everything possible to help and protect it if necessary.

On this good ground has grown our banking system. Banks grew up around Threadneedle Street and later in the great centres of England. People deposited their money with them and thus enabled these banks to accumulate large sums to be used as a foundation for credit. These large banks opened accounts as ordinary customers with the Bank of England and thus the reserve of the Bank of England as I said before is the ultimate reserve and mainstay of our system.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

Butler's Windfall.—Lord Rathmore left £400 to his butler.

Re-shuffling.—There are rumours of a further reconstruction of the Cabinet.

Many Dead.—Fifty-four people were killed in a Vienna fire.

Daily Bombs.—Scarcely a day passes in Barcelona without a bomb explosion

To get Colonists.—£35,000 is to be spent in advertising South Africa.

Have no Homes.—About 10,000 children are living in British workhouses.

Want work.—There are 14,000 ex-service men in Shepherd's Bush district alone, without jobs.

Winter storm Havoc. — A house near Hastings has just been wrecked by lightning.

Where she sits. — Lady Astor M.P. is occupying what used to be Mr. Tim Healy's seat in the Commons.

Good Work. — Ex-soldiers are being trained as silversmiths at the L.C.C. Arts and Crafts School.

Place aux Dames. — Two women reporters now sit in the Press Gallery of the House of Commons.

Great Strain.—Mr. Sydney Valentine has had a breakdown after a strenuous meeting of the Actors' Association.

Money in Shares. — Mr. John Coles, a London stockbroker, has left £460,000 fortune.

Low necks Barred.—The Bishop of Salford warns women from attending church in low cut dresses.

Unlucky. — More than 300,000 Austro-Hungarians are still detained in Siberia as prisoners of war.

Trespassers.—Seven Hull skippers have been fined £50 each for fishing in prohibited mined waters.

Less Butter.—The butter ration in England is to be reduced one ounce weekly per head.

Gallant Youth.—A boy, Frederick Morris of Hayes, rescued a drowning girl by taking a 30 feet dive from a bridge.

A Prophesy.—Mr. Arthur Henderson, the Labour leader, predicts an early general election and a Labour victory.

French Papers Again.—The Paris press strike has ended and the newspapers are appearing again.

Play of Crime.—Miss Kyrle Bellew has scored a success in the new play of thrills, "The Crimson Alibi."

No Formality. — Princess Mary has attended another unconventional rally of girls — the Y.M.C.A. Campers.

Rapprochement. — France is making peace with the Vatican and some form of diplomatic relations is to be resumed.

Old—Yet Young.—It is hard to realise, but Queen Alexandra has just celebrated her 75th birthday.

In the Fogs.—In the last few days, seven vessels have run ashore on the Yorkshire Coast.

Publishers Jubilant.—Books were never so popular in the States as they are to-day. English authors are in great demand.

A Mystery.— Marie Empress, the well-known cinema "star", disappeared mysteriously from the Cunard Liner "Orduna" en route for New York.

Novel.—At Brightlingsea the "Mayor of the Cinque Ports", is elected in a belfry. Capt. Sycamore, the yachtsman, has just been chosen.

Her own Show.—Miss Peggy Primrose is now an actress-manager. She has produced a success in "A Dear Little Lady" at St. Martin's Theatre.

The what-is-it?— An expedition is proceeding to the Congo to investigate the rumours as to the strange prehistoric monsters reported to be there.

In Peacetime, too!—America is to spend nearly £200,000,000 on her Army and about £100,000,000 on her Navy in the next financial year.

Waits and Starves.—The old Strand shoeblack, who inherited over £1000 recently, is almost starving. The law's delays have held back the money.

Confessed.—A Russian Bolshevist arrested in Warsaw admits he took part in the murder of the Czar. He was wearing some of his Royal victim's underclothes.

Why to Germany?—The German ships interned in South American ports are going to Germany for repair and will then be handed over the Allies.

"Truth" Criticisms.—Major E. A. Johnson, founder of the ex-Officers' National Federation has served "Truth" with a writ for libel.

Dustmen score. — Ilford pays its dustmen only a trifle less than it gives qualified school teachers with twenty years experience.

Comrades always.—Commandant Dame Gwynne Vaughan is to be President of the W.R.A.F. Old Comrades' Association just formed.

Honour in sick bed.—Sir John McCraith, a member of the Nottingham Council, since 1882 has received the Freedom of that city, while lying dangerously ill in bed.

LECTURES ON ARCHITECTURE.

A course of six lectures on Architectural History and Ornament will be given at the G.H.Q. General and Commercial College (53 Hansa Ring) Cologne by Mr. G. A. T. Middleton (past Vice-president of the Society of Architects,) Instructor in Architecture and Building Construction with the British Army of the Rhine.

The time of the lectures will be from 18.00 hours to 19.00 hours on the following dates:—

Monday, 1st December and 8th December
Wednesday, 3rd December and 10th December
Friday, 5th December and 12th December.

The course will deal approximately with the following periods:—

1, Egyptian and Greek, 2, Roman and Byzantine, 3, Romanesque and Norman, 4, English Gothic, 5, Continental Gothic (with special reference to the Rhineland), 6, Renaissance.

All ranks are invited to attend all or any of these lectures which are being illustrated by lantern slides.

Silver Trinket Box, Round, with Inlaid Tortoiseshell Lid. Lined Velvet. £3 7s. 6d.

Black or Blue Silk Hand Bags with Finely Figured Tortoiseshell Frame. Lined Silk, and fitted with Mirror and Card Case. £7 10s. 0d.

Jewellers to His Majesty the King.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

THE Goldsmiths & Silversmiths Companys' Christmas Presents are of highest quality and at the moderate prices offered represent the best value obtainable.

A Catalogue of Christmas Gifts sent post free to any address upon application.

THE GOLDSMITHS & SILVERSMITHS COMPANY LTD., and which is incorporated The Goldsmiths' Alliance Ltd. Est. 1751

112, REGENT STREET, LONDON, W.1.

THE SMARTEST ARMY IN THE WORLD can only keep up its reputation by periodical visits to
The BRITISH MILITARY SHOP
for
Caps, Breeches, Belts, Braces,
Lanyards, Badges, Titles,
Buttons, Chevrons, Ribbon.

All miniature medals for dress wear in stock including
THE NEW GENERAL SERVICE WAR MEDAL

Patent ribbon bars with any formation of ribbons.
Also
GENUINE ENGLISH LEATHER BOOTS
SHOES & DANCING PUMPS

INSPECTION INVITED

ROBARTS & QUANTOCK
100, HOHESTRASSE, COLOGNE

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE.

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O. S. 40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

A WONDERFUL ANTIQUE dining-room equipment with beautiful rich inlaid work, consisting of 19 parts for sale. Every part a piece of a museum. Write to A 395 Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40.

PHOTO HOUSE and camera repairing works. Aug. Lang, mechanician of precision. Kl. Neugasse 9/11. Always bargains in second-hand binoculars Zeiss-Goertz. Voigtländer & Leitz.

SMALL ROYAL PIANO for sale. First quality, with felt of pease. First offers with price. Box L. 567, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

DIAMONDS. Two very fine rings (ladies), one Gentleman's ring, three splendid stones in platine, and one scarf pin for sale cheap. To be seen only on Thursday 3-7 p.m. at Josky, Hohestr. 48 I.

Handsome brown leather kit-bag, drawer for shot gun in bottom, almost new, suitable for sportsman. Also Otter fur lining for gentleman's overcoat, quite new. For particulars apply Pte. J. Smith, Remount Camp, Cöln-Deutz

SMALL Bookcase with 25 Volumes of Encyclopaedia Britannica, 9th Edition. Heinrichstr. 39

ONE each Ladys' and Gentleman's diamond ring to sell. Very good value. Cöln-Ehrenfeld, Luisstr. 33 I.

WANTED.

BUSINESS lady requires comfortably furnished bed-sitting room. Apply Box G. O., Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

GOOD MOTOR CAR wanted. Send all particulars to Box B.J.R. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

WELL EDUCATED young lady from Lorraine, speaking English, German, French and Italian, wants position as companion in American or British family. Apply to A 411 Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40.

YOUNG EDUCATED GERMAN, ladys' help, knowing English. Bookkeeping. Domesticated, requires position in an English family. Small salary. Apply Frl. Dahm, 16, Luisenstr., Bonn.

YOUNG LADY, speaking perfectly French and English, wants position. Apply A 410, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40

SITUATIONS WANTED.

FIRST-CLASS Cook wishes to take over British Officer's Mess. One year experience in Mess. Excellent testimonials. Write A 408 Cologne Post. A.P.O./S. 40.

YOUNG GERMAN LADY, excellent pianist. Domesticated. Bookkeeping. Speaks English and French, requires position in an English family. Small salary. Apply to Frl. Dahm, 16 Luisenstrasse, Bonn.

NURSE WANTS position in British family to take care of child, where knowledge of language not necessary. Offers A 409 Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40.

GERMAN, 34, with 4 years English business experience (Hardware line), best English references, speaks English, Spanish and French, desires situation as buyer, interpreter or similar position. Please address reply to E. Schmidt, Bachemstr. 239 I, Cologne.

GERMAN MAID SERVANT, perfect sewing ironing, experience high class English private household preferred. Apply to A 412 Cologne Post A.P.O./S 40.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TEXTILE. Wholesale firm wants agency or goods on commission. Depot and staff. Apply to A 415, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

PIANOFORTE lessons given to English by first-class diplomatist, Cologne academy of music. English speaking. Apply personally or by letter to Hilda Rehder, Neusserstr. 83, 1st floor, Cologne.

PERSONAL.

WILL Alec Hillman communicate present address to Box Y.M.P. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

WILL Capt. Laurence, Royal Munster Fusiliers, communicate immediately with Box 76, Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40.

FOREIGN gentleman wants to know a careful English valet, who could teach his servant how to clean and polish boots in a smart way. Apply to A 403 Cologne Post, A. P. O/S 40.

YOUNG LADY, speaking English, teaches Piano and German. E. Schreiner, Hohenzollernring 76.

INTERPRETER German lessons. van Husen, Alteburger Str. 89 I

LOST.

LOST at 6th Corps Dance, Nov. 21st, Brooch set with diamonds and pearls in white enamel rings. Reward if found. Box 87, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

LANGUAGES

VOELKER-SCHOOL, Neue Langgasse 3 I. German and French for Englishmen.

EDUCATED gentleman wants lessons in English by Englishman. Apply to A 391 Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40.

YOUNG GERMAN who has lived mostly in Paris wishes to exchange conversation with British Officer. Apply to A 409, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

EDUCATED German gentleman wants to have conversation in exchange for languages. Evenings only. Apply to A 416, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marsellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 4, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

RESULT OF THE FIGHT SEE PAGE :-: THREE. :-:

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

LOOK OUT FOR OUR SOUVENIR NUMBER

No. 213. COLOGNE, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

GERMAN SCAPA DUPLICITY.

PROOF OF "MOST SECRET" ORDERS ISSUED TO ADMIRAL VON REUTER.

PRINCE OF WALES ON HIS CANADIAN TOUR.

SCAPA FLEET.

EXPOSURE OF GERMAN DUPLICITY.

An Admiralty communiqué, referring to Germany's contention that Admiral von Reuter scuttled the German Fleet at Scapa Flow without the knowledge of any German civil or military authority, publishes a translation of a letter found in the safe salved from the flagship Emden.

This document dated 9th May 1919 and marked "Most Secret", was written by Admiral von Trotha, Chief of the German Admiralty, to Admiral von Reuter. It discussed the probable intentions of the Allies with regard to the fate of the interned fleet, which he declared, however, could not be decided without German co-operation and emphasised that surrender to the enemy was out of the question.

The Admiralty cites the foregoing and other instances in refutation of the German allegations that German orders failed to reach von Reuter. For instance, it shows that his last orders reached him on the 17th June, the very day on which, according to the text of another document, von Reuter gave instructions to his commanding officers, carefully detailing the preparations to effect the rapid scuttling of the ships in the event of forcible British intervention without German assent, or without his special orders, which would be indicated by secret code.

Von Reuter added that should the German Government agree to surrender the fleet under the peace terms, then the ships would have to be handed over, "to the lasting disgrace of those who placed us in this position."

SOVIET AND PEACE.

FIRST OFFER TO THE ALLIES.

Colonel Malone, the member of Parliament who on the 5th November stated in the House of Commons the basis on which the Soviet Government of Russia was prepared to discuss peace, announced yesterday that he had received an official statement from the Soviet Government stating that the proposal is still open, subject to modifications and reservations arising from changes in the military situation. He further stated that pending its official rejection within a reasonable time the Soviet Government has no intention of opening negotiations with Germany.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

PUBLICATION OF INFORMATION.

An Army Council Instruction just issued states that it has been decided that military or civilian experts employed on wireless duties in the Army shall be allowed to publish scientific papers in Great Britain provided that they do not make any detailed reference to Service sets or give other information which the authorities consider should not be divulged.

The form of publication may be by either journal or lecture, after the draft of the paper has been submitted to the War Office for censorship.

OBJECTIONS TO CHURCH PARADE.

In the House of Commons, Mr. J. D. Gilbert asked whether, in view of the objections of both officers and men to Church Parades on Sunday, the present practice could be abolished or modified so that men were not compelled to attend.

Mr. Churchill replied that it is not considered desirable to amend the King's regulations as regards compulsory attendance at Church Parade. He promised to see, however, whether anything can be done to shorten the preliminary inspection.

NO COAL AT CHICAGO.

On account of the scarcity of coal at Chicago, the Public Utilities Commission has ordered that all suburban train traffic is to be reduced by half, department stores are to be closed for two days and theatres for one evening weekly, and business generally is to be limited to 4½ hours daily.

At an Ilford whist drive a woman who won the first prize—a bottle of whisky or a pair of silk stockings—after some hesitation, chose the whisky.

The first tramps admitted to the casual ward of Weymouth Workhouse since 1915, were yesterday reported to the guardians, and were an ex-soldier, his wife, and three children.

PRINCE OF WALES.

"YOUR MOTHER AND I ARE PROUD OF YOU."

The text has been published of speeches made by His Majesty the King and the Prince of Wales at the dinner at Buckingham Palace on Monday.

The King read a message he had received from Sir Robert L. Borden, Prime Minister of Canada, congratulating their Majesties on the remarkable success of the Prince's visit to the Dominion and the wonderful impression the Prince made on the people, to whom his natural charm of manner, unfailing tact and courtesy made an irresistible appeal.

After expressing his pleasure that the Prince, after all, had been able to visit the United States and see President Wilson, the King continued: "It has always been my earnest wish that the relations of the two great English speaking nations should be of the closest and most friendly nature so that they could work together hand in hand for the good of civilization and mankind," and then, to the Prince, "I trust your visit will assist that end. Although your staff has been of the greatest help, I feel that the success of your visit has been mostly due to yourself, for you have 'played up' from beginning to end and shown the highest sense of duty. Your speeches have been excellent; your smile won the hearts of the people. Both your mother and I are very proud of you."

The Prince of Wales, in reply, said that the wonderful welcomes he received, for which he could never adequately express his gratitude, were given him as the son and heir of the King and Queen, of whose visit to the Dominion eighteen years ago the happiest memories were deeply cherished to-day. He could assure His Majesty of Canada's deep devotion. He had also really enjoyed his visit to the United States, where he was received with the utmost enthusiasm as the King's representative.

After warmly praising the help of Sir Lionel Halsey and other members of his staff the Prince concluded: "My tour in Canada has intensified my desire to see more of the Empire, and I am looking forward keenly to visiting Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India in the near future."

MURDERER'S FURY.

TWO WARDERS KILLED AND THREE INJURED.

Paul Kowalski, condemned to be hanged for murder at Hamilton (Ontario), killed during the death watch Constable Springstead and injured four turnkeys, one of whom died later.

Being allowed to walk in a corridor, he leaped upon Springstead, twisted a handkerchief round his neck, and tightened it with a spoon until his victim was dead. Then he unscrewed a 10-pound iron window sash, and smashed Springstead's head with it. The turnkeys he attacked with a heavy metal spoon which he made into a crude knife, and two of them are in a serious condition.

WONDERFUL CHESS.

CAPABLANCA PLAYS 38 M.P'S.

Senor Capablanca, the Cuban chess master, played thirty-eight simultaneous games at the House of Commons on Tuesday evening. The display was witnessed by numerous members, including Mr. Bonar Law. Senor Capablanca won thirty-six games and drew two, those being with Sir Watson Rutherford and Sir A. Strauss.

MOND LIBEL ACTION.

At yester-day's hearing of the Mond libel action, Sir Alfred Mond said he often visited the front during the war. Until this libel, nobody had ever suggested that he had not done his duty to the country as Privy Councillor and member of the Government, nor had it ever been suggested that he was a traitor.

The hearing was again adjourned.

ARMISTICE ON POLISH FRONT.

Reuter learns that a ten days armistice has been concluded on one section of the Polish front for the handing over of hostages and fugitives liberated by the Bolshevists in accordance with the convention concluded by the Polish and Soviet Governments on the 9th November.

BROMLEY'S COALITION CANDIDATE.

The Bromley Conservative Club has unanimously adopted Lieut.-Colonel the Hon. Cuthbert James, son of Lord Northburne, as Coalition candidate in succession to Mr. W. H. Forster, who has been elevated to the peerage.

FALSE PRETENCES.

SOVIET ENVOY REVEALS HIS HAND.

A statement has been issued by Litvinoff at Copenhagen in which he says he feels bound to state that no satisfactory solution can be found to the problem of exchange of war prisoners until the real causes of their suffering, namely, military operations on Russian territory and the isolation of Soviet Russia, is entirely removed.

It is impossible, he says, to speak on the humanitarian question without touching the question of peace with Russia. The Soviet Government is prepared to make peace with the Allies at any time. Britain and America have large economic interests in Russia which they can make more secure by dealing with the Soviet Government than by any other regime.

BILL ADAMSES.

SOLDIERS' "RATTLING GOOD YARNS."

Mrs. Parker, sister of the late Earl Kitchener, presided at a meeting of the Kitchener of Khartoum Empire Association, held at the Forum Club, Grosvenor-place. The chief object of the meeting was to promote the welfare of ex-Service men and to interest as large a number of people as possible in that branch of the Association's work.

General Sir A. Hunter-Weston, Mr. Arnold White, and Mr. Vyner addressed the meeting.

Mrs. Parker said that Ministers found it hard to grasp the fact that there could be anybody in want of a meal. This Association did its best for ex-Service men, and sifted their stories most carefully. Soldiers and sailors were not absolutely and exactly addicted to the truth. They were accustomed to tell good yarns to their comrades, and they told some rattling good yarns to this Association, which did its utmost to sift them and see that help was not misplaced. She had known cases of soldiers who professed to have at least three mothers each.

"It is not, that Government Departments are careless of the interests of ex-Service men. It simply is that they do not understand. They want looking after, and I am after them. (Laughter.) Private employers have to pay money when it is due, and it is too bad that Government Departments should not do their utmost to reach the same standard."

POSTAL STRIKE.

PRECAUTIONS AT THE COLOGNE OFFICE.

A strike of the civil employees at the Cologne Post Office caused some excitement yesterday.

During the dinner hour a large crowd, consisting mainly of women and girls, assembled outside the Post office evidently with the intention of holding a demonstration, but the presence of a number of officers and military policemen had a salutary effect and the crowd dispersed quietly.

Military pickets were immediately posted and machine-guns placed in position at the front entrance and elsewhere. These precautions had a salutary effect, and no disturbances of any kind occurred.

BONES MYSTERY.

GRUESOME HOUSEHOLD RELIC.

The mystery surrounding the discovery of a box of human bones in the cloakroom at Finsbury Park station has been solved. A woman yesterday claimed the bones as being those of her husband, who died at the London hospital and was cremated twelve years ago. The remains were deposited in an urn which she sold a month since for seven and six pence, previously removing the bones, which she said she desired to take to Golders Green Crematorium but owing to the publicity given to the discovery she had been afraid to claim the box as her property.

ROUMANIA'S DAYS OF GRACE.

The Supreme Council has decided to extend by six days the period granted to Roumania in which to reply to the last Note of the Council.

CURTAILMENT OF FRENCH PASSENGER TRAINS.

It is stated in Paris official circles that a partial temporary withdrawal of the passenger train service is contemplated, especially between Paris and Havre, should the rise of the Seine hinder the transport of food supplies to Paris by barges. If the lack of coal becomes still more serious the withdrawal of the passenger service may become total.

PHILIP SNOWDEN'S NEW LOVE.

Mr. Philip Snowden will stand as the Independent Labour Party candidate in the Nelson (Colne) Division, where the present Labour member, Captain Albert Smith, is about to resign.

ITALIAN STRIKE.

REVOLUTIONARY APPEAL TO BOLSHEVISTS.

The walls of Rome have been placarded with manifestoes eulogising the Russian Soviets and Bolshevism and imploring Italian workers to act in favour of their revolutionary Russian brethren. The vicinity of the Chamber yesterday was guarded by troops, and armoured cars went through the main streets to show that the Government is determined to maintain order. Some lively incidents occurred in the Chamber.

The strike still continues though it is not so acute as on Tuesday, a large number of shops being open. Despite the absence of trams and cabs, the streets have an appearance of great animation, many motor cars being in circulation. Various newspapers have also reappeared. The strike spread to Turin yesterday where there were several people injured. A general strike has been proclaimed at Genoa, Alessandria, Bologna and Civvita Vecchin.

LORRIES AND WAGONS.

NUMBER STILL ABROAD.

Mr. Churchill, answering a question in the House of Commons, said that 2,252 lorries are still in use between the Channel and Cologne. They are all needed at present, but reductions will be made as rapidly as the needs of the service permit. I may add that up to the present the Army has been able to dispense with lorries more rapidly than they can be shipped to this country, and I understand that this state of affairs is likely to continue for some time to come.

Answering another question, Mr. Churchill said:—There are at present in France nearly 18,200 railway wagons lent to the War Department by British railway companies, and about 4,700 wagons belonging to the Department, all of which are being returned for use in this country. Besides the above, there are about 20,000 wagons belonging to the War Department, which are being sold locally, as they are unsuitable for use on British railways. The total number of wagons (railway owned and Department owned) which have been returned since the Armistice is 11,677. The latest weekly shipment of wagons is 605. The temporary priority accorded to motor vehicles at the time of the railway strike has now ceased, and the full capacity of the train ferry service to Richborough is allocated to wagons.

GIRLS IN MEN'S CLOTHES.

BETRAYED BY THEIR VOICES.

At Liverpool two girls, aged 18 and 17, who said they were from Swansea and Glasgow respectively, were charged under the Vagrancy Act. Each was attired in coat and trousers, and both had long tresses hanging loosely down their backs. A police officer, on duty at the docks, observed the accused loitering, and, on speaking to them, discovered by their voices that they were girls. The accused said they were anxious to return to their homes, and that a man they met had promised to get them away as stowaways in a boat leaving for South Wales provided they obtained suitable clothes.

They were remanded for inquiries.

KUT PRISONER'S SUICIDE.

Before cutting his throat with a razor at the Union Jack Club, Frederick William Perry, aged 40, a sub-conductor in the Indian Supply Transport Corps, slashed and mutilated his body.

At the inquest Charles Joseph Perry, a farmer, of Tulla, Co. Clare, stated that the dead man, who was his brother, had been to Mesopotamia and was a prisoner at Kut. He was badly treated by the Turks and when he was home on leave he was a skeleton and suffered from dysentery. Last May he was sent to India, and took part in the Afghanistan fighting. He went home to Ireland two months ago and arrived in London a fortnight ago to receive hospital treatment. Since he had been in Turkey he had suffered from neurasthenia.

A doctor said Perry has inflicted six wounds on his body with a razor and had then cut his throat.

The Coroner recorded a verdict of "Suicide while of unsound mind."

LADY ASTOR CALLED TO ORDER.

Lady Astor inadvertently transgressed one of the minor rules of procedure in the House of Commons yesterday, by chatting with a fellow member in the middle of the floor between the Speaker's chair and the Bar of the House. The Speaker twice called "Order! Order!" before Lady Astor realised her misdemeanour. She then hurriedly slipped inside the Bar (of the House) and continued her conversation.

ANZAC CLUB CLOSED.

A farewell tea was given to the voluntary helpers at the Anzac Club, Victoria street, London, which is now closed. It is estimated that about a million meals were served there.

EXIT GERMAN SUBMARINES.

The Supreme Council has decided that all German submarines shall be broken up, except the ten asked for by France.

SUMMARY COURT.

FOURTEEN DAYS FOR FAILING TO SALUTE.

August Hoguth, of 40 Wilhelmstrasse, Nippes, put forward a very ingenious defence in answer to a charge of failing to salute a British officer.

The officer's evidence was that Hoguth, who is a postman, had both hands in his pockets, and even when spoken to failed to salute.

Hoguth's defence was that his braces were broken, and he had to keep his hands in his pockets to prevent his trousers from falling.

In passing sentence of 14 days imprisonment, the Presiding Officer said that while an occasional lapse could be overlooked, where the neglect to salute was intentional, the offence was a serious one.

ANNOYING A LADY.

While crossing the Dom Square near midnight, a military policeman saw two British officers surrounded by a crowd of about sixty civilians. Thinking that trouble was afoot he went to investigate and was ordered by one of the officers to take Friederich Krumm of 5 Balthasarstrasse into custody on the charge of insulting an English lady. Krumm made an attempt to escape by jumping on a tramcar but was recaptured and taken to the office of the A.P.M.

One of the officers giving evidence stated that he was crossing the square to engage a taxi, when the lady called him and stated that Krumm had been annoying her. In reply to the Presiding Officer he was unable to say if she was wearing a brassard.

"I wish to be quite fair to the accused," said the Presiding Officer, "there are a number of women in Cologne who speak English and who are not quite as respectable as they might be."

Witness replied that he was quite certain the lady was English.

The case was adjourned, and Krumm was granted bail in 2,000 marks.

THE 34TH DIVISION.

BATTLEFIELD EXPLOIT MEMORIALS.

At a meeting held at York of representatives of the 34th Division, with Major-General Sir C. L. Nicholson in the chair, it was decided to erect battlefield exploit memorials on the following sites, with the necessary War Office permission: La Boiselle (Somme battle, July 1, 1916); Mont Noir (Lys battle, April 1918); Broenbeek Valley (Passchendaele battle, October, 1917), for Divisional R.A. and R.E. only.

The first two are to consist of stone memorials surmounted by bronze figures, and the last of a stone monolith without any figure.

It was further decided to spent at least £2,000 on these memorials, of which £1,400 is available from surplus divisional funds. It is thought desirable that the officers and men and others interested in the 18th and 20th to 27th Battalions Northumberland Fusiliers, 15th and 16th Battalions Royal Scots, 10th Battalion Lincolnshire Regiment, 11th Battalion Suffolk Regiment, and R.A. Batteries from Nottingham and Sunderland, together with the Norwich Royal Engineers, who formed this Division, should have an opportunity of participating in the erection of these memorials.

Subscriptions may be sent direct to the secretary of the fund, Colonel E. C. Walthall, Alton Manor, Wirksworth, Derbyshire.

SIR EVELYN WOOD.

FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS.

The War Office states that the funeral of the late Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, V.C., will take place at Aldershot at noon on Saturday next. The body will be conveyed to Aldershot the previous night and will rest in All Saints Church, where it will be guarded by officers, N.C.O.'s and men of the 13th Hussars (his first regiment) and the 17th Lancers.

EX-KAISER'S NEW RESIDENCE.

A report from Amsterdam says that the enclosure of the ex-Kaiser's new residence at Huis-te-Doorn is nearly finished. A solid iron palisade with strong wire has already been placed in front of the house, around which a wall about ten feet high will be built, in order to protect the ex-Kaiser from the gaze of the curious.

SERBIAN APPREHENSION.

A deputation of Serbs and Slavs from Baranya waited on the Serbian Premier on Tuesday to affirm the refusal of those peoples to return to Magyar rule. The Premier assured them that his Government and the Peace Conference are doing all in their power to save the threatened territories.

U.S. PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATIONS.

A report from New York says that the Republic of South Dakota, assembled in convention, endorsed the nomination of General Leonard Wood for the Presidency, and Governor Collidge, of Massachusetts, for the Vice-Presidency. The Democrats in convention endorsed the candidatures of President Wilson and Vice-President Marshall for a third term of office, subject to the decision of the voting next March.

WRONGFUL ARREST.

SAD PLIGHT OF THREE PRISONERS OF WAR.

Replying to a question in the House of Commons regarding the three British soldiers, recently released from captivity in Moscow, who were arrested on their arrival at Hull, Mr. Winston Churchill expressed great regret that a mistake had been made owing to a misunderstanding due to the use of the expression "escaped prisoners" instead of "prisoners of war." This wording occurred in a Helsingfors message and was repeated in the War Office message.

As soon as the mistake was discovered the men were at once released and sent to their homes. He shared in the general regret that men who had returned from hard service and misfortune abroad should have met with such an unceremonious and chilling reception on arrival in their native land.

WHITEHALL LIMPETS.

RETRENCH OR CLEAR OUT.

The Finance Committee of the Cabinet, says the "Times," dissatisfied with the rate of progress and character of the reductions already effected, issued an urgent instruction to dispense with the services of all officials not absolutely essential to effective administration. The figures furnished by some of the worst offenders among the Departments in response to the Prime Minister's letter were ludicrous in view of the representations made by the Treasury, and the Cabinet Committee, after going through them, decided upon drastic action.

The terms of the new instruction are so definite that they cannot be misunderstood, and any official, no matter how highly placed, who fails to understand the situation will be relieved of his responsibility. Whole departments which have grown up in connexion with Ministries during the war are to be swept away. An intimation has been given that a number of the publicity agencies are superfluous and that others are much too large and expensive. The highly-paid people who have done so well out of war work are to go this time. Hitherto, practically only the small fry have been touched.

All the temporary staff will have left the War Office by the end of the year, and the same may be said of the Admiralty. The newer Ministries have given most trouble in connexion with staff reduction, but they will have to toe the line now. The Cabinet minute makes that quite clear.

"VERY DELICATE."

MEXICO AND UNITED STATES.

The Senate of the Mexican Republic has entrusted President Carranza with the task of finding a solution to the difficulties with the United States without legislative interference. During the debate Mexico's relations with the United States were declared to be "very delicate."

TANK CLAIMANTS' COSTS.

Before the Royal Commission on Awards to Inventors, Sir William Tritton and Major Wilson, the successful Tank claimants, applied for their legal costs in the recent proceedings before the Commission. It was stated that, although they knew unofficially that the Tribunal had decided in their favour, they were obliged to prepare their case before the Inventions Commission because the Crown disputed it. The Treasury opposed the application.

The Chairman (Mr. Justice Sargant) said he thought the Commission's power to grant expenses was intended to apply only to exceptional cases. They decided this was not a case in which they could grant expenses.

MEXICAN REVENGE.

A telegram from El Pas, Mexico, says that in revenge for the execution of General Felipe, a thousand soldiers under General Villa attacked on Friday, the 18th Mexican regiment, North of Santa Rosalia, and massacred 674 of them. Only two soldiers escaped.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

Business commenced with heavy declines owing to further continental liquidations coupled with the adverse exchange position and the pressure of new securities. British funds, Diamond and Oil shares, however, developed a better tendency towards the close. Gold mining shares were supported by a rise in the price of gold. The money market was unsettled by foreign exchange movements and discounts were firm in consequence. Three months Bills were quoted at 5 11/16 per cent and short money was plentiful. Bar silver advanced to 74¾ pence on the rise in the value of the dollar and the small trade demand. Gold was still in brisk demand at 106s 8d. The London exchange on New York was 3.88 dollars per £1, on Paris 40.16 francs per £1. German marks were 176 and 177 and Austrian crowns 550 to 560.

The Pope has instructed Cardinal Amette, Archbishop of Paris, to intercede in his name with Clemenceau to obtain the release of the German prisoners of war in France before Christmas.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS
FLIGHTS LTD.
MILITARY TAILORS
LONDON. WINCHESTER. ALDERSHOT.
Owing to military requirements Mr. A. J. R. Lee has been compelled to change his address to
KRONPRINZ HOTEL
(Behind The Excelsior Hotel)
where he will have his usual excellent selection of material, both for Mufti and Uniform, also a stock of Hosiery of the best quality.
LATE OF THE OFFICERS' CLUB No. 1.

Weinhaus und Diele
Rhein-Perle
CÖLN, Gr. Neugasse 36 (near Dom)
Proprietor Gerta Hassel
Tel. A 4346.
Daily at 4 p.m.
Concert
by Orchestra and Solists
Genuine Wines. Cold Dishes.

SIMPLICISSIMUS
Cabaret and Wine-Room
— Hohestrasse 152—154. —
Daily first-class singing and dancing performances.
Open from 6.30 to 10.45 p.m.
— For Officers and Civilians only. —

Agrippina Café
Breitestr. 92—98, Ist floor. Tel. B 9935.
Artiste Concert daily from 4 p.m.
First class wines

CAFÉ BIOSCOP
Breitestr. 58—60. Corner Langgasse.
Near the Empire Leave Club.
Every day 5 o'clock tea with Concert
First Class Ice Creams. Special Tea Room.
Concert on Sunday morning.

THE GENUINE
SPIKUSON RAZOR
Spikuson Registered — Spikuson Registered
is well known on the market. Full guarantee for every razor. Also Hamburg Ring and other good Razors kept in stock and a great variety of CUTLERY GOODS
WHOLESALE RETAIL
W. CARNEIM
a. d. Dominikanern 1, corner Marzellenstr. near the General Post Office.

FOOTBALLS and FOOTBALL-BOOTS
Large Selection. All Sizes.
Boxing Stores.
Sporthaus D. JANSEN
COLOGNE, Columba Str. 1

A. VILLINGER, Bensberg
Telephone 58
Engineering and Metal Works
We deliver for export over 1000 Water taps daily and other metal articles. Importers of raw material.

ALUMINIUM KITCHEN UTENSILS
for sale — cheap — always in stock.
PILGRAM, Marienplatz 12, near Stephanstr.

BUYER
Active experienced business man who is connected with the first firms of the Solingen steelwares as well as with the Remscheid tool and iron works wants to do the buying for a British or overseas firm. First class references.
Apply to A 413 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

CAMERA BARGAINS FROM PRIVATE PERSONS
Nettel, Stereax, Goerz, Anschütz, Bentzin, Zeiss folding cameras with all accessories almost new.
MERTINEIT, REMSCHEID, Lindenstrasse 53

ANOTHER N. A. C. B. SERVICE
BOOT REPAIRS-
Men's, Women's, Children's.
Tie a label on and leave at the new Department Stores, 27 Ohenmarspforten.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

12th SPECIAL SUNDAY CONCERT
Deutsches Theatre. Bismarckstr.
SUNDAY NEXT, Dec. 7th at 6 p.m.
BALLAD CONCERT
HANS CLEMENS
Lyrical Tenor Cologne Opera
KARL RENNER
Principal Lyrical Baritone at Opera House
MISS AUDREY ESMOND
Contralto. London Concerts
HANS FRITZ REHBOLD
The well-known Cologne Pianist.

Y. M. C. A.
BOOKSHOP
16, DOMHOF.
Special selection of Recent Novels and Childrens Story Books.
Hours 10—12.30, 2—4, 5—7.
Thursdays 10—12.30 only.

German firm seeks connection with English wholesale Buyer to procure tools, cutlery and similar goods. Prefers to deal with one large firm only. For particulars apply to A 414 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

Fox-skin rug, comprising 20 choicest selected pelts, for Mks. 2500, for sale. Write A 326, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

10 beautiful Goerz Binoculars 8×26 for sale
Blumenfeld, Balthasarstr. 24 near Deutscher Ring.

Professional Photographers
buy cheapest through
"HARBERS" 'RIVAL BRAND'
44, Prinz Heinrich Str. Köln-Mülheim Tel. 353
Manfrs. of Photo-printing machines.
Camera studio and all supplies, (papers, plates, chemicals &c.)
Great Bargains in High-class "KODAKS"

Acetyl Salicylic Acid
for sale
500 kg. to the highest bidder
Apply to K.S. 3821, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

Souvenirs-Jewellery-Watches-Steelware etc. cheapest at
B. Prechner, Cologne, 7 Weidenbach

SMALL IRON UTENSILS
such as hooks, shovels, bark scraping irons, thistle gatherers, trowels, iron covers for roof windows, barrel bung levers, etc. for immediate delivery.
PILGRAM. Marienplatz 12.
an der Stephanstrasse.

RARE OPPORTUNITY!
Very fine FUR CLOAK, beautiful new garment for slender gentleman for sale. Price 30 000 Mark.
ENDRES, Hagen i. W., Südstr. 4.

PIANOLA (PHONOLA)
First-class instrument to sell for £ 30.
Nippes Jorkstr. 30II. Call from 1-3; 7-9.

Mention The Cologne Post when replying to advertisements. It helps you and the advertisers.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstrasse
To-night and nightly at 6.00 p.m.
British Rhine Army Dramatic Coy.
Present
"LADY FREDERICK"
By W. SOMERSET MAUGHAM.
including
MISS DECIMA MOORE, C.B.E. in her original part
as LADY FREDERICK.
Book at Amusements Office.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.
To-night and nightly at 6 p.m.
Owing to continued popularity and success
RETURN VISIT OF Mr. ALFRED HURLEY'S LONDON VARIETY COMPANY
ARTISTES:
Mr. WARWICK PRICE
Entertainer at Piano from St. George's Hall, London
Miss GWLADYS STANLEY
Soubrette, Central Pier, Blackpool 1919
Mr. POWELL EASTBURY
Baritone & Humourist
Miss MARJORIE BOWYA
Soprano & Violinist
Miss MARGUERITE De LARA
Prestidigitator and
Miss MARJORIE BOWYA & Mr. POWELL EASTBURY
in a Pot Pourri of Rags-& Gags.
Complete Change of Programme.
Prices 10 Mks. 6 Mks. 3 Mks.

No: 1 ARMY CINEMA. (The Boys). 3 Komödienstrasse
No: 2 ARMY CINEMA. (Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.
No: 3 ARMY CINEMA. (Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.
Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc., Staff Instructor in attendance.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
CINEMA
Every day at 2.30 Admission 3 Marks.

The Cologne Post
Telephones: Military, No. 653. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S.40, British Army of the Rhine.

Friday, December 5, 1919.

POINTS OF VIEW.

Age has added a suggestion of truth to the old adage that open confession is good for the soul, but experience has undoubtedly shown that open discussion is good for the mind. How much better one can appreciate a beautiful building or a magnificent landscape by observing it from several angles, from different points of view.

There is a natural tendency for the human mind to narrow itself, and to readily criticise the ideas and views of others. How often do we condemn with little or no consideration the statements or arguments of our fellows. Undoubtedly we should broaden our minds and expand our horizon, if, when our ideas and those of another do not coincide, we tried to place ourselves in the other's position—tried to see things as he sees them.

Even if we do not alter our own views, we shall at least have a charitable understanding of the other side.

Tommy during the war evolved a a philosophy all his own. Discipline of course taught him how necessary the prompt obedience of an order was and experience, views that seemed absurd to him were justified. It became less difficult to realise that every question had more than one side to it. The result of this experience has been a considerable broadening of the minds of our soldiers who are now, of course, the great British public.

A certain amount of reading became a necessity to pass away weary hours—the very fact of being in a strange country brought before him points that would never have occurred to him. Talks with bright and breezy men from overseas showed him other ideals and ambitions and fostered a thirst for knowledge and a tolerance for views that were strange to him.

It is satisfactory to notice that this tendency is prevalent amongst the troops now on the Rhine—as witnessed by the "Letter Box Column" and the well attended debates organised by the British Empire Leave Club, the Y.M.C.A. and other institutions. It is indeed a sign of the times.

A well-known literary man deploring the narrow-minded secular disputes amongst religious bodies, drew a rather powerful analogy, he likened religion to a great light burning in a many sided tower with a large number of windows. Each window was of a different colour—a crowd were gathered and discussing this light—to one it was green—to one blue to one yellow and so on. Each saw the same light, but from a different point of view.

THE STORY OF THE TANK.

The idea underlying the Tank is as old as history. Its prime object is to save the lives of infantry, and that, of course, was as important in primitive savage warfare as it was in the Great War. There is mention of a Greek tower on wheels used in attacking fortified positions.

The Roman "tortoise" was a formation which had the same object in view, although it was only a manipulation of ordinary armour. In an early siege of Berwick the enemy approached in a wooden "sow", so called because it was intended to open and let the men come out when close to the walls. Some wit of the time saw in this process a resemblance to the farrowing of a sow.

In those days the projectile that had to be faced was the arrow. Nearly all the great battles fought by England in mediaeval times owed their success to the skill and steadiness of the English bowmen.

CLUNG TO SHRAPNEL.

But the range and efficiency of destructive weapons have tended to increase enormously with the progress of civilization. Germany was very nearly winning the war because of her advance beyond other nations in these respects. At the siege of Liége use was made of artillery so heavy as to startle Europe. It seemed then that no fort could possibly be rendered impregnable.

The Allies were not very prompt to realise the vast importance of this, and the late Lord Kitchener, whose fighting experiences had not been European, held for a long time to his belief in shrapnel. Long before the end the English artillery was as heavy as the German, but the advisers of the Kaiser did not place all their faith in big guns.

They had supplied the armies with machine guns on a scale never before approached in warfare, and these machine guns played havoc with attacking forces in the early stages of the war. Our own Army came to be provided with them also, and then the deadlock occurred.

The Germans dug trenches and we dug trenches, and the military brain wearied itself in trying to find a key that would unlock the situation. Probably it is true that the Germans imagined they had made the discovery through the chemist, when they began to deluge our armies with gas. But gas did not prove as efficient as was expected. Its employment depended on a factor so incalculable as the direction of the wind, which veered occasionally and blew the clouds back to their source of origin.

OUR REPLY TO GAS.

Further, an effective defence was found in the gas mask. Besides, our own chemists were not incapable of preparing a gas as deadly, if not deadlier, than that of our foes. Thus the problem of ending trench warfare still awaited solution.

It came, appropriately enough, from a mechanical nation like our own. The English soldier has never cared much for purely defensive fighting. He likes best to be up and at it, and that is when he is seen to most advantage.

Roughly, then, the tank has been not inaccurately described as a land-ship or a mobile fortification. Its primary object was to save the lives of those who, before its invention, had to go over the top and make their attack at the risk of being mowed down by the fire of rifles and machine guns.

The tank was constructed for the purpose of dealing with trench warfare and shifting the Germans from their fortified positions. In time to come the story of the early tanks will probably be read with great curiosity. At the end of the war the tank was still in an early stage of development. We may easily conceive it as bearing the same relation to the tank of the future as the culverins, sakers, minions and other cannon bear to the dreadful cannon of to-day.

But rudimentary as was the early knowledge of gunpowder, it very quickly produced revolution in defensive tactics. Targe, shield and buckler were not sufficient protection from the blunderbuss. It is the weapon that wins.

They were great warriors whom Kitchener overthrew at Omdurman, but their courage did not protect them from rifle bullets. Napoleon was an infinitely greater General than Lord Raglan, yet his troops, armed as they were in 1815, could not have stood up against Minié rifles.

THE WEAPON WINS.

Eleven years after Inkerman, Moltke would have beaten Raglan hollow, not because he was a greater general, but because his men were armed with the needle gun. Had Napoleon at Waterloo possessed a company of Vickers machine guns he would have beaten Wellington, Blücher and Schwartzenberg combined. Providence is said to be on the side of the larger battalions. It would be more proper to say on the side of the better weapon.

Ludendorff at first affected a contempt of the tank, but there is plenty of documentary evidence to show that he changed his tune before the war ended. M. Loucheur, the French Minister of Munitions, said in January 1919: "There are two kinds of infantry: men who have gone into action with Tanks, and men who have not; and the former never want to go into action without Tanks again."

The first difficulty was not only with the mechanics of the tank, but with the men who fought it. There was no opportunity of giving them practical training. They had to guess what was going to occur when they went into action, and, further, a great number of the first crews had never seen any fighting at all.

TERRORS OF THE TANK.

One can more easily imagine than describe the feelings of these men, packed tightly in a very confined space, in a machine that jolted along in a most discomposing manner through country, thick with the smoke of bursting shells.

They had no very clear idea where they were going, mainly because the aeroplane maps were, as far as they were concerned, unreadable. How valiantly they acquitted themselves we all know, as we know also the fear and consternation they produced in the enemy ranks.

The secret of the tank's construction had been extraordinarily well kept, as anyone may gather from recent proceedings in the Prize Court,—where there were a vast number of claimants to the credit of having invented it. Indeed, it is now on record that in 1912 an Australian brought out a tank as good as any ultimately produced, which the War Office rejected.

In 1915 Colonel Swinton wrote a letter in which he gave a minute forecast of what the tanks could do, but the idea seems to have come simultaneously to a very considerable number of men. It was in the air. The adoption of the tank was carried practically in the teeth of officialdom by a group of men free from red tape trammels.

As to the future. If we like to carry on, we have such a start, both in design and manufacturing experience, that we could easily make it impossible for any other nation to draw abreast of us during the period, after which we are assuming the 'Tank Age' in military evolution may conceivably be over.

From "Country Life."

WHAT HAPPENED TO SMITH.

It was Saturday and an exceptionally busy day in the Orderly Room. There were twelve for demob, six for leave, not to speak of a large number of defaulters. In addition there were the usual weekly returns to be rendered, including the B. 213—that bugbear of every orderly room. When 12 o'clock came I was glad of the opportunity to snatch a few minutes for a quiet pipe in front of the fire, which was blazing merrily.

* * *

"Ting—a—ling—a—ling" went the telephone bell. "Is that Corporal Smith" came a voice over the 'phone.

"Yes" I replied, "What is the matter now?" "G.H.Q. speaking. You are for demob. to-morrow and must report to the Concentration Camp by 12 o'clock."

Here was glorious news indeed. I had been striving vainly for months for my ticket and now when I had abandoned all hope, behold the unexpected had happened.

* * *

It was good to be back in Blighty again after four years in khaki, and as I walked up the street leading from the station to my cottage I was busy revolving schemes in my mind for giving the partner of my joys and sorrows, and the kiddies (I am the proud father of five) a good time before settling down to the serious business of life again.

But alas! disillusionment was in store for me and that quickly.

Martha (my wife) is one of these estimable people to whom anything bizarre or unorthodox in speech or manner is anathema. The first little jar in our domestic harmony occurred at tea on the evening of my arrival. In a moment of forgetfulness I asked Martha to "pass the blinking pozzy along."

She fixed me with an icy stare and asked what I meant by using such language in front of the children.

I explained shamefacedly that it was merely an Army colloquialism and was used by officers and men alike. She did not appear convinced, however, but on promising not to transgress in future I was absolved for the time being.

The habits of four years are difficult to part with and although I was primed with good intentions as to my future line of conduct, I was by no means certain, in my inner consciousness, that I could discard so easily the little tricks of speech acquired in the Army—and my fears were only too well justified.

The following morning, breakfast being over, preparations were quickly in progress for sending the youngsters to school. I was lost in admiration at the deft manner in which Martha arranged an unruly curl there, and adjusted a tie here. Happening to glance at my watch I discovered it was 9.30.

Another attack of mental aberration seized me. "Come on you young blighters" I bawled in my best parade voice. "Jump to it!"

Horror of Horrors!

Martha dropped the comb she had been using.

"John" she exclaimed in frozen accents "What do you mean by using such language. It is abominable. I cannot tolerate it."

It took me the better part of an hour to appease her wrath and by this time I was reduced to a state of abject humiliation.

But the culminating horror was yet to come—As a sap to Martha's wounded feeling I arranged to take the entire family to the "pictures" in the evening. In the meantime I kept a strict check on my language and was congratulating myself that I was regaining my rightful place in my wife's estimation, but an inexorable fate decreed otherwise. Approaching the entrance to the Cinema, a much be-ribboned Officer of Artillery passed us.

"Party. Eye—e—e—s left!" I shouted in stentorian tones.

The climax was too much for Martha and she collapsed in a heap at my feet.

* * *

Ting—a—ling a—ling went the telephone bell. I jumped out of the chair, rubbed my eyes in amazement, and placed the receiver to my ear.

"Is that Corporal Smith?"

"Yes." I replied feebly.

"G.H.Q. speaking. What about your B. 213 for this week?"

Tremblingly I laid the receiver down and thanked heaven that my visions of home and Martha had been only a dream

I had gone to sleep in front of the Orderly Room fire! P.J.F.

ON RETURNING FROM LEAVE

From Gill to Rommerskirchen,
The Lindens shade the way,
And birds make swift incursion
And are gone, but I would stray,
From Wensley Dale to Oaken Hill,
O'er Masson and away.

Round Sinsteden the clover
Glows crimson; and the rye
In grey-green waves leans over
Before the breeze; but I
Would rather stand at Watersmeet
And watch the Trent roll by.

LESLIE HARRISON

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

Our Readers' Varied Views.

CIVILIANS IN OUR CLUBS.

Sir,—The correspondence that has appeared in the "Cologne Post" at various times from English ladies and business men in the Rhineland, leads me to conclude that they are under an entirely false impression as to their status in the occupied area.

They are allowed to use the officers' Clubs and Canteen, which are war time institutions for the convenience of officers, who are thus enabled to obtain meals and comforts at practically cost price, and, in the case of tobacco and spirits, without duty.

A visit to the N.A.C.B. clubs at mealtimes affords sufficient proof that these privileges are also extended to and fully appreciated by the English civilian colony now in Cologne, as the officers present are generally in the minority.

Now, sir, is there any reason why commercial travellers and other business men, with the exception, of course, of ex-officers, should be given the status of officers, and allowed to crowd the clubs, canteens and reserved portion of the Opera house, and to purchase tobacco and spirits on which no duty has been paid?

As far as the ladies are concerned, no one will object to English women who are not in uniform using the clubs, when accompanied by an officer, but I certainly think that when not accompanied by their husbands they should not be entitled to use these institutions, unless, of course, they belong to one of the uniformed services. W.R.

THE ARMY AND RELIGION.

Sir,—Mr. Paterson's recent picture of Army Paganism is, I think, somewhat highly coloured and in reading it one suspects that the enquirers into the religious views of the soldiers were in many cases either subjected to the process of "having their legs pulled," or else selected the most unpromising looking Tommies as pictures for their inquisitorial investigation.

If, as we are told, soldiers "don't know what all this religion is about," it does not speak much for their intelligence, as presumably at Church Parade, even if the most part of the service is like so much Greek to them, they surely must have at least heard the Lord's Prayer, which is simple enough for the meanest intelligence to understand.

No doubt a large number have never been to Sunday School when kiddies, and even if they have been, learnt precious little when there, and have most likely never been in Church or Chapel since their middle teens. And so it is natural enough that a huge mental haziness exists in the army as to the real meaning of religion, or rather all the supernatural side of it. But nevertheless I am of Stephen Graham's opinion, that our soldiers' religion consists in the instinctive creed or belief in conduct as being its essential quality and the hope of a future life its fellow, and not a bad creed either. "The rest is leather and pannella."

That men, who have been living in the prolonged hell on earth of this recent ghastly war, should be puzzled and confused as to the position of God regarding it, is not surprising; for the majesty and power of God has been for many years back belittled and obscured by press and parson; and love has been represented as His chief characteristic.

But this is not so. This awful war we have just gone through, is the result of the ambition, covetousness, selfishness, want of sense, in a word wickedness and folly, not of Germany only, but in less degree, of England and other nations, and should teach us wisdom by its bitter experience. As Shakespeare says:—"The Gods are just; and of our pleasant vices make whips to scourge us," and by God, what a scourge it has been. HALIFAX.

SANTA CLAUS AND THE CHILDREN

Sir,—I wonder how many of the English children in Cologne have discovered that their friend Santa Claus pays his yearly visit to children in Germany on December 6th, St. Nicholas Day.

On that day all German children are on the look-out for the holy man—Der heilige Mann, or St. Nikolaus as they call him. His visit is very important, for on it depends whether they will get any or all of the presents they wish at Christmas.

St. Nikolaus is only the messenger of the Christ-child (Das Christkind) who really sends the Christmas gifts. To-day, the 5th—each child writes a letter to the Holy man telling him if he or she has been good or bad at home or in school, and giving a list of the Christmas gifts desired. This letter is put on the window sill or entrusted to the parents to be put there.

The Holy Man finds whether Hans or Marie has been obedient and studious or disobedient and lazy.

To-morrow he leaves a message with the parents for each child, telling what faults must be mended before Christmas. Sometimes he comes in person in his well-known red cloak and hood with his white beard and bushy eyebrows.

He has a sack filled with good things, fruit and sweets, sometimes small gifts, which he delivers to the good children, but in one hand he has a rod with which to chastise the naughty ones. The Holy man generally appears in person in those families where there are big student brotners or cousins. Sometimes he is accompanied by Hans Muff—a black servant who administers the rod to naughty boys and puts them in his sack. Great is the consternation of youthful wrong-doers when he appears, but generally through the intercession of the mothers the bad boy is released with a warning to improve.

As a rule St. Nickolaus leaves the little ones very happy and jolly, with presents of fruit, nuts and bonbons and promises of all nice things to be sent at Christmas by the Christ-Kind—on the one condition that the children try to be "artig und fleissig". J.D.

SAFER TRAMCARS.

Sir,—"Bolivar" claims to have travelled the world and admits he does not know any country with the exception of England that favours "double deckers."

I would like to mention that to the best of my knowledge they are running them in Scotland at the present time.

SCHOTTLANDER.

KODAKS Ica, Zeiss, Goerz Ernemann, Nettel Cameras
Developing and Copying
All photographic work and repairs done.
Photographic Specialists
Nelles & Wolffram, Cologne, Unter Fettenhennen

CARPENTIER CONQUERS

Joe Beckett Fails to Win European Title

K. O. FIRST ROUND.

At the moment of going to press a Reuter's message received stated that Carpentier was successful knocking Beckett out in the first round. The Frenchman thus repeated his performance of 1913 when he dismissed Bdr Wells, established the fact that he is still a brilliant exponent of the art and qualified to meet Dempsey for the World's title.

A detailed account of the fight will appear in tomorrow's "Cologne Post."

The event to which the whole sporting world had been looking forward to for months was decided last night when Georges Carpentier and Joe Beckett, met at the Holborn Stadium to contest the European title.

For some years now, the men selected to uphold British prestige in the heavy-weight class have failed to justify the confidence invested in them, Bombardier Billy Wells being the most notable failure.

Now it has fallen to the lot of Joe Beckett to endeavour to redeem the past, and to wrest from France the coveted honour of possessing Europe's best heavy-weight.

On the other hand Carpentier was equally determined to retain the title which he holds for his country, one of the youngest to accept boxing as a world-sport and recreation.

For the winner, the next step will be a meeting with the redoubtable Jack Dempsey in the hope of adding the world's championship to that of the European title.

Search for a Champion.

Mr. C. B. Cochran, the great promoter, has long been searching for the best man on this side of the Atlantic for this meeting, and the series of contests, the first of which was held on February 27th last, had this object in view.

The scheme was productive of a huge surprise. The only two men, thought to have any real chance in this great enterprise were Bombardier Billy Wells and Frank Goddard, and when they were in turn decisively beaten by the almost unknown Joe Beckett, their chances were immediately nullified, while Beckett came with a bound into the limelight as a force to be reckoned with. One result was that he qualified for a match with Carpentier.

There were many who regarded these victories in the nature of flukes, but the "Thomases" were to have more convincing proof of the champion's vast improvement and possibilities.

Carpentier decided it was advisable to postpone his meeting with Beckett at Olympia on Sept. 2 and Mr. Cochran, holding the lease, substituted Eddie McGoorty, an American with a fine record and undeniably one of the cleverest "heavies" in the world. This contest supplied the most trying and most informative test of the Englishman's all-round qualities for he emerged a winner by a knock-out in the seventeenth round.

Sterling Qualities.

He displayed stamina and determination, and more important still, he showed that he had vastly improved as a boxer, and combined cleverness with hard hitting.

The question to which none could apparently give the answer prior to the fight was "Is Carpentier the Carpentier of old?" If he has retained all his old cleverness, if his stamina is unabated and if he can still receive punishment as well as administer, Beckett was set a gigantic task to overcome the popular Frenchman.

Carpentier has again and again demonstrated in the past that besides being able to box brilliantly he can stand up and exchange blows with the strongest and most rugged. Instance his two contests when only an unfurnished youth of eighteen and weighing under 11st with those hard, powerfully-developed American middle-weights, Frank Klaus and Billy Papke. He was beaten by each, but far from being disgraced he added untarnishable lustre to an already brilliant record.

Carpentier's Courage.

Carpentier's courage is of the quality that will not entertain defeat until it actually comes to him, When he met Bombardier Wells at Ghent on the first of June, 1913, it looked all Lombard-street to nothing on Wells in both the first and second rounds; yet with fierce and fiery energy the French boy fought his losing battle undaunted, and how he won in the fourth round is boxing history.

So, too, is the story of that second meeting with Wells six months later at the Club, when all the boxing there was took place within the first sixty seconds, and when Wells was down and out, while scores of ticket holders were trying to make their way into the theatre, and when scores of other members had not even arrived.

Carpentier, like Beckett, has had his reverses, but they are far outweighed by the successes achieved by this brilliant French boy, who, born on Jan. 12, 1894, at the French mining town of Lens, made historic in the war, began his boxing in Paris at the tender age of 13 years, and having cleared his path of native opponents, began to take on English boxers three years later.

First English Victim.

Young Warners, an East End boxer, was the first to go across the Channel to meet him and be beaten. In the same year, however, Carpentier was defeated by both Buck Shine and Ted Broadribb (then known as Young Snowball and a very clever boxer); but from that time onward, as will be seen from the record given below, Carpentier achieved many notable successes over English boxers, defeating in turn our welter, middle, and heavy-weight champions, Young Joseph, Jim Sullivan, and Bdr. Wells respectively. And all before he was 20 years of age!

Carpentier's Record.

Born Jan. 12, 1894, Lens, France. Height, 5ft 11in; weight, 12st 6lb. Started boxing in 1907, and in 1910 began to take on English opponents.

			Rds.
1910.
——	Young Warner	WF Paris	7
——	Gaillard	W Lens	10
——	Wally Pickard	KO Brussels	8
——	Lampin	KO Liege	8
——	Buck Shine	L Brussels	10
——	H. Marchand	KO Liege	7
April 9—	Young Snowball	L (rtrd) Paris	4
——	Paul Til	D Paris	15
——	Cuny	W Cabourg	8
——	Young Warner	KO Cambrai	7
——	Audouy	D Brussels	10
——	Percy Wilson	W Paris	10
——	Jim Campbell	KO Paris	5
——	Demien	W Brussels	10
——	Jack Daniels	W Paris	10
1911.
——	Brochet	KO Lens	7
——	George Randall	W (stpd) Paris	10
——	George Randall	KO Paris	5
——	Henri Piet	L Paris	10
——	Jack Daniels	W Paris	10
——	Young Nipper	W Paris	8
——	Jack Meekins	W Paris	10
Sept. —	Sid Stagg	W Roubaix	10
——	GeorgeColbourne	W Brussels	10
May 20—	Frank Loughrey	W Paris	15
June 7—	Eustache	W Paris	10
July —	Jack Goldswain	KO Paris	4
July —	Arth. Evernden	W Cabourg	15
Aug. 29—	Dixie Kid	L (rtrd) Trouville	5
Oct. 2—	Sid Burns	W Olympia, London	15
Oct. 23—	Young Joseph	W (rtrd) King's Hall, London	10
——	Lacroix	KO Lille	9
——	Theo Gray	KO Boulogne	9
Dec. 13—	Harry Lewis	W Paris	20
1912.
Feb. 29—	Jim Sullivan	KO Monte Carlo	2
April 3—	George Gunther	W Paris	20
May 10—	Hubert Roc	KO Marseilles	6
May 22—	Willie Lewis	W Paris	20
June 24—	Frank Klaus	LF Dieppe	19
Oct. 23—	Billy Papke	L (rtrd) Paris	17
1913.
Jan. 8—	Marcel Moreau	W (stpd) Paris	8
Feb. 12—	Bandsman Rice	KO Paris	2
Mar. 17—	George Gunther	W Nice	15
June 1—	Bombdr. Wells	KO Ghent	4
June 29—	Lurie	W Bordeaux	3
Oct. 11—	Jeff Smith	W Paris	20
Dec. 8—	Bombdr. Wells	KO N.S.C.	1
1914.
Jan. 19—	Pat O'Keeffe	KO Nice	2
Mar. 21—	Joe Jeannette	L Paris	15
June 14—	PhilippeRobinson	KO Beviers	3
July 16—	Gunboat Smith	WF Olympia	6
1919
July 17—	Dick Smith	W Paris	8
Sept. 29—	Croiselles	W San Sebastian	2

Unique Distinction.

It is well worth recording that Carpentier has the unique distinction of holding the championship of his own country at every weight in turn as he grew from boyhood to man's estate and stature, though, singular to say, he is not the "official" heavy-weight, but only the cruiser-weight, champion of France. Carpentier can lay claim to one other title, that of the world's white heavyweight championship, as the result of his defeat of Gunboat Smith at Olympia about a month before the outbreak of war.

Following on that performance, Carpentier could have had several very lucrative matches; in fact, contracts were all ready for his signature, but when war was declared, he threw up everything and went home to fight.

Beckett's Rise to Fame.

Beckett's tabulated record is nothing like as long or impressive as Carpentier's for all his contests worth noting have taken place in the past five years. But Beckett, who was born at Wickham, near Southampton, on April 4, 1894, served his boxing apprenticeship in the hard school of a travelling booth, fighting often and taking on allcomers, always with the possibility of having to receive some rough handling for very small payment, and often glad when time arrived when he could retire to nurse his bruises. But though the booth is a hard school in which to learn, it is a most valuable one, as Jim Driscoll and Jimmy Wilde, for instance, can vouch, and the life hardened young Beckett, and provided him with that experience, which has served him so well in the later years when he had qualified to compete for the bigger prizes of the boxing ring. Beckett's record, given herewith, covers the five-year period of serious boxing referred to above:—

Beckett's Batties.

			Rds.
1914.
Apl. 20—	Hy. Smith	W., N.S.C.	4
Aug. 28.—	Montana Dan Sullivan	W., Plymouth	15
Dec. 21—	Hy. Reeve	L., The Ring	7
1915.
Mar. 4—	Pat O'Keefe	L., West Lon. Stad.	8
Sept. 30—	Gordon Sims	W., Liverpool	15
1916.
May 8—	Gordon Sims	KO., Portsmouth	18
1917.
Jan. 15—	Harry Curzon	W., Holborn	15
May 28—	Harry Curzon	W., Southampton	8
June 18—	Dan Flynn	W., N.S.C.	15
Aug. 6—	Len Sexton	W., N.S.C.	8
Nov. 29—	Harry Curzon	W., Liverpool	5
Dec. 17—	Fk. Goddard	L., N.S.C.	8
1918.
Feb. 25—	Dick Smith	L., N.S.C.	20
Oct. 14—	Val Harris	W., Glasgow	2
1919.
Jan. 1—	Harry Reeve	W., The Ring	5
Feb. 27—	Bdr. Wells	KO., Holborn Stad	5
June 17—	Fk. Goddard	KO., Olympia	2
Sept. 2—	Ed. McGoorty	KO., Olympia, Lon.	17

FOOTBALL GOSSIP.

The brilliant generalship of Charlie Buchan upset McCracken's offside tricks both at Roker and St. James' Parks. He showed how these tactics can be outwitted.

* * *

Club suspensions are very common this season, and Cook of Notts County has been suspended by the directorate for not attending to train.

Coventry seem to have all the ill-luck that is going, but their luck will turn. No club has ever yet made such a bid to escape relegation as they have done.

* * *

Bolton Wanderers seem unable to beat Everton at Bolton. The Merseyside eleven have a good list of victories against the "Trotters" on foreign soil.

RACING REPORT.

Committee Suggests Several Important Reforms.

AUSTRALIAN COMPARISON.

The complete report of the Committee who have been inquiring into the subject of racing at the request of the ruling body was issued on Wednesday.

In it a number of details are given suggesting Turf reforms which would benefit (1) the owners of racehorses; (2) racecourse proprietors; and (3) the public.

It has long been a grievance with owners that they have contributed more than their fair share of the prize money, in comparison with what those in the Colonies and foreign countries are asked to provide. During the three years immediately preceding the war, taking forty-six racecourses of Great Britain, the total of prize money which came out of owners' pockets, added to the surplus on sales, represented roughly two-thirds of the sum disbursed.

Owners' Grievance.

Commenting upon this, the "Sporting Life" says:—

Certain Australian examples quoted indicate the difference in the conditions which have hitherto existed.

Take the case of the A.J.C. Derby of two years ago. The sum guaranteed in this was 5,000 sovs., added to a sweepstake of 20 sovs. The forfeit was but a sovereign if declared a couple of months before the day of decision, while even if declaration was deferred until the eleventh hour, or, at any rate, until two days before the race, the amount forfeited was but a five-pound note.

Furthermore, in the course of sixteen days' racing at Flemington, no less than £60,000 was provided in the way of added money, while the charge for admission to the public was smaller than that generally prevailing in this country.

LINGFIELD WINNERS.

Odds-on Favourite Finishes Race Alone.

At Lingfield on Wednesday, a long downpour of rain made the going extremely heavy. Nevertheless, there was a fair attendance of spectators. Details:—

Crowhurst Hurdle:—1, Odalisque (11—8); 2, Teivet (3—1); 3, Louboy (4—1). Eight ran.

Southern Chase:—1, Peine Clifton (9—4); 2, Ballymindel (5—4); only two finished. Three ran.

Cobham Hurdle:—1, Wynsford (7—4); 2, Storm Witch (evens); 3, Llanwnda (4—1). Three ran.

Covert Chase:—1, Willy Wyn (9—4 on) finished alone. Two ran.

Winter Hurdle:—1, Court Bleddyn (2—1); 2, Kings Coat (6—1); 3, Minstrel (4—1). Ten ran.

FOOTBALL RESULTS.

First League.

Newcastle 0; Middlesboro 0.

Rugby.

United Hospitals 0; Army 0.

Oxford 71; St. Thomas Hospital 0.

CHESS TOURNEY.

The results of the knock-out Chess Tournament played at the British Empire Leave Club chess club, are as follows:—

1st. Round.

L./Cpl. Whyte	1	L./Cpl. Howes	0

2nd. Round.

L./Cpl. Whyte	1	Pte. Sharples	0
L./Cpl. Sers	1	Sergt. Keight	0
Sergt. Yates	1	C.S.M. Graham	0
Cpl. Williams	1	Gnr. Peck	0

PROUD PIONEERS.

19th Middlesex Win Nine Consecutive Games.

THEIR LATEST VICTIMS.

A very interesting match was played at Marienburg on Tuesday afternoon, between the 19th (S) Bn. Middlesex Regt. (P), and the 52nd Northumberland Fusiliers, resulting in a win for the Pioneers by 4-2.

During the first half of the game, the Fusiliers had slightly the better of the tussle, although when half time came both teams were level with 2 goals each.

Upon resumption, the Pioneers forced matters, and Chittenden, who had previously scored twice, again gave them the lead.

The Fusiliers attempted to equalise, but the sterling defence of the half backs and backs of the Pioneers stopped any chance of scoring. From a break away, which was quickly developed, Thane increased the Pioneers lead.

The closing scenes were marred by darkness and a very strong wind, that hampered the game very much, but no further scoring was recorded.

The victory gained by the 19th (S) Bn. Middlesex Regt. (P) on Tuesday afternoon, makes the 9th successive win. The result of the season's play to date being:

PLD.	WN.	LST.	DRWN.	FOR.	AGNST.
10	9	1	0	43	10

RUGBY REFORMS.

Proposed Alterations in the Laws of the Game.

We give, without comment, the following cutting from the "Sydney Referee" anent the proposed alterations in the rules of the game down under. The paragraph speaks for itself:—

"The New Zealand Rugby Union spent five and a half hours discussing proposals for alterations to the laws of the game, but most of the time was taken up with useless talk. At the end both parties expressed themselves satisfied with the result of the confab, said result being the agreeing to the holding of a conference between the New South Wales, Queensland, and New Zealand Rugby Unions. The reactionaries hope that the conference will agree with the suggested alterations, as the following will be submitted to the conference: (1) The abolition of the wing-forward; (2) the referee to put the ball into every scrummage; (3) modification of kicking the ball into touch; and (4) the application of the advantage rule to the line-out. Who is to represent New Zealand at the conference? This is the question that is troubling enthusiasts. The men who suggest themselves to me as likely to fill the bill with satisfaction to everybody concerned are Messrs F. T. Evans (president of the New Zealand Rugby Union) and H. Harris (president of the Otago Rugby Union). Both have been able administrators in their respective districts—Canterbury and Otago—and have gone right throught the mill. This conference may be one of the most momentous in the history of the Rugby game in these parts, and therefore demands that New Zealand's representatives should be of sterling worth."

N.H. Licenses.

Licenses to train under National Hunt Rules have been granted to L. A. Cundell, Fred Darling, J. Dodd, and S. Mercer.

Windsor Lady.

Mr. J. Joyce has named his colt by Adam Bede out of Clarilaw, Larry Quin, and his filly by Barcadaile out of Taboronte, Windsor Lady.

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

WAGNER CONCERT.

At their second "Elite" evening the "Cologne Konzertdirektion" presented Sigfried Wagner—the only son of the great composer; Elli Lendler, contralto, (Berlin) and Heinrich Knote, tenor of Munich. The Cologne "City" orchestra did duty.

It was somewhat unfortunate that the parts to the prelude of Sigfried's Wagner's Opera "Der Friedensengel" were mislaid, or some such similar reason, for Richard Wagner's wonderful "Sigfried Idyll" was played instead. I said unfortunate because we heard nothing to come anywhere near its subtle beauties and atmosphere during the concert.

It has often been said with great truth that no man finds his best until he has struggled and suffered against circumstances and fate. True genius generally overcomes all obstacles. The point applies very much in this case. We all know of Richard Wagner's early struggles and hardships and how eventually he triumphed over them all. It is thought that his music would never have withstood all the attack of time and the progress of music had he never suffered.

* * *

Richard Wagner's music has a voice, it has something that matters to say. I truly wish I could say the same about Sigfried Wagner. It is very difficult to be just to him. To be the son of such a giant in music is no easy position,—and to launch out after father's footsteps and also write opera may not have been difficult. Put to write something that is wortny of father and praiseworthy for the son is a much more difficult problem.

One of the pieces most liked was the "Sonnengesang" in which Herr Knote showed himself to be a tenor of great capability. The introduction to the song was something that contained much fine material and a beautiful melody.

Sigfried Wagner has of course all the intricacies of harmony and orchestration at his finger ends. His scoring is very fine but it is his music that somehow does not satisfy. But perhaps too much was expected of him, who is undoubtedly one of the most illustrious figures in music of to-day. Mention has already been made of Herr Knote's fine singing. The lady vocalist, Elli Sendler did all she was asked to do in an artistic manner. The audience was very large and gave Sigfried Wagner a fine ovation at the close. The work of the orchestra throughout the evening was excellent.

Success Follows Success.

I am pleased to hear that Mr. Leslie Ross with his talented party of vaudeville artistes made an even greater success on the occasion of the second visit to Riehl on Wednesday evening than when the first appearance was made there. The sparkling show presented by the company richly deserved the success they are achieving and if, by any chance, they are to return to the Palace theatre, Cologne, at any future date, an enthusiastic reception is assured. I still recollect the wonderful audience when Mr. Ross and his merry crowd concluded a week's engagements at the Palace a little while ago.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Fri.	Madame Butterfly	Puccini	7	9.45
Sat.	Martha	Flotow	7	10
Sun.	Der Zigeuner-baron	Strauss	7	10
Mon.	Armourer of Worms	Lortzing	7	9.45
Tuesday	No Performance.

Band Concert.

The O.C. 23rd Royal Fusiliers has kindly given permission for the band of the regiment to play at the band concert at the British Empire Leave Club on Sunday from 6.30 to 8 p.m. The soloists are Miss West (violin), Miss Somers-Cocks (cello), Miss Mackenzie (songs).

Anxious Moments.

There were many uneasy minds behind the scenes at the Deutsches theatre on Wednesday evening due to the absence of Lieut. Humphrey Hope at the hour when the curtain was timed to rise. Frantic suggestions were made as to how "The Admiral" could be replaced, but the frienzied situation was relieved at ten past six when Mr. Hope strolled into the theatre. It appears that his conveyance from Wahn, whereto he had been on a visit, broke down thus delaying his return.

At the Palace.

"The Eccentrics" are back again at the Palace theatre, entertaining large audiences with considerable success. Mr. Alfred Hurley's other party "The Jesters" are meanwhile being enthusiastically received by our "Yank" cousins at Coblentz. I dropped in to the Palace yesterday evening during thunders of applause. This was evoked by charming Miss Gwladys Stanley, who received a double encore and had to take many "curtains" before the audience would part with her. Without doubt Miss Stanley is one of the most fascinating and talented entertainers seen in Rhineland. She combines a delightfully pure voice with a bright and graceful stage presence and the blending of these two qualities invariably meets with the approbation of her audiences.

Roller Skating.

Arrangements are now practically completed for the opening of a roller skating rink in Cologne and it is safe to predict that when the project materialises it will meet with spontaneous success. Variety, it is said, is the spice of life and there are many in Cologne and its environs who will welcome the latest form of amusement. The rink, which is to be in Komödienstrasse, will be open during the afternoon and evening; refreshments will be available and special sessions for officers and their wives will be arranged. If there are any professional or expert roller skaters left in Rhineland, Captain Haygarth, Amusements Officer, Cologne, would like to see or hear from them.

JACQUES.

PRICES FOR PLAYERS.

Has the Maximum been Reached?

There is a frantic scramble in progress just now for players, says "G.W.S." in the "Sporting Life". It was generally believed during the war that the payment of thousands of pounds for transfer fees for players had gone for ever. How easy it is to make mistakes.

Historic clubs whose teams have not come up to expectations are not quibbling at £2,000 or £3,000 for the players they have decided they require, and if the competition is not soon abated, prices will be soaring upwards until we may be startled one morning with the information that £5,000 has been handed over to a club for division between itself and the player concerned as an inducement to the latter to change his quarters.

Supply and Demand.

It is a case of supply and demand. There is a larger demand than there is supply of the kind of players who are needed by the leading clubs, and with so many tumbling over each other for any and every player who shows more than average ability, small wonder that the cupidity of clubs willing to part from players should become more pronounced.

It is inevitable that it should. Sheffield Wednesday, Aston Villa, Preston North End, and others that might be named will not remain in the neighbourhood of the foot of the table if it be possible for them to lift themselves into a higher place by the expenditure of a few thousands of pounds for players to strengthen weak places in their teams.

GOLF.

EVEN FOUR-BALL MATCH AT DUNSTABLE.

There was an interesting golf match at Dunstable on Wednesday when Alexander Herd, (Combe Hill), and George Duncan, (Hanger Hill) met Edward Ray, (Oxley) and James Battey, local professional, in a four ball match.

Rain fell almost continuously, and a strong wind rendered play very difficult.

The match ended all square, each side returning 72.

At the ninth hole the match was in favour of Ray and Battey by one, but Herd holed finely in two at a short fourteenth, and later a fine three by Duncan at the sixteenth hole squared the match.

The last two holes were halved although Ray had a chance of winning if he had holed a three yard putt at the last green.

Race Horse Destroyed.

T. Leader's Llanelly, whilst at exercise on the Bury Hills at Newmarket, had the misfortune to break a leg and has been destroyed.

Carslake's Departure.

B. Carslake sails for Australia on the 15th of this month.

FOR LEEDS.

Money to save Huddersfield Club not Forthcoming.

It has been definitely decided to transfer the Huddersfield Town Football Club to Leeds, the Leeds road ground having been acquired by a large manufacturing firm. The money needed to save the club for Huddersfield, it is stated, will not be forthcoming, and when the sanction of the Football League Management Committee has been obtained, the Huddersfield Club will at once commence to play on the ground of the defunct Leeds City Club.

COMPETITION PROBLEM.

Can You Forecast the Newcastle Result?

The failure of Newcastle United to take two points from Middlesboro at St. James' Park and their surprising defeats by Sunderland, lend great interest to their meeting with Sheffield United. This match appears on our coupon and competitors are set the task of deciding whether United have fallen into their pre-war ways again or not. The final coupon for No. 11 contest appears to day. Don't delay your entries. Post them now.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—
FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 11,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S.40 Rhine Army.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 11.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 6th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 5th.

Sheffield U.	v. Newcastle U.
Manchester C.	v. West Bromwich
Arsenal	v. Chelsea
Oldham	v. Barnsley
Huddersfield	v. Blackpool
Fulham	v. Tottenham
Coventry	v. West Ham
Swindon	v. Portsmouth
Gillingham	v. Brentford
Celtic	v. Motherwell

I enter Football Competition No. 11 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(In block letters.)
Rank and No. .....
Unit .....
Full Address .....

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

Christmas Trees.

I noticed a large florist's in Breite Strasse receiving a load of "Christmas" trees yesterday. These were in pre-war days obtainable for 80 pfennigs.

A Cyclist's Memorial.

The German Sports' Association have erected a memorial at Sudfriedhof cemetery to Pitter Geunther, who is described as the world's champion cyclist.

His Privilege.

I noticed an excited crowd of young Germans round an automatic clock in a cabaret, each in his turn pulling a string which set the hand of the clock revolving violently. The person whose pull stopped at the lowest figure on the face had the privilege of paying for drinks round.

"Excessive Cigarette Smoking"

"COLOGNE POST" CELEBRITIES.
III "SENIOR OFFICER"

In Berlin.

An Army clerk serving with the Allied Commission at Berlin, informs me that he is having a most enjoyable time in the city on the Spree. He wears "c vvy" clothes and is allowed 500 marks a week ration money.

Recognition.

Have you noticed that most houses in Rhineland have the name of their architect engraved on a stone? After all it is only fair that the designer should be recognised.

Who Wants a Job?

A post is now vacant near Leipzig for a Luftschiffahrtverkehrszentralfrachtbahshofvorsteher. If the salary equals the title it is "some post."

Hats—Hard and Soft.

A very noticeable feature of "civvy" male attire in Cologne is the predominance of the soft felt hat over the bowler variety, the latter type being much more in evidence in London and other English cities. Taking a census to-day in the busiest part of Cologne, a friend found that the ratio was roughly twenty felt hats to one bowler.

Out of Cologne.

The recent winners of our football contest have been in most cases quartered in Cologne, but this week two out of three winners belong to units lying outside the city. Quite a change.

Mixed.

Noting an advertisement in a tobacconist's window which referred to a certain brand of cigarettes, I was amused to find that while the brand in question was a Turkish one, yet the pictorial matter showed the Pyramids of Egypt and the Sphinx.

By the Way.

I notice that the Germans are very found of postca ds dealing with legends and stories of all kinds. I saw, in a shop window yesterday, a series of gaily coloured postcards depicting "Rotkappen" or, as we know it, "Red Riding Hood."

A Popular Colour.

The most popular colours worn by the German womenfolk seem to be dark blue and a wine coloured cloth. But it is strange, their fondness for white materials, which are always spotlessly clean.

Out in a Growler.

Keen to let a new arrival in Cologne see something of the place, an officer hit upon the idea of engaging a "growler." The party of four made a wide detour yet both British and German pedestrians were obviously amused at the equipage.

Travellers.

I notice that there are many French travellers in musical instruments in Rhineland, carrying a good range of samples.

Art School.

The potential genius abiding in the Art Class of the General and Commercial College is becoming widely recognised. While in England recently, Lieut. Jemmett was asked by Charles Cochran and Madame Delysia to have some posters designed by his students for "Afgar" at the Pavilion.

Roller Skating.

The Church Army at Mulheim have opened a commodious roller skating rink at Frankfurter Strasse. It is open daily from 3 to 5 and 6 to 10, and a band is in attendance every Saturday night.

Ten to One.

"Many hands make light work", seems to be the motto of the German workman. I saw ten hefty labourers carrying a length of iron rail at Wiesdorf, that could easily have been carried by four. They were so close together thay they practically kicked one another's heels as they walked.

Rifle Brigade.

The guard at the Monopol Hotel now consists of men from the Rifle Brigade. They are the first of that Regiment I have noticed doing sentry-go there.

In French.

Many streets bear the name in French under the ordinary German plate. One such is Krebsgasse, where the French name "Rue de L'Crevisse" can be seen cut into the wall of a house.

RHINELANDER.

FOR BUSINESS MEN IN RHINELAND.

Major Kavanagh has had several years experience with large engineering firms in England, having served an apprenticeship with Messrs. Hick, Hargreaves, and Co., Ltd., of Bolton, and worked as assistant engineer to the Worsley Mesnes Iron Works Co., Ltd., London General Omnibus Co., Ltd., and the Sturtevant Engineering Co. He was subsequently in India as works manager of Messrs. A. and J. Main and Co., Ltd., Calcutta, and in Germany, where he acted for three years as commercial advisory engineer to the Maschinenfabrik Ausburg-Nurnberg Aktien Gesellschaft. He has latterly been employed on the staff of the Economic Council of the Rhine at Cologne.

We have received the second number of a new journal called "The World of Trade," and described as a monthly journal devoted to reconstruction. It is issued at Frankfort and has branch offices at Berlin, Coblenz, Leipzig, London and New York and is circulated, according to description, by permission of the American and British authorities. It touches on all questions of international commerce with a flavouring of propaganda such as the article on "The Seven Deadly Sins of all Germans." Three languages are used: English, French and German.

British traders should be careful of entering into long period contracts for the reception of German made cutlery as conditions are not likely to remain the same in England as obtained before the war. Of late years there has been an enormous increase in the output of knives, scissors, razors, spoons, and forks. That increase is well maintained, and complaints of the way the operatives are working are not often heard now. Progress is hampered by delays in obtaining supplies of materials, but the main fact which accounts for the present extreme pressure is that the trade is growing faster than the productive capacity. There s great difficulty in obtaining premises for extension of factories. Sheffield is now manufacturing a good number of nail scissors, manicure instruments generally, and other articles which were formerly German specialities.

It is reported that Germany is very anxious to enter trade relations with Britain and her colonies. British prestige has grown considerably among the Germans since the armistice, and recently consignments of German goods have been received in England, the articles of which are priced in accordance with existing values, although German traders lose on them—through the low exchange value of the mark.

There has been recently an enquiry in Bradford for wool by a Saxon millowner, who wants to make it into fabrics for export. Translated into German currency the price of the raw material will be tremendously high, but the manufacturer is quite repared to risk it.

The British Mission in Berlin has had good effect. Germany, however, is a long way from being her old self. Prices are exorbitant, transport is disorganised and needs repair, fuel is scarce, and other conditions essential to trade, require attention. Great quantities of imports from Germany in due course will be part of the indemnity she is under agreement to pay.

Mr. Lee of Messrs Flights Ltd. now installed at the Kronprinz Hotel, Cologne, is leaving for England before Christmas, but informs us that customers wishing to order civilian or military clothes may do so up to about the 18th instant. Mr. Lee intends to return in the spring.

The Vogue of Rabbit.

Women who must have furs will have to pay heavily for them in the future, as the price has increased as much as 80 per cent. on some particular kinds of skins. At a big sale held a few weeks ago, rabbit and fox vied for first honours, and "bunny" showed the greatest increase on the whole, though silver fox brought the top price per skin, i.e., £117 for one pelt.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

L.R.B. Home.—The London Rifle Brigade has arrived in England from India.

Organising.—The German Empire has recently been grouped into military areas.

Few Turkeys.—Turkeys will be very scarce and dear at Christmas.

Many Failures.—Mr. A.E.S. Sebright is just experiencing his seventh bankruptcy.

Numerous.—There are over 2,000 Freshmen at Cambridge.

Coal Shortage.—Canada has only enough coal for the most essential industries.

What it Costs. — Our Black Sea Army costs £24,000 a day.

Wanted at Home.—There are at present in France 18,200 railway wagons lent by British railway companies.

Great Damage Done.—Canada has just experienced one of the fiercest wind storms for many years.

Old club House.—The premises of London's oldest Club — the Cocoa Tree — are for sale.

Hard Pressed.— London hospitals find t difficult to find room for the increasing number of infectious cases.

Engines at Once. — The building of a hundred locomotives is to start immediately at Woolwich Arsenal.

Sweet Simplicity. — The Recorder of Dublin innocently asked the other day "What is Jazz?"

An Omission. — Lord Birkenhead says that hope is the only thing that is not taxed.

Foundered.—A naval motor launch has been sunk in a gale off Lands End and the second officer was drowned.

Up-to-Date.—A new motor lifeboat has been sent to Spurn Head station by the Lifeboat Institution.

Badly Paid?—Three thousand employees of the Army and Navy Stores, Westminster demand better pay.

Now Land Girls!—Someone is advertising for a lady gardener with a strong sense of humour.

Grow Our Own.—To-day Great Britain is independent of Germany for the supply of drugs.

Savage Dog.—A savage dog running amok in Battersea was killed by a policeman after two lads had been badly bitten.

Train Smash.—An express train from Bayonne collided with an engine near Toulouse. Six people were injured.

Girl Boxers.—Miss Marjorie Gordon and other actresses in "Who's Hooper?" have taken up boxing as an exercise.

A Difficult Trade.—British toy makers find it not easy to capture the German toy market.

Not So Dry.—The New South Wales drought has been ameliorated somewhat by beneficent rains.

Ringing Up.—Telephone communication has now been opened between France and the Rhenish provinces.

Copying London.—London Police are in Warsaw, helping to remodel the Polish police.

Royal Fish.—A Scarborough trawler has caught a royal sturgeon. It has been sent to the King.

The Remnant.—All the temporary staff will have left the War Office by the end of the year.

English Instead.—Twelve London streets with German names have been rechristened.

Poisonings. — Ten ptomaine poisoning cases have been reported at Alfreton, Derbyshire.

Timber Ablaze. — £20,000 damage has been done by a fire at Liverpool sawmills.

Generous. — The chauffeur, who drove the Prince of Wales from the dockyard to Portsmouth Town, received a gift of £5 from the Prince.

Daring Girls.—Two girls in men's clothes trying to leave Liverpool docks as stowaways, have been caught and arrested.

Paris Unmoved.—The Socialists have made notable victories in the French provincial municipal elections. In Paris there has been little change.

Germany's Forces.—Marshal Foch calls on Germany to suppress the military organisation that has been formed in violation of the Peace Treaty.

A mix-up.—It seems it was not General Sir Archibald Murray who was thrown from his horse recently, but Mr. Archibald Murray of Melgund.

Money Lavished.—"Eastward Ho!" the most expensive revue ever produced in London, is being withdrawn from the Alhambra next week.

A Veteran Retires. — Charles Coborn whose great successes on the music halls were "Two Lovely Black Eyes" and "The Man who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo," is retiring.

Still Composing.—Mr. F. E. Weatherly who has been writing popular songs for fifty years has been given a public dinner at Bath. He wrote "Darby and Joan," "The Holy City" and "Roses of Picardy," amongst many others.

THE BOY WORKER AND HIS WELFARE.

Increasing attention is being paid to the welfare of the boy worker. With the disappearance of women from many industries the ground has been left clear for the more detailed consideration of this subject, and there can be no doubt that many great firms are for the first time taking the subject seriously and adopting an organisation to deal with it. Welfare supervisors, often demobilized officers, are being far more free y appointed to bring the "human element" into a relationship which was often unsatisfactory in the past.

A sincere attempt is being made to provide young workers with a better chance of training, both mental and physical.

It has been found that these efforts have been amply repaid, and have resulted in better work, in more stable employment and the promise of a permanently better understanding.

Employers have undoubtedly suffered much loss in the past owing to the very unsatisfactory methods by which their juvenile workers were engaged. This was undoubtedly due to indiscriminate engagement, a failure to analyse the boys' aptitudes for a particular job, a neglect of proper training, and relentless dismissal for minor offences.

The result was that such training as was given was a dead loss to the firm, the same process had to be repeated, and no permanent body of trained employees was recruited. On the boys' side it led to casual and unskilled employment, discontentment, and idleness.

ENGAGING WISELY.

Undoubtedly the first step in boys' welfare is wise and discriminating engagement. In many firms the procedure is now that no boy is taken on who has not first passed through the hand of the welfare supervisor. The foreman makes known his needs, the supervisor interviews the candidate, filling in details on an engagement card.

Questions are put to the boy to elicit any special bent or aptitude which he may have. He is made to feel that in the supervisor he has a friend to whom he may turn, apart from those in the workshop who hold disciplinary power over him. His progress in the works is carefully noted and, more important still, he knows that he cannot be dismissed until his case has had a fair hearing from the supervisor.

It is often possible for an independent judge to recommend a second chance, after he has dealt humanly with some minor disciplinary offence. The busy foreman in the workshop has seldom time for such an inquiry. His only resource is to dismiss the boy, often to his permanent disadvantage.

To keep a record of a boy's work, ability, and behaviour tends to stabilise his mind. He realises that any complaints against him will be fairly judged, that his chance of promotion will not depend on his particular foreman, that his claims will be considered impartially when more responsible tasks are offered, and that the position which he covets will not be given to a less competent boy simply because he happens to be a friend of the manager or the son of a customer. It is obvious that the position of boys' welfare supervisor is one which demands considerable tact and discretion and a real understanding and sympathy of the boy's point of view.

THE BOYS' EDUCATION.

After a boy has been satisfactorily engaged and arrangements made to study his progress, the next point to be considered is his education. Under the provisions of the new Education Bill, employers will be compelled to grant facilities to their juvenile workers to attend continuation classes during their working hours.

Whether this training shall be given in schools definitely attached to the place of work or in local continuation schools is a matter which is receiving a great deal of attention at the present time. Whatever may be finally decided, the present interval should be and is in many cases being used for experiment in this matter.

In one Scottish foundry a works' school has recently been started, not to give general education, but to teach the boys something of the practical side of their work. A g other things, they are taught to analyse the sand used in their work, and whereas their fathers knew that by using a certain mixture certain results were produced, the boys are enabled to understand the reasons which underlie the formula.

A well-known Dublin firm which has instituted works' classes has given very practical encouragement to the boys to attend. The fees of those who reach a standard of attendance of 75 per cent. are returned. Awards are made to successful candidates in examination, and basket-ball, football and swimming clubs have been formed in connection with the classes. A Boys' Council, with representatives from each class, controls the different athletic activities.

SPORTS AND GAMES.

The proper provision of facilities for sports and games is not the least important aspect of the Boys' Welfare movement. It is unnecessary to insist on the physical advantage to the boys of such arrangements. They have been widely adopted, and swimming baths, cricket and football fields, gymnasia and rifle ranges are being provided in many large works.

As already indicated, an attempt is being made to link up this side of welfare work with the works' school. In the playing field the welfare supervisor can win the confidence of the boys, which is essential to his other work. It is vital to the success of all welfare work that the recreational side should be linked up to the prosaic relationships of daily work, and that the man who is to deal wisely with disciplinary matters should meet his boys on an equal footing in their play time. As an instance of the success of well-organised games amongst employees, Sheffield may be quoted, where seventy-five works teams have entered for the forthcoming Inter-Works Football League.

HOLIDAY CAMPS.

A development of the sports' club is the holiday camp. Organised by the welfare supervisor, in most instances this has proved a great success. The expenses of the camp outfit are usually borne by the firm, an expenditure which has proved very well worth while in the excellent results obtained. In some cases the boys pay for their food and, of course, do their own cooking.

A period of ten days to a fortnight is spent at the sea or in the country, and an opportunity such as could not occur in the atmosphere of the works is given for the supervisor to learn the individual characters of the boys and establish a spirit of camaraderie.

Welfare schemes, though for the most part they approach to one model, naturally vary in individual firms. The supervisor of an important wagon works, who has established a very complete system of Boys' Welfare, not only interviews applicants for employment, but also visits the parents to obtain all information necessary for classification. This is often done before a boy leaves school. The supervisor also issues a quarterly report to parents on progress and good time-keeping.

From "The Organiser."

A CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR HOME
WE SEND A PRINTED ADVICE TO YOUR FRIEND THAT YOU HAVE ARRANGED FOR THEM TO RECEIVE THE POST DAILY FOR ONE MONTH. FILL IN THE FORM — WE DO THE REST.

THE COLOGNE POST
HOME SUBSCRIPTION FORM

To Subscription Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40 Rhine Army
I enclose remittance for 20 marks. (From United Kingdom 3/4.)
Please send "The Cologne Post" daily for one month to:

PLEASE WRITE IN BLOCK LETTERS

NAME: .....

ADDRESS: .....

20 MARKS COVERS ALL BRITISH POSSESSIONS

A great Advance in Soap Chemistry

As a result of many years strenuous work in chemical research and its practical application, "Sapon" Soap has been perfected.

It is the greatest advance in the chemistry of Soap since that article was first manufactured.

Ordinary Soap consists of Fat deglycerined and saponified with Caustic Soda.

"Sapon" Soap is derived from Carbohydrates which when treated by the Company's patented process, yield Ammonia, Methylamine, and Trimethylamine. These Nitrogenous compounds are highly emulsifying agents, and do NOT combine with Lime or Magnesia Salts in water, as all fat-derived soaps do. Hence, no "scum" or insoluble lime soap is formed, even in the hardest water when "Sapon" Soap is used.

Dr. Shorter, of Leeds University, says of "Sapon" Soaps:—
"They contain 'surface active' colloids, whose 'surface activity' greatly exceeds that of an ordinary fat soap, and that therefore it fulfils in an extremely satisfactory manner the fundamental condition for detergent action."

SKIN DISEASES

The Amines and Amido bodies in "Sapon" Soap are readily soluble in water. They are germicidal but non-injurious owing to their colloid nature. Besides their efficiency as cleansers, they have a wonderfully sedative action.

"Sapon" Soap gives wonderful results in irritable skin diseases, such as Scabies, Eczema, Pruritis, Insect Bites, Acne, etc. The following is the best method of application when it is used for curative purposes, —moisten the Soap, rub it on the part affected and allow it to dry, on.

You will never use old-fashioned Fat Soap once you have used "SAPON" SOAPS and given them a fair trial.

Sole Agents for "Sapon" Soap in Germany
ERIC MORTON & Co.
12, Luttichér Strasse
COLOGNE

SAPON SOAPS LIMITED
Sapon House, London Bridge, E.C. 4, England

CHRISTMAS

GREAT ONES! SMALL ONES!
SHORT ONES! TALL ONES!

Our specially prepared selection CHRISTMAS PRESENTS is at your disposal

When in the Hohestrasse walk right in
THE BRITISH MILITARY SHOP
No. 100

Watches, Razors, Brooches, Ornaments, Original Eau de Cologne, Perfumery, Manicure and Dressing Sets etc., etc.

EVERY DESCRIPTION ALARM CLOCKS IMPORTERS PLEASE NOTE

Small Clocks, Flash Lamps, Pipes, Cutlery, Cigarette Lighters, Fancy Beaded Bags

PARISIAN SILK
Table Centres, Scarves, Pinafores, Handkerchiefs etc.

SOUVENIRS OF COLOGNE

A Large Stock of English Xmas Cards

NOTE ADDRESS
ROBARTS & QUANTOCK
100, HOHESTRASSE, COLOGNE

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE.

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O.S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

BLACK grand or royal piano, faultless, obtained cheaply for sale. Thielenbruch by Delbrück, Thielenbrucherallee 19, parterre.

ONE Slate Fox Fur price 1500 Mks. One Ermine Collar and Muff, 1800 Mks. Can be viewed between 2 and 4 p.m. any day, excepting Saturdays and Sundays, at Dr. Heuser, Spichernstrasse 55 IV.

GENUINE Russian Fur Coat, suit either Lady or Gent., large, quite new and very good. also large assortment of Amber Chains, Amber Cigarette and Cigar holders, also lovely pearl bead handbags, and very good field glasses. Please communicate to Borstel, Porz a. Rhein, Bahnhofstr. 6.

WONDERFUL Gentleman's ring, two diamonds one sapphire and cuff studs with diamonds for sale cheap. Apply to A 417, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

ZEISS-GOERZ, Binoculars 6×30 and 8× in splendid condition. Pohl, Boisserèestr. 121 floor (near Hohenstaufenbad).

DIAMOND necklet, wonderful stones, also gentleman's diamond ring, one stone, for private sale. Brüsselerstr. 32 h. p.

SECOND-HAND cameras with Zeiss and Goerz lenses, a bargain. Pohl, Boisserèestrasse 121, floor (near Hohenstaufen Bad.)

HANDSOME brown leather kit bag, drawer for shot gun in bottom, almost new, suitable for sportsman. Also Otter fur lining for gentleman's overcoat, quite new. For particulars apply Pte. T. Smith, Remount Camp, Cöln-Deutz.

"COLOGNE Cathedral with surroundings 80 years ago" — a picture with gold frame, very suitable as present, for sale Wwe. Nieden, Ehrenstr. 72 I.

MOTOR tubes for disposal. Two 650×65, eight 710×90 four 760×90, one 815×105. All are new could and unused. Best offer accepted. Write Box 93, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

WANTED.

BUSINESS lady requires comfortably furnished bed-sitting room. Apply Box G. O., Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

GOOD MOTOR CAR wanted. Send all particulars to Box B.J.R. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

BAND INSTRUMENTS (Kneller Hall Pitch) 1 Bass, 1 Tenor Horn, 2 Cornets. Reply stating price to O.C. 52nd Devon. Regt.

GERMAN SHEEP DOG wanted, about nine months old. Trained to house. Preferably over distemper. Apply Box 84 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

WANTED Gramophone (Decca) or similar make with records. Lowest price to Box 92, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

WANTED, German Clerk, must be able to speak and type English, good correspondent and translator. Reply in English. Box 91, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

FIRST-CLASS Cook wishes to take over British Officer's Mess. One year experience in Mess. Excellent testimonials. Write A 403 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S 40.

LOST.

LOST at 6th Corps Dance, Nov. 21st, Brooch set with diamonds and pearls in white enamel rings. Reward if found. Box 87, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

PERSONAL.

SHOULD this meet the eye of a Lewis Gunner, name believed to be Scully, or something similar, and of the 7th Londons, quartered in the Niehl or Nippes neighbourhood, on No. 7 tram route, would he please communicate with Box 93, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. A reply to this advt. would be entirely to his advantage.

WOULD anyone able to identify or furnish the present address of the above, kindly write to Box No. below. Last seen one evening, about 20th November, on No. 7a car, at corner of Niehlerstrasse and Nordstrasse, in company with one Scottish soldier and several R.B's, was dressed S.D. tunic, breeches, web belt and bayonet, soft cap, no coat or gloves, Box No. 93, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

LANGUAGES.

WHO WILL INSTRUCT a German lady in English language? Write to A 418 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

YOUNG GERMAN ladies and gentlemen wishing to get better practice in English conversation are looking for teacher for this purpose. Offers A. 419 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

GERMAN LADY, been in England, would like to converse with English lady several times a week. Apply to A. 420 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 5, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

LOOK OUT FOR THE BEST OF ALL XMAS NUMBERS

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

NEW BOOK FEATURE EVERy SATURDAY
SEE PAGE 4.

No. 214. COLOGNE, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

SOVIET'S FOUL TREACHERY.

THREAT TO KILL BRITISH PRISONERS UNLESS ALLIES COME TO TERMS.

HOME RULE FOR INDIA NEXT YEAR.

SOVIET FIENDS.

HOSTAGES FOR LITVINOFF'S BARGAINING.

Astounding revelations of the fiendish duplicity of the Russian-Soviet and its representative at the O'Grady Conference appeared in a leading article in Thursday's "Times."

It appears that when Litvinoff started for Copenhagen some British officer prisoners were warned that they would be shot if his mission failed, and they were invited so to inform their relatives in England. These letters have just reached England and the recipients are appealing to influential quarters to save the lives of these prisoners.

The "Times" declares that "even to save these lives we cannot perpetuate the domination of such assassins. Great questions of policy cannot be decided on personal considerations."

The "Morning Post" demands the recall of Mr. O'Grady, in view of Litvinoff's peace offer. It is stated that Litvinoff took to Copenhagen thirty million roubles for purposes of propaganda.

Mr. O'Grady having received instructions from the Government the Conference was expected to be resumed on Friday.

The Swedish journalist Ola Cinberg, who is stated to have gone to Copenhagen as the representative of the "Manchester Guardian" and "Social Demokraten" of Stockholm, was expelled from Denmark yesterday by the police, who said they would not permit Litvinoff to be in communication with foreign Socialist journalists.

UNION OF UNIONS.

ANOTHER COMBINATION FORMED

In order to secure the closer working between Trade Unions and the prevention of unauthorised strikes, an important new movement, embracing the whole of the United Kingdon, was inaugurated on Thursday, when the first meeting of the London District Committee of the National Federation of General Workers was held. Seven Trade Unions, comprising a membership of over two million workers, are affected by the movement. They include the Dockers Union, National Union of General Workers, Enginemen and Firemen's Union, National Amalgamated Union of Labour Workers Unions, National Vehicle Workers Union and the Public Authorities Employees Union.

I. L. P. WISDOM.

PARLIAMENT BETTER THAN SOVIETS.

The Independent Labour Party is sending a memorandum to the forthcoming International Socialist Congress declaring that revolution will not strengthen the Socialist movement. It asserts that the Parliamentary system is preferable to the Soviet form of Government for industrial democracy. The Party therefore rejects direct action, although the working classes may be compelled to resort thereto as a means to an end.

KILLED ON THE CONGO.

A telegram from the Belgian Congo states that Medical Director Armstrong and Cinematograph Director Stowell, of the American expedition sent out by the Smithsonian Institute, were killed in a railroad accident in Eugo forest. The expedition was undertaken to obtain films of the Congo and scientific information for the Smithsonian Institute.

PRINCE AND PREMIER.

The Prince of Wales, accompanied by Admiral Halsey, his Chief of Staff during his Canadian tour, took tea with Mr. Lloyd George at Downing Street on Thursday afternoon, remaining about an hour. It is believed the discussion was connected with matters arising out of his recent tour.

AMERICAN HARBOURS CONGESTED.

A New York telegram says that more than 250 vessels of every nationality are tied up in Port Norfolk, owing to lack of coal.

A resolution has been introduced into the United States Senate asking President Wilson to break off relations with Carranza.

The War Office announces that Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, left for Paris on Wednesday, having received an urgent summons to consult with Marshal Foch in connection with the Peace Treaty.

INDIAN HOME RULE.

ELECTIONS TO BE HELD NEXT YEAR.

The House of Commons, in Committee, discussed the Government of India Bill in the course of the debate. Mr. Montague, Secretary for India, said it was hoped to hold the elections in India next November and let the Legislative Assemblies meet on the 1st December. The Government intended to ask Parliament gradually to surrender its trusteeship in favour of the India electorate but that electorate had yet to be created. When once the Bill was passed the progress of India to complete self-government would be irresistible but the ship must not be overloaded at the outset.

A Labourite amendment to include Burma within the scope of the measure was withdrawn after Mr. Montague had stated that he agreed that Burma must get self-government analogous to India, subject to local differences.

PRISON FOR PROFITEERS.

LABOUR MEMBERS' INGENIOUS PLAN.

Manchester City Council considered on Wednesday a proposal to put representatives of retail traders on the Profiteering Committee.

Mr. J. Hart, a Labour member, said that the proposal was an attempt to put criminals on the jury. If there had been anything more unreasonable, more shameful, more unnecessary, and universal than the profiteering that was going on, he had not been able to discover it.

Only one profiteering case in 10,000 came before the tribunal.

He would give the first hundred profiteers one month's imprisonment, the next hundred six months, and the next hundred 12 months.

By the time they got to penalties of two years, profiteering would be wiped off the face of the earth. Fining a man was reducing the thing to a farce.

The proposal was defeated.

FRENCH LOTTERY.

FIRST PRIZE WON BY A FIRM.

The winner of the big lottery prize is not a private individual, but the textile company of Flers in the Orne.

The question arises whether the million will be regarded as part of the company's assets and taxed as war profit, in which case it would dwindle to one-fifth of the sum. It appears more likely, however, that the Treasury will levy a tax of 10 per cent. In any case, the firm intends to erect model dwellings for its employees out of the proceeds.

TRIAL OF EX-KAISER.

SIFTING THE EVIDENCE.

The Attorney-General, speaking at Pontypridd, declared that no dissensions or wavering existed as regards the proposals for the trial of the ex-Kaiser. The Law Officers continued to make the most careful and extensive preparations and over 50,000 written statements regarding the prosecution of war criminals had been examined.

TROPHIES FOR UNITED SERVICE MUSEUM.

The latest additions to the Museum of the Royal United Service Institution include the Ashanti War drum and sticks which were taken at Kumari and formed part of the loot captured from King Prempeh by the expedition under Colonel Sir Francis Scott in 1896. These trophies have been given by Lieutenant-General Sir R. Baden-Powell.

Another new exhibit is a double-bass made by a German prisoner of war at the 15th General Hospital at Etaples in 1918 from such material as broken tin boxes, picked up in the coal yard. This instrument was often played in the hospital band.

ALLENBY'S ORDER AGAINST FIREARMS.

A proclamation has been issued at Cairo withdrawing all existing firearm permits and ordering the resubmission of applications, with a warning that all found in possession of firearms without a permit are liable to trial by a military Court. This measure is taken with a view to coping with the firing on British troops.

Three thousand employees are on strike. They are demanding thirty-five per cent. increase of wages and a forty-four hour week.

"FORTUNES OF WAR."

EX-OFFICERS START COFFEE STALLS.

Three ex-officers have started a business with six coffee-stalls in populous districts of London. Each one is called "The Fortune of War" and is manned by ex-officers. Cleaner and better furnished, these stalls show great improvement as compared with the old type of coffee-stall.

THE NEAR EAST.

GRECIAN PREMIER ON FUTURE OF THRACE.

M. Venizelos, who returned to Athens on the 2nd December, received a remarkable ovation from the enormous crowd which assembled to welcome him. In the course of a speech he said that the removal of Bulgaria from the Aegean, and the occupation of Western Thrace by Greek and Allied troops would mark the beginning of the recognition of Greece's rights to Thrace. He said he was convinced that the frontiers in the Epirus would be extended to Chimora.

It was also apparent from the invitation to occupy certain districts in Asia Minor that the Supreme Council has already decided that Smyrna should ultimately be assigned to Greece. In conclusion, M. Venizelos said that the Greek State has become an important factor in the consolidation of the Near East.

MINERS STRIKE.

U.S. OFFICIALS TO BE ARRESTED.

Eighty-four officials of the United Mine Workers of America are to be charged with criminal contempt of court for violating the injunction for bidding officials to participate in the coal strike. The officials will be arrested as soon as possible. Among them are Messrs. Lewis and Green, respectively President and Secretary of the United Mine Workers.

GREAT SLUMP IN STERLING.

Another violent break occurred on Wall street on Wednesday, sterling and francs falling to fresh low levels. Business in sterling was on an enormous scale with numerous transactions of £100,000 each. Many orders were carried out through South American Banks.

NAVY OF THE FUTURE.

Sir Percy Scott spoke on "Probable Future Developments in the Navy" at an "At Home," given by Mrs. Ronald Greville, with the Waifs and Strays' Society, expressed his belief that submarines and aeroplanes would revolutionise naval warfare of the future. Of battleships costing seven millions he believed that no more would be built. Their place would be taken by submarines and aeroplanes, the latter capable of travelling one hundred and fifty miles an hour.

SOCIALIST SENTIMENT.

At a Socialist meeting of a very stormy character on Thursday night it was decided to postpone the cessation of the strike in Rome until after the funeral of a young workman who was killed during a demonstration.

PARTIAL IRISH JURIES.

According to the "Morning Post" the Government has abolished trial by jury in certain areas of Ireland and substituted a Commission of three judges to try criminals.

DRAGOON GUARDS SAFE.

The War Office states that there is no foundation for a statement published by a morning paper that three Regiments of Dragoon Guards are to be disbanded.

CHINESE MURDERER HANGED.

Djang Djing Sung, a Chinaman, was executed at Worcester Gaol yesterday morning for the murder of a fellow-countryman, named Zee Ming Wu, at Warley, near Birmingham.

It will be recalled that Djang Djing Sung was arrested in London when trying to obtain the dead man's savings from the Post Office.

OFFICERS WANTED FOR INDIA.

The Secretary of State for India announces that a number of ex-officers with service in the recent war are required for temporary service in the Infantry branch of the Indian Army.

Mr. Lloyd George has made a donation of £2,000 to the Church Army.

The revised Navy Estimates show a net total of £157,528,800.

Asked by the Battersea Coroner how much he had spent to get drunk one night, a witness replied: "Twelveshillings." "The Coroner: All on Government ale! Then you must have drunk a barrel-full."

FATAL INFLUENZA.

ENTIRE COMMUNITIES WIPED OUT.

The ravages of influenza among the Eskimos of Labrador are described in a missionary's letter published yesterday. He says that on arriving at his village headquarters, "to our great surprise none came to meet us. Leaving our dogs, we went forward to investigate. Every house was full of dead. In one house I found five dead bodies, neatly habited for burial, laid side by side on the floor, and on the bed several young children lay dead beside what seemed to be their mother, evidently the last one to die. Possibly it was she who had dressed the bodies for the grave before she died. My men fled in terror from the place. At Okkak and all the adjoining settlements dead lay in numbers in every conceivable attitude."

MORE CORK OUTRAGES.

COLONEL DEPRIVED OF HIS GUN.

Further outbreaks of lawlessness are reported from Cork.

When returning from a day's shooting near Donoughmore, Colonel Sandford was held up by a party of men, who covered him with revolvers and deprived him of his gun.

A party of armed and disguised men entered the house of Mrs. Dillon, Magazine-road, Cork, and made a thorough search for arms, but found none.

Christopher Lucey and Timothy Noonan, two civilians, residing in the city, have been sentenced, by order of a district court-martial, to one year's imprisonment, for having arms and ammunition in their possession. The latter defendant had 31 sticks of gelignite and 63 rifle cartridges.

VIOLENT WAITER.

ATTACK IN A JEWELLER'S SHOP.

Shown some tie-pins in a jeweller's shop, near the Royal Exchange, James Tynan, a waiter, disapproved of them. The salesman, Charles Munro, sixty, turned to replace the pins in the window, and was struck violently from behind on the back of the head. Though momentarily dazed, Munro seized Tynan and shouted for help, and a colleague found Tynan holding the salesman over the flap of the counter "as though he wanted to break his back." Tynan was arrested, and on Thursday at the Mansion House was committed for trial on a charge of unlawfully wounding Munro with a hammer.

170,000 EX-SERVICE MEN WORKLESS.

Captain Hart, of the Ministry of Labour, appealing at Denton to a meeting of manufacturers and employers representative of hatting (the staple trade), cotton, and engineering to find work for disabled ex-service men, said there were 170,000 of these still unabsorbed. Mr. J. A. Bardsley promised for the hatting trade that eleven ex-Service men formerly employed in it should be found work, and alluding to complaints made by a Labour deputation that women were still employed in engineering who should be sent back to the hatting trade, said the women would not return. He suggested deputations of employers to district firms which had not reinstated ex-Service men.

AUSTRALIAN ITEMS.

The Nationalist Party in New South Wales has approved the Government's proposal to subsidise children in excess of two in any family.

The Victoria Legislative Assembly has rejected by 33 votes to 23 a proposal for Nationalisation of the Liquor trade.

"PUSSYFOOT'S" GENEROSITY.

Mr. "Pussyfoot" Johnson will leave the nursing home to-day. He has expressed a wish that the sum of £320 raised by the "Evening News," as a testimonial to his pluck, shall be handed to St. Dunstan's Hostel for the Blind.

ENEMY CRIMINALS ON THE LIST.

Replying to a question in the House of Commons Mr. Lloyd George said that the final lists of enemy subjects whose surrender will be called for are now under consideration. It is not at present desirable to state their number or how many of them are in the hands of the Allies.

MEXICO'S COMIC SOLDIERY.

General Villa has been captured by a force of his own men, who are holding him for a reward from the Mexican Government.

RATIFICATION OF PEACE.

The Peace Treaty with Germany will probably be ratified before the end of the year, says Mr. Lloyd George.

Düsseldorf Socialists and Independents refused the use of the Town Hall for the installation of the new Upper Burgomaster because the Kaiser portraits have not yet been removed.

SUMMARY COURT.

THE BRITISH CRAVING FOR FRESH AIR.

There was quite an unusual atmosphere about the Summary Court yesterday. Three English ladies were present, a few English men of business and a large sprinkling of officers.

Travelling from Bonn to Cologne by train, in company with an English lady from the British Empire Leave Club, an officer, at the lady's request, opened two of the ventilators, as the atmosphere was almost stifling. Karl Hoering, of 2 Alteburgerstrasse, who was in the same compartment, objected. He called the officer "a British swine", and used other insulting remarks. When the conductor came in to shut the ventilators, the officer again opened them, whereupon Hoering again objected and placed his hand on the officer's shoulder in a threatening manner.

The officer's story was borne out by the lady from the Leave Club. She speaks German fluently and stated that Hoering's speech and behaviour was very impertinent.

The Presiding Officer said that the trouble evidently arose through the German prejudice in favour of foul air and the extraordinary liking that English people have for fresh air.

A fine of 200 marks was imposed.

A VARIED ASSORTMENT.

A miscellaneous hoard was found in possession of Gerhard Wolff of 55 Kempenerstrasse, Nippes, including 1 Cardigan, 1 Cap Comforter, 2lbs bacon, some English cigarettes, 1 loaded revolver and a German hand grenade.

In accounting for the articles he said he bought the cardigan for 25 marks and declared that every civilian in Nippes was wearing one. His object in having the revolver was to frighten people, he said, as he lived in a very dangerous quarter.

The Presiding Officer, pointing out that a number of outrages had occurred recently, fined Wolff 2,500 marks, or one month's imprisonment.

LATE HOURS AT THE LUISENHOF.

The proprietor of the Luisenhof in Ehrenstrasse was charged with permitting civilians to be on his premises at 11.15 p.m. There was a previous conviction against him for a similar offence. When he was asked by a police sergeant to account for the presence of the men on the premises he stated that he was too busy otherwise to see that the house was closed at 11 o'clock.

He was fined 5,000 marks or six weeks imprisonment.

SOVIET PROPAGANDA.

OMINOUS ACTIVITY IN TURKESTAN.

The latest reports from Turkestan show the extent to which the Leninites are influencing the Moslem population and the effect of their propaganda. Processions over a mile long traversed the streets, consisting of tens of thousands of Russians and Mussulmans, with a Mussulman band playing the Internationale and La Marseillaise.

A significant feature of the celebration was the participation of thirty Moslem proletariat organisations, and 10,000 Moslem children carrying pictures of Lenin and Trotzky.

Indirect news of a similar celebration at Moscow shows that the Afghan Mission was present. The Afghan emissary in a speech expressed confidence in the conclusion of an Alliance between Afghanistan and Soviet Russia.

MEAT CONTROL TO CEASE.

The control of meat will probably be removed before the end of December. Whatever decision is reached concerning its future, the Food Ministry will not close before summer or autumn next year.

OBDURATE IRONMOULDERS.

Negotiations for a conference between the employers and Unions concerned in the ironmoulders dispute have again broken down.

PLAYING CARDS FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL.

After a warm discussion, the Wesleyans at Wilmslow, Cheshire, have decided in favour of allowing card playing and dancing in their Sunday-schools.

Rev. J. Percy, the resident pastor, supported the proposal, Cards, he said, were played in the home by good people, and if it could be done in the home it could be done in the church. The home was as sacred as the church.

COLLIERS' EXPENSIVE JOKE.

Damage to the extent of £80 was done by three colliers, who, going home at midnight from a dance in Sunderland, amused themselves by breaking windows and otherwise injuring the fronts of houses they passed. Including the fines imposed at the police-court, their evening's amusement will cost them £90.

TWO ANONYMOUS £20,000 GIFTS.

An anonymous donation of £20,000 was received on Thursday by the Royal Infirmary, Liverpool. An anonymous gift for a similar sum was sent on Tuesday to a Manchester hospital.

£10,000 FLIGHT.

ROSS-SMITH'S BRILLIANT EFFORT.

The fifth competitor for the ten thousand pounds Australian flight, Captain C. E. Howell, left Hounslow on Thursday morning, on a Martinsyde aeroplane, accompanied by Private Fraser as mechanic.

Captain Ross Smith, piloting the Vickers-Vimy machine on the flight to Australia, landed at Rangoon on the 30th November and the Frenchman Poulet arrived forty-five minutes later. Both started for Bangkok simultaneously on the 1st December. Captain Ross Smith is expected to reach Port Darwin to-day (Saturday), well inside the thirty days stipulated by the conditions of the contest.

(Captain Smith left Hounslow on the 12th November and Poulet left Paris in mid-October.

The Air Ministry has received a message from Italy saying that the Blackburn Kangaroo aeroplane arrived at Tarat on Wednesday afternoon and intended proceeding to Suvla Bay on Thursday, weather permitting.

RYE WHISKY.

CAUSES GREAT INCREASE IN GLASGOW DRUNKENNESS.

A great increase in drunkenness in Glasgow is reported by the police, who estimate that the number of arrests lately has increased by 400 per cent.

They believe that the larger allowance of spirits has had less effect than the importation of whisky from Canada and the United States. It is described as worse than raw grain spirit, and it is alleged that American rye is sold as imported, or blended with a proportion of home whisky.

American rye costs about 9s. 6d. a gallon, against 20s. for native spirit, and despite the heavier duty, imported whisky is meeting with a ready demand.

PARLIAMENT.

IRISH BILL FOR NEXT SESSION.

The Prime Minister announced in the House of Commons that he hoped to introduce the Irish Bill during the week after next and he hoped Parliament would be prorogued on the 23rd December until probably early in February. The Irish Bill and other measures would be carried over into next session by a special suspensory resolution.

NURSE CAVELL'S BETRAYER.

DEATH SENTENCE QUASHED.

The sentence of death passed on the informer Quien by the Sixth Court-martial on the charge of having denounced Nurse Cavell has been quashed by the revising court. He will be tried again by the First Court-martial on December 10.—

AUSTRALIAN FLIGHT.

Captain Matthews and Sergeant Kay, of the Australian Air Force, who started from Hounslow on the Australian flight on October 21st, landed at Vienna last Sunday, owing to bad weather and lack of petrol, coming from Mainz. They are proceeding to Belgrade. Captain Matthews said his journey was hampered for several days by ground mists, but he hoped to make faster time when he was out of Europe. He expected with luck to overtake his competitor in the Vickers-Vimy machine.

STRIKE AT THE STORES.

At a mass meeting of the strikers at the Army and Navy Stores yesterday it was unanimously decided not to return to work until the full demands had been conceded. Mr Hoffman, Organising Secretary of the Shop Assistants Union, said that whether the strike lasted a day or a week they must never return to the miserable conditions to which they had hitherto been subject (loud cheers).

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

Business hung heavily in consequence of adverse movements in rates exchange and pressure of Continental selling. British Funds were further affected by fears that under the Government Housing Scheme whereby local authorities will be allowed to borrow at 5½ per cent. free of income tax small holders will realise their holdings of Government securities and re-invest under the new scheme. Business in foreign securities was difficult to negotiate. Textiles were a good feature among industrials. Gold minings were firm with a broadening demand for the lower priced shares. Oils, after some irregularity, closed harder. Mexican Eagle Oil offer shareholders one new ordinary 10 pesos share at par for every two shares held. Marconi wireless offer shareholders one new ordinary share at £3 for each share held. The Money Market was better on the Bank of England return disclosing an increased reserve. Spot silver advanced to 75 pence on trade demand but declined to 73½ on an improvement in the American exchange. Gold to a fair amount was taken for india and the trade at 106s. 6d.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS
FLIGHTS LTD
MILITARY TAILORS
LONDON, WINCHESTER, ALDERSHOT.

Owing to military requirements Mr. A. J. R. Lee has been compelled to change his address to
KRONPRINZ HOTEL
(Behind The Excelsior Hotel)
where he will have his usual excellent selection of material, both for Mufti and Uniform, also a stock of Hosiery of the best quality.
LATE OF THE OFFICERS' CLUB No. 1.

SPARKES HALL
308 REGENT ST. LONDON W.
and
4. AVENUE FRIEDLAND, Paris
ROOM 71, DISCH HOTEL
Brückenstr. COLOGNE
(Next Door to N.A.C.B. Canteen)
FIELD, HUNTING & POLO BOOTS
Hand-Sewn Field Boots, Civilian Boots, Shoes and Pumps made to order and delivered to Germany in 18 days or in England in 10 days.

ZEISS-GLASSES
If you want
EYE GLASSES
come to
S. Goldfinger, G.m.b.H.
Hohestr. 88 Optician Hohestr. 88
We test your eyes in specially fitted rooms.

SIB. MÜLLER
Leather - Travelling - Articles
COLOGNE
Corner Andreaskloster
opposite the Officer's Club
(Ewige Lampe)
undertakes all repairs.

Where can I get my Photo work done?
at the:—
Kölner Photo & Kino Centrale
Neumarkt 32—34.
All repairs done to Kodaks, Ica, Zeiss, Goerz, Ernemann Cameras & Cinema machines.
English spoken.

ANOTHER N. A. C. B. SERVICE
BOOT REPAIRS-
Men's, Women's, Children's.
Tie a label on and leave at the new Department Stores, 27 Obenmarspforten.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

12th SPECIAL SUNDAY CONCERT
Deutsches Theatre. Bismarckstr.
SUNDAY NEXT, Dec. 7th at 6 p.m.
BALLAD CONCERT
HANS CLEMENS
Lyrical Tenor Cologne Opera
KARL RENNER
Principal Lyrical Baritone at Opera House
MISS AUDREY ESMOND
Contralto. London Concerts
HANS FRITZ REHBOLD
The well-known Cologne Pianist.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.
Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc., Staff instructor in attendance.

Church of England Services in Cologne.

THE GARRISON CHURCH (C. of E.) Schildergasse
SUNDAY Dec. 7th ADVENT II.
Holy Communion: 8.00, 11.30, 19.00 hrs.
PARADE SERVICE. 10.30 hrs.
EVENING SERVICE. 18.00 hrs.
Preacher: REV. J. GRUNDY C.F.
Chaplain to the 52nd Bn. Rifle Brigade.
CHILDREN'S SERVICE: (Loreley Hall, Y.M.C.A. Central, Friesenstr.) 14.30 hrs.
Wednesdays: Dec. 10th, HOLY COMMUNION 8.00 hrs.

CHURCH ARMY CHAPEL, HOTEL DU NORD. Sundays 8.00.
HOLY COMMUNION: Tuesday and Friday 7.30.

Church of England Services in Bonn

IN GARRISON CHURCH, BONN.
SUNDAYS: Holy Communion 7-30, 8-00, 11-45, and 18-45 hours.
Parade Service (Corps) at 10-00 hours.
Parade Service (Div.) at 11-00 hours.
Evening Service at 18-00 hours.
Organ Recital every Sunday from 17-45 to 18-00 hours.
WEEK-DAYS: Holy Communion Daily 7-45 hours.
excepting on Thursday when it is at 10-30 hours.
Evening Prayers at 18.00 hours excepting on Thursday.
IN BEETHOVEN-HALL, BONN.
SUNDAYS: Evening Service at 18-30 hours followed by celebration of Holy Communion at 19 30 hours.

Catholic Services in Cologne on Sundays.

COLOGNE, CATHEDRAL
Mass in Cathedral at 8 a.m. (north Transept) High Mass in Cathedral at 9-15 a.m.
Parade Mass in Minoritenkirche (Minoritenstr.), 2 minutes from Cathedral at 10 a.m.
Rosary and Benediction in Minoritenkirche at 7 p.m. Confessions in Cathedral on Saturdays from 5—7 p.m.

Scottish Churches and English Free Churches.

THE MILITARY CHURCH.
6 Filzengraben (Turning off Heumarkt.)
Sunday, 7th December
11 a.m. Preacher: Rev. G. A. SEATH, C. F.
(Garrison Chaplain.)
6 p.m. Rev. G. L. Robinson S.C.F.

Welsh Service 2.30 p.m. in Y.M.C.A. Central.

Please ask for:
DEUTZ & GELDERMANN
First-class Champagne
FRANZ JOSEF ROETTGEN, COLOGNE, General Agent.

Directly opposite the Dom and Main Station.
Special House for Amateur Photography
ANDREAS PILLEN
I. COLOGNE, Deichmannhaus, opposite the Dom & Main Station.
II. COLOGNE, Hohenzollernring 70.
Big depot for Ica, Goerz, Zeiss, Ernemann, & Nettel Cameras.
Projectors and Cinema Apparatus.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstrasse
To-night at 6.00 p.m.
British Rhine Army Dramatic Coy.
Present
"LADY FREDERICK"
By W. SOMERSET MAUGHAM.
including
MISS DECIMA MOORE, C.B.E.
in her original part as LADY FREDERICK.
Book at Amusements Office.
Monday and Tuesday next Dec. 8th and 9th, 1919 by special request, Revival of
GENERAL POST
A Comedy in three Acts,
by J. E. HAROLD TERRY
Wednesday Dec. 10th, First Production of
THE SINGER OF THE VELDT
by MISS INEZ BENSUSAN.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.
To-night at 6 p.m.
Owing to continued popularity and success
RETURN VISIT OF Mr. ALFRED HURLEY'S LONDON VARIETY COMPANY
ARTISTES:
Mr. WARWICK PRICE
Entertainer at Piano from St. George's Hall, London
Miss GWLADYS STANLEY
Soubrette, Central Pier, Blackpool 1919
Mr. POWELL EASTBURY
Baritone & Humourist
Miss MARJORIE BOWYA
Soprano & Violinist
Miss MARGUERITE De LARA
Prestidigitator and
Miss MARJORIE BOWYA & Mr. POWELL EASTBURY
in a Pot Pourri of Rags & Gags.
Complete Charge of Programme.
Prices 10 Mks. 6 Mks. 3 Mks.

No: 1 ARMY CINEMA. (The Boys). 3 Komödienstrasse
No: 2 ARMY CINEMA. (Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.
No: 3 ARMY CINEMA. (Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
CINEMA
Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post
Telephones: Military, No. 659. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S.40, British Army of the Rhine.

Saturday, December 6, 1919.

THE OPEN DOOR.

During the past century the door of learning has been opened wide to the masses. The philanthropy of men like Carnegie, who has built stocked libraries all over the United Kingdom, and the action of public bodies, realising the people's needs who are maintaining libraries, has enabled even the poorest classes to obtain access to books of all kinds.

During the war, enforced idleness was the means of introducing to many the delight of books. Reading is one of the few good habits that grow on one, and a taste for literature once aroused is almost bound to develop. Space and time have no real meaning in the world of books.

One can dive back into the middle age, and sally forth seeking adventures with Sir Galahad; can amuse oneself at the strange customs of the Chinese. One can study thoughts expressed by those who have been gifted with great power of expression. He may marvel at the wonders of Italian scenery or linger with the peasant at the little crucifix on a shady road in Normandy. With Columbus he may discover America, or go with Scott to the Antartic regions.

He may with Shakespeare make merry, and at the same time cannot fail to realise the beauty of our English language. Thus he may philosophise with carlyle—there is no end to spheres open to book-lovers. Good books, it has been said, are like a walled garden, wherein a child may safely play.

The discriminating reader has the whole world at his feet, he is interested and educated at once. The key to power is knowledge, and he who reads is for ever gleaning information. Here, on the Rhine, there is no dearth of facilities for reading, nor can excuse be found with regard to lack of time. During the summer months, of course, sport claimed the off duty hours—but now this is not the case.

That a large number of the troops here are occupying their spare time in reading is obvious from the letters which have appeared in our columns, on "Do we read too much"? and by the large number of attendants at the "Cologne Post" Bookroom in the Arcade, Hohestrasse, at the Y.M.C.A. Bookshop, and at various other institutions.

There is no limit to the possibilities of a nation of readers,—for readers must become thinkers,—to a nation whose views are broad and whose ideals are lofty, and there is no finer aid to these than books.

LEAVE IN FRANCE.

Of all the towns in France familiar to British troops, there surely can be none so full of vivid memories to thousands of Englishment as that of Rouen.

As a British Base during the War, it was second to none in importance on the Lines of Communication, and for four years there were quartered in this ancient town and vicinity approximately eighty thousand troops. Truly, a large number. Indeed, writers in the German Press were actually advertising the fact that Rouen was becoming more and more a British town, in a vain endeavour to create an unfriendly spirit between us and our French Allies.

Probably many members of the Rhine Army were at some time or other quartered round about this town and they will well remember the old familiar sights of age-long memories.

Rouen prospered greatly under British "occupation." French shopkeepers and café proprieters quicky adapted themselves to the exclusive whims of the British soldier, and it was an unchallengable fact that one could seek and always find in this city of Joan of Arc.

In many different directions the prosperity of Rouen was increased by the supply of Mr. Atkins' wants, and the tramway receipts alone jumped up in leaps and bounds. The Corporation during the War was obliged to increase its numbers of cars on the Bonsecours route for this beautiful trip was an objective, common to all.

Places of amusement benefited enormously whilst such places as the Tivoli Music Hall and Folies-Bergere were catering almost exclusively for British troops.

The writer of this article is acquainted with one French Picture House proprieter who came to Rouen during the early part of the war quite penniless. In co-partnership, he opened a well advertised shop selling nothing but postcards and silk works of art, etc. His next extension of business was to build a Cinema House in the rue Jeanne d'Arc, one of the main streets, on which he lavished the whole of his capital. At first it did not pay, then gradually his audiences increased as he had managed to secure the best orchestra in the town. For a long period right up past the Armistice his theatre was always filled with an audience mostly of khaki, and now he, at least, realizes how Tommy brought prosperity in his trail.

Rouen still continues a busy port, thriving with activity, but to-day there is a marked change. A recent week-end visit made by the writer revealed a great difference. No longer are the familiar khaki figures seen, passing along the Quais, whilst such streets as the rue Jeanne d'Arc, rue Grand-Pont and rue de la Grosse-Horloge, which for over four years were bustling thoroughfares for British soldiers, are now practically devoid of khaki.

Our French friends are the first to see the change. A sure sign that the commerce of the town had received a setback is now to be observed in the ever increasing number of notices over cafés stating "Changement de Proprietaire." Houses, which a year ago thrived with business, are to-day deserted and so are changing hands.

Not a few demobilized Tommies have settled down in Rouen, marrying French girls and taking over the business of the estaminet, but will they continue long to habituate themselves to their new new environment now that their khaki colleagues have left them.

Rouen still retains its souvenir of "les soldats anglais" in the large camp given over to the French Authorities at Champ de Courses and also in the great number of huts scattered over its suburbs.

In times yet to come, old associations will again be renewed, and though there will be an absence of old familiar faces, yet the town will preserve ever its same appearance, and who knows but that the famous No 12 Car route will continue to carry its war made passengers, making their pilgrimage to the beautifully kept British cemetry which is situated at the terminus of this tramway track.

Was it more than instinct which bade the Rouennaise say "Au revoir" to their khaki friends, and not "Adieu!"

UNION JACK.

THE TINKER.

Have you been condemned to work with one of those misguided people whose sole aim and object in this life it is to tinker with everything of a mechanical nature, in their endeavour to find out "how it works," or perchance to invent some improvement that they in their misguided judgment consider will have far reaching effects in improving the same.

I do not for one moment doubt that somewhere on this planet there are people serving in such humble capacities as road sweepers or dustmen who are capable, with the necessary nurturing, of inventing improvements on sausage-grinding machines or cheese parers, but the particular brand of idiot I refer to is most emphatically not capable of doing these things and is in fact not fit to be at large in this, the 20th Century.

From the intricate mechanism of a typewriter to the fragile globes and switches of the electric lighting set of our office, our particular misguided genius considers it his duty to take a hand in righting any wrongs, or at least of attempting to.

What matters it to him if after half an hour of trying to right a defect in the typewriter there is a sudden whirl as of an aeroplane engine going "all out," as the original defect is obliterated entirely in a tangle of broken springs and other oddments resulting from his efforts?

"The spring has gone," he will remark with a knowing smile.

How you wish he would go to—to a spot suitable for his kind.

But electric lights are his pet hobby.

Unfortunately we have a lighting set that takes a devilish delight in going wrong just at the time when it should be going right.

With the same persistency that night follows day, just as the shades of night are falling fast, out go our lights.

The various expressions that always follow this event light up the room for a moment or two, but even they die out before the next act in the great nightly drama takes place.

Here he comes.

With an instinct that is almost uncanny and almost before the lights have gone out, our genius has disappeared, and is now heard staggering into the darkened room with a step ladder.

He gets to work.

Various sounds of, "Ah! I thought so!" are heard proceeding from the top rung of the ladder.

A feeble flicker of acknowledgment of his efforts takes place. For two whole seconds the lights come on, showing him perched aloft with a look of deep knowledge on his face, reminiscent of a Professor of Geology.

Out go the lights again. He descends from the ladder, re-adjusts its position, knocking over sundry inkpots and other accessories in the attempt.

But he is oblivious to such minor happenings.

Once more aloft. But we have grown tired of his unfruitful efforts and have produced candles to carry on with.

He descends again to re-adjust the ladder, and is no sooner done than, as if in derision of his attempts, the lights come on again.

But I regret to say that our genius came to an untimely cessation of his activities. He failed to adjust his ladder properly at the last performance and came down in company with the chandelier. Even so, as he was being put on the stretcher he could not resist the temptation to remark audibly of improvements he could make in Army stretchers.

HAWKEYE.

ON THREE FRONTS.

The varied experiences met with during service in France, at Gallipoli and at Kut are dealt with in a staccato but none the less interesting manner in a recently published book. "Mons, Anzac and Kut," by an M. P. (Edward Arnold, 14/- net.)

The hospitality of the French at Le Havre is dealt with in the opening chapter. What a time the "Old Contemptibles" must have had — but what odds they found and how well they faced them.

The difference in warfare as they found it in September 1914 to the Trench warfare of 1916 is emphasised in the following passage: "As we crossed the frontier the men wanted to cheer, they were ordered to be quiet, so as not to let the Germans hear them." This order gave an unpleasant impression of the proximity of the Germans. The men began to fall out a great deal on the road. The heat was very great. Many of the reservists were soft, and their feet found them out. Their rough clothes rubbed them. Tom carried rifles all day, and I carried rifles and kit on my horse, while the men held on to the stirrups."

A SAUCEPAN'S FAMILY.

"M.P.," after being taken prisoner and retaken by the French, had a short stay in hospital after which he is sent to Egypt. Like most troops en route for the Peninsula he spent some time at Lemnos. Amongst his adventures here, the following gives an idea of the workings of an Eastern mind.

"After lunch I went to see the Mayor, to help me buy all that I wanted. He was rather shaky as to his position, as Lemnos has not yet been recognised by us as Greek, and our recognition was contingent on the behaviour of the Greek Government. He was a good linguist, talking French well, a little English, Italian, Greek, Turkish and Arabic. I think it was he who quoted to me the story of the Khoja Nasr-ed-Din. Nasr-ed-Din was lent a saucepan by a friend; he returned it with another small saucepan saying it had produced a child. Next year the friend offered a huge saucepan at the same date, which the friend considered the breeding time for saucepans. Later on when his friend applied for the return of the saucepan Nasr-ed-Din said, "It is dead." His friend expostulated: "How can a saucepan die?" "Well," said Nasr-ed-Din, "if it could have a child why can't it die?"

FLIES!!

"Mespots" was seen as a liason and intelligence officer, and the author tells how food was sent by aeroplane to our troops imprisoned in Kut.

No pen can exaggerate the hardships and physical discomforts our troops experienced in the east. The heat, the lack of water—the flies. This is another extract. "We rode across the bridge to General Younghusband's H. Q. Nothing that I've ever seen or dreamed of came up to the flies. They hatched out until they were almost the air. They were in myriads; the horses were half mad. The flies were mostly tiny. They rolled up in little balls when one passed one's hand across one's sweating face. They were on your eyelids and lashes and in your lips and nostrils. We could not speak for them and could hardly see."

Space will not permit of our dealing more fully with the book, which i spite of (or perhaps because of) the "report" like brevity of some sentences, creates a very real picture of the writer's experiences.

W.K.

I WONDER.

The girl next door,
Gets lovely poems from her boy, and flowers.
He sends her lilies for her snow-white arms,
Roses as emblems of the happy hours.

They spend together.
She thinks him awful clever, but she'd like
Peppermint creams, and movies, and to talk
Of common things, and call her dog a Tike.

While my young man,
Likes haddock with his tea, and "half and half"
And when the stars' way up 'most make ME cry
He says I'm such a goose I make HIM laugh.

What do you think
Will happen when we're spliced up, two and two,
And I'm chained down to get a tasty meal
And she's chained up to flowers and silver dew?

E.M.S.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

Our Readers' Varied Views.

A GENEROUS OFFER.

Sir,—"H.C.W." appeals, to Padres and educational officers to provide more of what one might term "industrial amusements" in order to keep our young soldiers from "loafing."

Now I am neither a Padre nor an educational officer, but the nature of my duties is such that I am more or less confined to camp for about a third of my time.

I have been therefore considering the formation of a small class of instruction in motor car upkeep and driving for beginners only. This would not be anything in the nature of a "course," and would of necessity be limited to a small number.

If any "bona fide" young soldiers, preferably those who know nothing about the subject, but would like to learn, are interested, perhaps they would drop me a line, care of the Editor, and I could arrange to talk matters over with them.

MAGNET.

B.R.A.D.C. DRESSES.

Sir,—It is rarely indeed that the Rhine Army Dramatic Company is guilty of faulty dressing in its productions and one is all the more surprised, therefore, to observe in this week's performance at the Deutsches Theatre a very glaring error.

"Lady Frederick" was written before the war and yet we see one of the chief characters appear in khaki uniform complete with wound stripes and new medal ribbons. A civilian suit would surely be more suitable.

S.T.

SAFER TRAMWAYS.

Sir,—So your correspondent "Bolivar" has travelled the world over, has he?

Sure and be jabers he must have left old Ireland out of his itinerary for when I was a schoolboy in Dublin we had the double deck tram system on every route bar one and the exception was the one that led out to Beggars Bush barracks.

Incidentally we used to think—and I think so still-that the Dublin system was second to none in Europe even with Cologne thrown in.

Methinks "Bolivar's" "world" has been a narrow and restricted one, but I'm glad he observes things.

There's hopes for him yet.

COLLEGE GREEN.

THE CHILDREN'S CHRISTMAS.

Sir,—On the afternoon of December 24th there will be a Christmas Tree and entertainment for the children in attendance at the Cologne School for British children, to which we propose to invite all other British children in Cologne and its neighbourhood, and their parents.

In order that we may have the pleasure of sending invitations to all such children, we shall be glad if their parents will notify the fact of the children's residence here and their ages, at the earliest possible date to the Assistant Chaplain-General, 79 Johannis Strasse.

This entertainment is being arranged by a small Committee nominated by and as representing the Church on one hand and the School on the other; and, as it appropriate, it will be held in the Loreley Hall of the Cologne Central Y.M.C.A.

J. D. S. PARRY EVANS.
ALEX. FRANCIS.
Joint Secretaries.

CIVILIANS AND THE CLUB.

Sir,—I think as an ex-officer I ought to bring before my comrades still serving, the treatment meted out to us by the N.A.C.B. While not used to grousing myself, I feel sure that it is necessary to bring to the notice of officers serving, that ex-officers are forbidden to enter the N.A.C.B. Clubs except when the guest, of an officer.

Considering the amount of money spent by officers during the war I think it is only fair that they should be permitted to use the club. To us as civilians, the Rhineland is not kind in the matter of the English dish, and for the few visits I personally, and one or two others make to the Officers' Club, it is quite a luxury, to obtain white bread and meat.

I feel the only remedy for this attitude to bona fide ex-officers in that they might apply to the President of the Club or have their names submitted for election as members. I have repeatedly asked at the N.A.C.B. Headquarters for a pass to use the Club, and have been told that I cannot obtain one.

While I recognise that all civilians cannot be permitted to use the Club, I think that those who have served their country, might at least be permitted to enjoy the comfort of the Club now, when things have become more or less status quo.

1914—1915.

TO HER, AFAR.

The lights are out, and the long day's over;
The soul may see where the eye must fail;
My heart goes forth as an eager rover
And pierces the Night's dark veil.

It homes to its Nest like a bird returning
From desolate places Love can but shun,
To the dear Abode that, with welcome burning,
Is Heaven and Earth in one.

A flicker of flame from the dying fire
Lights up Your face and Your dear, dark eyes
And joins Your longing to my desire,
Your pray'rs to my yearning sighs.

I am here by Your side, O my Sweetest, Rarest;
You may not see me; but can You guess
What thoughts are folding you round, my Fairest?—
(I think that You whisper,—"Yes!")

The fairy forms that their guard are keeping
O'er You who are fairer by far than they,
Shall watch and bless You, as, softly sleeping,
You wait for the Dawn of Day.

The flame dies down; and the black, dull Curtain
Of Night and of Distance falls round me here:
You are far from me, in a world uncertain—
I am lonely, my Very Dear!

Q.W.

DISAPPOINTING BECKETT.

Frenchman Wins Fight with Single Punch.

THE CONTEST DESCRIBED.

As announced in the "Cologne Post" yesterday the great fight at the Holborn Stadium on Thursday evening resulted in a victory for Georges Carpentier, of France, the champion of Europe, Joe Beckett, the English champion, from whom so much was expected, being counted out in the first round.

To say that the result came as a surprise is to put it very mildly; it was something in the nature of shock to the many supporters of Beckett to find that he could not stand up against the Frenchman for more than one and a half minutes.

While in France they remained true to their idol and would not hear of his defeat, the general opinion in England was that the result would be a win for Beckett, many eminent authorities predicting success by a knock-out before the tenth round. And there was undoubtedly justification for such a supposition.

Carpentier has achieved nothing of note for five years, his recent defeat of Dick Smith in Paris being by no means a convincing performance.

Taken on Trust.

There were many "wise prophets" who predicted a deterioration in his skill and argued that he had lost much of his old power and sting. We were, so to speak, taking him on trust with only the brilliant performances of pre-war days as a guide to his present capabilities.

In the case of Beckett it was quite unnecessary to go back five years for argument in his favour; only the past twelve months. While it has to be admitted that his early history is not without blemishes, the remarkable strides he made in a short time, as evidenced by convincing defeats of Wells, Goddard and McGoorty warranted the confidence so freely invested in him and justified the high hopes that he would go far to retrieve Great Britain's failing fame in the world of boxing.

Consequently his defeat and in such summary fashion has been a keen disappointment to Britishers, and unless some second reason can be advanced for his failure, and this seems very unlikely, it will mean that we shall have to search for yet another idol upon whom to lavish hopes of European and world success. The British public, however, are exceedingly generous in such matters and it may be that as in the case of Bdr. Billy Wells, Beckett will not yet get the cast off, but will be given an opportunity to atone for Thursday night's debacle.

Beckett's Future.

According to many sound judges the Englishman has not yet reached the zenith of his boxing capabilities and it is argued that he is still making rapid improvement in style and generalship. If such judgment is correct Beckett may even now make good and profit by the experience of his first meeting with Carpentier.

We have previously referred in these columns to the magnitude of the benefits accruing from a victory in the contest. Carpentier will now automatically pass on to a meeting with Dempsey for the world's championship as a result of which, whether win, lose or draw, he will reap a small fortune.

What are his chances in such a meeting? On Thursday night's showing the prospects of his success appear particularly bright, and there can be little doubt that he will be solidly supported by boxing enthusiasts on this side of the Atlantic when the fight takes place.

There is one thing the result has established beyond all dispute. The Frenchman, despite all disquieting rumours to the contrary, has not been adversely affected by the period of enforced boxing inactivity necessitated by the war. To so easily defeat the best that Britain could provide, points rather to an improvement upon previous form, and is ample evidence that he possesses a punch capable of quieting the biggest man who has ever entered a ring.

Fine Physique.

Beckett is no weakling, he is a wonderful specimen of physique, strong as a bull dog and as determined, and yet he went under to a single punch in the short space of one and a half minutes.

And what does the verdict mean to the Englishman? It means that the reputation he had so creditably won and had taken such pains to build up, was shattered in that fateful first round. Now he will have to commence the building process again and start almost where he did a year ago. Reputations are hard to win and easy to lose.

What they said.

Of the fitness of the men on entering the ring there can be no doubt, and no excuse on this score will be advanced by the Southampton man. He had trained religiously and well and was stated to be as fit as ever in his life. In his message to the press prior to the fight he said:—

I am fit and well and am now eager to take the ring for what will be the most important contest of my boxing career. Though I cannot wish my opponent the best of luck at this stage, I hope that he will be as fit as I am to-morrow night, and that we shall have a good fight, and that the better man will win.

The modest message respecting Carpentier was equally convincing. It ran:—

Georges is fit and well. Should he be defeated, he will be the first to admit that he has met a better man. There will be no ill-feeling afterwards.

The result is yet further testimony to the uncertainty surrounding all heavyweight contests. This fight, had it gone the full distance, would have taken one hour, and yet it was all over in less than two minutes. It must have been a cruelly disappointing affair to those at the ring side, many of whom had paid £25 to witness what promised to be one of the greatest fights ever staged.

THE FIGHT.

Naturally there is very little to say about the fight itself.

Beckett was first in the ring, and was given a rousing reception. He appeared in the pink of condition and looked all the difference of a stone in weight. Carpentier also received a great ovation and he, too, appeared remarkably fit and well.

On the call of time the men faced each other for what not a soul present thought would be the last as well as the first round.

Carpentier repeating the tactics employed at his sensational meeting with Wells, rushed, and got home a left to Beckett's head. But it was only a light blow and did no damage.

Then Beckett tried for the body and Carpentier feinted with the left and brought the right hard to Beckett's jaw.

Beckett Goes Down.

The Englishman went down to the only real punch of the bout, and was counted out amid scenes of tremendous enthusiasm.

The victor was raised shoulder high by one of his seconds and carried round the ring. Beckett soon recovered and shook hands with his conqueror.

The Prince's Reception.

The Prince of Wales arrived at the Stadium shortly before nine o'clock and was greeted by a tumult of cheers. He made a brief speech thanking the audience for their very kind welcome and adding that he was very pleased to be back in London again. His Royal Highness looked to be enjoying superb health. After the fight he shook hands with Carpentier.

The crowd was representative of all classes of English life, statesmen, actors, leaders of society and men of literary fame, being present.

Comparison.

BECKETT.		CARPENTIER.
Age	25 yr 8 mo	Age	25yr 10mo
Height	5ft 10in	Height	5ft 10½in
Weight	13st 2lb	Weight	12st 2lb
Reach	71½ in	Reach	69in
Neck	16½in	Neck	15½in
Chest	42½in	Chest	40½in
Biceps	15½in	Biceps	12in
Forearm	13in	Forearm	11in
Waist	31in	Waist	29¾in
Thigh	21in	Thigh	22½in
Calf	15¾in	Calf	15¾in

Mr. Bernard Mortimer, Beckett's supporter, said that never before had his man been in such fine shape as now, and before he (Mr. Mortimer) left Southampton Beckett asked him to convey this message:—

I would also like it conveyed to Carpentier that, win or lose, I shall be ready to shake him by the hand at the finish, whether it be congratulation or consolation.

The contest was for the heavy weight championship of Europe and the right to face Jack Dempsey for the worlds title.

Beckett's Send-off.

Beckett was heartily cheered on departing from Southampton for London. The Mayor was amongst those who saw him off. On arriving at Waterloo he was almost mobbed by a large crowd of admirers as he made his way from the platform to a private motor car. He looked rather pale, but otherwise in the best of condition.

The Betting.

At Paris Beckett was a steady favourite; midday betting in the cafes was 3-1 on his beating Carpentier.

At the Stadium in London he was also favourite, odds of two-to-one in his favour being taken.

Victor's Mascot.

When Carpentier entered the ring he was presented by Paul Rosseau, President of the French Boxing Association, with a magnificent gold medal as a mascot, subscribed for by members of his club in Paris.

Soho Prophets.

A listener in one of the popular Soho cafés, where the human pot-pourri of the most cosmopolitan district of the greatest city of the world congregates, heard in a few odd moments more talk of the contest in a babel of tongues than would assail his ears elsewhere in a week.

Jules Meichtry, a Swiss: "Carpentier, he will win in about three rounds. He is more clever and scientific. Beckett, he strong man, all right, all right, but never knock out Carpentier. The Frenchman too quick."

Italian View.

Joseph Degeornne, an Italian: "Carpentier will win on points in 20 rounds. He will not knock out Beckett, neither will the big Englishman catch Carpentier."

Auguste Fancelle, French: "Carpentier will win in about the tenth round. I saw him at Nice and Monte Carlo eight years ago."

George Georlay, Belgian: "Nobody can beat Carpentier. He is not so strong or heavy, but has ten times more skill."

Ernie Antolli, born in South Africa, claims to be of Boer descent: "I think Beckett will win. He looks stronger." Antolli was playing cards. The three other participants in the game protested that he was wrong, but Antolli stuck to his point. "Beckett, he win, and he beat Dempsey, too."

BIG BOXING PROGRAMME.

The programme for Mr. A. F. Bettinson's complimentary night on Dec. 22 is now complete. As has been announced, the chief event will be a 15-round contest between Frank Goddard and the Australian heavy-weight, Gordon Coghill, but there is to be a second 15-round contest, in which Charlie Stone, of Taffs Well, and Fred Jacks, of Aldgate, will meet, besides a trio of 10-round contests.

The Watford defence have given away less goals than any other team in England.

For the first time in five seasons Hibernians triumphed over Morton at Edinburgh, last Saturday.

FUSILIERS TROUNCED.

41st M.G.C.'s 8-2 Victory Over 23rd R. Fus.

MAJOR'S HAT TRICK.

This game played at Riehl ended in a win for the Machine Gunners by the large margin of eight goals to two.

Rain fell heavily throughout the game so that good football was impossible. The Machine Gunners at once made strong attacks on the Fusiliers goal but they came to nothing. Play was marred by offside tactics for a while but eventually the Machine Gunners attacked once more and Major Boumphrey easily beat the goalie from a few yards range. A miskick by a Fusilier back let in Walker, who hit the upright with his shot, and from the rebound McCoy placed the Machine Gunners further ahead. Just before the interval McCoy again scored for the Gunners.

A Good Save.

Upon resuming the Machine Gunners were on the offensive, the Fusiliers goalkeeper saving well from C.Q.M.S. Saunders. Play at this stage was more amusing than exciting, the mud-covered players being strange spectacles.

The Fusiliers eventually held up the Gunners, took up the running and scored their first goal.

This aroused the M.G.C. to further effort and some rapid scoring took place, Major Boumphrey getting three goals in quick time. This brought their total to six. Just after the Fusiliers scored their second point. The Gunners dominated the latter part of the game and Hobson and Spruce brought the total to eight.

The Gunners were well served by William at right back and Kinnimont at centre-half.

INDEPENDENT DIV. CUP.

52nd D.L.I. 4; NORTHERN BRIGADE H.Q. 3.

The Hofgarten, Bonn, was the scene of the first match in the Independent Division Cup Round last Wednesday when the 52nd D.L.I. beat the Northern Brigade H.Q. by 4 goals to 3. The game was full of interest and, at times, of great excitement.

Lt. McGreechin scored within the first minute. Brigade then pressed and forced a penalty kick which was successful. The game settled down in the centre of the field until, after a good run, Lt. McGreechin scored again. A free kick to the D.L.I. resulted in another run down from which Sergt. Mayes scored.

Owing to the rain, play was resumed immediately and both sides attacked in turn. Brigade succeeded in scoring and this goal was quickly followed by another penalt kick from R. S. M. Clifton, who again was successful. The Durhams had bad luck in not scoring, three successive shots hitting the side of the net. Before long another determined rush was made from which, despite the terrible condition of the ground, Sergt. Mayes again scored. The Durhams continued to press, though at full time no further goals had been scored. The winning team was:

52nd D.L.I.: Sergt. Rocks; Lt. Archer and Lt. Harding; Ptes. Durn, Hogg and Sowerby; Pte. Usher, Pte. Elsworth, Lt. McGreechin, Cpl. Rutter and Sergt. Mayes.

WEIGHT TELLS.

Rhine Signal Battalion, 6; 52nd Rifle Brigade, 1.

This match was played at Riehl on Wednesday and resulted in a win for the Signal Battalion by 6 goals to 1. Owing to the heavy rain the ground was in very bad condition but the three inside forwards of the Signal Battalion controlled the ball excellently.

Rfn. Reid soon scored for Signals, and Lieut. Gilraith equalised just after. However, Reid again scored and Signals led by 2-1 at half time.

Superior weight told in the second half, and the signal battalion pressed throughout, goals being scored by Spr. Dedman 2, Pnr. Reid 1, and Lieut. Land 1. The 52nd Rifle Brigade goal-keeper made some very fine saves.

EX-SOLDIER FOOTBALLERS.

"Demob'd" Professionals Not to Play as Amateurs.

The Football Association have issued the following ruling affecting professional players demobilized from the Services:—

"Players who were professionals must not, after leaving the Services, play as amateurs with any club. Before playing they must be registered as professionals with the Football Association.

"There is reason to believe that the rule is not being observed, and excuse is made that in consequence of the war breaches of the rule have arisen from ignorance.

"The Football Association therefore excuse all breaches up to December 15, 1919. Offences committed after that date will be penalised."

NEW MIDDLESEX BOWLER.

At the annual meeting of the Middlesex Country Cricket Club at Lord's Mr. A. J. Webbe, the chairman, said that Middlesex had been on the lookout for a fast and a medium left-handed bowler. The latter post may be filled by a young player who had been recommended to them and of whom they had great expectations.

The question of the train accommodation to St. John's Wood was also discussed, and the Metropolitan Railway Company will be communicated with on the subject. P. F. Warner made an appeal for a larger membership which, it is hoped, will be increased to 750. N. Haig and P. Etheridge were elected to the committee, and S. S. Pawling to the vacant treasuryship.

The account showed an income of £2,432 and a surplus of £621.

TO-DAY'S MATCHES.

Will Coventry gain their First Victory?

"THROSTLES" HEAVY TASK.

Great interest will be centred to-day in the matches at Fulham and Highbury. Fulham's recent home record reads far from well and the "Spurs" are favourites for this encounter, but the Craven Cottagers' may spring a surprise.

At Highbury, Arsenal face Chelsea and the "Pensioners," with the Arsenal's recent home record as a guide, are looking forward to both points. Here again form may receive an upset.

The "Throstles" have a hard task before them at Manchester. The Citizens are playing good football and may offer the "Hawthorn's" lot another check. Newcastle supporters hope they will. The two defeats of the Tynesiders' by Sunderland were ill-deserved and they may atone at Sheffield to-day. Coventry are at home to West Ham and despite the "Hammers" good record the City will gain their first league victory of the season.

In the Scottish League Celtic v. Motherwell is a teaser. Only the absence of Hugh Ferguson inclines one to the belief that the Park lot will just scramble home.

League I.

Arsenal v. Chelsea	Middlesbro. v. Liverpool
Aston Villa v. Man. U.	Oldham v. Burnley
Blackburn v. Derby	P.N.E. v. Bradford
Bradford C. v Bolton	Sheffield U. v. Newcastle
Everton v. Notts C.	Sunderland v. Sheff. W.
Man. C. v. W. Bromwich

League II.

Barnsley v. S. Shields	Hull C. v. Lincoln C.
Bury v. Port Vale	Leicester v. Rotherham
Bristol C. v. Grimsby	Notts F. v. Clapton O.
Coventry C. v. West Ham	Stoke v. Birmingham
Fulham v. Tottenham	Wolves v. Stockport
Huddersf'd v. Blackpool

Southern League.

Brighton v. Watford	Reading v. Bristol R.
Cardiff v. C. Palace	S'thampton v. Plymouth
Gillingham v. Brentford	Swansea v. Norwich
Q.P.R. v. Northampton	Swindon v. Portsmouth

Scottish League.

Aberdeen v. Falkirk	Hearts v. Partick
Airdrie v. St. Mirren	Morton v. Dundee
Ayr v. Clyde	Raith R. v. Queen's Park
Celtic v. Motherwell	Rangers v. Hibs.
Dumbarton v. Albion R.	3rd Lanark v. Kilmarn'k
Hamilton v. Clydebank

LINGFIELD MEETING.

Entries on Small Side on Thursday.

Going was somewhat heavy at Lingfield on Thursday. The weather was fine and attendance good.

Results:

Surrey Hurdle:—1, Mutton Cutlets (10-1); 2, Promoter (3-1); 3, Demagogue (6-1). Six ran.

St. Piers 'Chase:—1, Bedfellow walked over.

Ashdown Hurdle:—1, Lesostris (100-8); 2, Labian (5-4); 3, Farm Camp (5-1). Twelve ran.

Southern 'Chase:—1, Poethlyn (4-1 on) beat Fly. Two ran.

Hever Hurdle:—1, Carson (10-1); 2, Tonga (6-1); 3, Longerline (5-1); Eleven ran.

Years End 'Chase:—1, Willy Wyn (5-2); beat Chesley.

FOOTBALL RESULTS.

ASSOCIATION.

Reading .....3; Oxford University...2;
Cambridge University...4; Chelsea.....2;
Royal Military Ac. 5; Old Westminsters. 2.

RUGBY.

Royal Military Ac. 3; Naval College .... 5.

BILLIARDS.

The closing scores in the principal billiards matches in London on Thursday are appended:—

Newman 5,125;
Falkiner ..... 4,336.

Breaks:—Newman, 171, 164, 186 and 291; Falkiner, 106.

Smith 4,639;
Inman ..... 2,663.

Breaks:—Smith 151, 144; Inman 290, 137, 105, 123.

'VARSITY RUGBY.

The King to be present at Queens Club.

His Majesty the King hopes to be present at the Oxford and Cambridge Rugby football match at the Queens Club, West Kensington, next Tuesday. The gates at the Queen's Club will be open at eleven o'clock. The entrance for ticket holders will be at the Perham-rd. and Comeragh-rd. gates. The main entrance for admission to the ground, standing room, and enclosure, will be in Perham-rd., but admission will also be obtainable in Comeragh-rd.

NORTHANTS' CRICKET PROGRAMME.

Next season Northamptonshire's County Championship programme will consist of twenty matches, fixtures having been made with Lancashire, Sussex, Warwickshire, Yorkshire, Derbyshire, Leicestershire, Surrey, Kent, Notts and Essex. The last four counties—Surrey, Kent, Notts and Essex—are additional to those met last season.

The dates arranged, subject to confirmation at next Tuesday's meeting of secretaries at Lord's, provide for thirteen Saturday starts, eight of which will be in home matches, Yorkshire and Sussex being the two counties who will not play at Northampton with a Saturday start.

Northamptonshire's season opens on May 1, with a Saturday start at Kennington Oval against Surrey.

EMPLOYERS

'read "The Cologne Post". Send it daily to yours.

WHEN SCIENCE MEETS DASH.

BY

HORACE BARNES.

(THE FAMOUS INSIDE LEFT OF MANCHESTER CITY.)

You may remember that in the days before the war, one of the charges most frequently made against the football of that time was that we had gone speed mad, and by "we" I mean the big professional clubs. It was said that on every hand science was being sacrificed to dash. The other day I heard the old charge revived. "From what I have seen of this season's football," wrote a well-known critic, "it seems as if the players had no real ideas of the finer points of the game. Their methods are just summed up in the phrase 'kick the ball and run after it'."

Naturally, am not going to agree with that critic. Nor shall I admit that in general the football of this season is much below what we used to see before the war. So far as my own club is concerned, we have played in some splendid games in which there has been quite a lot of scientific effort. But even supposing for a moment that the football of these days is not quite so high in class as the football of five years ago: is that to be wondered at? A lot of us have been practising with other things than football. Even those who have played at all regularly have not had the same class of opposition, while again, many have grown old in footballing sense, and in the ordinary way they should even now be making way for the younger players.

THE YOUNGER PLAYERS.

Naturally younger players have not been coming to the front during the last few years as they would have done in normal times. So as I say, all things considered, it is not to be wondered at if the general standard of play is not quite so high this season. However, you may rest assured of this: there is as good material in Britain out of which first class footballers will be made as ever there was. All that the young players want is a little more experience, and then I am quite certain that football will touch as high a level as ever it did.

Meantime, we must jog along as best we can, and if there is a bit more dash about the play of to-day, and a bit less of what we call science, it must be remembered by way of excuse that some teams contain quite a lot of new players who as yet are comparative strangers to each other. That being so, it is only to be expected that their play should not be so scientifically perfect as the play of eleven men who are absolutely at home and conversant with the moves and ideas of their colleagues.

I take it that when we refer to a scientific side, we imagine a team which hopes to win its matches by what may be termed classical football—that is sharp, short passes from man to man, and tricky individual play. Personally, I could never understand why the short-passing game was called scientific and the long swing-the-ball-about game, dashing. Surely it demands just as much science, and just as much accuracy in kicking for a long pass to find its object as it does for a short one. From my position on the left wing I sometimes decide that I will swing the ball over to our outside right. But I don't always find that it is easy to place it in such a position that he can take it in his stride. Quite often I find myself annoyed because he has to to turn back for this long swinging pass of mine, while on other occassions it is so far forward that it has gone out of play ere he can reach it.

So don't be too severe on the side which makes progress by means of long swinging passes from wing to wing. It takes a lot of doing, and it has to be well done to be successful.

HUSTLING THE SCIENTIFIC PLAYER.

A peculiar part about the game of football is that the advocates of any particular type of play cannot point to anything which is conclusive evidence that a certain style pays best. You may get a side which plays with wonderful scientific accuracy beaten by a team which, in the way of the finer points of the game, know nothing like so much as their opponents. In the first place, of course, a dashing, tear-away side is very often capable of throwing scientific opponents clean off their game. There is nothing which so worries a classic line of forwards as to come up against opponents who are hustling and bustling into them all the time, simply refusing to allow them to settle down to their nicely thought out plans of campaign.

As an instance of a team which has won success in recent years by dashing methods, I cannot think of a better than Barnsley. Twice in three years they made their way to the final of the English Cup, and on one occasion succeeded in winning it outright, although they were only a Second Division side. In those years the Barnsley team were indeed advocates of the dashing methods, and although it may be said that they dashed scientifically, the fact remains that for some reason or other they succeeded in knocking out teams against which they appeared to have no sort of chance whatever.

The success of the Barnsley side in those seasons serves to show just what can be done by a team which is largely made up of enthusiastic, dashing players. As the result of their success you might have said that dash was better than science. But on the other hand we can point to successful teams who were masters in the real fine points of the game. What about Newcastle United, for instance, in the days of Colin Veitch? There was very little of the rushing, tear-away methods about their side. In fact, watching them you might have been tempted to express the opinion that they were mostly on the slow side. But they got there, and so did the Sunderland team in the days when they were referred to as the team of all the talents.

SECOND DIVISION FOOTBALL.

I always think that it is in the Second Division where you get the biggest share of the dashing clubs. Some of them seem to make a speciality of putting the other fellows off their game by allowing them no rest at all. And that is why I am also convinced that of all the football played, a season in the Second Division is about the hardest eight months any footballer can be asked to go through. So far as sheer strength and endurance go, you need far more for a season in the Second Division than you do for a season in the First Division.

And because dash has a nasty habit of holding its own against science, you find a fair number of Second League teams making a respectable show when the cup-ties come along. All of which brings us back to one important conclusion. There is no right royal road to success. If your scientific team is sufficiently scientific it may pull through. And if our dashing side dashes with proper effect, it stands an even chance of beating the ultra-scientific team.

PLAY: MUSIC: SONG.

Amusement and Recreation.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Sat.	Martha	Flotow	7	10
Sun.	Der Zigeuner-baron	Strauss	7	10
Mon.	Armourer of Worms	Lortzing	7	9.45
Tuesday	No Performance.

On Leave.

Lieut. Humphrey Hope, who has made such a big reputation with the Rhine Army Dramatic Company, is proceeding on leave at the end of the week, but he will return to Cologne in time for the Christmas production.

Roller Skating.

In connection with the roller skating rink shortly to be opened in Cologne, an expert skater has already been appointed to manage the place and he is already preparing a programme of carnivals and other special events. There will probably be an orchestra to accompany the merry whirlers.

The Deutsches Next Week.

The revival of "General Post" at the Deutsches theatre on Monday and Tuesday next week by the Rhine Army Dramatic Company is bound to meet with approbation. When the play was produced some time ago, full houses every evening were the rule. The caste will be slightly different from the previous performances, but I hear it is a particularly strong one.

Can you Help?

I have received the following letter from the secretary of the North Kensington Branch of the National Federation of Discharged and Demobilized Soldiers and Sailors and that any suggestions or offers of assistance in the direction required be forwarded to the Editor of the "Cologne Post". The letter is as follows:

"I have been instructed by this branch to write and ask you if you could help us in any way in obtaining an outfit for a concert party. As you are aware we have all served during the great war in every part of the world and listened with pleasure to the various concert parties and we sincerely hope you will forward us any information that would help us in any way."

JACQUES.

ANOTHER COUPON.

Enter Now For Our Weekly Football Skill Contest.

To-day appears the first coupon for No. 12 contest and competitors are set the task of forecasting the results of ten matches.

In our two previous competitions ten results only were asked for and this shortening of our coupon list has evidently caught the popular fancy.

The season is well advanced now, and form is gradually working out as per the book. But surprises will ever occur, and it is up to you to spot the ones on this coupon.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 12.
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S/40 Rhine Army

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 12.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 13th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 12th.

Burnley	v. Oldham
Notts County	v. Everton
Grimsby	v. Bristol City
Lincoln	v. Hull City
West Ham	v. Coventry
South Shields	v. Barnsley
Palace	v. Queens Park R.
St. Mirren	v. Dumbarton
Clyde	v. Queens Park.
Ayr U.	v. Morton

I enter Football Competition No. 12 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(In block letters.)
Rank and No. .....
Unit .....
Full Address .....

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

Some Girl.

"The Gigantic Girl" has been on show at a place of entertainment at Wiesdorf. The posters announcing her appearance state that she is 2 yards 16 inches tall and 17 years old.

Mind Your German.

A Tommy in a café, the over evening, evidently trying to "show off" his German was heard to remark to the fraulein with him. "What is the mutter with you?" He, was very much surprised at the roars of laughter, both from British and Germans, that greeted him.

Gallantry Rewarded.

An officer who gallantly offered to escort two girls home from a dance in Cologne the other night was a little dismayed when the last tram landed him miles away in a distant suburb and he had to trudge all the way back in the pouring rain.

Looking Ahead.

Sorely afraid of being short of food at Christmas time when he will be on leave in England, a sergeant, I know, has posted home in advance the two ration books provided by a thoughtful orderly room.

Where to get Books.

A greatly increased selection of new books will soon be on the shelves at the "Cologne Post" Bookroom in the Hohestrasse Arcade, I hear. Have you looked in yet?

We all Know it.

What a number of old favourites one hears on the piano in Rhineland. In my billet yesterday, I heard a fraulein having a music lesson. The piece she was set to play was "The Last Rose of Summer."

Not Independent.

I heard a heated argument going on in a mess the other evening, between a Machine Gun subaltern and a Gunner Major. The gist of it was that the latter thought that the M.G's ought now to be amalgamated with the Artillery, or failing that, the Infantry. The M.G. Officer was livid with rage at the suggestion.

Napoo!

I've been told of a staff officer in Cologne who keeps a pet magpie in his room. The other day he had some important orders to issue which necessitated reference to a lot of Army Council Instructions. These he laid out on his desk, and then went to lunch. When he returned he found the magpie had torn them into small shreds.

Whence Come They.

I'm told there's a perfect epidemic of boils in Rhineland, and the doctors are puzzling their brains to find out the cause.

Toys for all.

I notice that the figures of Santa Claus in Rhineland all wear a Bishop's Mitre. I have not observed this in England, and was somewhat startled, on entering one of the shops in Cologne, to meet an ecclesiastical dignitary, dressed in full canonicals, apparently in the act of shoplifting from the toy department.

A Trophy.

Prominently displayed over a certain bar in Cologne is part of the propellor of an aeroplane with the inscription in German "My first Victory, Somme 1916." The landlord of the house used to be an officer in the German Air Force.

Any Old Boots to Mend.

The N.A.C.B. is starting another useful service, i.e. boot mending. You know how difficult it has been to get one's boots mended decently, but all this is to be changed. One simply labels the boots with name and instructions, and sends them to the N.A.C.B. Departmental Stores, 27 Obermarspforten.

Statistics.

According to the October census the population of Cologne is 633,873, and that of Bonn 92,919.

The Big Fight.

There were hilarious scenes in at least one French mess when the result of the great fight was made known by a member of the staff of the "Cologne Post." The members had been laying any odds about their favourite, and apart from their national pride, they must have scraped in quite a nice nest egg.

Quiet Confidence.

Throughout the past week the Frenchmen showed a quiet confidence in their candidate, and nothing would shake it. When the message came through, their pleasure knew no bounds. Germans in the hotel were obviously puzzled until they had ascertained what all the hubbub was about.

Now at Six.

The clock tower arrangement standing on the Rhine Embankment is attracting a great deal of attention at present. This clock automatically registers the depth above the ordinary high water level. By the time it reaches the limit, which is nine, I should imagine that the inhabitants of some of the old houses clustering round the Rathaus will have to quit.

A Mulheim Convoy.

Wearing their steel helmets, painted a bright green, a convoy of R.A.S.C. passed through Mulheim recently. Business was suspended for the time being, shopkeepers and shoppers rushing to the doors to see the convoy pass.

A Liquid Argument.

They were discussing the all absorbing topic of alcoholic drink. A disciple of Pussyfoot stoutly maintained that a glass of water was better than a glass of spirituous liquor in any circumstances. "Garn" said the Cockney of the party, "imagine being offered a glass of water when the war was on, before going over the top."

Fraulein Scores.

It was out Frittard way, between Mulheim and Weisdorf. She was dressed in a stylish navy blue costume, and her hair was the last word in the art of the coiffeur. She was pulling a handcart while two males pushed leisurely behind. A tramcar appeared, and while the two men made a bolt for the sidewalk the fraulein remained and averted a collision.

New Times, New Methods.

One of the friseur fraternity in the Urban Strasse has discarded the insignia of his craft in favour of the English barber's pole, and has the announcement in his window, "Barber, quick shaving done here." We are progressing.

Improvement Needed.

The train and tram services in certain districts of Cologne need speeding up. At Weisdorf the other day I missed the 12.27 train to Cologne, and was astonished to learn that the next train did not depart until 2.18. I decided to travel by tram instead, and found that there is an interval of half an hour between each car. I was almost tempted to walk.

A Good Laundry.

The enterprise of the N.A.C.B. management in Cologne is apparently unlimited. First the stores, then a boot shop, now a laundry. My present laundry has provided my youngest child with some armour-plated extra-wilted underclothing. What does she do? Boil them in strong soda, I guess. Now however we are to have an up-to-date laundry and things will come back, we hope, as they went.

RHINELANDER.

BOOKLOVERS' GUIDE.

A few notes on some among the hundreds of different books for all tastes, available at the Cologne Post Bookshop in the Arcade, Hohestrasse.

At the end of Mark Twain's inimitable "A Tramp Abroad" (which contains much about the Rhineland) you will find in Appendix D, a discussion on the peculiarities of the German language and suggestions for its amendment, which will leave your ribs aching.

"Fields of Victory" by Mrs. Humphrey Ward you have probably seen reviewed. The wonderful chart shewing graphically the history of the later years of the war is unique.

Major General F. Maurice's "Last Four Months," a book which has just appeared, is an account of the final operations of the war, which is worthy of the pen that gave us "Forty Days," the story of the beginning of the great conflict, where General Maurice traces with illuminating maps and plans the whole strategy that led to the failure of the success expected by the Germans.

Are you depressed? Read "Spanish Gold" and laugh yourself jolly again. Or perhaps you are one of those who have not yet made the acquaintance of the now-famous "Bindle?" If so, beg for an introduction. He is well worth knowing. "The Silence of Colonel Bramble" is an enjoyably humourous and sympathetic mirror which a Frenchman holds up to the British officer and British Mess. It has had great success in England as well as in France.

If you want the daintiest and most romantic of stories of knightly love and adventure, Maurice Hewlett's "Forest Lovers" has no peer.

You have a favourite among authors? He or she may be among those understandingly put before you in the little service of "Writers of the Day," which you will find on the shelves, and which give you all you want to know of the life, works and style of the authors discussed.

Everyone is intensely interested in the truth of the situation, and the remedy for the difficulties between Labour and Capital. In "Labour and Capital after the War" you will find the subject impartially discussed in short, but pregnant, articles by men such as Whitley, Leverhulme and others; men and women representing the different sides of the question. It is perhaps the most clarifying and suggestive book on this increasingly urgent problem.

Do you want books on Bridge, or Gramophones, or Cookery, or Hockey, or Conjuring, or the Russian language, (with pronunciation, thank Heaven!), or an atlas which will show international disputes of yesterday and to-day? You will find all these, and much else, besides a wide range of fiction.

You may find—if they are not all sold—Jack's Encyclopedia, which in one volume for 7s. 6d. provides you with information of practical use on a thousand subjects to which you often need to refer. Ask to look at the Summary of contents—and behold, knowledge condensed within your grasp!

To those going on leave or demob. Look up your trains beforehand in the copy of the Bradshaw which is kept for your use in the Reading Room. C. W.

All Specialists.

If a German has defective eyesight, a broken limb, indigestion, or, in fact, any other of the "ills, which the flesh is heir to", he merely has to walk along any principal street in Cologne until he comes to the abode of a medical man specializing in his particular complaint. All the doctors, on their doorplates, indicate their own special line.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

No Peace There.—China is at present torn to pieces by civil war.

Juries Napoo.—Trial by jury has been suspended in Ireland.

Don't Tell "Anti-Box".—English schools are taking up boxing keenly.

Disappeared. — Only one R.A.F. officer and four airmen are now left in Boulogne.

Lowest Limit.— £3.17s. has been fixed as a minimum living wage in Australia.

Death in the Brush.—More outbreaks of anthrax from shaving brushes are reported. The latest are from Loughrea.

Seems too High.— Candied peel which was 6d. a pound before the war now costs 2s. 6d. to 3s. a pound in London.

Sad at Going. — "The Brownies," the little girl messengers in the Government offices, are now all demobbed.

Fall in Adverts.— A huge hoarding in Kingsway, London, crashed in the recent gale, and did much damage.

Fortunes by War.—Bradford is said to be bursting with money and Cardiff is a city of millionaires.

Bluejackets' Leave. — Already men of the Atlantic Fleet have started home for Christmas Leave.

The Fatal Dose.—A Shepherd's Bush doctor, after reading a book called "Fatal Doses", took prussic acid and died.

Motor Tragedy.—Sir John Simon's motor car got out of control at Bradford, knocking down and killing a woman.

Lawyers Busy.—Over 50,000 written statements connected with the ex-Kaiser's trial, have already been examined.

Like The "Tubes".—Several big London restaurants contemplate installing escalators instead of lifts.

The Funny Midget.—Little Tich is likely to be in the new production at the Empire, London.

Repayments.—Britain has paid back over 11 millions to America and France about 2½ millions.

Inspecting.—Sir Robert Horne, M.P., Minister of Labour, has been visiting the technical schools in Edinburgh.

To Help Unemployed.—The re-opening of the great munitions works at Gretna is being agitated for.

In Ballet.—Miss Phyllis Bedells, daintiest of English dancers, is making her debut at Covent Garden in ballet.

Out Of Hospital. — Mr. "Pussyfoot" Johnson has practically recovered from his recent operation.

Optimist.—Mr. Lloyd George thinks we shall not require guns and shells for the next hundred years.

Water Transport.—National subsidies to canals this year will cost a million pounds.

Ever Growing.—Our debt to America for food and raw material is still on the increase.

Sunken Gems.—The Russian Imperial pearls are said to be sunk at the bottom of the sea near Kronstadt.

Future Sea Fights.—Sir Percy Scott says no more battleships costing seven millions will be built. Submarines and aeroplanes will replace them.

Is This So?—Sir Arthur Fell, M.P., for Great Yarmouth, says that in proportion to its population, that town sent most men to the war.

A Big Drop.—In August, 1914, America exchanged seven dollars to the pound sterling. To-day only 3.88 dollars can be had for the same sum.

Through Miners' Strike.—In the North Western state of America stocks of coal being exhausted, trees are being cut down for fuel.

A Scandal.—An officer, who was Adjutant to his Regiment during the war, is said to be selling flowers in the London streets.

Duchess Denies.—The Duchess of Marlborough denies that she is to stand for Parliament or that she has been left a fortune of £3,000,000.

Unknown Donor.—During this week, a Manchester Hospital and a Liverpool Infirmary have each received an anonymous gift of £20,000.

Stands Alone.—Lieut. Stefanovitch is the only Serbian officer who has won the D.S.O., M.C., and French Croix de Guerre.

Landmark Down.—A picturesque old wind-mill at Egerton, Kent,—a landmark on the North Downs—was destroyed in the recent gales.

Sea Mystery.—A schooner has been found derelict off the Scilly Isles. Her cargo and all her boats are intact but the crew are missing.

Recognition.—Lance Corporal Wilcocks, Oxford and Bucks Light Infantry, has been given £180 and an illuminated address by residents of Leyton for winning the V.C.

No Shocks Expected.—The Astronomer Royal attaches no importance to the prediction that next month will be notable for hurricanes, deluges, earthquakes and volcanic eruptions.

LUDENDORFF AND OTHERS ON LLOYD GEORGE.

One fact emerges with outstanding prominence from all the reminiscences, recollections, and apologias written by German statesmen and soldiers since the end of the war. That fact is the inestimable contribution made by Mr. Lloyd George to the Allied victory.

Ludendorff's Declarations.

In his recently published "War Memoirs," General Ludendorff refers to the "extraordinary will power" of the Allies in the critical months of 1917. He adds: "Lloyd George was determined to win. He held England in hand."

Nor is it only the war services of the Prime Minister to which Ludendorff pays tribute. Interviewed the other day by a British journalist (Mr. F. G. Roberts for the "Daily Express," November 21) Ludendorff referred to present political conditions in Germany, and said: "Ah, if we had statesmen like your Lloyd George or Clemenceau, things would certainly look brighter for Germany."

So highly does Ludendorff rate the services of British war-time statesmen that he declares our "diplomats and propagandists achieved far more than the military machine."

Bethmann-Hollweg's Opinion.

The German ex-Chancellor, Count von Bethmann-Hollweg, in his "Reflections," pays a not less striking testimony to the British Prime Minister. He was, in the view of the ex-Chancellor, "the man of all others, whose fiery eloquence and accurate knowledge of the English spirit made him the doughtiest defender of the English war legend."

Bethman-Hollweg accompanies this by a travesty of the facts about the origin of the war intended to discredit Mr. Lloyd George. But that German compliments to the Prime Minister should, in the circumstances, be double-edged might have been expected, will occasion no surprise, and requires no comment.

The German Press.

What has been said by German soldiers and statesmen has been admitted also by the German Press with something like unanimity. After the Armistice the "Neueste Nachrichten" (Kiel) declared that—"Lloyd George performed the work of an organizing giant."

During the last General Election the German press manifested a nervous anxiety for the defeat of Mr. Lloyd George, and the reason for that anxiety will be obvious. The organ of the Majority Socialists, "Vorwaerts," asserted that—"The victory or defeat of Lloyd George cannot fail to be of world-wide significance."

That Mr. Lloyd George's victory was of world-wide significance the terms of the Peace Treaty are the best evidence.

Experts in Personnel.

It has been frequently and fairly observed that nothing was more fatal to Germany during the war than the failure of her statesmen and military leaders to understand the psychology of the Allied peoples. They never realised right down to the last that free peoples cannot be cowered by threats nor reduced by violence.

But if the Germans were bad psychologists they were experts in personnel. Their careful scrutiny and relentless exploitation of speeches, even of interjections, made in the British Parliament showed them to have keen eyes for men who would serve their turn. Their eyes were not less keen for men whose powers and influence were dangerous to their plans.

A CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR HOME

WE SEND A PRINTED ADVICE TO YOUR FRIEND THAT YOU HAVE ARRANGED FOR THEM TO RECEIVE THE POST DAILY FOR ONE MONTH. FILL IN THE FORM — WE DO THE REST.

THE COLOGNE POST
HOME SUBSCRIPTION FORM

To Subscription Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40 Rhine Army.

I enclose remittance for 20 marks. (From United Kingdom 3/4.)

Please send "The Cologne Post" daily for one month to:

PLEASE WRITE IN BLOCK LETTERS

NAME: .....

ADDRESS: .....

20 MARKS COVERS ALL BRITISH POSSESSIONS

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O. S. 40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

BLACK grand or royal piano, faultless, obtained cheaply for sale. Thielenbruch by Dellbrück, Thielenbruchersallee 19, parterre.

MOTOR tubes for disposal. Two 650×65, eight 710×90 four 760×90, one 815×105. All are new could and unused. Best offer accepted. Write Box 93, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

COLLECTION of old German stamps for sale £41. Apply to A. 421 Cologne Post, A.P.O. S. 40.

COLLECTION of antique watches gold and silver for sale. Ecker Lanzengasse 38, part.

BEAUTIFUL pair Officer's field boots by Carter, London; perfect condition, complete with trees, only worn once. Take reasonable offer. Apply Box 94, Cologne Post A.P.O./S 40.

ANCIENT ECLESIASTICAL HISTORIES, first hundred years after Christ, London 1650. Kurz, Nonnenstrasse 234.

BINOCULARS Zeiss 10×50 for sale. Follerstrasse 105 I.

WANTED.

BUSINESS lady requires comfortably furnished bed-sitting room. Apply Box G. O., Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

EXPERIENCED German cook, employed by 51st Bn. Devons, until disbanded, seeks situation in Officer's mess. Apply Maria Bohrend, Zulpi berstr. 327, Köln-Sülz.

PERSONAL.

WILL WILLIAM EMDE believed to be in the British Army of Occupation communicate with his mother at 84 Aachenerstr., Cologne.

LANGUAGES.

GERMAN, easiest quickest, method. Call SPANDOW, 7 Rudolfplatz, near Opera House 20 years experience English schools.

KODAK

Wulff & Kleinholz, Hohestr. 112
Cologne
Developing and Printing.
All Photographic work carefully executed.
— Prompt attention. —

For Exporters & Wholesalers
Coutellerie-Cutlery
Pocketknives, Scissors, razors-spoons, forks and knives, safety razors, haircutting machines etc.
BAUMANN & Co.
KÖLN, Berlich 43.

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Mauerstrasse, Cologne, December 6, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. 40 British Army of the Rhine.

PUBLISHERS ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Is your English really effective?

Is Your Language as Polished, Refined, Correct, and Forceful as it ought to be?

A very prominent and successful business man wrote us recently:—

"Although I studied the usual Courses of English in the "public schools and in college, yet I am frank to say that I "was largely unable to make practical use of such instruct-"ion until I studied your course of Practical English and "Mental Efficiency. The former courses gave me the tools, "but it was your Course that taught me how to use them.

"I found your Course of instruction interesting, and not in "the least akin to the dull, uninteresting studies I formerly "used. I find my vocabulary is fuller, and that I have be-"come more adept in the use of it."

His letter referred to GRENVILLE KLEISER'S PRACTICAL and SATISFYING

New Postal Course in Good English

and suggested "a more direct advertising campaign to business Men and Women" so, with this in view, we have quoted from this man's own words. Such testimony ought to reach with power every man who mingles with his employees in factory or office.

Mr. Kleiser's former connection with Yale University gave him good opportunity to know how men and women may be helped; how their English may be improved; how they may become better salesmen, and reap larger harvests in their chosen fields. His help to these ends is afforded in THIS COURSE WHICH YOU STUDY IN YOUR OWN HOME. There are no old time rules in this new method of improving your English.

TO LEARN ALL ABOUT IT will cost you but a postage stamp. Better fill out, sign, and mail the coupon below, AT ONCE addressing
FUNK & WAGNALLS CO.,
134, Salisbury Sq., L'don, E.C.4.

Only a few Minutes a Day Devoted to This Course Will Surely Pay Big Dividends.

INFORMATION COUPON

TO THE FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY,
134, Salisbury Square, London, E.C.4.

Gentlemen:—Without cost or obligation on my part, please send me full information regarding the Kleiser Mail Course in Good English.

NAME .....

FULL ADDRESS .....

C.G.

Andrew Melrose Ltd.

Distinctive New Books.

THE LETTERS of DONALD HANKEY
"A Student in Arms."
Edited by EDWARD MILLER, M.A.
Demy 8vo. Price 9s. net.

With the Aurora in the Antarctic
By CAPTAIN J. K. DAVIS With numerous illustrations and Maps. Demy 8vo, cloth. Price 18s. net.
The appeal of this book is more scientific than popular, but for this reason it must rank amongst the best records of Antarctic exploration of recent years.

Secrets of Animal Life
By PROFESSOR J. ARTHUR THOMSON, LL.D., Author of "The Wonder of Life," &c, Crown 8vo, cloth. Price 7s. 6d. net.
THE MORNING POST says:—"He is always a delightful companion."
THE STAR says:—"You get as you read a sense of bees humming about the pages, of running water, of the wind among the trees, and of the scent of wild flowers."

In the Prison City
By J. H. TWELLS, Jr. Crown. 8vo, cloth. Price 5s. net.
A volume of fascinating interest, this personal narrative will not suffer by comparison with Brand Whitlock's "Belgium."

Escaping from Germany
By PRIVATE, EDWARD PAGE, R.M.L.I. Cloth. Price 4s. 6d. net.
THE ATHENAEUM says:—"The book is one of the most actual and appealing of the records which have come under our notice."

With the Black Watch
The Story of the Marne. By Pte. JOE CASSELLS. Crown. 8vo. 5s. net.
THE WESTMINSTER GAZETTE says:—"A very grim record of the gallantry of a fine regiment."

With our Army in Palestine
By ANTONY BLUETT. Price 7s. 6d. net.
There have been one or two books on the Palestine Expedition, but we believe this is the first story of the campaign as described by a soldier who took part in it, first in the ranks and then as an officer.

Mesopotamia, 1914-1915
By HENRY BIRCH REYNARDSON (Capt., 1st Oxford and Bucks Light Infantry). Demy 8vo. Price 9s. net.

Pocket Editions of Famous Books
Fcap 8vo. in three styles. Cloth 3s. net. Lambskin 6 6 net. Velvet Persian 8s. net. By DONALD HANKEY.

The "Pocket" Student in Arms

The "Pocket" Student in Arms. Second Series.
By DAVID GRAYSON.

The "Pocket" Adventures in Contentment

The "Pocket" Friendly Road
By MARY E. WALLER.

The "Pocket" Woodcarver of Lympus

5s. net. Jackson Gregory's Novels 5s. net.
The Spendid Outlaw
Wolf Breed
The Short Cut
The Joyous Trouble maker
Under Handicap
Six Feet Four

Further information and Catalogues can be obtained from the "Cologne Post" Book room.

London:
Andrew Melrose Ltd.

Visit the British Shop in Cologne
Miss EDITH CAVE'S
Establishment, 84 Hohenzollern Ring
The best place for Souvenirs, Stationery and Military supplies of every description.
Tram 18 passes the door.

10 beautiful Goerz Binoculars 8×26 for sale
Blumenfeld, Balthasarstr. 24, near Deutscher Ring.

LIBRAIRIE HACHETTE
Modern Language Publishers, etc.
LONDON: 18 King William Street, Charing Cross W.C.

Public School German Grammar, with Exercises, Composition, Conversation, Lists of Verbs and full Vocabularies. 434 pages — net 3 6
——Key to Same — net 3.0
First German Book.—Grammar, Conversation, Readings, etc, with Vocabularies. 184 pages — net 1.0
——Key to Same — net. 2.6
Practical Lessons in German Conversation (German Towns, Railways, Steamboats, Theatres, Newspapers, Anecdotes, etc.) (Dr. Messner, M.A.) 264 pages net 2.6
New English and German Dialogue, for Travellers and Students. 230 pages net 1.6
Hier spricht man Deutsch. Pocket Conversation Manual — net 0.6
Pictures of German Life. Stories from Contemporary German Authors, with English Notes — net 1 6
The above can be obtained through, and Catalogues seen at, the "Cologne Post" Bookshop Arcade, Hohe-trasse, Cologne.

Sprechen Sie deutsch and "Parley Voo"!!
PRACTICAL FRENCH AND GERMAN PHRASES AND HOW TO PRONOUNCE THEM.
For daily use by soldiers.
By Colonel F. M. MAUDE C. B. and FRANK SCUDAMORE.
Price fourpence, 3/6 dozen or 25-100.
The "Cologne Post" Bookshop and Reading Room, Arcade, Hohe Strasse or FORSTER GROOM & Co. Ltd.
15 Charing Cross, LONDON S.W.

Y. M. C. A.
BOOKSHOP
16, DOMHOF.
Special selection of Recent Novels and Childrens Story Books.
Hours 10—12.30, 2—4, 5—7.
Thursdays 10—12.30 only.

COLOGNE POST BOOKSHOP
ARCADE, HOHESTRASSE

Call and see Publishers' catalogues

Any book ordered specially for you

R. C. FLACK & Co.
Naval, Military and Civil Tailors,
CAMBRIDGE.

Their representative has just received the following stock of military requirements:
Trench Coats—"Warrior".
Puttees—"Fox's", Shirts—Cotton and Flannel.
Collars. Ties — Silk.
Gloves—Fur, Fur-lined and Woollen.
Hosiery. Handkerchiefs.
Military Decoration Ribbons.
Braces. Suspenders.
Breeches. Laces, etc. etc.
Agents for the 'Aquascutum' Raincoat.
Address: KRONPRINZ HOTEL, Room No. 6. Behind Excelsior Hotel.

Photo House HARTSTEIN
Margaretenkloster (close to the Cathedral)
Cameras and all Articles for Amateur Photography
Developing and Copying within 24 hours

GET YOUR XMAS CARDS AT THE COLOGNE POST BOOKROOM NOW.

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

GETTING READY! OUR EXTRA CHRISTMAS SOUVENIR NUMBER.

No. 215. COLOGNE, SUNDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

LATEST AGRARIAN CRIME.

MEMBERS OF SPORTING EXPEDITION FIRED AT POINT BLANK.

ARCHANGEL LEADER PLACED ON HALF PAY.

IRISH OUTRAGE.

ENTIRE SHOOTING PARTY WOUNDED.

News has reached here that a shooting party, including Mr. H. V. Macnamara and his sons, Lord Inchiquin, the Hon. Edward O'Brien, his brother, and Lady Beatrice O'Brien were fired at on Thursday when travelling in motor cars in the Carron district.

The party had arrived at a point known as Sheadymoore, which is near Mr. Macnamara's preserves, when they were held up by shots from the roadside.

Some of the occupants of the car, seeing members of the attacking party, fired at them; a brisk exchange of shots was commenced, and it is reported that every member of the shooting party received some injury. For their part, they hold that they saw two of the assailants fall to the ground.

The police were communicated with as soon as possible, and, on proceeding to the scene of the outrage, found the Hon. Edward O'Brien, Lady Beatrice O'Brien, and Mr. Ball, another member of the party, in the house of a herdsman.

Mr. O'Brien had several wounds about the head, and Lady Beatrice O'Brien was hit in the head, and Mr. Ball in the head and about the shoulders.

Mr. Macnamara's head and arms were badly injured with shot pellets. Slight injuries were sustained by a gamekeeper and the chauffeur.

Police and military in some numbers have gone to the scene of the outrage, which has caused a profound sensation in North Clare.

FRENCH VISITORS.

MAYENCE SQUADRON AT COLOGNE

The French Motor Flotilla from Mayence under the command of Lieutenant Darlon is at present on an official visit to Cologne in connection with the C.I.N.C. They arrived yesterday and were met at Bonn by the British Naval Flotilla, which fired a salute of thirteen guns in honour of our French visitors.

In the afternoon the visitors entertained the British Naval Officers at luncheon, and at night the French "tars" were given a hearty reception at the British Empire Leave Club and entertained right royally. To-morrow they are visiting the Deutsches Theatre.

Commander Payot, the well-known French naval officer, accompanied the flotilla.

Large crowds assembled on the Rhine bank as the representatives of the English and French Navies appeared in sight, and the French sailors with their "tam-o-shanter" caps were the objects of much interest.

The visit comes to a close on Monday.

BRITISH NAVAL VICTIMS.

SPECIAL CEMETERY IN SWEDEN.

An agreement has been entered into between the British and Swedish Governments to acquire ground for a special cemetery in which British naval victims of the Battle of Jutland and other engagements, whose bodies were washed ashore on the Swedish coast, could be buried together. But opposition to this scheme has been offered by the population in various places, who do not want the graves to be removed. In many instances they are well kept and marked by costly tombs.

ADVICE ON MAKING A WILL.

In the Probate Court on Thursday during the hearing of a will suit, a witness said, amid laughter, that he drew up the testator's will which was in question with the aid of a law book. It was stated that the will would have to go to the Chancery Court as to its construction.

Mr. Justice Horridge, at the conclusion of the case, said to the witness: "Let me give you a piece of advice. Don't go and make anyone else's will. You only cause a lot of trouble. These poor people will have to have the will considered in an expensive place called the Court of Chancery because you have been stupid enough to do this instead of attending to your own work."

BLAMED IT ON THE COW.

"You've got me. My cow died last night, and I had to make it up this morning." Such was the excuse of Arthur Brown, a farmer, of Bath-road, Hounslow, when he was approached by an inspector for a milk sample. At Brentford, Brown was fined £30 and costs for selling milk adulterated with water.

ARCHANGEL ECHO.

COLONEL IRONSIDE PLACED ON HALF PAY.

The following announcement appeared in last night's "London Gazette":

Colonel Sir W. E. Ironside, K.C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., is placed on half pay. Nov. 15, 1919.

Sir William Ironside went to Archangel in command of the force which was sent there in August, 1918, to prevent the possibility of the Germans making a submarine base of the port, and to provide a means of escape for the Czech army of prisoners, taken by the Russians from the Austrians, who refused to join the Bolshevists. Before the German resistance was broken and the Armistice was signed, Archangel became icebound, the Allied troops were cut off from the outer world, and the situation became very serious. In the fine defence against the Bolshevist attacks the inspiring personality of General Ironside played a great part. He, however, put faith in prisoners whom he formed into a battalion, but their mutiny, coupled with the murder of their officers last July, left the British in a position of extreme danger—all the more serious because the American troops were withdrawn. Eventually Lord Rawlinson took supreme command, and on Oct. 15 the War Office announced that the evacuation of North Russia had been completed. Sir William Ironside entered the Army as an artillery officer in 1899 and served in the South African War, where he was mentioned in despatches. During the Great War he was mentioned in despatches, awarded the D.S.O., C.M.G., K.C.B., the Legion of Honour, and promotion from the rank of major, which he reached in 1914.

PROMOTION FROM THE RANKS.

DEPUTATION TO URGE ITS CONTINUANCE.

Mr. Churchill has consented to receive on Tuesday next a deputation from the National Democratic Party in order to discuss with them a scheme drafted by Captain C. E. Loseby for promotion from the ranks of the Regular Army. The memorandum, which has been sent to the Secretary for War on behalf of the party, suggests that the annual vacancies might be allotted as follows: Sandhurst and Woolwich 60 per cent.; graduates of Oxford and Cambridge and commissioned ranks of the Territorial Force 20 per cent.; candidates from the ranks of the Regular Army 20 per cent. The proposal is put forward that side by side with Woolwich and Sandhurst there should be set up similar academies on the lines of cadet schools instituted during the war. To these should be sent all aspirants for commissions, whether from Oxford and Cambridge, the Special Reserve and Territorial Force, or from the ranks of the Regular Army. It is considered that the necessary preliminary education for candidates from the ranks could be provided regimentally. The deputation will include Mr. Clement Edwards, Captain Loseby, Mr. C. Jesson, Mr. C. B. Stanton, and Captain Geo. V.C.

GAS EXPLOSION.

SCENT AND HAIR RESTORER SCATTERED.

Considerable damage was caused by a gas explosion which occurred yesterday in a factory at the back of Stolkgasse. A plate glass window in a friseur's establishment opposite the Army Post Office was shattered to fragments and bottles of scent and hair restorer were lying about the road. A youth who was passing received severe cuts on his head and hands from the broken glass and had to be taken away in an ambulance.

The explosion set fire to part of the premises, but the Fire Brigade were quickly on the scene and succeeded in quelling it before any very serious damage was done.

NAVAL WAR SECRET.

A naval secret of the war, which is at the same time a tribute to the skill and ingenuity of our shipbuilders, was revealed by Admiral Sir Reginald Bacon in a lecture to a Wokingham audience on the work of the Dover patrol.

Sir Reginald commanded the patrol from 1915 to 1917, and his revelation concerned two British destroyers of the Tribal class.

One was the Zulu and the other the Nubian, and they were seriously damaged by mines in the bow and stern respectively. Instead of regarding them as losses, the shipbuilders took them in hand, and the sound ends were joined together and a new ship turned out. The names of the original vessels were combined in the title Zubian.

ARMY ECONOMY.

FORTUNES OUT OF SCRAP MATERIAL.

The Army Council has caused a letter to be addressed to all commands at home and abroad urging that the lessons learned during the war in respect of salvage and economies in general must not be neglected in time of peace. It is pointed out that the general principle of administration on sound economic lines has been shown to be as necessary in the Army as in the business life of the nation, and that the chief factors in efficient administration are the prevention of waste, good but economical messing, and the utilisation of refuse.

What may be done by methodical salvage is illustrated by the fact that since the Armistice more than 76,000 tons of tins, paper, clothing, bottles, and other kinds of inorganic waste have been salved at home and overseas, while, in addition to these 76,000 tons, the total sales and shipments of inorganic waste exceed £2,500,000 in value. The sales of kitchen refuse in the Home Commands in 1918 realised £496,479, while in one of the commands the sale of waste paper alone since the Armistice has yielded more than £25,000. Sales of animals for meat, and by-products of animals, at home and overseas since the Armistice have amounted in value to £1,160,000. Great economy has also been effected in fuel and light. As much as £57,000 has been saved on this account in one command at home during seven months of the present year as compared with the similar period in 1918, and only a small part of this saving has been due to the decrease in numbers.

Whilst estimates of economies in peace time are necessarily rough, it is believed that the total savings through sales of cookhouse refuse, paper, bottles, etc., and the methodical prevention of waste in fuel, light, and other things, which are possible with the Regular Army at home in peace time may amount to as much as £90,000. A proportion of this sum (e.g., cookhouse savings) would be returnable to the men, but, even so, the relief to Army expenditure would probably amount to £70,000 per annum.

FIUME PROBLEM.

NO HINT OF ALLIES' INTENTIONS

In reply to a question by Sir F. Hall (C. U., Dulwich), in the House of Commons, Mr. Lloyd George said: I do not think it desirable to make any statement in regard to the present state of the negotiations between Italy and the United States about Fiume and the adjacent territory. The whole question is receiving the earnest and constant attention of his Majesty's Government and the Allies, and they are anxious to bring about a satisfactory and amicable settlement at the earliest possible date.

Commander Viscount Curzon (C.U., Battersea, S.) asked the Prime Minister whether at the present moment there were large stores of food at Trieste; for whom these foodstuffs were intended; whether these foodstuffs could be used for the relief of starvation in Central Europe; who was responsible for the custody of the stores, and whether there was any danger of attack upon Trieste by Gabriel D'Annunzio.

Mr. Lloyd George: With regard to the first four parts of the question, the facts are that certain supplies of grain are being made available by the Italian Government for the relief of Austria. A first consignment of 6,000 tons is on its way to Vienna. His Majesty's Government do not anticipate the likelihood of Signor D'Annunzio attacking Trieste, as this town definitely passes to Italy by the Treaty of Peace with Austria.

DESERTED BABIES.

HAMPSTEAD AS A DUMPING GROUND.

At a meeting of the Hampstead Board of Guardians yesterday a statement was made that Hampstead was the dumping ground for deserted babies, and that the Guardians made no attempt to bring the persons responsible to justice.

Mr. Nevinson said that some women failed to realise that child desertion was a crime, and would not do so until the Guardians made it clear to them by posting notices offering rewards for the apprehension of the offenders. More children were deserted in Hampstead than in any other place. Recently she was asking a young woman about to become a mother what she proposed doing when her baby was born, and she replied: "Oh, I shall leave it somewhere." When told that that would be a great crime, she said with surprise: "Oh, would it."

The Board decided to offer £1 reward for the detection of offenders.

SPEAKER'S WARNING TO AN M.P.

At question time in the House of Commons on Thursday, Commander Kenworthy persisted in trying to extract a further answer to a question already replied to by the Premier.

He was met with cries of "Order" and "Sit down," from all parts of the House, and the gallant member indignantly shouted back at his objectors amid a renewed storm of protest.

The Speaker, intervening, said: "I must ask the hon. member to restrain himself. I have to warn him that the constant interruptions to which he subjects the House may lead to reprisals."

WARNING.

DEALINGS IN SECURITIES ARE ILLEGAL.

The following important official announcement is very opportune:

It has come to notice that coupons and securities payable in the United Kingdom are being offered for sale in the Occupied Territories of Germany.

It is pointed out for general information that the Acts and Proclamations relating to trading with the enemy, so far, at least as securities are concerned (coupons are treated for this purpose as securities) remain in operation in the United Kingdom until revoked and until the Treaty of Peace comes into force. Consequently no person acquires by virtue of any assignment or delivery of any coupon, or other security transferable by delivery, made or to be made in his favour by or on behalf of an enemy, whether for valuable consideration or otherwise, any rights or remedies against the person liable to pay, unless the transaction is by licence and subject to certain exceptions.

All persons are therefore warned that if they purchase any securities from the enemy payable in the United Kingdom, they acquire no title to these securities and that they cannot obtain payment thereof in the United Kingdom.

FUNERAL OF SIR E. WOOD.

TRIBUTES OF ARMY AND NAVY.

The following officers acted as pall bearers at the funeral of Field-Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, at Aldershot, yesterday:

Field-Marshal Lord Grenfell, Field-Marshal Lord Methuen, General Sir Archibald Hunter, General Sir Ian Hamilton, D.S.O., General Sir Bruce Hamilton, General Sir F. R. Wingate, D.S.O., General Lord Rawlinson, General Sir Robert Scallon, D.S.O. (Indian Army), General Sir J. S. Cowans, and Admiral Sir H. G. King-Hall.

The Army was represented by the Adjutant-General, Lieutenant-General Sir G. M. W. Macdonogh, the Deputy Chief of the Imperial General Staff, Major-General Sir C. H. Harington, D.S.O., the Master-General of the Ordnance, Lieutenant-General Sir John Du Cane, and the Deputy Quartermaster-General, Major-General Sir G. F. Ellison.

The Secretary of State for War was represented by the Military Secretary, Lieutenant-General Sir P. W. Chetwode, Bt., D.S.O., and Lord Stamfordham carried the Field-Marshal's baton and regalia.

"PIPE EASY."

LABOURERS ASK FOR SMOKING TIME.

An unusual request on behalf of workers on land, but one reminiscent of the Navy, was made before the Blackburn Town Council last night, when the National Union of General Workers asked that the Corporation's labourers be granted fifteen minutes' interval, morning and afternoon, as smoking time. The question was referred to the General Purposes Committee for decision.

The request represents the application of a naval practice to industrial enterprise. Officers and men in the Royal Navy have always enjoyed morning and afternoon smoking intervals.

MINES IN DANGER OF FLOODING.

In the Tipton district of Staffordshire mine-pumping operations have ceased owing to the refusal of the Public Works Loan Commissions to lend more money for this purpose.

At a meeting of the South Staffordshire Mines Drainage Commissioners it was reported that water is rising at the rate of 3ft. per week and it was feared that it would find its way into the Oldhill, Oldbury and Kingswinford mines.

The commissioners decided to ask the Government to hold an immediate inquiry.

CLEARING HOUSE FOR ENEMY DEBTS.

Mr. Bridgeman (Secretary to the Board of Trade), answering a question by Mr. Atkey, says: "The clearing offices for the collection and payment of enemy debts cannot begin work until the Treaty with Germany comes into force. I am not aware that a clearing office has already been established in Germany. Interest will be added to the debts payable through the clearing office when set up, in accordance with the terms of the Treaty.

A BIG GAZETTE.

There was issued last night a supplement to the "London Gazette," containing the records of the acts of gallantry for which awards of the D.C.M. were made on March 12 last. The list occupies over 100 pages of the "Gazette," and includes many hundreds of names.

CRAMPED QUARTERS.

Seeking possession of some rooms in a house he had purchased, a man assured Judge Scully at Clerkenwell that his present accommodation was so cramped that his wife slept on a sofa and he slept on the mat.

SUMMARY COURT.

HARMONIOUS PARTY CREATE A DISCORD.

Karl Hafke, of 14, Hoeferstrasse, was in a tramcar with a number of other civilians, who were returning from a convivial gathering at Ehrenfeld. They were singing. At Friesenplatz a corporal in the Inniskilling Dragoons boarded the car, and after listening to the melody for a time said, "You are fine singers." On this the merrymakers, headed by Hafke, made a rush for him and he was kicked on the legs and back and struck in the face. He had to jump off the car, leaving his cap and overcoat behind. He made a complaint to two officers, who had the car stopped and Hofke was taken into custody.

Hafke gave a complete denial to the corporal's story and called five witnesses, who swore that the soldier was the aggressor and pulled out a table knife. Hafke knocked the knife out of his hand and hit him on the chest.

A sentence of six weeks imprisonment was passed.

A YOUTHFUL ADVENTURER

Karl Steinbach, aged 17, hailing from Bonn, by some means succeeded in becoming possessed of a British soldier's uniform, including a cap with an R.A.S.C. badge.

He posted himself on the South Bridge at Cologne, and representing himself as a British soldier, examined the identity passes of all civilians passing over the bridge.

When questioned by a Detective Corporal he said his name was Charlie Benns and that he came from Manchester. He produced two tickets bearing the name of a private in the R.A.S.C., since demobilised.

The Presiding Officer said the spirit of adventure in youth was most natural, and in ordering that Steinbach be sent back to Bonn, he advised him not to impersonate British soldiers in future.

THEFTS FROM MOTOR CARS.

Herman Dannelewitz was sentenced to two months, imprisonment for stealing a spare wheel from a British car, which was standing outside the drivers' billet in Aachenerstrasse. Dannelewitz, against whom a charge of burglary is also being preferred by the civil authorities, purloined the spare wheel and was walking away with it when he was caught by the driver of the car and given in custody.

THE PRUSSIAN'S MECCA.

Anna Ludwig, a native of Bavaria, who stated that she was separated from her husband, was charged with entering the Occupied Area without permission. She had been in Berlin for eighteen months and gave as her reason for returning to Cologne that living conditions are at present very bad in Berlin.

The Presiding Officer, in ordering her expulsion from Occupied Territory, said Berlin was the Mecca of all good Prussians and she would have to go back there.

GERMANY'S SECRET ARMY.

"A MONSTROUS DECEPTION."

Semi-official commentary on the Entente's recent Note relative to the German Police troops evokes the following comment from the "Freiheit": "It is a monstrous deception that the fiction should still be maintained that the military organisations mentioned in the Entente Note are not in contravention of the Treaty stipulations. The Citizen Guards regularly do military drill, including musketry fire, the throwing of hand-grenades, &c. The members of the Guards keep rifles and hand-grenades in unknown quantities in their houses. The so-called Public Security Police troops are led by active service officers, and are equipped with heavy mortars, flame-throwers, and other similar weapons. Furthermore, their service is purely military."

TOWNS SACKED BY BOLSHEVISTS.

A "Stockholm newspaper" reports that most of the villages and towns through which the Bolshevists have passed were sacked and laid waste because the soldiers were forced to get necessary food stuffs for themselves, owing to the failure of the Red Commissariat. As the result peasant revolts are constantly breaking out and desertions from the Soviet army are greatly increasing.

GERMAN WAR STORES CAPTURED.

According to a telegram from Kovno via Copenhagen, the Lithuanians have captured from the Germans twenty guns, 50,000 shells, thirty aeroplanes with equipment, 50,000 bombs, eight motor-cars, 100 machine-guns and much other war material. The Germans were also obliged to leave to the Lithuanians their war stocks in Shavli. Janisnki has been occupied by Lithuanian troops.

UNROBED SOLICITORS.

Two unrobed solicitors appeared in a case at Westminster County Court on Thursday. One said he had been delayed and had to hurry into court without robing. Judge Sir Alfred Tobin: "Next case, while you go for them. You know my rule."

STOLE THE RATES.

PUBLIC OFFICIAL'S BREACH OF TRUST.

The unusual spectacle of a magistrate having to sentence an old acquaintance of his to six months' imprisonment was presented at the West Ham Police Court on Thursday.

Mr. Ratcliffe Cousins had before him William Alfred Leete, of Forest-gate, a rate collector of the Borough of West Ham, and until a few weeks ago chief inspector of the sub-division of special constabulary. He was charged with stealing money which he had received for rates.

Mr. Travers Humphreys, for the corporation, said in February accused collected £69, but did not pay the sum over until March, when he had cheques amounting to £801, out of which he allocated the previous amount of £69 6s.

Mr. C. H. Patterson, the borough treasurer, said Leete did not account for any of the £69. Witness had examined his accounts, and found that there were other half-years in which similar things had happened. Defendant had to collect between £2,000 and £30,000 yearly.

On behalf of Leete, Mr. Sharman said he had devoted himself a good deal to public work without payment, and in connection with the special constabulary had the best record of duty of anyone in the district. In order to make restitution he had sacrificed his home and furniture.

Mr. Ratcliffe Cousins said he wished that he had not had to deal with the case.

SIR FRANCIS LLOYD.

FOOD CONTROLLER FOR LONDON AREA.

The Food Controller has decided to combine the London division and the Home Counties division into a new division. This will include London and the counties of Kent, Surrey, Sussex, Middlesex, Herts, and Essex, and will cover the area of 321 food control committees, with a population of about 9,274,000.

By this means it is hoped to secure unity and economy in administration in rationing, distribution, and transport over the extensive area served by the London port and the large wholesale dealers.

Lieut.-General Sir Francis Lloyd, D.S.O., is to be Food Commissioner for the new division. Sir Francis Lloyd's work in command of the London district during the war has given him a peculiar knowledge of the area. The amalgamation will take place on December 15.

Sir Francis will be assisted in his work by Mr. H. J. Greenwood, L.C.C., at present Food Commissioner of the London division, and Major R. Jackson, at present Acting Food Commissioner of the Home Counties division, who will act as Deputy Food Commissioners in the combined division.

MUZZLING ORDER.

DOGGIES' HAPPY NEW YEAR.

There is a prospect of early relief for the muzzled dogs. In the House of Commons the Secretary to the Board of Agriculture, Sir A. Boscawen, in reply to a question by Captain Brown, the member for Hexham, said: "It is not yet considered safe to revoke the London-Middlesex Control of Dogs Order. In the event of no further cases of rabies being declared, the Board hope to be in a position to revoke the London-Middlesex muzzling operations in the New Year."

THE "GENTLEMANLY TURK."

The Bishop of London, in his address to City men at the midday Advent service at St. Mary Woolnoth Church, King William-street, commented upon the appalling condition of the Armenians, on whose behalf the Lord Mayor, he believed, had a fund. The apathy of the people with regard to this little band of 40,000 people up in the Caucasus, cut off from everyone, was terrible; we were taking no steps to prevent them from being massacred. "We have got this terrible heresy," observed the Bishop "of the gentlemanliness of the Turk. This is absolutely national prejudice and nothing else in the world. The gentlemanly Turk whom you see in society has shown himself to be a bloodthirsty ruffian when it comes to dealing with the Armenians. It is a national scandal the way in which we are watching the Armenians being done to death."

SEND IT HOME.

It is a curious fact that we frequently receive letters from England thanking us for sending the "Cologne Post" regularly. The credit is properly due to those who send us the necessary 20 marks and an address, wherefore, we are making it our practice to advise the recipients of the identity of the real donors. We feel that good deeds of that kind should not be allowed to blush unseen, unless the donor especially requests us to say nothing about the matter.

BLIND MILKMAN'S EXCUSE.

A blind milkman in Bermondsey, sued in the Southwark County Court, said he had lost practically all his customers because they refused to pay the present price of milk. He is taken on his rounds by a lad to whom he pays £1 a week.

A great Advance in Soap Chemistry

As a result of many years strenuous work in chemical research and its practical application, "Sapon" Soap has been perfected.

It is the greatest advance in the chemistry of Soap since that article was first manufactured.

Ordinary Soap consists of Fat deglycerined and saponified with Caustic Soda.

"Sapon" Soap is derived from Carbohydrates which when treated by the Company's patented process, yield Ammonia, Methylamine, and Trimethylamine. These Nitrogenous compounds are highly emulsifying agents, and do NOT combine with Lime or Magnesia Salts in water, as all fat-derived soaps do. Hence, no "scum" or insoluble lime soap is formed, even in the hardest water when "Sapon" Soap is used.

Dr. Shorter, of Leeds University, says of "Sapon" Soaps:—

"They contain 'surface active' colloids, whose 'surface activity' greatly exceeds that of an ordinary fat soap, and these results fulfil to an extreme degree satisfactory manner the fundamental condition for detergent action."

SKIN DISEASES

The Amines and Amido bodies in "Sapon" Soap are readily soluble in water. They are germicidal but non-injurious owing to their colloid nature. Besides their efficiency as cleansers, they have a wonderfully sedative action.

"Sapon" Soap gives wonderful results in irritable skin diseases, such as Scabies, Eczema, Pruritis, Insect Bites, Acne, etc. The following is the best method of application when it is used for curative purposes,—moisten the Soap, rub it on the part affected and allow it to dry, on.

You will never use old-fashioned Fat Soap once you have used "SAPON" SOAPS and given them a fair trial.

Sole Agents for "Sapon" Soap in Germany

ERIC MORTON & Co.
12, Luttichèr Strasse
COLOGNE

SAPON SOAPS LIMITED
Sapon House, London Bridge, E.C. 4, England

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

FLIGHTS LTD

MILITARY TAILORS

LONDON. WINCHESTER. ALDERSHOT.

Owing to military requirements Mr. A. J. R. Lee has been compelled to change his address to

KRONPRINZ HOTEL
(Behind The Excelsior Hotel)

where he will have his usual excellent selection of material, both for Mufti and Uniform, also a stock of Hosiery of the best quality.

LATE OF THE OFFICERS' CLUB No. 1.

ANOTHER N. A. C. B. SERVICE

BOOT REPAIRS-

Men's, Women's, Children's.

Tie a label on and leave at the new Department Stores, 27 Obenmarspforten.

THOS. COOK & SON

BANKERS, TOURIST, FORWARDING AGENTS

OUR COLOGNE BRANCH IS OPEN AND AT THE SERVICE OF OFFICERS, N.C.O's AND MEN OF ARMY OF THE OCCUPATION

FOREIGN MONIES EXCHANGED

ADDRESS 1, DOMHOF
OPPOSITE THE CATHEDRAL

Y. M. C. A.
BOOKSHOP
16, DOMHOF.
Special selection of Recent Novels and Childrens Story Books.
Hours 10—12.30. 2—4, 5—7.
Thursdays 10—12.30 only.

SPARKES HALL
808, REGENT ST. LONDON W.
4, AVENUE FRIEDLAND, PARIS

ROOM 71, DISCH HOTEL
Brückenstr. COLOGNE
(Next Door to N.A.C.B. Depot)

FIELD, HUNTING & POLO BOOTS

Hand-Sewn Field Boots, Civilian Boots, Shoes and Pumps made to order and delivered to Germany in 18 days or in England in 10 days.

No: 1 ARMY CINEMA. (The Boys). 3 Komödienstrasse

No: 2 ARMY CINEMA. (Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse. Finest Picture House in Germany.

No: 3 ARMY CINEMA. (Panopticum), Hohe Strasse. The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.
Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc., Staff Instructor in attendance.

Church of England Services in Cologne.

THE GARRISON CHURCH (C. of E.) Schildergasse

SUNDAY Dec. 7th ADVENT II.
Holy Communion: 8.00, 11.30, 19.00 hrs.
PARADE SERVICE. 10.30 hrs.
EVENING SERVICE. 18.00 hrs.
Preacher: REV. J. GRUNDY C.F.
Chaplain to the 52nd Bn. Rifle Brigade.
CHILDREN'S SERVICE: (Loreley Hall, Y.M.C.A. Central, Friesenstr.) 14.30 hrs.
Wednesdays: Dec. 10th, HOLY COMMUNION 8.00 hrs.

CHURCH ARMY CHAPEL, HOTEL DU NORD. Sundays 8.00.
HOLY COMMUNION: Tuesday and Friday 7.30.

Scottish Churches and English Free Churches.

THE MILITARY CHURCH.
6 Filzengraben (Turning off Heumarkt.)
Sunday, 7th December
11 a.m. Preacher: Rev. G. A. SEATH, C. F.
(Garrison Chaplain.)
6 p.m. Rev. G. L. Robinson S.C.F.

Welsh Service 2.30 p.m. in Y.M.C.A. Central.

Into Any Home Anywhere
„The Gramola"
brings not one kind of music but all kinds

Gramophone Spezialhaus
COLOGNE
Hohestr. 150

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstrasse

Monday and Tuesday Dec. 8th and 9th at 6.00 p.m.
Revival by Special Request by B.R.A.D.C. of
"GENERAL POST"
A Comedy in 3 Acts,
by J. E. HAROLD TERRY.
Wednesday 10th Dec. and for four nights
The first production of
"SINGER OF THE VELDT"
A Modern Comedy in 3 Acts,
by MISS INEZ BENSUSAN.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.

Monday, Dec. 8th and nightly at 6 p.m.,
Mr. ALFRED HUPLEY'S
LONDON VARIETY COMPANY
and the popular pair
Leslie Nancie
ROSS and HANTON
In screaming duologues.
MARGUERITE DE LARA
Prestidigitator.
GERALD WILLIAMS
The Popular Tenor.
WARWICK PRYCE
Entertainer at the Piano from St. George's Hall, London
C. POWELL-EASTBURY
Baritone and Humourist
and
MARJORIE BOWYA
Soprano and Violinist.

British Empire LEAVE CLUB

Hon. Dir. Gen. Miss Decima Moore, C.B.E.

ENTERTAINMENTS

Sunday Dec. 7th—BAND of the 23nd ROYAL FUSILIERS CONCERT. Soloists: Lt. Viner, Miss West, Miss Mackenzie, and Miss Somers Cocks.
Monday Dec. 8th—DANCE.
Tuesday Dec. 9th—CHESS TOURNAMENT. MERRY BLUE BOYS CONCERT PARTY.
Wednesday Dec. 10th—DANCE.
Thursday Dec. 11th—WHIST DRIVE. CHESS TOURNAMENT. DANCING CLASS followed by DANCE.
Friday Dec. 12th—DEBATE in Writing Room. CONTINUOUS CINEMA.
Saturday Dec. 13th—DANCE.

CINEMA
EVERY DAY. From 2.30 p.m.
Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post
Telephones: Military, No. 659. Civil. A 9515
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Sunday, December 7, 1919.

"GET-RICH-QUICK."

His Majesty's fighting services are not notorious as money making institutions for their members. If an officer of some rank receives a thousand a year, he is fortunate and he is one of a limited circle.

Some may pity the Service man his comparative poverty, but to him who likes a manly clean career, serving his country and ready to strike a blow for her when necessity arises, such pity is wasted.

To-day, when there is an orgy of speculation in civilian life, when the craze to get rich quick has so firm a hold on the world in general, the soldier or sailor may sometimes feel that he is "out of the running", but if he has sound sense this feeling will pass speedily. His is the better part.

A man who had been abroad for a year or two was greeted on his return the other day by a business friend, who exclaimed, "Look what you've lost while you've been away, I've been making millions." Thus are people in all the industrial centres of Britain speaking to-day.

Lancashire, Yorkshire, the Midlands, South Wales are bursting with money. Quite young men penniless a year or two ago are worth millions. To anyone ordinarily cute in his business it has been almost impossible not to amass money.

And the gambling goes on increasingly. Men are drunk with wealth and dream in millions. But the money that is being so easily acquired and not always by the straightest methods, unfortunately is but paper.

It is not real riches. The nation is heavily involved in debt; it has lost a million men which no amount of paper money can replace. It continues to spend millions more than it earns. It is producing less than it did—not more, and still more—as it must if it is to reap the fruits of victory.

When the credit the nation possesses has gone, as it will go if the get-rich-quick craze does not end at once, the financial crash will be appalling. And of what use will then be the gains made in fictitious "money" — paper currency?

So the soldier and sailor, who may not be able to share the present excitement of the chase for riches at home, will in the end be probably better off. Though the pay on which he has to live may never give him a millionaire's fleeting luxuries, he will not be greatly affected when the sickening awakening and tragic slump arrive to the get-rich-quick moths, who are playing to-day with the flame. He will still be in an honourable profession upheld by the dignity of duty with his hands unsoiled by the grasp of filthy lucre, in a word a man.

SHAKESPEARE NOT A GERMAN

BY EDWARD FOX, MAYOR OF STRATFORD-ON-AVON.

I have received a recent copy of "The Cologne Post," in which a correspondent asks, "Was Shakespeare German?" As a resident of Stratford-upon-Avon for over 46 years and one who has taken some interest in the study of Shakespeare's life and writings, my reply to your correspondent's question is—Emphatically no; the idea is preposterous.

Shakespeare was pre-eminently English, and his pedigree and the records of his family and life are so clear and authentic, so well established by all competent writers, as to prove beyond all doubt that the poet was a Warwickshire man born at Stratford-upon-Avon in 1564, that his parents and relatives were Warwickshire people, that his plays, particularly the histories, conclusively show that he possessed an intense spirit of patriotism and love of his country.

"This blessed plot, this earth, this realm, this England,
This land of such dear souls, this dear, dear land,
Dear for her reputation through the world."

The entries in the Stratford-upon-Avon parish registers give over a hundred years of his family history. We know that the poet's father, John Shakespeare, came from the neighbouring village of Snitterfield and settled in Stratford, that he married Mary Arden, daughter of a substantial yeoman, of Wilmcote, four miles distant, whose family had resided in Warwickshire for centuries—a family of gentle lineage entitled to bear arms—and that John Shakespeare became a man of importance in Stratford, filling the office of chief magistrate and other positions under the Corporation. It is also proved that he lived in the house in Henley Street, where the poet was born, first as tenant, then as owner, but that his fortunes afterwards declined.

Your correspondent's statement that William Shakespeare was a "mysterious personage" is ridiculous. The wonder is not that we know so little of the poet's life, but that we know so much, considering the careless age in which he lived and that so little is known of his contemporaries.

From 1592 onwards the most generous tribute was paid by contemporary writers to Shakespeare's great genius, including Francis Meres, Ben Jonson, Milton and others. A German professor once remarked, "there is more contemporary mention of Shakespeare than of any other great sixteenth-century poet."

The people "who don't believe that Shakespeare wrote the plays attributed to him" have much to learn. They should pay a visit to Stratford-upon-Avon, where the people still "speak the tongue that Shakespeare spake;" they should go into the surrounding country and see the flowers, the hedgerows, the trees and the beautiful meadowland and the birds, all of which the poet sings so exquisitely. They would come across the Quineys, the Pages, the Fords and the Christopher Slys, representatives of the poet's immortal characters bearing precisely the same names in the present day. The plays are full of idioms and allusions to local scenery and plans, characters and customs that could never have emanated from a writer unacquainted with the old town and the beautiful country around; all of which I think goes to prove that Shakespeare was no German, but a true Englishman born in that shire "which we the heart of England well may call."

There are very few references to Germans or Germany in the plays; one may be mentioned. In the "Merry Wives of Windsor" one of the characters exclaims, "Like three German devils, three Dr. Faustuses." This is scarcely complimentary.

Much might be written on the subject of defamation and myths. The Baconian myth can be explained in a few words. Miss Delia Bacon, who was the first to spread a spirit of scepticism, died insane in September 1859. This was about 300 years after the poet was born.

I have referred to Shakespeare's great love of England:

"This royal throne of Kings, this scepter'd isle."

His equally great love of honour and justice are reflected in the lines—

"Never yet did base dishonour blur our name,
But with our sword we wiped away the blot."

And then let us consider that fine outburst of patriotism—

"Come the three corners of the world in arms and we shall shock them; Nought shall make us rue if England to itself do rest but true."

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX

We Hear all Sides without Responsibility for our Readers' Views.

SPEED UP THE DANCE.

Sir,—I was much shocked by the opinions expressed by "Jonathan." I am quite sure he has never been taught to dance properly, or he would experience keen enjoyment in "executing wonderful steps," as he calls it.

Dancing should be a restful exercise, perfectly executed but entirely effortless, not a mass of rowdy over-excited people.

As for the joys of Bohemia, which he vaguely refers to, if he wishes to associate with demi-mondaines would it not be better for him to apply for demob.?

Personally I have attended many dances in Cologne and have been quite content to allow myself to be entertained in a way becoming to the modesty of our English girls. DAVID.

COLOGNE ART EXHIBITION.

Sir,—I notice it is suggested that a Society of Artists should be formed in the Rhine Army to encourage drawing and painting, and incidentally, to discover any latent talent that may be lying dormant.

I hasten to draw attention to the fact that a School of Art has been open at the Army College for over five months, where Freehand, Light and Shade, Life, Painting in oil and water colours, antique drawings, posters and Advertisement designs are taught with satisfying results.

Also a successful exhibition was held in the Library of the Army College during the last week of October — a strong appreciation of which was published on two occasions in the columns of the "Cologne Post."

A new course will open at the Army General and Commercial College early in the New Year, and I would suggest to "R.M." to apply to his Adjutant and see that he secures one of the vacancies that will be allotted to his formation.

W. B. JEMMETT.

BEER ON DRAUGHT.

Sir,—Could not brewers at home be induced by the N.A.C.B. to arrange for the delivery of their beers in barrel so that they could be sold on draught?

This would obviate the expense in packing cases, straw etc., and abolish breakages.

I believe that the non-returnable bottles are worth perhaps two marks at the present currency when sold to the soldier, while it is difficult to find a local market for the empties at 10 pfgs.

If barrels were non-returnable when empty, a much better value could be obtained and everybody would benefit by this economic measure. ECONOMIST.

SAFER TRAMWAYS.

Sir,—Yes, "Schottlander," your country which of course one includes in the generic term "England" possesses the dangerous top-heavy two-decker tramcar. So, I believe, does Ireland. Both countries are under an English King and English Parliament, and as far as they are able, speak the English language.

When the average common-sense person speaks in general terms of England, he usually implies also the home countries subject to her rule, but not the Colonies. Does this explanation satisfy "Schottlander?" BOLIVAR.

THE FUTURE OF THE YOUNG SOLDIERS.

Sir,—With reference to "Ranker's" letter I must say that, though some of the sentiments expressed therein are most laudable, yet, at the same time, there is much to be said in justification of the soldiers' attitude, which "Ranker" so deprecates.

What is more natural than that the chief interest of a young man, who has no intention of making the Army his profession, should be in the direction of demobilisation?

"Ranker" perhaps forgets that the majority of us young soldiers are not soldiers by choice, and have yet to make our way in the life that will be before us on demobilization.

As regards "esprit de corps," I do not believe that there is a man in the Rhine Army, who will not do everything in his power to keep up the prestige of his unit. W.H.G.

AN ACKNOWLEDGEMENT.

Sir,—I should be very much obliged if you would insert the following acknowledgement in the columns of your paper:

"The Assistant Chaplain General, Rhine Army, wishes to acknowledge with many thanks the anonymous gift of 750 marks towards the work of the Church Army in Cologne."

J. W. S. PARRY-EVANS,
Assistant Chaplain General.

DO NOT LOAF.

Sir,—Do "H.C.W." and "Padre" realise their expressed views are far more boring to the young soldiers than actual loafing or visiting theatres, clubs, and cinemas.

If they are so anxious for our welfare, why in the name of common sense do they not write something instructive and interesting?

How do they know the youngsters they see "loafing" are not really studious, and are they sure there is enough accommodation at the various seats of learning for all these prodigals were they to "return to their Fathers to eat of the fatted calf."

After all, fresh air means good health. A savant may as well be in Heaven, or the other place for that matter, without it.

"A STUDIOUS LOAFER."

THE ARMY AND RELIGION.

Sir,—In the region of opinion my reply to "Halifax" is the following line from Blake:—"Your Heaven doors are my Hell gates!"

In the region of fact, my advice to him is to examine the evidence.

W. ROMAINE PATERSON.

CIVILIANS IN THE CLUBS.

Sir,—I think most ex-officers agree with "G.E.S." article headed "Civilians in the Clubs".

Obviously too little distinction has been made in granting permission to use the Club, with the usual result that privileges have been abused and the majority have been penalised on account of the minority.

I would like to point out that the 8th Corps Club is open to all ex-officers, who can, by simply asking, become honorary members. This is, however, not the point. Why can't we have a club of our own and be independent?

Will the Y.M.C.A. or N.A.C.B. fill the breach and earn the undying gratitude of the EX-OFFICER.

CRAFTS—NOT ART.

Sir,—I do not quite agree with "R.M.," and think, that instead of encouraging soldiers to paint, greater attention to instructing them in the use of their hands in useful crafts such as wood and metal work, would serve them in better stead when they leave the Army.

England is over-run with mediocrities—for very few attain more than moderate skill—who find it hard to get a living by their brush or pencil.

On the other hand there never was such a need as there is to-day for the man who can work with the hammer or saw, who can turn out a good job at bench or lathe.

Probably the mechanical crafts are taught at the Army College, but more prominence seems to be given to painting and ornamental designing, and I feel that is a mistake. CRAFTSMAN.

WIVES IN CLUBS.

Sir,—"T.B." I fear, belongs to that type of man, who would travel for hundreds of miles in a railway compartment, whose only other occupant was a lady, gazing out of the windows rather than be guilty of "the impertinence" of entering into pleasant conversation with the lady, even if she were obviously willing to do so.

So two people must remain dull because nobody happens to be present who knows them both.

Let "T.B." realise that in these days, an introduction often can, or should be, dispensed with—and is, by really quite nice people! BOHEMIA.

B.R.A.D.C. PRODUCTIONS.

Sir,—In your announcement of the production of Beaumont and Fletcher's "Knight of the Burning Pestle" by the Rhine Army Dramatic Company, you mention that certain "novelties" from America will be found in the play.

Surely there is a hideous mistake somewhere; the idea of an Elizabethan play introducing American novelties is appalling.

Perhaps the Dramatic Company is giving us a burlesque of the play. If so, the more novelties from America, or elsewhere, the better. I sincerely hope that there is some error in the wording of your notice. I cannot think that the excellent Dramatic Club would give us the play in the manner you describe.

If the B.R.A.D.C. produce this most delightful Comedy as closely as possible as it was presented to the Londoners in 1610, with the charming Old English Music and Morris Dances, then the Rhine Army undoubtedly have a great treat in seeing one of the best of our Old English Comedies. A most excellent dramatic fare for Christmas. W. A. WHITE.

SEX EQUALITY.

Never since our marriage has my wife been deficient in self-confidence and courage, never has she permitted me to utter unchallenged a decisive word, or to assume any responsibility which she felt would be more fittingly undertaken by herself. On shopping expeditions it was always a joy to feel that she would boldly enter shops to do the necessary talking, and that nothing more would be required of me than to look at the windows, and pay the bill.

Except in the latter point, there has been a lamentable change since the arrival of my wife in the Rhineland, and I am at a loss to account for the increased importance of the position I now occupy.

If there is any question to be asked of a German policeman in front of a gaping crowd, any article with an unpronounceable name to be bought in a German shop, in short, if there is any task involving knowledge of the tortuous tangles of the German language, it is always I who am pushed into the position of danger, and of honour.

It is quite useless for me to protest to my wife that she can pronounce the German for "pickled herrings" at least as well as I can, and that the prices of various weird articles of needlework can be better asked by her than by myself; it is always I who have to go "over the top" in a linguistic sense, while my wife pretends not to belong to me in the safe seclusion of the opposite pavement.

The climax was reached last night, and what follows is unfortunately not fiction, but bitter fact. We were walking, towards closing time, down the Breite Strasse, and all the shops were full when my wife caught sight, in a window, of those snails so beloved of foreign palates, price 0.45pf. each.

She calmly told me to go into the shop, and buy one snail to try. I protested; I pointed out that the shop was full of Germans who spoke the language better than I did, and that no Englishman could be expected to shout out an order for one snail under such conditions; I said she knew the German for snail as well as I, and begged her at least to come inside with me and lend me countenance.

She refused; she said that she wanted one snail, and one only; that two English people could not possibly enter a crowded shop to purchase one snail, in fact, it wasn't done and that I was obviously the person best qualified to effect the purchase.

There are times when argument is useless, and my wife's tone implied that that point had now been reached. Recognising this, I sidled into the shop in as unobtrusive a fashion as possible, and manoeuvred so as to whisper my wishes to one of the young lady assistants without arousing general attention. Not so, however.

The manager mistaking the cause of my bashfulness, sailed down on me from the other end of the shop, and inquired courteously as to my desires. I said, in my best and most inaudible German that I had an order for one snail. Raising his voice so as to be comfortably heard by all who were in that shop, he called to the counter, "The Englander wants one snail."

Immediate silence, all eyes in my direction, and a most flattering interest in my every word and movement. I obtained my snail at the cost of 45 pfennigs and feelings of untold abasement; an attendant wrapped up my purchase in some 3 yards of paper, and gave me, gratis, much good advice as to its preparation, and dishing up; my wife devoured it and called it excellent, but I am worried at her new diffidence in shopping matters, and at the hiatus between her precepts and her practice.

In England my wife was a staunch adherent of equality and of the vote, and I can see no logical or other reason for her new attitude of subordination, and self-effacement. The burdens of the German anguage are too great to fall entirely on one pair of shoulders, and when next it is necessary, with the aid of Cassell's dictionary, a phrase-book, and a stammer, to buy tripe and onions, or prawns in aspic, my wife shall perform her share. Common justice demands no less. C.H.S.

SEASONS.

Gentle zephyrs, waving corn,
Nibbling flocks; a perfect dawn.

Restful shadows, sunshine bright,
A carolling lark in Heaven's site.

Blustering breezes, rustling leaves,
Rainbow hues on bush and trees.

Whirling snowflakes, skies of grey
Silent grandeur; the end of day.

C. R.

DEMPSEY NEXT.

World Championship Fight in London next Year.

HUGE PURSE.

Carpentier has lost no time in making arrangements for a meeting with Dempsey for the world's championship.

According to a London message, Mr. Cochran announces that Beckett's victor signed an agreement yesterday, whereby he pledges himself to fight the American in London next year. The stakes are to amount to £35,000: 60% for the winner and 40% for the loser.

ANOTHER PROPOSAL.

Gigantic Offer by Group of Paris Sportsmen.

A Havas report of an amazing offer by Decoin the well-known Paris sportsman was received yesterday. It is stated that Decoin, supported by a group of Paris enthusiasts, has deposited the huge sum of 2,000,000 francs for a match for the world's championship between Dempsey and Carpentier, to take place in Paris next July. The proposal has been wired to the boxers.

The fight, providing the scheme materialises, which in view of the telegram from London appears extremely unlikely would take place at the Stade Persing. There would be accommodation for 30,000 spectators and the seats would range from 500 to 20 francs in price. At the present rate of exchange the purse offered is in the region of £50,000.

SPEED DID IT.

Frenchman's Views on the Great Fight.

Of course, I am proud, very proud that Carpentier won, writes Victor Breyer, Editor, "Echo des Sports" in the "Sporting Life," firstly because he is my countryman, secondly because I have known and liked him since boyhood. Since the match was made I have not altered my opinion that he would beat Beckett, and "Sporting Life" readers know that I again expressed it yesterday morning.

I said Georges would win because of his speed, and speed did it. And as to the hitting powers of the French boy, where are the critics who said that he could not punch, after the beautiful right hook which laid Beckett out for a lot more than the alloted ten seconds?

Boxing A Science.

Yes, as I wrote yesterday, boxing is not a trial of brute force, but a science much on the lines of fencing. Yesterday evening Beckett's superiority in muscular strength was of no avail. From the very first straight left of Carpentier which opened the match I could see the English champion had no chance, barring, of course, a lucky blow. He was much too slow, and unable either to parry or dodge the Frenchman's punches, and I felt certain that at the first opening Carpentier would bring that deadly right of his into play and there would be damage. That is exactly what happened, although I frankly confess I did not expect it to happen so quickly.

Beckett Overrated.

And now my honest opinion is that, although very brilliant, this victory is not one that I would take as greatly enhancing Carpentier's reputation. I had never seen Beckett in action before yesterday, and I think he is a very much overrated man—a strong, sturdy fighter, but devoid of finesse. That he could beat a man like Goddard I quite understand, but how he could ever lay a glove on Billy Wells, and furthermore beat him, is a deep mystery to me.

You can mark my words, he may secure a return match with Carpentier—and I hope he will, for he appeals to me as a straight, nice, honest fellow—but he will never beat him.

This does not show that Carpentier will beat the formidable Dempsey, although we must, and will, live in hopes until this sensational encounter takes place.

WHAT WELLS THOUGHT.

Bombardier Billy Wells just before the contest, told a press representative quite frankly that he thought Carpentier would win. And no one is in a better position to judge than he, for he has faced both men, and has been beaten by both.

He said if Carpentier was as good as he was in 1914 it was a certainty for him. And he was right.

CHAMPION 'CHASER.

Poethlyn's Eleven Consecutive Successes.

The recognised present day champion 'Chaser, Poethlyn, reappeared at Lingfield this week, meeting with customary success in the Southern Steeplechase.

Poethlyn has now won eleven races off the reel, including a dead-heat with Water Bed in a welter flat race at Lingfield, and he has not suffered defeat since he ran unplaced to Captain Dreyfus in the substitute Lancashire Steeplechase run at Windsor nearly three years ago.

Two Nationals.

In the meantime, he has credited his fortunate owner with two "Nationals"—a "real" one at Aintree and a substitute at Gatwick—a like number of Lancashire 'Chases, and other minor, but none the less acceptable prizes.

He is already nominal favourite for next year's Grand National, which is not surprising; and it will indeed be an achievement if Mrs. Hugh Peel's horse does the hat-trick. Manifesto and one or two others have succeeded in twice winning the race. It does not appear at all improbable that Poethlyn will set up a new record.

QUEENS PARK.

Only Amateur Eleven in the Four Leagues.

FAMOUS TEAMS—3.

To the Glasgow Y.M.C.A. we owe the birth of this famous club; it was a few enthusiasts of this body who in 1867 laid the foundation of the club which holds the distinction of being the only amateur club in the four big leagues.

Their first days were lean ones, but they discovered great players and began to be looked upon as a side to be feared. Then came the day when, competing in the English Cup (then open to Scottish clubs), they sprang a shock upon the mighty "Villans," defeating them by six goals to one. They did not reach the Final tie, however, till 1884, when they succumbed to Blackburn Rovers, then at the zenith of their power. Again the following season they faced the Rovers in the Final, having again to acknowledge defeat.

Football Sensation.

The club figured in one of football's sensations at this period by taking exception to the rulings of the referee in charge of the Final, but it didn't affect the cup's destination.

"The Spiders," at they were christened, were the pioneers of Scottish football, and to them must be given the honour of leading the way to clubs who are today champions north of the Tweed The club also initiated the Scottish Football Association and have provided the "Land of Oats" with many famous internationals and football records.

Players of Note.

Players of note in their ranks in other days were legion, but the following short list will recall to mind men who were shining lights in amateur and international circles:—William McKinnon, Charlie Campbell, Dr. John Smith, the brothers Kerr, J. B. Weir, and J. J. Thomson. William Kerr was the first man to hold the Queens Park captaincy, and a great player and "general." His brother George, christened the "Prince of Dribblers," had the misfortune to break his leg while operating against Blackburn Rovers. Campbell was one of the cleverest "headers" of a ball football has ever produced, and was known as the prince of tacklers; he figured on ten occasions against England, while McKinnon was eight times capped against the Rose.

Best of their Day.

Their battles with the famous Corinthians began in 1883, and to those one is always referred if inquiring who played the best football in earlier times. Certainly they provided football of a standard that is not reached to-day.

But the days of the "Spiders" glory are now a memory only—a dream of the past. To-day they are but a moderate lot with a star here and there, and have as much chance of lifting the Scottish league Championship as Glasgow Rangers or Celtic have of finishing at the bottom of the table.

The Only Amateurs.

They can still produce great players and may they ever remain in first class football, is the wish of all lovers of the game. Some day, who knows, fate may be kind and they will again hold an undefeated record, but the possibility seems very remote. All their players are amateurs and this greatly adds interest to their doings. They are the only amateur club in first class football and deserve all credit for this.

"Spiders" Home.

The home of the "Spiders," Hampden Park, Glasgow, is one of the finest grounds in Britain, and, as an international battleground, has witnessed many great games of dazzling skill and scientific footwork. On this ground the Queens were at one time always good for both points, but these days also are past. This season's record compares badly with their performances in the days of their power, which were full of victorious encounters and great performances. They are practically at the middle rung of the ladder; will they again get near the top?

'VARSITY FOOTBALL.

Oxford Rugby and Association Teams.

The Oxford Rugby side to oppose Cambridge has been selected. Only four old Blues are playing, namely, the captain, E. G. Loudoun-Shand (University), the secretary, J. Moresby White (New College), O. Jenkins (Jesus), and G. B. Crole (University). The team is:—

V. R. Price (Bishop's Stortford and Magdalen); O. Jenkins (University College, Aberystwyth, and Jesus), G. B. Crole (Edinburgh Academy and University), E. G. Loudoun-Shand (capt.) (Dulwich and University), G. F. Wood (King's School, Canterbury, and Trinity); F. A. Waldock (Uppingham and Hertford), E. Campbell (Edinburgh Academy and Oriel); J. Moresby White (Rondesbach and New College), C. H. Neser (South African College and Brasenose), C. H. Evans (Tonbridge and Brasenose), D. D. Duncan (South African College and University), H. F. Waldock (Uppingham and Hertford), C. Francis (University College, Aberystwyth, and Jesus), W. R. Bros (Bishop's Stortford and Queen's), R. G. Sharp (Rugby and Repton). Reserves: H. B. Simpson (Kingswood and Oriel), Rev. W. T. Havard (University College, Aberystwyth, and Jesus).

Association.

The following have been selected to represent Oxford against Cambridge in the Association match on the 10th:—

G. F. Greig (Westminster and Christ Church), F. Barber (Queen Elizabeth School, Kirkby Lonsdale, and Queen's); C. E. Wharton, (Douai Abbey and Oriel), A. H. G. Butcher (Charterhouse and New College), H. M. Watt (Winchester and Brasenose); F. S. Hepburn (Rugby and Oriel), Miles Howell (capt.) (Repton and Oriel), R. L. Holdsworth (Repton and Magdalen), H. S. Jackson (Aberdeen University and New College), H. S. Lee (Magdalen College School and Magdalen).

Low Figure.

Mr. T. Edge purchased Rosy Picton privately for £50 at Nottingham.

BURSCHEID BATTLES.

52nd Bn. Devonshire Regt's. Game Displays.

NOVICES BOXING.

The fighting spirit of the Devons is evidently not impaired by Carpentier's victory, as 53 competitors turned out for the N.B.C. on Friday at Burscheid. With two or three exceptions all of these were "Young Soldiers".

Out of 26 contests, in which every man stood up gamely and did his best, it is difficult to distinguish any one fighter particularly, but perhaps Pte. Tyrrell, Lt. Weight, and Pte. Jacques, feather weight, showed the most promising form.

Owing to lack of space it was not possible to entertain many visitors, but Col. and Mrs. Irvin and representatives of the 51st Hants Regiment came over to follow the form, as the two Bns. meet on Tuesday in an inter-Battn. Boxing Competition.

Lt.-Col. Betts, D.S.O., as referee, and Sgt.-Major Murray, M.S.M. and Sgt.-Major Turner as judges, very kindly came down to give their assistance.

Results:—

Bantam Weight.

Semi-Finalists:—
Pte. Chestermann .....D Coy.
Pte. Rome .....D "
Pte. Fothergill .....B "
Pte. Collery .....D "

Feather Weight.

Semi-Finalists:—
Cpl. Patsch .....D Coy.
Pte. Cotter .....A "
Pte. Jaqcues .....B "
Pte. Taylor .....C "

Light Weight.

Semi-Finalists:—
Pte. Hill .....D Coy.
Sgt. Stewart .....B "
Cpl. Edwards .....B "
Pte. Tyrrell .....A "

Welter Weight.

Semi-Finalists:—
Pte. Weaver .....D Coy.
Pte. Galiagher .....D "
Pte. Palmer .....D "
C.Q.M.S. Selby .....C "

Middle Weight.

Semi-Finalists:—
Sgt. Priest .....C Coy.
Cpl. Spencer .....B "
Pte. Mott .....C "
Pte. Carr .....C "

The 52nd Devons, thanks largely to the untiring energy of the Battalion sports officer, are at present one of the keenest boxing units in the Rhine Army. The 51st Devons, who have recently gone to England, also possessed some very promising exponents of the noble art, and last year their team met with success in the Aldershot competitions.

The finals of the above contests were held yesterday, and a detailed report will appear in our next issue.

HORSES TO FOLLOW.

Flat Racers making good as Hurdlers.

At the close of each flat-racing season numerous horses which have performed with more or less distinction at the "legitimate" game have their attention turned to the winter sport. Several such are to be noted in events to be decided in the near future, and it will be interesting to see how they disport themselves in their new role.

It frequently happens that a very moderate flat racer turns out a champion over hurdles, a case in point being provided by Karakoul a few years ago. Karakoul was a very ordinary animal on the flat, but at hurdling was a real top-notcher. One of his contemporaries was Mark Time, who was—well, perhaps stones better than Karakoul in races in which clearing hurdles was not part of the scheme. Over the "sticks," however, there was next to nothing between the pair, and it may be recalled that in the famous match at Hurst Park the odds laid on Mark Time were upset by the other.

Promising New-comers.

Until the winter has advanced a little farther, one cannot sum up the position as to the immediate future; but even thus early one or two who come into the category of "useful" have been seen out. Not the least promising of the new comers is the three-year-old Procurator, who has already three brackets to his name.

Another of the same age, viz., Irish Fair, displayed merit in his defeat of Kaboodles and several others at Newbury, though the winner's path was cleared when the odds-on favourite Vertigo fell. The latter, who belongs to Lord Rosebery, should be a first-rater if blue blood was the only essential to success. Vertigo is a son of the St. Leger winner Swynford and Verve, a daughter of Velocity—Valve, by Velasquez—Gas, by Ayrshire.

It is not improbable that Vertigo will make his mark as a hurdler, though he has been unfortunate in his only two efforts to date. In the former of these he was interfered with by a loose horse when he looked like winning at Sandown Park, and, as it was, he finished in front of Procurator; while he was going well when he came down in Irish Fair's race. Vertigo should certainly be given another chance.

WILMOT'S WINNERS.

Mr. F. W. Wilmot is a great riding enthusiast, and seldom gives more than £20 for a horse. These he hacks about and patches up. He has won races with Prieska, for whom he gave £30, Mysterious and Cosy, for whom he gave £20 apiece, while for Bonnie and Responsible he only gave £10 apiece. The last named was placed seventeen times in succession by the judge. The latest success of the Lingfield Park Clerk of the Course and Secretary was with Carson, for whom he gave 24 gs., at Lingfield.

Hockey.

To-day at 10 p.m. the Bonn and Cologne Hockey teams meet on the Poller Wiesen ground. These are the finest clubs in Rhineland.

F.A. DECISIONS.

Middlesbrough Club Threatened with Suspension.

WEIR FOR READING.

The proceedings of the Football Association Emergency Committee contain many important decisions affecting clubs and players.

They report that they have removed the suspensions of the following players: W. Ashmore, Chesterfield Town F.C.; F. Rushby, Gainsborough Trinity F.C.; and L. Cook, Chester F.C.

Spectators' Conduct.

As to the misconduct of spectators at the Middlesbrough v. Aston Villa game on Oct. 25, the report is: The Middlesbrough Club was informed that the Association and clubs make all necessary arrangements for the conduct of the game, and that spectators must also assist. If they do not, penalties must be borne both by clubs (although innocent) and spectators. That if there is any further interference with officials or players, the Middlesbrough ground will be suspended. The club was also ordered to post special notices referring to this case, and containing the warning implied.

Case of J. Weir.

The committee decided in the case of J. Weir, claimed by Fulham, Reading, and Swansea Town clubs, that they were unable to recognise a supplemental agreement entered into between the Fulham and Swansea Town clubs, and that only agreements provided for by the rules of the Association could be accepted. Swansea Town F.C. having registered Weir with the Football Association of Wales subsequently to the player having signed a registration form for Reading F.C. which had been withheld by the Football Association pending the decision of the committee upon the agreement between the Fulham and Swansea Town clubs, of which notice had been given to the F.A. of Wales, the F.A. of Wales were asked to cancel the registration. The player thereupon to be registered for Reading F.C. Registration of Weir by F.A. of Wales cancelled and player registered for Reading F.C. on Nov. 21, 1919.

In reply to an inquiry, the committee decided that a suspension of a professional player involved the loss of any money he would have been entitled to receive during the period of suspension. The rules of the Association provided for a maximum payment during a year, but they did not provide that the amount should be equally distributed over the whole period.

CALCUTTA RUGBY CUP.

Somerset's Retain Possession by defeating S.W.B.s.

Amid great enthusiasm at Calcutta on Saturday, Sept. 20, the 2-5th Somersets retained possession of the Calcutta Rugby Cup (which they first won in 1918) by beating the 1-1st Brecknocks (South Wales Borderers) by 8 points to 5.

In spite of the closeness of the final scores the stronger side won, but the Welshmen put up a tremendous struggle. The Brecknocks actually took the lead after half-time by a goal from a try scored by Watkins, their captain, who played a magnificent game throughout. This lead of a couple of points (the Somersets having kicked a penalty goal) the Brecknock maintained until within five minutes of "no-side," when the Somersets scored the winning try through Davidge, Woodward converting.

2-5th Somersets.—Brown; Lynham, Woollen, Sgt. Davidge (capt), Woodward; Searle, Turner; Pole, Parker, Head, Dyke, Larkworthy, Williams, Bale, Shattock.

1-1st Brecknocks—J.R. Thomas; T. Webb, Maggs, James, Samuels; Watkins (capt), Owens; Jenkins, Berrows, Williams, Haddock, T. Thomas, Perry, W.A. Webb, Davies.

Referee, J. Reid-Kay (C.F.C.).

CHESHIRE v. DURHAM.

The Durham Rugby team against Cheshire at Birkenhead Park on Dec. 13 has been selected as follows:—J. Manson (Hartlepool Rovers); Forsland (Durham City), Scott Page, (Westloe), A. M. Gillsthorpe (Sunderland), W. Fenwick (Durham City); G. H. Tedley (Sunderland), C. Pickersgill, J. C. Sievewright (Hartlepool Rovers); E. Moors, (Sunderland), J. Mc Millan (Sunderland), R. Wyman, (Durham City), Spence (Hartlepool Rovers), A. L. Woodman (North Durham), E. Summersdale (Durham City), Simpson (Hartlepool Rovers.)

Cheshire:—W. H. Pemberton (Birkenhead Park); F. M. Arkle (Birkenhead Park); W. Watts (Leicester); H. Locke, W. M. Lowry, (Birkenhead Park); R. P. Bloor (Birkenhead Park); G. B. Davey (Liverpool); E. Billington, R. D. Walker (Birkenhead Park); P. Cheshire, A. M'Leod (Cosmopolitans); F. Johnson (New Brighton), J. P. Scott, W. Tait, G. H. Williams (Sale).

LEAVE CLUB CHESS.

Final Results of Knock-Out Tournament.

Semi-Final Round.

L.Cpl. Whyte ..... 1 Cpl. Williams ... 0
Sergt. Yates..... 1 L.Cpl. Sers 0

Final Round.

After a long, well-contested game lasting over two hours, L.Cpl. Whyte secured the hard-earned points and the prize,—a wrist watch.

Local Billiards.

A team of six W.O.'s and sergeants of the Rifle Brigade are desirous of a Challenge Billiards Tournament with a team of W.O.'s and sergeants of the Rhine Army. Communications should be addressed to Sergeant H. Forsyth, 52nd The Rifle Brigade, Riehl Barracks.

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

"THE SINGER OF THE VELDT."

Although the title does not imply it, Miss Inez Bensusan's play "The Singer of the Veldt," which is to be produced by the Rhine Army Dramatic Company at the Deutsches theatre on Wednesday, is described as a modern comedy.

We are already familiar with Miss Bensusan's undoubted ability and versatility as an actress but the majority of us have yet to make her acquaintance in her capacity as playwright. If the latter is on anything like the same plane as her histrionic talent, her play should rank in no inconspicuous place among the successful productions of her contemporaries.

"The Singer of the Veldt" was written in 1913 and if the expressed opinions of some of London's leading producers is any criterion, the play would long ago, supposing circumstances had been normal instead of abnormal, have been staged in our English theatres.

* * *

The story concerns the affairs of a woman of the ultra-modern type and her relations with a simple-minded farm-boy in the wilds of South Africa. This forms the basis of many cleverly conceived situations and around these two characters gravitate the others in the caste.

Unlike many authors, Miss Bensusan writes of the scene of her play with first-hand knowledge, having travelled South Africa extensively. She herself will play the principal part, and will portray a type contrary to any she has given us previously in the course of her appearances at the Deutsches theatre.

Lieut. S. E. Percy was to have presented the farm-boy, but, in view of the considerable amount of work he will have as producer, the part has been given to Pte. Terry, who, judging by previous performances, should "make good."

Others who are to appear include Miss Gabriel Paul, Miss Marjorie Moore, and Sgt. Shilsky.

* * *

From reading the "book," "The Singer of the Veldt" appears to be one of those plays which depends almost entirely for its success upon the personality of the people taking part. If this is lacking, the brilliance of the dialogue will be lost to a great degree. Capt. Jammett, of the Army Art School, has designed some delightful dresses of a very, very modern pattern, and the only doubtful feature of them is whether or not their incongruity will be appreciated as they ought to be by the audiences. But it should be remembered that subtle humour is the keynote of the play.

Unfortunately, the time available for rehearsals has been very brief, and generous latitude should be allowed for any slight deficiencies there may be in the opening performance.

Whatever degree of success achieved by "The Singer of the Veldt" in its staging, Miss Bensusan is to be heartily congratulated upon having written a particularly clever play, original in its conception and bright and agreeable in its treatment.

Remnants of H.A.C.

A lively gathering was held at Urban's Burghof Café, Hohe Strasse, on Tuesday evening, the occasion being a dinner held by the remaining members of the Honourable Artillery Company with the Rhine Army, who are now attached to the 113th Bde. R.A.F. at Berg. Gladbach. About 40 members were present and the proceedings, were most successful, while the orchestra kept up a succession of familiar British airs throughout the evening.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Sun.	The Gypsy Baron	Strauss	7	10
Mon.	Armourer of Worms	Lortzing	7	9.45
Tuesday	No Performance.
Wed.	Die Frau ohne Schatten	Strauss	6	10.30
Thurs.	Cav. Rusticana Der Bajazzi	Mascagni Leoncavallo	7	9.45
Fri.	Der Waffenschmied	Lortzing	7	10
Sat.	Merry Wives of Windsor	Nicolai	7	10.30
Sun.	Meistersinger von Nürnberg	Wagner	5	10.30
Monday	No Performance
Tuesday	No Performance

52nd D.L.I. Concert

Another Company Concert was held in 'C' Company Lines at Bonn on Wednesday evening. There was no lack of fun and good humour, and the evening was very pleasantly passed. Boy Etherington drew loud applause with his solos, and his duets with Pte. Brown were also well received. Capt. Boyle, C.F., and Lt. Coulshaw created much merriment, whilst Lt. Anderson, and Sergt. Norris sang songs which were well appreciated. Two sketches were also produced. "Generally Useful" was good, but "Orderly Room" was a perfect scream from beginning to end. Sergt. Norris made an excellent C.O. Nor must we forget Drummer Ives and "The Nigger," for they also contributed,—as well as the light refreshments—to the success of the evening.

"Not Desirable."

An interesting debate took place in the British Empire Leave Club on Friday evening. The subject for discussion was. "That in the opinion of this House the issue of Premium Bonds in England is desirable."

Sergt. Woods, A.P.C., spoke in favour of the motion, which was opposed by Pte. Turner, Labour Corps. After many enthusiasts had spoken on either side a division was taken and the motion was lost by 5 votes.

The motion for next week is, "That in the opinion of this House the English attitude towards questions of morality is more reasonable than the Continental one."

Pte. Doughty will speak in favour, Pte. Turner against. Friday next, 6.30 p.m.

Empire Leave Club.

At the British Empire Leave Club this week, another excellent programme has been arranged. To-day the Rev. C. E. Wheeler will speak in the writing room from 5 to 6 and there will be a band concert by the 23rd Royal Fusiliers at 6.30 p.m. For to-morrow (Monday) an impromptu concert is announced to take place at 5 p.m. followed by German classes from 6 to 8, while at 6.30 p.m. there will be a practice dance. Further arrangements will be published on Tuesday.

Whist Drive.

The top score of 154 was reached by Pte. R H. Fisher at the British Empire Leave Club whist drive on Thursday night, Sergt. Norman and Pte. F. C. Munroe coming in second and third with 147 and 145 respectively. The "Ladies" prizes were won by Pte. E. Burgess with 153, Pte. W. Finbond and L.-Cpl. F.H. Stead, each scoring 147. Pte. J. Green was M.C. and Lieut. Rouch, President.

JACQUES.

HORACE BARNES.

Attributes of a Noted Veteran Forward.

There are many indications that the special football articles, written by front rank players, one of which appears in this page each Saturday, are perused with considerable interest by many readers. In yesterday's issue was published an engrossing article entitled "When Science meets Dash," from the pen of Horace Barnes, Manchester City's famous inside-right, who knows well the subject on which he wrote.

This player made a big name for himself when appearing in the ranks of Derby County. He proved a great goal-getter, and as such attracted the attention of many of the leading clubs. Overtures were made to the "Rams," but the Peak men had their own idea of his worth and the price asked was very high.

Then came Manchester City, badly in need of a scoring inside forward, and the deal was closed. Barnes changed his quarters, and the football world received a great surprise when the transfer fee became known. £2,500 was the stated price, an amount one could have got a team for a few years before, and it still stands as the highest transfer fee paid for any player.

Worth It.

That he was worth it, was proved beyond doubt. His goal-scoring efforts, and steadying influence on the "Citizens" line soon repaid the cost of his transfer, and the City thanked their stars for his acquisition. He is possessed of a fine turn of speed, cool, brainy, and with that sterling quality of a first-class inside forward, namely, that he can make his wing man play.

Commenting on a winger being tried by the "Citizens", a well-known authority said, "If Barnes cannot bring him on, no man can," and therein lies one of the secrets of his success.

The war seems to have slowed the international a little; he fails to give those brilliant touches which brought him into the limelight in pre-war days, but he is still a great player. His deft passes to Browell have accounted not a little for that centre's scoring record. The command Barnes has over the ball seems almost uncanny at times, and his brilliant flashes have made him a great favourite in the cotton town.

He appears to be improving, and when critics can write, as they used to do, "Barnes was Barnes," the "Citizens" will be a happier lot than they are to-day.

W. Le. C.

YOUR LUCKY NUMBER?

We want your Entries for No. 12 Contest.

The happenings in yesterday's league battles may have a great bearing on the matches which appear on the coupon below, and competitors will be advised to pay attention to the form of clubs, which are now well in the running for honours. There is certain to be a big fight to escape relegation and, at this stage, to forecast the teams who will occupy the lowest rungs at the season's end is a task beyond us. There will be some surprises served up yet by clubs seeking to remain in Division I. Watch for them.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—
FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 12
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S.40 Rhine Army.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 12.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec 13th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 12th.

Burnley	v. Oldham
Notts County	v. Everton
Grimsby	v. Bristol City
Lincoln	v. Hull City
West Ham	v. Coventry
South Shields	v. Barnsley
Palace	v. Queens Park R.
St. Mirren	v. Dumbarton
Clyde	v. Queens Park.
Ayr U.	v. Morton

I enter Football Competition No. 12 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(in block letters)
Rank and No. .....
Unit .....
Full Address .....

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

Keeps him away.

I don't notice quite so many officers in the Clubs at night just now. Of course very many have gone but I fancy "wifie" must be the main reason.

Craze for Buying.

Ever since he has been in Cologne a friend of mine has been steadily buying souvenirs from the best shops. Now he is due for demob: the problem of getting them home faces him. A big packing case will be needed.

Hi, Steward!!

Those who have been going on leave just recently have, I hear, had some very unpleasant experiences crossing the silver streak in the awful gules that have been encountered.

A Little Late Perhaps.

The other day a Cologne officer and his wife went for a trip to the Flanders battlefields. Almost the first person they met was a friend who had done yeoman service at Boulogne from 1915. "Yes," he said, "thought I'd better just come, and have a look at the war before I'm demobbed."

Move of N.A.C.B. Headquarters.

The address of the Headquarter Office, N.A.C.B., Cologne, and of M.H.S. Accountants, is 27, Obenmarspforten, Cologne (round the corner from the present office).

Less Attractive.

An officer I know was fascinated by the price of a good German piano as compared with London figures and bought one. He was more subdued when subsequently he learnt that a stiff sum as Customs duty had to be reckoned for, when he sent it home.

Plenty to Do.

I had a letter recently from a friend engaged on the cheerful task of a Graves' officer in France. He thinks his job is likely to last at least two years more.

Heroic but Disastrous.

There was wild excitement in a Hohestrasse tea-room the other afternoon. A wife who had been shopping brought in a small girl with a big air balloon. Releasing her hold of it the thing floated all over the room. A gallant young sub. endeavoured to capture it and, making a frantic lurch, upset three tables and all the teas and crockery on them.

The Young Visiters.

Daisy Ashford's book, "The Young Visiters," which has been the subject of so much controversy in literary circles, is now obtainable at the "Cologne Post" bookshop. One of the first purchasers was a German schoolboy.

War Savings.

The number of War Savings certificates sold to members of the British Army of the Rhine during the four weeks ending November 8th show a drop from 50,900 during the four weeks ending Sept. 13th to 14,790 for the four weeks ending November 8th.

Inundated.

We are still being snowed under by Home Subscription forms, which we are receiving from all parts. Twenty marks will send the "Post" to your home daily for a month. Don't delay; send your form now.

For Signallers Only.

The other day I saw a gunner wearing dark blue shoulder straps on his tunic. When I enquired I was told that only signallers have the at privilege.

An Ardent Swain.

Yesterday I saw an officer wearing what I took to be two identification wristlets. But on closer inspection I found one of them had a cameo portrait of a lovely girl on the disc.

Getting Ready.

I hear that most wonderful schemes of Yuletide decoration are being thought out at the various Clubs and institutes, notably the Leave Club and the Central Y.M.C.A.

Hardly That.

In a window in the Hohe Strasse, there is a chariot full of toys, bearing the inscription "Nur fur lustige kinder". Two Tommies were trying to decipher this. One got as far as "Nur fur..." "I know that means, 'Only for'", he said. "Oh," said the other, "Come away: it doesn't apply to us. It probably means' 'Nur fur Offiziere und deutsches publikum.'

Poulterer's Cart.

A game-dealer's cart I saw recently was very stylishly decorated with carvings. Raised panels with carved birds, fish, and animals lent a picturesque effect.

Doubles.

Not only has Mr. Horatio Bottomley's "double" been seen in Cologne but now Mr. Lloyd George 's counterpart has turned up. He was spotted by a military policeman coming out of the Railway Station yesterday. Any more?

French Appreciation.

I see that there is generally a fair sprinkling of French horizon blue among the opera audience to-day. The French were always lovers of good music.

No Burnishing.

In these days when batmen are growing scarcer and scarcer the officer who wears leather buttons instead of brass undoubtedly scores, even if he lacks that smartness inherent in the shiny button.

His Disability.

I heard of a Rhineland soldier who was asked by the P.T. Instructor why he didn't take part in the games. "Medically unfit, sir," was the reply. "Why, what's wrong with you? You look all right!" "Oh, I couldn't run, sir. Got a tooth wot want's stoppin'."

Fairly New to Us.

The Christmas tree which has always played so big a part in German Yuletide festivities only began to be popular in our own country about the time that Queen Victoria married Prince Albert of Saxe-Coburg.

Esperanto.

Although my knowledge of German is painfully limited I can generally manage to grasp the trend of a sentence. The other day, however, I was addressed by my favourite waiter and failed to understand a single word. I gathered later that he had been playfully pulling my leg and had been speaking in Esperanto.

Follow Esperanto.

He then informed me that Esperanto had a large following in Cologne in pre-war days, and there are still many enthusiastic students of the language.

Better to Dance.

A very pleasant half hour may be be spent in the balcony at the B.E.L.C. watching the poetry of motion keeping time with the rhythm of the music. Of course it is better to dance yourself, especially if you are lucky enough to get a lady partner.

RHINELANDER.

THE MIRROR OF THE SOUL

Over the archway of a large public school in England there is this motto: "Manners maketh the man." It is well known that manners are the mirror of the soul.

In the vast concourse of people of all races and tongues, we are told that there are no two faces to be found which are absolutely alike. While the main features are sometimes identical there is some subtle difference in the expression, and in that expression the soul of the individual shines out.

The character of a nation can be seen in the type of face to be found in a crowd of people in some large city of that country, and in studying those faces one is able to sum up the great national characteristics.

From the aspect of the question from a national point of view we may turn to that of the individual who goes to make that nation.

A visit to what is called "The Chamber of Horrors" in Madame Tussaud's will show the type of man or woman who has allowed all the evil passions to which the human race is heir, to predominate their lives, and the face is repulsive; the whole countenance is a danger signal for the unwary.

We have seen the type of man who goes about and cares not a scrap for the comfort of others, ready to push his way to the front regardless of the weaker who may go to the wall. The soul of this man is seen in the cruel and selfish face; he cares not for the motto, "As ye would that men should do into you, do ye also unto them." The soul of this man is weak and puny, and he will be the first to cry out in a moment of danger.

We have seen the man who took for his watchword "Might is Right," a type who swept over Europe, and thought his motto true, until he was pulled by those whose purpose it was to see that the weakest in creation had the same chance as those who had been endued with greater gifts.

Every man should strive to show in his face the good clean soul that God would have every man possess, a soul that thinks of others and their welfare.

A man once sat in his cottage, and as the days went by, he complained that his sight got worse and worse, until there came a day in his life when he called his friends together and told them that he was blind. A kind friend who felt sorry for him set to work to see if there was anything practical she could do to help in the work of the cottage, and on looking round saw that the windows were very dirty, and though it would seem that to clean them could not do much good yet she worked until they were quite clean. The old man turned to her and said that a miracle had happened, and that he could now see.

The windows had been cleaned and now the pure sunlight could penetrate the darkness of the man's life.

The windows of a man's soul are like the windows of the cottage, and if only a man would see that these are clean, what a difference it would make to his own life and the lives of others.

To cultivate good manners means that one is thinking of others and does not show to the rest of mankind that brutal selfishness which in time is bound to destroy a nation. It means that the man's character is becoming kind and gentle. If manners make the man, surely it can be said that true religion makes the manners God's gentlemen.

REV. C. E. K. WHEELER, C.F.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

To Carry On.—The aerodrome at Kenley Common is to be retained permanently.

To Stop Outrages.—General Allenby has prohibited all firearms in Egypt.

Calming Down.—The strikes in Italy are coming to an end.

Slumping.—Both the French franc and the Italian lire have again fallen in value.

A Danger.—Germany's citizen guards regularly do military drill, including musketry and bombing.

Father and Daughter.—General Philpotts and his daughter both received the M.B.E. from the King.

General's Price.—General Villa, betrayed by his own men, is to be surrendered to the Mexican Government for £5,000.

Dancer Wed.—Miss Vacani, who taught King Alfonso dancing, has married Captain F. L. Rankin.

Smokes Gone.—Over ten thousand cigars, worth £600, have been stolen from a Regent Street shop.

Veteran Underwriter. — The oldest member of Lloyds, Mr. L. C. Wakefield, has died at the ripe age of 88.

A Fine Record.—A London waterman just presented with a life saving medal has already saved fifty lives.

A Shilling Elsewhere.—People are asking how it is that milk can be bought at only 7d. a quart in Devon and Cornwall.

Street Robbery.—A messenger boy carrying £400 worth jewellery was attacked in Clerkenwell and robbed of it.

Women Stay on.—One of the largest London banks has withdrawn its notice of dismissal to its 4,000 women clerks.

Fond of it.—Although the Land Army is demobbed, many of the girls will remain on farm work.

Domestics Degree.—The new degree of domestic science is attracting many young women to King's College.

Aerial Scooter.—The tiny "joy flier," the latest novelty, will travel 65 miles an hour and weighs only 220 lbs.

Going Broke.—The "Vindictive" lying across Ostend harbour has broken her back.

On The Movies.—"Peter Pan," Barrie's perennial play for children, is to be screened.

Losing Their "Greys."—If the Scots Greys go to India, the loss of their famous grey steeds is threatened.

No Increase.—The figures of increased exports are misleading. We are not producing more, but values are inflating.

Chink Swings.—Djang Djing Sing, a Chinese, who killed a fellow countryman near Birmingham, has been executed at Worcester Gaol.

Impressionist Dead.—Auguste Renoir, the famous Impressionist painter, has just died at Cannes. He studied with Monet and Sisley.

For Fear of Raids.—The four famous bronze horses have been restored to St. Marks, Venice. They were removed during the war.

Squeamish.—The Peggy Primrose play had to be altered to "A Dear Little Lady." The censor didn't like the first title of "A Dear Little Devil."

Getting them All—England is experiencing a wave of violent storms with thunder, lightning, hail, snow, wind and rain.

Wants Freedom.—Lord Beauchamp says the country is sick of Government controllers and dictators always interfering with British trade.

Intrepid Woman.—Miss Mary Hall, the first woman to travel without a white companion from the Cape to Cairo, has just died.

Starving Clergy.—The Vicar of Leeds says that many of the Yorkshire clergy do not get enough to eat to do their work efficiently.

A Good Example.—The Army saved £2,500,000 by the salvage of tins, paper, bottles and other waste since the Armistice.

To Test Benzol.—The Automobile Association and Motor Union have carried out a 10,000 mile road test to prove whether benzol injures car engines.

Food Control.—Lieut. Gen. Sir Francis Lloyd, who held the London Command during the war, is now to be London Food Commissioner.

Alleged Counterfeiting.—A Bermondsey woman's house has been raided and implements for making spurious coins discovered.

Boat Overturned.—Seven seamen belonging to H. M. S. "Silvo" and "Swindon" have been drowned. The boat in which they were returning to their ships from Plymouth capsized.

Drove him Mad.—Colonel F. M. Parry, commandant of a Military Hospital at Hemel Hempstead, has committed suicide through worries connected with its administration.

Fell at Night.—A Handley Page machine from Paris ran short of petrol near East Molesey and made a perilous descent at night. None of the seven passengers were hurt.

NOTES FROM LONDON TOWN.

JUDGES AND ASPIRATES.

Sir Harry Poland corrects the "Sunday Times" for fathering on Lord Westbury, that celebrated old "Millerism" about "'umming his 'ymns of praise." I have heard the story told of at least two judges, but no doubt Sir Harry has good reasons for stating that it was Selborne's aspirate-dropping habit which prompted an angry barrister, who had just had an altercation with the learned judge, to say to a friend "The 'oly 'umbug 'ums 'is 'ymns of praise, 'ow I 'ate 'im." Apropos of this little failing, an Admiralty Silk told me a good story of Baron Channell of the Exchequer Division, a very learned judicial light whose pronunciation was markedly democratic.

A ROUGH SEA.

Channell was then practising at the Admiralty bar and his opponent in a certain collision case spoke of a ship called the "Helen." When it came to Channell's turn to open the case for the other side, the Court heard a good deal about a boat named the "Elen." The presiding judge, getting a little bewildered, observed, "I seem to have two ships on my notes, the 'Helen' and the 'Ellen', and I fear I am somewhat confused." "There is only one ship in question, My Lord", replied Channell's opponent. "When she left port she was christened 'Helen,' but lost her aitch in the chops of the Channell."

YEOMAN OF THE GUARD.

Gilbert and Sullivan opera is having a most popular revival. The latest piece is "The Yeoman of the Guard," and the omens of its first night at "Princes Theatre" are that the house will be well filled till Christmas Eve, up to which time it will figure in the bill. I think its popularity is due to the fact that there is an element of genuine pathos in the story underneath all the Gilbertianisms. Colonel Fairfax is a typical Elizabethan English gentleman and lover. The fate that hangs like a sword of Damocles over his handsome head lends a mournfully gay note to the piece without destroying its essential unity—at least it does so when the part is properly filled, as indeed it is by that practised "Savoyard," Mr. Derek Oldham.

PUSSYFOOT.

I see that the readers of one of the two London papers, which were so prominent in organising opposition to Mr. Johnson, have in sympathy subscribed a testimonial to the American on account of the loss of his eye. Mr. Johnson, however, has declined the honour, and it is suggested in some quarters that he takes the view, and no doubt rightly, that the papers themselves and not their readers should have put up the subscription. My own impression is that the sobriquet of "Pussyfoot" did Mr. Johnson's campaign more harm than any supposed "organisation" or "engineering". The discovery that this was the nickname of the latest "Saloon-bar smasher" was made by a stunt journalist on the "Daily Mail". But after all, the act of a hooligan cannot be morally fathered on any one but the perpetrator.

THE NORTH AMERICAN FURS.

The boom in Seal and Blue Musquash, Seal Coney, Blue Kitt Fox, skunk and Kolinski sables is some evidence that North America is profiting by the misfortunes of Russia. But on the other hand a good deal of fur is being exported from Siberia, and I learn that certain Russian traders are in this country doing a big factor's business with Poland and European Russia. Of course furs have many aliases, and undoubtedly squirrels, rabbits and wolves are not seldom the animals from whose backs the alleged fox musquash, etc., have come. Prices rule very high for the better furs, and if, as is whispered, a lot of these furs are filtering through from certain parts of European Russia, one can well understand the high prices.

TOY BAZAARS.

There are many first-rate toy bazaars in London at this time, and in all of them dolls, dolls' prams, wooden horses and carts, Meccano engineering outfits, stuffed animals, and dolls' houses figure most prominently. Prices differ more widely than one would have expected. Comparisons are "odorous," but a first-rate doll's pram at a surprisingly low figure can be bought at one of the West End toy bazaars, where indeed the dolls too, both in quality and price, put the articles in certain other places in the shade. There is unquestionably a great difference in quality between this Christmastide's toys and those of last Christmas. It is to be hoped that the British industry will continue to aim at quality while seeing to it that prices generally are more reasonable.

PERISCOPE.

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O.S. 40. British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

PHONOLA first-class instrument for sale for £30. Nippes, Yorkstr. 301L. Call from 1-3, 7-9.

PHOTO HOUSE and camera repairing works. Aug Lang, mechanician of precision. Kl Neusse 9/11. Always bargains in second-hand binoculars Zeiss-Goertz, Voigtländer & Leitz.

XMAS CARDS. Rhineland souvenir series, one mark each at the "Cologne Post" Book Room, The Arcade, Hohe Strasse.

WANTED.

BUSINESS lady requires comfortably furnished bed-sitting room. Apply Box G. O., Cologne Post. A.P.O./S. 40.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

EXPERIENCED German cook, employed by 51st Bde Devons, until disbanded, seeks situation in Officer's mess. Apply Maria Behrend, Zulpicherstr. 327, Köln-Sülz.

PERSONAL.

WILL WILLIAM EMDE believed to be in the British Army of Occupation communicate with his mother at 84 Aachenerstr., Cologne.

TOMMY. Have you ordered your Xmas cards from the "Cologne Post" Book Room yet? They have a special series of Rhineland cards at one mark each.

LESSONS IN SINGING. L. Götzer, Opern- and Concertsängerin Gentorstr. 26 II.

BILLET.

Warrant Officer can thoroughly recommend billet; bedroom and sitting room. Lindenthal: quiet, reasonable terms. Box 97, Cologne Post A.P.O. 8/40

LANGUAGES

YOUNG LADY wants conversation in English family and gives German lessons to the children. Please write A 424 Cologne Post, A.P.O.S. 40.

YOUNG LADY wants conversation with English lady. Please write A 423 Cologne Post, A.P.O.S. 40.

2 YOUNG GERMAN LADIES want exchange of conversation with English ladies. Apply to A 422 Cologne Post, A.P.O.S. 40.

BONN. Educated young lady wants exchange of conversation (English-German) with English lady. Write to Frl. Hetty Goy, Combahnstrasse, Beuel-Bonn.

ALUMINIUM KITCHEN UTENSILS
for sale — cheap — always in stock. PILGRAM, Marienplatz 12, near Stephanstr.

The high grade "TUCKMAR" Razor

Do you know why everybody asks to-day for a "Tuckmar" razor and why they are called the "Worlds Perfect Razor"???
Because they are the very best and most durable razors in shaving!!!
The excellence of the "Tuckmar" razors consists in their being made from the very best silver steel and in their having the best reputation in the world!!! Every razor fully warranted! SOLD EVERYWHERE!
TÜCKMANTEL & MARTIN, Ohligs-Solingen.
Factory-Agent and Exhibition: Gormanns & Schallenberg, Cologne, Neumarkt 32-34.

Rosenhof
COLOGNE, Hohestrasse 9.
5 o'clock Tea and Evening Entertainment. From 5.00 till 10.45 p.m. continous performance. Renowned singers, dancers and reciters. First-class House for Officers and civilians only.

ODEON COLOGNE HOHESTRASSE 9
Variety performance from 7-10.45 p.m.

THE NEW N.A.C.B. DEPARTMENT STORES

NOW OPEN

—the latest and greatest of all the N.A.C.B. enterprises in Cologne — the magnificent and commodious department stores, completely equipped to handle every kind of commodity and arranged in the manner of a first-class London shop. Here Officers and their wives are able to fill all their immediate needs, under one roof, passing from one counter to another, paying at the desk for all purchases.

WHAT YOU CAN BUY

A much wider range of articles may be purchased than it is possible to give here but the items mentioned will give some idea of the scope of your own stores.

ALL CAKES AND PASTRIES	GROCERIES
CONFECTIONERY	ALL WINES
CLOTHING	SPIRITS
SPORTS GOODS	LIQUEURS
FANCY GOODS	ALL BEERS
STATIONERY	TOBACCO
SOAPS ETC.	ALL CIGARS
PERFUMERY	CIGARETTES
	RAZORS ETC.

OFFICER'S CLOTHING

LADIES DEPARTMENT

A special room has been reserved and equipped for the sale of ladies clothing and other personal requirements.

THE TEA ROOM

The tea room is quite an attractive feature of the N.A.C.B. Store and undoubtedly helps in making shopping a pleasure instead of a tiresome necessity. Large and comfortably arranged with separate tables customers may, in company with their wives, enjoy a real cup of tea with cakes, pastries and so on.

FOR OFFICERS & THEIR WIVES AT 27 OBENMARSPFORTEN

Turn off the Hohestr. towards the Rhine — opposite Brückenstr.

NOW OPEN COME TO-DAY

"N.A.C.B. SERVICE."

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 25 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 7, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. 843 British Army of the Rhine.

LOOK OUT FOR THE COLOGNE POST XMAS SOUVENIR NUMBER

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

RHINELAND SOUVENIR XMAS CARDS AT THE COLOGNE POST BOOK ROOM

No. 216. COLOGNE, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

ALLIES NOTE TO GERMANY.

NOT AN ULTIMATUM, BUT CONTAINS A THREAT OF MILITARY ACTION.

THE PREMIER'S POLITICAL CONJUGATION.

PEACE DELAY.

GERMANY MUST SIGN OR BE COERCED.

The terms of the Supreme Council's Note to Germany were apparently definitely settled by the Council on Saturday.

It is believed that the Note is a firm injunction, but not an ultimatum. There is a threat of military action but no time limit is stipulated. The German Government will have no doubt, after reading the Note, that it will be futile to attempt any evasion.

The Note was expected to be delivered to Baron von Lersner on Monday.

The final Note of the Supreme Council presented to Germany concluded by demanding the German Government to sign the Protocol, failing which the Allies will be obliged to have recourse to methods of coercion of a military nature. The Text of the Note was adopted unanimously. The greatest secrecy has naturally been maintained regarding its contents. It is understood, however, that it is very firm in tone and there is every reason to believe that the discussion begun by Germany in connection with the enforcement of the Peace Treaty will now be closed, once and for all. It is even considered possible that Germany will agree to exchange ratifications within a week.

Although nothing has been published regarding the discussions between Marshal Foch, Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, and the Council generally, it is understood that everything is ready for action if the Council gives the word. Troops on the Rhine have been re-grouped in such manner as to make an advance an easy military manoeuvre. It should be remembered that the Treaty of Versailles not being yet in force, the armistice regime still exists. The armistice was prolonged on the 16th February "for a short period, without date of expiry." It can therefore be ended by giving three days' notice.

The War Office declines to make any statement regarding the movements of troops and guns on the Rhine at Strassburg, as the matter concerns the Supreme Council alone.

Meanwhile, telegrams from Switzerland report an exodus of wealthy Germans from the right bank of the Rhine, and the number of Germans awaiting permission to enter Switzerland is increasing daily.

The Supreme Council has finally examined the question of payment of Customs duty to Germany on her land frontiers. The German Government desired that these duties shall be collected in gold, as are those on the sea frontiers. Decision on the matter has been postponed pending the coming into force of the Treaty.

Writing in the "Echo de Paris," "Pertinax" says that at Saturday's secret meeting of the Supreme Council, M. Clemenceau and Marshal Foch explained that the unexpected departure on the 23rd November of the German Plenipotentiaries and the controversies in which the Germans have been indulging for the last month leave no room for doubt that it is time to act. Only an ultimatum, they considered, can get the Allies out of an embarrassing situation.

Marshal Foch, says "Pertinax," promises that should an ultimatum ultimately have to be sent, the necessary means are not lacking, and we are in a position to carry out the plans prepared by him last June.

PEACE CONFERENCE.

AMERICAN MEMBERS TO LEAVE.

The whole of the American Delegates to the Peace Conference sail for America on the 10th. The American Ambassador, Mr. Wallace, will be the only remaining representative of the United States on the Supreme Council.

It is understood that Mr. Wallace will only have diplomatic powers, without the authority to take definite action on the important matters still remaining to be discussed, though it is possible that a further course of negotiations may lead to modification of his position.

ROUMANIAN TREATY.

Reuter learns that the Roumanian objections to the signing of the Austrian Peace Treaty owing to the clauses dealing with the protection of minorities, are likely to be overcome, the Supreme Council having accepted suggested modifications.

TERRITORIAL FORCE.

At a meeting of the Army Committee on Thursday afternoon, when General Seely was elected a member of the Executive Committee, it was stated that the Territorial Force will be reconstituted at an early date.

The King has appointed the Marquis of Londonderry a Knight of the Garter and the Earl of Desart a Knight of the Order of Saint Patrick.

PREMIER SPEAKS.

PAST REGRETS AND HOPES FOR THE FUTURE.

Speaking at Manchester at a luncheon given by the Manchester Reform Club, Mr. Lloyd George said he greatly appreciated the honour of their electing him as President. There had been distressing conditions within the Liberal Party during the last three or four years. He could not part from his old friends readily. It was a source of deep pain to him to have to separate from those with whom he had worked for years in the same common cause. It would not have been easy, but that he saw imperative reasons affecting the land they loved so dearly. There was no disagreement on the question of principles. Nothing could be more distressing to an old party leader than to have to sever relations with old comrades in arms. He had done his best to avoid a split. If anyone doubted that, let them look at the correspondence which passed at the time. If they thought it was his duty to take a certain course he had also to make a separation which was very hard, but he would have been a traitor to his country had he not done so. He felt, deep in his heart, that unless we imparted a new spirit to the struggle, the cause of the Allies would have been lost.

He had been and still was of the opinion that the time for party conflict had not arrived. It was necessary for a continuance of that national unity which during the war everybody agreed was vital and which is equally necessary to-day. Obstacles in the way of reconstruction could not be surmounted by a revival of Party strife.

As to Mr. Asquith, no word of unkindness or disrespect would ever fall from his (Mr. Lloyd George's) lips. They had never had a quarrel in their lives and he was not going to attack or criticise Mr. Asquith, but he disagreed with his view that the time had come for a renewal of Party strife. In the light of experiences of other democracies he warned them against such a renewal. In America they saw Peace and the League of Nations endangered. Party strife had been renewed there prematurely. Was not that a warning? We were not through the wood. Germany thought she could take advantage of the differences in America.

Referring to the Coalition Government he said that by its means they could act more effectively and speedily. If they wished to see how far the Coalition was prepared to go, let them examine the work of the last three years, with the legislation of any preceding three years. Sir Donald Maclean had led the Liberal Party with dignity, sincerity and ability. With regard to the Irish question the Premier said he was hopeful of a real contribution to that most baffling problem; but where Gladstone failed, he continued, it would be presumptuous of him to say that they would succeed. There was one element in their favour, namely, that the Unionists were prepared to make great sacrifices to preserve national unity. It was, however, no use talking about problems of liberty where there was crime, anarchy, and defiance of law.

Continuing, he said that the Paris resolutions involved much more interference with British trade that the "Dumping" Bill. Nothing is more harmful to free trade than dumping, and "I am a Free Trader", he declared, amid loud cheers.

PRESIDENT WILSON.

SENATORS' REPORT ON HIS CONDITION.

Senators Fall and Hitchcock, who were delegated to confer with President Wilson regarding the Mexican crisis and also to report whether the President, by reason of his illness was unable to exercise his duties, left the White House after a conference lasting forty-five minutes.

They agreed that the President was in touch with the recent developments and that he is mentally keen enough to form a judgment on questions confronting the nation.

The President, who was propped up in bed, shook hands with his visitors and took up some papers from a table beside the bed and read them. The Senators described the patient as weak and nervous, but said that he jested about the exaggerated reports of his illness.

Senator Fall declared that President Wilson appeared "in as good a mental condition as any man could be after an illness of nine weeks' duration." Senator Hitchcock considered that the President had been a very sick man, but was improving.

The Dover-Calais passenger service which was interrupted during the war will be resumed on the 15th December.

For the first time on record the exchange for one pound sterling on Saturday exceeded forty francs.

IRISH LEAGUE.

COMBINES WITH THE LABOUR PARTY.

The United Irish League of Great Britain has decided to ally itself with the British Labour Party. This important announcement was made on Saturday by Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M.P., who declares that the tragedy of Ireland deepens every hour. "We can only give satisfaction to the resentment felt by our people in Great Britain against the present treatment of Ireland by striking a blow through our vote in Britain against those responsible for Irish oppression," he said.

CUPID BUSY.

RUSH OF FRENCH WEDDINGS.

Never since the first month of the war have there been so many marriages in Paris as during the last few weeks. In the third week of October there were 1,392, in the first week of November 1,215, and in the second week 1,056.

When the war burst over France without warning, many brides and bridegrooms-to-be rushed to marry and in the first week of August 1914 there were 1,052 and in the second week 1,416 marriages. In August 1915 the number fell to 525, and in August 1916, when the Germans were furiously attacking Verdun and anxiety was rife in Paris, the number fell to 281. In 1917 the average weekly number was about 500. Immediately after the armistice, as demobilization commenced, the figures began to mount, and for 1919 the average number of marriages has been nearly one thousand per week.

"UP! JENKINS."

THE U.S. CONSULAR COMEDY.

It is reported from Mexico that the American Consular Agent Jenkins attempted on Friday to secure re-imprisonment, as he desired unconditional liberty. He declared that the bail under which he was liberated had been given without his knowledge. The judicial authorities, however, refused to permit him to re-enter prison.

Reports in the Press that Mr. Jenkins, the American Consular Agent, was released only after payment of bail to Puebla in Court, are not confirmed from official sources. Mr. Lansing states that the report will be investigated.

Republican members of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate have decided not to press the full resolution for action against Mexico until President Wilson has sent to the Committee his promised memorandum.

NAVY ESTIMATES.

AMERICAN PREPARATIONS.

The report of Mr. Daniels, Secretary to the United States Navy, estimates that the actual cost of the Navy during the war was 2,982 million dollars. The next fiscal year will require approximately 573 million dollars, or forty millions less than the present year. Among the recommendations in the report are the enlargement of the Pacific coast establishments for the Pacific Fleet, and a one year course at Anapolis Naval Academy instead of four years, in order to give midshipmen a year afloat.

Mr. Daniels expresses the opinion "no officer can command so well, as a man of ability and knowledge, who knows every character of service from polishing brass to the highest strategy and tactics."

U.S. COAL STRIKE.

COST NOT TO FALL ON THE CONSUMER.

The American Fuel Adminstrator has announced that no compromise will be made in settling the coal strike which will in any way involve an advance in the price of coal to the public. He declares that the Cabinet is backing him in the principles involved.

INDIAN HOME RULE.

BILL PASSES THE THIRD READING.

While Mr. Montagu, the Secretary of State for India, was speaking in the House of Commons on the India Bill, an Indian in the Public gallery cried out "Give us complete Home Rule and remove oppression." The interrupter was immediately ejected. The Bill was read a third time unanimously, amid general cheers.

An amendment to the Bill in favour of the enfranchisement of women was rejected by 202 votes to 67. In the course of the debate Mr. Montagu argued that the matter should be left for the Indians themselves to decide.

Lady Astor interrupted—"Indian men."

Mr. Montangu retorted that women's suffrage was decided by men in England, to which Lady Astor replied "only after enormous pressure by ladies."

Sir George Watson has given £20,000 for the foundation and endowment of a Chair of American History, Literature and Institutions for the purpose of promoting such studies at British Universities.

GENERAL ELECTION.

THE LEADER OF THE HOUSE PROPHESIES.

Speaking at Glasgow on Saturday Mr. Bonar Law prophesied that there would be no general election for at least three years.

Referring to doubts as to whether Germany would ratify the Peace Treaty, he said that Great Britain and her Allies had the power and would, if necessary, exercise it to ensure that the Treaty, which is a stern reality, will not merely be ratified, but will be carried into effect. A sufficient portion of Great Britain's great army had been preserved to see that the terms of peace are enforced.

ECHO OF PENNANT CASE.

COLONEL BERSEY WINS LIBEL ACTION.

Mr. formerly Lieut-Colonel Bersey of the Clothing Department of the W.R.A.F., who was frequently referred to in the Douglas-Pennant Inquiry, was the plaintiff in a libel action, heard on Saturday against the "Saturday Review." The journal compared him with Lucullus, the "Roman General who amassed a fortune by profiteering in his campaigns against Mithridates and other varieties of Huns."

Counsel for defendants withdrew all aspersions, and made a complete apology, expressing regret that they had been led into "this gross error. There is no doubt that Colonel Bersey has done nothing whatever that merited criticism upon his conduct as a gentleman, and a man of honour." The record was then withdrawn, Lord Reading expressing his satisfaction.

The editor and proprietors concerned agreed to give £100 to a fund which is assisting demobilized members of the W.R.A.F.

YUGO-SLAV ALARM.

D'ANNUNZIO REPUDIATED IN ADVANCE.

The Yugo-Slav delegation in Paris states that it has received alarming reports of D'Annunzio's intentions in Dalmatia. Ten thousand of his troops are said to be ready to attack Spalato and Cattaro. The delegation has informed the Supreme Council that in the event of D'Annunzio's troops crossing the line of demarcation, the Yugo-Slav soldiers have been ordered to resist, and the delegation declines to take any responsibility for the consequences.

JUTLAND BATTLE.

JELLICOE'S LOGBOOK FOUND.

The First Lord of the Admiralty announces that the logbook of the "Iron Duke," Lord Jellicoe's flagship, which was missing after the battle of Jutland, has now been found.

An Admiralty official denied, when asked the question, that the logbook recorded a signal from Beatty to Jellicoe which would, if adopted have altered the result of the battle.

AMERICAN WHISKY.

SUBTLETIES OF THE LAW.

A sale advertised for Saturday of over 500 barrels of American spirit bonded at Leith in 1913 was prohibited by the Food Controller. The Ministry regarded the spirit, which was described as "Bourbon, Kentucky Gleanarme Distillery," as American whisky, the public sale of which is unauthorised. The Controller states, however, that the sale will be permitted by private treaty.

MORE BRITISH OFFICERS SHOT AT CAIRO.

On the 3rd December five shots were fired at two British officers near the railway station at Cairo, while on the 6th one officer was wounded in the foot. All the Egyptian students which have been on strike since the 13th November have returned to their studies.

STEEL-DOLLARS FOR CHARITY.

Details of the will of the recently deceased steel magnate, Henry Frick, have just been announced. After setting aside 25 million dollars for his wife and daughter, the rest remaining 117 millions are to be devoted to philanthropic uses. Princeton University receives fifteen million dollars, Harvard University and Massachusetts Institute of Technology five million each. The deceased's New York residence, with art contents valued at 50 million dollars, is left to his widow for life, after which it goes to the City as an Art Museum.

2,200 FLATS TO LET.

In April next 2,200 flats in Paris will be available for occupation. These flats, which originally belonged to enemy aliens, have been confiscated and the furniture will be sold to defray the rent which accrued during the war.

The well-known actress, Gaby Deslys, is lying seriously ill in a Paris hospital after an operation on her throat.

INDUSTRIAL COURT.

NEW ORGANISATION TO PREVENT STRIKES.

The first members of the new permanent Industrial Court to be appointed are Sir Warrender Mackenzie, as President and Mr. F. H. McLeod, Editor of the "Labour Gazette," as Chairman, and six other members, including two ladies, Miss Violet Marknam and Miss Cecile Matheson.

The establishment of this Court marks the end of compulsory arbitration and is the outcome of the desire on the part of the Government that trade disputes shall be settled as far as possible by negotiation between employers and workers or their associations. It is hoped that recourse will be had to the Industrial Court before any stoppage of work.

NEXT DOOR TO CRIMINAL.

CLERGYMAN WANTS TO SELL HIS RECTORY.

The Rev. H. F. Napier, rector of Bathwick, Bath, announces in his parish magazine that he has applied to the Bishop for permission to sell Bathwick rectory, as he regards the foolish overhousing of the clergy as "next door to criminal." "It is," he says, "useless for the clergy to cry poverty while the outward appearance of their mode of living seems to give the lie to their complaint. The first thing that any man who is sane does, is to live in a manner befitting his income. The clergy have not been allowed to do this; they have had to live overhoused. That state of thing has now become unbearable, and I for one have determined that I will not continue it. So I have applied to the Bishop for leave to sell Bathwick rectory, and to take some other place, in which I can live according to my means.

"There are an interminable number of forms to be gone through—red tape most of them—and I make myself liable for a good deal of payment should a sale not be effected. One has got to apply to Bishops and Archbishops, commissions have to sit, and valuations of the most absurdly detailed kind made. Reports have to be sent to the Bounty Office, and if the sale takes place the money has to be handed over to that office, which pays a worse rate of interest on it than might be had anywhere else. But all this is merely due to that dear old Establishment, whose sole purpose in life seems to be to see that the parsons life shall not be a happy one. However, with all its drawbacks it seems to me to be the right course to pursue, and I have merely bothered you with the details of the matter, so that if one day you should see the furniture remover's vans at the rectory door you should not think that my goods had been distrained on, or that I was surreptitiously leaving the parish, but know that I am merely doing a flit to quarters more suitable to the income which kind fortune and the parish of Bathwick together afford me."

STORES STRIKE.

SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTE.

As the result of protracted negotiations the strike at the Army and Navy Stores was settled on Saturday and the employees resumed work yesterday. The terms of settlement are that the national awards made to Vehicle Workers and Bakers shall be met by the Society and that the National programme of the Shop Assistants Union shall be submitted to arbitration.

Public sympathy throughout was with the strikers on account of the high dividends paid by these Stores.

BRITISH HOSTAGES.

LITVINOFF ISSUES A DISCLAIMER.

A denial has been promply issued by Litvinoff, of the report that certain British officer prisoners in Russia had been warned by Litvinoff that they would be shot if his mission failed. He declares emphatically that he never said anything of the sort. When asked whether the officers would lose their lives if the negotiations failed, he said that officers' lives are not dependent on the outcome of the present negotiations.

LORD DALMENY'S DIVORCE PETITION.

The rolls of the Court of Session issued last night indicate that a petition, on the ground of desertion, has just been brought by Albert Edward Harry Kayer Archibald Primrose Lord Dalmeny, presently residing at Dalmeny House, Mid Lothian, for divorce against his wife, Dorothy Alice Margaret Auguste Grosvenor (or Primrose), Lady Dalmeny, residing at Little Tew Grange, Oxfordshire.

FRENCH WAR LOSSES.

According to the latest calculations, for every hundred French officers mobilized from the 2nd August 1914 till the end of hostilities, 18.7 were killed or died as the result of wounds.

Regarding the men, sixteen per cent of the troops who served in the war were killed or died of wounds.

HAIG OF BEMERSYDE.

FUND OPENED FOR NATIONAL GIFT.

The recent premature announcement that the Mansion and Estate of Bemersyde were to be presented to Field Marshal Earl Haig as a personal gift from the people of the Empire is now authoritatively confirmed. The estate has been provisionally secured from the owner, Lieutenant-Colonel Haig, R.E. at a valuation of £53,700. A subscription will be raised for completion of the purpose and to effect such arrangements as will make the offering acceptable, without any outlay on Earl Haig's part. The name, address and subscription of every contributor will be inscribed on a presentation roll. Arrangements have been made for every bank in the country to accept subscriptions.

THE NEXT KHALIF.

MOHAMMEDANS AND PEACE.

An all India Conference assembled at Delhi on the 24th November discussed the future Khalifate. Those participating were mainly Mahommedans and Hindus belonging to the extreme Left Party. The Press was excluded during a portion of the proceedings.

The Conference resolved not to participate in the peace celebrations in India, as the Peace Treaty involved the Khalifate question, affecting eighty million Indian Mussulmans. The resolution urged the Viceroy to postpone the celebrations pending "a satisfactory and honourable settlement" of the problem.

AUSTRALIAN FLIGHT.

ROSS SMITH TAKES THE LEAD.

Reuter's latest messages regarding the Australian flight indicate that Captain Ross Smith has secured a distinct lead over Frenchman Poulet. Bangkok reports that both airmen left for Singapore, Smith having two hours start of Poulet. He intended alighting at the point of the Malay Peninsula, midway between Bangkok and Singapore, to replenish.

Captain Smith arrived at Bangoing (Western Java) on the 6th December.

NUT-BROWN NECTAR.

REFORMS FOR MODERN PUBLIC HOUSES.

Mr. Roberts, the Food Controller opening a "reformed public house" at Richmond said that although he was a Temperance reformer he believed the Creator had ordained for all, nut-brown nectar and sparkling wine. He also thought that ex-soldiers, who had served overseas, desired to see the old stand-up bar abolished, in order that they might take their wives and families to respectable, comfortable and hospitable licensed houses.

HARDY HAMPSHIRES.

TWO MONTHS' SPECIAL LEAVE.

The 19th Battalion the Hampshire Regiment had a rousing reception on its return to Southampton from Siberia. Major-General Seely, Lord Lieutenant of the County, informed them that in consideration of the hardships they had endured they would have sixty-two days leave on full pay.

AUTOLYCAN?

MRS. ASQUITH WRITES A BOOK.

It is announced that Mrs. Asquith is writing her recollections, the publication of which will be one of the most piquant events of the 1920 publishing season. Chiefly compiled from her diary, it is said that the book will live up to the motto on the title page—"As well be hung for a sheep as a lamb."

A CORRECTION.

Our report of the visit of the French squadron to the Rhine Flotilla should have stated that it was General Fayolle, Chief of the C.I.N.C., who accompanied the French Flotilla in his own boat, and not only honoured the Rhine Flotilla with a visit but played the perfect host-in-chief.

Pleading naught in extenuation of the blunder, we duly make the correct facts known.

CHRISTMAS PARCELS AND LETTERS.

Parcels from home for Christmas delivery to the troops in the Army of the Rhine should be posted in time for despatch from London not later than the 13th, and letters not later than the 19th December.

RUSSIAN ANARCHISTS DEPORTED.

The Anarchist leaders Emma Goldman and Alexander Birkman have been taken to Ellis Island for deportation from the United States.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

FLIGHTS LTD

MILITARY TAILORS

LONDON. WINCHESTER. ALDERSHOT.

Owing to military requirements Mr. A. J. R. Lee has been compelled to change his address to

KRONPRINZ HOTEL

(Behind The Excelsior Hotel)

where he will have his usual excellent selection of material, both for Mufti and Uniform, also a stock of Hosiery of the best quality.

LATE OF THE OFFICERS' CLUB No. 1.

Open on Monday 1st Dec. 1919

A Dining Room for British Soldiers

Domhof No. 20

Head Office Domhof No. 24.

Proprietor Wilh. Cremer, Domhof 24.

Experienced Cook.

"Café Prinzess"

Corner of Waidmarkt.

Open to all Troops of the British and Allied Armies

DAILY CONCERT

SIMPLICISSIMUS

Cabaret and Wine-Room

— Hohestrasse 152—154. —

Daily first-class singing and dancing performances. Open from 6.30 to 10.45 p.m.

— For Officers and Civilians only. —

If you want to buy

Foodstuffs, Linen, Fat, Oils, Candles, Xmas Candles, we have heavy stocks waiting shipment London.

To Buyers

desirous of buying Machinery and all German Manufactured goods, come and see us.

J. McLELTAN

44 Deutscher Ring

Tel. 7143

Agency for large London firms or others entertained on a Commission basis.

SMALL IRON UTENSILS

such as hooks, shovels, bark scraping irons, thistle gatherers, trowels, iron covers for roof windows, barrel bung levers, etc. for immediate delivery.

PILGRAM. Marienplatz 12.

an der Stephanstrasse.

Serious Young Gentleman

good reputation, living near Solingen and Remscheid, with office, telephone and premises desires to represent a firm or agents, commercial or industrial. Write to offers B 3975, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

For immediate delivery

30 new modern lathes

with mandrel

Height 250 mm, Length 1000 mm.

Apply D.E. 53 Cologne Post A.P.O. S. 40.

ANOTHER N. A. C. B. SERVICE

BOOT REPAIRS-

Men's, Women's, Children's.

Tie a label on and leave at the new Department Stores, 27 Obenmarspforten.

CENTRAL Y.M.C.A.

44, Friesenstrasse 44.

The Weeks Attractions

CONCERTS — The ESMOND Concert Party (with varied programme), every evening in Great Hall except Friday and Saturday.

CINEMAS — Every Evening from 6 to 7 except Friday and Saturday. On Sunday Evening the Cinema will be held from 8 to 9.30.

DANCING — Monday and Wednesday at 6.30 in Lorely Hall — Folk Dance Class. Saturday — Men's Weekly Dance at 8 p.m.

BOXING — In the Great Hall on Friday and Saturday the Army Boxing Tournament will be held (see special bills).

WHIST DRIVE — Thursday (instead of Friday on account of Boxing) in Lorely Hall at 6 p.m.

THE GENUINE

SPIKUSON RAZOR

Spikuson Registered — Spikuson Registered

is well known on the market. Full guarantee for every razor. Also Hamburger Ring and other good Razors kept in stock and a great variety of CUTLERY GOODS

WHOLESALE RETAIL

W. CARNEIM

a. d. Dominikanern 1, corner Marzellenstr. near the General Post Office.

FOTAX

Dark room Lamp for Candle	2 75
" "	3.50
Bromide Postcards, per hundred	6 —
" " per thousand	55.—
Self-toning Postcards, per hundred	12.—
Gaslight paper 8×12 per hundred	6.50
" " 6×9 per hundred	4 —
Tripods, brass telescopic	31 50
Camera 6×9 cm	6 —
" 6×9 cm double anastigmat	150.—
" 9×12 cm	70.—
" 9×12 cm double anastigmat	270.—

SCHILDERGASSE 55a

Next the C. of E. Military Church.

Directly opposite the Dom and Main Station.

Special House for Amateur Photography

ANDREAS PILLEN

I. COLOGNE, Deichmannhaus, opposite the Dom & Main Station.

II. COLOGNE, Hohenzollernring 70.

Big depot for Ica, Goerz, Zeiss, Ernemann, & Nettel Cameras.

Projectors and Cinema Apparatus.

HEAR

your favourite melodies on the

„Gramola"

Gramophone Spezialhaus

COLOGNE

Hohestr. 150

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstrasse

Monday and Tuesday Dec. 8th and 9th at 6.00 p.m.

Revival by Special Request by B.R.A.D.C. of

"GENERAL POST"

A Comedy in 3 Acts, by J. E. HAROLD TERRY.

Wednesday 10th Dec. and for four nights The first production of

"SINGER OF THE VELDT"

A Modern Comedy in 3 Acts, by MISS INEZ BENSUSAN.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.

Monday, Dec. 8th and nightly at 6 p.m.,

Mr. ALFRED HURLEY'S

LONDON VARIETY COMPANY

and the popular pair

Lelie Nancie

ROSS and HANTON

In screaming dialogues.

MARGUERITE DE LARA

Prestidigitator.

GERALD WILLIAMS

The Popular Tenor.

WARWICK PRYCE

Entertainer at the Piano from St. George's Hall, London

C. POWELL-EASTBURY

Baritone and Humourist

and

MARJORIE BOWYA

Soprano and Violinist.

No: 1 ARMY CINEMA. (The Boys). 3 Kornblumenstrasse

No: 2 ARMY CINEMA. (Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse Finest Picture House in Germany.

No: 3 ARMY CINEMA. (Panopticum) Hohe Strasse. The acme of comfort.

ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK. MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2 30 p.m.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.

Open daily (Sundays excepted) Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m. Fully equipped. Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc., Staff Instructor in attendance.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB

CINEMA

Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post

Telephones: Military, No. 359. Civil: A 3511. Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Tuesday, December 9, 1919.

RETURN TO BARTER.

Here on the Rhine we have no particular grievance against the low rate of exchange. When the marks go nearly 200 to the British pound we are in a happy position as individuals, but the break in the exchanges in most countries of the world is having a disastrous effect in crippling all efforts to re-establish international commerce.

As Britishers, eager to see our own country in her old predominant position in trade, we cannot look on the problem except with interest mingled perhaps with anxiety. Our export trade is our life and when we find the exchanges of America, Japan, Spain and other countries, not hit by the war, against us as they never were in the past, our position as an exporting nation is seriously affected.

The complications and fluctuations of exchange are problems few of us can really grasp. Many of us even wonder if fluctuations are really essential, or whether they are simply the means by which groups of financiers enrich themselves at the expense of the whole world of commerce. Cobden, we believe, said that universal free trade could only be possible with fixed rates of exchange and it would appear from our present experience that he was right.

It is clear that the ordinary methods which served fairly well in pre-war days have completely broken down with the end of the struggle and many commercial authorities are considering what substitute can be found for the present impossible state of affairs.

Some are frankly suggesting a return to the ancient principle of barter, i.e. the direct exchange of commodities between individuals and firms. In more primitive times this method was in universal use, until the increasing desires and requirements of mankind rendered it too cumbersome, and thus the mercantile system of credits and exchanges gradually came into being. It was founded on mutual trust and confidence which the war has shaken badly.

Great Britain being an industrial country is largely dependent on foreign grown foodstuffs. Other countries with whom we trade are mainly agricultural. It is being urged that the British merchant should therefore endeavour to barter implements, machinery etc. for food supplies or in other cases for minerals and other raw materials.

For very many transactions this seems practical, but to have any great effect it would need to be done on a very large scale.

Unless the present exchange tangle is unwoven soon, bankruptcy will face many of the countries who used to lead in the world's trade.

BRITISH MERCHANT SHIPPING.

At the outbreak of the Great European War the British Merchant Fleet carried one half of the overseas trade of the World. Vessels owned by British Shipping Companies entering ports of the British Isles carried three-fourths of the imports and exports.

At that very critical period, if England had not been able to keep her ships moving, or if she had not possessed the necessary tonnage, her industries would have been paralyzed, and the inhabitants of the British Isles would very soon have been in a state of starvation. Nor could France have held out for very long. But such a calamity to civilization did not take place.

The British Merchant Service, protected by the Fighting Fleet, held the seas and in spite of the "sink without trace" policy of Germany's leaders, continued to feed the civilian population of Great Britain, the Armies of England, France, Belgium and afterwards to a very great extent those of America in addition, right up to the fateful hour on the 11th of November, 1918, when Germany signed the recognition of her complete collapse.

MARVELS IN TRANSPORT.

Some idea of the magnitude of what the British Merchant Service undertook in the way of transport may be gathered from the official statistics.

Over 23 million effectives and 3½ million non-effectives were transported with a loss by enemy action of 4,394. The following figures are correct and show what the English Merchant Service transported during the War, 193,000 prisoners, 2½ million animals, 48 million tons of British Military Stores, 512,000 vehicles, 5 million tons of Allied Stores, 60 thousand million tons of Oil and Fuel.

To England was conveyed from abroad in British bottoms 130 thousand million tons of foodstuffs and other materials.

Then there was the transport of the American Army. All the world, Germany included, looked on in amazement at this feat. Admiral Sims has put Great Britain's share on record thus:—

"Americans," he said, "seemed to regard it is a miracle that their Navy had transported to Europe in a few months a million and a half troops and had protected them on the way. Americans did not do that. Great Britain did. She brought two-thirds of them and escorted half."

Since the signing of the Armistice the greater part of America's fighting forces were returned to the U.S.A., by American ships.

A PROMISING FUTURE.

We have dealt with past achievements, but what about present and future developments of the British Mercantile Marine? The leeway lost during the war owing to the enemy submarine campaign is fast being made up. In the first six months of 1919, 280 vessels of 733,207 tons gross were launched by the ship building yards of Great Britain, and concurrently with this, the Admiralty released a number of merchant vessels, which had been taken over as auxiliary cruisers, mine sweepers, etc. These ships go straight to the yards, are reconditioned for "Trade" warfare and returned to their private owners. Moreover 183 vessels of 659,800 tons were begun in the June quarter, bringing the amount of new construction in the U.K. up to 782 vessels of 2½ million tons gross. These show a very marked increase on last year's figures and with the release of men from the Army and Navy by demobilization the construction of Merchant Shipping in the British Isles will go on increasing.

England is not only holding her own in the production of new tonnage, but is ahead of any other country. Moreover owing to the labour conditions in England the cost of production is cheaper than in the U.S.A., which is Britain's runner up in the shipbuilding race.

In September last one-third of the world's tonnage under construction was British, and if the output keeps on increasing at the present rate it is possible to predict that we shall very soon see England owning, as she did before the war, almost one half the shipping of the entire globe. Britain promises to become, as she was before, the world's carrier by sea, and the Red Ensign of the Mercantile Marine will float in the breezes of every ocean.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX

We Hear all Sides without Responsibility for our Readers' Views.

SPEED UP THE DANCE.

Sir,—"Jonathan" fairly sums up the lamentable state of affairs prevailing at many of the larger subscription dances in Cologne.

One would think that dancing was some new form of Field Punishment specially devised for the Army of Occupation, instead of being what it is—one of the most delightful relaxations from the strain of our labours here in the Rhineland.

I am not particularly in favour of the Lancers as a means of speeding up the dances; ragging is not necessarily Bohemianism, and there are better solutions than that.

Mine would be:

(1) To limit the number of tickets issued so that those who obtain them could be reasonably sure of finding room to dance.

(2) Get more modern music and a few more Jazz Bands going to relieve the strain on those few stalwarts who have worked so hard throughout the summer to give us pleasure.

(3) That liquid refreshment slightly more potent than lemonade and claret cup be obtainable during the evening.

In conclusion I would like to inform "Jonathan" that there is no need to go so far afield as Monte Carlo to see people dance because they are happy.

I know of a little town in the Rhineland, not so far from Cologne, where a small impromptu dinner and dance was held quite recently.

On that occasion dancing started soon after the soup went round and nothing would restrain the dancers while the music lasted. The remaining courses were served with great difficulty by the astonished and gaping servants, who being of the country, could not possibly understand any attraction sufficiently great to lure one from eating and drinking. SALOME.

Sir,—Reference "Jonathan's" letter I would like to give my experiences at dances in Cologne. I went to my first dance out here in July at the B.E.L.C. I did not know a single lady, but taking courage at the notice "No introductions are necessary" I spoke to one or two ladies and was agreeably suprised to find that I was not turned down. At subsequent dances there and elsewhere I found no difficulty in getting partners.

It must be rather discouraging to the promoters of all the excellent dances we have had in Cologne to read a letter like "Jonathan's."

He accuses the dances of having a "funereal atmosphere." Was he at the B.E.L.C. or the 6th Corps Club Dances last week to hear the applause at the end of every dance or to see the smiles on all faces during the whole proceedings? INFANTRY SUB.

CONTROL OF MOTOR TRAFFIC.

Sir,—Perhaps something can be done to bring before the responsible authority the need for drastic and immediate action with regard to the excessive speed of motor traffic in the streets of Cologne.

Speed limit boards are utterly disregarded by all drivers alike. The narrow streets with their trams and congested traffic are dangerous enough in all conscience, apart from fast running motor traffic.

Cannot the authorities exert themselves in the interests of motorists and pedestrians alike? SAFETY FIRST.

A BAD HABIT.

Sir,—I would like to express my thanks to the officiating clergymen at the Garrison Church on Sunday evening for his address. The subject of "Bad language" was, I'm sorry to say, most appropriate, and I sincerely hope that all present will in the future do all they can to suppress the bad language so often heard in public.

Frequently soldiers in their conversation use words which send one's blood cold. What effect this has on womenfolk it is hard to contemplate.

The war is responsible for many things we know, but surely the offenders have not lost their respect for the fair sex through it. ONE WHO HAS SISTERS.

REVIVING DISCUSSIONS.

Sir,—As one who has now been in Cologne for some considerable time, may I draw the attention of those interested, to the decline of a very useful branch of the Central Y.M.C.A.'s many activities?

I refer to the Sunday afternoon Discussions' Class.

Under the able leadership of the Rev. Mackenzie and Dr. Francis, these classes proved a great help to quite a number of the boys through the summer months, and I for one shall feel a great sense of loss if these meetings are now to cease.

Demobilization, no doubt, is chiefly responsible for this sudden decrease in the numbers that attended this class.

There must be quite a number of serious thinking men and women left, and to them I would appeal, and invite them to attend these meetings which I am certain will prove of value to all. W.V.W.

CIVILIANS IN OFFICERS' CLUBS.

Sir,—I notice a letter in your paper of yesterday with reference to civilians becoming members of the military clubs here. I am a civilian, who was unfortunately too old to don the khaki when the war broke out, but did my bit as censor until I was demobbed.

I have now come out here as the representative of a London firm of exporters and find that civilians are evidently not wanted here and have not even got the entrance to the better class hotels, restaurants, etc.

I have been here over a week and have hardly spoken to a soul of my own nationality.

As I shall probably be here again after Xmas, I should like to know whether the rule is likely to be relaxed about civilians joining the military clubs or any British clubs here. JOHN E. HENLEY.

DO NOT LOAF.

Sir,—We young soldiers are getting a bit fed up with lectures on what we ought to do and how we ought to do it.

Very likely, the people who write about us are well meaning, but often I'm sure they are out of touch with the new generation and don't see that young fellows will be young fellows.

A strong healthy lad doesn't want to be always taken by the hand and led into lectures or to sit in reading rooms. He wants to join in the life around him, and I believe it is a fine experience likely to do him more good than a lot of class-room business.

Remember that a chap of nineteen nowadays is as much a man as his father was at twenty-five. The world has moved a lot lately, and we "young soldiers" are not the "kids" some people think we are.

I hope we shall hear less of this "snacking" at our ways. It only annoys and does no good. B.B.B.

CABS & TAXIS.

Sir,—I would like to compare notes with some of your readers. Mine is the following experience:—Four-wheeled cab from Cologne Main Station to Opera house, 24 marks. Taxi for same journey 20 marks, and from opera house to Deutz Station 12 marks.

I account for the last, which is of course the longest of the three journeys, by the fact that I exploited my slight knowledge of the German tongue. H.C.W.

LATE COMERS AT THE THEATRES.

Sir,—As a frequent visitor to the Deutsches and Palace Theatres, I notice that members of the audience for whom seats are reserved, make a habit of arriving after the curtain rises.

As such a state of affairs not only causes inconvenience to the rest of the audience, but is also a slight on the members of the Rhine Army Dramatic Company, and any other voluntary artistes at the Palace, such an obvious breach of etiquette is deplorable.

A NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICER.

THE CARE OF HORSES.

Sir,—It was stated that there was no organized society in Rhineland for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, such as one finds at home.

Now, I am told by a German resident in Cologne, that such a society does exist. It is named Tierschutz-Verein (Animals' Protection Society) and the men who function wear green coats like the German gamekeeper. A LOVER OF HORSES.

SALUTING.

Our recent article on saluting has called forth many letters which show how necessary "An Old Soldier's" remarks were. One correspondent, a "1914 Old Timer," may be taken as typical. "I being an old timer was always led to salute my officers between reveille and retreat and wish to know who is the mysterious officer of the regiment, who constantly pulls up privates and N.C.O's. after six o'clock in the evening. Who is he and does he know what he is doing?" Of course "Old Timer" is wrong. An officer should be saluted at whatever hour he is seen. Another point that is often missed is that even when in mufti he should be saluted by those other ranks who recognise or should recognise, him.

LUCK.

A little bit of effort, a little bit of thought
A little bit of daring and of pluck,
A little bit of courage in the fight that's being fought,
All this is often looked upon as luck.

A little bit of vision, and of faith a little too,
A bit of stern resistance when you're struck,
A little bit of purpose in the work you have to do,
All this is in the masonry of luck.

A little bit of wisdom and the magic of a smile,
Some real determination when you're stuck,
The grit to keep on going till you make another mile,
Are catalogued and labelled under luck.

To play your part unselfishly, not to fill your purse with gold.
To cling to truth, nor fear the devil's much,
To play your part unselfishly, be ever brave and bold,
Herein you find the mystery of luck.

CHEAP THINGS THAT LOOK DEAR.

Never did the work show such an odd variety of rates of exchange, or such another odd series of prices, the combined result of which is to make it very hard to say where the cost of living is higher and where lower, writes G. C. Desmond in the "Daily News."

In Belgium, the English sovereign exchanges for 36 francs (very nearly forty in France). Take lunch on the train in Belgium and it costs you 10 francs, plus an excellent half-bottle of Bordeaux for only 3.50 francs. Is that cheap or dear? it is about one-third of an English pound—6s. 8d.

Proceeding to Denmark, you get, I suppose, 15 kronen for £1. I don't know exactly. I got 13 kronen for 100 German marks when 140 marks were worth £1. You get a fair lunch for about 3 kronen, which makes it considerably dearer than either Belgium or England.

* * *

Taking our one pound note, now, to Germany, we exchange it at the frontier for 180 marks—more, if we find an honest money-changer. At the Adlon, one of the best hotels in Berlin, the lunch, without drink, is 20 marks—soup, fish, meat, sweet. As this amounts to only one-ninth of £1, or little over 2s., it appears to be the cheapest meal in Europe—for an Englishman. The bill, however, gathers before presentation a "Teurungszuschlag" of 25 per cent., a waiter's 10 per cent., beyond which he expects a further tip of as much again, a wine-tax, if you take wine, so that even a careful and moderate man sees little change from a 50 mark note.

Germans going east into Lithuania exchange their nicely-printed 100 mark notes for Ost roubles, printed by Germans during the occupation. They exchange officially at par with German money—one rouble for two marks, but one mark, especially in notes of a hundred, is distinctly preferred, and can be made to yield more. Food is plentiful and cheap in Lithuania, but the railways are the dearest in Europe—almost as dear as in England, and about four times as dear as in Germany.

* * *

In Latvia they have pretty roubles of their own. Officially one Lettish rouble is worth two Russian. Here are three lines of a menu at the Hotel Petersburg in Riga:

	Tsar Roubles.	Lett Roubles.
Soup	3	1.50
Mutton	8	4
Pork	10	5

One German mark is worth half a Lettish rouble.

A traveller told me that when he was in Prague an American asked for local money in exchange for dollars. The brought him a basketful and asked him to help himself. My friend says if he had taken the whole basketful he would have made a poor bargain.

Coming home from Berlin you pay 175 marks for the fare to Cologne, 30 marks to the Belgian frontier, 53 francs to Ostend, and 55 francs from Ostend to London. Arriving in Cologne on a saint's day, I had to buy my money of hall-porters and others. I got 100 francs for 515 marks, and two English one pound notes for 360 marks. The francs being nearly all gone at Ostend, the pound notes had to come back into francs at 33 to the £1 to pay the fare to London, which was 55 francs. In London I found I had 22 francs, which I changed back for 17s. 6d. Assuming that the marks cost me £1 for 170, what did the journey cost? No prize is offered for the solution of this sum.

CAN YOU WRITE?

We pay for all literary contributions to "The Cologne Post," and are pleased to consider articles, humorous sketches and poems by members of the Rhine Army. No article should exceed 500 words, and even shorter ones can be submitted.

FOOTBALL IN QUAGMIRES.

Keen Week-end Matches in Rhineland.

FIVE—NIL VICTORY.

52nd Manchester Regt. v. Independent Div. R.E.

This match was played on the Hofgarten, Bonn, on Saturday.

A punctual start was made and it was soon evident that the ground was in bad condition, due to the heavy rain. The players had great difficulty in keeping their footing and the ball quickly became very heavy. Within a few minutes of the opening Chadwick eluded the Sappers' defence and registered the first goal for the Manchesters. Afterwards even play Richardson, with excellent judgment, centred to Chadwick, who, helped materially by a pretty display of combination, scored again for the Manchesters.

Sound Defence.

Although both sides made repeated incursions into each other's territory the defenders were sound, and sure kicking avoided some dangerous attempts. Blackstone, getting possession, ran right through and put the ball into the Sappers' net, but the goal was disallowed because he was offside. Beveridge, the Sappers' outside-left, did some brilliant runs, and transferring to Lieut. Garnham enabled the latter to put in a shot which Harrison handled very cleverly.

The light was soon particularly bad and a heavy rain storm swept the ground making things uncomfortable.

Half time score:—52nd Manchesters 2; Ind. Div. R.E. 0.

A Cross Shot.

Three minutes after resuming, Schofield added to the Manchester's score with a cross shot from just outside the penalty area.

Some ding-dong play now occurred, the Sappers forcing a corner which however, was placed "behind" and again two sound attempts to score were frustrated only by Harrison's professional goal-keeping.

Light again got very bad, and the ground by this time was a quagmire, so that both teams were well plastered with mud.

A slight delay was occasioned through Blackstone being kicked and this was followed by another suspension, L.Cpl. Allen being carried off the field. Allen did not resume play. The Manchesters now pressed continually and from "hands" in the penalty area, the now thoroughly begrimed Chadwick, scored, with a smashing shot which gave Dolan no chance.

Price taking the ball in his stride, put in a low fast centre which the R.E. defence misjudged and which Schofield trapped. Turning like a flash, he shot with terrific force beating the full-back and custodian, adding the fifth to the Infantrymen's score.

Final: 52nd Manchester Regt. 5; Independent Division R.E. nil.

Notes on the Game.

There was a very fair attendance of spectators, especially of officers and ladies, considering the wretched weather conditions prevailing.

Garnham, the Sappers' "pivotal man," was frequently dangerous, but was rather inclined to part with the ball too readily. Other players deserving of mention are: Beveridge, the Sappers outside right, who, though small of stature, is fleet of foot and neat in passing;

Schofield, the Manchesters' right half, who is not only a sound defender but a very capable man in the science of attack;

Dolan, the R.E. custodian, sound in defence, if at times somewhat nervous.

FUSILIERS DRAW.

VI Corps H.Qrs. v. 52nd Northumberland Fus.

This game was played on the Stadtwald, Lindenthal, under very bad conditions, continual rain throughout making it very difficult for the players to keep their feet.

The VI Corps, winning the toss, decided to play against the wind. The Fusiliers from the kick-off attacked very determinedly, but failed to score. After a spell of even play, the Corps gave the visitors a warm time in front of goal, but the Fusiliers' custodian rose to the occasion and cleared in fine style. The Fusiliers then took up the offensive and C.Q.M.S. Kirkman nearly the first goal.

Half-time score:—52nd N. Fusiliers 1; VI Corps H.Q. 0

On resumption, the Fusiliers had the better of the play and on one occasion the ball was put through the Corps goal but was not allowed. End to end play ensued for the last ten minutes, and from a break-a-way Capt. Mackinson for the Corps equalised, just on time.

Result:—VI Corps H.Qrs. 1; 52nd N. Fusiliers 1.

A KEEN TUSSLE.

51st Hants. Inter-Coy Struggle Reaches Exciting Stage.

Excitement ran high amongst the spectators who watched the football match between Headquarters and "A" Coy. Both teams being well in the running for the top of the Inter-Coy league, the game throughout was a keen struggle for supremacy.

H.Qrs. in the first minutes play, reached their opponent's goal and narrowly missed scoring. "A's" defence, although continually hard pressed, was effective thus giving the forwards opportunities to attack in return. The remainder of the play, until the interval, was ding-dong in fashion.

The commencement of the second half saw H.Qrs. resuming their former tactics by pressing strongly. The efforts of the forwards were soon rewarded by a goal from Thomas, following some exciting play at the goal mouth. "A" now showed determination in splendid efforts to equalise, but without effect. H.Qrs. soon noched a second point after good work by Knight, Sgt. Coupe receiving his pass and putting in a low shot. Renewed attacking by "A" displayed a fair forward combination, but it was unsuccessful. The final score left H.Qrs. victors by 2—0.

Bullock, the outside left of "A" Coy.'s team, worked hard for his side, but the right wing seemed slow.

PROMISING TALENT.

Rhine Signal Batt. v. 142 Field Ambulance.

This match was played in pouring rain at Riehl. The teams consisted of players not actually in the first elevens and much promising talent was found in both teams.

The Signal Batt. team won by 5 goals to nil, chiefly because they took advantage of their opportunities.

Spr. Walsa, the Signals' centre-half, was the outstanding man on the field, and Dr. Delaney, Capt. Howes, and Spr. Peake played very well.

DOUGHTY DEVONS.

52nd Devons Novices' Boxing Competitions.

SPLENDID TALENT.

The Semi-finals and Finals in the 52nd Bn. The Devonshire Regiment Novices Boxing Competition were fought at Burscheid on Saturday. At the finish Lt. Col. Betts D.S.O. congratulated the Bn. on one of the best displays of novices' boxing that he had seen. Coming from such an authority this is high praise, but the good sportsmanship displayed throughout the competition was a very pleasing feature. Hard blows were given without malice and received without loss of temper.

"D" Coy. were easily the winners in the intercompany competition scoring 50½ points against the 31½ of the runners-up, "B" Company.

Prizes Presented.

Brigadier General Campbell V.C. presented the medals to the winners and runners-up. In addition, medals were presented to Sgt. Stewart, Cpl. Edwards, M.M., and Pte. Weaver for winning two bouts. Sgt. Stewart had hard luck in the light weights, slipping and putting out his knee. But for this accident, he would have been a hard man to beat in the final. The medal for the pluckiest loser was won by L/Cpl. Palmer. Great credit is due to Lieut. W. O. Hayes, Rhine Army Officers 10st. 7lbs. Boxing Champion, and wrestling Champion at the same weight, for training and encouraging the competitors, and for the excellent organization of the show.

Officials.

Referee:—Lt.-Col. Betts, D.S.O.

Judges:—Sgt.-Major Turner, M.S.M., and Sgt.-Major Murray.

Time Keeper: Lieut. Parsons.

Recorder:—Sgt. F. J. Harvey.

Results.

Fly Weight. Pte. Bell "D" Coy. v. Pte. Hartland "A" Coy. Hartland, who had drawn a bye in the semi-final, started strongly, but Bell soon had his measure, and by persistent leading and attacking gained a popular win.

Bantam Weight. Pte. Chestermann "D" Coy. v. Pte. Fothergill "B" Coy. This bout was short and sweet, the "D" Coy. man being, by far, tho cleverer boxer. Fothergill tried hard, but was knocked out in the first round by a right swing.

Feather Weight. Cpl. Patch "D" Coy. v. Pte. Jacques "B" Coy. This bout opened in fine style, both men leading well. Cpl. Patch had received something of a gruelling in his previous fight, and was at some disadvantage. Early on in the second round Jaques landed a blow which made Patch see stars, but this was, apparently, his own undoing, as he had to retire at the end of the round with his hand badly hurt.

A Disappointment.

Light Weight. Pte. Tyrrell "A" Coy. v. Pte. Hill "D" Coy. Unfortunately Pte. Hill stopped one with his eye in his previous bout, and was unable to fight, much to the disappointment of everyone, as it would have been a keen contest between two good men.

Welter Weight. Pte. Gallagher "D" Coy. v. C.Q.M.S. Selby "C" Coy. This resulted in another win for "D" Coy., but there was very little in it. The C.Q.M.S., who is well known as "Abey" at Bn. Concerts, did one or two Yiddisher hops quite unconsciously in the ring, much to the amusement of the onlookers. Both men fought hard, but the "D" Coy. man gained the decision on points.

Middle Weight. Sgt. Priest "C" Coy. v. Pte. Mott "C" Coy. Mott was hopelessly outclassed, but fought pluckily. His troubles were soon over as he took the K.O. in the first round.

Light Heavy Weight. Pte. Mitchell "B" Coy. v. Pte. Marks "D" Coy. This bout went the three rounds, and was a closely contested affair, both men receiving and giving good honest punches. The advantage of height and reach told eventually for the "D" Coy. man, who gained another popular decision on points.

To-day's Event.

The following team of young soldiers will represent the 52nd Devons against the 51st Hants. at Wermelskirchen to-day.

Fly Weight, Ptes. Bell and Hartland.

Bantam Weight, Ptes. Chesterman and Norris.

Feather Weight, Ptes. Eddy, Cotter, and Hill.

Light Weight, Sgt. Hopkins, Ptes. Press, and Tyrell.

Welter Weight, L/Cpl. Palmer, Ptes. Buffery and Gallagher.

Middle Weight, Pte.

SOUTH AFRICAN CRICKET.

Australians' Great Advantage After First Day's Play.

At Johannesburg on Nov. 29th play commenced in a four day return match between the South African eleven and the A.I.F. team. Over-night rain left the pitch in ideal condition. South Africa batted first, Zulch and Ward opening the innings well. The bowling of Collins and Gregory, however, soon brought about a rapid fall of wickets and the home team were dismissed for 118. Play was interrupted by rain for an hour after lunch. Scores (South Africa) First innings:—Zulch c. Murray b. Collins 42, Ward c. Collins b. Gregory 29, Frank b. Gregory 0, Nourse l.b.w. Collins 1, Hands c. Winning b. Gregory 9, Tancred (not out) 17, Meintjes b. Gregory 0, Davies c. Docker b. Collins 1, Blankenberg b. Gregory 1, Budgen b. Gregory 0, Cox. c. Sterling b. Gregory 9, Extras 9, total 118.

Collins (bowling) 4 for 28; Gregory 6 for 46. The Australians had scored 114 when stumps were drawn.

Later.

A later message says:—On the second day the visitors continued to have things very much their own way, carrying their total to 453. None of the bowlers seemed able to make any special impression. Five were tried and the nine wickets which fell to them were very evenly divided.

Little time was left for play after the close of the Austral an innings but the South Africans quickly lost Ward who was dismissed without scoring. When stumps were draw their score stood at 12 for 1.

WHAT HAPPENED.

West Bromwich again Lead: Coventry Gain a Point.

PORTSMOUTH CONSOLIDATING

The "Throstles" came out top dogs at Hyde Road, and their victory brings them again to the summit. The failure of Burnley at Oldham was due to a return to good form on the part of the Manchester men, and on Saturday's display they should not be long in climbing away from the danger zone. Newcastle seem to have gone to pieces, and their failure at Bramall Lane was an unwelcome surprise to folk on Tyneside. Their near neighbours, who checked their victorious career, were victorious over Sheffield Wednesday.

Blackburn made a big effort at Ewood Park, and put paid to the "Rams" account while Everton had a surprising lapse before Notts county. London's battle ended in a drawn game, a fitting result.

Four out of the five bottom clubs recorded victories, and the fight round the bottom of the table is arousing great interest. It is early yet to prophesy, but do not be surprised if two "safe" clubs drop to the bottom ere the season ends.

Second League.

Coventry failed again at home though they saved a point. Seventeen games without a win is a poor record, but if they go out, a "wise head" will be disappointed. South Shields sprang a shock at Barnsley and firmly nailed Stokes' ambitions. The "Brum" men are now well on the heels of the "Spurs." The latter gave a convincing display at Craven Cottage and ousted the home team by five to two. Blackpool did well at Huddersfield and Hull's five against Lincoln produced the biggest score of this division.

Southern League.

Portsmouth are fixing themselves well on the top. Their victory at Swindon, no mean opponents on their own pitch, was a good achievement. Queens Park once again enter the limelight by contributing five to Northampton's one.

Watford disappointed at Brighton and Plymouth Argyle did well to take a point from the Dell.

Scottish League.

Rangers piled on the biggest score of the day against Hibernians and their for and against record is far and away the best in the four leagues. Celtic's five against Motherwell was unexpected and the Celts must have been glad that the Well team was minus their star forward. Ayr easily accounted for Clyde and Dumbarton won another encounter.

It is a change to find the "Cons" winning a match. Their supporters have surely had enough drawn battles for their liking. Dundee put up a smart display at Greenock and took one point from Morton. Queens had no mercy on Raith Rovers, their quintette being only once responded to. This match, at Kirkcaldy proved one of the day's surprises.

Appended are the results:—

The League.—Division I.

Bradford	3	Preston N. E. (h)	0
West Bromwich Alb.	3	Manchester City (h)	2
Middlesbro (a)	3	Liverpool	2
Blackburn Rov. (h)	2	Derby County	0
Aston Villa (a)	2	Manchester United	0
Sunderland (a)	2	Sheffield Wednesday	1
Sheffield United (h)	2	Newcastle United	1
Notts County	2	Everton (a)	1
Bolton Wanderers	1	Bradford City (h)	0
Oldham Athletic (a)	1	Burnley	0
The Arsenal (a)	1	Chelsea	1

The League.—Division II.

Hull City (h)	5	Lincoln City	2
Tottenham Hotspur	4	Fulham (h)
Blackpool	3	Huddersfield Tn. (h)	1
Bristol City (h)	3	Grimsby Town	1
Bury ( )	2	Port Vale	1
Notts Forest (h)	2	Clapton Orient	1
Wolvermampt. W (h)	2	Stockport County	2
South Shields	1	Barnsley (a)	0
Birmingham	1	Stoke (h)	0
Leicester City (h)	1	Rotherham County	1
Coventry City (a)	0	West Ham United	0

Southern League.—Division I.

Queen's Park R. (a)	5	Northampton	1
Portsmouth	3	Swindon Town (h)	0
Brighton and H. (h)	3	Watford	2
Swansea Town (a)	2	Norwich City	0
Brentford	2	Gillingham ( )	0
Cardiff City (h)	2	Crystal Palace	1
Reading (h)	2	Bristol Rovers	2
Southampton (h)	2	Plymouth Argyle	2

The Scottish League.

Aberdeen	1	Falkirk	1
Airdrieonians	1	St. Mirren	1
Ayr United	3	Clyde	1
Celtic	5	Motherwell	0
Dumbarton	2	Albion Rovers	1
Hamilton Academic.	2	Clydebank	0
Heart of Midlothian	3	Partick Thistle	1
Greenock Morton	0	Dundee	0
Raith Rovers	2	Queen's Park	5
Glasgow Rangers	7	Hibernians	0
Third Lanark	0	Kilmarnock	1

F.A. Cup.—Fifth Qualifyng Round.

S. Liverpool	3	Carlisle U.	1
Rochdale	1	Stalybridge	0
Loughborough Corin.	2	Rotherham Town	1
Cheltenham Town	1	Castleford Town	2
Newport County	1	Merthyr Town	0

The winners went into the "hat" yesterday with ten other Southern League clubs and Rotherham County and Port Vale.

London Caledonians	6	King's Lynn	0
Bromley	2	Sheppey United	2
Dulwich Hamlet	1	Thorneycrofts	3

The Northern Union.

Lancashire Cup.—Final.

Rochdale Hornets	0	Oldham	7

The League.

Bradford	3	Barrow	22
Huddersfield	30	Bramley	0
Keighley	3	Broughton Rangers	6
Hull	34	Dewsbury	3
Huns et	7	Hull Kingston R.	3
Halifax	14	Widnes	6
Leeds	17	Wakefield Trinity	7
St Helens Recreation	16	Warrington	5
Batley	12	York	3

The Rugby Union.

International Trial.

England	25	The North	15

Welsh Trial.

Whites	8	Stripes	6

AMERICAN TENNIS.

A Philadelphia message states that Gay Gould the ex-amateur World's Court Tennis Champion, won the National Open Championship, defeating Walter Kinsella, professional, after three day's play.

ECHOES OF THE FIGHT.

Odds and ends from All Sources.

DEMPSEY TALKING.

After the fight Beckett said, "I never had a fight. I never touched him. I cannot believe it."

* * *

Mr. C. B. Cochran leaves London for America in a few days to meet Dempsey and fix up a match in London next year for the world's championship.

* * *

It took Beckett three minutes to recover from the terrific blow, which experts describe as good enough to knock-out the best man who ever donned gloves.

* * *

Carpentier is undoubtedly an opponent to be considered seriously by any heavyweight in the world.

* * *

A telegram from Los Angeles states that Dempsey, interviewed, expressed himself as confident of beating Carpentier and said he was willing to fight at any time

* * *

The result was telephoned to theatres and cinemas throughout the country and many displayed it on the screens.

* * *

Mr. Mortimer, Beckett's manager, described the decisive blow as having been "in one of those moments of tension when such things do and always will happen."

* * *

Carpentier received hundreds of congratulatory letters and telegrams from all parts and all classes.

* * *

From an American Correspondent:—The bunning in the big slog down Holborn way, fizzled clean out overnight as Joe Beckett let the fans down right out in Round One. From press gargle, the English coon had it tucked away from the bell, but this was sure boost, as the Frenchie got a hustle on top speed and had his guy frazzled all the way home, which wasn't far. It looked cert on the Southampton Kid on beef, but George had it all there in the top box every time and handed out smart stuff for the dollars.

* * *

Joe held the scrap on paper talk and splosh changed fists briskly, mostly Beckettwise, as the fans considered him the goods for this stunt. However he was not up to sample when it came to the clinch and the snowman got little for their dibs. The scrap needs no yarn as there was only one clout in it, but it was some sleep clout. Bet your last cent, and Joe Beckett took all the count.

* * *

Beckett, who promised to attend a tournament at Mountain Ash in aid of Sgt. Percy Jones, ex-fly-weight champion, who lost a leg in the war, telegraphed "'ashamed', be present."

* * *

Beckett in a long article says he has no excuses to make for his defeat which was due to his own blunder. He intends to seek another match with Carpentier because he is convinced he can beat him, and in the meantime will defend his British title of champion against all comers.

* * *

Promoter Cochran declares that he has the signature of Descamps, Carpentier's manager for Carpentier to meet Dempsey in London provided Dempsey signs. By this agreement Carpentier cannot contract otherwise, while Dempsey has cabled Cochran that he will do nothing till he hears from him.

* * *

According to the special correspondent of "Auto," Carpentier stood looking down at Beckett for several seconds after the knock-out blow, but after the sixth count he lifted his head and glanced along the front row of the public outside the ring. When asked later if that was not imprudent in case Beckett recovered, Carpentier said, "No, I knew it was all over, but I wanted to see now the Prince of Wales was taking it, as I had heard he had put his money on Beckett."

* * *

Mr. Cochran announces that Carpentier takes five thousand pounds and Beckett three thousand.

* * *

A Montreal message states that the Canadian Club has cabled Carpentier's manager in London challenging Carpentier to meet Eugene Brousseau, the Dominion middle-weight champion, in a boxing exhibition at Montreal on Dominion day.

* * *

Carpentier was due to arrive in Paris at six p.m. on Monday accompanied by Francois Descamps.

* * *

According to "Le Matin" the match between Carpentier and Dempsey will not take place before the 1st of December, 1920.

* * *

On Saturday, Carpentier received a challenge from Tommy Burns, says the French press, closely followed by another with a stake of 10,000 dollars from Mike O'Dowde.

SIX DAY BICYCLE RACE.

A New York telegram states that the six days' bicycle race at Madison Square Gardens resulted as follows:

1, American (Goublet and Madden);
2, Franco-Swiss (Dupny and Egg);
3, Australia-American (Margin and Mc Namara).

BILLIARDS.

Saturday's closing scores in the principal London billiards matches were as follows:—

Smith (in play)	8,244
Inman	6,075

Breaks: Smith 206, 146; Inman 380, 399.

Newman (in play)	8,864
Falkiner	6,601

Breaks: Newman, 131, 221; Falkiner, 167, 164, 321 (90 in off red).

PLAY: MUSIC: SONG.

Amusement and Recreation.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	STAR	CURT.
Thurs.	Cav. Rusticana / Der Bajazzo	Mascagni / Leoncavallo	7	9.45
Fri.	Der Wildschütz	Lortzing	7	10
Sat.	Merry Wives of Windsor	Nicolai	7	0.30
Sun.	Meistersinger von Nürnberg	Wagner	5	10.30

Monday No Performance

Tuesday No Performance

Sunday Concert.

Germans were strongly represented in the audience at the Deutsches theatre, Cologne, on Sunday evening for the eleventh of a series of special Sunday concerts which Capt. Haygarth, the genial and enterprising Amusements Officer arranges with an experienced eye to public taste. This is not a surprising state of affairs, when it is borne in mind that the programme submitted included several of the most noticeable members of the Cologne Opera House. Miss Audrey Esmond, the well-known contralto was the only English singer and her admirably rendered numbers included "Mel sand in the Wood" and "Homing." She sang with perfect taste and with a voice of exceptionally pure quality. It was rather unfortunate that occasionally her efforts were slightly marred by unsympathetic accompaniment. Fritz Hans Reinoll was the solo pianist and his playing evoked the greatest enthusiasm. His renderings of Liszt, Chopin, and other leading composers were agreeably original in their treatment and technically without fault. By no means the least popular items in the programme were the duets of Carl Reemer and Hans Clemens. Verdi's "The Force of Destiny" was extremely good. In addition both artistes submitted delightful solos. The accompanists were Paul Mania and Pte. H. Gilbert, while Alfred Barker conducted the orchestra.

Gurzenich Hall Concert.

At the Gurzenich Hall on Thursday night, the famous tenor Karl Erb of the Munich Opera house and the 12 year's old violinist, Tossy Spiwakowsky, will contribute to an excellently arranged programme in which is included the most important works.

"Lady Frederick."

Lieut. S. E. Percy has kindly consented for members of the B.R.A.D.C. to play in "Lady Frederick" at the British Empire Leave Club on Tuesday Dec. 16th at 6 p.m.

Merry Blue Boys.

This excellent Concert Party from the 55th General Hospital are giving a performance to-night at the British Empire Leave Club at 7 p.m.

Sunday Concert.

On Sunday evening a delightful Concert was given at the British Empire Leave Club by the Band of the 23rd Royal Fusiliers. The Hall was crowded and the enthusiastic reception spoke for itself.

The programme included solos by Miss West, who is well known at these concerts, Cello solos by Miss Somers Cocks and "Onl No John" sung by Miss Mackenzie.

Battery Dance.

A successful dance was held on Wednesday in the St. Florian Hall, Weiden (Lovenich) by B/51st Bde. R.F.A.

Great enthusiasm was shown by the dancers. The evening was brought to a close at 10-30 p.m. owing to the ladies having to return to Cologne. The work of M.C. was admirably carried out by Cpl. V. Harris, and the catering by Lieut. E. Travess and Bdr. C. Cross. The battery anticipate another enjoyable evening this week, and a fancy dress ball for Christmas.

JACQUES.

OPEN TO ALL.

Anyone May Send In Any Number Of Coupons.

Saturday's results gave another set of surprises to competitors. Perhaps the greatest of these was Burnley's defeat at Oldham and Newcastle's failure at Sheffield.

Of the ten matches, five were won by "away" teams, two draws resulted and three home elevens managed to secure the full points.

We would point out that our competition is open to all.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 12,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S.40 Rhine Army

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 12.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec 13th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 12th.

Burnley	v. Oldham
Notts County	v. Everton
Grimsby	v. Bristol City
Lincoln	v. Hull City
West Ham	v. Coventry
South Shields	v. Barnsley
Palace	v. Queens Park R.
St. Mirren	v. Dumbarton
Clyde	v. Queens Park.
Ayr U.	v. Morton

I enter Football Competition No. 12 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(in block letters.)

Rank and No. .....

Unit .....

Full Address .....

DEMPSEY'S DECISION.

Will fight Carpentier for Best Purse offered.

A Chicago message states that Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, announces that Mr. Cochran has cabled offering 180,000 dollars for a match with Carpentier in London, and that a New Orleans promoter has offered Dempsey 150,000 dollars as his portion for a fight in New Orleans. Kearns adds that Dempsey would much prefer to fight in America, but will accept the best offer.

WILDE IN AMERICA.

No-decision Contest with Jack Sharkey.

At Milwaukee, 500 spectators witnessed a ten-round match between Jack Sharkey and Jimmy Wilde. The former, who had an advantage of 8½ pounds in weight, forced the fighting at the start, landing the right on Wilde's head.

Wilde, however, showed great gameness, and in the sixth round bashed his opponent's jaw apparently well, and seemed only to lack force enough to end the match.

Sharkey recovered, and in the concluding rounds got in several heavy blows. Milwaukee is one of the states where official decisions are not allowed, but newspaper correspondents agreed in awarding Sharkey the verdict on points. The gate money amounted to 35,000 dollars.

A FATAL BLOW.

The death of Sergeant-Major Charles Willcox, aged twenty-seven, of the 1st Somersets, one of Joe Beckett's sparring partners, who was fatally injured in a sparring match with a sailor at the National Sporting Club on Wednesday, was the subject of an inquest at Westminster. A verdict of "Accidental Death" was returned.

SUNDAY'S GREAT CONTEST.

Will Ledoux Gain Another Victory for France?

Another boxing match of great international importance will be fought in Paris next Sunday, when Charles Ledoux (Champion of France) meets Walter Ross (Champion of England) for the Bantam Weight Championship of Europe. Ross has been in training for three weeks at Maisons Laffitte and his friends speak of him as being in fine form and very confident.

French sportsmen regard Ledoux as a second Carpentier, and expect another victory for France. Carpentier, it is hoped, will act as referee.

PARIS OR LONDON?

Keen Competition for Staging World's Championship.

Another Paris report says that Decoin the manager of the French wonderland, Paris has wired Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager stating that he is ready to deposit at the New York branch of the French-British bank, or any American bank, New York, whatever amount Dempsey asks, for a twenty rounds contest with Carpentier.

Decoin will leave for America to clinch the match as soon as Dempsey's reply has been received, provided he agrees to fight in France.

BOXING AT Y.M.C.A.

The Army boxing to be held this week in the Great Hall has led to a considerable re-adjustment of the usual weekly events at the Central Y.M.C.A. as will be seen by a reference to the advertisement in our columns to-day.

One More.

To further strengthen their team, Blackburn Rovers have signed on Frank Reilly, the Falkirk centre-half, for whom £2,000 was recently refused.

Junior Cup.

It has been decided that second teams of clubs taking part in the First Division of the London League are entitled to compete in the D.F.A. Junior Cup.

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

Panto Rumours.

I heard more rumours of that talked of Christmas pantomime last night. One was that "Robinson Crusoe" is to be put on. But it was a mere rumour so don't jump on me if doesn't happen.

St. Nicholas.

The morning of the 6th saw many happy faces as the kiddies found their plate at breakfast time piled with fruit. They leave an empty plate and overnight St. Nicholas comes and fills it with goodies. A pretty custom.

Y.M.C.A. Art Exhibition.

An art exhibition has been promoted by the Y.M.C.A. and will be held at the Lindenthal premises in Durener trasse on Saturday. Tea will be obtainable, and Miss Audrey Esmond's Concert party will give a performance in the Star Theatre opposite.

L'Entente Cordiale.

On Sunday evening I saw an inspiring sight, near the Dom. A party of British and French blue jackets were marching along to the strains of "Tipperary" waving Union Jacks and Tricolours and gaily singing at the top of their voices.

No. 21.

Have you noticed that cars are again running on this route? This service, but recently resumed, has been suspended for quite a long time.

"COLOGNE POST" CELEBRITIES
IV. "HAWKEYE".

Superstitions.

Old superstitions die hard. At dinner yesterday in a certain mess one of the members, who is ordinarily a prosaic hard-headed individual, upset the salt. He immediately threw a pinch over his left shoulder with the ejaculation, "Good luck to the fairies."

Enterprising.

I notice that the well-known vendor of matches and bootlaces who stands at the corner of Hohe Strasse and Gürzenich Strasse, has now a stall of Christmas toys and decorations, and he appears to be doing a very good trade as well.

Beer Refused.

A friend of mine stoutly refused to be served with wine at a cabaret the other night. He wanted beer and that only. Met with a firm refusal he sat through the show without any drink at all. He wants to know why wine should be obligatory.

Too Tiny.

A great many of us have bought those miniature German dictionaries not much bigger than a postage stamp. They are alright as curios but for practical use almost worthless. The mere act of turning so many tiny pages to find a word is an unnecessary labour.

Collar Badges.

Men of several regiments on the Rhine seem to be putting up collar badges now. They increase the smartness of khaki undoubtedly.

Décolleté and Cold.

I saw a sight that shocked me the other night. A pretty girl coming from a dance lost her shawl in a fierce gust of wind near the river. A chase was made for it, but meanwhile she had to stand in the cold street, and being a low-backed enthusiast she shivered visibly.

On Naval Lines.

I saw a smart motor in Cologne recently which gave the impression that it was part of a ship's cabin. The portholes lent effect to this.

A Rush for It.

The arrival from Blighty of a real old-fashioned home-made plum cake in a certain mess the other day created quite a furore. It disappeared within five minutes. The German can make exquisite creamy unsubstantial confections, but it takes a British housewife to excel in plain cake.

The Latest.

Among the latest novelties to be seen in the shop window I noticed a case containing scissors. On the inside of the lid there is a place cut, for the insertion of the sender's photo.

The Lady in the Case.

I was sitting next to a legal gentleman in the Summary Court the other day, who was defending a lady charged with selling schnapps to civilians contrary to regulations. While waiting for the case to be called he was reading a book by Jacques Futrelle entitled "The Lady in the Case." I thought it very appropriate.

Unsightly.

When I wonder, do the authorities intend removing the unsightly scaffolding which, for many months past, has adorned the South side of the Dom?

A Mess Story.

A good story is going the rounds of a "Jock" who patronized a strength-testing automatic machine. You place 10 pfennigs in the slot and if you press a handle sufficiently hard, the coin is returned to you. The Jock in question was found dead beside the machine and a jury consisting of Scotsmen returned a verdict of "Death from natural causes."

A Good Investment.

A demobilized reader renewing his subscription to the "Cologne Post" writes:- I enclose 50 marks, which I intended keeping as a souvenir, but which will give greater satisfaction in providing me with memories of Cologne.

Mystery Mixtures.

The ingenuity of the British jam-maker was surely never more in evidence than now. Plum and apple as a combination is quite out-classed by the mysterious concoctions that now pass muster as jam. Guessing competitions as to their composition are fairly rife in all the messes in Rhineland.

FOR BUSINESS MEN IN RHINELAND.

The article that appeared on this page last Tuesday was inadvertently headed "How to do business in Rhineland," but obviously should have read "In occupied Territory". We regret the error.

Traders will be interested in the following official information with relation to the importation of dutiable goods to the United Kingdom.

On the following consumable articles the duty is:—

	£	s.	d.
Tobacco.—Cavendish or Negrohead	11	10½		per lb.
Other kinds	10	4½		per lb.
Cigars	15	7		per lb.
Cigarettes	12	7		per lb.
*Spirits.—Brandy, rum, gin, whisky, etc.	†2	15	5	per proof gall.
Liqueurs	†3	14	2	per liquid gall.
Perfumery (Scent)	†4	7	7	per liquid gall.
* Sugar	1	5	8	per cwt.
Saccharin		8	3	per ounce.
Wine	From 2s. 3d. to 5s. 6d. per gall.

Notes.—*All articles containing spirit or sugar are liable to duty on the spirit or sugar contained in them. †These are the maximum rates.

On the following non-consumable articles, Musical Instruments, Clocks, Watches, Motor Cars and Motor Bicycles and their component parts and accessories, one third of the value.

Other articles liable to customs duty are beer, playing cards, tea, coffee, and chicory, cocoa and chocolate, dried fruit currants, figs, plums, prunes, raisins, and cakes or other goods containing these fruits), glucose and molasses, matches and mechanical lighters, table waters, and cinematograph films.

It should be particularly noticed that any quantity of a dutiable article, however small, is liable to duty on importation to the United Kingdom, and must be declared and produced to the Customs' officers.

As regards consumable articles (a in para. 1) imported by passengers entering the United Kingdom, in practice, duty is not usually charged on quantities not exceeding half-a-pint of spirits or half-a-pound of tobacco (including cigars and cigarettes), or on small quantities of other goods, provided the goods are for the personal consumption of the passenger and have been duly declared and produced, but in every case where the goods imported by passengers exceed these quantities, duty is charged on the total quantity without any allowance.

Non-consumable articles (b in para 2) which are proved to be either of British manufacture, or (if a foreign make) to have been previously in the United Kingdom and to have been exported thence neither from bonded warehouse nor on drawback of duty, are exempt from duty on re-importation into the United Kingdom. Exemption from duty is also allowed when a piano or other musical instrument or a watch or clock (not entitled to exemption as a re-import) is shown to have been in the owner's possession and use abroad for some considerable time and to be brought into the United Kingdom other as part of the ordinary ware or equipment of a passenger or as part of a collective removal of household effects on a bona-fide transfer of residence to the United Kingsdom. There is no exemption from duty on articles intended as presents.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

Fine Windfall.—A Rochester waterman has been left £70,000 by his sister.

Air Relics.—A permanent Air museum is to be founded in London.

"Red" Comic.—The Red Army in Russia has produced a humorous journal.

New Owners.—Many important London journals are changing hands.

Women's Support.—A women's campaign in favour of the League of Nations is being organised.

In Demand.—Glasgow is erecting 500 temporary wooden houses. A thousand applicants have applied for them.

In Memoriam.—A carved oak screen is to be erected in St. Michael's Church, Cricklewood, as a war memorial.

Out of Favour.—Lancaster may scrap its electric trams in favour of electric or petrol driven buses.

Creeping up.—Last week the 96 great towns of England and Wales registered 9,560 births.

Their Opportunity.—Pickpockets are exceptionally busy among the Christmas shopping crowds.

Canada's Wheat.—One half of Canada's wheat crop this year comes from the province of Saskatchewan.

German Election.—General elections for the German Reichstag will probably take place next April.

A Murder Plot.—Sixty dismissed Greek officers have been arrested as accomplices in a plot to murder M. Venizelos.

Building Ships.—Orders for fifty-seven ships have been given by the Canadian Government to the Dominion shipyards.

Becoming British.—174 aliens were naturalised in England during last month. Fifteen were Germans.

For Civilians Too.—Civilians will be eligible for the Air Force Cross and the Air Force Medal.

Shipping Animals.—Canada has doubled her exports of live-stock during the past year.

Eastern Support.—Persia adheres to the League of Nations and will send delegates to the first meeting.

Fighting Chinese.—There are about 5,000 Chinamen in the Russian Red Army.

Big Figures.—Two and a half million francs are speculated daily on horse-racing in France.

To Convey Oil.—A pipe-line to convey oil from Havre to Paris is to be constructed next year.

To Raise Output.—All the workmen at the wharves of Hamburg have gone back to the piece-work system.

Independent.—Many mistresses, unable to get servants, are taking cookery courses themselves.

Khaki Haul.—The police are searching for men who stole £14,000 worth of khaki flannel in Bethnal Green Road.

Pip!! Pip!!—The ex-Crown Prince of Germany has become an enthusiastic motor-cyclist.

Fabulous Rise.—Offices in the City of London that used to fetch £800 a year rent are now letting at £3,000.

The Cotton Boom.—£500,000 has been offered for the Mather Lane Spinning Co's business at Leigh, Lancs.

In Wax.—The Prince of Wales uniformed as a Welsh Guards Colonel and Princess Mary as a Red Cross nurse are the latest models at Madame Tussauds.

A Good Reason.—A Buxton cabby, summoned for driving in a dangerous manner, said his horse was an Army "casualty" suffering from shell-shock.

Another "Anti-Box."—Bishop Welldon thinks England would be a better country if boxing like the Carpentier-Beckett fight ceased to be.

Doyen of Bandmasters.—After 54 years service, Capt. B. S. Green has made his final bow as conductor of the Royal Marines (Blue) Band.

Charity Filmed.—A propaganda film called "Salvage" has been produced. It displays the work of Dr. Barnardo's Homes.

Linked in Arms.—The Belgian Cabinet is said to favour a military entente between Belgium, France and Great Britain.

A Boon to N.C.O's.—The Chevron Club, near Victoria Station, has been used by thousands of N.C.O's passing through London since it opened in February 1918.

Well-off Miners.—Sixty-seven miners have been summoned at Doncaster for non-payment of Income Tax. One was stated to earn over £100 a year.

Raising Pensions.—The Home Office estimates that to raise all the pensions of London ex-policemen to the present rate will cost a million.

Scholars' Tribute.—A marble and alabaster panel is to be placed in Kingston-on-Thames Grammar School to the memory of old boys and masters who fell in the war.

Caste as Reward.—The ruins of Donnington Castle, near Newbury, are for sale. The historic pile was presented to Lord Howard of Effingham by Queen Elizabeth for defeating the Armada.

LEG HEALED
BY ZAM-BUK

Stands 18 Months' Service in France.

L/Cpl. Victor Kempton, Oxford & Bucks L. I., was accidently kicked on the shin when playing with his brother. As a result a nasty wound developed and ate away the flesh round Victor's leg.

"Every time the ulcer was dressed the bandages were soaked with blood and matter," writes Mrs. J. Kempton, of 30, Wales Street, Winnall, Winchester. "The poor boy suffered agonies. His leg was inflamed from knee to ankle.

"I told Victor he would have to go to hospital. He wound'nt hear of this, however, but decided instead to try Zam-Buk, which his father used. From that time the ulcer stopped spreading and the discharge ceased. The inflammation subsided, and rapid natural healing set in. This continued as Zam-Buk was regularly used until Victor's leg was covered with new healthy skin."

"Despite his 18 months service in France his leg is still perfectly sound, thanks to Zam-Buk.

Get a box to-day from either Chemist or Army Canteen, or, if they are out of stock, send to the ZAM-BUK Laboratories, Leeds, ENGLAND.

Zam-Buk

No kit complete without a Box

VENUS PENCILS

These busy days are making the famous "VENUS PENCILS" more necessary to more people than ever before. "VENUS PENCILS" are smooth, flawless, perfect for every conceivable purpose. Never grate—smooth as satin.

17 Degrees Black Lead, 6B (soft est) to 9H (hardest), and in 3 styles copying.

Of all stationers and stores throughout the world.

"VENUS," 173/5, Lower Clapton-road, London, E. 5.

for Every pencil purpose

I. MARCUS & CO. Dept. C. 54a HOUNDSDITCH LONDON, E. 1

Wish to buy large quantities of all Clocks, Watches, Mouth Organs and Musical Instruments, Mechanical Toys, Dolls, Cutlery, Brooches etc.

We are also willing to act as Agents in England for all commodities required for the German market. Write direct and tell us what you have to offer and what you want to buy.

OPINIONS OF THE MOMENT.

THE RIGHT TO HAPPINESS.

Sir Robert Hadfield, the great Sheffield Ironmaster, says: I believe in the workers' right to happiness. It is intensely depressing to think of a man going home so tired out by manual labour in the workshop that he has neither the heart nor the strength for any enjoyment. A worn-out man is an irritable man. What chance of happiness is there for an irritable man, who goes home to a house where there is a wife waiting, herself almost at the limit of endurance with the household of noisy children, and a day spent, may be, at the washtub?

"DO UNTO OTHERS."

Miss Violet Loraine the popular revue actress and singer says: Of all maxims I think my favourite is, "Do unto others as you would they should do unto you." It seems to me that these words represent a complete life-code. If we are out for pleasure, what pleasure can compare with that of making other people happy? No one can possess a finer quality than unselfishness. It is elimination of self which raises people to the highest level of human nature. All through life we see splendid types of self-sacrifice on one hand, pitiable examples of thoughtless selfishness on the other. What a pity a greater number of people do not give a little more thought to this simple maxim.

BRITTLE CIVILISATION.

Lord Rothermere writing on the peril of National Bankruptcy, says: Instead of explaining to the nation our grave economic position, our statesmen paint pictures of a glowing future, which they know in their hearts must be afar off, while the lesser evangels of a new dispensation preach the gospel of universal wealth without work. The same characteristics are visible in most other lands, with this difference—that while other Powers are hastily lessening their external responsibilities, we are wildly entering upon new adventures which may bring ruin in their train. This modern civilisation of ours is a very brittle thing, held together by the invisible cement of international credit, which is swiftly disintegrating.

CLASS WAR.

Mr. W. Mellor in a lecture on "Direct Action" says the Trade Unions have reached the stage when they have either to go forward and get new aims, or go backwards. They are revolutionists, and believe that in the class war all weapons are justifiable. In the war between Capitalism and Labour both sides should engage with the gloves off, and the party who went into that fight voluntarily maimed was going to get seriously hurt.

BRITAIN AND TURKEY.

Sir Francis Younghusband, who writes with intimate knowledge of the Near East, says: Within limits it is assuredly to our interests to uphold the dignity of the Sultan in every way we can. For we British stand as spokesmen and representatives for about a hundred million Mohammedans in various parts of the world, and these stood loyally by us during the war under most trying conditions. They were really enough to fight the Germans, but it was a high trial to join with us in fighting the Turks. We owe it to them and to ourselves to pronounce formally and publicly—firstly, that in freeing peoples from Turkish rule we do not intend to keep them permanently under our subjection, but mean straight away to help them to stand on their own legs and play their own part in the world; and, secondly, that once a definite settlement with Turkey is made, we wish to treat the Sultan with all the respect that is due to him as the leading figure in the Mohammedan world and certainly to leave him in Constantinople.

WAR PROFITS.

Mr. E. F. STOCKTON, president of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, speaking on the subject of the Excess Profits Tax, said: It is idle to appoint profiteering tribunals in every parish to trounce every miserable greengrocer who charges 2d. too much for a cauliflower, and then ridiculous to say that war profits, when they happen to be counted by millions, are sacrosanct as the Ark of the Covenant. During the first two years of the war shipping owners of this country made a profit of about £300,000,000, or more than twice their pre-war capital, not out of the capital sale of ships, but out of trading operations necessary for the war.

SECULARISM, THE EVIL.

Dr. Keating, Roman Catholic Bishop of Northampton, speaking on religion and social problems, said: I am convinced that the main reason for all the ills that beset us to-day is that we have dosed ourselves with the poison called secularism. It has permeated the mentality of the whole nation from end to end, as well as that of all the other European nations and of America. It is a weed choking our social growth.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

At "The Cologne Post" Bookroom in the Arcade leading off the Hohestrasse there is a very attractive selection of Xmas Cards. Prices ranging from 1 Mark to 4 Marks. Envelope supplied free with each card. Orders may also be placed at

The Cologne Post

Office, 35 Marzellen Strasse, Cologne
Postal Address A.P.O.S /40
British Rhine Army

for private christmas cards.

Repairing of Cameras of every kind. The only special workshop in COLOGNE, Schildergasse 112

VENETIAN BLINDS etc. and all spare parts cheap
Strasse Th Kauffmann Cologne Chains Burgmauerstr. 6

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O.S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

XMAS CARDS. Rhineland souvenir series, one mark each at the "Cologne Post" Book Room, The Arcade, Hohe Strasse.

NATURAL AMBER NECKLACES etc. at lowest prices. Write for samples. Apply to A 4/7 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

FOR SALE genuine quality 2 Persian Oriental Covers cheap, worth weight in gold, also 3 extra good quality furs. Apply Goldsteinstr. 71 2nd floor, Lindenthal.

SECOND HAND prismatic binoculars Zeiss-Goerz, Busch & Voigtlander for sale at Blumenfeld, Balthasarstr. 24, near Deutscher Ring.

FOR SALE. A hand-made Smyrna carpet (3×4) m for £30:0:0. Althoff & Co., Glockengasse 9a.

VERY OLD MASTER VIOLIN bow and case and viola for sale. R. Assemacher, Vorgebirgstrasse 29 part., near Hansaring.

WONDERFUL PICTURE, family piece by Fr. Weck of the year 1800, representing Yudith with the head of Holofernes. Great A 29 and A 180 for sale for Mk. 85,0 0. Offers under A 425, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

SPLENDID persian jacket (44-46), with fur, for sale. Baumann, Burgmauer 46.

WANTED.

BUSINESS lady requires comfortably furnished bed-sitting room. Apply Box G. O., Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

WANTED at once. Artistes, humourous and sentimental, for Impromptu Concert. Apply, with terms, to Corp. Vorley, N.A.C.B. Headquarters, Corpl's Mess, Cologne.

WANTED bedroom, sitting room and kitchen or use of kitchen. British warrant Officer's wife. Box 198, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

SECOND HAND pair riding breeches. Must be light colour and cavalry cut. Calf 13. Height 5. 10. Box 99, Cologne Post A.P.O. S. 40.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

EXPERIENCED German cook, employed by 51st Ba Devons until disbanded, seeks situation in Officer's mess. Apply Maria Behrend, Zulpicherstr. 327, Köln-Sülz.

PERSONAL.

WILL WILLIAM EMDE believed to be in the British Army of Occupation communicate with his mother at 84 Aachenerstr., Cologne.

TOMMY. Have you ordered your Xmas cards from the "Cologne Post" Book Room yet? They have a special series of Rhineland cards at one mark each.

A LITTLE assistant governess, to take charge of Girl, 4½ years old, of an English Officer remaining in Cologne. Must have some knowledge of German. Write stating age, salary and previous experience to Box No. 100, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

EDUCATED young lady wants position in English family with children. Frau K. Werner, Severinstrasse 105.

Warrant Officer can thoroughly recommend billet; bedroom and sitting room, Lindenthal; quiet, reasonable terms. Box 97, Cologne Post A.P.O. S/40

LANGUAGES

BONN. Educated young lady wants exchange of conversation (English-German) with English lady. Write to Frl. Hetty Goy, Combahnstrasse, Beuel-Bonn.

WHY don't you learn German quickly? Particulars Spandow, 7 Rudolfplatz. 4–7 p.m.

GERMAN LADY wishes to exchange German against English conversation. Please write to Frl. L. Wilke, Weberstr 4.

REFINED YOUNG GERMAN LADY, speaks English and French, very musical (piano and singing) would like to exchange conversation with refined Englishman, lady or family. References giv. and requd. Apply to A 128 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

OFFICERS WISHING to improve their knowledge of German should call at Spandow's, 7 Rudolfplatz.

COLOGNE POST BOOKSHOP

ARCADE, HOHESTRASSE

Call and see Publishers' catalogues

Any book ordered specially for you

Souvenirs Jewellery-Watches-Steelware etc. cheapest at B. Prechner, Cologne, 27 Weidenbach

TOURING CAR

Loreley Car 6/18, open with hood, quite thoroughly overhauled, with rims, in running order, for sale. Can be seen at any time until 4 o'clock p.m. Apply to Otto Müller, Godesberg, Marktstr.

A CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR HOME

WE SEND A PRINTED ADVICE TO YOUR FRIEND THAT YOU HAVE ARRANGED FOR THEM TO RECEIVE THE POST DAILY FOR ONE MONTH. FILL IN THE FORM — WE DO THE REST.

THE COLOGNE POST HOME SUBSCRIPTION FORM

To Subscription Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40 Rhine Army/

I enclose remittance for 20 marks. (From United Kingdom 3/4.)

Please send "The Cologne Post" daily for one month to:

PLEASE WRITE IN BLOCK LETTERS

NAME: .....

ADDRESS: .....

.....

.....

20 MARKS COVERS ALL BRITISH POSSESSIONS

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 9, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

READY SHORTLY
THE
"COLOGNE POST"
XMAS SOUVENIR NUMBER
FULL OF PICTURES

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

XMAS CARDS
UNIQUE SOUVENIRS
NOW ON SALE AT THE
"COLOGNE POST"
BOOK ROOM
ARCADE HOHE STR.

No. 217. COLOGNE, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

"WE EXPECT THE SIGNATURE"

SUPREME COUNCIL GIVES GERMANY A FINAL INTIMATION.

MISS DOUGLAS PENNANT LOSES HER CASE.

"WE REMIND GERMANY."

DETAILS OF SUPREME COUNCIL'S NOTE.

The Supreme Council's Note to Germany was presented to Baron von Lersner at Paris on Monday night. It says that the suggestion of alleged right of Germany to demand—"in compensation for the absence of American Delegates on the various Commissions until the ratification of the Treaty by the United States"—a modification of those clauses of the Treaty concerning the surrender of criminals and the return of prisoners of war, is not justified in the terms of the final clauses of the Treaty. The Treaty is to come into force as soon as Germany and three of the principal Allied and Associated Powers have ratified it. It would be vain for Germany to try to make this coming into force subject to a fresh condition, concerning the presence of American Delegates on Commissions. Article 221 of the Treaty is perfectly explicit regarding the return of prisoners and there is no need for it to be supplemented. France has already several times declared that she would liberate the prisoners of war directly the Treaty comes into force.

The Supreme Council declines to halt before the objections put forward to their demand for compensation for the destruction of the German fleet at Scapa Flow. A separate appended reply is given to the German Note of 24th November repudiating responsibility and declaring inability to pay for the Scapa Flow sinkings. Before making their demands the Allied and Associated Powers examined this question. They do not share the apprehensions of the German Government as regards the effects of an economic character on German ports which would result from their demands and they therefore adhere to the Protocol as it was drafted.

After having received a complete statement of all floating docks, floating cranes, tugs and dredgers demanded by the Protocol the Allied and Associated Powers will make known their selection, taking into account the general economic position of German ports. If afterwards the German Government considers that it can show that any one of the said demands is of a character to cause serious detriment to Germany's capacity to satisfy her legitimate needs, the German Government will be able to submit its claims to the principal Allies, who for their part will be ready to examine them in a spirit of equity.

With regard to the last paragraph of the Protocol of the 1st November under which any violation of the Treaty can be followed by an extension of the Allied Occupation, the Supreme Council considers that the signature of the said Protocol and the deposit of the ratifications shall determine the entry of the Treaty into force and consequently a state of Peace, from that time.

Execution of the clauses of the Protocol and the condition of the entry into force of the Peace Treaty will be guaranteed by the general stipulations of that Treaty as well as by ordinary methods recognised by international law.

"Until the entry of the Treaty of Peace into force we remind Germany for the last time that denunciation of the armistice is sufficient to give the Allied Armies full latitude with a view to such military measures as they should judge necessary. In this spirit we expect the signature of the Treaty without delay and the deposit of the ratifications."

GERMANS RETREAT.

ABANDONING WAR MATERIAL.

Advices from Riga state that the retreat of the Germans continues on the other side of the Lithuanian frontier. They are already past the Mirajevo-Shavly line and in their haste have been forced to leave behind much war material, which has been handed to the Inter-Allied Commission for disposal amongst the Baltic States. Fifty locomotives and several hundred waggons and other material will fall to Latvia.

SUPPLIES FOR AUSTRIA.

The Austrian Chancellor, Herr Renner, will probably leave Vienna for Paris today to submit to the Supreme Council the wishes of the Austrian Government regarding the supply of food, coal and raw materials, and to discuss the question of credit.

BRITISH CASH—BELGIAN CANAL.

The Brussels "Soir" announces that an agreement is about to be concluded with a British syndicate for the construction of a canal from Antwerp to the Rhine, entirely within Belgium. Both the labour and material to be employed will be Belgian.

PENNANT INQUIRY.

COMPLETE FINDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE.

The Select Committee of the House of Lords appointed to examine the circumstances connected with the dismissal from the W.R.A.F. of Miss Violet Douglas Pennant issued its report on Monday.

The Committee complains—and cites more than one illustration—of want of accuracy on the part of the Air Ministry in statements that had come before them. For example, it is maintained that Miss Pennant never had a formal appointment but was merely employed to act in the organisation of the W.R.A.F.

Having reviewed the evidence of alleged immorality at Hurst Park, the Committee states, "We find the accusation that Colonel Bersey desired that immorality should continue at Hurst Park is untrue and that all accusations of immorality and conniving at immorality are wholly unsupported by evidence."

With regard to the accusation concerning Colonel Janson and Miss Glubb the report states, "We find the accusation to be untrue. We find that it is not the fact that there was immoral connexion between Colonel Hanson and Miss Glubb."

"We find," says the Committee, "that there was no intrigue and no concerted action by the parties accused, or by any of them, to induce or compel Miss Pennant's removal or resignation by any improper means."

"We find that in acting as he did, Lord Weir was free from improper influence.

"We sincerely hope that this inquiry will not form a precedent for an inquiry being ever granted hereafter under similar circumstances.

"This report and every finding of it has the complete and unanimous assent of every member of the Committee."

HOHENZOLLERNS.

GERMAN MONARCHISTS ACTIVE.

The question was raised in the House of Commons on Monday of German monarchist activities and a possible restoration of the Hohenzollern dynasty. Mr. Bonar Law said in reply that the present German Constitution provides that the German State shall be a Republic and a restoration of the Hohenzollerns is therefore excluded. If, however, after Peace has been ratified, the German people should revise their Constitution, the attitude of His Majesty's Government will have to be considered, in consultation with their Allies.

Replying to Sir Donald MacLean, Mr. Bonar Law further said that communications are taking place between the Allied and Associated Governments and the German Government with a view to the immediate ratification of Peace and he had little reason to doubt that these communications will have a satisfactory issue.

THE CATTLE SHOW.

REVIVED AFTER THREE YEARS.

Held in abeyance since 1916 in consequence of the war, the Smithfield Club Cattle Show was revived on Monday at the Royal Agricultural Hall, Islington, and will continue open until Friday. In the livestock section there are 115 head of cattle, seventy pens of sheep and 83 pens of pigs, while in the carcase section there are sixteen cattle, sixty-four sheep and thirty-one pigs.

WOOING SOUTH RUSSIA.

A German commercial mission has been secretly despatched to South Russia, says Reuter, for the purpose of entering into economic relations. It is also stated that representatives of an American financial organisation, headed by Rockefeller are now at Rostoff. Besides wishing to establish commercial relations, this American group has decided to open a huge credit for the South Russian Government.

MINERS PROTEST AGAINST NATIONALISATION.

A crowded meeting of colliers, members of the South Wales Miners Federation, was held at Deri on Sunday. A resolution was passed protesting against the Nationalisation of Mines and warning the Federation officers that their propaganda was a danger to the Federation.

WOLVES DEVOUR HINDUS.

A pack of man-eating wolves is terrorising the inhabitants of Behar, a small village in the Bombay province. Seven persons were carried off and devoured in the course of last week.

FEVER EPIDEMIC.

SCARLET FEVER RAGING IN LONDON.

There has been a big increase in the number of fever cases in London during the last few days. At the end of last week the number of patients in the fever hospitals under the administration of the Metropolitan Asylums Board was 4,860, which is more than double the figure (2,376) for the corresponding date last year.

The increase is largely due to scarlet fever cases, though the number of people suffering from diphtheria is higher than usual. The cases appear to be distributed fairly evenly throughout the Metropolitan area, and apparently no district is suffering with special acuteness.

WAR INVENTION.

ELECTRIC CONTROLS ON BATTLESHIPS.

The Royal Comission on Awards to Inventors considered yesterday the claim of Mr. Harry Hewlett Green, in respect of electrically controlled switches, by which it was claimed that the efficiency of 220 warships had been greatly increased, and a considerable saving of money to the Admiralty had been effected.

One of the first ships to be fitted was the "Queen Elizabeth." As the result of reports from the Battle of Jutland, orders were given for the system to be fitted to all battleships. This invention, it was admitted, removed very serious dangers which it had been impossible fully to appreciate until actual warfare broke out, because no one had known exactly what the results of blows from great projectiles, would be.

Counsel for the Crown said there was no dispute as to the utility of the invention, the only question being the amount of the award. The Commission reserved its decision.

PLEASANT MEXICANS.

WHY THE EVIDENCE WAS CREDIBLE.

At a discussion by the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate on the strained relations with Mexico, Mr. Fletcher, the United States Ambassador, gave a graphic account of the methods used by the Mexicans to secure evidence regarding the case of Mr. Jenkins, whose detention in Mexico was the subject of the last American Note.

Mr. Fletcher said that the Mexicans collected ten peons in a certain neighbourhood and questioned them thus: "Jenkins was there at a certain time, wasn't he?" On the question meeting with unanimous denial, one peon was taken out and shot. This procedure was repeated twice more upon which the remaining seven agreed that Jenkins was there at the time indicated.

LONDON POLICE.

STRIKERS' DISMISSAL TO STAND.

With reference to the case of the Metropolitan police constables who were dismissed the Force on account of the police strike the Home Secretary says he is aware of the hardships which some of the wives and families of dismissed constables have suffered. The men, however, showed themselves unfit for the responsible positions they formerly held and the decision of the Government not to reinstate them cannot be altered. The best thing the men can do is to make up their minds to find other employment, as a large proportion have already done.

FOOD RIOTS IN VIENNA.

A message from Vienna states that serious food riots are prevalent. Hundreds of shops are being looted and a number of convents have been entered and stripped of food. The police, gendarmerie and an Italian detachment operating machine guns restored order late on Sunday night. Similar outbreaks occurred elsewhere.

NEW RAILWAY COMMITTEE.

The names of the Railway Advisory Committee were announced on Monday. The men's representatives will be Mr. Cramp and Mr. Thomas, of the Railwaymen's Union, Mr. Bromley, of the Locomotive Drivers Union, and Mr. Walkden, of the Railway Clerks' Association.

BIG PRIZE MONEY FOR E 14.

By a decision of the Privy Council on Monday the crew of the British Submarine E 14 become entitled to a prize bounty exceeding thirty thousand sterling. Submarine E 14 four years ago sank a Turkish transport in the Sea of Marmora with six thousand and two hundred crew aboard.

POLISH JEWS' SABBATH.

According to the Jewish Bureau, the Polish Government has decided not to enforce for the present the legislation compelling Sunday rest by Jews.

"MISSING."

MANY UNKNOWN DEAD IDENTIFIED.

A statement issued by the War Office with reference to the work of the Mission sent to trace missing soldiers in Belgium and Northern France describes the minute investigations made. Numerous graves, known only to private individuals, were discovered and the identity of the occupants established in a large number of cases. The statement pays a warm tribute to the aid rendered by Belgian officials and notables, especially Cardinal Mercier, M. Borqueville, Minister of the Interior, and the Princess De Croy.

In the course of the Mission's investigations, sundry relics of the dead afforded evidence of many poignant incidents. A solitary grave on the road to Elouges was found marked, "Unknown British soldier. Died 24.8.1914." The man who buried him was interviewed, and showed the Mission a photograph of a woman which was found in the dead man's hand, clasped against his heart. At the bottom of the card, which contained a cheerful message from the original of the portrait, was "." hitherto unidentified man.

When the work of the Mission is completed, the public may rest assured that all that can be done to trace our missing will have been done.

GERMAN CANARD.

SCAPA FLEET PRISONERS AND ORDERS.

The British Admiralty states that there is no truth whatever in the suggestion that the Scapa Flow prisoners are being treated in any way differently from other prisoners of war.

With reference to German comments on what has been described as a "garbled version" of Admiral von Trotha's letter, it may be stated that the version published in the British Press was a complete translation of the letter in question. The letter has been photographed, and copies of the photograph are available to anyone who cares to have them.

TROOPS FROM INDIA.

CHRISTMAS REUNIONS.

The War Office states that since the 20th November three ships have left Karachi and Bombay carrying 291 officers and 3,150 other ranks to the United Kingdom from India and Mesopotamia. It is further expected that seven ships will arrive during the Christmas holidays with 7,400 British troops from India. The probable dates of arrival and probable ports of debarkation are as follows: Caledonia, 23rd Dec., Devonport; Stiegerwald, 25th Dec., Liverpool; City of Poona, 25th Dec., Liverpool; Macedonia, 25th Dec., Southampton; Bhamo, 26th Dec., Liverpool; Frankfort, 27th Dec., Devonport; Tagus, 29th Dec., Southampton.

NO WEAKENING.

O'GRADY'S INFLEXIBLE ORDERS.

Reuter is authorised to re-affirm that Mr. J. O'Grady M.P., has again received the most definite instructions to negotiate with Litvinoff solely with regard to the exchange of prisoners.

BRITISH VOLUNTEERS FOR DENIKIN.

"The Globe" states that a flood of letters has descended on the organisers of an unoffical force for Denikin since its formation a short time since.

"We are just waiting for a few details to be settled between ourselves and Denikin," said an officer in charge of recruiting, "and then we shall select the best men."

MINERS' LEADERS SURRENDER.

Mr. Lewis, President of the Miners' Union, and six other miners' leaders of the coal strike surrendered to the Sheriff at Indianapolis and were released on bail. The Federal Attorney has filed a statement alleging that mine owners as well as the miners have violated the injunction.

A FAMOUS CORRESPONDENT.

The death is announced of Sir Edwin Pears, the famous newspaper correspondent at Constantinople for forty years. He died at Malta on the 27th November, aged eighty-four. He was the first to report the Bulgarian atrocities.

CZAR'S UNDERCLOTHING.

A Warsaw Bolshevist sailor, arrested by the Warsaw police, was found to be wearing underclothing that had belonged to the late Tsar. He is suspected of being implicated in the murder.

The Argentine Government wishes to spend three million piastres on behalf of the suffering inhabitants of Vienna.

The Spanish War Minister has resigned and his office has been taken temporarily by the Premier.

SUMMARY COURT.

MUNICIPAL DEMONSTRATION INCIDENT.

On the occasion of a meeting of the Cologne Town deputies in the University, Römerpark, on 27th November, there was a demonstration outside the building by a crowd, many of whom were unemployed. Windows were broken, and not until the arrival of the British police was order restored.

Leopold Hirn, of 63, Blaubach, was charged with inciting persons to collect in a crowd to cause a disturbance, and further with refusing to move off when ordered. A German detective was the principal witness.

Hirn denied the charges and said he moved off when a British M.P. ordered him to do so. The German detective, he regarded, as "an unknown civilian." He was with his wife and four friends, and the wife moved so slowly that he had to push her. (laughter).

The Presiding Officer: She must like political meetings. Is she a suffragette?

Accused having been ten days in custody, he was discharged and warned that in future he must obey orders whether they come from the civil police or the military.

INSULTING A BRITISH OFFICER.

Charged with insolence towards a British officer, Herman Ziskoven, a merchant of 93, Theresienstrasse, was fined 250 marks or ten days.

The accused, who pleaded not guilty, was a passenger in the Bonn-Cologne tram, when an officer, to ease the stuffy compartment, opened the ventilator. A man named Höring (who has already been fined for his impertinence) thereupon insulted the officer, and Ziskoven took sides with Höring, exchanging cards with him at Ubier Ring.

Ziskoven admitted that he was excited, as his wife had a bad cold, and averred that he would not intentionally insult any Britisher. He had been silly and was sorry for it.

The Presiding Officer: You overlooked the fact that you were not talking to a countryman of your own. Our officers try to be as courteous as possible to civilians, but you lost your temper, and must pay for it.

ITALIAN SOCIALISTS.

DETAILS OF RIOTS LEAKING OUT.

Publication has now been permitted at Rome of details of serious disorders which occurred at Mantua on the 3rd and 4th December, whereby eight persons were killed and fifty wounded as a result of the protest strike.

A mob of strikers attacked the barracks and after beating four officers into unconsciousness, smashed all the windows of the barracks. The soldiers fired in the air but the mob fired on the soldiers, mortally wounding a sergeant.

Subsequently the mob invaded the railway station and destroyed the railway, telegraph and telephone lines and wrecked the restaurant. They then rushed the gaol, and after overpowering the guards, released the prisoners and set fire to the building.

Similar acts of violence were perpetuated elsewhere. The troops have been strongly reinforced, and have occupied the city.

SHOOTING OUTRAGE.

CALLOUSLY PLANNED AFFAIR.

Details of the shooting outrage in Ireland, by which Lord Incniquin and several other members of a shooting party, including Lady Beatrice O'Brien, were wounded, show that the two cars were held up by a barricade of stones across the road and a fusillade poured in.

It is believed that the assailants numbered twenty. They are still at large.

BIG THEFT OF FLANNEL.

Nearly seventy thousand yards of flannel, worth £14,000, the property of the American Government, are reported to the police as missing from a warehouse in London. The flannel was stored during the war and was intended to be used in the manufacture of army uniforms. It was recently discovered during preparations for the disposal of surplus stock that seventy-seven bales were missing. Inquiries are being instituted among clothing manufactures and as the flannel is all of the same make it should be easily identified.

KIPLING APPEALS.

Mr. Rudyard Kipling, on behalf of the Imperial War Graves' Commission, is appealing to battlefield tourists "to respect the spirit lying upon that land of desolation and walk through it with reverence". He calls to them to avoid unthinking carelessness, and to bear in mind at every step that they are in the presence of those dead, through whose sacrifices they enjoy their present life.

WOMAN COUNTERFEITER.

A woman of fifty, named Elizabeth Williams, was remanded at Tower Bridge Police Court, charged with coining. A raid by Scotland Yard officers revealed coining implements, including plaster moulds, counterfeit halfcrowns, white metal and copper.

BEMERSYDE FUND.

CONTRIBUTIONS BEGIN TO POUR IN.

Although the Bemersyde fund was only opened on Saturday, donations are already coming in. Among the early contributions, was a cheque for £500 from a resident of Abbey Wood on the one hand, and a postal order for one shilling from an ex-service man on the other.

The ex-service man appeals to all his comrades to show their appreciation of Field Marshal Earl Haig by sending their mites. "His lack of Brass hat egotism, his grim tenacity, his confidence in the ordinary Tommy, his great sympathy for the disabled as well as his keen interest in demobilized men's welfare, all appeal with great force," writes an ex-service man. "Here is a fine chance," he adds, "for us ex-service men to do our bit."

TAR AND FEATHERS.

EX-M.P.'S SCANDALOUS TREATMENT.

An extraordinary outrage is reported from Melbourne. A party of motorists visited the homestead near Ararat of Mr. McDougall, an ex-member of the Commonwealth Parliament on Saturday evening, and reporting that one of their cars was bogged, asked Mr. McDougall to render assistance. He accompanied them for some distance, when the motorists suddenly seized Mr. McDougall, gagged him, and threw him into a motor car. After driving for several more miles along an unfrequented road they tarred and feathered him and hurled him into a creek.

As affording a clue to the reason for this savage assault, it is alleged that some twenty years ago Mr. McDougall wrote some verses which were published by a Labour newspaper. One verse, referring to dead Australian soldiers, read: "Stiff limbed, with putrid faces turned livid to the sky."

Mr. Hughes recently scathingly denounced the Labour paper for reprinting the verses during the recent war.

CHRISTMAS TURKEYS.

SUPPLY FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

The pioneer shipment of South African turkeys has reached the East India dock, London, in the Grantully Castle. There are 657 cases, averaging ten birds to the case, and 157 cases of other poultry. Supplies of English turkeys are fair and the birds are in good condition considering the shortage and high price of feeding stuffs.

BRITISH TRADE.

NEW CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE.

It is officially announced that Lord Curzon is about to appoint a representative Committee to enquire into the best means of promoting British Chambers of Commerce in all towns and cities of the world with a view to increase Great Britain's foreign trade.

HAMPSTEAD HEATH PESTS.

As a sequel to the frequent robberies with violence of women on Hampstead Heath, John Lee, a greengrocer, was charged at Hendon with assault and robbery.

It was alleged that the accused lay in wait and seized a woman from behind, forced her fur into her mouth, snatched her handbag and decamped. He was remanded for further inquiries.

YOUNG TURK MOVEMENT.

A message from Salonika dated the 4th December says that Ali Kemal Bey, a former Turkish Minister, asserts that the Germanophile Young Turk Committee, whose activity has been interrupted for a short time since the armistice, will shortly find its former power again.

AMERICAN ANANIAS.

The United States Naval Secretary has approved the sentence of dismissal passed by a Naval Court-martial on Captain Edmund George Chamberlain in connection with his sensational claims to having defeated a vastly superior force of German aircraft on the Western front.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

Business was generally quiet but British investments hardened on the encouraging November trade returns, together with Sinking Fund purchases. International securities remained under the influence of adverse rates of exchange. Japanese were exceptionally strong and Industrials received provincial support. Oils were irregular and quieter. It is officially announced that after the 23rd December dealings will be allowed on the Stock Exchange in the issue of eight million French 5 per cent Premium Bonds of 500 francs each, which are free from French income tax. For bar gold Spain paid the record price of 107 shillings and six pence per ounce. Silver advanced to 75¼ pence on trade demand and speculative buying.

A great Advance in Soap Chemistry

As a result of many years strenuous work in chemical research and its practical application, "Sapon" Soap has been perfected. It is the greatest advance in the chemistry of Soap since that article was first manufactured.

Ordinary Soap consists of Fat deglycerined and saponified with Caustic Soda.

"Sapon" Soap is derived from Carbohydrates which when treated by the Company's patented process, yield Ammonia, Methylamine, and Trimethylamine. These Nitrogenous compounds are highly emulsifying agents, and do NOT combine with Lime or Magnesia Salts in water, as all fat-derived soaps do. Hence, no "scum" or insoluble lime soap is formed, even in the hardest water when "Sapon" Soap is used.

Dr. Shorter, of Leeds University, says of "Sapon" Soaps:—
"They contain 'surface active' colloids, whose 'surface activity' greatly exceeds that of an ordinary fat soap, and therefore it fulfils in an extremely satisfactory manner the fundamental condition for detergent action."

SKIN DISEASES

The Amines and Amido bodies in "Sapon" Soap are readily soluble in water. They are germicidal but non-injurious owing to their colloid nature. Besides their efficiency as cleansers, they have a wonderfully sedative action.

"Sapon" Soap gives wonderful results in irritable skin diseases, such as Scabies, Eczema, Pruritis, Insect Bites, Acne, etc. The following is the best method of application when it is used for curative purposes, —moisten the Soap, rub it on the part affected and allow it to dry, on.

You will never use old-fashioned Fat Soap once you have used "SAPON" SOAPS and given them a fair trial.

Sole Agents for "Sapon" Soap in Germany
ERIC MORTON & Co.
12, Lutticher Strasse
COLOGNE

SAPON SOAPS LIMITED
Sapon House, London Bridge, E.C. 4, England

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

FLIGHTS LTD

MILITARY TAILORS

LONDON. WINCHESTER. ALDERSHOT.

Owing to military requirements Mr. A. J. R. Lee has been compelled to change his address to

KRONPRINZ HOTEL
(Behind The Excelsior Hotel)

where he will have his usual excellent selection of material, both for Mufti and Uniform, also a stock of Hosiery of the best quality.

LATE OF THE OFFICERS' CLUB No. 1.

TO-DAY
VI CORPS
OFFICERS CLUB
GRAND ORCHESTRAL CONCERT
under the direction of Augmented Orchestra
of 20 Performers
A Horn Quartette will play during the Concert
3.30—5.30

PARIS EXCURSIONS TO VERSAILLES FONTAINEBLEAU etc.

LEAVE

PEARCE and CHARPENTIER,
the well-known Paris GUIDES will answer enquiries concerning a visit to Paris. Gratis.

2 Rue Edouard VII, Paris

THE OLD FOLKS AT HOME read The Cologne Post. Send it daily to yours.

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED TO THE

ART EXHIBITION

Y.M.C.A. Rhine Army

The above will be held on Saturday, December 13th at the LINDENTHAL Y.M.C.A. Durener Strasse. No's 1 & 2 cars pass the door.

The Exhibition will be open from noon. Tea 4 p.m. and 5 p.m. Miss Audrey Esmond's Concert Party will give a performance in the Star Theatre, Lindenthal, opposite the Y.M.C.A.

CHURCH ARMY
HOTEL DU NORD
COLOGNE

FANCY DRESS DANCE will be held in
THE HALL THURSDAY DEC. 11.
ENGLISH LADIES ADMITTED FREE
ADMISSION
(including refreshments) 10 Marks
Dressing rooms for ladies and gentlemen. Shoes or light boots to be worn.

R. C. FLACK & CO.
Naval Military and Civil Tailors.
CAMBRIDGE
Also fitting rooms in Cheapside.
LONDON

Gloves. Fur backed. Fur lined. Wool lined. Service Caps. Puttees. Hosiery. Shirts. Ties. Handkerchiefs. Also a large stock of all other Military and Civil requirements. The largest selection of newest materials for Military and Civil dress.

All orders executed in about 14 days.

ROOM 6, KRONPRINZ HOTEL
BEHIND "EXCELSIOR HOTEL".

The high grade "TUCKMAR" Razor

Do you know why everybody asks to-day for a "Tuckmar" razor and why they are called the "Worlds Perfect Razor"???
Because they are the very best and most durable razors in shaving!!!
The excellence of the "Tuckmar" razors consists in their being made from the very best silver steel and in their having the best reputation in the world!!! Every razor fully warranted! SOLD EVERYWHERE!

TÜCKMANTEL & MARTIN, Ohligs-Solingen.
Factory-Agent and Exhibition: Gormanns & Schallenberg, Cologne, Neumarkt 32-34.

TUCKMAR RAZORS P. LAAFF, Specialist KOMÖDIENSTR. 79 Opposite Army Cinema No. 1. lowest prices.

Please ask for:

DEUTZ & GELDERMANN

First-class Champagne

FRANZ JOSEF ROETTGEN, COLOGNE, General Agent.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstrasse
Sunday, Dec. 14th 1919, at 6 p.m.

Grand Ballad Concert

Artistes:

Lieut. S. E. PERCY
Will Recite "THE HAPPY PRINCE".

ERIC MORGAN
The Well-known English Tenor

MARTHA BRUCH
Mezzo-Soprano

HOWARD FRY
Baritone

ALFRED BARKER
The Brilliant English Violinist

Special Augmented Orchestra under the direction of ALFRED BARKER

Book at Amusements Office

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.
To-night and nightly at 6 p.m.,
Mr. ALFRED HUPLEY'S
LONDON VARIETY COMPANY
ARTISTES:
Leslie Nancie
ROSS and HANTON
In screaming duologues.
MARGUERITE DE LARA
Prestidigitator.
GERALD WILLIAMS
The Popular Tenor.
WARWICK PRYCE
Entertainer at the Piano from St. George's Hall, London
C. POWELL-EASTBURY
Baritone and Humourist
and
MARJORIE BOWYA
Soprano and Violinist.

No: 1 ARMY CINEMA. (The Boys). 3 Komödienstrasse

No: 2 ARMY CINEMA. (Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.

No: 3 ARMY CINEMA. (Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2 30 p.m.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.
Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc., Staff Instructor in attendance.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
CINEMA
Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post
Telephones: Military, No. 653. Civil: A 3513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Wednesday, December 10, 1919.

THE POTSDAM WAR CONSPIRACY.

On November 29th there appeared in the "Times" a lengthy excerpt from the German official documents which Kautsky, the well known Socialist deputy and writer, has been collating from the archives of the German Foreign Office. In another column we give some extracts from these papers which constitute a damning indictment of the German and Austrian Governments and rulers.

Whilst these documents do not afford any fresh information on the origins of the war, the main facts of which are well known, they undoubtedly confirm the general conclusions which have long been arrived at as to the guilt of the instigators.

We must of course bear in mind the tendencious nature of these compilations. The present German Government is at pains to prove the innocence of the German people for the war. Hence documents which incriminate the Kaiser as well as the late German and Austrian Governments are given prominence, and nothing is said as to the equal guilty participation of the great mass of the German public, which hailed with rapture every atrocity from the unrestricted U-Boat warfare to the devastation of N. France and Belgium. Nevertheless these documents are of undoubted interest.

The chief new fact they establish is the primary responsibility of the Kaiser for the outbreak of the war. The "Crown Council" held at Potsdam on July 5th, 1914, in fact, if not in name, virtually decided upon war on that date. It was then that the Kaiser gave his unqualified support to the Austrian schemes of Balkan aggrandizement. This was followed up on July 6th by Bethmann-Hollweg, the German Chancellor, who emphatically endorsed the proposals put forward by Count Berchtold, the Austrian Foreign Minister. Whilst stating that Austria was the best judge of her own interests, Bethmann Hollweg declared that Germany would stand by her whatever decision she might take.

Nor was his Imperial master backward in advocating a policy of "Thorough." "Serbia must be trampled upon and that soon". "Now or never," was his marginal comment upon the German ambassador's dispatch from Vienna stating that opinion there held that a day of reckoning must come some day with the Serbs.

On July 7th, a joint council of ministers held at Vienna, fortified by these assurances from Berlin, decided to launch their ultimatum upon Serbia. Count Berchtold stated that soundings in Berlin had yielded very satisfactory assurances. Both the Kaiser and the Chancellor had, "with every emphasis, pledged Germany to render unconditional support to the Monarchy in the event of warlike complications with Serbia."

In view of these statements it is impossible to maintain, as some German publicists have endeavoured to do, that Germany exerted no influence upon Austrian policy.

Further, in adjudicating the proportion of blame, it is impossible to acquit the German people any more than their rulers. True, the latter hatched the plot and launched the war, well knowing the awful consequences involved. But a people gets the Government it deserves and hence it is useless for the German people to seek to evade their share of responsibility for the catastrophe which they brought upon the world. The German people willed the war, applauded its excesses, and only when militarism began to fail them did they turn upon their idol. It is to be hoped that Kautsky's work, which will shortly be published, will be read widely and still further enlighten those who are beginning to realise the extent to which they were duped.

"CLARENCE."

A QUESTION OF ESTABLISHMENT.

It happened this way. Our mess had rats. I don't wish this to be taken as a hint that our members are anything but strictly sober N.C.O.s. No, the rats were things of flesh and fur, and about a division of them had billetted themselves on us and expected to be provided with rations and accommodation for "nix".

George told us the heartrending tale. (George is our cook and general caterer.) He wound up a long indictment against the rats by stating "that we ought to do something for them." I strongly protested against doing any more for them and George explained that he meant to get some traps. So I bought the traps, six of them, a good out size fitted with beautiful springs strong enough to crush a tortoise. I know because I tried one on my finger.)

George and I baited the traps with tasty cheese and waited gloatingly for the massacre. As a matter of fact we had little to gloat over. Our rats enjoyed a beautiful supper, ate the cheese with coffee, and after sharpening their teeth on the traps took their well-nourished bodies to bed.

Then George said, "we must get a cat." He said it just as if legions of cats were disporting themselves outside, but personally I had only seen one cat in one village in six months and that animal didn't look strong enough to catch a cold, let alone a rat.

George, however, persisted that he knew of a wonderful cat, a sort of man-eating cat which he could "procure"; but owing to the ferocious nature of this grimalkin he would require a little lucre to hire two bravados to assist in the cat-napping.

So we parted with twenty marks and sure enough the next morning were introduced to the phenonomen. It was quite a large cat. I should say the Great Grand Daddy of all cats, but quite an amiable animal and apparently not a bit disturbed at its abduction. It finished a tin of sardines and a basin of milk, and sat looking into the fire communing with itself.

We decided to call it Clarence. Then we talked to that cat like a father. We gave it to understand that in return for a good home, we expected it to do its duty in the matter of rats like a cat, and Clarence, by a withering look told us that he had caught more rats than we had seen in our most uproarious "spree."

George was in high feather in the morning. He showed us, at the breakfast table, two unmistakable rat's tails. It appeared Clarence was making good. We were delighted, but told George we would be satisfied with just the total casualties in the morning without any trophies being displayed.

After this we had daily recitations of the prowess of Clarence, and it seemed astonishing that the rats did not evacuate the position in face of this terror. Possibly they enjoyed the nightly "stunt." Anyhow, like the poor relations, they remained with us.

At the end of the month George presented us with a bill for 50 marks. It appeared Clarence needed nourishing food to sustain him in his efforts and our poor rations were insufficient to keep him in rat-fighting condition. We considered that as Clarence had also added to his diet, apple tart and jellies, the extra levy was an extortion, but we paid.

Then Clarence took to drink. Not a lot, just a Bass here and there, and what with the other luxuries the inroad into our purses was considerable. So we consulted the Quarter-Bloke as to whether it was not possible to recover the cost of Clarence's upkeep from the Pay Office.

The Quarter-Bloke thought perhaps he could wangle it, as the introduction of the Pay and Mess Book would help considerably and he might pass Clarence through as a meat safe. Perhaps the rest of the story may be better told by a summary of the subsequent correspondence between the Quarter-Bloke and the Pay Office.

From the Regimental Paymaster.
To "Z" Coy. Fife Rifles.

In your P. and M. Book for Sept., I notice an item "To cost of extra rations for Clarence, 18/6." Kindly explain who is Clarence. He does not appear as having drawn any pay.

To:—Regimental Paymaster.

Ref. yours. Clarence is a cat and is Regimental Rateatcher to the Serjeant's

(Continued in next column.).

KAUTSKY'S REVELATIONS ON THE WAR CONSPIRACY.

THE KAISER'S COMPLICITY.

The Kautsky documents are of such outstanding importance, revealing as they do the complicity of the German and Austrian Governments in weaving the war plot, that we propose to reproduce the most important features of the "Times" summary. Fresh light, moreover, is thrown upon the attitude of the Kaiser who appears in his true character as War Lord, backing Austria's schemes of Balkan aggression. The various stages of the negotiations during the critical days of June to July, 1914, are given in chronological order with the Kaiser's marginal comments.

German and Austrian Statesmen and Ministers.

Herr von Bethmann Hollweg,—Imperial Chancellor.
Herr von Jagow,—Secretary of State.
Prince Lichnowsky,—German Ambassador in London.
Herr von Tschirschky,—German Ambassador in Vienna.
Count Hoyos,—Special Envoy to Berlin from the Emperor Francis Joseph.
Baron Giesl,—Austro-Hungarian Minister at Belgrade.

June 28th. The Archduke Francis Ferdinand murdered at Serajevo.

Herr von Tschirschky writes that he is warning Vienna against hasty steps.

Kaiser's Comments. Kaiser—"Who has authorised him to do this? It is very stupid! It is no business of his: it is purely Austria's affair to consider what she ought to do in consequence. Tschirschky will please stop this nonsense. A clearance must be made of the Serbs, and that soon."

July 5th. Count Hoyos arrived at the New Palace, Potsdam, with special dispatches from the Austrian Emperor. The Kaiser authorises the Austrian Ambassador to inform Francis Joseph that Vienna might reckon upon the fullest German support, adding,—"Any action against Serbia ought to be taken without delay. Russia would certainly be hostile, but he had years ago expected this possibility, and if it should come to war between Austria and Russia, Germany would loyally take her stand beside the monarchy."

July 22nd. Prince Lichnowsky sketches Sir Edward Grey's probable attitude towards the Austrian demands. Jagow transmitted this dispatch to the Kaiser, adding that the German Ambassador had been instructed to declare that we did not know the Austrian demands, but that we regarded them as an internal Austro-Hungarian question, upon which we were not competent to exert influence. Upon this the Kaiser commented.—"Quite right! But Grey must be told this very seriously and plainly, so that he may see that I won't stand any nonsense. Grey makes the mistake of putting Serbia on the same level as Austria and other Great Powers! This is unheard of! Serbia is a pack of brigands, who must be brought to book for their crimes. I shall not interfere in anything which the Emperor (Francis Joseph) alone is competent to decide. I expected this dispatch, and it does not surprise me! A typical example of British mentality and of the lordly British way of ordering people about, and I want to have it repudiated."

July 25th. The Kaiser, upon learning from his Minister at Belgrade that Serbia was about to mobilize, ordered his fleet (which had been cruising in Norwegian waters) to prepare to return home. This dispatch described events in Belgrade since the presentation of the Austrian ultimatum. The Kaiser embellished it with such exuberant comments as: "Bravo! We no longer thought—the Viennese capable of this! . . . . His Majesty (King Peter) seems to have funked it! . . . . . The proud Slavs! . . . . . How hollow the whole of the so-called Serbian great Power turns out to be! All Slav States are like that. Just tread this rabble firmly on the feet!"

A dispatch from von Tschirschky reporting that Count Berchtold was trying to hoodwink Russia by being polite, was characterised by the Kaiser as feeble.

Count Berchtold's assurances that Austria did not desire any Serbian territory for herself or any modification of the balance in the Balkans, provoked the Kaiser to the marginal exclamation:

"Donkey! Austria must retake the Sandjak, or else the Serbians will come down to the Adriatic . . . . Austria must become preponderant in the Balkans over the smaller States at the expense of Russia, otherwise there will be no peace." (The Sandjak was a strip or corridor of territory sandwiched between Serbia and Montenegro, cutting off Serbia from access to the sea.)

The Kaiser ridiculed as childish von Tschirschky's statement that the War Minister and the Chief of the General Staff were leaving Vienna the next day for a short time, in order to disarm any suspicion. The Kaiser added that he agreed with Frederick the Great, who "was against war councils and conferences because the more timid party always gets the upper hand."

(To be continued.)

Mess. So far he has made no appearance at the pay table. The extra rations are necessary in order to keep him in a fit condition so that he can repel attacks of hordes of rats nightly.

To:—"Z" Coy., Fife Rifles.

Yours to hand. Are the rats on the strength of the regiment for any experimental purposes?

To:—Regimental Paymaster.

In reply to your memo, the rats in question are not on the establishment. They are purely invaders and interlopers and refuse to quit the premises. Hence Clarence. I suggest that it is merely a question of feeding Clarence or thousands of rats, and of the two, the former way is surely the cheapest.

To:—"Z" Coy., Fife Rifles.

This amount cannot be allowed. As the rats are not on the establishment of the unit, they must be regarded as pets and must be rationed by the mess. I cannot regard their upkeep as a charge to be borne by the public.

We still have Clarence and he continues to keep our foes at bay on a diet of fresh meat, fruit, tinned fish and custard. But what really worries us is,—will he now demand to be attached for pay as well as rations?

E.M. FISHER.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

Our Readers' Varied Views.

DO NOT LOAF.

Sir,—"Freedom" has indeed judged me hard if he imagines that the evening classes I suggest are to be compulsory. As a regular soldier I fully appreciate the fact that men can be led, but not driven.

Why does he think that natural history classes by themselves should ever be thought of as a counter-attraction? It is the combination of classes, amusements, dancing etc. which will be successful so that every man may spend his evening as he chooses.

As for "Freedom's" idea of young soldiers "mixing with the throng" at night, I cannot agree that this is good training for a man whose character is not yet formed.

What I mean by "loafing" is standing about at street corners, but whatever interpretation the word is given, the evil of it remains.

H.C.W.

CRAFTS NOT ARTS.

Sir,—I consider "Craftsman" is in the right. It may be that the Army College does pay as much attention to the more useful crafts as is done with painting and decoration and designing, but I must agree that the man who can make a good table or a pair of boots, or do a decent job at the forge or bench is the more useful member of society.

Take the Colonies. Do they ask for settlers who can design a fancy decoration or paint a sunset on the Rhine? No, they demand men who can use their hands in carpentry, in ironwork or agriculture. These are the subjects I would suggest should be given the preference.

In recent years in England we have neglected honest manual labour and thought it infra dig.

We have produced thousands of clerks and counter jumpers but good craftsmen and tradesman are scarce. So I say, — fewer pictures and books and more practical skilled work.

WOOD WORKER.

THEN AND NOW.

Sir,—I cannot say I agree with Old Brigade and your various correspondents who are so hard on our "young soldiers". Why bother the "young soldier" with education or exercise? Whilst the first would, if he were taught a trade, make him into a useful member of society, and the second would develop him into a man, they would both, I feel sure, bore him horribly.

My mind goes back nearly five years to Egypt where I saw Territorials and Colonials training. Sports officers, amusements officers, education officers, and such badly-needed people were absent. Work began at 7 a.m. and continued until 4 p.m. if one was lucky. Sometimes it lasted until 7 p.m. or considerably later. The men were not billetted in barracks or houses, but in the desert with the sand to sleep on. Canteens were few and far between, and were not open until 12 midday and then only for an hour; and at that time everyone except workers and a few "leadswingers" were miles away route marching, or manoeuvring.

Leave was granted to a proportion on Saturday afternoon or Sunday. I have seen men no older than some of those under discussion ordered to march six miles with empty water bottles in the hot sun. These men, though, were not soldiers, they were the combatants who took the heights of Gaba Tepe and the low, open machine-bullet swept beaches of Cape Helles, and who afterwards took Pozieres, Villers Bretonneux and Mont St. Quentin.

ANGLO-EGYPTIAN.

A BAD HABIT.

Sir,—The habit of using strong language has decidedly grown on most of us since the war. I know that I seldom used any expression worse than "damn" before I joined up. Now other words much stronger than that fall from my lips frequently, and I think nothing of it.

If one really felt that there was a meaning in the curses one utters, I don't suppose one would continue — of course most of them are meaningless. There are one or two horrible words which could easily be cut right out and should be by all.

But otherwise, much of the so-called "bad" language one hears, is due to a paucity of vocabulary. For want of a better knowledge of words, we throw in an expletive.

I don't suppose we are any worse than other nations. French, Germans and Italians, I know, use a great many swear words as bad or worse than ours.

H.J.J.

THE CARE OF HORSES.

Sir,—It is good news to hear that a Society for prevention of cruelty to animals exists in Rhineland, but it would be better news to know that they did effective work in stopping the hideous overloading of obviously unfit animals one so often sees.

I know officials can't be everywhere and the same thing happens even in London, for I see this cruelty is being commented on in the English press just now, but here in Germany we certainly see more of it and public opinion does not seem as sensitive on the point as in England.

GEEGEE.

SAFER TRAMCARS.

Sir,—So "Bolivar" tells us that one uses the term "England" and "English" when referring to "Britain" and "British" because they are all ruled by England.

Well, perhaps one does if he knows no better, but I always understood that His Majesty was King of Great Britain and Ireland and not of England.

That our language is English, no one will for a moment deny, but I am not going to say that it is spoken correctly either in Scotland or England. Perhaps it is news to "Bolivar" to know that Scotland and England were united only on condition that England would forfeit the name of her Sovereign, also her name as a kingdom. That the German tramcars are better than the British I do not doubt, but I do not think "Blighty" cars are top heavy. If that was so it would be impossible to keep them on the rails. Does this satisfy "Bolivar"?

SCHOTTLANDER.

FRENZIED FINANCE.

Amazing Paris Offer for Dempsey-Carpentier Fight.

RECORD SUM.

Promoters in America, England and France are keenly competing for the honour of staging the world's championship fight between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier, and the medley of conflicting reports at present appearing, makes it extremely difficult to arrive at a true comprehension of the present state of affairs.

Mr. C. B. Cochran, who is naturally keen on having the management of the match in England, came forward long before the Carpentier-Beckett fight and offered a purse of £35,000 for a contest in London—60% for the winner and 40% for the loser—and announced his decision to go to America in the endeavour to settle matters with Dempsey's manager.

Dempsey's Undertaking.

In a letter to the English promoter, Dempsey is reported to have given an undertaking to make no contract until his arrival in America. Subsequent to the victory of Carpentier, Mr. Cochran took the precaution to obtain his signature to an agreement to fight in London and nowhere else on the terms already stated.

A recent report from America, however, states that Dempsey has intimated that, while preferring to fight in America, he is willing to fight anywhere and will accept the best offer.

That being so, in view of the other remarkable offers, which have been made, Mr. Cochran, who has stipulated that he will not give a penny more, appears to have little hope of realising his ambition.

A Colossal Sum.

The most astounding proposal comes from M. Decoin, the manager of the Paris "Wonderland." A group of Paris sports men have placed no less a sum than 4,000,000 francs at his disposal for the procuring of the match for France, and he has telegraphed Dempsey offering him a purse of 2,000,000 francs.

Even at the present rate of exchange the total amounts to £100,000, and no even in America has such a colossal bid been made for a single fight.

The Best Offer.

"C.B.'s" £35,000 is dwarfed into insignificance, and in view of the American's statement that he will accept the best offer, his journey to America looks like being a fruitless one.

Dempsey could hardly be expected to take £21,000 (if he wins) as his share of the spoils, when for the asking he can have £50,000 win or lose.

With Carpentier having entered into a contract with Mr. Cochran and with Dempsey sticking out for the largest possible purse it looks as though the match will not be arranged without the greatest difficulty.

Decoin's Declaration.

M. Decoin has made the following statement to the "Liberte":

In the first place, Carpentier will not go to America.

Second, Mr. Cochran is not leaving for America to-morrow, as he only intended to organise a match with Dempsey in London in the case of the victory of Beckett.

Third, Carpentier has not signed an agreement with anyone. He will only sign one with me. I have his word for that.

Fourth, it is correct that a group of sportsmen have placed the sum of 4,000,000 francs at my disposal.

Fifth, I telegraphed Dempsey yesterday offering him a purse of 2,000,000 francs.

At present nothing is decided, but an agreement will doubtless soon be arrived at with my group.

In the Dark.

M. Decoin was evidently not in the know when he made some of the above statements.

For instance, he must have been unaware of Carpentier's contract with Mr. Cochran, while the statement that the latter only intended to organise the fight in the event of Beckett winning is also wrong. It was always known that an endeavour would be made to secure the match irrespective of who won.

So that the whole question is extremely perplexing and vague at present but light should be thrown on the matter after Mr. Cochran has seen Dempsey.

CARPENTIER'S RETURN.

A THOUSAND POUNDS A WEEK PARIS ENGAGEMENT.

Despite the earliness of the hour, Carpentier had a good send off when he left for Paris at eight on Monday morning. In a parting statement, the champion said, "The sporting, cordial and affectionate nature of the British people surpasses anything I have seen."

He returns to London on Boxing Day, appearing in the meantime at Paris Alhambra. For the French engagement he is said to receive a thousand sterling weekly.

Carpentier expressed a personal desire that London should be the scene of his match with Dempsey.

A Paris telegram states that Carpentier on his return from London was accorded a most cordial and enthusiastic welcome by a crowd numbering well over ten thousand. Eager sightseers invaded every point of vantage and the police were practically helpless to control the ever-increasing throng.

FRENCH FEELING.

A Reuter message states that there is a strong feeling in French sporting circles that the fight between Carpentier and Dempsey for the world's championship should take place in Paris and not London.

Gaston Vidal and Henry Pate, members of the French Chamber of Deputies and leaders in the French world of sport, declare that the fight between French and American champions must be held either in America or France. They say it would be a sad reflection on the sporting spirit of both countries should this great event be left to take place in England.

INTERNATIONAL RUGBY.

Scotland to play France on New Year's Day.

FRANCE IMPROVED.

A Paris message states that for the first time since 1913 Scotland will play France at Rugby on New Year's Day at the Parc de Princes, Paris. On the last occasion there were some unfortunate incidents on the field as a result of which the Scottish Rugby Union refused to continue fixtures. This little trouble has now been forgotten and the two teams are to cross swords once more.

It is devoutly hoped in France that the Scottish Rugby Union will see to it that its best team is sent over and also that the fifteen will get every chance to present themselves on the field in their best form. The time has passed when a scratch team can beat France.

French teams of pre-war times generally shot their bolt in the first half, but to-day they cannot be counted beaten till the whistle is blown.

ARMY FENCING.

Royal Marines Easily Defeated in London.

At Bertrand's Fencing Academy the Army defeated the Royal Marines by 23 points to 13.

The competition consisted of foil, sabre, epee, and bayonet fighting, and the Army won all except the bayonets, in which the Marines proved victorious by eight points to one. The results were:—

Foils.—Army, 8 points; Royal Marines, 1.
Sabres.—Army, 7 points; Royal Marines, 2.
Epees.—Army, 7 points; Royal Marines, 2.
Bayonets.—Army, 1 point; Royal Marines, 8.

The individual successes were:

Foil v. Foil.

Army.—Capt. Smith, 3 wins; Capt. Wand Tetley, 2 wins 1 defeat; Cpl.-Maj. Davies, 3 wins.

Royal Marines.—Lieut. Pinkerton, 3 defeats; Sgt. Porter, 3 defeats; Sgt. Hawes, 1 win 2 defeats.

Sabre v. Sabre.

Army.—Capt. Smith, 3 wins; Major Huntington, 2 wins 1 defeat; Cpl.-Major Unarnall, 2 wins 1 defeat.

Marines.—Major Gamier, 3 defeats; Col.-Sgt. Watts, 3 defeats; Sgt. Potter, 2 wins 1 defeat.

Epee v. Epee.

Army.—Major Huntington, 2 wins 1 defeat; Capt. Smith, 2 wins 1 defeat; Sgt.-Major Eggleton, 3 wins.

Marines.—Sgt.-Major Hawes, 3 defeats; Sgt. Potter, 2 wins 1 defeat; Lieut. Pinkerton, 3 defeats.

Bayonets v. Bayonets.

Army.—Sgt. Reed, 1 win 2 defeats; Sgt.-Major James, 3 defeats; Sgt.-Major Making, 3 defeats.

Marines.—Sgt. Richardson, 2 wins 1 defeat; Sgt. Jones, 3 wins; Gnr. Penfold, 3 wins.

AMATEUR GOLF.

Important Championship Recommendations.

At a meeting of delegates from twenty-five golf clubs, held at Edinburgh on Monday, it was agreed that the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews should be the supreme ruling authority for the management of the Amateur Championship.

A motion regarding conditions of play was proceeded with, but the meeting agreed to recommend that the Royal and Ancient Club should form a committee of representative golfers with executive powers, that the United Kingdom should have a certain number of players allocated to it, and that only so many players should be eligible to play for the Amateur Championship as qualified under such a scheme.

It was further agreed to recommend that the championship proper be played by holes and that the Royal and Ancient Club hold a meeting to consider details.

LADIES GOLF.

Interesting Competition on Cologne Links.

The ladies golf competition at Cologne resulted as follows:

1st Mrs. Poyser 109, handicap 20=89.
2nd Miss Wheatley 113—20=93.
3rd Mrs. Godley 103 8=95.

The best nine-hole score was that of Mrs. McAlister, 47—4=43. Other scores were:—

Mrs. McAlister, 104—8=96.
Mrs. Tucker, 119—20=99.
Mrs. Acheson, 110—10=100.
Mrs. Pleydell-Nott, 117—12=105.
Miss Hanbury-Williams, 117—12=105.
Miss Bell, 118—12=106.
Mrs. Ferguson, 127—20=107.
Mrs. Venn, 146—20=126.
Mrs. Owen, 140—20=120.

HERMANN AND LEDOUX.

To Meet in Paris Early Next Year.

The great boxing boom is resulting in a succession of highly important matches. The latest to be arranged is between the American bantam-weight champion, Pete Hermann, and Charles Ledoux, the French champion, to take place early next year.

The fight should be one of the best at the weight ever staged. Pete Hermann has a particularly fine record in America, while his achievement in defeating Jimmy Wilde in London was sufficient to prove that he is a first-rater.

The record of the fiery Ledoux is equally convincing, his most recent performance being the defeat of the Welsh veteran, Jim Driscoll.

ANSWERED.

In reply to a correspondent, who inquired the scores of the two battles between Sunderland and Aston Villa when the Wearsiders lost at the Palace and drew at Birmingham a few days later, the score at Sydenham was 1—0 in favour of the "Villans" and in the drawn game at Villa Park each side scored once.

LEAGUE CHANGES.

West Bromwich Regain League I Leadership.

OTHER LEADERS FIRM.

The return of the "Throstles" to the top of the table was brought about by the fall of Burnley at Oldham. They are playing splendid football and are deserving of their leadership. The "Magpies" are still third, but only top Sunderland on goal average, and the Wearsiders have a game in hand; Aston and Notts County climb two places and Blackburn one, while Preston drop from sixth to third place.

Second League.

There is no change in the first three positions but Hull displace Stoke on the fourth rung. In the last nine only one alteration took place and that was Clapton who changed places with Leicester City.

Southern League.

Portsmouth are making their hold of the leadership secure, and there is no change in the leading six. The last two are unchanged, but Brighton drop back one rung.

Scottish League.

Rangers still lead, but Celtic can get level yet. The Rangers have the best record in the four leagues and deserve the premier position. No changes were recorded among the first five clubs and the bottom couple retained these fatal places. Dumbarton went up four pegs by their win over Albion Rovers.

Appended are the tables:—

The League.—Division I.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
West Bromwich Albion	17	12	0	5	48	25	24
Burnley	18	10	3	5	28	25	23
Newcastle United	18	9	4	5	24	16	22
Sunderland	17	10	2	5	32	22	22
Chelsea	17	8	3	6	25	18	19
Middlesbrough	18	7	5	6	24	28	19
Manchester United	16	6	6	4	27	19	18
Manchester City	17	7	4	6	42	36	18
Bolton Wanderers	18	7	4	7	32	29	18
The Arsenal	17	5	8	4	27	26	18
Sheffield United	18	7	4	7	31	31	18
Everton	17	7	3	7	37	33	17
Bradford	17	7	2	8	28	26	16
Bradford City	17	6	4	7	29	30	16
Derby County	18	5	6	7	20	26	16
Aston Villa	17	7	1	9	29	34	15
Notts County	17	5	5	7	26	37	15
Liverpool	17	6	2	9	22	26	14
Blackburn Rovers	17	5	4	8	22	34	14
Preston North End	17	6	2	9	25	40	14
Oldham Athletic	16	5	2	9	22	25	12
Sheffield Wednesday	17	3	4	10	13	27	10

The League.—Division II.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
Tottenham Hotspur	17	14	2	1	51	13	30
Birmingham	17	11	3	3	35	15	25
Blackpool	18	11	3	4	38	15	25
Hull City	18	11	2	5	40	26	24
Stoke	17	11	1	5	29	19	23
Huddersfield Town	17	9	3	5	32	15	21
Bristol City	17	8	5	4	22	15	21
Fulham	18	8	4	6	26	21	20
West Ham United	17	8	4	5	17	19	20
Stockport County	17	7	5	5	26	18	19
Barnsley	17	8	2	7	37	21	18
Bury	17	8	2	7	21	21	18
Port Vale	17	7	3	7	25	21	17
South Shields	17	7	3	7	16	19	17
Notts Forest	18	4	6	8	18	29	14
Rotherham County	18	5	3	10	18	35	13
Wolverhampton Wand.	17	4	4	9	23	28	12
Leicester City	17	3	5	9	13	33	11
Clapton Orient	18	5	1	12	19	31	11
Grimsby Town	17	4	1	12	12	34	9
Lincoln City	17	2	4	11	13	47	8
Coventry City	17	0	4	13	4	37	4

Southern League.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals For	Agst.	Pts.
Portsmouth	19	12	4	3	37	12	28
Watford	18	11	3	4	28	14	25
Reading	19	8	9	2	25	15	25
Queen's Park Rangers	18	10	4	4	31	18	24
Crystal Palace	17	7	7	3	29	17	21
Cardiff City	17	7	7	3	30	19	21
Brentford	18	7	6	5	21	19	20
Norwich City	16	8	3	5	33	23	19
Plymouth Argyle	18	6	6	6	22	14	18
Exeter City	17	6	6	5	20	18	18
Swansea Town	19	6	6	7	21	20	18
Swindon	18	7	4	7	29	28	18
Millwall	18	7	4	7	26	27	18
Southend United	17	5	7	5	22	25	17
Bristol Rovers	17	5	5	7	26	32	15
Southampton	19	6	3	10	26	35	15
Mertyr Town	19	4	7	8	20	29	15
Luton	17	5	4	8	21	31	14
Brighton & Hove	19	4	5	10	18	27	13
Northampton	18	3	6	9	30	45	12
Newport County	18	4	3	11	15	34	11
Gillingham	18	3	3	12	9	37	9

Scottish League.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
Glasgow Rangers	19	16	2	1	59	9	34
Celtic	17	13	3	1	40	15	29
Motherwell	19	9	6	4	32	28	24
Dundee	19	10	3	6	35	22	23
Ayr United	20	9	4	7	44	32	22
Heart of Midlothian	19	10	2	7	28	24	22
Airdrieonians	19	7	6	6	24	18	20
Hibernians	19	9	2	8	34	38	20
Greenock Morton	18	8	3	7	28	15	19
Queen's Park	20	7	5	8	31	33	19
Aberdeen	19	7	5	7	23	24	19
Dumbarton	19	5	8	6	25	32	18
St. Mirren	20	6	5	9	29	38	17
Kilmarnock	20	7	3	10	24	43	17
Clydebank	17	7	2	8	32	29	16
Partick Thistle	17	6	4	7	24	28	16
Third Lanark	18	5	6	7	22	31	16
Falkirk	21	5	5	11	21	39	15
Raith Rovers	21	5	4	12	39	51	14
Clyde	20	4	5	11	25	38	13
Albion Rovers	18	5	3	10	18	33	13
Hamilton Academicals	19	5	2	12	28	46	12

ENGLISH CUP.

Draw for Final Qualifying Round.

The draw for the Final of the English Cup Qualifying Competition the matches to be played on Dec. 20th, is as follows:—

Hednesdford Town v. Clapton.
Port Vale v. Loughboro Corinthians or Rotherham Town.
Northampton v. Bristol Rovers.
Newport County v. Exeter City.
Darlington v. Norwich City.
Thorneycroft (Woolston) v. Bromley or Sheppy United.
Gillingham v. Swansea.
Castleford Town v. London Caledonians.
West Stanley v. Rotherham County.
Brighton v. Luton.
South Liverpool v. Rochdale.
Southend v. Watford.

INTERNATIONAL BOWLING.

The International Bowling Board have received a cable from the Australian Bowling Association definitely stating that they are unable to send a team for the British Isles in 1920. A communication has also been received from the Dominion of New Zealand Bowling Association to the effect that they will endeavour to send a team across in 1921.

RHINELAND FOOTBALL.

29th Bn. M.G.C. too Good for 51st Hants.

RAIN AND SNOW.

A fall of rain and snow spoilt what might have been an exciting and interesting match between the 51st Hants and the 29th M.G.C. Playing on the former ground the visitors did exceedingly well.

The opening exchanges favoured the home team who, although held up for a time, eventually broke through. After a pretty bout of passing Sgt. Noble scored with a lightning shot. The Machine Gunners replied with continued attacks which gained for them two well earned goals in quick succession.

Because of the inclemency of the weather there was no interval.

The Machine Gunners again took up the attack, the combination of their forwards, specially the speed of the outside left, producing a most one-sided effect. The ball was kept well within the Hants' area. The "Tigers" did their best but the visitors were successful in their attempt, soon obtaining the third point. There was no further score, the result being 3-1 in favour of the Gunners.

The Hampshire's goalkeeper was splendid and although persistently troubled at close quarters he was the means of keeping the M.G.C's. score lower than it otherwise would have been.

CAVALRY COLLAPSE.

41st Battalion M.G.C. v. Inniskilling Dragons.

Played at Riehl on Saturday afternoon under unpleasant conditions.

The 41st won the toss and decided to play with the strong wind behind them. From the kick-off the Dragoons went away and should have scored in the first minute. Afterwards both sides pressed in turn and Major Boumphrey M.G.C. had hard luck with a brilliant shot which struck the post and bounced back into play. Half time arrived with no score.

The second half was played in a hailstorm and although battling against the wind and hail, the Machine Gunners had all the best of it. Cpl. McCoy scored for them after 12 minutes and almost succeeded again shortly afterwards.

The Dragoons' goalkeeper saved time and again and was kept very busy until time came.

The Machine Gunners gained a well deserved victory and played well to a man.

ALL FAVOURITES WIN.

At Opening Day of Leicester Meeting.

Racing opened at Leicester on Monday when the going was good and attendance moderate. A remarkable feature of the day was that each race was carried off by the favourite.

Results.

December Hurdle:—1, The Settler (9-5); 2, Temeside (2-1); 3, Bigotry (7-1). Eight ran.

Town Hurdle:—1, Serban (7-4 on); 2, Ubeoff (3-1); 3, Royal Ruin (100-8). Six ran.

Montrose Hurdle:—1, Hagiology (11-4); 2, Sam Temple (3-1); 3, Blingel (10-1). Six ran.

Birstall Chase:—1, Fleeting Peace (6-4); 2, Jimmy Rafter (6-4); 3, George B. (5-1). Five ran.

Broxhills Chase:—1, Straight Ahead (6-5 on); 2, Roman (11-4); 3, Dernish (100-8). Five ran.

Quorn Chase:—1, Wavertree (5-4); 2, Jack Symons (4-1); 3, Swaskawney (7-4). Three ran.

LAWN TENNIS.

A telegram from Freemantle states that the British lawn tennis team which is to oppose Australia in the Davis Cup competition at Sydney has arrived. All the players are well.

FOOTBALL JOTTINGS.

By Tynesider.

Many seasons ago, Herbert Lock made a great name as Southampton's custodian; yet to-day he is as brilliant as ever with Glasgow Rangers.

* * *

Plimblett, who captains Bolton Wanderer's reserve eleven, got a first league outing recently for the first time since 1913.

* * *

Round about 120 is the number of players of note transferred this season so far, and more are to follow. Is this season to produce a record?

* * *

Portsmouth's loss of £1394 on last season is not troubling them much. The Southern League leaders are wiping this off nicely, thank you.

* * *

Rangers or Celtic will, in all probability face Blackburn Rovers on Boxing Day for "Jocky" Simpson's benefit.

* * *

Jack Houghton, transferred from Glasgow Rangers to Fulham, will take the public eye shortly. He got few chances to shine at Ibrox.

* * *

The Rovers of Blackburn made a bold bid for Reilly, the Falkirk pivot, a long time ago, but the Bairns needed his services. However, they have now succeeded in obtaining his signature.

* * *

Bristol City could part with their defence to-morrow for a sum approaching £10,000. When will this transfer craze cease?

* * *

Reference the note which appeared in this column recently concerning Miller of Everton, desiring pastures new, I learn that he is now back on Tyneside. Anything doing South Shields way?

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

52nd. DEVONS' "SMOKER."

The Headquarters Sergeants of the 52nd. Devons entertained the remaining Sergeants of the Battalion to dinner on Saturday evening, and about seventy members were present. Dinner was followed by a "smoker," at which the Colonel and other officers of the Battalion were present.

The band, under the direction of Sergeant Bone rendered enjoyable selections during the evening. The programme, though long, was never dull, and several of the items were especially good; indeed all the artistes are to be commended on the merit of the entertainment they provided. During an interval in the Concert, R.S.M. Vickery, who was performing the duties of Chairman, made a brief speech on behalf of the Warrant Officers and Sergeants, expressing their appreciation of the spirit of comradeship displayed by the Officers, and the toast of "The Officers of the Battalion" was drunk with great enthusiasm.

The Commanding Officer, Lieut. Colonel A. B. Incledon Webber, C.M.G., D.S.O., responded to the toast, and paid a tribute to the members present, calling upon the Officers to drink to "The Warrant Officers and Sergeants."

The excellent organisation of the whole entertainment — dinner and concert — speaks volumes for the enterprise and energy of Sergeant Tite and his committee.

Paddy Coxe.

Spelt with an "e" if you please although generally speaking "Paddy" isn't at all particular. Any old part that presents peculiar difficulties and perhaps does not drag one into the limelight usually falls to the lot of "Paddy." One of the old original "Tabs," he has been with them through all their trials and triumphs, though not so well known as some of its more prominent members. You see the man who plays the cat in Dick Whittington, dashes on as a waiter in a restaurant scene, or does any other of the countless things so essential to the success of a big production is really a most important individual and often can make or mar a show. Paddy Coxe is such a man, and can always be counted on to help in making any show in which he takes a part. This is him in full dress.

A New Variety Company.

The latest addition to the available amusements in Cologne is the Rhine Army Variety Company who will make their first appearance at the Deutsches Theatre on Monday next. The company will include Miss Hilda Potts, "Rex" and Alfred Barker, who were well-known members of the now defunct "Tabs"; Sgt. Gordon, W.C.F. Stains (of the National Sunday League) Cpl. H. Walters and Pte. Boyle, Lieut. Percy, Lieut. Hope, Miss Gabrielle Paul, Miss Chisholme and Pte. Terry, of the Rhine Army Dramatic Company, who will give a one-act play by Stanley Houghton, entitled, "The Dear Departed." The efforts of such a talented combination of talent should be extremely attractive.

B.E.L.C. Programme.

At the British Empire Leave Club to-day, there will be an impromptu concert from 5 to 6 and German classes from 6 to 8. There will also be a dance at 6.30. An impromptu concert is being held on Thursday from 5 to 6 followed by a whist drive and chess tournament at 6.30. A dancing class in the Theatre, succeeded by a dance, will commence at 6.30. From 5 to 6 on Friday there is a dancing class, also a debate in the writing room at 6.30. German classes will be held from 6 to 8. There is also a continuous cinema. On Saturday there will be an impromptu concert from 5 to 6, followed by a dance at 6.30. There are also German classes from 6 to 8.

A New Game.

A new game of skill has been introduced by the Sports Officer at Bonn, Y.M.C.A. The game consists of racing a given distance with a block of wood under each foot on the principal of fording a river with a limited supply of material. The game is rapidly catching on and can be recommended. Another game being played with enthusiasm is a variety of football, the difference from the "Pukka" game being that hands are used instead of feet and the football is displaced by an air ballon. Both are very simple games, but there is an immense round of fun to be had of them.

(Continued in next column.)

BILLIARDS.

Monday's closing scores were as follows:—

Smith 9,426,
Inman .....7,551.

Breaks:—Smith, 103, 179, 217, 190, 124, 131, 105 (unfinished). Inman, 151, 328, 300, 274, 158.

Newman 9,959,
Falkiner .....8,258.

Breaks:—Newman, 562, 285, 137. Falkiner, 359, 144.

A VOID MEETING.

Huddersfield Club Meeting not in order.

A meeting of the shareholders of the Huddersfield Town Club, in reference to the proposed transfer of the club to Leeds, was held after the match with Blackpool on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Norman Robinson, one of the directors, informed the Pressmen present that there was no statement to make for publication. It was subsequently ascertained that the meeting of shareholders had not been in order for the reason that no mention of the subject for consideration was made in notices calling the meeting. Objection on this ground was taken by some shareholders, and in the end nothing was done. It was also understood that the directors of the club had met and passed a resolution that the club be transferred to Leeds.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Wed.	Die Frau ohne Schatten	Strauss	6	10.30
Thurs.	Cav. Rusticana Der Bajazzo	Mascagni Leoncavallo	7	9.45
Fri.	Der Wildschütz	Lortzing	7	10
Sat.	Merry Wives of Windsor	Nicolai	7	10.30
Sun.	Meistersinger von Nürnberg	Wagner	5	10.30

Monday No Performance

Tuesday No Performance

"D" Company's Second.

The Whist Drive held by "D" Coy., 52nd Devons, last week was such a success that it was decided to arrange a similar entertainment every week; that decision has been amply justified by the popularity of the second whist drive, which took place at Burscheid on Wednesday evening. By 6 p.m. over 100 members of the Company were present, and there were sufficient players to make up 27 sets. The last hand was finished by 8.30, and after three of the gentleman players, who had tied, had cut the cards for first and second places, the prizes were presented as follows:—

1st Lady. Cpl. Newcome. Watch.
1st Gent. Pte. Wilcox. Set of Carvers.
2nd Lady. Pte. Hales. Cigarette Case.
2nd Gent. Pte. Rowe. Case of Spoons.

Three hearty cheers were given at the close of the evening for Lieut. Barlow, to whose energy and interest the success of the whist drive was largely due, and all present greatly appreciated the good work of the Company Amusements Committee, especially in providing welcome refreshment during the interval.

JACQUES.

REVIVAL OF "GENERAL POST."

The old favourite received a great reception at the Deutsches Theatre on Monday night. Since the last presentation there have been one or two changes in the caste. With all due deference to the clever acting of Lieut. Humphrey Hope, I like Major Ball in the part of Sir Dennys Broughton better. He kept the house in roars of laughter from start to finish, and made an excellent substitute for the original player of the part—Mr. George Tulley.

Pte. J. Terry played Alec, and his performance was excellent. Always quiet and forceful, Pte. Terry never over-acts, and his personality on the stage is such that he inspires confidence in those who are acting with him. Capt. Spiegelhalter made an excellent plebeian tailor with a penchant for the farmyard, and the remainder of the caste needs no comment from me, with this possible exception—that they played even better than they did when the play was revived some little time ago.

The gentleman on curtain duty managed to cut short Lieut. Percy's concluding line at the end of the first act, and, being apparently a consistent fellow, rather spoilt Miss Paul's curtain at the end of the second, but he was probably too enthusiastic over his job.

What has happened to the publicity section of the Amusements Office? On Monday morning I tried to imagine myself ignorant of what was to be produced at the Deutsches this week, and trudged round Cologne looking for a poster which would inform me. I found plenty of posters advertising "Lady Frederick," "Damaged Goods" and "The School for Scandal," but, except outside the theatre, not one advertising "General Post" or "The Singer on the Veldt."

There is probably a good reason for this, but I was disappointed, for until recently I have seldom struck anything so thoroughly and capably advertised as the productions at the Deutsches theatre.

E.H.S.

A REAL TEST.

Interesting Matches On No. 12 Contest Coupon.

Everton had a remarkable lapse last week before Notts County and the battle on Saturday at Nottingham should find the "Toffees" on their mettle.

Burnley's failure at Oldham should bring them all out to put paid to the Athletic before their own crowd. West Ham appear safe for the points, but the Ayr battle is a teaser with the odds on the "Honest Man."

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 12,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S.40 Rhine Army.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 12

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 13th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 12th.

Burnley	v. Oldham
Notts County	v. Everton
Grimsby	v. Bristol City
Lincoln	v. Hull City
West Ham	v. Coventry
South Shields	v. Barnsley
Palace	v. Queens Park R.
St. Mirren	v. Dumbarton
Clyde	v. Queens Park.
Ayr U.	v. Morton

I enter Football Competition No. 12 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(in block letters.)
Rank and No. .....
Unit .....
Full Address .....

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

All Gone.

I paid a visit to Sud Park yesterday. The place has quite a forlorn look, when one remembers its cheery atmosphere when the members of the W.R.A.F. occupied it.

Popular "Pills."

That ever enterprising institution, the Y.M.C.A., has opened a canteen and recreation room just near Sud Park, which will be most welcome to troops stationed Marienburg way. The ever popular billiard table is there for devotees of the cue.

Derelict Lorry Park.

Signs of the war are still to be seen in a large motor lorry factory, just across the river. Derelict German lorries may still be seen waiting their turn to be put into working order again.

Any Others?

One does not hear so much of War Savings Records these days. The splendid total of £218 is shown as purchased by men of the 23rd Bn. Royal Fusiliers for the week ending November 30th.

Can it be?

I met a major yesterday who told me he had been entirely immune from rheumatism since he had taken to carrying a nutmeg in his breeches pocket.

The new style Profiteer.

It is patent to anyone that a certain class of German shopkeeper is profiteering at the expense of the soldier. Particularly is this the case at many of the eating houses. Boycott is the only remedy for this class of individual, for he relies almost exclusively on military custom.

Why?

A shop in Hohestrasse has a figure of Santa Claus which delights the hearts of the kiddies, but for some reason this time-honoured custodian of good cheer has a countenance of the hue of the effects merchant of a "Jazz" band.

Take Care.

With the coming of the festive season a word of warning as to the dangers of fire arising from decorations of an inflammable nature would be useful. With a fairly universal use of electric light in Cologne, though, much of this danger is eliminated.

Tailoring.

The German tailor, despite all statements to the contrary, does not always come up to the English standard. I have heard of several cases recently where many of these tailors are making small fortunes out of Tommy and his officers. I'm told that the prices charged are much above fair rates.

Car Smash.

A Severin Strasse tramcar yesterday struck a case which jutted over the side of a wagon, the result being that the windows were broken. The glass flew in all directions and created considerable a arm, but no one was injured.

Children Quicker.

Some of the soldiers' children out here are picking up the German language with amazing rapidity, I hear. On the other hand many officers and men who have been in Rainelaud nearly a year can get no further than "Ja," "Nein," and "Bitte," even now.

A Boon to the Mess.

In my mess we have an electric toaster on the table. This is a novel invention and is connected to the ordinary electric fittings above the table. It is a great boon and makes us independent of the kitchen staff.

Winter Gardens.

In some of the fine residences in Cologne on can see magnificent conservatories with fountains, palm trees and rockeries. They are delightfully warm and cosy especially in these dull days.

Peculiar.

I noticed when I was walking down the Hohestrasse the other day, two German civilians, who were wearing a military cap strap on their civilian hats. Still except for custom, I see no reason against the notion especially on windy days.

A Marriage Boon.

In all 231 marriages took place in Cologne last week. I am told that this number is a record. In spite of high prices the young German does not seem to have lost hope for the future.

Pit Props.

In the forest near Dunwald, men are busily engaged in cutting down pine trees. These are sawn and trimmed into lengths suitable for pit props. Already there are huge stacks and the scene reminds one forcibly of home.

Literary Competition.

I hear that an essay and lyric competition recently organised for the patients at the 25th General Hospital created great interest. Prizes were awarded for the best efforts which were read by the Padre at a lecture on Journalism.

Tableau.

I noticed a pretty tableau in a shop window in the Alte Markt. It represents the Heavenly babe in the manger with the shepherds and kings standing around, while above is a cherub with a clarion.

Aluminium Utensils.

Recently I commented on the popularity of articles made of aluminium as presents, but for some reason or other, known only to the producer and seller, I note that prices have jumped up lately.

Those Friends at Home.

What more delightful Christmas present for an Old Army friend than the intimation that you have arranged the delivery of your Army newspaper to his home? Send your remittance of twenty marks and we advise your chum of the instructions to forward the "Cologne Post" to him daily for one month.

An Age Limit.

Whereas in English courts a child is sworn when he or she is deemed to know right from wrong, in Germany the oath is not administered to persons under sixteen.

Battle Zone Revisited.

A soldier back from leave in France tells of an enjoyable three-day trip he had to Amiens which he used as a jumping-off place for a visit to the Somme battlefield, He was amazed at the number of French civilians he found in Bapaume, the two Achiets, Bucquoy and Quéant.

RHINELANDER.

VANITY FAIR.

A Feature for the British Woman in Rhineland.

Paris Hats.

Dressy hats are being worn in Paris which have crowns of fur and transparent lace brims. Large velvet hats turned up in front or at the side are also popular, while charming little bowl toques are the favourite wear in small hats.

Flannelette Like Velour.

An English hat manufacturer is placing on the market an imitation velour made of stiffened cotton flannelette. Thousands of yards of it are being ordered, and the demand can scarcely be met. The flannellette, when brushed, has the appearance of a good grade of velour.

The Art of Skating.

Skating is an ideal recreation for women, since its first essential is grace. During recent times, women enthusiasts have been at least as numerous as men. It is not difficult to learn. Professional teachers seem to have disappeared since the closing of the artifical rinks, but the art is readily acquired with the aid of an expert friend. One masters it in much the same way as one cultivates confidence and the sense of balance on a bicycle.

For Whitening the Hands.

Those who value the possession of pretty fingers, and would have them white and dainty, should keep in readiness for frequent application, a simple remedy, than which none better could be suggested. To prepare this, take of glycerine, methylated spirit, and lemon juice, equal quantities. When the hands are stained, rough, or reddened, rub in the mixture with gentle massage until it is absorbed, and wear a pair of large cotton gloves for a while, or all night if possible.

On Looking Nice.

There are superior beings who smile at the importance most women attach to dress. There are even people who go out of their way to assert that mere clothes are, after all, of very little importance. Kind hearts are more than dainty frocks, and sunny smiles than modish hats, pretty well sums up their attitude. It might be all right except for the disconcerting inconsistency of human nature. In practice it frequently happens that the wearer of the smartest frock is the one who gets the most enjoyment out of life, whilst her sister who acts up to the view that clothes are merely meant to cover rather than to adorn, has to extract what amusement she can from watching other people's pleasures.

A Present for a Man.

Presents for men folk are sometimes difficult to think of, but a razor bag is always welcome. It should be made of two narrow strips of wash-leather joined together at the base and sides. Cut another piece of leather to form an American Indian fringe and sew to the bottom of the bag. Let in a little piece at the top made of satin; and run a strong ribbon draw-string through the hem. Name or monogram can be embroidered on the wash-leather, matching the satin in colour.

AGNES.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

Difficult.—Seamen want to be included in the 48 hours bill.

The Next Step.—Mr. Herbert Samuel is in favour of women acting as magistrates.

Combined Workers.—There are 7,000,000 trade unionists in Germany.

Can't have one.—The banana is likely to be a scarce commodity this Christmas.

Not at Work.—The deadlock in the moulders' strike still continues.

After Trade.—Germany is making a bold bid for trade in South Russia.

An Execution.—Jackowtoff, who organised the plot to murder the Tsar and family, is reported to have been executed.

Chamber of Horrors.—Mr. A. Hopkinson, M.P. for Moseley, says Parliament is a very horrible place.

Coming Back.—It is reported that Viscount Grey is returning from the States in January.

Poles to Work.—120,000 Poles are arriving in France next month for reconstruction work in devastated areas.

Wolves' Feast.—Man-eating wolves have raided a village near Bombay and devoured seven people.

Same Old Price.—No trains will be run at excursion rates this Christmas in Great Britain.

Adapted Engines.—Aeroplane engines have been adapted for driving motor boats and dumping machinery.

A Spurt in Sales.—Since D'Annunzio started his military stunts his poems have been selling like wildfire.

Nearly Double.—London tube railways which cost £600,000 a mile to build fifteen years ago, now cost a million a mile.

Not Exactly.—At a girls' school a pupil defined a Soviet as "the little cloth we lay on our laps at the dinner table."

Dearer Doctors.—The medical men of Hampstead have combined to raise their fees 50 per cent.

A new Rôle.—The Bishop of Peterboough acted as accompanist at a social gathering.

Rich Railway Servant.—Mr. William Bell, formerly stationmaster as Aysgarth, Yorks, left £25,338.

On the Line.—An unknown woman has been found dead on the Brighton Line, near Hayward's Heath.

A Giant.—The Royal Mail Steamer, Almanzora, will be the biggest on the South American route.

Royalty's Bunnies.—Princess Mary keeps rabbits, and gained prizes for fine specimens at Kings Lynn show.

Home made.—Four men at Glasgow have been fined for illicit distilling of whisky.

Quite British.—The Vienna Cafe in Oxford Street, once a great German resort, is now a Salvation Army Depot.

Troubled Italy.—Scarcity of coal and adverse exchange are Italy's greatest problems.

Brave Welsh.—A memorial to the gallant dead of the South Wales Borderers is to be erected at Gheluvelt.

Famous Hotel.—The Hotel Bristol where King Edward usually stayed in Paris is to be used as an American bank.

Big Thefts.—There is an epidemic of robbery in Paris. Thousands of pounds worth of furs are among the stolen goods.

"The Tiger."—The election of M. Clemenceau as President of France is considered almost certain.

Terriers' Future.—Mr. Winston Churchill wishes the Territorial Force to supersede the Special Reserve. Territorial Artillery is to be largely increased.

The Nudity Craze.—The production of "Aphrodite" is New York has raised a storm of censure for its display of half-nude women on the stage.

Gallant D.R.s.—Lt.-Col. Jarrett told members of the Motor Cycling Club that no more gallant work was done in the war than by them as despatch riders.

Troops Active.—There is unusual military activity at Strasburg. Heavy guns and troops have crossed to the right bank of the Rhine.

Germans' plan Foiled.—Rumanian troops have captured a German aeroplane carrying money and goods to Bolshevist troops in Ukrania.

New Homes Ready.—Guildford claims to be the first borough in England to have tenants already in their cottages built under the Government scheme.

A Model Slavey.—A London household employing a New Zealand ex-Tommy as domestic servant, declare him to be a treasure.

Reckless.—The captain of a trawler brought a mine into Aberdeen harbour with detonators unremoved. The naval authorities ordered him out in double quick time.

Another Optimist.—Dr. Alington, Headmaster of Eton, says that of all the projects put forward by politicians the League of Nations contains most hope for the future.

Plucky Soldier's Wife.—A Kirkcaldy woman, just died at the age of ninety, went through the Crimean War with her husband and witnessed the charge of the Light Brigade and the Battle of Alma.

AROUND AND ABOUT.

UNDERSEA TANKS.

The tank, which performed such valiant service in the Great War, may have more laurels added to its fame. Instead of crawling over otherwise impassable stretches of country, bridging trenches, levelling trees in its path, and other requirements in time of war, it will now devote its efforts to salvaging eight thousand ships lying in Davy Jones' locker at the bottom of the sea, if the plans of the designer of an undersea tank risen into accomplishment. Salvage and hydraulic engineers, mariners, technicians and other experts in nautical affairs all agree that the plan is entirely feasible and within the realm of possibility. Such a tank, obviously, would be designed for exploration, photographing, sounding and map-making purposes only, as, of necessity, it would have to be airtight.

BUYING BACK OLD MASTERS.

During the last five years, in fact ever since the war began, Holland has been steadily buying back Old Dutch Masters, and the explanation by West-end dealers is that Holland, like other countries, has its new-rich who are launching into luxury, and that Germany, which also has its parvenus, has been buying from Holland. Not the highest-priced paintings—Rembrandt was beyond them—but pictures at prices running from £200, £400, and £300. The English dealers met them at all salerooms, not only in town but in the country, and undoubtedly they forced up the prices.

CANADIAN PROSPECTS.

"All over Canada, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, I have asked the question: 'What are the prospects for a man who with a capital of, say £1,000, comes over to Canada?' Everywhere the answer has been the same. If a man, ready to work, comes to Canada with that capital, in five years he will be worth ten times as much," says the "Morning Post" correspondent. "It must, however, be understood that in Canada fortunes are no more picked up by good luck and laziness than anywhere else. The settler must be ready to work fourteen hours a day without grumbling in a country very different from anything to which he has been accustomed."

MET HIS MATCH.

Struck by the notice, "Iron Sinks," in a shop window, a wag went inside and said that he was perfectly aware of the fact that "iron sank."

Alive to the occasion the smart shopkeeper retaliated:

"Yes, and time flies, but wine vaults, sulphur springs, jam rolls, grass slopes, music stands, Niagara Falls, moonlight walks, sheep run, Kent hops and holiday trips, scandal spreads, standard weights, India rubber tires, the organ stops, the world goes round, trade returns, and—"

But the visitor had bolted. After collecting his thoughts he returned and showing his head at the doorway, shouted: "Yes, I agree with all of that perfectly—and marble busts."

A TERRIER AND A FOX.

What is believed to be an unprecedented end to a combat between a fox and a terrier is reported from the Lake Country. A stout hill fox hunted by the Blencathra Hounds for three and a half hours on the mountain heights, above St. John's-in-the-Vale, sought sanctuary in a fissure of rock in a crag near the skyline of Wanthwaite. Here he faced one of the gamest terriers belonging to the pack, and, scrambling to a shelf in the rocks, was able for some time to give as fierce punishment as he got. The terrier killed the fox, but refused to leave it, and followers and hounds had at last to quit the crags so that they might make the descent of one of the most dangerous ravines of the mountain range before darkness. When huntsman and whip returned next morning to the crags, they found terrier as well as fox lying dead outside the borran. An examination of the terrier showed that the fox had inflicted no mortal wound upon him. The terrier had dragged the fox out and then, loth to leave it, had laid down beside it. It was clear that he had died from exposure during a bitterly cold night. No similar case has, so far as is known, occurred before.

PAPER MONEY.

The proposed five-shilling and half-crown notes have a long and interesting ancestry. It is nearly three thousand years since a paper currency was adopted by the Chinese, but it was not till the seventeenth century that the first European notes were issued by Palmstruch from the Bank of Sweden in 1658. In England the earliest notes were the receipts for deposits issued by the goldsmiths in the reign of James I. It is said that these receipts circulated more freely than coin. Towards the close of the seventeenth century the Banks of England and Scotland were founded, and henceforward the note issue in both countries was regulated by Acts of Parliament.

GENERAL GORDON'S HOUSE.

Very shortly No. 5, Rockstone-place, Southampton, is to be offered for sale. This house possesses considerable interest. It was purchased about 1855 by General H. M. Gordon, the father of the hero of Khartoum, and here the latter made his home until he left England on his ill-fated expedition. For a long time the house was managed by his sister, Miss Gordon, and until recently by his widowed sister, Mrs. Moffit, whose husband was an Army doctor in India. It is her son, Lieut.-Colonel F. Moffitt, D.S.O., commanding the 1st Essex Regiment, at Kinsale, who is now selling the property.

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O.S. 40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

XMAS CARDS. Rhineland souvenir series, one mark each at the "Cologne Post" Book Room. The Arcade, Hohe Strasse.

NATURAL AMBER NECKLACES etc. at lowest prices. Write for samples. Apply to A 4 7 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

SECOND HAND prismatic binoculars Zeiss-Goerz, Busch & Voigtlander for sale at Baumenfeld, Baltasarstr. 24, near Deutscher Ring.

ZEISS-GOERZ Binoculars 6×30 and 8× in splendid condition. Pohl, Hohenstaufenstr. 1., 1st floor (near Hohenstaufenbad).

SECOND-HAND cameras with Zeiss and Goerz-lenses, a bargain. Pohl, Hohenstaufenstrasse 12, 1st floor (near Hohenstaufen Bad.)

GOERZ-PHOTO-CAMERA 4 6½ in. private house and Zeiss-Film glasses both made before the war, for sale, one till four. Stern, Gereonmühlengasse 3, part. on left.

WANTED.

WANTED at once. Artistes, humourous and sentimental, for impromptu Concert. Apply, with terms, to Corp. Vorley, N.A.C.B. Headquarters, Corpl's Mess, Cologne.

SITUATIONS VACANT.

OFFICER requires immediately experienced Nurse for 16-months old son. Highest wages. Apply personally or in writing to D.A.P.M., Poulheim, near Cologne.

ENGLISHWOMAN wanted daily 2-6.30, as nurse to baby in Officers family. Box 103, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

PERSONAL.

TOMMY. Have you ordered your Xmas cards from the "Cologne Post" Book Room yet? They have a special series of Rhineland cards at one mark each.

A LADY as nursery governess, to take entire charge of Girl, 4½ years old, of an English Officer remaining in Cologne. Must have some knowledge of German. Write stating age, salary and previous experience to Box No. 100, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

LANGUAGES

TWO YOUNG GERMAN LADIES wish to become acquainted with an educated English lady for the purpose of mutual improvement in speaking. Apply to A 425 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

LOST.

LOST on Monday a black leather pocket wallet between Monopol and Kronprinz Hotels. Finder rewarded. Box 102 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S 40.

EXPORT

SAVE TIME TROUBLE MONEY BY BUYING YOUR

CUTLERY

IN COLOGNE SUCH AS RAZORS, POCKET-KNIVES, SCISSORS, MANICURE, KNIVES, FORKS AND SPOONS. SAFETY-RAZOR BLADES. AT THE LOWEST PRICES FROM STOCK IN COLOGNE

F. ADAMS, GLADBACHER-STRASSE 21

TYPEWRITERS

Adler, Underwood, Royal, Mercedes, Continental, Kappel, Ideal for travelling, Blickensderfer, Standard Folding, for immediate sale.

Ewald Clemens, Weyerstr. 55. 2nd floor

VENETIAN BLINDS etc.

and all spare parts cheap

Strass Th. Kauffmann Cologne Claims Burgmaierstr. 16

THE NEW N.A.C.B. DEPARTMENT STORES

NOW OPEN

—the latest and greatest of all the N.A.C.B. enterprises in Cologne — the magnificent and commodious department stores, completely equipped to handle every kind of commodity and arranged in the manner of a first class London shop. Here Officers and their wives are able to fill all their immediate needs, under one roof, passing from one counter to another, paying at the desk for all purchases.

WHAT YOU CAN BUY

A much wider range of articles may be purchased than it is possible to give here but the items mentioned will give some idea of the scope of your own stores.

ALL CAKES AND PASTRIES
CONFECTIONERY
CLOTHING
SPORTS GOODS
FANCY GOODS
STATIONERY
SOAPS ETC.
PERFUMERY
GROCERIES
ALL WINES SPIRITS
LIQUEURS
ALL BEERS
TOBACCO
ALL CIGARS
CIGARETTES
RAZORS ETC.
OFFICER'S CLOTHING

LADIES DEPARTMENT

A special room has been reserved and equipped for the sale of ladies clothing and other personal requirements.

THE TEA ROOM

The tea room is quite an attractive feature of the N.A.C.B. Store and undoubtedly helps in making shopping a pleasure instead of a tiresome necessity. Large and comfortably arranged with separate tables customers may, in company with their wives, enjoy a real cup of tea with cakes, pastries and so on.

FOR OFFICERS & THEIR WIVES AT 27 OBENMARSPFORTEN

Turn off the Hohestr. towards the Rhine — opposite Brückenstr.

NOW OPEN COME TO-DAY

"N.A.C.B. SERVICE."

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 10, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. 843 British Army of the Rhine.

OUR XMAS SOUVENIR NUMBER WILL BE ON SALE SOON

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

THE "COLOGNE POST" BOOK ROOM ARCADE HOHE STR. THE PLACE TO PASS AN INTERESTING HOUR

No. 218. COLOGNE, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

NEW TRADE UNION DEMANDS.

MINERS' LEADERS' EFFORTS TO FORCE EXTENSIVE NATIONALISATION.

POST-WAR COMMISSIONS FROM THE RANKS.

T.U. CONGRESS.

STILL HARPING ON DIRECT ACTION.

The Trade Union Congress was opened at the Central Hall, Westminster, on Tuesday under the Chairmanship of Mr. J. H. Thomas.

Mr. Robert Smillie, of the Miners' Federation, said he understood that the Government had been inquiring into the possibility of bringing coal from India in the event of trouble at home. He declared vehemently that he would advocate a general strike if "downtrodden Indians, who worked for fourpence daily" were brought here to work in the mines. He believed that ultimately the miners would have to resort to direct action to compel the Government to nationalise the mines. A resolution was passed unanimously in favour of opening a propaganda campaign and in the event of that method failing to convoke a special congress in February to decide what course should be adopted to coerce the Government.

A resolution was also carried protesting against "Government's indifference to abnormal profiteering by large interests controlling necessities" and demanding immediate and effective Government control of raw materials, complete nationalisation of land, mines, railways and other means of transport. Mr. Brace, M.P., representing the Miners' Union, outlined a scheme for national control of mines by means of a Pit Committee at every colliery in the Kingdom, with fourteen District Committees composed of equal proportions of workmen, officials and consumers. He also wanted a separate Ministry for Mines, besides a National Council representing all the coalfields of Great Britain.

SUPREME COUNCIL.

GERMAN SHIPS AND TURKISH GOLD.

The Supreme Council has decided upon the distribution of eight German war vessels among the small powers for the defence of their coasts.

It has also decided that the Turkish gold reserves deposited at Berlin at the beginning of the war shall be sent to Paris to be divided among the Allies.

At the close of the Meeting M. Clemenceau delivered an address expressing regret at the departure of Mr. Polk and the American Delegation.

U.S. NAVY.

NO LIMITATION OF ARMAMENTS HERE.

The United States Naval General Board, in recommending for inclusion in the building programme for 1921 two battleships, one battle cruiser, and two scout cruisers, says that the United States should by 1925 be equal to the most powerful in the world.

SOVIET DEMANDS.

EXPECTED FAILURE OF O'GRADY'S MISSION.

It is gathered from British official sources in Copenhagen that the prospect of a successful termination to the O'Grady-Litvinoff Conference on exchange and repatriation of prisoners is very gloomy, owing to the Soviet's extensive demands.

DESERTERS TO D'ANNUNZIO.

A message to Belgrade on the 8th December states that the Italian destroyer Irrequiete, belonging to the Italian Zara Squadron under the command of Admiral Millo, has arrived at Spalato. The crew declared for D'Annunzio, at which the Spalato population is surprised and indignant.

Q.M.A.A.C. OLD COMRADES.

A meeting will be held at the Connaught Club, Seymour-street, W., on Monday, December 15, at 8 p.m., to consider the formation of an Old Comrades' Association for Queen Mary's Army Auxiliary Corps. The Controller-in-Chief, Dame Florence Leach, D.B.E., will take the chair.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS.

Saturday the 27th December, has been proclaimed a bank and public holiday in Great Britain.

The American Peace Delegates have left Paris en route to America.

COMMISSIONS.

FUTURE PROMOTIONS FROM THE RANKS.

A deputation from the National Democratic Party was received by Mr. Winston Churchill, Secretary for War, on Tuesday, in connection with the scheme drafted by Captain C. E. Loseley for promotions from the ranks of the regular army.

In his Memorandum, Captain Loseley recommended that the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, and the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, should be rendered more accessible to poor students. No boy capable of taking advantage of the education offered should be debarred by want of funds. The first practical steps in that direction, the Memorandum proceeded, would be the assignment of a definite percentage of vacancies, say, twenty per cent. of the full numbers, to be filled annually by serving soldiers.

An allotment was suggested as follows: Sandhurst and Woolwich, sixty per cent. to graduates of Oxford and Cambridge, twenty per cent. to commissioned ranks of the Special Reserve and Territorial Force, and twenty per cent. to candidates from the ranks of the Regular Army. Side by side with Woolwich and Sandhurst similar academies on the lines of the Cadet schools instituted during the war should be set up, to which would be sent all aspirants for commissions. The necessary preliminary education for candidates from the ranks could be provided regimentally.

Addressing the deputation, Mr. Winston Churchill sympathised with their views, but pointed out that at present there were 4,000 officers surplus to establishment, and 3,000 men clamouring for commissioned rank. A vast proportion of the surplus were officers who had served in the ranks, and he thought the claims of these officers who had served their country in the field, were superior to those of young boys who had seen no service.

Regarding the future, he accepted the principle that a certain number of places should be definitely assigned to serving soldiers, and he was of the opinion that the system of promotion from the ranks should be improved, and that steps should be taken to train young soldiers scientifically and methodically for the position to which they aspired. He assured the deputation that they might confidently expect ameliorative reform.

GAGGED AND TARRED.

GIRL ATTACKED BY MEN IN WOMEN'S CLOTHES.

At Ulster Winter Assizes at Belfast, three young men, John Mulvey, James Brennan, and John Cronogue, of Stunnatober, Co. Leitrim, were charged with assaulting Lizzie Moran, aged 19, on May 21. The evidence showed that Miss Moran was returning in the evening from a visit to a neighbour with a male friend, when three men, dressed in women's clothes and wearing masks or veils over their faces, caught her, threw her down, gagged her, and tarred her.

Serjeant Healy expressed the opinion that jealousy was the cause of the outrage, and the girl's father said that now his daughter's character had been cleared he did not want the accused severely punished.

Mulvey was found Not Guilty, and the other two prisoners were each sentenced to three months' hard labour.

MEDAL FOR A DOG.

MISSING CHILD FOUND IN A FIELD.

The Mayor of Harrogate, at a meeting of the Town Council, presented to a retriever the National Canine Defence League medal for saving life.

A few weeks ago a three-year-old boy strayed from home and was missing for two days. The dog's master was out shooting when he noticed that the animal refused to leave a certain spot in a turnip field, and going to the place he found the child in an exhausted condition. The boy would probably have lost his life had not the dog discovered him.

HOSPITAL SOLD FOR £80,000.

The Military Hospital at Orpington has been sold to the Ministry of Pensions for £80,000. It was the largest Canadian hospital in England, having accommodation for two thousand patients. It is now intended for the use of convalescent and disabled soldiers.

WAR WIDOWS RE-MARRIED.

In the course of a House of Commons debate on the increased Estimates for Pensions, Sir Worthington Evans stated that out of 216,000 war widows 38,664 had re-married.

N.W. FRONTIER.

TRIBESMEN'S FIERCE ATTACK ON PASSENGER TRAIN.

The latest news from the Indian frontier is not satisfactory. On the 1st December a band of 500 Wazirlis attacked a train near Thal, killing thirty-six passengers and wounding fifty. They also captured all the rifles and two Lewis guns belonging to the train escort. Retaliatory measures are being taken. On the night of the 2nd December an unsuccessful raid was made on Kohat, a town of 27,000 inhabitants.

BRITISH IN POLISH ARMY.

FIRST TWO COMMISSIONS.

The first two British officers to be given commissions in the Polish Army are Lieut. J. F. D. Tanqueray, D.F.C., and Lieut. L. S. Woodhouse, Croix de Guerre. Both were in the Royal Flying Corps during the war.

Interviewed by a "Daily Mail" reporter yesterday, Rear-Admiral V. Kloczkowski, Naval and Military Attaché to the Polish Legation, said he believed Lieutenants Tanqueray and Woodhouse are at present in Warsaw; their services would be employed with the Polish Flying Corps. Over 100 applications had been received, many from officers with very distinguished war records on the Western front. Only 25 commissions will be given to British officers meantime.

Officers are accepted in the Polish Army in the rank they held in the British Army. The engagement is for six months' service, renewal in periods of three months, with 30 days' leave every year. Rates of pay are 500 marks monthly for second lieut., 600 for lieut., 800 for captain. The spending value of a mark in Poland to-day is nearly equal to that of a shilling in the United Kingdom.

WOMAN'S SUDDEN DEATH.

EFFECT OF SHOT FROM PEASHOOTER.

At an inquest held on Tuesday on Jessie Miller Archer, aged 57, wife of a porter, of Lollard-street, Lambeth, the evidence showed that the woman, who was supposed to be in good health, went into a shop in Lollard-street on Sunday afternoon, and while there she was struck in the face by a pea shot from a peashooter by a boy who was passing. She at once exclaimed that she must see a doctor, and fell to the floor. She was taken home, but died before a doctor could be called.

Dr. Barkley, who made a post-mortem examination, said death was due to a rupture of an aneurism of the aorta. The shock caused by the pea striking her was quite sufficient to bring about the fatal termination; in fact, she was liable to die at any moment. The sound of a motor hooter, or any scare, might have killed her.

The Coroner recorded a verdict of "Death from natural causes."

PRICE OF MILK.

RECENT INCREASE OF PRICE UNWARRANTED.

The Committee of Investigation empowered to examine the evidence and estimates of cost on which the Food Controller based the price of milk has decided that the present maximum prices are not warranted nor was the extra fourpence allowed to producers in July. They recommend a reduction by seven pence a gallon to half a crown (which was the price fixed for November) with a corresponding reduction in the retail selling price.

AN ARMISTICE THIEF.

When Florence Maud Jenkins, nineteen, of Cottenham-road, Holloway, was being shown round a house where she sought employment as a servant, on November 11, the maroons proclaimed the two minutes' solemn silence requested by the King in memory of the dead. She was ushered into a bed-room for the two minutes. For stealing a diamond ring and £2 in Treasury notes from the room during that time she was sentenced by the North London Magistrate to three months' imprisonment in the second division.

WITH ALL WORLDLY GOODS.

"When a man takes a woman to be his wife and buys a home, then the home is hers," declared a woman at Southwark County Court.

"That may become law when Parliament is more full of your sex," commented Judge Granger, "but at present I am afraid it is not law."

LAST DELHI MUTINY SURVIVOR

The death has taken place in her 94th year of Mrs. Gardner, widow of Captain Herbert Calthorpe Gardner, 38th Bengal Native Light Infantry, who died in the Indian Mutiny in June, 1857. Mrs. Gardner, who was at Delhi when the outbreak occurred, was probably nearly the last survivor of those who were present.

ARMY ESTIMATES.

MAINTAINING OUR ARMIES OF OCCUPATION.

The sum of 405 million pounds is involved in the revised Army Estimates for 1919-20, which were issued on Tuesday.

The number of men on the Establishment for which this expenditure is necessary is given as 2,500,000. These are divided into Rhine Army, 403,600; Armies of the Middle East, 308,400; Home and Colonial Establishments, 240,000; making a total of 952,000, while the numbers in course and prospect of demobilization total 1,548,000. The British Army in India provides a further total of 75,896.

Maintenance of the Standing Army is estimated to cost £238,531,000, the principal items being included under the head of Occupation. Some of the details are: Army of the Rhine, £76,600,000; Italy £2,038,000; Bulgaria, Turkey, Caucasus etc., £3,850,000; Egypt and Palestine (including civil administration of enemy territory in military occupation) £34,210,000, Mesopotamia and Persia (including civil administration of enemy territory in military occupation), £32,890,000. The total amount for Armies of Occupation is therefore £152,618,000.

The net expenditure for Home and Colonial establishments, including troops in Russia, is given as £120,839,000. There is to be deducted from these estimates of expenditure, receipts totalling £4,973,000, which leaves the net expenditure under this item at the figures already given.

Territorial and Reserve Forces and Volunteers are estimated to cost £1,349,000; Educational Establishments, Hospitals and Depots £21,420,000; War Office and Staff of Commands at Home and Colonial garrisons, £6,900,000; Capital Accounts £3,650,000; Terminal and Miscellaneous Charges and Receipts £114,493,000; Half pay, retired pay, pensions and civil superannuation £5,378,000.

Various additions to, and deductions from, these items finally bring the estimated cash required for Army Services to the total stated, viz.: £405,000,000.

RACING AND RATES.

TWO OBJECTORS TO YARMOUTH'S NEW COURSE.

Lord Leverhulme recently purchased the land on the South Denes on which the Yarmouth race meetings were held, in connection with his scheme for supplying the public with cheap fish.

The Race Committee are preparing a new course on the North Denes. At yesterday's meeting of the Town Council it was proposed that the Corporation withhold its assent on moral grounds to the use of the course for racing.

Opponents of the motion urged that the race meeting was a big asset to the town by prolonging the summer season. After a lengthy debate, only the mover and seconder voted for withholding the sanction, which was then granted.

OLD PROMISES RENEWED.

The Prime Minister received the Parliamentary Trade Union Committee on Monday and re-affirmed some important pronouncements on Government policy. The Government, he said, was entirely with the Trade Unions regarding Russia, their policy being one of non-interference in that country's international affairs. Referring to compulsory service he expressed the opinion that there would not be a single conscripted man in the army by February next. With regard to unemployment, although the Government was unable to continue the out-of-work donation, a Bill was being drafted extending insurance against unemployment.

POLICE FORCE AT GRETNA.

Mr. Kellaway, in written replies to Major W. Murray, states that a police force is still maintained at his Majesty's factory, Gretna. Its present strength is 180, to be reduced to 140 by the end of December. No women police are now employed. The cost of the force is £2,155 a month, which is borne on the Votes of the Ministry of Munitions.

The force is engaged in guarding an area of approximately 100 square miles, which contains plant, machinery, and stores of a value of £5,000,000 and many thousands of tons of explosives.

MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY.

Manchester University is appealing to the public for half a million of money to meet its growing duties. At a meeting at Manchester Town Hall yesterday the Lord Mayor announced that £65,000 had been subscribed before the meeting, including £10,000 from Mr. Jesse Haworth, £3,000 from Lady Royds and £5,000 each from Tootal, Broadwest and Co. and Sir Edward Hulton.

CLEMENCEAU IN LONDON.

M. Clemenceau is due to reach London to-day for a stay of three days in order to have important conferences with Mr. Lloyd George on current matters.

The Prince of Wales has been elected a Vice-President of the Smithfield Club.

Prince Albert arrived at Glasgow on Tuesday morning as the guest of Lord Blythwood. He is making a tour of the city and an inspection of the shipyards on the Clyde.

SUMMARY COURT.

SIX WEEKS FOR STEALING ARMY SHEETS.

The Presiding Officer complimented a German policeman on his vigilance and prompt action in connection with a case in which Clemens Niessen of no fixed address and Herman Evertz of 10 Scheibenstrasse were charged with stealing four packets of linen.

The men had been employed at the Artillery Depot at Nippes. The policeman saw them board a tram carrying the packets. He followed and questioned them and the men stated that the parcels contained handkerchiefs. He opened the parcels and found they contained forty-five bed sheets, Government property.

Accused were each sentenced to six weeks imprisonment.

OFFICERS' MESS ROBBED.

Heinrich Graf, who was employed by the Barrack Warden at Riehl barracks, pleaded guilty to stealing 1lb of butter, 3lb of sugar and 3lb of flour from the officers' quarters.

Accused, who is a widower with two children, urged in extenuation that he took the food to feed his children.

He had been in custody six days and a sentence of four more days was passed, ten days in all.

CARRYING FIREARMS.

A German policeman found a loaded revolver in the possession of Johann Merten in a café at Ehrenfeld. There were previous convictions against accused and it was stated that there was a charge of burglary pending against him.

Merten said he had purchased the revolver the same evening and was not aware that it was illegal for civilians to carry arms.

He was given three months imprisonment.

MET IN A CAFE.

Defending herself on a charge of being out without a night pass at 1.30 a.m. Elise Kuchelberg, aged sixteen, residing at 11, Unter Krahnenbäumen, said that she was with a girl friend in a café and got into conversation with some civilians. After the café had closed, the civilians took them to an undesirable house but she ran away, leaving her night pass in possession of the civilian.

The case was dismissed with a caution, the Presiding Officer warning the girl that if she appeared before him again he would have to consider the advisability of committing her to a home.

IMPUDENT TAXI-DRIVER.

There were two charges against Theodor Klein, of 3 Filzengraben: (1) offensive behaviour towards a British officer and (2) failing to obey an order given by the officer.

Klein is a taxi-driver and, according to the officer's evidence, his taxi was standing on the rank near the Dom with the flag up, denoting that it was disengaged. On being asked to drive the officer he became very offensive, slammed the door of the cab and went into the cab shelter. He stated that he was engaged to drive another party but the officer pointed out that if such was the case his flag would have been down and his cab would not be standing on the rank.

He was fined 250 marks or ten days imprisonment.

FUR THIEVES.

DARING ROBBERIES FROM THE PERSON.

Fashionable ladies will be terrorised by a novel form of theft, in which valuable fur coats are being cut off the wearers' backs while they are gazing into shop windows. Several cases have occurred in Regent Street, the operation being so cleverly done that the victims were completely unaware of anything. One lady reached home feeling cold and only then discovered that four hundred pounds worth of furs had been cut out of the back of her coat.

TROTZKY TALKS TRASH.

Addressing the seventh Soviet Congress on Monday, Trotzky said: "At this moment of food crisis and famine in Vienna the well-known Austrian Socialist, Adler, referring to the Russian workers' fight against the Bourgeoisie, urged the Austrian workers not to imitate them as they had taken the wrong road leading to destruction, under the ruins of which would be buried humanity's finest achievements." Trotzky declared that Adler, in speaking thus, has acted the traitor to the International Proletariat.

Thus, according to the fatuous Trotzky, a Socialist who does not desire to ruin the cause of the Proletariat, becomes a traitor to that cause.

Which, as Euclid says .....

PLAUSIBLE, BUT UNLIKELY.

In the House of Commons during the discussion of the Irish Supplementary Estimates Colonel Malone caused a sensation by declaring that the shot recently fired at the Chief Secretary's car is easily explained. Colonel Malone described it as a mishap, and says the shot was fired by a sentry because the car failed to stop when challenged.

Demobilization of the W.R.A.F. was completed on Saturday.

The ex-German liner "Imperator" has been handed over to the Cunard Line.

£10,000 PRIZE.

ROSS SMITH'S FLIGHT TO AUSTRALIA.

Barring accidents, Captain Ross Smith is the winner of the Australian Government's prize of £10,000 for a flight from Great Britain to Australia. The stipulated month from the time of starting expires for Captain Ross Smith on Friday morning, but a Reuter telegram from Batavia states that the airmen (M. Poulet is apparently included) were leaving Birma, in the Dutch East Indies, on Monday last on the final lap of six hundred miles. Captain Ross Smith was accordingly expected to arrive in Australia on Tuesday. Wishing to enable a large crowd to witness him land in Melbourne, the military authorities are ascertaining the suitability of Flemington Race Course as a landing place.

OTIUM CUM DIGNITATE.

CIVIL SERVANTS THREATEN TO STRIKE.

A strike of Civil Servants is threatened on account of the conditions prevailing at the Alexandra Palace, where the majority of the staff of the Finance Branch of the Ministry of Supply are being sent from the Hotel Metropole. A special department is being created there to investigate the War accounts of the Ministry. So far 450 officials have arrived, but in all 4,000 are expected to be installed before long. The Hotel Metropole was an exceedingly comfortable office and the Alexandra Palace is just the opposite. Voilà!

DORPAT PEACE PARLEY.

The Esthonians and Russian Bolshevists have exchanged peace terms at Dorpat. The Bolshevist conditions are understood to include recognition of the Soviet Government; amnesty for political prisoners; resumption of diplomatic and commercial relations; disbandment of foreign troops; facilities for commercial traffic through Esthonian territory and use of Esthonian ports. The Lettish, Polish and Finnish delegates arrived at Dorpat with watching briefs.

Referring to the Peace negotiations between Esthonia and Soviet Russia at Dorpat, a Riga telegram says that the representatives of Latvia will only negotiate on the subject of exchange of hostages, and being in Dorpat for the purpose of gathering information only, they will not negotiate on the subject of peace.

LESS CROWDED TROOPSHIPS.

The War Office announces that with a view to preventing or reducing as far as possible the chances of influenza or other infectious disease occurring on troopships from India, the numbers to be accommodated on each vessel will be reduced. This may entail a slight delay in the departure of troops but it is hoped that the balance of the troops awaiting conveyance from India for demobilization will be able to leave very shortly after the original dates assigned for embarkation.

THE HEALTHY SNEEZE.

Addressing the Women's Freedom League, Dr. Octavia Lewin said sneezing had been suppressed as being "not quite nice," and, like the use of a handkerchief, was not allowed in some schools. It was, however, a purely natural and refreshing act, and she looked upon diseases that came from not sneezing properly as the products of civilisation. Sneezing due to hay fever, &c., should, however, be treated pathologically. She did not recommend artificial stimulants and condemned snuff, which did harm, except to "old men with wide noses."

ALBANIANS ATTACK ITALIANS.

A message from Belgrade dated 6th December states that a band of Albanian insurgents attacked a detachment of Italian soldiers near El Basan, and killed the Station-Lieutenant.

In consequence of the excesses of the insurgents, who are infesting various districts, the Italians are reinforcing the garrisons throughout the region and are sending numerous armoured cars.

JUTLAND MASCOT DEAD.

"Jutland Jumbo," the famous bull-dog which was present in the "Iron Duke", Lord Jellicoe's flagship at the battle of Jutland, is dead. It was the property of Arthur Playfair, who lent it to Lord Jellicoe for a mascot.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

British Funds and a few Industrials were well supported, otherwise business was slack owing to the unsatisfactory state of the foreign exchanges, together with selling from the Continent, also local realizations to provide cash in connection with calls falling due on numerous new capital issues. Money and discount rates were easy. Gold advanced to 107 s. 11d., Spain being the chief buyer. Silver was lower at 75 pence consequent on China selling. The exchange on Paris rose to 45.05, New York 3.83½, Switzerland 19.10, Holland 10.03, Germany 200, and Austria 610.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

FLIGHTS LTD.

MILITARY TAILORS

LONDON. WINCHESTER. ALDERSHOT.

Owing to military requirements Mr. A. J. R. Lee has been compelled to change his address to

KRONPRINZ HOTEL

(Behind The Excelsior Hotel)

where he will have his usual excellent selection of material, both for Mufti and Uniform, also a stock of Hosiery of the best quality.

LATE OF THE OFFICERS' CLUB No. 1.

ANOTHER N. A. C. B. SERVICE

BOOT REPAIRS-

Men's, Women's, Children's.

Tie a label on and leave at the new Department Stores, 27 Obenmarspforten.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstrasse

Sunday, Dec. 14th 1919, at 6 p.m.

Grand Ballad Concert

ARTISTES:

Lieut. S. E. PERCY

Will Recite "THE HAPPY PRINCE".

ERIC MORGAN

The Well-known English Tenor

MARTHA BRUCH

Mezzo-Soprano

HOWARD FRY

Baritone

ALFRED BARKER

The Brilliant English Violinist

Special Augmented Orchestra under the direction of ALFRED BARKER.

Book at Amusements Office.

CHURCH ARMY HOTEL DU NORD COLOGNE

FANCY DRESS DANCE

will be held in THE HALL THURSDAY DEC. 11.

ENGLISH LADIES ADMITTED FREE

ADMISSION (including refreshments) 10 Marks

Dressing rooms for ladies and gentlemen. Shoes or light boots to be worn.

WANTED.

Who can supply several thousand working suits to be taken in 1—2 months? Please send offers with prices to K. Meisloch, Düsseldorf, Concordiastr. 1.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.

To-night and nightly at 6 p.m. The first production of

"SINGER OF THE VELD"

By British Rhine Army Dramatic Coy.

A Modern Comedy in 3 Acts, by Miss INEZ BENSUSAN.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.

To-night and nightly at 6 p.m.,

Mr. ALFRED HURLEY'S

LONDON VARIETY COMPANY

ARTISTES:

Leslie Nancie

ROSS and HANTON

In screaming duologues.

MARGUERITE DE LARA

Prestidigitator.

GERALD WILLIAMS

The Popular Tenor.

WARWICK PRYCE

Entertainer at the Piano from St. George's Hall, London

C. POWELL-EASTBURY

Baritone and Humourist

and

MARJORIE BOWYA

Soprano and Violinist.

No 1 Cinema is now closed.

No: 2 ARMY CINEMA.

(Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse

Finest Picture House in Germany.

No: 3 ARMY CINEMA.

(Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.

The acme of comfort.

ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.

MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.

Open daily (Sundays excepted)

Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.

Fully equipped.

Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc.,

Staff Instructor in attendance.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB

CINEMA

Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

At "The Cologne Post" Bookroom in the Arcade leading off the Hohestrasse there is a very attractive selection of Xmas Cards. Prices ranging from 1 Mark to 4 Marks each. Envelope supplied free with each card. Orders may also be placed at

The Cologne Post

Office, 35 Marzellenstrasse, Cologne

Postal Address A.P.O./S.40, British Rhine Army

for private christmas cards.

The Cologne Post

Telephones: Military, No. 653. Civil: A 9511.

Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Subscription: In Rhine Army area 13 mks. a month, post free.

To Great Britain or Colonies, 20 marks a month post free.

Thursday, December 11, 1919.

Winehouse Köhler

(formerly Carlton)

Grosse Sandkaul 24—26

behind "Coffeehouse Germania."

The most fashionable place in the city.

Small-Orchestra starting at 5.0 p.m.

For officers and civilians only.

WINEHOUSE PALME

Ehrenstraße corner Benesisstraße

First class wines

Diners—Suppers

DAILY CONCERT

Agrippina Café

Breitestr. 92—98, 1st floor. Tel. B 9935.

Artiste Concert daily from 4 p.m.

First class wines

For Exporters & Wholesalers

Coutellerie-Cutlery

Pocket knives, Scissors, razors-spoons, forks and knives, safety razors, haircutting machines etc.

BAUMANN & Co.

KÖLN, Berlich 43.

German firm seeks connection with English wholesale Buyer to procure tools, cutlery and similar goods. Prefers to deal with one large firm only. For particulars apply to A 414 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

For Export.

Isolation tubes

(big stocks)

11 mm. for sale.

Apply D. F. 51 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

EXPORT

Manufacturers of Surgical Instruments

NEUMANN & CIE.

COLOGNE, Minoritenstraße 21A.

BARGAIN

Camera (Schulze-Billerbeck 10×15cm. Dbl. Anastignmat focus 165 mm. black maroquin leather bag. 3 dbl. cases for plates in ebony nood one stand.

SCHAAF, Alvenslebenstr. 4.

Big stock of

Elegant Swiss Embroideries

for sale

specially suitable for Paris & Bruxelles.

Koopmann, Bonn.

RAZORS very sharply ground and completely polished at

C.A. LÜTTERS, COLOGNE

Breitestr. 23.

Special store for razors.

Import COLOGNE Export

Well-known Agency Firm in Cologne offers, for export, goods of every description from German Manufacturers, and buys goods of every description from foreign Manufacturers for first-class German Houses. All business will be concluded direct between sellers and buyers, with Bank Guarantee. Moderate agent's commission. Large Depot, Offices with Telephone &c. Many Agents all over Germany. Write stating nature of goods &c., to K. N. 1712 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

KODAKS Ica, Zeiss, Goerz Ernemann, Nettel Cameras

Developing and Copying

All photographic work and repairs done.

Photographic Specialists

Nelles & Wolffram, Cologne, Unter Pettenhennen

COMMERCIAL FLYING.

Everyone is watching with interest the development of civilian flying for commercial purposes.

So far its progress has not fulfilled the expectations and promises of the enthusiasts who thought that no sooner was the war over than the earth would be encircled by the aeroplane.

But then it was not clearly understood what a tedious business the transition stage from war to peace would be; that the aftermath of the fight would leave the whole in confusion.

The air service had been carried on in war time regardless of expense; it was wasteful in men and material. Such conditions could never succeed in commercial flying and it is taking time to organise on a normal basis.

Progress for these and other reasons has accordingly been slower than anticipated. In Great Britain the most important commercial service has been that between London and Paris, which has now been running regularly for a month or more.

One of the largest aviation firms, for instance, has recently asked permission of the Indian Government to commence commercial flying in India. It offered to convey passengers and mails along the main routes and asked for no subsidy, but unfortunately so far, the Indian authorities have not given their sanction.

China, too, is taking to the air in real earnest, and six big machines are being built in England for the Chinese Government who intend to use them for a regular air service between Hong-Kong and Shanghai. They are to form the nucleus of a large fleet to operate in the near future.

In South America, air routes are being planned and Australia has several schemes ready to put in shape as soon as aeroplanes can be obtained from the mother country.

France and Germany are getting busy on commercial flying and while both countries are devoting attention to aeroplanes they are also intending to bring the airship into use. The French Government has four of these under construction and Germany is expanding the use of the Zeppelins. Indeed a passenger "Zep" is now doing service between Berlin and Stockholm.

On every side therefore we see more or less activity in getting business flying under way. The beginnings with so many initial difficulties to face are bound to be somewhat slow, but the future has almost boundless possibility.

MUSIC ON THE RHINE.

Ask the average person to sing or play some instrument, and what will be the answer in nine cases out of ten? "I'm sorry, but I cannot. You see I have never done anything in the way of music." It is not that we do not like music, but that as a whole, our musical education has been sadly neglected, and the music which is in every one of us has had no chance of coming into the open.

That there is music in us is patent to all. Why, even in our cradles we sung our own little songs, and beat our own time with chubby little hands and feet.

Take a concert audience. With the opening bars of a lively piece feet dance and heads nod to the time, and everyone feels happy. Perhaps the next movement is slower, sadder—heads droop, and there is a hush of sympathy.

It is the same with singing. Sing a bright chorus and the same effects are noticeable.

Yet there is music and—er—music, and it is up to us to see that ours is not the—er—music. There is the kind that lives and will continue to live, and also the kind that dies an early and natural death. How is it that the music that Bach, Handel, and the other great masters wrote decades ago is still played and appreciated to-day, while practically all that was written for, and sung at, some of the music halls, but a few years ago, is never heard now?

Nowadays, no one implores his beloved to "Come, come and make eyes at me, down by the Old Bull and Bush," or plaintively wails that "You are the honeysuckle, I am the bee." No, they are specimens of the—er—music.

The real music has the power of arousing sympathy in us in a way that no other branch of art possesses. In company with it, we ascend to the seventh heaven of delight and joy, or descend to the deepest shades of gloom. And the best of it is that it is not only the producer of the music who enjoys these sensations, but his whole audience shares them with him.

We must look to it that our musical understanding is sufficiently alive to differentiate between good and bad music and to appreciate the good.

In the Music Wing of the Army College, courses have been in progress for some time, with the idea of propagating music in the Army of the Rhine. The students there are not picked voices, in fact, one or two have asked to be returned to their units, because their presence there must be a mistake; they had no voices and musically were ignorant. But in a fortnight, these very men were singing part songs.

The method used is to sing or play a chorus with one or two shouted words such as "John Peel" or the "Orderlies Song" from Walford Davies' "Fellowship Song Book." The sense of self-consciousness disappears and soon the whole chorus is being sung, and the verses too. After these come old English rounds. The students are gradually initiated in the art of part singing, and larger part songs follow.

At the same time, classes are held in the theory and history of music, harmony, and counterpoint writing. The lives and works of the masters are discussed and a good start is given towards wholesome discrimination in music.

In this way it is hoped to increase the knowledge and appreciation of true music in the Rhine Army, and so ultimately in England.

BEB.

"NOBBY," THE MASCOT.

The 9th East Surrey Regt., recently returned to England accompanied by their mascot, the little French boy, described in this true sketch, who refused to leave the Battalion.

"Tray bon! ain't it nobby?" "No comprie!"—"Garn commant allee blonk" again. "No compree." "Naturally," the reader enquires, to what does this dialogue refer?

It having aroused your curiosity, let me now relate to you the history of Pte. Nobby of the 9th Battalion East Surrey Regiment.

When the battalion moved to the new front on the 1st of May the transport lines were established at a small village named Petit Sains, and there the British "Tommy" was the centre of an ardent and admiring crowd of juvenile worshippers, foremost of which was "Nobby". He was the leader of all the friendly overtures, which, of course, was not lacking on either side.

In September, the battalion moved to Beharicourt, near Doullens, renearsing the attack which was imminent at that time.

Imagine the surprise of all, when unloading the wagons, "Nobby" appears. Evidently he had hidden himself under some of the blankets, prior to the move.

He was immediately returned to his home; then, three days after, he again appears reporting himself to his bosom "pal" the coalman. Presumably he had "lorry hopped."

The French Mission were then notified, and the following day two gendarmes arrived to escort him back, so we all said "good-bye" to Nobby....

Here let us move to Cambrai, after its fall, when the battalion spent its well-earned rest after pushing forward to Haussy.

"'Ere is I," said he. "Well I'm...!" ejaculated the astonished quartermaster, gazing down at the proud and elated form of Nobby, who had picked up one of the 24th Divisional lorries on the road, and rejoined "his" battalion.

He flatly refuses to return home to his parents, and soon they realized the futility of endeavouring to keep him at home, so reluctantly consented to allow him to remain with the battalion.

Nightly he accompanied rations, when they were brought up to the line, refusing to remain behind when shelling was heavy. To him it was an excellent joke. Barely four feet high, the sturdy little figure strutting proudly along, is the centre of everyone's admiration.

Tournai! and the juvenile portion of its inhabitants gazing at the form of Nobby, resplendent in khaki, now marching at the head of "his" Battalion; again at the presentation of colours by the Army Commander, to whom he was presented; riding behind the Transport officer on a mule; being taught to play the bugle in time to act as C.O's bugler; finally apprenticed to the bootmaker.

Emphatic in his refusals to speak French, when civilians attempt to fraternize, they are always received with, "Me no compree," "Me speeks English.'

Even in the 72nd. Brigade revue, he comes to the fore as slave in the spectacular harem scene, travelling with them on tour.

His punctilious saluting is an edification for "Old sweats", especially on pay day, when he can be seen running from one Company to another with his A.B. 64 in his hand.

His O.C. was the coalman; I write "was" as he has since been demobilized and on that day Nobby packed his own kit, strapped on his three blankets, staggered with him to the Station and burst into tears as he watched his comrade borne away by the train, leaving him with the R.T.O.—not yet eligible for demobilisation.

C.W.H.

KAUTSKY'S REVELATIONS.

II—TEMPTING ENGLAND.

July 26th. The German Chancellor appealed to the Kaiser "to remain for the present in Norway, since this would materially facilitate England's projected mediation in Petersburg, which is manifestly irresolute." The Kaiser replied that he did not observe any signs of "irresolution" on the part of Russia, adding, "There is a Russian Fleet! There are now cruising in the Baltic five Russian Torpedo Boat Flotillas which can, either as a whole or in part, reach the Belts within 16 hours and block them. Port Arthur ought to be a lesson! My Fleet has received marching orders for Kiel and that is where it is going to!"

On this day the Chief of the German General Staff sealed his final draft of the ultimatum to Belgium which was transmitted to the Chancellor on the 29th July and presented at Brussels on the 2nd August.

July 28th. Early in the morning of this day the text of the Serbian reply was communicated to the Kaiser at the new Palace, Potsdam. (The Serbian reply to the Austrian Note practically conceded Austria's far-reaching and humiliating demands and suggested that if the Austro-Hungarian Government were not fully satisfied with the answers given, it was to the common interest that a specific understanding should be reached by referring questions to the International Tribunal at the Hague, or to the great Powers which had taken part in the settlement of 1909.)

The Kaiser's comments upon this document were as follows:—

"A brilliant performance for a time limit of 48 hours. This is more than could be expected. A great moral success for Vienna. Herewith every ground for war disappears, and Giesl (Austro-Hungarian Minister) might quietly have stayed in Belgrade. I would never have ordered mobilization on the strength of this."

At 10 a.m. the Kaiser indited a long epistle to the Chancellor, in which he urged that, while Serbia had ostensibly capitulated, the Serbians were "Orientals" and therefore "liars," and that consequently it was necessary to apply to them a "douce violence" in order to guarantee fulfilment of the Serbian assurances. Above all, some "satisfaction d'honneur" was due to the Austrian Army, which would otherwise have mobilized three times in succession without having anything to show for it.

The Emperor Francis Joseph on the same day was signing his declaration of war against Serbia, to Count Berchtold's dictation. Upon his return to the Ballplatz, Count Berchtold deleted in the document signed by the Emperor, the reference to Serbian acts of hostility, which had served the purpose of rousing the old gentleman, and the abbreviated declaration of war was dispatched during the forenoon to Nish, where it arrived at 1.20 p.m. At 7.40 p.m. Count Berchtold in Vienna received from the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador in Berlin, the intimation that the German Government had declined (as inappropriate) the British proposal for a conference in London.

July 29th. The Chancellor, in an interview with Sir. E. Goschen, the British Ambassador, made a desperate bid to secure British neutrality, and offered the assurance that, if England would remain neutral, this would pave the way to a general neutrality agreement, viz. limitation of naval armaments.

Meanwhile, the Kaiser was annotating Sir E. Grey's dispatch describing the situation as increasingly serious, with such gems as:

"The biggest and most unheard of piece of English Pharisaism that I have ever seen! With such scoundrels I shall never conclude a naval agreement!" "Aha — the base deceiver — Arch base and Mephistophelian! But truly English."

The Kaiser's fury became unbounded when he read that circumstances might arise in which England would be unable to stand aside. "They mean to attack us", he noted.

"This pack of base hucksters has sought to deceive us with dinners and speeches." The King's message for me through Henry — We shall remain neutral and try to keep out of this as long as possible — was the grossest deception of all. Grey gives the King the lie, and this statement of his to Lichnowsky is the outcome of a guilty conscience, of the feeling in fact that he has deceived us. It amounts, moreover, to a threat, which is partly bluff, designed to separate us from Austria, to prevent us from mobilizing, and to foist upon us the responsibility of the war. He knows perfectly well that he has only to utter one single sharp and earnest word of warning in Paris and in Petersburg and to enjoin neutrality upon them, and they will both at once keep quiet. But he takes good care not to utter this word, and threatens us instead! Low hound! Responsibility for peace or war now rests upon England alone, and no longer upon us!"

(To be continued.)

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

Our Readers' Varied Views.

THE CARE OF HORSES.

Sir,—I am glad attention is being directed to the subject of cruelty to animals, particularly horses, for the simple fact that many of our four footed friends in Cologne and district were formerly under Tommy's care.

I recall the early sales of these animals, and I then ventured to express the hope that they would be well cared for. A friend hastened to inform me that as a rule Germans treated them well.

I sincerely hope so, but should one offend, I suggest that summary action will protect our old friends of the transport lines.

T.B.

COLOGNE ART EXHIBITION.

Sir,—I have, in the first instance, to thank W.B. Jemmet for the information concerning the Art School at the Army College.

That excellent work is being done I shall not attempt to deny, but, I do not think that a School of Art is quite the thing to encourage drawing and painting among soldiers; firstly because the average soldier, though possessing sufficient talent, seems to be shy of what we call Art Schools; secondly, because he is apt to consider himself below the standard that is expected of those who attend such institutions.

This is my reason for suggesting the formation of a Society of Artists. In such a society members could meet and discuss events in the world of art, and criticise one another's effort with the pencil and brush.

In conclusion just a word to "Craftsman." It seems to him that too much prominence is given to painting; let me here say that painting, like reading, of which we have heard so much of late, cannot receive too much attention.

He thinks that, instead of encouraging soldiers to paint, greater attention ought to be paid to instructing them in the use of their hands in useful crafts. I am in full agreement with this statement, but why not encourage them to paint and instruct them in handicrafts as well?

R.M.

LATE COMERS AT THE THEATRE.

Sir,—While agreeing with "Non-Commissioned Officer" as to the late habit with people who have booked seats at Cologne amusements, I think you might publish a thousand letters and you wouldn't change these folks' ways.

It is always a scandal and was very prevalent in London theatres once. The managers found the only cure was to prohibit people taking their seats once the play had started and to make them wait till the first interval.

If this could be enforced here I think the nuisance would soon end. But the management must be absolutely firm and permit no breach of the order to anyone, whatever his rank.

ONE OF THE CRUSH.

REVIVING DISCUSSIONS.

Sir,—Your correspondent "W.V.W." is mistaken in supposing that the Sunday afternoon discussions at the Cologne Central Y.M.C.A. "are now to cease."

So far from ceasing to be, the class is beginning to be more vigorous than ever. Last Sunday, those of the original members, who are still undemobilized—a faithful remnant—met and drew up the following programme for the next four weeks:—December 14th. "New Lamps for Old" (Inaugural address by Dr. Francis); December 21st, "Does Spiritualism afford any new proof of Immortality?"; December 28th, "Is belief in the Virgin Birth essential to the Christian Faith?"; January 4th, "Is anything Irreparable and Irretrievable?"

The formal discussions are followed by conversations over a cup of tea; and these have often proved the most helpful part of our intercourse. The class now begins at 4 p.m. as the children's service is held in the Loreley Hall at 2.30 p.m.

A. D. MACKENZIE.

CRAFTS—NOT ART.

Sir,—Your correspondent "Craftsman" writes, "England is over-run with mediocre art," suggesting less attention to art at the Army College, and more to wood and metal-work.

"Craftsman" should know that there has to be an artist to produce sound designs even for what he terms mechanical crafts, before the craftsman can get to work, that for really best results every craftsman should at least be able to draw to some extent and appreciate form, texture etc.

Inquiry would show that the skill of hand and taste obtained from various methods of drawing, and painting at the College are applied to commercial art.

Reflection might show that with ever widening distribution and use of machinery, and on international effort to obtain similar pay and hours of labour throughout the world, results will more and more tend to become similar as to cost and quality, that more and more will a nation depend on art in connection with advertising, to attract its share of its own and the world's trade. Label or Loan Poster, all have now a national importance.

Further, the harder the worker works, the more vitally important become all forms of recreation.

Perhaps "Craftsman" has at times enjoyed sketches in the "Cologne Post" and elsewhere, and gone refreshed to his tasks. Sketches made possible and profitable by training at the Army College Art Courses, and similar institutions.

ART STUDENT.

THE SONG ROYAL.

All beauty and all glory I have known,
True love: which is unshaken happiness;
And courage: in the splendour of our days;
And tenderness: in the dear things we said;
And truth: in your true kisses on my lips;
And safety: in your heart's strong gentleness;
And faith: in the sure faith of our love's ways;
And hope: in our new hope that was the old;
And joy: in our love's utter certainty;
All these are mine because you still love me;
All these, though you are dead, you give to me.

MAY WEDDERBURN CANNAN in "Splendid Days."

OUR COMPETITION.

Great Popularity of Weekly Football Feature.

NO. 12 CONTEST WINNERS.

We have now reached the twelfth number in our weekly football competition. From the first we never entertained any doubt but that the feature would be a popular one, knowing well the unbounded interest being taken by all ranks in first class football at home this season.

At the same time, however, we scarcely anticipated that it would so rapidly attain the popularity it has done.

From the first contest there was a marked increase in the number of coupons submitted, until a rush of demobilization and a decreased Army of Occupation brought about a reduction in the number of entries.

TOTAL FIRM.

In spite of this, however, the weekly total remains firm at over 2,000, making the competition well worth winning. The entrance fee of one mark is, of course, ridiculously small with the present rate of exchange, but, after due consideration, we have decided not to raise the cost but to give entrants the opportunity of sending in a larger number of coupons.

Results to date have conclusively proved that the advantage of submitting a large number of coupons cannot be over-estimated. While our competition is undoubtedly a test of skill and correct judgment of form there are always the inevitable surprise happenings for which it is wise to allow.

In no single case has a solo winner sent in only one coupon, and this speaks for itself. And the greater number of coupons submitted, the greater will be the number of marks for the fortunate competitor who carries off the prize.

Latterly we have reduced the number of matches to be forecasted to ten, thereby reducing the difficulties of the contest by one-sixth.

THE WINNERS.

To-day we announce the result of No. 11 competition. In this contest competitors were set the task of forecasting five away winners, two draws and three home successes. Despite the fact that of these only one failure was of the sensational order, competitors were hopelessly floored.

Out of the two thousand odd entrants only two succeeded in forecasting nine correct results. The prize money amounts to 2,156 marks and the successful competitors will each receive a cheque for 1078 marks. Their names and addresses are:—

L/C L. W. Idle
R.A.S.C. A. Branch
G.H.Q
Rhine Army.

Pte. Freeman
Rhine Army Reception Camp
Cologne.

The former failed to forecast the Manchester City—West Bromwich battle, giving this as a draw, while the latter gave West Ham to win at Coventry, this match being drawn.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 12,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S.40 Rhine Army.

List of Rules.

1. All forecasts must be made on coupons from this journal.
2. Any alteration or mutilation of the coupon will disqualify the effort.
3. If any match or matches on the coupon should be abandoned or full time is not played for any reason, such match or matches will not be taken into consideration in the adjudication.
4. In the event of ties, the prize will be divided.
5. No correspondence may be enclosed with the coupons, and none will be entered into. Neither will interviews be granted.
6. The Editor reserves the right to disqualify any coupon for what, in his opinion, is good and sufficient reason, and it is a distinct condition of entry that the Editor's decision shall be accepted as finally and legally binding in all matters concerning this competition.
7. Any entries received after Friday will be disqualified. No responsibility can be undertaken for any effort, or efforts, lost, mislaid or delayed. Proof of posting will not be accepted as proof of delivery.
8. Competitors may send in any number of coupons but one mark must be sent with each coupon.
9. Members of the staff of the "Cologne Post" are debarred from entering this competition.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 12.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 13th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 12th.

Burnley	v. Oldham
Notts County	v. Everton
Grimsby	v. Bristol City
Lincoln	v. Hull City
West Ham	v. Coventry
South Shields	v. Barnsley
Palace	v. Queens Park R.
St. Mirren	v. Dumbarton
Clyde	v. Queens Park.
Ayr U.	v. Morton

I enter Football Competition No. 12 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(In block letters.)

Rank and No. .....

Unit .....

Full Address .....

N. H. FOLLOW SUIT.

Reforms Recommended on Lines of Jockey Club.

Mr. W. Murland and Sir George Bullough have submitted to the National Hunt Committee a memorandum in terms which substantially agree with the conclusions arrived at by the Jockey Club Committee of Enquiry.

Certain variations, due mainly to the different circumstances surrounding winter racing, are indicated, but in the main there is complete unanimity between the two ruling bodies.

The points specially selected for consideration as separate and distinct from the Jockey Club's memorandum include the provision of place money, the cost of travelling horses, weighing fees, stabling of horses, and accommodation for lads, the composition of programmes with special reference to selling plates, and the accommodation of the public.

AMALGAMATION DISAPPROVED.

The suggestions regarding the amalgamation of racecourses are treated by the National Hunt representatives in the same way as by the Jockey Club's Committee.

The recommendation that stakeholders' fees and Clerks' fees should be a charge on racecourse executives instead of on owners of horses will, if adopted, remove a grievance of long standing, as also will that which calls upon racecourse executives to provide free stabling for horses and free accommodation for their attendants.

Forage, it is also recommended, should be provided at cost price and reasonable terms for catering for lads should be arranged. The railway companies are to be urged to do something towards decreasing the expenses incurred by owners in the transit of racehorses, which are only too truthfully described as exorbitant.

BILLIARDS.

The closing scores in the principal matches on Wednesday are appended.

Smith 10,585
Inman 9,046

Breaks: Smith: 128, 164, 141, 169 and 111; Inman: 182, 143, 140, 152, 101, and 224 (unfinished).

Newman 11,166
Fa kiner.....7,464

Breaks: Newman: 226, 373, 159, 102, 167, and 214.

GRENADIERS AT GOLF.

The Grenadier Guards played their second golf match of the present month when they met Walton Heath, on the latter club's course. In the singles the Walton Heath Club led by 5 matches to 3, and in the Foursomes the Guards won by 2½ to 1½, the total scores being:—Walton Heath 6½, Grenadier Guards 5½.

LEICESTER MEETING.

Foggy Weather for Second Day's Racing.

There was a moderate attendance of spectators for the second day of the Leicester meeting on Tuesday when the weather was fine but foggy. The going was fairly good. Results:—

Oadby Hurdle:—1, Indian Feast (3—1); 2, Manester Market (6—1); 3, Governor Wood (100—7). Thirteen ran.

Wingston Hurdle:—1, Ledalie (9—4); 2, Wood Ant (2—1); 3, Royal Trixtress (100—8). Seven ran.

Leicester Hurdle:—1, Sherwood Forester (11—2); 2, Appelton (7—4); 3, Ullswater (3—1). Six ran.

Glan 'Chase:—George B. walked over.

Sileby 'Chase:—1, Fargue (7—4); 2, Carrigrue (11—4); 3, Chanbally (5—1). Five ran.

Belvoir 'Chase:—1, Sunny Croft (100—8); 2, Smash Away (2—1); 3, Sandy Cuba (5—1). Nine ran.

CRICKET'S FUTURE.

The cricket authorities in England are perturbed in connection with the future of cricket. Mr. Lecy, secretary of the M.C.C., informed a meeting of county representatives that it was inevitable that the majority of county clubs would gradually be compelled to shut down if the entertainment tax continued in its present form.

COLOGNE BOXING.

First of a Series of Fortnightly Competitions.

AT CENTRAL Y.M.C.A.

The first of a series of fortnightly boxing competitions under Imperial Services Boxing Association Rules, and organised by the P. and R.T. branch, G.H.Q., is being held at the Y.M.C.A. Central, Friesen Strasse, Cologne, on Friday and Saturday. Doors on each evening will be open at 16.45 hours, and boxing commence at 17.30 hours. Reserved tickets may be purchased at the Amusements Office, Komodien Strasse, while ordinary tickets will be obtainable at each performance. British ladies will be admitted when accompanied by gentlemen.

There is no dearth of boxing talent in the Rhine Army, and in certain units there has of late been a marked boom in this branch of sport. Consequently it goes almost without saying that the shows will provide plenty of excellent sport, and that some sparkling bouts will be staged.

All lovers of boxing should make a point of being present at the first competitions.

There are 81 entries up-to-date including 29 in the light-weight competitions, 19 in the bantams, and 15 in the feathers.

A POOR DISPLAY.

Plested declares Wells "would not fight."

Considerable interest surrounded the meeting of Billy Wells, of Bermondsey, and Kid Plested, of Tipton, at The Ring in a contest of 20 3-min. rounds. At the weighing-in earlier in the day Wells scaled 10st. 4lb. and Plested 10st. 6¼lb.

The bout, which was the principal item of a long programme, was very disappointing, and Plested retired at the end of the seventh round, when he was cautioned by the referee for holding. He appeared to be disgusted, and shouted out that he wished to retire because Wells "would not fight." Both men did a lot of holding, but the Midlander was the chief offender, and deserved to be disqualified. Wells, however, gave a poor display, and unless he changes his ways and stands up, and boxes instead of doing so much showy defensive work, he will lose favour with the public, and that means the loss of his living.

COUNTY CRICKET.

Important Resolutions by Advisory Committee.

PAYMENT OF PLAYERS.

At a meeting of the Advisory Committee at Lords the M.C.C., all the first-class counties and the Minor Counties' Association were represented. The proceedings were private, and at the end of the meeting the following information was supplied:—

PAYMENT OF PRO'S.

With regard to the payment of professionals in county cricket it was agreed after a very long discussion that each county should be left to make its own arrangement.

It was moved by Worcestershire and carried that Public School cricketers, after leaving school, should be qualified for three years for the county in which their school is situated.

It was moved by Sussex and carried that all who have served during the war in his Majesty's Forces, or are now serving, shall be eligible to play for a county within twelve months of taking up residence, provided that such residence is taken up within twelve months of demobilization.

PLAYERS' PLEDGE.

It was moved by Yorkshire and carried that in representative matches at home, tours abroad, and festival and other matches organised by county clubs, no player who does not pledge himself to assist his county when required shall be invited to take part in such matches.

With regard to the hours of play in county matches it was agreed to revert to pre-war arrangements, an extra half-hour, however, being allowed on the third day if there be a chance of a definite result.

A general agreement was come to as to the payment of umpires.

With regard to a suggestion to keep an England side in existence it was ruled that this could not be done next year, but the proposal would be borne in mind in view of the future.

The resolutions passed will have to be confirmed by the M.C.C. Committee.

THE DAVIS CUP.

The British lawn tennis team which is to oppose Australasia in the Davis Cup competition at Sydney has arrived. All are well.

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

B.R.A.D.C. CHRISTMAS PRODUCTION.

History of "The Knight of the Burning Pestle."

As already announced in these columns, the British Rhine Army Dramatic Company are producing at Christmas, "The Knight of the Burning Pestle," and appended will be found a history of the play, which made its first appearance in 1613.

The first edition of "The Knight of the Burning Pestle" appeared in quarto form in 1613.

SOURCES.

There can be little doubt that "The Knight of the Burning Pestle" owes direct literary allegiance to Don Quixote. The spirit of Cervantes' romance is seen in the conception of Ralph, and follows him through all his adventures. More especially is the influence of Cervantes to be traced in Ralph's overthrow of the Surgeon-Barber in Act III., Scene iv., which was, in all probability, suggested by the victory of Don Quixote over the barber with the enchanted helmet in the first part of Don Quixote.

In like manner, Ralph's arrival at, and conduct in, "The Bell Inn," which he takes for a castle, recalls the adventures of Don Quixote in the inn at the outset of his chivalrous career. May we not also detect in Susan, the Cobbler's daughter of Milk Street, a reminiscence of the immortal Donna, Dulcinea del Toboso, so skilful in salting hams? Further, in the Spanish romance and the English play we have the same playful satire, directed against the high-flown and extravagant books of chivalric adventure.

THE TITLE.

The title, "The Knight of the Burning Pestle," seems to have been taken from that of a play which is mentioned in the list of those acted at the Court revels in 1579.

The device of introducing the comments of the spectators for the development of the play is to be found in Ben Jonson's "Every Man Out of his Humour," though here the remarks made, serve to express the author's own ideas of dramatic criticism, and no satiric humour is intended.

Of the class of plays dealing with extravagant adventure with which "The Knight of the Burning Pestle" burlesques, it is Heywood's four "Prentices of London," which Beaumont and Fletcher single out for the special butt of their ridicule. It deals with the impossible adventures of the four apprentices, who joined Robert, Duke of Normandy on his Crusade, and who are wrecked at sea, and cast upon different shores. One of the four brothers, Eustace, is a grocer's apprentice, and declares upon setting out on his adventurous career:

"For my trade's sake, if good success I have,
The grocer's arms shall on my ensign wave."

The adventures of Ralph at the Court of Moldavia are a burlesque upon the very similar adventures of Eustace's brother Guy, at the Court of the King of France.

FAVOURED PLAYS.

Plays of this sort must have won favour with the citizens of London, and above all with their apprentices, so that the satire of "The Knight of the Burning Pestle" is directed against the public that favoured such plays, as well as against the dramatists that wrote them. Here and there the satire seems to be levelled at Shakespeare himself.

Thus Ralph's quotation in the Induction from Hotspur's well-known speech in Henry IV., Part I, Act. I, Sc. III., is of this nature, and the authors seem to have overlooked the fact that Shakespeare himself intended this speech to be mere bluster. Further, Humphrey's words in Act. II, Sc. I., as Professor Koppel points out.

"Good-night, twenty good-nights, and twenty more,
And twenty more good-nights—that makes three score"

are very much like a parody on the words of Romeo:

"Good-night, Good-night! parting is such sweet sorrow,
That I shall say good-night till it be morrow."

PLACE IN ELIZABETHAN DRAMA.

In its happy blending of pure comedy with the mock heroic and the burlesque, "The Knight of the Burning Pestle" holds a unique place in the field. In the trenchant, though genial satire, of the play we see a double-edged sword at work, dealing blows at one moment at the extravagant romantic plays of Heywood and his fellows; at another, at the tyranny exercised upon play-wrights by the dunce-critics of the London shops.

The literature of the period is full of references to the habit adopted by Court gallants of taking up seats upon the stage itself at a time of a performance, and of interrupting the course of the play by untimely remarks. From the drama before us it would seem that the wealthy London citizen had also begun to play this privilege (which might be procured for an extra sixpence), and threatened to exert a tyranny over the stage-representations of the time.

REASON FOR RIDICULE.

It was with the purpose of checking this abuse that the authors now held up to ridicule the Citizen and his Wife. Their total lack of appreciation, their ill-judged sympathies and grotesque demands become in turn an object of scathing satire, and though from references in the Prologue to the printed editions of 1635, it would seem that the London citizens resented this satire, yet it doubtless had a salutary effect.

But our interest is not wholly in the satire of the play; the romantic parts are admirably constructed, given as a plot, which in mastery of execution challenges Ben Jonson's best, while the character of Merrythought, with his blithe, careless laughter, gives to the play all the joyousness and light-heartedness of youth.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Thurs.	Cav. Rusticana Der Bajazzo	Mascagni Leoncavallo	7	9.45
Fri.	Der Wildschütz	Lortzing	7	10
Sat.	Merry Wives of Windsor	Nicolai	7	10.30
Sun.	Meistersinger von Nürnberg	Wagner	5	10.30
Monday	No Performance
Tuesday	No Performance

INTERNATIONAL TRIALS.

Arrangements for England v. North and South Matches.

At a meeting of the F.A. International Selection Committee, presided over by Mr. J. C. Clegg, it was decided to play two international trial matches—England v. The South, and England v. The North. The dates will be fixed and grounds selected on Dec. 22.

It was also decided to play an amateur international trial match, North v. South, ground and date to be chosen later.

A request from the Army F.A. for the F.A. to send a team to Aldershot on Dec. 17, to play the Army F.A. team, was agreed to, and the team was chosen as follows:—

Hampton (Chelsea);
J. S. F. Morrison (Cambridge University);
A. E. Knight (Portsmouth) (captain);
Gregory (V) (Watford);
Wilding (Chelsea);
Grimsdell (Tottenham Hotspur);
Rutherford (Arsenal);
R. W. Sloley (Corinthians);
Broad (Millwall);
Bliss (Tottenham Hotspur);
R. W. Gander-Dower (Casuals).
Reserves (to travel): Voisey (Millwall), Edmonds (Watford).

'VARSITY RUGBY.

The King and Prince Henry at Queens Club.

At Queen's Club on Tuesday, Cambridge beat Oxford by seven points to five.

The King and Prince Henry were present, arriving before the start and remaining until the finish. They were enthusiastically received by a crowd of 12,000 spectators.

The captains of the rival teams were presented to His Majesty. The Oxford pack started to heel and hook in fine style while behind the scrum Loudounshand did great ground gaining work. Cambridge rushed their opponents the length of the field to end a scramble under the dark blues goal. Lewis shortly afterwards kicked the goal as a result of a penalty. Oxford pressed and Jenkins, getting the ball from some tight play, put in a splendid drop kick, which hit the cross bar. In taking the rebound Walldock knocked on. Half time: Cambridge 3; Oxford 0.

Three minutes from the re-start, Crole made a short clever run, and, eluding the opposition, scored. Havard converted. Shortly afterwards Walldock retired, and for the rest of the game Oxford played a man short. Cambridge went away with a fine rush, at the end of which Smallwood dropped a brilliant goal which again put them ahead. Oxford continued to have rather the better of matters for a time, but towards the close Cambridge forwards played up splendidly and a fine exciting game ended in a victory for Cambridge by a dropped goal and a penalty goal to a placed goal.

FOOTBALL DECISIONS.

How Huddersfield Can Avert Removal to Leeds.

At a meeting of the Management Committee of the Football League it was decided in connection with Huddersfield Town club that if the £25,000 pounds owing to the brothers Crowther was not raised by Dec. 31st, consent should be given for the removal of the club to Leeds.

Fulham, who were fined two hundred pounds for failing to fulfil an engagement with Bristol City on Sept. 27th, asked for a reduction, and it was decided to reduce the fine by one hundred.

YACHT RACING.

Sir Thomas Lipton, interviewed at Southampton on his return from America, said that that it was hoped the America Cup race would be sailed at the end of June, or in July at the latest. It was at present uncertain whether the yachts "Vanity" or "Resolute" would defend the cup but in all probability "Resolute" will be selected.

Sir Thomas will return to America at the end of March.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE IN A NUTSHELL.

New Hurdle Recruits.
Jazz, Far East, and War Emblem are being schooled over hurdles, and will shortly join Killalee's team at Epsom.

Carslake's Destination
Carslake's destination when he sails on the 15th is California, not Australia, as stated.

F. A. Councillor.
Mr. H. Thompson (Dulwich Hamlet) has been elected to the London F. A. Council in place of Mr. A. Emery (Penge).

Martin Retires.
J. H. Martin, the jockey, has decided not to apply for a renewal of his licence next season.

Bad Luck.
"Tich" Mason, who had his thigh broken by the fall of South Lodge at Liverpool, is going on very well, but it is extremely doubtful if he will ever ride again.

Present Day Surpluses.
In these days of high prices there is no telling what winners of selling races are going to make. Rosy Picton could have been bought at Birmingham for 50gs, but she did reach that reserve, and it was lucky for Mr. Long that she did not, as she earned the Birmingham sportsman 120gs as half the surplus accruing from the sale of Mundola at Nottingham.

King Ebor for Gore.
King Ebor has left Newmarket for Findon, to be trained by Gore.

Moody at the Ring.
The young Pontypridd welter-weight Frank Moody, will again be seen at The Ring next Saturday evening, when he is due to meet Joe Attwood, of Halesowen, in the "special" of 20 3-min. rounds.

King's Jockey Better.
Herbert Jones, the King's jockey, is now pronounced by his doctor to be quite recovered from his recent illness. It has been arranged for him to start for Switzerland on Saturday next, and he will join Skeats Martin in St. Moritz.

Unsound.
Fleeting Peace is far from sound in front, and though he opened an odds-on chance for the Birstall Handicap Steeplechase, he started 6 to 4 against. This was due to the fear on the part of his owner-rider that he would break down.

Railway Arrangements.
The London and South-Western Railway Company will make the necessary arrangements at the Christmas meeting or the delivery of all horses to the fiding at Kempton Park, where they will be unboxed and reboxed after the meeting.

Retained.
Serban, after winning the Town Hurdle, was retained for 250 guineas.

Alf Craig Beaten.
Alf Craig, of Aldgate, was outpointed by Jim Falcus, of Newcastle, in a twenty round contest at Newcastle.

Refused.
The Last refused at the ditch in the Broxhills Steeplechase, and Royal Aid fell three fences from home.

For Hurdles.
Trespasser, bought by Mr. P. Heybourn at the Newmarket Sales last week, has been sent to J. M. Bell, the Epsom trainer, to be schooled over hurdles.

Trio Arrive.
Plymouth Rock, Merry Din, and Lady Peg, the property of Mr. J. Buchanan, bought at the recent Newmarket sales, have arrived at F. Darling's place at Beckhampton to be trained for their future engagements.

Bantams Meet.
The chief event at The Ring next Monday afternoon will be a contest between the well-known bantam-weights Alf Mansfield, of Aldgate, and Billy Eynon, of Merthyr, who are matched to box 20 3-min rounds for £50 a side at 8st 6lb, weighing in at 10 o'clock on the morning of the contest.

Easy Winner.
So easily did The Settler win that he should soon again be found picking up a race for Mr. G. W. Smith.

A Tedious Journey.
Sam Temple, who finished second to Hagiology, was 15 hours in his box on the journey to Leicester.

A New Stud.
Mr. Stewart Gates, who is starting a racing stud at Epsom, bought Fleeting Peace after winning for 150 guineas.

Above His Class.
Smashaway, who was backed to beat Wavertree at Leicester, is an Irish horse. He ran prominently, but was meeting a horse above his own class.

Hagiology.
Hagiology, who was unfortunate recently at Birmingham, led from start to finish at Leicester. He is a good young horse.

New N. F. Members.
A meeting of the National Hunt Committee was held in London when Lord Stanley and Baron F. de Tuyll were elected members of the committee.

A New Addition.
A new addition to J. Woodman's team at Yelverton is Avezzano, who beat Farm Gamp in a canter at Newbury and was sold for a big sum at Newmarket last week.

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

Course.

One of the favourite songs in most of the Rhineland cafés is "Drinking." Very appropriate, I think.

Showing the Way.

The lamp-post in the centre of the square facing the Monopol Hotel bears no less than seven direction boards. Its usefulness must have been appreciated by thousands.

Xmas Trees.

These are now on sale in the street markets and the prices to us must make fathers think, when they recall the price of these trees in Blighty.

Front Platforms only.

If you are tempted to take a bulky package into a tramcar, don't. The latest G.R.O. says that these may only be carried on the front platform.

Mystery Play.

Rehearsals for the Christmas Mystery Play at the British Empire Leave Club are in full swing, although the chorus is not yet up to full strength. Roll up and hand your names in, enterprising vocalists and instrumentalists.

For the Kindern.

One German I know is making a puppet show for the children's amusement on Christmas day. He has spent quite a lot of time on it already. This is a favourite amusement of the German kiddies.

Hustle.

Every day at two o'clock outside a Cologne newspaper office, a crowd of men and women assembles, many with bicycles. The 2p.m. edition is snapped up red-hot from the press, the crowd eagerly study the "situations vacant" column, and a likely looking berth being noted, a dash awheel is made for it.

Call and see Them.

Will readers please note that we are unable to send prices and samples of our Christmas cards through the post, but a selection can be seen at the Bookshop in Hohe Strasse or at the "Cologne Post" Offices, Marzellen Strasse.

After Dainties.

That Tommy appreciates a good thing is particularly noticeable by the constant procession to be seen awaiting their turn for some of the N.A.C.B. pastries, at almost any hour of the day.

A Multiplying Family.

Apropos a visit to the Stapelhaus, it is as well to take some of the heartrending tales given by the coming generation of Cologne, with a pinch of salt. One urchin informed me that his mother had three young children to provide for, and the next day, not recognising me, added three more to the quota.

Not in Full Flood.

The boathouse, which broke from its moorings at Rodenkirchen, when the Rhine was in flood, has come to a stop just below the Hohenzollern Bridge. Though the Rhine was high, it is not yet in full flood, and will not be till about April next.

A Silly Practice.

The practice of alighting while a tram is in motion, is a very dangerous one. I believe that before the war, it was an offence punishable by a fine of sixty marks.

Opera Fashions.

I notice quite a number of ladies now wearing a scarf of bright colours over their hair, instead of a hat. The effect is quite pleasing.

Their Style.

I noted a civilian the other evening smoking a cigar which was held in a holder made like a pipe. The end of the weed was about nine inches from his mouth. These are fairly common in Germany, I'm told, especially in the country districts.

Searchlight Effects.

The effects produced by the searchlight that operates on the eastern bank of the Rhine by night, between the Suspension and the Sud bridges, would delight the heart of an impressionist artist, as it sweeps up and down the river. It also gives an added sense of security.

Peace Conditions.

There had been a bit of a scrap in the barrack room, and several men were brought before the O.C. with bruised faces. "How on earth did you get battered like that?" he asked. "Please sir," replied the sergeant in charge, "there was some discussion last night on the peace terms."

Not Flattered.

At a dinner party of officers in a Cologne resort the other night a subaltern known to some of them blew in unexpectedly and got a very warm welcome. "Why was everyone so glad to see me?" he asked a major sitting next to him. "Well, to tell the truth, if you hadn't luckily turned up there'd have been thirteen at table."

Interested.

Costume dances were, before the war, very popular in Germany, I believe. I attended one the other night, and the people in my billet took quite an interest in the costume I proposed wearing.

Tommy's Weakness.

Tommy is notoriously weak when dealing with the kiddies. A friend invites my opinion of something dear to the heart of the younger generation at this season. He wants it for a juvenile member of the house where he is billeted.

All to be Had.

There is no end to the variety of papers and books to be seen at the bookshop in Hohestrasse Arcade. Such diverse papers as "L'Illustration" to a copy of "The Wipers Times" are to be had. The latter publication will be remembered as an example of printing in adverse circumstances.

Stores Hours.

The Navy and Army Stores in the Obenmarspforten, are open from 10-1 and 2-7. Please note.

Draught Beer.

Referring to the letter in a recent issue, I am informed that draught beer may be obtained at the N. A. C. B. Stapelhaus on the Ufer, and that the reason that it is not more plentiful is because of the shortage of barrels. At present it is only sent out under the compact that all barrels must be returned to the brewers.

RHINELANDER.

THE LIGHTER SIDE.

OTHER 'OLOGIES TO LEARN.

Phyllis was a sweet young miss just home from college. "Well, mother," quoth she, "even now that I have graduated my work isn't finished. I must now study psychology, philology, Bibli——"

"Just wait a minute!" said her mother, in kindly, firm tone. "I have arranged for you to take a thorough course in roastology, boilology, stitchology, darnology, and general domesticology. Just put on that apron and begin peeling those potatoes!"

NOTHING NEW TO HIM.

The two lads from the country had seen lots of sights during their trip to town, but they were still ready for more.

One of them noticed a sign outside a shop which bore the one word, "Chiropodist."

"H', Bill," said one, "what is a "churropodist?"

"Why," replied Bill, "don't ye know as a 'churropodist' is a man that teaches canaries to whistle?"

A CHAMELEON MIND.

Odd how one's clothes react on one's mentality. Now, when I'm wearing a business suit, I'm all business; when I'm in evening dress social matters occupy my attention, and when I'm in golf togs I don't think of anything but the game. And I suppose when you take a bath your mind's an utter blank.

A WHITE ELEPHANT.

"I wonder, Lady Mary," said the curate "if you would take a few tickets for a raffle we are getting up for a poor fisherman who has recently lo t his wife?"

"Why, yes," replied the charitable Lady Mary. "I shall be pleased to. But—er—what is one supposed to do with the poor fisherman if one wins him?"

CONSISTENCY.

"Geordie, Geordie," exclaimed one bucolic gentleman more in sorrow than in anger to another, "dae ye mind what ye said when the war was on?"

"What did I say?"

"Says you, 'Gin I see a shop selling German goods efter this I'll break its windaes,' yet here ye are playing a German melodeon."

"Na, na, John, I'm no playin' it; I'm knockin' the deevil out o' it."

THE MILITARY HAIR-CUT.

A grizzled individual in a captain's uniform came into the hairdresser's. "Hair-cut," he said in gruff tones.

"How would you like it cut, sir?" the barber asked.

The captain, who was baldish, answered more gruffly than ever: "Line up the hairs and number off to the right. Odd numbers each want half an inch. Dress smartly with bay rum and brilliantine. Then dismiss."

NO CHANGE.

Father (very severely): "Now, look here, Jenny, you must not encourage that young man to stay so late every night. It is simply disgraceful. What does your mother say about it?" Jenny: "She says men have not altered a bit, dad!"

FROM EVERYWHERE.

The Lancashire Boom. — Four more cotton mills have changed hands.

Can we Spare it? — Sweden wants to buy 100 000 tons of British steam coal.

Silk Hat Boom.—A revival is setting in in the silk hat industry.

Disdains Cigarettes.—A Willesden lady has smoked pipes for many years.

Seeing The Beasts.—The King has visited the cattle show at Islington.

Still Turbulent.—Fresh outrages are reported from Cairo.

More Blunt Truths.—Lord Fisher's book, "Records," is now published.

Silver's Value.—Silver is now worth 6s. 2d. an ounce.

Where age Wins.—Mr. Walter Winans says old men are the steadiest shots.

Fabulous.—Some Grimsby skippers are said to be earning £7,000 a year.

The Distinction.—Mrs. James Harley, of Bradford, aspires to be the first English-born woman M.P.

In a Workhouse. — For over a year a Mons hero has been in Newington Workhouse, suffering from shell shook.

The Home of Mascots. — A monkey, mascot of a submarine, has been added to the London Zoo collection.

Fed up. — Some of the pigs at Smithfield Cattle Show weigh a quarter of a ton.

Sack the "Cuthberts!" — Government women clerks ask that "Cuthberts" should make room for the disabled.

New Style Protection.—Shareholders of the Army and Navy Stores have formed a Protection Association.

Coming. — The Cabinet will shortly make a statement as to better old age pensions.

Changing its Mind. — The Seed Trade Association has rescinded a resolution not to trade with Germany for five years.

Who Will Collect? — Life assurance workers have been advised by their union to prepare for a strike.

Disconcerting.—Christmas Day will not be regarded as a holiday in French boarding schools.

And Still Growing.—Fifty-one Whitley Councils represent over four million workers.

Lord Grey's Future. — The report that Lord Grey is returning from Washington is denied.

A Revival.—At Eton on St. Nicholas Day, the mediaeval custom of performing a miracle play was revived.

New Prelate.—The Bishopric of Bradford has been offered to Archdeacon Browse of Plymouth.

Trams Collide.—Two London trams collided in Mare Street, Hackney, and ten people were injured.

Big Fire.—Birmingham has had a big fire. A furniture warehouse was ablaze and four firemen were injured.

Gambling in Food.—France has a big food scandal to investigate. An enormous system of fraud is alleged

Made in Britain.—Great Britain exported £34,000,000 worth of manufactured goods last month.

Joining Lenin.—The German Independent Socialists have decided to join the Bolshevists.

Stopping Trains.—Further passenger trains are being cancelled in France through lack of coal.

Ireland's Disorder.—Secret societies for conducting war on the Government are springing up all over Ireland.

North Sea Mines.— America claims to have laid 56,000 mines in the North Sea barrage, and the British Navy 13,000.

Re-assuring.—According to Sir A. Geddes, British export figures are moving in the right direction.

To Catch the Rodents.—The Bucks County Council ratcatcher has been provided with a motor cycle.

Cheerless.—Complaint is made that railway waiting rooms at home are without fires.

Value of Publicity.—Morecambe is raising a fund of £2,000 for advertising purposes.

Lower Deck Luxury.—Armchairs for bluejackets are among the Admiralty's new concessions to the fleet.

In the City.—Germans released from internment are re-establishing themselves in London.

Assisting the Poles.—Over one hundred applications for commissions in the Polish Army have been received.

The Latest.—After bare backs we are to have bare knees. This is the latest French fashion.

Touching. — A R.N.R. Lieutenant was described in the Divorce Court as a good looking man with blue eyes and curly hair.

Shiver Strike Threat.—Ministry of Supply Clerks employed at Alexandra Palace threaten to strike because of inadequate heating.

Huge Sums.—Mr. Henry Frick, the American steel magnate, leaves £5,000,000 for philanthropic purposes and £5,000,000 for his wife and daughter.

Devoid of Truth.—Jonah and the whale is a mythical comedy according to a professor of literature at Chicago University.

NOTES FROM LONDON TOWN.

CHRISTMAS CARDS.

There are signs, says Dr. Terry, Director of Music at Westminster Cathedral, of a revival in carol singing, and the arrangements of the League of Arts to go from house to house in medieval costumes carrying lanterns on poles, should give the carol the fresh impetus it deserves. Of course most of the best carols have in process of time become modernised into something better than "Christmassy" sentimentalities sung to feeble hymn tunes. The real old carol embodying curious legends, such as "The Cherry Tree Carol"; the familiar "I saw three ships come sailing by"; and "God rest you, Merry Gentlemen," is a thing of genuine literary merit. But the wishy-washy variety will always be with us, while ragged little boys continue to haunt our door-steps singing two lines of the one and only carol they know, ready to bolt the moment we show signs of our displeasure.

CANADA'S WOODEN MONEY.

It will surprise many to learn that all over the vast area of Canada in which the trappers for the Hudson Bay Company operate, a wooden currency still circulates in the form of a coinage consisting of pieces of wood known as "castors," which are stamped with a die. These are accepted everywhere within that territory as cash, and are exchangeable for all sorts of supplies and commodities at the widely scattered stations of the Corporation. Over all of this region the Corporation virtually exercises a complete domination, employing the native Indians, chiefly Ojibiways and Crees, to collect the furs which furnish its revenue. In calculating the respective value of the spoils brought in by the trappers, the unit value is a beaver skin. Two martens are reckoned as equal to one beaver, and twenty muskrats as equivalent to one marten.

THE CENOTAPH.

The question of the permanent site of the Cenotaph continues to excite comment on public platforms and in letters to the press. Mr. Kennedy Jones, Chairman of the Advisory Committee on London Traffic, would like to see the Cenotaph moved from Whitehall because in his view its present site makes it a danger to the safety of the public. Most people, however, do not share this opinion, and cannot see how it is more dangerous than, say, the Griffin in the Strand. After all, people will not forever be seen standing round the base reading inscriptions on floral tributes. This is a merely passing event, and ought not to be regarded as a sufficent reason for moving the Monument from a place with which it will now always be associated in the public mind.

CHARLES I's NIGHT-CAP.

The imagination generally conjures up Charles I as a right kingly person, who in spite of his unconstitional vagaries, could not but command respect as a man. Hence I, for one, cannot reconcile my mind to the idea that His Majesty went to bed with a night-cap—I do not mean that kind with which Mr. Jorrocks used to celebrate any and every occasion,—but the nocturnal head-gear. Yet this is the fact for at Rushbrooke Hall near Bury St. Edmunds there is to be an auction this week of various interesting relics including "a leather-covered clothes chest of King Charles I containing two cambric day shirts, and a night-cap." It is to be hoped the buyer will sleep in it with an easy conscience, for its royal owner must have had many uneasy nights in it.

SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER.

I see "She Stoops to Conquer" is being revived at the Old Vic this week. A comedy 150 years old that will stand revival must at least have a first rate plot, and certainly the idea of a comely girl "stooping" to the manners and condition of a barmaid in order to conquer the bashfulness of the man she fancies, is one full of possibilities. But apart from this, the play has numerous lines that have become proverbial such as "Ask me no questions, and I'll tell you no fibs," and "People are generally calm at the misfortunes of others." But over and above these things it is the essential womanliness of Miss Hardcastle, in spite of her "stooping" that makes this fine old play.

BOLSHEVIST HOURS OF LABOUR.

I have seen telegrams in London from the best informed Russian circles stating that in Petrograd the Bolshevist Commissaries have just introduced a compulsory eleven-hour day for factory hands with the object of securing more supplies for the Reds. This looks something like conscription of labour and is certainly an excellent corroboration of the reports made to the Russian Liberation Committee in London of the extraordinary tyranny of the Soviet taskmasters, who seem to think that the State machinery has got into their hands for the purpose of giving them a good time at the expense of the ignorant or helpless.

CHRISTMAS BOXES.

I see that Holloway postmen have decided not to ask for or take proffered Christmas boxes. Unlike Hosea Biglow's politician, their "course is steadied by princerples", but I am afraid Boxing Day will see most of the old parasites swallowing principles and "going baldheaded for that which pays the best." After all Christmas time is not the best for scrutinising the ethics of gratuities too closely, and I for one would not miss that wonderful wave of politeness which sweeps over all and sundry in the last fortnight of December. It is a time when he of the rusty bowler is entitled "Sir." The newer bowler gets an obeisance in addition, while the top hat is "My Lord" at the very least. Surely titles at 6d. or 1/- are even cheaper than usual.

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O.S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

XMAS CARDS. Rhineland souvenir series, one mark each at the "Cologne Post" Book Room, The Arcade, Hohe Strasse.

NATURAL AMBER NECKLACES etc. at lowest prices. Write for samples. Apply to A 427 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

SECOND HAND prismatic binoculars Zeiss-Goerz, Busch & Voigtländer for sale at Blumenfeld, Balthasarstr. 24, near Deutscher Ring.

PRECIOUS BLUE FOX fur and muff in good condition for sale half the value. Blumenthalstrasse 23 III.

PHOTO HOUSE and camera repairing works. Aug. Lang, mechanician of precision. Kl. Neugasse 9/11. Always bargains in second-hand binoculars Zeiss-Goerlz, Voigtländer & Leitz.

"WONDERFUL" Barsur" (Russian-Irish wind-dog) lovely, faithful animal, 1½ years old is to be sold." Apply to A 431 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S 40.

SMALL stock of tooth and hair brushes as well as combs and articles of toilets continually for sale. Ludwig Welter, Neumarkt 7. Entrance Caecilienstr.

CHRISTMAS PRESENT. New complete exhibition service crystal Val. St. Lambert. 50 pieces.—M. 2500.—12 coloured artistic wine glasses M. 1500.—as well as other valuable crystal for sale. Ehrenstr. 86 III.

FOR hunters, three-barrelled hammerless gun with aiming telescope for sale on account of the hunting ground being given up. Heinz Zimmermann, Cologne, Neusserstr. 2.

EXCELLENT Piano, oak, pre war well known make, at moderate price. Duisdicker, Boisseréestrasse 12, I. Floor (off Hohenstaufen-Bad.)

VOIGTLANDES - Binoculars 7×50, Busch-Soltuff 12 40, Zeiss 10×50 and 18×50 in splendid condition, a bargain. Pohl, Boisseréestrasse 12, I. Floor (near Hohenstaufen-Bad).

WANTED.

WANTED at once. Artistes, humourous and sentimental, for Impromptu Concert. Apply, with terms, to Corp. Vorley, N.A.C.B. Headquarters, Corpl's Mess. Cologne.

A LADY as nursery governess, to take entire charge of Girl, 4½ years old, of an English Officer remaining in Cologne. Must have some knowledge of German. Write stating age, salary and provious experience to Box No. 100, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

SITUATIONS VACANT.

OFFICER requires immediately experienced Nurse for 16-months old son. Highest wages. Apply personally or in writing to D.A.P.M., Poulheim, near Cologne.

ENGLISHWOMAN wanted daily 2-6.30, as nurse to baby in Officers family. Box 103, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

PERSONAL.

TOMMY. Have you ordered your Xmas cards from the "Cologne Post" Book Room yet? They have a special series of Rhineland cards at one mark each.

LOST.

LOST on Monday a black leather pocket wallet between Monopol and Kronprinz Hotels. Finder rewarded. Box 102 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S 40.

ZEISS-GLASSES

If you want

EYE GLASSES

come to

S. Goldfinger, G.m.b.H.

Hohestr. 88 Optician Hohestr. 88

We test your eyes in specially fitted rooms.

LANGUAGES.

YOUNG German merchant wants lessons in English or exchange against German in the evening after 8 p.m. please apply to Fr. K. Jiktin, 9 Erftstrasse, I. Floor, (off Hansa Ring.)

Diamond, 15 ct. Gold and Enamel Scarf Pin, Irish Guards. £9 10 0.

Diamond and Pearl Fancy Cluster Ring. £27 10 0.

Diamond, Sapphire, Black and White Onyx Sleeve Links set in Palladium. £75 0 0 per pair.

BY APPOINTMENT

Jewellers to His Majesty the King.

CHRISTMAS JEWELLERY

THE Goldsmiths and Silversmiths Company have a comprehensive collection of Jewellery, from which a selection of Christmas Presents can be made. This Jewellery is of highest quality and at the moderate prices charged represents the best value unobtainable.

A Catalogue of Christmas Gifts will be posted free on request.

ONLY ONE ADDRESS.
NO BRANCHES.

THE GOLDSMITHS & SILVERSMITHS COMPANY LTD. with which is incorporated The Goldsmiths Alliance Ltd 1751

112, REGENT STREET, LONDON, W.1.

THE SMARTEST ARMY IN THE WORLD can only keep up its reputation by periodical visits to

The BRITISH MILITARY SHOP

for

Caps, Breeches, Belts, Braces, Lanyards, Badges, Titles, Buttons, Chevrons, Ribbon.

All miniature medals for dress wear in stock including

THE NEW GENERAL SERVICE WAR MEDAL

Patent ribbon bars with any formation of ribbons.

Also

GENUINE ENGLISH LEATHER BOOTS

SHOES & DANCING PUMPS

INSPECTION INVITED

ROBARTS & QUANTOCK

100, HOHESTRASSE, COLOGNE

THE SOUVENIR

A HISTORY IN PROSE AND PICTURE OF THE BRITISH OCCUPATION

A UNIQUE PUBLICATION

The Cologne Post

Xmas Souvenir Number

ON SALE SOON.

LOOK OUT FOR IT.

For Export.

Mincing machines

System Alexanderwerk

FOR SALE.

Apply D. D. 52 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

PELZHAUS WEILLER

FURS

COLOGNE, 4 Rudolfplatz

(Near Opera House) — Refined work English spoken

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 11, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

OUR XMAS SOUVENIR NUMBER. FULL PARTICULARS TO-MORROW.

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

STILL GOING STRONG. OUR FOOTBALL COMPETITION. HAVE YOU TRIED YET?

No. 219. COLOGNE, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

GREAT AUSTRALIAN FLIGHT.

ROSS SMITH'S BRILLIANT ACHIEVEMENT ON ALL BRITISH MACHINE.

OUR NAVAL "WAIT AND SEE" POLICY.

ROSS SMITH WINS.

£10,000 AND THREE DAYS IN HAND.

Captain Ross Smith arrived at Port Darwin (N. Australia) on the 10th December and thus wins the £10,000 prize offered by the Commonwealth Government for a flight from England to Australia. On the last stage of his flight, from Timor, the last of the chain of islands between Java and Australia, cruisers and steamers patrolled the 500-mile stretch of sea.

Immediately the news of his safe arrival in Australia was received in London, the King telegraphed to Captain Ross Smith: "Delighted at your safe arrival. Your success will bring Australia nearer to the Mother Country, and I warmly congratulate you and your crew."

Mr. Lloyd George telegraphed: "Heartiest congratulations. Your flight shows how the inventions of war can advance progress in peace."

The machine with which this great feat was accomplished was of British make and fitted with British engines, and it is noteworthy that the Atlantic flight was achieved with practically an identical aeroplane. It is thus a double victory for British industry.

In the House of Lords yesterday, Lord Montague of Beaulieu referred to the flight and said it might interest the House to know that the time taken was from twenty-four to thirty-six hours less than the fastest journey ever accomplished via Marseilles. The flight marked an epoch in aerial development which even the most sanguine had not anticipated.

Loud cheers were raised in the House of Commons when Mr. Winston Churchill announced the safe arrival of Captain Ross Smith, which were renewed when it was intimated that he was sending official congratulations "on this very remarkable exploit".

The flight to Australia forms a strong feature of the London papers. Editorial and special articles pay striking tributes to Captain Ross Smith's triumph, the value of his pioneer work, and the speeding up of communications between Great Britain and her distant Dominions.

The Atlantic flight is emphasised as a sensational feat but the Australian flight as an enduring performance. The chief value of the flight lies not so much in the fact that Australia has been reached as the greater fact that four continents have been bridged, and demonstrating that practically every overland stage can be made a paying commercial proposition. It is anticipated that with regular relays of pilots and machines the flight from England to Australia is easily practicable in ten days. The necessity of a great effort to develop Imperial air ways is urged, thus securing to Great Britain supremacy in the air.

The following is the time-table of Capt. Ross Smith's flight:

Left.	Arrived.	Date.
Hounslow	Lyons,	Nov. 12
Lyons	Rome,	Nov. 14
Rome	Taranto,	Nov. 15
Taranto	Suda Bay (Crete),	Nov. 16
Suda Bay	Cairo,	Nov. 17
Cairo	Damascus,	Nov. 18
Damascus	Ramadie,	Nov. 19
Ramadie	Basra,	Nov. 20
Basra	Bushire,	Nov. 22
Bushire	Bunder Abbas,	Nov. 23
Bunder Abbas	Karachi,	Nov. 24
Karachi	Delhi,	Nov. 25
Delhi	Allahabad,	Nov. 27
Allahabad	Calcutta,	Nov. 28
Calcutta	Akyab,	Nov. 29
Akyab	Rangoon,	Nov. 30
Rangoon	Bangkok,	Dec. 1
Bangkok	Singora,	Dec. 1
Singora	Singapore,	Dec. 4
Singapore	Java,	Dec. 6
Java	Timor,	Dec. 9
Timor	Port Darwin,	Dec. 10

CONDITIONS OF THE FLIGHT.

One of the conditions of the award is that pilots and crew must all be of Australian nationality, in accordance with the laws of the Australian Commonwealth, and the complete aircraft and all its component parts must have been entirely constructed within the confines of the British Empire.

A further condition is that only one aircraft may be used throughout the flight, but repairs and certain replacements of parts may be made en route.

The next great flight is expected to be from London, via Cairo, to Capetown, for which preparations have been in the making for many months in Africa.

PASTOR CHALLENGED TO DUEL.

At the close of Tuesday's proceedings in the trial of Lieut. Marloh on a charge of having 32 sailors shot, Captain von Kessel, according to the Berlin papers, sent two lieutenants to Pastor Rump challenging him to a duel with pistols under the severest conditions. Pastor Rump has informed the chief Public Prosecutor of the incident.

On Monday the Esthonian delegates to the Dorpat Conference, demanded simply an armistice, but the Bolshevists replied that they could treat only for Peace.

NAVY ESTIMATES.

HOME WATERS CLEARED OF MINES.

The revised Navy Estimates were before the House of Commons yesterday, when Mr. Walter Long, First Lord of the Admiralty, gave some interesting details concerning mine sweeping.

The British portion of mine clearing in Home waters is now complete. In this area 59,065 square miles have been twice swept and a large portion three times. Eleven thousand mines discovered in sixty fields were cleared during hostilities so thoroughly that the post-war clearance of this area provided only seventy-four mines. Thirty-three per cent. of the 75,302 mines sown by the British Navy have been cleared. In all this difficult and dangerous work the loss of life has been only. 06 per cent, although 23,000 moored mines have been swept up in Home waters alone.

There must be a reduced Navy, said the Minister, but the reduction must be gradual. Neither the Board of Admiralty nor the Government had any intention of making such a reduction as to place us in a position of insecurity, and they were both agreed in declining to state a policy until they knew what the new conditions of the world were likely to be.

SIBERIAN REVOLT.

GAIDA'S VERSION OF THE TROUBLE.

Gaida, the Czecho-Slovak leader who was recently deported from Vladivostock, reached Shanghai on the 3rd December. Interviewed by Reuter's correspondent on arrival, he declared that though he was a sympathiser with the revolutionaries at Vladivostock he had held aloof and had maintained strict neutrality.

On the 16th November, he said, revolutionaries visited the train on which he was quartered, and elected a Committee as the nucleus of a provisional Government, headed by Yakushoff, President of the Siberian Duma. Gaida was designated Commander-in-Chief.

Suddenly, without any warning, the adherents of Kolchak opened fire from three sides on the partisans of Gaida, who adopted a counter-offensive, but finally surrendered with his men. He estimated that five hundred "revolutionaries" were killed, out of a total force of between one and two thousand, while their opponents, Koltchak's men, were four or five times that number.

Gaida said he was glad to leave Siberia and expressed the opinion that the only policy in the circumstances was to leave Russia to fight its own battles. His sole pre-occupation now is to secure repatriation of his compatriots. He hopes soon to be able to return to Europe via America.

PREMIER'S QUESTION DAY.

In the House of Commons yesterday, when the questions addressed to the Prime Minister were reached, Mr. Bonar Law announced that in consequence of M. Clemenceau's brief visit—three days only—it would be impossible for Mr. Lloyd George to be present in the House as usual on Thursday, as he must keep himself available for discussions with M. Clemenceau. He would, however, answer questions on Monday as well as Taursday next week.

Mr. Norton Griffiths asked whether it would be possible for the Commons to receive M. Clemenceau in the Chamber, but Mr. Bonar Law stated that he could not anwer that question.

VIENNA'S DESPERATE PLIGHT.

The latest telegrams from British sources in Vienna snow that the position is desperate and calls for grave consideration on the part of the Allies with a view to rendering assistance. Herr Renner has expressed a desire to go to Paris in order to explain personally to the Supreme Council the gravity of the situation. The matter is one for international action of the widest possible scope. It is proposed that credits of an International character, guaranteed by Allies and Neutrals, be opened not only for Austria but for all the distressed nations of Central Europe.

RE-ENTER EX-KING NICHOLAS.

Ex-King Nicholas has disappeared from Paris, says a message from Belgrade. His agents announce his intention to enter Montenegro with an armed force with the object of re-seizing the throne.

Lady Beaverbrook has declined to become a candidate for Ashton-under-Lyne, because all her time is devoted to the care of her children.

DOUBLE MURDER.

TWO ENGLISHWOMEN STABBED.

A telegram from Boulogne states that the bodies of two Englishwomen, dressed in khaki, have been discovered on the sea shore at Fort Cliffs at Hovault. The discovery was made by two soldiers of a local British camp. The bodies bore a number of knife wounds, and the pockets of the victims had been rifled, the object of the murders being apparently robbery. It is reported that the murderers are in the hands of the British Military Police.

SOUTH RUSSIA.

PROGRESS OF OPERATIONS.

According to telegrams received at the War Office, the situation on the South Russian front on December 5th was as follows:—

After the repulse of the Bolshevik attack on Tzaritsin previously reported, General Wrangel's cavalry carried out a turning movement round the right flank of the Bolsheviks and have now reached the line of the Tishanka River, which flows into the Don 40 miles N.W. of Tsaritsin. The Bolshevik infantry seeing their line of retreat threatened are retiring northwards along the west bank of the Volga, and are now about 30 miles to the north of Tsaritsin.

On the left of the Don Army the Cossack cavalry pursuing their success at Buturlinovka, have now swung sharply to south and south-east against the rear of the Bolsheviks in the neighbourhood of Kalach, and have retaken that town and a series of villages 20 miles to the north along with 2,000 prisoners and 50 machine guns. The 320th Bolshevik Regiment and a Chinese Battalion were annihilated in these operations.

On the Volunteer front Russian cavalry have raided Alexyeevka 40 miles S.W. of Liski, and have taken Biryuch and Verkhesensk to the west and north-west of that place.

On the remainder of the front Bolshevik mounted troops penetrated as far as the line Akhtirka-Lebedin-Romni-Priluki, but their progress south has been checked by counter-attacks.

In the Dnieper Basin north of Kiev the Reds occupied Koselets on the 3rd, but have twice been beaten off in their attacks against Kiev itself.

HOW LIPTON FOUND THE "DOINGS."

Sir Thomas Lipton has returned to England after visiting the Shamrock in America.

Asked his experiences of "dry" America, Sir Thomas remarked that he had no doubt there would be sufficient whisky in America to toast the victorious Shamrock. In every hotel one could see bottles of whisky for private people. "They tell you that you cannot get it for love or money—but they are always able to lead you to it. The policeman will solemnly declare that it is against the regulations, but he can always say how to get it. The hotel porter solemnly informs you that it is against the rules, but adds that he can get a drop for you. Even the taxi driver says it cannot be got, but if you get in his cab he can always take you to a place where you can get it."

IRISH TRAIN WRECKERS.

Reports continue to arrive from Ireland regarding Sinn Fein outrages. The latest news states that a mail train from Limerick dashed into a barrier of stones at Ennis. The engine remained on the rails but the line was blocked for hours.

AGREED WITH HIS ADVERSARIES SLOWLY.

The dispute between the Rev. C. F. Upsdell, Vicar of Moulton, and his choirboys, which began nearly two months ago, when Mr. Upsdell declined to allow the village social club to continue to hold Saturday evening dances in the Church Room because he considered them antagonistic to his spiritual work, has been settled.

Mr. Upsdell has withdrawn his objection, and the dances will be resumed. Efforts are to be made to induce the choir boys, who have abstained from duty for two months, to resume immediately.

EYES CHANGE COLOUR.

In the course of an address at the Bristol Rotary Club yesterday, Mr. W. R. Ocland, a dentist, said he knew a woman one of whose eyes was grey while the other was brown. Two months after the extraction of a front tooth, beneath which there was an abscess, the eyes became of the same colour.

MEDICAL FEES GOING UP.

The Marylebone division of the British Medical Association has advised medical men practising in its district to raise their professional fees by at least 50 per cent. on rates prevailing before the war.

David Trietsch, Jewish statistician, estimates the Jewish population of the world at 15,430,000. Poland has 3,300,000 Ukraine the same, U.S.A. 3,100,000 and Britain 300,000.

T. U. CONGRESS.

COLONEL WARD HOOTED BY DELEGATES.

At yesterday's meeting of the Special Trade Union Congress, Mr. J. H. Thomas gave some interesting details of the interview which took place on Monday between a deputation and the Premier. Regarding the unemployment dole the Premier frankly admitted that the duty of the State was either to find work or provide some means of subsistence for those who were unemployed. The Premier pointed out the paralysing effect of the ironmoulders' strike. On this subject, Mr. Thomas told the Conference that he hoped before the Congress was over, to report some progress by the Parliamentary Committee in bringing together the parties in the dispute. Mr. Thomas added that the Prime Minister had told them that the Government intended to introduce before Christmas a Bill for a comprehensive national scheme of unemployment insurance. The deputation asked the Premier if the policy he outlined in his recent speech in Parliament was that of the Government as a whole. The Premier replied that that was so.

The Congress adopted a resolution to establish a Trade Union General Council in order to assist in the settlement of strikes and to concentrate the whole Trade Union movement in industrial disputes.

Mr. Thomas also said that with reference to the unemployment dole the Premier declared that an overwhelming majority of the unemployed were discharged soldiers, unaffected by its withdrawal. The Congress, however, adopted, with one dissentient, a resolution moved by Mr. Clynes condemning the Government for withdrawing the civil unemployment benefit without making an alternative provision for the unemployed and demanding employment for or maintenance of those affected.

When Colonel John Ward intervened in the debate on Russia he was greeted with hooting, hissing and cries of "traitor" and "renegade." There was prolonged disorder, but Colonel Ward was eventually allowed to speak. He delivered a vigorous denunciation of Bolshevism. The Congress decided to appoint a delegation to enquire into conditions in Russia on the spot, for which purpose passports will be demanded from the Government.

POOR PARSON'S PLEA.

SUMMONED IN A COUNTY COURT.

When the Rev. Alfred Toms, of Hunstanton, was sued at Harlesden County Court for damages and the return of a tithe award, stated to have been taken away when he left the parish of Flixton, the defendant said he took the map away and painted "Lest we forget" across the charity lands marked on it.

These lands, he added, belonged to the poor, but the shooting rights over them had been let without acknowledgment of ownership.

Pointing to the present Vicar of Flixton, one of the plaintiffs, Mr. Toms said: "I have been 40 years ordained, and have no money to pay damages. This man came to me as the Bishop's messenger. He preached a powerful sermon on brotherhood, and here we have an example of it between two clergymen, one a young man of wealth, and the other, who has got nothing, and who hardly earns a guinea a month."

An order was made for the return of the tithe award with costs.

In consequence of his extreme poverty defendant asked to be allowed to pay the costs at 1s. 6d. a month, but the judge ordered 5s. a month to be paid.

NOT EXACTLY A CRIMINAL.

Sentenced at the Old Bailey to twenty months' imprisonment for obtaining money by means of worthless cheques, Nowell Wilfrid Neve, whose father was said to be a public official in Kent, pleaded that he was not a criminal, but lacked will power.

It was stated that at a Regent-street jeweller's, prisoner had obtained a ring, for which he gave a post-dated cheque for £47 5s., which was afterwards dishonoured. He pawned the ring next day for £10. There were four warrants out against him for similar frauds at Bedford, Peterborough, Luton, and Chesham, while seventeen other cases had come to the knowledge of the police of offences he had committed all over the country. He had held a commission in the Northumberland Fusiliers, but had been cashiered for similar offences.

MILNER MISSION IN EGYPT.

Foreign Office telegrams state that the Milner Mission has arrived in Egypt and will at once proceed to take evidence.

Viscount Milner's colleagues are General Sir J. W. Maxwell, Sir J. Rennell Rodd, Brig.-General Sir Owen Thomas, Mr. J. A. Spender, Editor of the Westminster Gazette, and Mr. C. J. B. Hurst, Assistant Legal Advisor to the Foreign Office.

U.S. COAL STRIKE TERMS.

The proposals of the White House for a settlement of the American coal strike are, it is understood, a repetition of the offer of a 14 per cent. increase of wages and the promise of a full investigation into the coal industry.

No immediate settlement of the Mexican crisis is in prospect.

SUMMARY COURT.

REMANDED PRISONER TURNS "KING'S EVIDENCE."

The savage attack on two British soldiers in the vicinity of the Ubier Ring was again before the Court. Eleven men are charged in connection with the assault. Three lawyers were present for the defence, and the usual military guard of two was increased to four while the case was being tried.

Since the previous hearing, one of the accused turned "King's Evidence." He stated that he saw three of the accused in the act of assaulting the soldiers. One of the prisoners hacked at the soldiers with a knife while they were on the ground.

Six of the prisoners were committed for trial to the Military Court, and the charge against the others will be resumed to-day.

A SALUTARY PUNISHMENT.

Frau Albert Schreiber, of Kleingedankstrasse, was charged with making impertinent and insulting remarks, and behaving improperly, towards a British officer.

The officer's evidence was that when requested to billet himself and his soldier servant in her house, the accused refused to find room for the latter and said that the English were no good and that one Englishman in her house was enough.

Subsequently another officer with a knowledge of German interviewed her, and to him she was also insulting in her behaviour, and said that if he talked to her again she would report him to her husband. Her whole demeanour was most insulting.

The Prosecuting Officer said that in his opinion the fact of the matter was that people of the wealthy class did not object to having officers billeted on them but objected to soldiers.

In imposing a fine of 4,000 marks or a month's imprisonment, the Presiding Officer said that not infrequently he had to punish cabmen and the like for impertinence to officers. This was a very bad case and there was no excuse whatever for her most insulting and offensive conduct. Throughout the war the English never shot a woman and always treated women with respect. The next case of the kind that occurred where people in the position of the accused misbehaved themselves, he would send them to prison without the option of a fine.

FORTUNATE YOUNG SCAMP.

Johann Wirges, aged eighteen, residing at Kalk, was found in possession of two tins of benzine and an Army greatcoat.

His father, who appeared at the request of the Presiding Officer, stated that he obtained work for his son but he would not keep it. There were no previous convictions, but he had been in prison several times pending investigations.

The Presiding Officer, stating that he did not wish to send accused to prison where he would be compelled to associate with criminals, discharged him with a caution. He had been in custody for seven days.

A GOOD EXCUSE.

Wilhelm Robbert, of Kalscheuren, near Cologne, was anticipating a happy event in his family circle, and although he was not in possession of a night pass, he went to fetch a nurse at 12.15 a.m.

This was the explanation he gave when charged with "circulating without a night pass" at the hour stated.

The charge was dismissed, the Presiding Officer remarking that his reason for being out was an imperative one. He advised the offender to procure a night pass so that he would be safe if he had occasion to be out another time.

DANTZIG TROOPS.

EXTRA ISSUES OF WARM CLOTHING.

Those readers of the "Cologne Post" who are members of forces which may be despatched to Dantzig, may rest assured that sufficient clothing will be issued to troops quartered there during the winter. This announcement will answer many queries which have reached us on the subject.

Geographically Dantzig is in the temperate zone, (being considerably nearer the Equator than Edinburgh) but notwithstanding this, each man, in addition to the usual winter scale of clothing, will be given a leather jerkin, muffler, Balaclava helmet, a pair of warm gloves, and an additional vest, while sheepskin-lined coats will be provided for guards and sentries.

DIAMOND THIEF'S THREAT.

At the Central Criminal Court yesterday, before the Common Serjeant, Thomas Speedy, 43, engineer, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment with hard labour for breaking a window in the shop of Messrs. R. Barratt (Limited), jewellers, Oxford-street, and stealing a tray of diamond rings. The theft took place in broad daylight on November 21. The prisoner was at once seized and held until the arrival of the police. At the police station he said to the constable who arrested him, "If I had had a shooter I would have done the lot of you in." It was stated that the tray contained diamonds of the value of £1,500. The prisoner had taken from it rings valued at £130.

It was neither Commander Payot nor General Fayolle who favoured us with a visit on Monday. General Payot was really the distinguished visitor.

WAR SENTENCES.

GREAT CLEMENCY SHOWN TO PRISONERS.

In the course of a lengthy statement in the House of Commons regarding the treatment of soldiers sentenced to penal servitude or imprisonment during the war, Mr. Winston Churchill emphasised the clemency with which military offenders had been treated, referring specially to the working of the Army Suspension of Sentences Act, which he said was the most humane measure ever passed in the history of the British Army.

Probably twenty thousand men had received the benefit of this Act. The sentences passed on all soldiers in France at the time of the Armistice had now been reviewed, with the following results. Of the sentences of penal servitude 445 had been reviewed for the first time. Of these there have been forty complete remissions and ninety-six immediate mitigations to lesser punishments. Of these 445, 198 sentences of penal servitude had now been reviewed for a second time and a large reduction effected, 1,207 years out of an aggregate of 1,650 years having been eliminated from the sentences. This second review would in due course be completed, and a similar scale of reductions might be anticipated.

Thus it could be seen that no soldier had been permitted to remain undergoing penal servitude or imprisonment without the most careful enquiry and consideration having been given to his case and the most substantial remission possible having been granted him.

DOCTORS' FEES.

FIFTY PER CENT. INCREASE.

The latest increase in the cost of living is an advance in the fees charged by the medical profession. Acting on the recommendation of the Council of the British Medical Association, local branches all over the country are advising their members to raise their fees, in order to compensate themselves for depreciation in the value of the pound. This week the Marylebone branch, which includes Harley-street, has passed the following resolution:—

"In view of the altered value of money, this meeting of the Marylebone Division of the British Medical Association advises members of the profession practising in the Borough of Marylebone to raise their professional fees by at least 50 per cent. on rates prevailing before the war."

This and similar resolutions by the local branches are not binding upon the members. It is left to each practitioner to decide whether he will adopt the recommendation. Doctors in poor districts, or with a large number of middle class patients, know that increased fees are beyond the means of their patients, and that to charge them would kill their practices.

FUTURE OF GERMAN CABLES.

The United States Senate adopted without debate Senator Borah's resolution requesting President Wilson to transmit copies of all correspondence between the United States and Great Britain relating to the Anglo-Persian agreement. The Senate also passed a Bill authorizing the President to convoke a so-called "International Communication Conference", which is expected to deal with questions concerning the future disposal of ex-German cables.

A LUSTY POULET.

According to La Liberté, M. Poulet, if he reaches Melbourne, will first give a series of exhibition flights in the capital cities of Australia, subsequently flying via Borneo and up the Chinese coast to Japan, whence he returns to India and thence home by his original route. Poulet hopes thus to cover his own expenses and also to assist the widow and children of the airman Vedrines, who was killed while preparing for a world tour.

CLEMENCEAU IN LONDON.

The Italian Foreign Minister Scialoya will confer with Mr. Lloyd George and M. Clemenceau in London. There will be no meeting of the Supreme Council in Paris during M. Clemenceau's absence. It is stated in Paris that the whole question of the Peace Conference and Council, owing to the departure of the American delegation, will be one of the chief subjects of discussion in London.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

Renewed depression characterised the opening, and values further receded, notably in Oils and certain Minings. However, towards midday the tendency became decidedly better, as the result of a sharp recovery in the Paris rate of exchange, which movement evidently anticipated the result of Clemenceau's visit. French five per cents., after fluctuating considerably, closed with a good recovery. Oils and Minings also regained a greater part of their initial losses, and the markets closed steady. There was a keen demand for gold from the Continent and East, the price advancing to 108s 7d. Silver was dearer at 75¼ pence on a few covering purchases. The exchange on Paris opened at 44.50 receded to 42.25 and closed at 44.75. Italy 50.25, Amsterdam 9.95, New York 3.79¾, Germany 187-189, Austria 600-630.

A great Advance in Soap Chemistry

As a result of many years strenuous work in chemical research and its practical application, "Sapon" Soap has been perfected.

It is the greatest advance in the chemistry of Soap since that article was first manufactured.

Ordinary Soap consists of Fat deglycerined and saponified with Caustic Soda.

"Sapon" Soap is derived from Carbohydrates which when treated by the Company's patented process, yield Ammonia, Methylamine, and Trimethylamine. These Nitrogenous compounds are highly emulsifying agents, and do NOT combine with Lime or Magnesia Salts in water, as all fat-derived soaps do. Hence, no "scum" or insoluble lime soap is formed, even in the hardest water when "Sapon" Soap is used.

Dr. Shorter, of Leeds University, says of "Sapon" Soaps:—

"They contain colloids, whose surface activity greatly exceeds that of an ordinary fat soap, and therefore it fulfils in an extremely satisfactory manner the fundamental condition for detergent action."

SKIN DISEASES

The Amines and Amido bodies in "Sapon" Soap are readily soluble in water. They are germicidal but non-injurious owing to their colloid nature. Besides their efficiency as cleansers, they have a wonderfully sedative action.

"Sapon" Soap gives wonderful results in irritable skin diseases, such as Scabies, Eczema, Pruritis, Insect Bites, Acne, etc. The following is the best method of application when it is used for curative purposes,—moisten the Soap, rub it on the part affected and allow it to dry, on.

You will never use old-fashioned Fat Soap once you have used "SAPON" SOAPS and given them a fair trial.

Sole Agents for "Sapon" Soap in Germany

ERIC MORTON & Co.
12, Lutticher Strasse
COLOGNE

SAPON SOAPS LIMITED
Sapon House, London Bridge, E. C. 4, England

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

FLIGHTS LTD

MILITARY TAILORS

LONDON. WINCHESTER. ALDERSHOT.

Owing to military requirements Mr. A. J. R. Lee has been compelled to change his address to

KRONPRINZ HOTEL
(Behind The Excelsior Hotel)

where he will have his usual excellent selection of material, both for Mufti and Uniform, also a stock of Hosiery of the best quality.

LATE OF THE OFFICERS' CLUB No. 1.

SIMPLICISSIMUS
Cabaret and Wine-Room
— Hohestrasse 152—154. —
Daily first-class singing and dancing performances.
Open from 6.30 to 10.45 p.m.
— For Officers and Civilians only. —

CAFÉ BIOSCOP
Breitestr. 58—60. Corner Langgasse.
Near the Empire Leave Club.
Every day 5 o'clock tea with Concert
First Class Ice Creams. Special Tea Room
Concert on Sunday morning.

CHAMBER-MUSIC

6 CONCERTS ON SUNDAYS.
Morning at 11 a.m.
in the Cologne Konservatory Hall.

Association of wind-instrument Players.

1st Concert Sunday, 14th Dec.
with
Fr. HEDWIG MEYER at the piano.

Tickets at the Hall.
Next Concerts: 4th Jan., 8th Feb., 7th and 23rd March, 11th April.

Professional Photographers
buy cheapest through
"HARBERS" RIVAL BRAND
44, Prinz Heinrich Str. Köln-Mülheim Tel. 853
Manfrs. of Photo-printing machines.
Camera studio and all supplies, (papers, plates, chemicals &c.)
Great Bargains in High-class "KODAKS"

The Cologne Post
BOOK ROOM

LARGE STOCK OF BOOKS. ANY BOOK OBTAINED FROM ENGLAND FOR YOU. DAILY-WEEKLY AND MONTHLY. PERIODICALS OF ALL KINDS ON THE TABLES.

SPECIAL LADIES ROOM

THE ARCADE, HOHE STRASSE

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstrasse

Sunday, Dec. 14th 1919, at 6 p.m.

Grand Ballad Concert

ARTISTES:

Lieut. S. E. PERCY
Will Recite "THE HAPPY PRINCE".

ERIC MORGAN
The Well-known English Tenor

MARTHA BRUCH
Mezzo-Soprano

HOWARD FRY
Baritone

ALFRED BARKER
The Brilliant English Violinist

Special Augmented Orchestra under the direction of ALFRED BARKER.

Book at Amusements Office.

KODAK

Wulff & Kleinholz, Hohestr. 112
Cologne
Developing and Printing.
All Photographic work carefully executed.
— Prompt attention. —

Goerz Taro Tenax 9 by 12, with D. A. Dagor lens. Zeiss, Goerz and Voigtländer prismatic glasses.
Good opportunity to purchase.

Funk, Wholesale Photographic Dealer
Köln, Elstergasse 8, near Museum.
'phone B 4484.

EXPANDERS

with 4—10 detachable strands in rubber or steel-springs.

D. JANSEN
CÖLN, Columba Str. 1
(close to Breite Str.)

Souvenirs Jewellery-Watches-Steelware etc. cheapest at
B. Prechner, Cologne, 27 Weidenbach

I offer 50.000 small lamps, multi-coloured, per hundred Mark 42.— loco Halle.

Arnold Gebauer, Cologne
Bismarckstr. 70.

GERMAN, 32 years old, with best connections, knowing French and English, having office and telephone in Cologne, is willing to act as Agent for foreign firms.

Apply to K.N. 1718, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

United Services Masonic Club.

U.S. Masonic Club: is still in existance, all Wasons are heartily welcome on Wednesday and Friday from 6 p.m. for social evenings.

BIG STOCK OF
ELEGANT SWISS EMBROIDERIES
FOR SALE
SPECIALLY SUITABLE FOR PARIS & BRUXELLES
KOOPMANN, BONN.

Directly opposite the Dom and Main Station.
Special House for Amateur Photography
ANDREAS PILLEN
I. COLOGNE, Deichmannhaus, opposite the Dom & Main Station.
II. COLOGNE, Hohenzollernring 70.
Big depot for Ica, Goerz, Zeiss, Ernemann, & Nettel Cameras.
Projectors and Cinema Apparatus.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.

To-night and nightly at 6 p.m.
The first production of
"SINGER OF THE VELD"
By British Rhine Army Dramatic Coy.
A Modern Comedy in 3 Acts,
by Miss INEZ BENSUSAN.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.

To-night and nightly at 8 p.m.,
Mr. ALFRED HURLEY'S
LONDON VARIETY COMPANY
ARTISTES:
Leslie Nancie
ROSS and HANTON
In screaming duologues.
MARGUERITE DE LARA
Prestidigitator.
GERALD WILLIAMS
The Popular Tenor.
WARWICK PRYCE
Entertainer at the Piano from St. George's Hall, London
C. POWELL-EASTBURY
Baritone and Humourist
and
MARJORIE BOWYA
Soprano and Violinist.

No 1 Cinema is now closed.
No: 2 ARMY CINEMA.
(Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.
No: 3 ARMY CINEMA.
(Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.

Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 9 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc.,
Staff Instructor in attendance.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
CINEMA
Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post
Telephones: Military, No. 853. Civil: A 9511.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Friday, December 12, 1919.

RHINELAND AUDIENCES.

We have all followed with some interest probably the letters that have appeared from time to time and particularly within the past weeks on the subject of suitable plays to put before the soldier audiences in Rhineland.

We have discussed the question with a number of officers and men and also with some of those who take an active part by displaying their dramatic talent for the entertainment of the troops, because it is in the interests of all that the recreational amusements provided should, if possible, be just those that will attract the greatest number. The more we can fill our entertainment houses and institutions, the better it is for the welfare and contentment of the soldiers on the Rhine. No other consideration should be allowed to enter into the matter.

The result of these discussions does certainly disclose one thing. There is overwhelming agreement as to the character of the audiences, as compared with those six months ago, for instance, having undergone a change. Here in an editorial capacity we are particularly well able to gauge this by our correspondence. We refer not only to published letters, but the many others which pass through our hands daily. We had seen the gradual change ourselves, but were not sure that the same impression had been made on others.

It is agreed that the types of skilled mechanic, office worker and professional man, specialists generally, have by now availed themselves, in the majority of cases, of demobilization. In their place we have mainly a fine body of young fellows, partly called up at eighteen years of age without special training, or those who have voluntarily re-enlisted for a term of years.

They are splendid fighting material and representative of the average youth one finds in any of the industrial centres of Great Britain. Their interests naturally lie chiefly in the direction of sport and games, the pictures and variety entertainments, such as they flock to in their native music halls or the drama, — exciting or laughable, — that visits their home theatres or public halls.

The soldier of the temporary type gathered into the ranks by the net of war included many men of scholarly attainments, and high social position, even of wealth. These could mostly appreciate a much loftier standard of entertainment than the average soldier of pre-war days or those the Army may now attract permanently.

These considerations may therefore lead to some re-modelling of the earlier ideals in dramatic and musical entertainment, which, while not sinking to any low level, will yet have a more direct popular appeal than some of the productions which attracted packed houses in the past. We would welcome serious and definite opinions from our readers.

KAUTSKY'S REVELATIONS

THE KAISER'S PROCLAMATION PART III.

July 30th. Meanwhile, the Tsar in a telegram to the Kayser, proposed to submit the Austro-Serbian problem to the Hague Conference.

After scribbling some mannerless remarks upon this message, the Chancellor telegraphed to St. Petersburg that the idea of the Hague Conference was out of the question. This telegram from the Tsar was deliberately concealed from the German public.

The Gospel of Hate.

The Kaiser indulged in a lengthy tirade upon England's perfidy and machinations to compass Germany's "encirclement" etc., ending up:—

"All these machinations must now unsparingly be laid bare; the mask of Christian peaceableness must be openly and violently torn from them in public, and this Pharisaical pretence of peace must be pilloried! And our Consuls in Turkey and India, our agents etc., must inflame the whole of the Mohammedan world into a savage uprising against this hated, lying, unscrupulous nation of hucksters. For if we are to bleed to death, England shall at the very least, lose India!"

After throwing out the suggestion that Persia might be the reward of British connivance at an Austro-Serbian war, Moltke, the Chief of the General Staff, addressed the following memorandum to the Berlin Foreign office.—

"England's declaration of war, which, according to trustworthy information, was designed from the very beginning of the conflict, compels us to exhaust every means that may contribute to victory. The grave situation in which the Fatherland finds itself, makes it a duty to resort to every means that is calculated to injure the enemy. The unscrupulous policy, which our adversaries are conducting against us, warrants ruthless action on our part.

"The sentiment of America is friendly to Germany. American public opinion is indignant at the shameful way in which we have been treated. Every effort must be made to turn this sentiment to account. The influential personages of the German colony must be urged to exert further influence in our sense upon the Press. It may perhaps prove possible to induce the United States to take naval action against England, in return for which Canada beckons as the prize of victory.

"Important above all, as I have already explained in my communication of the 2nd inst. (No. 1, P.) are the insurrections in India and Egypt, and also in the Caucasus. By means of our treaty with Turkey, the Foreign Office will be in a position to realise this idea and to excite the fanaticism of Islam.'

On July 31st 1914 the Kaiser issued the following Proclamation:

"A terrible hour is striking for Germany. Envious folk on every side are compelling us to take up arms in righteous self-defence. The sword is being thrust into our hand. If, at the last moment, my endeavours to bring our opponents to reason and to save peace are unsuccessful, then I trust we shall, with God's help, be able so to bear the sword, as to be able to sheathe it with honour.

"War would demand enormous sacrifices of life and goods. Our opponents would, however, recognise what it means to provoke Germany. And now I commend you to God. Go to Church, kneel down before him, and entreat his help for our brave Army."

* * *

If any more telling comment upon the duplicity and hypocrisy of the Kaiser were needed, it could not be more aptly supplied than by the proclamation issued by the head of the German Government in the fateful days when peace was trembling in the balance, and only one sign of readiness to mediate was needed in order to save Europe from the appalling catastrophe which the mad ambition of a caste and people was preparing with cynical levity and criminal determination.

THE CYNIC.

There are some men who cannot see in life one redeeming feature. Everywhere they go, there is the same tale of woe, and their influence is felt in the lives of those around them. "Life depends on the liver" is true in its double sense, but the great evil is that very often the lives of the other people depend upon the state of health of the first individual.

To the cynic there is no subject mentioned, but he turns with his elongated countenance, and immediately points out those things which he considers are wrong in certain departments of life. He will tell you how the Navy ought to act in this and that contingency, he knows what the Army should have done on this and that date, his is the only opinion that he thinks matters in political contoversies, and how people can have the audacity to differ from him, he cannot understand.

Is there a new play brought out or a new book written, he can tell you all the mistakes that have been made and will at great length point out what should have been said or written.

Were you feeling cheerful, he can turn your joy into sorrow by a lurid tale of what the country is doing or where the country is going to land herself, if she continues to adopt the same policy as is now generally accepted.

In a campaign to tell the world of what our country has done and suffered, the cynical man makes the strongest buffer and succeeds very often in turning the thoughts of certain nations away from the truth; in fact the cynic will perhaps inadvertently pervert the truth by his fancied wrongs and his blatant unjust criticisms.

He is out to oppose everyone and everything in order that men may not see the sunshine, in order that they may not catch a glimpse of the light as it attempts to penetrate the deep gloom that surrounds the lives of many human beings.

Oh, doleful creature, awake to the joy of life, see what is good in mankind, and speak the word of cheer.

"Pack up your troubles in your old kit bag and smile, smile, smile."

ANTI-GLOOM.

BOOKS WHAT AVE INFLOONSED ME.

Grate men oh much too grate books. They infloonse them in there yooth and mold there karacters. Shakespeer wood never ave rote the villaje blacksmyth if he ad knot red Jorge Burnard Shaws pomes. Hens awl grate men are grate reeders even wen there only buoys.

It was threw books that eye got my first rise in the world. It was many yeers ago. Eye wos only a wee littil chap at the tyme. Wen we wos havin lunsh in our littil kottaje in the mountings my chinn was just on a level wif the tabil, so my farver putt sum books on my chair and theirbye enabild me to get my helbows on too the smyling bord, writes "The Office Boy" in "John O London's Weekly."

One of the best volooms eye never red was Sloth-hownd, Sebastyen. It elped me to pass away many a appy our. Eye lernt a lot of things from that book. Befour eye red it eye yoosed to fink their where a lot of klever detecktives at Skotland Yarde. Now eye no there are knot. They cood knot deteckt a pool of worter in the rhodeway unless they stept in it. They arrestid six differint men and wimin for the murder of Vycount Arduppes hair and none of them wos it Then a famus judge told the Vycount to put the kase into the hands of Slooth-hownd Sebastyen. Ate ours after that the Slooth-hownd put the hand kuffs on the troo murderir, and he wos fownd gilty by the saim juije and shot at dorn.

Another fine book that grately impresse me wos "Katie the Girl Kowboay." Eye yoosed to fink wimin wos frikened of mise and black beetles but she wosint. She wos knot afrade of nothink. Once a troupe of buffiloes atacked her from the reer and a rejment of redskins from the frunt. In them sirkumstansis well mite the stowtest hart kwiver and kwail, butt she wos maid of sternor stuff. She had a pockit mashen gun witch she had inventid herselph. In sicks sekonds every one of them howlin redskins was gorne to sea there farvers in the appy unting grounds. The buffiloes thot it wos know plaice for them but they wos two lait. Anothir sicks sekonds and the oabey buffiloes witch they had left at home wos awl orfins. She then lyted a sigaret, mownted her sno wyte mustank and tore a cross the prayerie as if nothing had happinged.

* * *

Books abowt luv never apeeled two me sumhowe or other. The fakt is they doant help a man a tail. Their only for wimin and sloppey stile of man, who have no bakbone in them. There the kind of week men who right pomes and run away if they sea a lyon or a leperd kummin out of the forist. I cud never understand luv and I doant no why so many books is full of it.

* * *

I shud fink there abowt a millyun volooms abowt luv for every sensibill book that is ritten. Theirs know korage or bravery kneeded to maik luv. Its as easy as eatin I skreem or drinkin lemonade on a worm day. Besydes if luv wos such a nice thing house it that wen peepill get marryed their allways barjing with each uther, and konstantly throwin things at each uthers heds, and sumtimes even murdhering each uther. This prooves luv is a frod, a humbugg, a diloosnu and a snair. An ice thing to waiste paiper and ink over. Awl books abowt luv shud be stoped.

THEN—AND NOW.

We had watched the weird play of the Véry Lights in the darkness that confronted us—in which darkness lay the desolate ridge of Passchendaele, with its atmosphere of death, with its horrors, both known and yet unknown. We had known what it was to lie upon the sodden clay of Flanders waiting for the end of all things, hearing the "heavies" whining and shrieking through the air and feeling that each must surely be meant for us in particular, as we crouched together on the muddy earth while the enemy barrage created an inferno in our midst. . . .

We had experienced these things and many others, tragic, pathetic, sublime, ridiculous and otherwise, and we had borne it all in the same way as thousands of others of our kind, namely with that total disregard of the future born of deadened or blunted susceptibilities . . . and yet—were we as comrades really less happy when gathered together in some old Flemish farm-house, resting behind the lines, than we are now, when sitting in a blaze of scenic but artificial life, surrounded by the shaded rose-lights of a Rhineland café, with the soothing strains of an orchestra mingling with the echo of laughter and voices. . ?

This sounds ideal to some, perhaps, but were we really less happy in the old Belgian farm-house, with its quaint old furniture, its typical pictures, the curious old stove over which "Madame" made us fresh hot coffee, and sang unforgotten melodies of long ago, while she busied herself in tending to our comfort? . . .

I think we were as happy and contented there and then, as we are now, in spite of the fact that on comparison the newer conditions appear more attractive than the old; but who will deny that the atmosphere in the homely old kitchen far away in the wilds of Belgium was not more wholesome and healthy by far.

We had no orchestra in those past days — but someone would seat himself at the seemingly pre-historic piano, and despite the discordant tones stirred into life in consequence, we would endeavour to drown the playing with a lusty choral effort, calculated to shake the old house from top to bottom.

Those days are gone — sometimes I think never to return again: perhaps you will say, it is to be hoped they do not; nevertheless there must be many who, like myself, look back on those bygone days with more than a passing feeling of regret, chiefly I think, because the spirit of comradeship existed between us then to a greater extent than now; we still had danger and death before us then, and we never knew or cared much what happened — we were all friends together, so what did it matter? Yes, the spirit of brotherhood has not died out among us, by any means, but the same spirit was stronger in the little old Flemish house behind the lines than it is in the electric glare of the modern café.

A.B.C.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

Our Readers' Varied Views.

"CABS AND TAXIS."

Sir,—I quite agree with H.C.W. in the question of excessive prices charged by the Cologne driver of taxis and cabs. Here is my experience:—From Cologne Main Station to Kalk by taxi, 30 marks; from Deutsches Theatre to Cologne Main Station by cab, 24 marks; from Nippes to Cologne (Hohenzollern Bridge) by cab, 40 marks. After that I have made it a rule to travel by tram.

IKY.

BEHAVIOUR IN PUBLIC.

Sir,—The expenditure of money does not, so far as I am aware, entitle the lucky possessor of wealth to misbehave in public.

I suppose it is a natural weakness with some folk, particularly the newly rich variety, that they should crave after "show," but that is no excuse for the behaviour of many parties of Germans in cabarets and restaurants.

Their demonstrations of food mastication should be enough without that "playing to the gallery" which usually marks the departure of these would-be aristocratic dinners.

CIVILIAN.

SILLY FILMS.

Sir, — When in a cinema and the inevitable 15th episode of the serial of the "Clutching Hand" order appears, I feel tempted to grab my hat and run.

Why is it tolerated? The same old drivel and absurdity, hair breadth escapes, smashes, abductions and the like. "Deadwood Dick" isn't in it.

I suggest as attractive pictorial entertainment, short comedy, educational and dramatic films, blended with records of public happenings which are always popular. But for everybody's sake sack the musical director, who decides to introduce a new selection halfway through a film. Play the piece again, but don't apply the closure.

BOX OFFICE.

SPEED UP THE DANCE.

Sir,—I have read "Infantry Sub's" letter and I think he rather misses the point.

In the first place, my letter did not attack the organisation of either the VI Corps or Leave Club dances, which I consider excellent, but the attitude of the people.

The Leave Club ladies certainly did not refuse to dance with new-comers, on the contrary their express purpose was to make them as happy as possible, but I don't think the new-comers quite played up.

I often remember ladies having to spend the greater part of their dances pulling men away from the walls and practically forcing them to take partners.

As for the smiling faces at the VI Corps Club I admit you sometimes see them after a dance, but how many does one see during a dance? Even between dances there is a curious sedateness and constraint. Everyone seems to be on his best behaviour, and it's not the fault of the management, but the people.

At a private dance, a good host can do a great deal towards livening up a show; a good deal as a matter of fact lies in the choosing of the guests. In a large public affair, this is obviously impossible, so it is up to the people to brighten up themselves. I wonder if they realise their responsibility. I am really beginning to think it would be a good plan to have professional "Light-hearts" to keep the others up to the mark. What do other readers think?

JONATHAN.

A TRAVELLER'S COMPLAINT.

Sir,—I had a letter from an officer today who was "demobbed" about a fortnight ago.

He writes as follows:—"When you board the Calais train, fill your Thermos flask with hot tea or coffee, also take a knife and fork and spoon. We were served out with M. and V. stew about 9 p.m. and nobody had a spoon, plate mug, or anything with which to eat it. We got over the difficulty by breaking a loaf of bread into three or four parts, dipping them into stew, sucking the juice out and returning them to the stew once more."

Surely it would not be too much to provide knives, forks, spoons etc. to eat the simple fare, or if not, I think at least warn officers and men boarding the train to provide their own eating utensils.

Am sure the matter will soon be rectified, if given publicity through your valuable paper.

FAIRPLAY.

FEMININE WEAKNESSES.

Sir,—What has come over our feminine friends these days? We mere males know their weaknesses and prepare ourselves for them, but confess we are mystified by their behaviour.

It is not so much the wives of officers and men as the ladies of various organisations. An instance which comes to mind. An officer's wife, who, perhaps unwisely, sallied abroad without a brassard, was pushed off the pavement in Honestrasse and treated with marked discourtesy.

The ordinary courtesies of life are treated as a right, and rarely earn even casual acknowledgement, judging by my own experience this morning. These individuals should realise that the wearing of uniform does not provide exemption from this debt, or entitle them to treat the wife of a soldier with discourtesy.

MAJOR.

BACK TO BOOKS.

God! it's good to get again
Back to books, away from men!
Like breath of kine or scent of sea,
Books, your air blows up to me.
Sick from the smell of politics,
With the smell of books to mix—
Is there any other smell
That's one-half so comfortable?
Here for the rest of time I'll sit
And read, and never tire of it,
And never die—'tis doing things
Has laid in earth these many kings.
If they had sat and read and read
And marked, and learned, they'd not be dead.

H. W. GARROD in "Worms and Epitaphs."

COCHRAN CONFIDENT

That World Championship will be Fought in London.

CARPENTIER'S DENIAL.

Each day that passes makes the Carpentier-Dempsey position less comprehensible and increasingly complex. From Reuter's Paris correspondent now comes a message which states that Carpentier declares that he has not signed any engagement and is merely awaiting offers. He wants time in which to make up his mind.

As has already been stated in these columns, Paris sportsmen have subscribed four million francs, or roughly £100,000, for a match in Paris, and M Decoin, it is now stated, says he is ready to put down a million francs at once as a guarantee against Dempsey.

French boxing promoters, adds the Paris correspondent, are satisfied that nothing has as yet been arranged by Carpentier with Mr. Cochran.

CARPENTIER'S PREFERENCE.

Carpentier, in a conversation on Monday night, spoke in warm terms of the British public, and said he was convinced that Americans would be equally fair. Nevertheless, he would prefer to meet Dempsey in France.

Asked what he thought of the fight with Dempsey, Carpentier simply said: "I know that Dempsey is a splendid boxer."

With reference to Carpentier's statement Mr. Cochran re-affirms that the Frenchman has signed up to meet Dempsey in London next year. While the actual signature was that of Mr. Descamps, his manager, as he was acting for Carpentier, the agreement is binding.

The English promoter asserts that if Dempsey and Carpentier meet, the contest must be in his hands and under his management, and adds that he is still confident of bringing the pair together at Olympia.

AMERICA'S £40,000 BID.

American promoters are beginning to bid up for the match. The New York correspondent of the Central News states that Jack Curley, the well-known promoter, has announced his readiness to give a purse of 200,000 dollars (£40,000); and Mr. Nate Lewis, who returned to England on Monday with Pal Moore, accompanied by Johnny Griffiths, said yesterday that he is authorised by Dominic Tortorich, in conjunction with Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, to offer Carpentier £20,000, win, lose, or draw, to meet Dempsey in New Orleans on March 17 next.

Jack Curley, it may be recalled, is the man who tried to bring Tommy Burns and Jack Johnson together for a world's championship contest in America in 1908, at the time the white and black rivals were in this country Australia got the contest ultimately, as Mr. Hugh D. McIntosh guaranteed Burns £5,000 and Johnson £1,000 to box at Sydney.

IN OTHER DAYS.

A purse of £6,000 was regarded as a huge one in those days, but purses have risen by leaps and bounds in the few years since then. Johnson and Jeffries, for instance, "cut" £24,000 for their work at Reno, Nevada, on July 4, 1910; and Willard had nearly as much for himself when he met Dempsey a few months ago; while the winner took £5,000 as his end. Dominic Tortorich is the New Orleans promoter who, in conjunction with Tommy Burns, made a big bid for the Willard-Dempsey match, but Tex Rickard overshadowed these and all other bidders.

WHY WILDE FAILED.

Boxing a Good Deal Above Proper Weight.

After his no-decision bout with Jack Sharkey, the New York bantam-weight, at Milwaukee, last Saturday, Jimmy Wilde gave as his reason for his disappointing form the only one which could be imagined by his friends at home—that he was boxing at a good deal above his proper weight.

There was, we read in an American exchange, a good deal of delay in clinching the match between Wilde and Sharkey because there is a rule in the Wisconsin law on boxing that prohibits a man in any class below welter boxing an opponent who is 10lb heavier As Wilde would probably scale not more than 7st 5lb trained, and Sharkey should weigh 8st 4lb, it can be seen that to permit them to meet in the ring would be a violation of the rule. Wilde, therefore, had to scale 7st 9lb at least—he was ¼lb over—and the excess weight, he declared after the contest, slowed him and made all the difference in the result.

"JIMMY" AN EXCEPTION.

Commenting on the attitude of the Wisconsin Boxing Commission, which insisted on its rule being adhered to, the New York "Sun" said:—"If the regulation barring the smaller men boxing at a greater difference than 10lb were to be rigidly enforced, Wilde, who is exceptional as to weight and performance, would be unable to get a bout in this country. The fact that Wilde has beaten the boxers of three classes in England, has knocked out the two best fly-weights of America, and has held his own against two of the best American bantams, is proof that he would be in no special danger against any of the boys in the class.

"The 10lb rule is a good one for boxers of mediocre ability, whose defensive skill is limited, but it would seem that the commission could reasonably make an exception in the case of a boxer of the wonderful skill of Wilde."

PAL MOORE ARRIVES.

Pal Moore, the American bantam-weight who is to box Charles Ledoux at the Royal Albert Hall, London, on Boxing Day night, reached London from New York on Monday with his manager, Mr. Nate Lewis, and Johnny Griffiths, of Akron, U.S.A.

Griffiths will be opposed by the French welter-weight Francis Charles, who proved such an awkward customer for Johnny Basham at Olympia a few months ago.

HURDLER DROPS DEAD.

Bridge Fourth Dies after Running Third.

LEICESTER RESULTS.

Fine weather prevailed at Leicester when the meeting was resumed on Wednesday. The attendance was good and the going firm. Bridge Fourth, the property of Mr. R. Wigram dropped dead on reaching the paddock after running third in the Rays Chase.

DETAILS.

Mill Hurdle:— 1, Antipater (100—7); 2, Saintelot (7—4); 3, Odalisque (5—1). Sixteen ran.

Rays 'Chase: — 1, Platonic (evens); 2 Dark Colour (6—1); 3, Bridge Fourth (5—2). Four ran.

Windsor 'Chase:— 1, Toadstone (3—1); 2, Square Dance (3—1); 3, Cresley (15—9). Six ran.

Wednesday Hurdle: — 1, Ring Again (3—1); 2, Bed Plate (7—4); 3, Condattiere (11—10). Three ran.

Oakside Hurdle:—1, Sippet Charlie (2—1); 2, Crom Aboo (100—8); 3, Abarfield (3—1). Nine ran.

Forest 'Chase: — 1, Mark Back (6—5); 2, Mythical. Two ran.

NOTED CRICKETER'S DEATH.

A.R. Littlejohn, the Middlesex Amateur Bowler.

We announce with regret the death, in his fortieth year, of Mr. A.R. Littlejohn the well-known Amateur Middlesex cricketer.

It was during the season of 1911 that Littlejohn met with his greatest success as a slow bowler. Playing for Middlesex he took 37 wickes in championship games at an average of less than twenty runs apiece. He was also a sound bat.

CARPENTIER AGAIN.

To-day at the Nouveau Cirque, Paris, as an acknowledgement for the great reception given him by the French sportsmen, Carpentier will reconstruct his big fight in London against a man of Beckett's physique. He will also take part in several exhibition bouts against his sparring partners.

BILLIARDS.

Wednesday's closing scores in the principal London matches were as follows:—

Smith 11,499
Inman 10,716

Breaks:—Smith 135, 124, 138; Inman:—242, 150, 199, 145, 435.

Newman 12,377
Falkiner 8,989

Breaks:—Newman 373, 130, 443, 119 (unfinished); Falkiner 225, 123.

SOCCER RESULTS.

The Army .....7 Military Academy.. 3.
Reading .....7 Aldershot Command 1.

ENGLISH CUP REPLAY.

Sheppey .....1. Bromley .....0.

DISCHARGED AND DISABLED.

Boxing Tourney in Support at Sandhurst.

A two-night tournament in aid of the Camberley branch of the National Federation D.D.S. and S. was concluded on Saturday in the new gymnasium of the R.M.C. at Sandhurst. Attendances were very big both on Friday and Saturday, and included a number of French Army officers In addition to the contests there were exhibition bouts, Bombardier Billy Wells sparring with C.S.M. Lewis, A.G.S., on the opening night, and Jim Driscoll with Lieut.-Commander Burnett, R.N., on Saturday. Details:—

NOVICES' EVENTS.

Bantams. — Gentleman-Cadet Iliffe (R.M.C.) beat Dvr Marney (R.A.S.C.) on points.

Feathers.—Pte. Lomax (Lancs F.) beat Pte. Allan (Lancs F.) on points.—The men had met in the semi-final on Friday, when Allan won a very close contest. The other semi-finalists (A. Manning, of Aldershot, and G. Hagarty, of Blackwater) scratched, and Lomax was given the opportunity of again meeting Allan in the final.

Light-weights.—A. G. Collier (Aldershot) w.o., Pte. Heywood (Lancs F.) scratched.

Welters.—"Blackie" Draycott (Sandhurst) beat his brother L. Draycott (Sandhurst), on points.

Middles.—Digger Smith (A.I.F. Staff College) beat Billy Collis (Sandhurst).—Collis appeared in the ring with his right eye and face heavily bandaged, and the bout was stopped in the first round by Col. Campbell, who declared that Collis was too much handicapped to fight.

Catch-weights.—F. Sandcraft (Blackwater) beat Gentleman-Cadet G. C. Harvard-Watts (R.M.C.) in the first round.

SIX-ROUND CONTESTS.

C.S.M.I. Tom Evans (A.G.S.) beat Cpl. Martin (Lancs F.) in the third round.

Cpl. Harris (14th Hus.) beat Lce-Cpl. Gabb (2nd Welsh Regt.) in the second round.

C.S. Miner (Lancs F.) beat C.S.M. Brain (Lancs F.) after a good bout.

Sgt. Christian (Lancs F.) beat Sgt.-Ins. C. Mather (A.G.S.).

C.S.M.I. Morton (A.G.S.) beat C.S.M.I. Mason (A.G.S.).

C.S.M. Miner (Lancs F.) beat Sgt. Brassie (Lancs F.) in a capital bout.

Lce-Cpl. Robinson (S. Lancs Regt.) knocked out Lce-Cpl Collings (Northumberland F.) in the second round.

Sgt. Blain (Lancs F.) beat S.M. Froud (Lancs F.) in a capital fight.

Sgt.-Ins. Lorden (A.G.S.) beat Lce-Cpl. Slocker (M.G.C.) on points.

CRICKET REFORMS.

Secretaries of County Cricket Clubs met at Lords on Tuesday for the purpose of arranging fixtures for 1920. The two-day matches which obtained this year have been abandoned and the three day matches renewed. The wisdom of ensuring as far as possible a full day's play on Saturdays and early closing days was borne in mind, and with but a few exceptions, future matches will start either on Saturday or Wednesdays.

'VARSITY SOCCER.

Oxford and Cambridge Draw at Queen's Club.

EXCITING STRUGGLE.

Following in the keenly contested Rugby game at Queen's Park on Tuesday, in which Cambridge defeated Oxford by the narrow margin of 7 points to 5, the 'Varsities were again in conflict at the same ground on Wednesday, when the Association teams met for the first time since February 1914.

LIGHT BLUES ATTACK.

On paper Cambridge had slightly the better record, and were credited with being stronger in attack. The result, however, after a struggle of maximum intensity was a draw of two goals each.

The weather was bright and cold and the game was played on thawed turf. Six thousand spectators were present.

While the game, as an exhibition of football, was somewhat disappointing, it developed into an exciting struggle, and there were plenty of thrilling moments.

Oxford attacked from the start and were rewarded eight minutes later. Read raced down the wing and passed to Jackson, who without hesitation, drove hard into the corner of the net with an unstoppable shot.

CAMBRIDGE EQUALISE.

Twenty minutes later Cambridge equalised. Mark, showing a fine turn of speed, carried the ball well towards the corner flag before centreing. From the resulting scramble Harding fastened on to the ball and shot, making no mistake.

Interval score: Oxford 1; Cambridge 1

Three minutes after the resumption, Read again got possession in his own half and, taking the ball down the wing, sent in a swerving shot, which Webb failed to deal with.

Once again Cambridge rose to the occasion and equalised through G. Ashton, who ran right through from mid-field.

There was no further score, the result being a draw of two goals each.

While Cambridge showed superior combination, Oxford displayed that they possess a number of brilliant individual players, Read being one of the star performers.

OXFORD.

G. F. Greig (Westminster and Christ Church);
H. P. Ward (Shrewsbury and St. John's);
F. Barber (Queen Elizabeth School, Kirkby Lonsdale, and Queens);
C. E. Wharton (Douai Abbey and Oriel);
A. H. G. Butcher (Charterhouse and New Coll.);
H. N. Watt (Winchester and Brasenose);
F. S. Hepburn (Rugby and Oriel);
Miles Howell (capt.) (Repton and Oriel);
R. L. Holdsworth (Repton and Magdalen);
H. J. Jackson (Aberdeen Univ. and New College);
H. S. Read (Magdalen College School and Magdalen).

CAMBRIDGE.

A. H. F. Webbe (Landing and Clare);
P. C. W. Hollowell (Charterhouse and Magdalene);
J. S. F. Morrison (Charterhouse and Trinity);
L. J. Davies (Northampton G.S. and Downing);
C. B. G. Hunter (Aldenham and Pembroke);
W. T. Coles (St. Lawrence and Jesus);
H. Ashton (Winchester and Trinity);
W. E. Harding (Private and King's);
G. Ashton (Winchester and Trinity);
F. N. S. Creek (Darlington G.S. and Trinity;
D. S. Mark (New College, Harrogate, and St. John's).

The teams that have opposed the two 'Varsities this season have almost invariably so widely differed that their value for striking a line is of a negligible quantity.

Reference may be made to the displays by the respective Universities against the Football Association representative sides, but ever here Oxford had unquestionably to meet a much stronger eleven than Cambridge. The latter were defeated only by six goals to three, whereas Oxford went under by 13 goals to one, and certainly did not shape in so workmanlike a manner as their to-day's rivals.

IN AND OUT CHARACTER.

It is a correct description of the play of both teams to state that it has been of an in and out character. Two months ago there was promise of a game of extreme moderation as neither was within measurable distance of a pre-war University team, but there has been solid improvement of late.

This was the forty-second game between them, and of the forty-one played Cambridge have won twenty, Oxford eighteen, and three have been drawn. Cambridge had a great advantage in goal record, as they had scored 74 against the 59 by Oxford, and these figures show that generally the Light Blues had the better attack.

PEN PUSHERS BEATEN.

257 A.E. COY. v. R.T.O. CLERKS (COLOGNE DEPOT).

This was an interesting match played on the latter ground on Tuesday. The Company were the first to attack, Milmild being early prominent on the way. The clerks, who were much the bigger side, then took up the running and were going well until Ward stepped in and cleared smartly. At the end of 25 minutes play, Smith broke away and sent in a capital centre, Milmine missing by inches. The Company tried hard to open the score but the greasy condition of the ground spoiled many good movements. Half time arrived with a blank sheet.

The second half opened with an attack by the Company, Clarkson just missing with a good shot. Success, however, came at last. Ward, receiving near the half way line, beat two opponents before shooting. His effort failed but Clarkson netted the ball after a scrimmage.

Final:—257 A.E. Coy. 2; R.T.O. Clerks 0.

DAVID McLEAN.

The Writer of To-morrow's Football Special.

BY TYNESIDER.

This famous Scottish International centre-forward will to-morrow contribute to this page an interesting and instructive article on

The Nobody's Darling of Football.

He has served many clubs in his day, among them being Third Lanark, Glasgow, Celtic, Preston North End, Sheffield Wednesday and Bradford Park Avenue, and is now with the latter club.

He was the talk of the football world when his differences with the Sheffield club recently caused him to retire from first class football, a Scottish local club, owing to the deadlock, receiving his services. This was Forfar Athletic, with which club the famous centre first graduated. Eight years ago, McLean was transferred from Preston North End to Sheffield Wednesday and he was a great contributor to this club's "for" column.

His leading of their attack was always worthy of note and he served his club faithfully and well. The differences a rose and he severed connections with Sheffield and returned to Scotland.

The Bradford directors, however, managed to secure his services and he is now a great favourite at Park Avenue.

His first appearance there was against Chelsea a few weeks ago and he scored the only goal of the match against the "Pensioners." On Saturday last, Bradford opposed his old club, Preston, and "Davie" was naturally all out against the team which disposed of him eight years ago. He was in deadly earnest played a great game, was too quick for that prince of pivots McColl, and steered two shots past the Preston keeper.

The International owes not a little of his fame to his skill as an opportunist and deadly markmanship. He knows instinctively where the goal lies, and when McLean is in form, goalkeepers have an anxious time of it.

A clever feeder and a born leader make "Davie" McLean one of the most dangerous centre-forwards in first class football.

In closing, let me ask, what would lowly Sheffield Wednesday give to-day to have him back at Hillsborough?

The International is much missed there, and it was a pity the differences could not have been healed

TO-NIGHT'S BOXING.

Excellent Programme at Central Y.M.C.A.

Further details to hand make it increasingly evident that the first of the series of fortnightly Rhine Army Boxing Competitions, which commences to-night at the Central Y.M.C.A., will be a really good show.

Except in the heavy-weight class, the entries exceed expectations as far as numbers go, while the quality will be the very best that Rhineland can provide.

With the promise of such an attractive programme, the many admirers of the noble art are advised to book early in order to ensure a seat.

Reserved seats may be obtained at the Amusements Office, Komödienstrasse, and doors will be open at 4.45. The competitions will be concluded to-morrow evening at the same time and place.

SAPPERS IN FORM.

231st Field Coy. R.E. v. 52nd Northumberland Fus.

A large number of spectators witnessed a fast and exciting game between the above teams at Bonnerstrasse Barracks on Tuesday. From the commencement the Fusiliers made repeated attacks and after a scrimmage in front of the R.E.'s goal Taylor narrowly missed scoring.

After some even play the R.E.'s took up the defence, and after a fine forward passing movement Pte. Phillips registered a goal. Then the Fusiliers took the game in their hands and some exciting football prevailed in front of the R.E. goal. Sgt. Calthorpe made a good shot at goal from a difficult angle, but the home custodian saved splendidly. Half time: R.E.'s 1; Northumberland Fus. nil

The R.E.'s, on resumption, invaded the Northumberland's territory and caused the visitors great alarm in the goal area. This was relieved by a player being penalised for offside. After this the R.E.'s seemed to slow down and the Fusiliers attacked beautifully, Sgt. Calthorpe and Pte. Taylor being conspicuous in a movement. C.Q.M.S. Kirkham narrowly missed netting the ball for the Northumberlands, and a counter attack by the Engineers was checked by the excellent headwork of the opposing left back. The Fusiliers frequently came near scoring. Final: 231st Field Coy. R. E. 1; 52nd Northumberland Fusiliers 0.

RUGBY NATIONAL.

Blackheath and Birkenhead Park Well Represented.

The teams for the second Rugby trial match at Twickenham on the 20th inst. have been selected as follows:—

England: W. H. Pemberton (Birkenhead Park); C. N. Lowe (Blackheath); F. N. Arkell (Birkenhead Park); E. Myers (Bradford); W. M. Lowry (Birkenhead Park); K. A. Kershaw (Services); W. J. A. Davis (Services); H. C. Harrison (Services); G. Holford (Gloucester); J. E. Greenwood (Cambridge University); H. J. White (Headingley); C. H. Pillmam (Blackheath); A. T. Voice (Gloucester); W.W. Wakefield (Harlequins); V. H. Neser (Guys); H. Millett (Guys); G. F. Wood (Oxford University); J. S. Krige (Guys); A. M. Smallwood (Cambridge University); S. W. Harris (Blackheath); K. Horan (Blackheath); H. Coverdale (Blackheath); A. C. McIlwain (Army); W. H. Wright (Plymouth); E. Rodda (Camborne); L. P. B. Merrian (Blackheath); R. E. Sharp (Newton Abbott); F. W. Mellish (Blackheath); W. Hall (Gloucester); J. M. Morsby (Oxford).

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

"THE SINGER OF THE VELDT."

Ottilie, Lady Mowbray, has an "affaire" with Valentine Emerson, a tiller of the soil, at whose farm she is obliged to put up. Eight years later her husband's ward, Noni Wingate, introduces the same Valentine Emerson into the Mowbray ménage as her fiancé. There is an awkward moment, which is smoothed over successfully, and the curtain falls on husband and wife, ward and fiancé, all as happy as they can be in the circumstances.

This is the bare outline of the plot of Miss Bensusan's further venture into dramatic authorship. There is a great deal of subtlety—which is possibly too, deep—a vast amount of love-making, and a number of witty lines, the one I best remember being the following:—"Blessed are the borrowers, for they shall be saved—saved from the expense of buying."

At the first performance at the Deutsches theatre on Wednesday, the last act was undoubtedly the best, and Miss Bensusan has written lines which remind one forcibly of her passion for children.

* * *

The Veldt setting by Herr Wilms was a great credit to that hard-working and obliging artist. Miss Bensusan's dresses, designed by Capt Jemmett, of the Army Art School, were remarkable creations, but to one who is not an artist, there appeared something wrong about the colour scheme of orange and gold mixed.

The entire play was well acted Miss Bensusan, as Ottilie, was playing a part foreign to her great abilities, but nevertheless gave an admirable rendering of the part she herself had written.

Pte. J. Terry has a great future before him if he will but remember that, as Valentine Emerson, he repeated his old fault of not allowing the audience to hear half his lines. He acts well and he can speak up, for I have heard him do it, but he has a remarkable aversion to being heard as a rule. Barring this important failing, there is no fault to find with him. Miss Marjorie Moore by kind permission of Miss Decima Moore C.B.E., Director-General of the British Empire Leave Club made an amusing Ria, but the author should not have introduced her during the waltz, as the audience were laughing at Ria's antics all the time instead of their attention being devoted to the two leading characters.

* * *

I did not see enough of Mrs. M. Carter (also by kind permission) as Celestine to be able to make any remarks about her, except that what I did see was very charming. Why, by the way, are we always inflicted with this rigmarole about "kind permission"? I am beginning to think it is a little overdone.

Sub-conductor Ailwood as Hendrick and Lieut. Ingall as Pier Van Regu played their small parts capably. Sgt. Shilsky as Sir Hector Mowbray appeared to us only in the last act and was his usual forceful self.

Miss Gabrielle Paul made a sweet and effective little ward, and Master Gangel clumped noisily across the stage several times to the huge delight of the audience.

To those who delight in a strong love interest Miss Bensusan's play, when revived a little, should make a great appeal, but its success will always depend on the personality of the actress who plays lead. The manner in which the play was produced was another feather in Lieut. Percy's cap.

E. H. S.

HERE AND THERE.

C.O.'s Please Note.

I heard yesterday that the admirable party under the genial wing of Mr. Alfred Ross was to re-cross the channel next week. In view of the great success the company has made in Cologne and round about I was rather surprised to hear this news and made direct inquiries. It seems that "Dame Rumour" has been busy again and there is not the slightest foundation for the report which, by some extraordinary means, has gained currency. Mr. Ross's company is being rapidly booked up by units in outlying districts, and with the exception of a few nights which are bound to be snapped up, the party will keep us smiling until Christmas.

52nd Devons' Dance.

The fourth of the weekly practice dances for men of the above Battalion was held in the "Zur Alten Post" Restaurant, Burscheid, on Tuesday evening. The attendance was not quite so numerous as at last week's dance, but the actual number of dancers was greater, and the enthusiasm was by no means diminished. With one or two exceptions and additions the usual programme was followed and provided amusement and enjoyment for over three hours. Pte. Cole at the piano materially helped towards the success of the evening. The fifth practice dance will be held in the same place on Monday next, the 15th. inst., commencing at 6 p.m

Whist Drive.

A very enjoyable evening was spent by "A" Company of the 52nd. Devons on Monday last at a whist drive organised by the Company Officers. A large number was present, and 26 sets were made up, 22 games being played. During the interval refreshments were served, and some musical items, which were greatly appreciated, given by Lieut. Carswell, C.S.M. Bradley, Sgts. Hussey, Budd and Strange, and Pte. Gurney. Prizes were gained by the following: — First, Pte. A. E. Rogers, 178; second, Pte. Blizard, 167; "mystery number" Signr. Hudd, 144; "Booby" Pte. Oxford, 112.

Billiard Tournament.

A flying billiard tournament was held on Wednesday night at the Y.M.C.A. Bonn. In the preliminary rounds, the competitors played for ten minutes, and some good scoring resulted, Pte. McAteer being top in the semi-final round with 66. The final (playing 15 minutes) was fairly evenly contested, and after a splendid game Pte. Raymond beat McAteer with 73 points to 62. The second tournament resulted in a victory for Pte. Alsop (57 points) over Cpl. Gerrard (43), playing 15 minutes in final. The preliminary rounds in this tournament were for 5 minutes. Similar competitions are to be held weekly, and it is proposed to arrange inter-unit matches shortly.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Fri.	Der Wildschütz	Lortzing	7	10
Sat.	Merry Wives o' Windsor	Nicolai	7	10.30
Sun.	Meistersinger von Nürnberg	Wagner	5	10.30

Monday — No Performance

Tuesday — No Performance

Palace Theatre

With the addition of Ross and Hanton, Gerald Williams, Mr. Alfred and Hurley's variety company at the Palace theatre is thoroughly entertaining. Ross and Hanton have now been in Rhineland for five weeks but that the Palace audiences are not tiring of them was evidenced yesterday evening when this talented company of laughter-makers held the programme up for a considerable time to respond to the persistent demands of a crowded house. Mr. Gerald Williams, the ever-popular tenor, was also accorded a very warm reception, while the other artistes on the programme well maintained the excellent reputation Mr. Hurley has made.

An Apology.

I have received the following letter from the scribe who pens our dramatic criticisms:

Sir,—With reference to my notice in Wednesday's "Cologne Post" of the revival of "General Post", I must ask you to allow me to use a few lines of your valuable space in which to offer an apology to two people. Lieut. Humphrey Hope and Mr. George Tulley. I stated in my notice that Lieut. Hope had previously played the part of Sir Dennys Broughton. As a matter of fact he has never played this role in his life I also said that Major Bell made an excellent substitute for the original player of the part. Mr. George Tulley. This distinguished actor, however, played the part of the tailor, so I've dropped large brickbats with great success all over the place My only excuse is that I must have been suffering from one of those aberrations which attack a man who has rather a lot to do, and little time to do it in. I trust the gentlemen concerned will accept this letter as an apology and forgive me.

E. A. S.

"Lady Frederick" at B.E.L.C.

For those who have not had the pleasure of seeing Miss Decima Moore, C.B.E., as "Lady Frederick," there will be one performance on Tuesday next, at the British Empire Leave Club, in which all the original caste will appear It should be noted that this performance will begin at 6 p.m., the same time as the theatre, not at 7 p.m., which is the regular hour for Tuesday's performances. As the seating in the hall is limited, those wishing to see the play, are advised to come early.

JACQUES.

OUR COMPETITION.

Your Last Chance For No. 12 Contest.

Below appears the last coupon for No. 12 football contest, and competitors must post their entries to-day. There are but ten forecasts required, and only the actual results, wins or drawn games are asked for.

Test your knowledge of football form by entering the coupon below The prize must be won, and there are no vexatious conditions.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 12,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S.40 Rhine Army.

List of Rules.

1. All forecasts must be made on coupons from this journal.
2. Any alteration or mutilation of the coupon will disqualify the effort.
3. If any match or matches on the coupon should be abandoned or full time is not played for any reason, such match or matches will not be taken into consideration in the adjudication.
4. In the event of ties, the prize will be divided.
5. No correspondence may be enclosed with the coupons, and none will be entered into. Neither will interviews be granted.
6. The Editor reserves the right to disqualify any coupon for what, in his opinion, is good and sufficient reason, and it is a distinct condition of entry that the Editor's decision shall be accepted as finally and legally binding in all matters concerning this competition.
7. Any entries received after Friday will be disqualified. No responsibility can be undertaken for any effort, or efforts, lost, mislaid or delayed. Proof of posting will not be accepted as proof of delivery.
8. Competitors may send in any number of coupons but one mark must be sent with each coupon.
9. Members of the staff of the "Cologne Post" are debarred from entering this competition.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 12.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 13th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 12th.

Burnley	v. Oldham
Notts County	v. Everton
Grimsby	v. Bristol City
Lincoln	v. Hull City
West Ham	v. Coventry
South Shields	v. Barnsley
Palace	v. Queens Park R.
St. Mirren	v. Dumbarton
Clyde	v. Queens Park.
Ayr U.	v. Morton

I enter Football Competition No. 12 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(In block letters.)

Rank and No. .....

Unit .....

Full Address .....

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

Up it Rises!

Owing to the recent heavy rains, the Rhine has risen considerably. In many places the banks are slightly flooded.

"Nix" Pudding.

A number of men in the British Rhine Army are arranging for select Christmas parties at their favourite restaurant. But where will the good old Christmas plum pudding come from?

Sixty Letters.

I should say that the name of a company in German: Constantinopolitanischerdudelsackpfeifenmachergesellenverein, sent me by a reader wants some beating for length. If any longer ones come in, I'm afraid space will prevent their being printed.

Training?

Yesterday a girl wearing the uniform of the N.A.C.B. was walking by the Rhine at a pace which I have never seen equalled except by professional walkers competing in races. Was she practising for some forthcoming Marathon for the women workers in Rhineland?

New Year Dance.

An Officers' Fancy Dress Dance is to be held, I hear, on New Year's Eve from 9.30 to 1.30 a.m. at the Empire Leave Club. Officers' wives and ladies working with organisations with the British Army of the Rhine are invited to attend.

Geese and Turkeys.

Geese at 17.50 Mks. per lb. and Turkeys at 23d. per lb. are prices quoted by the N.A.C.B. Reasonable enough when one comes to consider the state of things in England now.

In Good Taste.

Have you noticed the artistic calendars in some of the German shops? Some of them are really good, and quite different to the usual very gaudy kind of art, beloved by the Germans.

Helping to Adorn.

Anyone with a little spare time on their hands these days would be made welcome at the Empire Leave Club to help in making Christmas decorations.

Not for "Anti-Box."

Some interesting boxing should be witnessed at the Y.M.C.A. Central, in Friesenstrasse, to-night and to-morrow. I understand that these Boxing Competitions are to be held every fortnight.

Pulls a Cab.

Many and varied are the uses to which I have noticed mules put, from the light baker's cart, to unwieldy furniture vans, but I never expected to see a mule pulling a "growler." I saw him bowling along the Oberlander-Ufer.

The Goblins.

Apropos a recent echo on the fondness of the Germans for legends of all sorts, a certain cabaret in the Hohepforte prints the legend of the "Heinzelmännchen" or Goblins, who at one time were supposed to come overnight and do all the work for the various tradesmen, making the shoes for the shoemaker, the clothes for the tailor, and so on.

Popular with Females.

One German lawyer seems to be very popular with the fair sex. I notice that he is invariably briefed for the defence when women are summoned at the Summary Court.

Not There.

Overheard at the B.E.L.C.—"Seen Count Korfdrop's Confessions: 'orrible reverlations of the Kayser's dooplercicity?" "No, boy; which cinema?"

A Diplomat.

There was an unrehearsed incident in one house the evening St. Nikolaus (Santa Claus) appeared. The venerable visitor was about to use the birch on a bad boy, when a Scotch soldier billeted there intervened with, "Have a cigarette, old man?" And a very human saint, he succumbed to the temptation.

A Popular Souvenir.

Apropos my note a day or two ago re the aeroplane propellor, a correspondent tells me that in another Cologne cabaret, there is a propellor over the bar with the following inscription: "My first break." The landlord of the house was in the German Air Force.

An Omen.

Yesterday outside a certain mess when two members were "sparring" a bout, a man drawing a hand cart on which reposed a coffin drew up and peered in through the window at the contestants. The "sparring" couple wondered for which of them it had been ordered.

Candles.

The electric lights designed to represent candles look very pretty hung on Xmas trees and have the advantage of being safe from the likelihood of fire.

Heard This?

At orderly room. Nervous N.C.O.: "Sir, I was corporal of the row when the room began and was going up the candle with the stairs in my hand when the accused lashed out. Since then I know no more."

Stamp Shortage.

I am informed that there is a shortage of the smaller priced German postage stamps, and that they are hard to obtain.

Deserted "Trinkhallen."

Nothing savours of winter more than the desolate appearance of the popular summer drinking kiosks. I wonder why they don't sell hot drinks in the cold weather.

Children's Christmas Tree.

I am informed that the notification of the presence in Cologne and district of British children must be in the hands of the Chaplain-General, Johannis Strasse, or of the Head Teacher of the British School (c/o Y.M.C.A. Cologne) not later than Friday morning, if invitations are to be issued to them and their parents for the great children's party on Dec. 20th. In every instance, the sex and age of the children should be stated. Notification need not be sent of the children who are on the school register, as all necessary particulars about them are already known.

RHINELANDER.

FOR BUSINESS MEN IN RHINELAND.

There is no exemption from duty in respect of motor cars or motor bicycles, unless these are proved to be either of British manufacture, or (if of foreign make) to have been previously in the United Kingdom, and to have been exported thence neither from bonded warehouse nor on drawback of duty. Merchandise (i.e. goods intended for trade), whether dutiable or not, may not be imported in passengers' baggage, and any merchandise so imported is liable to forfeiture.

* * *

A group of French capitalists in the Saar Valley and the Rhine provinces is about to form a new Bank, with the title "Crédit Rhenan."

The administrative headquarters will be at Saarbruck, with Aix-la-Chapelle, Cologne, and Mainz as the proposed principal branches.

* * *

A British Chamber of Commerce has been formed in Vienna for the purpose of furthering commercial interests in Austria. The British High Commissioner in Vienna, the Hon. Francis Lindley, has been appointed president, and the British Commercial-Commissioner, Mr. Philpotts, vice-president, and all prominent British merchants and manufacturers in Vienna are members. There is no doubt that co-operation between the official representatives of Great Britain and business men in Vienna fully acquainted with the economic conditions of the country will restore commercial relations between Great Britain and Austria.

* * *

There has been a big demand in Cologne for watches, clocks and the cheaper kind of jewellery, chiefly for sale in Belgium. So keen is the competition for this class of goods that buyers are having considerable difficulty in obtaining supplies at reasonable figures.

A long list has been issued by the Reichswirtschaftsminister of goods which may not be exported from unoccupied Germany. The chief items are:

(1.) Food and fodder of all kinds. (2.) Horses, horned cattle, pigs, sheep, goats, and poultry. (3.) Animal and vegetable oils and fats. (4.) Artificial manure, especially nitrogen phosphate. (5.) Raw tobacco, especially inland products. (6.) Fishing nets, fishing boats, and machines used in the manufacture of fishing boats. (7.) Skins, hides and leather. (8.) Leather shoes, boots, driving belts and driving belt facings. (9.) Bones, glue, leather glue and gelatine. (10.) Iron ore, manganese ore, ferro-manganese and ferro-silicium. (11.) Iron, refined steel, section iron, old iron, scrap iron and steel, and foundry products. (12.) Railway lines, field-train lines, tram lines, carriers, coarse and fine sheet, rolled and drawn wire, steel and malleable tools. (13.) Locomotives and railway carriages of standard gauge, as well as accessories and parts. (14.) Stone coal, brown coal, briquettes and coke. (15.) Timber of all kinds, timber fuel of all classes. (16.) Printing paper. (17.) Lime, plaster of Paris and cement. (18.) Soda, potash, caustic potash and sulphate of soda. (19.) Certain pharmaceutical products.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

For Christmas.—Home made golliwogs of wool are very popular just now.

Call of the Rod.—Fishing is urged as a cure for shattered nerves.

Useful in the Mess.—A hare weighing 13 pounds has been shot in Norfolk.

Dearer than Coal.—Coke is nearly four times its pre-war price.

Cupids on the Phone.—Mr. Leslie Henson designed his own wedding cake.

More Tearful Eyes.—British onions have been freed from control.

Hard up.—Manchester University is asking for £500,000.

"Dry" Campaign Shelved.—Mr. "Pussyfoot" Johnson is still out of action.

A Precaution.—Turkish gold reserves in Berlin are to be transferred to Paris.

A Second Time.—Of 216,000 war widows, 38,000 have re-married.

Criticism Reaches Royal Ears.—It is said that the Prince of Wales has initiated an inquiry into the working of his fund.

Moving.—The Guards Club will move into their new premises in Brook street at the New Year.

Empty Stockings.—Parents are complaining about the prices of toys at home and are buying less.

That Morning Rasher.—Early in the New Year the Ministry of Food will reduce the price of bacon.

For all Time.—A permanent memorial is to be erected on the site of the present cenotaph in Whitehall.

A Freakish Burst.—A boiler explosion at Cradley Heath rendered five families homeless.

"The Mothers' Arms."—A London public house, turned into a maternity centre, has been re-named "The Mothers' Arms."

Optimistic.—Mr. J. H. Thomas, M.P. holds that the Labour Party is ultimately destined to rule.

Harmless.—The ex-Emperor Carl of Austria with his family is in exile at a chateau near Geneva.

Inadequate.—£10,000 has been voted by the Commons for the erection of sanatoria.

Stone Instead of Stock.—Oswestry Council is selling War Stock to purchase a stone quarry.

Nothing to war Profits.—During the current financial year £71,500,000 is being expended in war gratuities.

On View.—The aeroplane used to cross the Atlantic is to be given to the New Science Museum, South Kensington.

Higher Doctors' Bills.—Practitioners in many districts at home are increasing their fees by 50 per cent.

A "Habit."—A London woman told the magistrate that her husband was in the habit of beating her every morning.

Anything but Work.—Although unemployment doles were discontinued, there was no rush for employment.

Work for Unemployed.—The Vatican is erecting a huge boarding house for the accomodation of visiting pilgrims.

Others to Wait.—It will take three or four years to provide medals for men who actually fought in the war.

Holy Ground.—Lieut. Col. Wilson, the last Town Major of Ypres, has written a book on the famous salient.

"Jumperitis."—A Bristol woman claims that she can complete a jumper ready to wear in 24 working hours.

"Scooter" Insurance.—A new form of life and accident insurance has been raised by the motor scooter.

"Neverland."—A postcard, posted near London bears the address—"Santa Claus, Neverland," and asks for a scooter.

Munition Affluence.—Formerly foreman in a munitions factory, a Carnarvon man left £8,000 to his widow.

We Thought it "Dry."—Sir Thomas Lipton, who has returned from the States, says there is a good stock of whisky in America.

London Pearl Hunt.—A woman's pearl necklace came to pieces in the lift of a London tube. All the pearls were recovered.

Cutting out the Profiteer.—Army civilian suits and overcoats are to be supplied by Bradford Corporation to its employees in lieu of salary.

Plenty of Camps.—There is a shortage of accommodation for the new Army owing to barracks having fallen into a state of disrepair.

Navy's "Old Bill."—Comdr. Bickford is described as the Navy's "Old Bill." He commanded the naval gun mounting teams on the Belgian sand dunes.

Should a Patient Know?—An eminent lady doctor holds that it is the duty of a doctor to tell a patient he is going to die.

Plum Pudding Defence.—The Principal of the Institute of Hygiene says from a health point of view the English Christmas dinner is the best in the world.

Benevolent Cleanliness.—Bradford is to offer unemployed at least one week's work street cleaning between now and Christmas.

Ordeal of Bride-to-be.—An Ealing landlord let rooms on condition that the tenant, a bride-to-be, told a crowd of waiting applicants that she had secured the rooms. This she did.

AROUND AND ABOUT.

THE PRINCE'S AMBITION.

When the Prince of Wales was a very little boy, so the story goes, he one day pondered deeply on ethics, as ethics appeared to his young consciousness. With his thought was mingled also something of unquestioning belief in the power of monarchs for good. Said his Royal Highness: "When I become King, the first thing I will do will be to make an end of all sin."

IN THE MIDST OF PAIN.

At the time that he was composing the music for "Pinafore," one of the merriest of operas, Sir Arthur Sullivan was suffering from a most painful disease. There was hardly an hour while the work was on that he was not at the verge of fainting.

If Sullivan could keep his labours untainted of groans, how much easier it must be for us who seldom experience such sufferings.

It takes but little self-discipline to keep irritation to oneself, to force cheerfulness to maintain the upper hand of depression to present a brave face to all about us The person who says that, come what may, it shall find him unafraid, has won the greatest thing in life—the mastery of his own spirit.

SOLITAIRE.

By a piece of good luck the new recruit had been appointed orderly to his captain, and the latter was now giving him his instructions.

"You are to rise at 5 o'clock," he said, "shave yourself and clean your boots and equipment. Then you clean my boots, buttons, belt, etc., shave me, see to my horse—which you must groom thoroughly—and clean the equipment. After that you go to your hut, help to serve out breakfast, and after breakfast lend a hand washing up. At 8 o'clock you go on parade and drill till 12—."

The recruit, whose face had been growing longer and longer, then interrupted:

"Beg pardon, sir, but is there anyone else in the army beside me?"

FORGETFUL TOMMIES.

During the fighting in France it was a common thing for commanding officers to have to confess to mislaying Government property, from tanks and howitzers downwards; but if there was one thing the infantryman kept tight hold on it was his rifle. Loss of that weapon left him practically defenceless, but perhaps even more potent for carefulness was the stoppage made in respect of that article. To-day, however, the infantryman and his rifle seem to be soon parted, if one may judge from the experiences of the carrying companies, restaurants, and hotels. The lost property offices have all fine collections of the British service rifles, and the railway companies in particular are embarrassed by the stocks they have accumulated.

BLEAK HOUSE.

Dickens's novel is to be adopted to the cinema, and there has been something of a hue-and-cry for the original Bleak House. Many visitors to Broadstairs imagine that they have seen it on the cliff overlooking the little harbour. But Dickens did not even write any portion of his novel in that well-situated house, which was then Fort House, though he rented it in 1850. The real Bleak House, there is good reason to believe, stood at the top of Gombards Road, St. Albans, where it still stands, but Tudorized out of all Dickensian knowledge.

APOLOGISED.

Those amusing comedians, the Poluski Brothers, tell this story against themselves. Some years ago they were playing in Bradford, where audiences have the reputation of being particularly hard to please. One day Will overheard his landlady's small boy declaring that the Poluskis were "the worst top of the bill they had ever had in the city." Complaint was made to the boy's father, and he was duly punished. However, the father himself—so the story runs—went to see the show for himself, and on his return home woke the boy up, gave him a shilling, and apologised.

WHICH WAS WHICH?

A party of admiring friends were being shown round the young artist's studio.

"Have you painted anything recently?" asked a gushing lady.

"Yes," said the painter modestly. "Here are my most recent works. One picture is of my father, the other is a landscape painted on Hampstead Heath."

The lady looked carefully at the canvases a moment, then she turned and asked:

"Which one did you say was your father, Mr. Madder?"

THE UNMENTIONABLE.

A millionaire jam manufacturer, having retired from business and married an earl's daughter, was ashamed of the trade whereby he had piled up his fortune. One day he wrote to a neighbour an impudent letter complaining of the way in which the other's servants were trespassing on his grounds. The neighbour wrote back:—

"Dear Sir,—I am very sorry to hear that my servants have been poaching on your preserves.

"P.S.—Excuse my mentioning your preserves."

IT'S PRETTY GOOD.

"I remember once being present at some party in a London house, when all the latest patterns in poets and artists were present," writes Hugh Walpole in the "Patrician." "Arnold Bennett was there, silent and observant in his corner, very ready to talk, if someone wished to talk, but quite happy to watch and listen in silence.

"I remember a young poet flushed with the success of a recitation of two of his own works, going up to Bennett and asking him whether he had any use for any of the 'old stuff.'

"'Old stuff?,' said Bennett, "well—I don't know. There's "Job" you know, and 'Ezekiel.'"

"'Oh, the Bible,' said the writer, contemptuously.

"'It's pretty good," said Bennett, "You read it.'"

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE AND PERSONAL MEDIUM

Do you read the Personal Advts.? There may be a message for you. No advertisement inserted unless name and address is given. A Box No. may always be used, however, if desired. Send 4 Mks. for each line of seven words, including address, to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

FOR SALE.

XMAS CARDS. Rhineland souvenir series, one mark each at the "Cologne Post" Book Room, The Arcade, Hohe Strasse.

SECOND HAND prismatic binoculars Zeiss-Goerz, Busch & Voigtländer for sale at Blumenfeld, Balthasarstr. 24, near Deutscher Ring.

ARTISTIC Studio in Berlin offers closed collection of coloured sketches and designs in carpets to cheapest prices. Calling hours: 11 to 2. Sieber, Ursulastrasse 35.

POSTAGE, Stamps. Collection of Europe, no war-stamps in finest condition catalogue price Mk. 70,000. For sale at £275. Apply to Langbein, Cologne, Richartzstr. 2a.

16 H.P. PHANOMEN CAR late 1917 6 seater upholstered in fine leather just overhauled £425. Box 105 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

GRAND PIANO. First-class instrument splendid tone, for sale. Weissenburgstrasse 37 I, Rau.

VIOLINE-CELLO. Old master instruments with rich tone for sale. Weissenburgstrasse 37 I, Rau.

BUSINESS-PREMISES in centre of the town comprising Shop, Office, Warehouse and Awenty rooms. For sale Mks. 135,000.—. Letters Box 108, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (1)

GOOD OLD English Violin. Set of beds for first class orchestra, and Pathe Frères cinematograph for drawing room with dynamo attached. Apply Sgt. J. Spencer, Kretzer strasse 2, Cöln-Nippes.

WANTED.

JEUNE fille française ou belge recherchée comme steno-dactylographe pour bureau. Inutile de savoir l'allemande Presse. Richard Kempner, Importation, Exportation, Cologne, Engelbertstrasse. 65. Téléfone A 2901.

YOUNG GERMAN with fair knowledge of English is prepared to exchange conversation with an Englishman. Letters to Lütticherstr. 67 III, floor.

WANTED bedroom, sitting room and kitchen or use of kitchen. British Warrant Officer's wife. Box 198, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

A LADY as nursery governess, to take entire charge of Girl, 4½ years old, of an English Officer remaining in Cologne. Must have some knowledge of German. Write stating age, salary and previous experience to Box No. 100, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

PERSONAL.

TOMMY. Have you ordered your Xmas cards from the "Cologne Post" Book Room yet? They have a special series of Rhineland cards at one mark each.

LIZZIE GEEVES. Dearest, return to me at once (minus the 'cello and flute) all forgiven, cannot sleep without you near. Your loving sweetheart. S. B.

LOST.

LOST on Monday a black leather pocket wallet between Monopol and Kronprinz Hotels Finder rewarded. Box 102 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S 40.

MISSING.

PTE. MILLS (27509) Royal Berks Regt. Any information gladly received by Mrs. Mills, 23 Buttermere Rd., Sheffield. (H)

INFORMATION is wanted of Pte. M. H. Holmes No. 54815 6th platoons 1/5 West Yorks, missing since April 25th 1918 Kemmel Hill. Supposed to have been seen since at Shuttort and Fockedy premises in Maubeuge. Kindly write Holmes 3 Windsor Rd., Shipley Yorks.

SPORT.

B COY 20th Durham L. J. would like to arrange away matches with other companies in Cologne area in the following Footbal (Association or Rugby) Hockey. Running. Apply to Capt. Andrews, 20th D.L.J., Cologne. (2)

LANGUAGES.

YOUNG German merchant wants lessons in English or exchange against German in the evening after 8 p.m. please apply to Fr. K. Jiktin, 9 Erftstrasse, I. Floor, (off Hansa Ring.)

THE NEW
N. A. C. B.
DEPARTMENT STORES

NOW OPEN.

—the latest and greatest of all the N.A.C.B. enterprises in Cologne — the magnificent and commodious department stores, completely equipped to handle every kind of commodity and arranged in the manner of a first-class London shop. Here Officers and their wives are able to fill all their immediate needs, under one roof, passing from one counter to another, paying at the desk for all purchases.

WHAT YOU CAN BUY

A much wider range of articles may be purchased than it is possible to give here but the items mentioned will give some idea of the scope of your own stores.

ALL CAKES AND PASTRIES
CONFECTIONERY
CLOTHING
SPORTS GOODS
FANCY GOODS
STATIONERY
SOAPS ETC.
PERFUMERY
GROCERIES
ALL WINES SPIRITS
LIQUEURS
ALL BEERS
TOBACCO
ALL CIGARS
CIGARETTES
RAZORS ETC.
OFFICER'S CLOTHING

LADIES DEPARTMENT

A special room has been reserved and equipped for the sale of ladies clothing and other personal requirements.

THE TEA ROOM

The tea room is quite an attractive feature of the N.A.C.B. Store and undoubtedly helps in making shopping a pleasure instead of a tiresome necessity. Large and comfortably arranged with separate tables customers may, in company with their wives, enjoy a real cup of tea with cakes, pastries and so on.

FOR OFFICERS & THEIR WIVES
AT 27
OBENMARSPFORTEN
Turn off the Hohestr. towards the Rhine – opposite Brückenstr.

NOW OPEN
COME TO-DAY

"N.A.C.B. SERVICE."

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marcellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 12, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. 843 British Army of the Rhine.

MORE ABOUT THE XMAS SOUVENIR NUMBER ON PAGE TWO

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

SPECIAL FOR BOOK LOVERS SEE PAGE FOUR

No. 220. COLOGNE, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

RUSSIAN SOVIET TRICKERY.

LITVINOFF VIOLATES DANISH HOSPITALITY IN SPITE OF PLEDGES.

GERMANY ADMITS THE SCAPA SCUTTLINGS.

PEACE-OFFERS.

SOVIET'S ABUSE OF DANISH HOSPITALITY.

Litvinoff has forwarded to the Allies Diplomatic Representatives in Denmark the Soviet resolution adopted at Moscow on the 5th December recording a desire for peace. The resolution specifies numerous alleged earlier proposals and offers to begin at once negotiations with the "Big Five," collectively or individually. The covering letter authorises Litvinoff to enter into negotiations regarding the place of the proposed conference.

Reuter's Copenhagen correspondent learns from an entirely reliable source that Litvinoff's communications to the British, American, French and Italian Ministers at Copenhagen containing the Soviet Government's Peace offer were returned to him. The Diplomatic Representatives concerned no doubt held the view that this attempt to touch on the question of peace negotiations in Copenhagen was a breach of the understanding that conversations were to be strictly limited to the question of exchange of prisoners and repatriation of nationals.

They hold that Litvinoff is not a free agent; that he came to Denmark as a kind of Parlementaire under a British safe-conduct purely for humanitarian and not for political purposes, that furthermore Denmark only agreed to his stay on this understanding and that it would be a breach of faith with Denmark to let his stay be made use of for political purposes. Thus no official cognisance has been taken of Litvinoff's step by the Allied Powers. The action of the Allied representatives in thus refusing to take official notice of Litvinoff's communications is in complete harmony with Great Britain's agreement to Denmark.

Mr. J. O'Grady thinks he will succeed in arranging for an exchange of Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates for the end of January.

ANTWERP ARRESTS.

PLOT TO SEIZE SHIPLOADS OF MUNITIONS.

Three lighters loaded with munitions belonging to the British Army were to have left Antwerp for England yesterday. The British authorities were informed by the police, however, that a plot was brewing in connection with the vessels. Search of the river craft revealed three Russians abroad one of the lighters. They were promptly arrested. An enquiry is pending.

DARING ROBBERY.

THIEF STEALS £20,000 WORTH OF JEWELS.

Early on Thursday evening a thief climbed the portico in front of the house in Cadogan Square, Pimlico, occupied by Mr. Paul Nelke of Nelke, Phillips and Co. Although the family and servants were in the house, the thief entered a bedroom and escaped unnoticed, taking with him jewels to the value of £20,000.

FIRST ACCIDENT.

PARIS 'PLANE CRASHES AT CATERHAM.

The Airco aeroplane on the daily Paris to London journey crashed in a field at Caterham yesterday owing to the dense mist. The passenger was killed and the pilot badly injured. He is now in hospital.

This is the first accident involving personal injuries since the London-Paris air-service started in August, though the machines have flown fifty thousand miles

CLEMENCEAU IN LONDON.

M. Clemenceau arrived at Victoria on Thursday morning and was met by Mr. Lloyd George, Viscount Curzon, Mr. Walter Long and the French Ambassador. He was accorded a great ovation. The Channel crossing was very rough, the French destroyer on which M. Clemenceau travelled, being continuously swept by heavy seas, which also necessitated a landing at Dover instead of Folkestone. At midday M. Clemenceau had a conversation with Mr. Lloyd George at Downing street. It is understood that the subjects of discussion during his brief stay will include the French exchange, coal supplies to France, the League of Nations, the Peace Treaty, the situation in the United States, also Russia, Turkey and the Adriatic.

The Labour Ministry announces that the branch which was formed to advise soldiers regarding the industrial side of demobilization, is now closed.

SCAPA SCUTTLING.

GERMANY NOW ADMITS RESPONSIBILITY.

The German reply to the Allies' Note has been received. According to the "Intransigeant" it is substantially a capitulation on the Scapa Flow question, but proposes discussion on other points in the Supreme Council's Note.

ROSS SMITH AND CO.

"ONCE IS ENOUGH," THEY SAY.

Captain Ross Smith's actual flying time between London and Australia was 124 hours, which gives an average speed of seventy-five miles per hour. The adventurers sighted Australia when forty miles away. The longest time in the air was the nine and a half hours between Karachi and Delni, when they were obliged to avoid the great desert as the fine dust would have injured the engines. The worst weather experienced was in the Malay Peninsula, where owing to the heat and stagnation of the air they worked at nights tinkering the machine. The airmen are emphatic that they do not wish to repeat the feat, the variations of heat and cold subjecting the machine to enormous strains, but they are convinced that the commercial air route is feasible with relays of machines.

U.S. COAL STRIKE ENDED.

"PATRIOTIC ACTION" OF MINERS.

The coal strike in the United States is over. The terms of settlement provide for an immediate resumption of work; fourteen per cent. advance in wages and the appointment of a Commission which will endeavour to determine within two months the basis of the new wages agreements.

President Wilson has telegraphed to the miners' leader, Mr. Lewis, his appreciation of the "patriotic action" taken by the miners yesterday at Indianapolis. He adds, "Now we must all work together to see that a settlement just and fair to everyone is reached without delay."

PREMIER ASTOUNDED.

TRANSPORT MUDDLE TO BLAME.

On Thursday the Premier, who was accompanied by Sir Eric Geddes, received a deputation from South Wales mining industry, who entered a protest against the existing transport muddle. Quoting instances of delay the deputation declared that it is impossible to increase production until the situation is improved. The Premier said he was astounded at the evidence produced and he regarded the position as so serious that he would consult the officials concerned and reply to the delegation on the following day

COMMONS ALL NIGHT SITTING.

After a continuous sitting of over fifteen and a half hours the House of Commons adjourned at 6.30 yesterday morning. The occasion was the Committee stage of Dr. Addison's Housing Bill, many clauses of which particularly the subsidy proposal, were hotly contested. The Bill passed through Committee, however, without radical amendment.

RUMANIA SIGNS UP.

The Rumanian plentipotentiary has signed the protocol acceding to the Austrian and Bulgarian Treaties and the Treaty providing for the protection of minorities.

BRITISH SERGEANT MURDERED.

No arrests have yet been made in connection with the murder of a British sergeant named Good, who was recently found shot near Calais. When discovered Sergeant Good was still alive but died in hospital at Calais. Robbery is suggested as the motive of the crime.

BIG LINERS IN COLLISION.

A cable from Boston states that on the 10th December the liners Carmania and Maryland collided at sea, some 500 miles East of Halifax. Both vessels were only slightly damaged.

MEDALS FOR CHINESE.

It was announced in the House of Commons on Thursday that Chinese labourers enrolled in the Labour Corps will receive the British War Medal in bronze.

RECONSTRUCTION.

COALITION GOVERNMENT TO CARRY ON.

Speaking in London yesterday, Mr. A. J. Balfour said that the problems of reconstruction were more difficult and more complex than the problems of the war. Industrial systems were shattered, the system of international credits had largely gone and conditions in Central Europe were deplorable. That was the situation that the victorious coalition had to meet. Unfortunately the greatest of our Allies felt apparently that she could not go to the end in the progress of reconstruction. Although it was utterly out of place for a foreigner to take upon himself the position of critic, it would be a very poor compliment to our American friends to say that we regard with indifference the prospect that they could not and had not seen their way to carry through to the end, in co-operation with us, that work of international re-construction.

Referring to the Peace Treaty, Mr. Balfour said that Peace, although not formally concluded with our chief opponent, may be regarded as practically assured.

Turning to Home politics he said there were those who said that the conditions under which he and members of his party had joined the Coalition Government came to end with the Armistice, or at all events shortly after the Armistice, and that when the object of the Coalition had been attained by victory the Coalition should have been dissolved. Those critics were sincere but took an imperfect view of what was going on. The Coalition Government, begun as a War Government, was continuing as a Reconstruction Government.

D'ANNUNZIO'S RAIDS.

TALKING IT OVER IN LONDON.

Replying to questions in the House of Commons as to whether steps are being taken to put an end to the condition of affairs in the Adriatic consequent on D'Annunzio's raids, Mr. Bonar Law said that the question is at the present moment engaging the attention of both the Italian Government and the Allied Powers.

"I am unable to say anything further at present" he continued. "The Prime Minister of France and the Italian Foreign Minister are now in London. Both the Adriatic and Russian problems will be among the subjects discussed by them."

Commander Kenworthy asked whether after this discussion a statement could be made in the House on these all important questions.

Mr. Bonar Law: "Certainly not, after this discussion. It is too much to expect that any definite final conclusion will be reached on this visit."

AMERICAN ARMY.

DISSATISFIED MEN DESERT.

Grave reports are being published in America, says the "Daily News," concerning the conditions prevailing in the American Army. Unable to live on their pay, officers are resigning and men are deserting in thousands. Iniquitous sentences for trivial errors have caused a profound impression. It is estimated that if war with Mexico broke out serious invasion would be impossible until June. The actual forces on the frontier were sixty thousand. The responsibility for the disappearance of enthusiasm for the Army lies with those officers who have abused their authority.

EFFECT OF MINERS' DEMAND.

The Horden Colliery Company, County Durham, which had intended to reopen the Castle Eden collieries, which have been idle for a number of years, and to erect a thousand new houses at a total cost of £2,225,000 has decided not to proceed with these developments.

This decision has been made owing to the agitation for nationalisation of the mines and the proposal to limit profits to 1s 2d per ton, under which they estimate that their net profits would not exceed two per cent. The contemplated extensions would have provided employment for 2,500 additional hands.

RELIEF OF POOR CLERGY.

The Bishop of Liverpool announces the receipt of £25,000 in Victory Bonds for the assistance of poor clergy. £4,000 will be used for immediate relief and the remainder will form a fund to relieve cases of special need.

NO MINISTER FOR THE R.A.F.

In the House of Lords, replying to Lord Montagu of Beaulieu, the Lord Chancellor said that the Premier had decided that the size and cost of the Air Forces did not justify their representation in Parliament by a Secretary of State.

NO HOME RULE BILL.

It is expected that Parliament will be prorogued towards the end of next week. The Government's statement on Irish Home Rule will not be made this session.

THREAD OF COTTON.

SUSTAINS FORTY PER CENT. DIVIDEND.

The annual meeting of shareholders of J. & P. Coates Ltd. the great thread making concern, held at Glasgow on Thursday, unanimously approved the proposed dividend, equivalent to forty per cent., less income tax.

Sir Thomas Coates, chairman, replied to adverse Press criticisms concerning the company's profits. He said he had repeatedly explained that the great bulk of their trade was done, and much the larger portion of their profit made, outside the United Kingdom. The earnings in home markets were only counted in thousands, not in millions.

He added: "It is remarkable that our enterprise in carrying the flag of British trade to every market in the world for nearly a century should be regarded as tantamount to a crime. We should have thought our efforts to increase British trade deserved approval, not condemnation. (cheers). The charge of profiteering levelled against the firm was absolutely groundless. (cheers). Their accounts and costings were being investigated by the Board of Trade at the company's suggestion, and they awaited the report with perfect equanimity (cheers). Further on, he said there was no prospect of the Company getting payment of the large amounts outstanding in Russia, Austria, Hungary, Germany and elsewhere in the near future.

CHRISTMAS LEAVE.

REVERSION TO PEACE-TIME PRACTICE.

The War Office announces that it is not proposed to issue detailed instructions this year regarding the granting of Christmas and New Year leave.

It is left to the discretion of General Officers commanding in Home Commands to grant, leave in such manner as in their opinion will be in accordance with the custom prior to the war. This privilege will not be extended to troops or members of any of the women's corps who are within a few days of being demobilized, or to soldiers who are in receipt of civil rates of pay.

In all cases arrangements will be made with the railway companies concerned as to the numbers to be sent on leave by railway by specified dates. The dates of return journeys will also be indicated.

AUSTRIAN FOOD RIOTS.

MOB OF WOMEN START LOOTING.

During the last few days serious food riots occurred at Innsbruck, Italian troops having to be called in to keep order. The demonstrators were headed by a woman. When she appeared before the residence of the Governoor of the Province with 300 women he fled. His delegate advised them to appeal to the Mayor and the replies of the latter being deemed unsatisfactory, the demonstrators started plundering the shops and the municipal reserve depot. Afterwards looting became general. Over 100 arrests have been made, mostly of anarchists from Austria and Bavaria.

RUSH FOR HAVANA.

DRINKS ON SALE THERE.

Prohibitionists in the States are organising a campaign to prevent Havana becoming a second Monte Carlo. The State Department has eighty thousand applications for passports from Americans waiting to go to Cuba, where the sale of drink is unrestricted and games of chance flourish.

MESPOT. DEMOB.

All 1915 and 1916 men retained in Mesopotamia who enlisted voluntarily prior to the 1st July 1916, or who are over thirty-seven years of age, or are entitled to wear three wound stripes, are either already under orders to move to the Base prior to sailing or have already left for home.

Men who are eligible under current instructions will move to the Base normally one month before they are due to sail.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING.

The Food Controller announces that plentiful supplies of unrationed foodstuffs and fruit will be available for Christmas. To facilitate shopping he had decided to allow the rations of sugar and butter for the week beginning on the 22nd to be purchased during the preceding week.

LONDON FEVER HOSPITALS FULL.

There are five thousand cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria in the eleven hospitals of the Metropolitan Asylums Board, and accommodation is now exhausted.

About seventy of the five hundred London motor buses which went out to France in 1914 are again plying in London.

The Antwerp dock strike has collapsed. Work has been resumed and the situation at the port is normal.

SUMMARY COURT.

TOO MUCH CANE AND NOT SUFFICIENT LOVE.

Erich Kreusch, a diminutive youth of twelve, of 160 Gussenstrasse, pleaded guilty to stealing a waterproof groundsheet from a British motor car, but tearfully tried to exonerate himself on the ground that he had been tempted by another boy to commit the theft.

His mother stated that when she was informed of the occurrence she gave the boy a good thrashing.

The Presiding Officer said that German parents did not seem to make friends of their children. If they did not beat them so much and treated them with a little more love and affection it would be much better for the children.

The boy was discharged with a caution and was warned that if he was guilty of any further offences he would be sent to a reformatory.

AN UNAVAILING EXCUSE.

In answer to a charge of being in the unlawful possession of a German dagger, a revolver, three rounds of ammunition and three English blankets, Josef Jülich, a chandler of 28-30 Perlengraben told a curious story.

He asserted that he bought the blankets in Luxemburg and that the other articles had been left at his shop by a child, during his absence, with the object of getting him into trouble.

A German policeman, called for the defence, stated that Jülich reported the matter to him and he promised to communicate with the military police, but in reply to the Presiding Officer he stated that he had forgotten to do so. He had not made a note of the matter in his notebook.

Accused was sentenced to one months imprisonment.

RECOMMENDED FOR DEPORTATION.

In connection with the charge against a number of civilians of being concerned in an attack on two British soldiers, four of the accused were again before the Court. The charge against one of them was dismissed, another was remanded until Tuesday and the Presiding Officer stated that he was communicating with the Military Governor with a view to having the other two deported. They were evidently members of a dangerous gang of criminals, and the more effectively it was broken up, the better.

The other six prisoners were committed for trial to the Military Court at the previous day's hearing.

DUBLIN RAIDS.

Early on Thursday morning the Royal Irish Constabulary and military raided the houses of several prominent Sinn Feiners in Dublin, including those of Michael Lennon and Count Plunkett (who were not at home) and Mr. Tom Kelly, M.P., who was arrested. The Dublin Mansion House was also surrounded by police and military and the premises were thoroughly searched. Numerous other raids were carried out simultaneously throughout the country. A number of Sinn Fein prisoners were transferred during the morning from Dublin to an armed vessel which sailed for England.

BRITISH NICKEL CURRENCY.

Now that there is talk of a nickel coinage, points out the Decimal Association, it is worth noting that British Honduras, which has adopted a decimal currency, already has in circulation a 5-cent nickel piece. In the United States, when new, this coin weighs exactly 5 grams, so establishing a connection between currency, weights and measures.

RUSH FOR LOTTERY BONDS.

Although the subscription list for the forthcoming issue of French Premium Bonds did not open until the 12th, it is stated that the British applications already exceed 160 million sterling. Applications were pouring in to the French banks in London yesterday, mostly for small amounts.

BOLSHEVISTS' FRANK ADMISSION.

The Svinska Dagblad (Stockholm) declares that the Bolshevist delegates to the Dorpat Conference attribute the abandonment of their offensive to their recent extremely heavy losses, which amounted to nearly 30,000 killed and wounded.

INTEREST ON WAR DEBT POSTPONED.

The United States Government has agreed to permit the Allies to defer for three years payment of interest on the £2,000,000,000 loaned to them during the war.

BISHOP RESIGNS.

The Bishop of Ripon has accepted the Mastership of St. Catherine's College, Cambridge. He resigns the Bishopric early next year.

The King yesterday approved the issue of the British War Medal called the General Service Medal.

While the basin of the Medici Fountain in the Luxembourg Gardens in Paris was being cleaned, an unexploded bomb, apparently dropped by a Gotha, was found. It was removed without accident.

BANK HOLD-UP.

LEEDS MANAGER SHOT DEAD BY ROBBER.

On Thursday afternoon an audacious attempt was made to hold up the branch of the Yorkshire Penny Bank in Leeds. The manager Mr. E. P. Oates, of Lethley Drive, was shot dead.

The murderer decamped, taking four hundred pounds in notes from the counter. He entered a waiting taxi and disappeared. He is believed to be an ex-Lieutenant of the Devons.

ADVERSE EXCHANGES.

PLAN FOR STABILISATION.

The eminent financier, Lord Swaythling, has just returned from America. Asked for his views on the problem of supplying Europe in the face of the increasing difficulty of payment owing to the rise of the American rate of exchange, he said that the deadlock is removable only by international agreement. He suggested the suspension of payments for three years on imports of machinery and raw materials by buyers in necessitous countries, the Governments concerned guaranteeing the exporters against loss.

According to the Paris newspaper "La Liberté" the American Bankers Association, whose representatives recently conferred with the British and Belgian Economic Missions in Paris, has issued a statement announcing the establishment of a National Committee for Financing Europe.

A loan will be issued in the United States for between two and four billion dollars in long term credits, with the object of stabilising the exchanges. The public will be invited to subscribe for fifty-dollar bonds.

O'GRADY CONFERENCE.

SUPPLIES FOR OUR PEOPLE IN RUSSIA.

An agreement has been reached at the Conference between Mr. O'Grady and Litvinoff under which the Soviet Government permits the despatch of warm clothing, drugs, food and money to British prisoners, in return for permission to load a ship with drugs for its own use.

Arrangements have been made to exchange letters at the frontier at stated intervals, enabling British and Russian prisoners to communicate with their homes.

ASQUITH REPLIES.

HOW WE STOOD IN 1916.

Mr. Asquith has lost no time in replying to Mr. Lloyd George's speech on the 6th. Speaking at Manchester he asserted that the Allied cause was never more vigorously conducted than in 1916, at the end of which year the aggressive power of the enemy was decisively broken and the foundation laid for certain and speedy victory.

He disagreed with the Premier that it is impossible to govern the country at the present time without a Coalition. He is convinced that the Liberal Party is perfectly capable of doing so.

MOULDERS STRIKE.

EMPLOYERS CONCEDE A POINT.

The Engineering Employers Federation has agreed to open negotiations with the ironmoulders who are on strike without insisting on a prior resumption of work. It is believed that a Conference will now be speedily arranged.

INCREASE IN PRICE OF NEWSPAPERS.

Our sprightly ally, "The Amaroc News" has been forced to follow suit in the matter of prices. From yesterday onwards each copy of the paper purchased retail costs one mark. Labour, paper, salaries have all gone up. As our contemporary points out, however, one mark is worth little more than two cents American, and it is practically impossible to purchase a newspaper in the U.S.A. at such a price.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

A better tone prevailed yesterday in consequence of the recovery of the French rate of exchange, the absence of forced selling and the termination of the United States coal strike. Brokers reported improved public demand on the theory that the recent depression had been overdone. Oils were stimulated by reference at the Peninsular and Oriental Company meeting to the growing use of oilfuel for their ships. The markets closed slightly under best. The Money Market was quiet and easy, with discounts steady. India and Spain paid 10½s for bar gold. Silver advanced to 76¼ pence, due to the weak American exchange and good general demand. The Exchange on Paris was 43, New York 3.73, Italy 50.50, Holland 10.03, Germany 179-181, Austria 600-650. De Beers Consolidated mines declared a dividend on Preference shares of twenty per cent., also a dividend of sixty per cent. on Deferred Shares for the half year ending 31st December.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

FLIGHTS LTD

MILITARY TAILORS

LONDON. WINCHESTER. ALDERSHOT.

Owing to military requirements Mr. A. J. R. Lee has been compelled to change his address to

KRONPRINZ HOTEL

(Behind The Excelsior Hotel)

where he will have his usual excellent selection of material, both for Mufti and Uniform, also a stock of Hosiery of the best quality.

LATE OF THE OFFICERS' CLUB No. 1.

NOVITAS Ltd.

COLOGNE

Luxemburgerstrasse 72

TOYS WHOLESALE

EXPORT WHOLESALE

MANUFACTORY

Mention The Cologne Post when replying to advertisements. It help you and the advertisers.

GREAT ONES! SMALL ONES!
SHORT ONES! TALL ONES!

Our specially prepared selection CHRISTMAS PRESENTS is at your disposal

When in the Hohestrasse walk right in

THE BRITISH MILITARY SHOP

No. 100

Watches, Razors, Brooches, Ornaments, Original Eau de Cologne, Perfumery, Manicure and Dressing Sets etc., etc.

EVERY DESCRIPTION ALARM CLOCKS IMPORTERS PLEASE NOTE

Small Clocks, Flash Lamps, Pipes, Cutlery, Cigarette Lighters, Fancy Beaded Bags

PARISIAN SILK

Table Centres, Scarves, Pinafores, Handkerchiefs etc.

SOUVENIRS OF COLOGNE

A Large Stock of English Xmas Cards

NOTE ADDRESS

ROBARTS & QUANTOCK

100, HOHESTRASSE, COLOGNE.

The Cologne Post

Xmas Souvenir Number

It will not be a newspaper sheet like the regular daily issue—but an artistic production in magazine form printed on first class paper and copiously illustrated by photographs. It will be enclosed in a cover printed in colours and will form an unique Souvenir of the Army of Occupation on the Rhine. It will describe and picture all the activities of the British Army, all of the principal events since we came to Rhineland and most of those who took part in them, it will feature the various clubs and institutes, the entertainment, the sports, the drama, music and education and many other phases of the soldier's life on the Rhine. And besides all this, there will be many features that are essentially of a Christmas Character.

Among those who have written especially for this fine Souvenir Number may be mentioned:—

Philip Gibbs, the famous war-correspondent and author of "The Soul of the War" etc. W. E. Hornung, creator of the immortal "Raffles", author of Stingaree stories etc. Prof. Archibald-Main, M.A., LL.D., C.F., of St Andrews University, specially well known to the Scottish Troops on the Rhine. Decima Moore, C.B.E., the clever actress and founder of the British Empire Leave Club. Dr. A. Francis, M.A., the Organiser of the Y.M.C.A. institutes for the soldiers of Rhineland. The Rev. G. Kendall, C.F., the popular padre of the West Yorks. R. F. Gardiner, well known for his administration of the Scottish Churches Huts. Alfred Barker, the Soldier-Violonist, who charms Cologne Audiences, and also members of "The Cologne Post" literary Staff.

The price of the "Cologne Post" Christmas Souvenir Number is 7 Marks or 9d in British currency and when you see it you will admit that it is well worth the money. You will be delighted with it and so will your people, and friends at home. It will be something to keep and to assure when you have finished serving out here. If you wish to mail it to Great Britain in the cover in a wrapper will be one shilling nett. It will be out very soon now, but the date of the issue cannot be definitely announced for a few days.

Xmas Souvenir Number

The Cologne Post

Church of England Services in Cologne.

THE GARRISON CHURCH (C. of E.)
Schildergasse

SUNDAY Dec. 14th ADVENT III.
Holy Communion: 8.00, 11.30, 19.00 hrs.
PARADE SERVICE. 10.30 hrs.
Rev. H.S.F. Collier C.F.
EVENSONG. 18.00 hrs.
Rev. J.C.L. Johnstone C.F.
Chaplain to the Inniskilling Dragoons.
CHILDREN'S SERVICE: (Loreley Hall, Y.M.C.A.) Rev. W. Dominey C.F.
Wednesdays: Dec. 17th, HOLY COMMUNION 8.00 hrs.

CHURCH ARMY CHAPEL, HOTEL DU NORD.
HOLY COMMUNION: Sundays 8.00 hrs. Tuesday and Friday 7.30 hrs.

Catholic Services in Cologne on Sundays.

COLOGNE, CATHEDRAL
Mass in Cathedral at 8 a.m. (north Transept) High Mass in Cathedral at 9-15 a.m.
Parade Mass in Minoritenkirche (Minoritenstr.), 2 minutes from Cathedral at 10 a.m.
Rosary and Benediction in Minoritenkirche at 7 p.m. Confessions in Cathedral on Saturdays from 5—7 p.m.

Church of England Services in Bonn

IN GARRISON CHURCH, BONN.
EVERY SUNDAY:
Holy Communion 8.00 hrs.
" " 11.45 hrs.
" " 19.00 hrs.
Garrison Parad. Serv. 10.00 hrs.
Evening Sermon 18.00 hrs.

Scottish Churches and English Free Churches.

THE MILITARY CHURCH.
6 Filzengraben (Turning off Heumarkt.)
Sunday, 14th December
11 a.m. Preacher: Rev. G. A. SEATH, C.F.
(Garrison Chaplain.)
6 p.m. Rev. C. E. James C.F.
Cars Nos. 6, 7, 11, 18 and 20.

Welsh Service 2.30 p.m. in Y.M.C.A. Central.

Rhenania Druggery
English Chemist.
All English medical prescriptions made up.
Large stocks of German and foreign chemical proprietories.
COLOGNE, Hohe Pforte 9a near Waidmarkt

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.
To-night and nightly at 6 p.m.
The first production of
"SINGER OF THE VELDT"
By British Rhine Army Dramatic Coy.
A Modern Comedy in 3 Acts,
by Miss INEZ BENSUSAN.

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstrasse
Sunday, Dec. 14th 1919, at 6 p.m.
Grand Ballad Concert
ARTISTES:
Lieut. S. E. PERCY
Will Recite "THE HAPPY PRINCE".
ERIC MORGAN
The Well-known English Tenor
MARTHA BRUCH
Mezzo-Soprano
HOWARD FRY
Baritone
ALFRED BARKER
The Brilliant English Violinist
Special Augmented Orchestra under the direction of ALFRED BARKER.
Book at Amusements Office.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.
To-night and nightly at 6 p.m.,
Mr. ALFRED HURLEY'S
LONDON VARIETY COMPANY
ARTISTES:
Leslie Nancie
ROSS and HANTON
In screaming duologues.
MARGUERITE DE LARA
Prestidigitator.
GERALD WILLIAMS
The Popular Tenor.
WARWICK PRYCE
Entertainer at the Piano from St. George's Hall, London
C. POWELL-EASTBURY
Baritone and Humourist
and
MARJORIE BOWYA
Soprano and Violinist.

No 1 Cinema is now closed.
No: 2 ARMY CINEMA.
(Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.
No: 3 ARMY CINEMA.
(Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.
Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc.,
Staff Instructor in attendance.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
CINEMA
Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post
Telephones: Military, No. 659. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Saturday, December 13, 1919.

THE OBSTACLE.

What is it that in the main checks production to-day so that the wheels of progress are clogged and the descent to ruin is not checked?

Greed, coupled with ignorance, is the great enemy we have to grapple with in these days before a sound peace is an accomplished fact.

Greed of gain has reduced our national output, not the greed of one class only but of all who have been competing to get as much as possible out of the war, with the result we all see—the outrageous rise in the cost of living so that nobody is any better off and many are in a sorry plight.

We British are not naturally a greedy people, either. If we have a fault it has been on the other side—over-generosity. There is nothing inherently penurious or grasping in our national character.

But in the early days of the war it was seen that certain classes of the community and certain trades were making abnormal gains, not because they sought to profiteer but the unique circumstances caused money to be thrust upon them.

Thus the harm began and the disease grew. And those in power, instead of educating the public with the true facts of the situation, aggravated the evil by doles first to one class and then another.

When the nation needs reconstruction on sound economic lines so badly the problem is immensely difficult to solve at short notice.

One of the methods by which great production can be attained is payment by results, but it is hard to convince the worker of this. The theory that there is only a certain amount of work and that the slower it is done the better for all, is hard to combat. Education may convince the workers that this is a fallacy but Education is slow. Yet it seems our one salvation and we must organise it thoroughly and pay adequately for it

FIGHTING IN THE AIR.

It is an ambitious task that Major Charles C. Turner has set himself in his book "The Struggle in the Air." It is an attempt to describe the great achievements during the war of our air services, and to present them in due relation to the rapid developments in the mechanics of flight and the art of flying. To accomplish all this in the space of one volume of not abnormal length and to avoid making it a mere string of bald facts, is no easy task, but Major Turner has succeeded quite well in producing a book that displays an intimate knowledge of the whole vast subject, which interests one from first to last.

Major Turner tells us he was one of the earliest aviators—No. 70 in the British list—and previously was a balloonist. Two days before England declared war against Germany he offered his services and obtained a commission in the R.N.A.S. He recalls what aircraft of all kinds were able to do when the war began, as regards speed, duration of flight, load carrying, climbing and manoeuvring and tells us that in spite of our unpreparedness and unsuitability of our aircraft for fighting in the air, aeroplane design was then more advanced than it appeared to the casual observer. The war, of course, saw innumerable improvements, and as time went on, machines were more and more highly specialised.

A STUPENDOUS TASK.

"But what a task was faced by the air services when war broke out!" the author remarks. "Yet" he adds, "we have seen their swift triumph. After six months of war, those who had scoffed, acknowledged that aircraft were indispensible."

In the first three weeks of their work in France the Royal Flying Corps by their initiative and daring had caused the Germans to fear them. Even in the retreat from Mons the work our aviators did was an earnest of the triumphs they won later.

Actually the first fight in the air was on August 15th, 1914, when a French aeroplane encountered a German, and the first recorded aerial fight of a British airman occurred twelve days later. In those early days, duels in the air were fought with the aid of carbines, automatic pistols and revolvers. Neither of the nations engaged in the Great War had given much thought to the use of aeroplanes for this purpose: attention had been given to reconnaissance and bomb dropping but practically none to the aerial duel. The machine gun as an aeroplane weapon was a subsequent development.

Major Turner records numbers of amazing fights in the air, which are a great tribute to the daring of our airmen, and in fairness, it must be admitted, to that of our Allies and enemies as well. One fought by Major L. W. Brabazon Rees, for which he was awarded the V.C., is typical of many. Whilst on flying duties, Major Rees sighted what he thought to be a bombing party of our own machines returning home. He went up to escort them, but then found they were enemy craft. He was immediately attacked by one, and after a short encounter, it disappeared behind the enemy lines damaged. Five others then attacked at long range, but these he dispersed on coming to close quarters, after seriously damaging two of the machines. Seeing two others going westwards, he gave chase to them, but on coming nearer, he was wounded in the thigh, causing him to lose temporary control of his machine. He soon righted it, and immediately closed with the enemy, firing at close contact range of only a few yards until all his ammunition was used up.

AMAZING AIR BATTLES.

The book is crammed with thrilling narratives of this kind. For instance, a British aeroplane was soaring 11,000 feet above German territory on reconnoitring duty. Suddenly a shell burst near it, killing the pilot instantly, severly damaging the machine, but not injuring the observer Lieut. Howey. The aeroplane tipped nose downwards and fell 6,000 feet, Howey during this terrific fall performing a veritable gymnastic feat. He succeeded in slipping from his place to that of his comrade, unclasped his dead hands, sat upon his knees, and in spite of the appalling situation seized the control lever, and in a miraculous manner righted his machine just at the moment it reached earth, after a veritable plunge to death.

The records of such feats would be incomplete without reference to those performed by the late Captain Albert Ball. They have been told before, but bear repetition. In his first encounter, for which he was awarded the D.S.O., he observed seven enemy machines in formation and immediately attacked one of them, and shot it down at fifteen yards range. The remaining machines retired. Immediately afterwards, seeing five more hostile machines, he attacked one at about ten yards range and shot it down, flames coming out of the fuselage. He then attacked another of the machines, which had been firing at him, and shot it down into a village, where it landed on the top of a house. He then went to the nearest aerodrome for more ammunition and returning, attacked three more machines, causing them to dive under control. Being then short of petrol he came home; his own machine was badly shot about. When this gallant young airman fought his last fight in 1917 he had about fifty German machines to his score.

THE GREATEST OF ALL.

Up to the end of 1916 the biggest aerial battle was the one that took place East of Arras in November of that year, when seventy aeroplanes were engaged. Aerial combats grew in numbers as the war progressed, and the types of machines for the purpose had been vastly improved. It is quite impossible to mention more of the numerous fights described, or to quote Major Turner's clear description of the evolution of the fighting plane.

Nor must it be thought that the actual contests in the air occupy the larger portion of his book. They form only a part, though a most fascinating part, of his full survey of the struggle in the air from 1914 to 1918. He writes with knowledge on many other phases of aerial warfare—on night flying and bombing, airships and kite balloons, reconnaissance and photography, artillery observation, the raids in England and of sea aircraft.

"The Struggle in the Air" is published by Mr. Edward Arnold, and costs 15s. It is a comprehensive survey of a wonderful, yet often tragic, period and should be on the bookshelves of all who have taken any part in the great war.

C.P.S.

EASTERN EPISODES.

"These men in our Eastern Armies have had the dust and toil, without the laurel, of the race to victory." That indisputable fact, taken from the "Times," is reprinted under the dedication of "Salonica and After" by H. Collinson Owen, published by Messrs. Hodder and Stoughton, 10/6 nett. The author was the Official Correspondent in the Near East, and was Editor of the "Balkan News." There has been a veil of mystery enveloping the doings of our Armies in the East which this book helps to lift. Although never harrowing, the author brings home the hardships that were endured—climatic and otherwise.

In a brief preface the writer justifies his sub-title "The Side-show that won the War." Ludendorff, he says "has given us his memoirs, and these support in signal fashion all that is here claimed for the Balkan Front."

The comic-opera like conditions of warfare that prevailed in Salonika in the early days are cleverly described. A distinguished supply officer, who was one of the first of our Army to set foot there, has put down some of his impressions of that time.

"It is difficult" he says "to treat seriously the situation in Salonika in the beginning of October, 1915. The setting of the Place de la Liberté, with its cafés spread along each side of the brilliantly lighted square, where the Greek officers during the first mobilization disported themselves in brilliant uniforms, with their smartly dressed womenfolk, was suggestive of the opening scene of a Balkan comic opera, and this atmosphere was intensified by the general topsy-turviness of the situation.

"Imagine a British Army landing in a neutral country, supposedly friendly, but actually engaged in active and organised opposition of the passive resistance variety. Imagine the German and Austrian consuls containing more than a sprinkling of their own nationalities, of Turks, Bulgarians, and other enemies, counting each British soldier as they passed the dock gates, and concocting in the evening their daily telegram sent by Greek wireless to Berlin. Imagine the mail train passing through the British Base up the British Lines of Communication, to the British Railhead at Doiran, with its daily freight of spies and alien enemies, bound for the hostile capital of Constantinople, and returning thence without let or hindrance.

NIGHTS OF GLADNESS?

Salonika's cafés, cabarets, café chantants, cinemas and music halls did a roaring trade in those days. There were plenty of them, but there were never quite enough for the thousands of strangers who were within the gates of the City; all of them men who in this unpleasant seaport of the Agean, felt acutely that they were exiles and were only too anxious to try and forget it. Throughout it was a feverish make believe pleasure, which never rang true. One always felt, even in the noisiest most uproarious moments—and there was never any lack of them—that if some voice had suddenly called out "This is all vain and false. There is not one man who is happy or amused with all this tawdry nonsense. Let every man who is sick at heart with it, and has no joy in it walk out"—one felt that in such case the "salle de spectacle" would have emptied immediately and that the soubrettes with their mechanical gestures and the harsh or squeaky songs about nothing in particular, would immediately have heard the terrible sound of their own voices in the silence that succeeded to the tumult.

THE SALONIKA FIRE.

The troubles and tribulations of producing a newspaper for the Balkan forces—intense though they must have been will bring a smile to the reader's face. The great fire destroyed their printing "plant" but the gallant R.E., Field Survey Coy. came to the rescue and lithographed six thousand copies.

The fire began at three o'clock one afternoon, and the fiercest of the burning was not over until 32 hours later, up to which time the buildings of the port and the French G.H.Q. were still in danger. It was finally believed that it began in a little wooden house in the Rue Olympos, where the refugees were cooking and spilt some oil. It reminds one of the great fire of Chicago, which was begun by a cow kicking over a lamp in a stable.

A thorough sympathy with and understanding of the "Other Rank' leads the author to deal with all phases of Army life with a charm of manner that is quite his own.

BALKAN BEER.

The scarceness of "England's National Beverage" is bemoaned by Mr. Owen.—He says: "It was a red-letter day for the men up country if they tasted beer—and even then it was only a thin Salonika brew. A man can go without beer, but the Salonika campaign taught me all the good and comfort that may reside for very many men in a simple pot of beer. It is not a mere drink, to be poured down a man's throat just to 'wet his whistle.' The drinking of beer is a ritual that enshrines most that he holds dear, that brings him nearer to home, and all it means to him, that conjures up all the scenes which were good or familar to him in the days before war claimed him. It means to him what cut glass and finger bowls mean to some other people."

We go with the writer home to England on leave—all the familiar sights. How many men were two years or more without leave—what a wonderful sensation to be home again from a bleak and inhospitable country like Macedonia—then back to Victory. The trial and strain of a war more or less of movement under such climatic conditions cannot be readily appreciated by one who has not experienced it, though the author conjures up a quite a vivid picture.

Illustrations add considerably to the interest of this work, and readers will close the book with regret. Interest is maintained throughout, and one is not subject to pages and pages of details served up in a matter of fact way. "Salonika and After" is an important addition to our war literature, not only as a well written and interesting book, but as an eye-opener to warfare "Out East."

W. K.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

Our Readers' Varied Views.

CHRISTMAS DINNERS.

Sir,—A letter recently appeared in your greatly read paper calling attention to the necessity for early action on the part of messing officers, and others in connection with the 'Xmas dinners.

Suggestions for menus have since been officially published and circulated for the guidance of units. If any unit, however, cares to avail itself of this offer, the Rhine Army School of Cookery will undertake to prepare and cook the Xmas puddings and mince pies for them at the School of Cookery, the unit concerned supplying the ingredients, of course.

W. A. FOWLER, Captain,
Commandant, School of Cookery, British Army of the Rhine.

THE RETENTION OF RANK.

Sir,—I notice that some attention is being given to the retention of military titles by ex-officers. Many have returned and are returning to civil life, entitled to carry on business and earn a living under the heading of "Major This" and "Captain That".

Already writers, in pre-war days plain misters, are appending their full military rank to their screeds. Where is it going to end? Are we going to see "Lieut.-Col. Dash, licensed to sell etc." over the door of a public house?

It seems to me that considering the democratic nature of the Empire's great Army in the war this should be cut out, and all officers and men, resume the rating of a civilian on the usual footing.

DINKY.

EAST AND WEST.

Sir,—There are quite a lot of soldiers now on the Rhine who have done most of their war service in the East either in Egypt, Mespot, Salonika or elsewhere.

I am one of these, and resent the attitude taken up by those who happened to serve in France and Flanders. They are inclined to sneer at anyone who wasn't in the trenches on the Western front and I don't think this fair.

It ought to be realised that one had no choice in the matter. A soldier goes where his unit is ordered to, and there was not only tough scrapping in the East but many horrible scourges and privations unknown in France.

Think of what the poor devils in Kut had to put up with. And this is only one example.

I beg those who have done their bit on the Western front to "cut it out" and give us credit for having done our part—and it was no small part either—equally as well as they did. It will make for better feeling and closer comradeship.

MESPOT.

SILLY FILMS.

Sir,—I see someone has a "grouse" now about cinema programmes. Not much has been said in your columns about these, so one would think the soldiers generally have no particular fault to find.

I believe a large number follow with intense interest these serial dramas which "Box Office" is so severe on. They would not miss an instalment for anything and so far from objecting to the sensational episodes and hairbreadth adventures they glory in them. It is difficult of course to pick up the thread of them if you happen to drop in at the 115th episode and you have to sit for half an hour or so wondering what on earth it is all about. To find the missing half of a ring or some gew-gaw like that the characters will ransack the world and go through fire and flood and a hundred horrors to achieve their end.

It is all rather silly as your correspondent says, but I can see it keeps audiences simply spellbound, so although I dislike these long drawn-out films myself and avoid a show if I can where they are shown I am not inclined to condemn them wholesale, as "Box Office" does.

FIVE MARKER.

THEN—AND NOW.

Sir,—May I be permitted to congratulate you upon the excellent article which appeared over the initials "A.B.C."?

I for one miss that happy comradeship which existed in the front line and wish that I could enjoy the company for a short period at least, of some of the lads of the old platoon, many, alas, no more.

They were the genuine article. Vexations and the sources of the grouses which fill the Editor's Letter Box were as naught. We had no time for them.

My mind goes back to the tramps we made to see any old concert-party performing within walking distance of our rests behind the lines and how glad we were to push in at the back of a crowded room. Everyone was in the best of humour although the next time "in" might be the last. No "Highbrow" stuff was required. We were a happy crowd, from the dear old Colonel down to the youngest private soldier. Those were great days.

Then came the Armistice and the march to the Rhine. With that, new attractions, but even then regimental happenings held first place and not the least of the happiest of our gatherings was that which the Colonel called together week by week when he gave us his heart-to-heart chat.

Then came the breaking up. No wonder the "old man" cried when the volunteers and retained men marched away. Those were the days. Rhineland cafes — Ugh!

N.C.O.

MY LADY NICOTINE.

I know a maiden tall and fair,
With sunny smile and flaxen hair,
And pearly teeth and eyes so rare,
Artless ways and winning air,
And she smiles on me and brings me bliss,
With a little love, a dinky kiss.

There is a garden in her soul,
Where blossoms gay with joy unroll,
Where pansies bright with glad thoughts grow,
And fragrant perfumes ever blow,
O sweet is the soil as skies above,
Where blossoms for me the rose of love.

Fresh is the love that lives so fair,
Bright the tints in her golden hair,
Pure are her dear grey eyes so rare,
Cool like winds on desert air,
And love and the maid I always greet,
In rings of smoke; for 'tis there we meet.

F. M. S.

THE "NOBODY'S DARLING" OF FOOTBALL.

SOME REFLECTIONS ON THE OFFSIDE RULE

BY

DAVID McLEAN.

(THE FAMOUS CENTRE-FORWARD OF BRADFORD AND SCOTTISH INTERNATIONAL, LATE OF SHEFFIELD WEDNESDAY.)

I expect that if you asked some people who was the "nobody's darling" of football they would answer, "the referee," and certainly he is a man who interferes quite a lot with the schemes of the players. He even does more than that—he sometimes rouses the spectators quite a lot as we heard from Wolverhampton the other day, for instance. At the same time, however, it seems to me that the real "nobody's darling" of football is the offside rule.

In the first place, the spectators do not like it because it is responsible for so many stoppages, and the people who pay to see the game naturally want to get their money's worth. The players do not love it either, and especially speaking as a centre-forward who has often been pulled up for offside when I have just had my mind and heart set on a goal, I have more than once said things about the offside rule and the man who invented it. Last of all, I don't think even referees like it, for it is not easy to carry out all its provisions, and I shan't be considered as a severe critic of referees in general when I say that they make mistakes over this offside business.

THE OFFSIDE RULE.

In fact, it is almost too much to expect that they should not make mistakes over it. At one glance they are supposed to take in the position of at least four players—the man who receives the ball and three members of the other side. With a game changing so rapidly as does the average game of football the surprising thing to me is that the officials in charge of our games do not make more mistakes over it. If I may say so with due deference, it seems to me that they stumble most over the clause in the rule which says: "When the ball is last played."

Again, judging by the alterations which have been made in the rule from time to time, it does not seem that the rule-makers themselves are altogether fond of it, nor do they appear even at the present moment to be quite sure that it is an ideal rule, or that it could be altered with benefit to the game.

Granted then, that the offside rule is the "nobody's darling" of the game, somebody will probably say that the best thing to do with it, is to wipe it off the books altogether. By doing that it is suggested that we should automatically cease to worry the referee, who has a thankless job, and it would prevent the players who are pulled up from having their tempers ruffled, and also cut quite a lot of the stoppages which annoy the onlookers. But the solution to the offside rule is not so simple as all that. In fact, I think every experienced player will agree with me that even though the offside rule is an evil, it is a necessary evil, and will have to be retained on the rule-books in one form or another for the good of the game itself.

Certainly the mere running of a blue pencil through the rule would not in itself prove an advantage to the game. I take it that this "nobody's darling" was included in the rules to prevent forwards poaching too far on the preserves of the other side—that is, to stop them from waiting in the goal-mouth for something to turn up. If the offside rule were abolished it seems to me fairly clear that at the same time you would abolish one of the real charms of the game—combination among the forwards of a side.

After all I suppose we forwards must take quite a lot of blame for the number of stoppages for which the offside rule is responsible, especially when we come up against the McCracken type of defender, and I can assure you there is more of his type than is generally supposed. In our anxiety to be as near to the goal as possible, we get in front of the man with the ball, with the result that when the ball is passed we have been thrown offside by the opposing full-back.

I don't suppose when the offside rule was put on the books anybody thought that it would be used as full-backs use it now. So long as it remains there, however, full-backs are perfectly entitled to use it for the advantage of their side. Hence the forwards—and I obviously include myself—must think more about their positions, and then there will be fewer stoppages.

REDUCE THE OFFSIDE AREA.

Then if we can't wipe out the offside rule altogether, can it be altered with advantage to the game generally? One suggestion for alteration seems to have quite a lot to commend it, and that is to reduce the area in which a player can be offside.

You may remember that some time ago the rule was altered, so that if a man was in his own half of the field when the ball was last played, he could not be offside. It is generally admitted that this alteration proved a good one, and reduced the number of stoppages in the average game. That being so, it is argued that if the field were again divided into thirds, and the operation of the offside rule confined to the two end thirds, the game would be better.

This idea is such a mild one, and could scarcely ruin or revolutionize the game, that I should like to see it tried. If experience showed that the alteration was not a good one, we could go back to the old arrangement.

Another suggestion for alteration in this rule is to make it so that a player need have two men, instead of three, between him and the goal when the ball is last played. Even this change has something to commend it, and it might lead to more goals.

I don't think, however, that the mere scoring of goals would satisfy people if goal scoring were made too simple. And therein is the crux of the whole matter. We forwards must do our best to make the "nobody's darling" of the game a little less unpopular. And we can do that if each player in every forward line will bear in mind one of the two simple ways in which breaches of the offside rule can be avoided. The first is to keep behind the man with the ball, and the second to watch carefully the tactics of the full-back. If we all did this we should hear less about this "nobody's darling," even though I don't think anybody will ever come to love the rule as it stands.

WHICH IS CORRECT?

Conflicting Statements on the Carpentier Position.

We give below two grossly conflicting statements on the world's championship question.

In a letter to the "Sporting Life" Mr. C. B. Cochran says:—

Before leaving for the United States on Saturday next I thought you would like, perhaps, to know my exact position in regard to the much-discussed meeting of Dempsey and Carpentier for the championship of the world.

M. Descamps, on behalf of Georges Carpentier, has signed a hard and fast agreement with me to meet Dempsey in London next year. My visit to America is for the express purpose of seeing Mr. Kearns, Dempsey's manager, and I have not the slightest doubt but that he will accept the proposal which I shall place before him.

In any case Georges Carpentier cannot enter into any other arrangement to meet Dempsey, nor has he, I believe, the slightest desire so to do.

M. Descamps and Georges Carpentier gave me their words before the match that the day after the match they would sign with me to meet Dempsey, and they faithfully carried out their obligation without any pressure on my part.

French View.

Victor Breyer, Editor of the "Echo des Sport," Paris, on the same subject says:—

"I have had a short conversation with Francois Descamps regarding the future plans of his champion. As a result, I am able to correct the various—and variable—statements made rather freely these last days by some papers on both sides of the Channel, as to the proposed Dempsey-Carpentier world championship encounter.

The situation is as follows: acting, as usual, in accord with his charge, Descamps is considering the offers which have been made to him, but has so far signed nothing, and made no promise. When the time comes to take a decision, it will only be taken after mature thought, and, quite naturally, preference will be given to the best financial offer, wherever it comes from, as long as the necessary guarantees are backing it up."

INTERNATIONAL LAWN TENNIS.

The Lawn Tennis Commission of Paris at its last meeting decided to arrange a match with London, to take place probably next March. It is expected that the London team will be selected from the Queen's and Dulwich Clubs, and the match will be played on the ground of the Tennis Club de Paris.

FAVOURITES WIN AGAIN.

Good Day For Backers At Windsor.

Rain fell at Windsor on Thursday and the going was soft. It was another good day for backers, all the favourites, except one, Pottipha, justifying the confidence placed in them.

DETAILS.

College 'Chase:—1, Pitcher (5-4); 2, Shantoi (2-1); 3, Amerongen (4-1). Five ran.

Paddock 'Chase:—1, Rath League (evens) Eclaireur (6-4); Four ran, only two finished.

December Hurdle:—1, Ray Barrow (2-1); 2, Perrant (10-1); 3, The Gunyah (10-1); Five ran.

Thursday Hurdle:—1, Tim (2-1); 2, Madam Gull (2-1); 3, Pottipha (5-4). Three ran.

Bovenay Hurdle:—1, Sabian (9-4 on); 2, Gavrelle (5-1); 3, Resolute (100-7). Seven ran.

Club 'Chase:—1, Sergeant Murphy (7-4 on); 2, Valentine Maher (4-1); 3, Lb. (8-1). Four ran.

AUSTRALIAN TOUR.

South Africans Beaten by an Innings and 128.

A delayed Reuter telegram from Johannesburg states that the return cricket match between the South Africans and Australian Imperial Forces resulted in a victory for the visitors by an innings and 128 runs.

The home side had scored 14 for 2 and still required 324 runs to avoid a single innings defeat. With 9 wickets down for 210 the innings and the match came to a close. Rain interrupted the play during the afternoon. Scores:—

SECOND INNINGS.

South Africans:

Ward c. Oldfield b. Gregory	2
Tancred st. Oldfield b. Lampard	50
Frank c. Winning b. Gregory	3
Nourse c. and b. Lampard	62
McIntyre c. Winning b. Gregory	22
Davis c. Oldfield b. Gregory	19
Blankenberg c. Trennery b. Lampard	53
Cox (not out)	1
Bueged b. Winning	0
Extras	4
	210

Bowling analysis: Gregory 4 for 60; Lampard 3 for 51; Winning 1 for 11.

Umpires' Pay.

Umpires at Minor County cricket matches will next season be paid £6 per match.

LEAGUE BATTLES.

Will Burnley take their revenge to-day?

LONDON'S RETURN FIGHTS.

To-day Burnley face Oldham at home and despite ground advantage the Athletic may again create a surprise; however, the Burnley men will be all out for revenge.

Chelsea oppose Arsenal at Stamford Bridge and a drawn game may result. The Arsenal's away performances lead one to think they may go further and snatch the winning goal; it will be a great battle.

Sheffield United always do well at Newcastle and will be doughty opponents. Aston journey to Manchester, where they will be fully extended by the Old Trafford men. They may obtain consolation.

SECOND LEAGUE.

Tottenham are at home to Fulham and it looks odds on the Spurs. Still it looked odds on West Ham recently, but it didn't come off. Birmingham and Stoke will be a great struggle; honours even is a likely result. West Ham and Coventry will have a hard game. Will this provide the City's first win?

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

In the Southern League, Portsmouth on all form should beat Millwall, but their last visit to "Pompey" secured full spoils for the Lions.

Watford and Reading will be a fiercely contested game, and if the former wish to retain pride of place they must account for the "biscuit men." Palace oppose Queens Park Rangers and despite recent results the Queens may be in the picture when the whistle goes.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE.

Across the border there will be a grim struggle at Ayr with Morton as favourites. Celtic and Rangers are both away and will have to be on their mettle to bag full points.

Appended is the list of games down for decision to-day.

LEAGUE I.

Bolton v. Bradford	Man. U. v. Aston V.
Bradford C. v. P.N.E.	Newcastle v. Sheffield U.
Burnley v. Oldham	Notts C. v. Everton
Chelsea v. Arsenal	Sheff. W. v. Sunderland
Derby v. Blackburn	W. Bromwich v. Man. C.
Liverpool v. Middlesboro

LEAGUE II.

Birmingham v. Stoke	Rotherham v. Leicester
Blackpool v. Huddersf'd	S. Shields v. Barnsley
Clapton O. v. Notts F.	Stoe port v. Wolves
Grimsby v. Bristol City	Tottenham H. v. Fulham
Port Vale v. Bury	West Ham v. Coventry
Lincoln C. v. Hull C.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

Brentford v. Swansea	Norwich v. Exeter
Bristol R. v. Southampton	Plymouth v. Luton
C. Palace v. Q.P.R.	Portsmouth v. Millwall
Merthyr v. Gillingham	Southend v. Cardiff
Newport v. Brighton	Watford v. Reading
N'thampton v. Swindon

SCOTTISH LEAGUE.

Airdrie v. Celtic	Hamilton v. Albion R.
Ayr v. Morton	Hib. v. Kilmarnock
Clyde v. Queen's Park	Partick v. Motherwell
Clydebank v. Rangers	St. Mirren v. Dumbarton
Dundee v. Raith R.	3rd Lanark v. Aberdeen
Falkirk v. Hearts

FOOTBALL RESULTS.

ASSOCIATION.

Blackburn.....4; Bradford.....1;

RUGBY.

Swansea.....6; Cambridge....3;

Glasgow Academicals..3; Oxford.....3;

COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP.

Kent.....3; East Midlands 6;

MEDICALS MEET.

25 General Hospital versus No. 7 Field Ambulance.

The match between these two teams proved a fast and exciting game. The ball was set rolling by No. 7 but they were held up by the "General's" defence. Play was carried down the field by the outside right of 25 General, and a free kick awarded was converted into a goal by a beautiful drive from Capt. Davidson.

This put No. 7 on their mettle and they got busy. Walker had hard lines with a beautiful shot from the extreme right, striking the upright and going over the line. From the goal kick Cartwright, the outside left of 25 General got possession and a made a splendid run down the wing finishing with a fine centre, but the defence proved equal to the occasion and play was transferred to mid-field, half time coming with the score in favour of the home team 1—0.

On resumption, the Ambulance were the stronger and for some time confined the "Generals" to their own half; some exciting play took place round the goal mouth, the Gens. goalie making some good saves from Jones, Caldwell and Muir.

Play became exciting, and, cheered on by their supporters, the Ambulance tried hard to equalise, eventually doing so through S/M Stanley, at centre forward.

No. 7 playing much the stronger game failed to increase their score and a hard fought game ended in a draw of 1—1.

COMBINATION TELLS.

11th Queens 4; Inniskilling Dragoons 0.

This match was played on the 11th Queens ground at Kalk on Wednesday, and resulted in a win for the Queens by 4-0.

The Inniskillings, on winning the toss, elected to play with the very slight wind in their favour, and during the first portion of the game the play was mostly confined to mid-field, both defences generally managing to hold their opponents forwards without much trouble. Towards the end of the first half, from a pass from the Queens centre-half to the inside-right, the latter put in a shot which the goalkeeper saved but could not clear, and the forward scored on his second attempt.

On the resumption the better combination of the 11th Queens began to tell on the defence of the Dragoons and further goals were scored for the Queens by Lieut. Bratchell, Sgt. Ellerly and L/Cpl. Osborn.

SPIRITED BOXING.

Splendid Talent at Opening of Cologne Competitions.

GAME CONTESTANTS.

The first of the series of boxing competitions organised under the auspices of the E. and R.T., G.H.Q. opened with conspicuous success at the Y.M.C.A. Central, Cologne, yesterday evening.

The men figuring in the various contests were, for the most part, unknown quantities, the competitions being open to all and sundry, irrespective of previous accomplishments.

The main object of the initial competitions is to ascertain the worth of the talent so that in later tournaments the most promising boxers may be selected to figure in six-round bouts.

The huge audience which assembled expected to witness displays by mere novices and in this connection they were agreeably surprised, many of the contestants showing considerable talent and promise. Last night's show provided abundant evidence of the tremendous popularity of boxing at the present time; there was unbounded enthusiasm surpassed only by the keenness and gameness of the fighters themselves.

The finals of the competitions will be fought to-night at the same place commencing at 5-30 p.m. when some excellent sport is anticipated.

The officials of the competition are:—

Ref. Lieut.-Col. J. Betts, D.S.O.; Time-Keeper, Capt. G. Hibbert, O.B.E., M.C.; M.C., Maj. W. Delany, O.B.E.; Judges, C.S.M.I. Murray and Q.M.S.I. Heisdon; Asst. Hon. Sec. C.S.M.I. Peirce.

The results were as follows:—

LIGHT HEAVIES.

C.S.M. Bradley 52nd Devons K.O. Sgt. Watts 51st R.B., in the second round.

Cpl. Cook 19th Middx. Bye.

WELTERS.

Pte. Ovenden, 49th. Lab. Coy., beat Sgt. Tayne, 51st R.B. on points.

Pte. Ovenden beat Pte. Morris, 11th Queens, on points.

Rfn. Jackson, 51st R.B. defeated Dr. Mansell, Indep. D.A.C., on points.

Cpl. Doke, 18th K.R.R.C.; K. O. Sapper Naylor, 206 F.Coy R.E., in the first round.

Cpl. Stevens, 19th Middx., beat Sgt. James, 52nd Kings L'pool, on points.

LIGHTS.

Rfn Turner 52 R.B. K.O. Dr. Hughes No. 3 sec. D.A.C. in the second round.

Pte. Sheldrick 49th Lab. Coy. defeated Pte. Luttrell 11th Queens on points after a sparkling contest.

Pte. Jewell 19th Middx. K.O. Sgt. Hopkins 52nd Devons in the first round.

Dr. Grey Indep. D.A.C., Bye.

BANTAMS.

Dr. Kitchen 206 Coy R.E. defeate Debux 18th K.R.R.C. on points.

Rfn. Doe 18th K.R.R.C. K.O. Pte. Pullen 19th Middx. in the first round.

Gunr. Hinksman Indep. D.A.C. defeated L Cpl. Baxter Northn. Bde. T.M.B. on points.

Pte. Sutton 19th Middx, Bye.

FEATHERS.

Rfn. Sparks, 52nd. R.B., K.O. Pte. Leigh, R.F.A., 3rd. D.A.C. in the first round.

Dr. Brett, Indep. D.A.C. w.o.

Pte. Woodard, 19th. Middx. Beat Pte. Holt, 52nd. King's L'pool on points.

Pte. Broadbent, 52nd. King's L'pool. Bye.

INTER-BATTN. FOOTBALL.

52nd Devons, 3. 51st Hants, 2.

The above match was played at Burscheid on Wednesday, and in spite of the difficult conditions some clever football was witnessed by the crowd of about five hundred spectators. The ground was rather treacherous.

The teams soon began to warm to the game, and the pace, which at first was somewhat slow, livened up after the first few minutes, the Hants' left wing putting in some good work. The Devons then pressed, and a smart run down the field culminated in the first goal of the match, Pearson scoring with a close-range shot from a pass by Gallagher. Even play ensued, the fast pace being well maintained, and about fifteen minutes after the start, Williams obtained the Hants' first goal, the Devon custodian mishandling the ball. The Hants goalie and backs did some good defending, but despite their efforts Shaw put the Devons ahead, and just before the interval Gallagher increased the lead 3-1. Early in the second half the Hants got their second goal, Lieut. Mumford scoring from close quarters. The speed and excitement of the play was kept up until the finish, and the game ended with the Devons still pressing, but the score of 3-2 in their favour unchanged.

The Hants' left wing is worthy of special mention, and their backs and goalkeeper played well from start to finish. For the Devons, Sgt. Yeo played a splendid game at right half, while Sgt. Smith, L/Cpl. Pearson, and Ptes. Shaw and Gallagher also did well. The match was keenly and cleanly contested, and all the spectators thoroughly enjoyed watching it.

PROPOSED BILLIARD TOURNEY.

The many hundreds of men who play billiards every week on the dozen or more tables at the Central Y.M.C.A. will be glad to hear that a knock-out tournament will be held at once and will continue during the next few weeks. Entries must be made — fee 10 marks — at the Games Chalet in the canteen before Wednesday next, 17th December. The draw for the first round will take place the same night and the list of contests posted up the following morning. Entries should be made without delay to enable the committee to form some idea as to the possible number of contestants.

Unknown Pedigree.

Sunnycroft, who won in the capable hands of "Signorinetta" Bullock, is a bay gelding with an unknown pedigree.

Sold and Retained.

Ladaile was sold to Mr. A. Wright for 260 guineas, and George B. was retained for 140 guineas at Leicester.

H. Q. TROOPS LEAGUE FOOTBALL.

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETED FOR EARLY START.

Opening Fixtures.

The provision of properly organised facilities for football for those units comprising Army Headquarters in Cologne formed the subject of a meeting at the Excelsior Hotel yesterday.

The Association League football competition, of which mention has already been made in the "Cologne Post" was discussed by officers representative of the units concerned under the presidency of Major M. C. Morgan, M. C. All phases of the competition were considered. One member, for instance, spoke on the question of referees, remarking that the exposition for the apathetic response to the invitation to referees to submit their names was that the "men of the whistle" objected to travelling several miles on, perhaps, a wet day only to find that no dressing room provision was made and that he had frequently to put up with the abuse of both teams before returning wet, tired and muddy to his own station.

A CHANCE FOR REFEREES.

The result of this discussion was that an examination was arranged to take place next Friday in connection with which successful candidates would be given a certificate of proficiency. Intending candidates should send their names to the Sports Editor, "The Cologne Post," without delay. They will then be informed of the time and place of the examination. The possession of a certificate of proficiency should be of considerable value to those who wish to take up seriously the art of refereeing after demobilization.

The draw for the first matches in the competition was as follows:—

R.E. v. Labour Coy.; G.H.Q. v. Ordnance; R.A.F. v. R.A.S.C.; R.E. Sigs. v. Police; Vets. & Rmts v. Tanks; A.P.C. v. Transport. R.A.M.C. a bye.

Among other points agreed upon were, that the first matches, as above, should take place on Saturday next on the ground of the first named or on one mutually agreed upon and that the kick off should be at 2 o'clock. When possible, or in any circumstances, not later than 2.15 p.m.

The winning teams will send in the result of the matches within 24 hours, Sundays and holidays excepted. In the case of wet weather, the two captains and the referee will confer as to whether or not the ground is playable.

As has been indicated, the competition will be run on the usual league lines and its progress will be chronicled in the "Cologne Post."

Lieut. Lyon of the Amusements Office has been entrusted with the arrangements and is preparing the complete league fixtures.

For the benefit of opposing teams, details of each club as far as they are available are appended.

Team	Secretary	Location
A.P.C.	Sports officer	Riehler Strasse
Tanks	Lieut. R.R. Turner	Aachener Str.
Police	Sgt. Camp	Durener Strasse
Labour	Sports officer 31st Labour Group, Sulzerring
Transport	D.A. D.R.T.	Rheinartz Str.
R.A.F.	Sports officer 12th Squadron
R.A.O.C.	Sgt. Miller	Nippes
Signals	Maj. F. R. Cobb M.C.	Rhine Army.

BILLIARDS.

Thursday's closing scores in London matches were:

Smith.....12,824
Inman.....12,033

Breaks: Smith 230, 276, 131, 131; Inman: 131, 284, 143, 125.

Newman.....13,584
Falkiner.....10,263.

Breaks: Newman 132, 179, 126; Falkiner 218, 178, 208, 222.

CROSS COUNTRY RUNNING.

The first team race of the Aldershot Command Athletic Association was held at Aldershot on Thursday when 14 teams started over a four-mile course. The individual placings were:—

1, Lieut. Grant, Highland Lights. Time 23 mins. 52⅘ secs.; 2, Capt. Argyle, Sutherlands, 24 mins. 29⅘ secs.; 3, Lieut. Patterson, Highland Lights, 24 mins. 29⅘ secs.

The team placings were:

2nd Camerons 225 pts.; 17th Lancers 232; 1st Highland Lights 235.

CHAMPIONSHIP PURSE.

The well-known race-horse owner, Mr. Steward Gates has offered 70,000 pounds for the promotion of the Carpentier-Dempsey Match.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Sat.	Merry Wives of Windsor	Nicolai	7	10.30
Sun.	Meistersinger von Nürnberg	Wagner	5	10.30
Monday	No Performance
Tuesday	No Performance

Ladies Please Note.

Ladies who are fond of dancing — and very few are not — should earmark next Wednesday evening (17th), when the G.H.Q. W.O's and Sergeants Subscription Dance Club's next function is due at the Bürgergesellschaft. Sgt. Jas. Goldie, A.P.O. S.40 will be pleased to forward particulars of these enjoyable evenings.

The Merry Blue Boys.

The Merry Blue Boys' Concert Party gave a very amusing entertainment at the British Empire Leave Club on Tuesday. There were some excellent items, including a unique performance, which gained much applause and two encores, by Sergt. Adcock and Corporal Simons entitled "The Jazz Band." Sergt. Cornett delighted the audience with a song called "Adam and Eve," while another popular number, which was encored, was a duet entitled "Angel of my Heart," by Pte. Dean and Corporal Bush. The programme concluded with a humorous play. Lieut. J. M. Young at the piano added greatly to the success of the Concert.

OUR CHRISTMAS OFFER.

No. 13 Contest Total Augmented By 500 Marks.

The announcement of the result of No. 13 Football Competition, the first coupon for which will be found on this page, will automatically be made on Christmas Day. In order fittingly to mark the festive season and, incidentally, to show our appreciation of the enthusiasm with which our competition has been received we have decided to augment the total for this contest by 500 marks.

We confidently anticipate that, apart from the sum we are adding, No. 13 will be a bumper success and when the number of marks subscribed have been supplemented by 500 the sum should be a record for the competition and well worth winning.

The 500 marks will upon no account be divided and must be won by a single competitor. The following points should be noted:—

1. Should the competition be won outright by a single competitor the 500 marks will be added to the total prize money.

2. Should the prize be divided the competitor sending in the first winning coupon found by the competition adjudicators will receive the additional award.

As the coupons reach us they are numbered and filed so that no difficulty in discovering the first coupon is anticipated.

We take this opportunity again to point out that our competition is open to readers in England, many of whom send along their forecasts weekly. Competitors anticipating demobilization have only to give their home address to ensure receipt of a cheque in the event of their success.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 13
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S.40 Rhine Army.

List of Rules.

1. All forecasts must be made on coupons from this journal.

2. Any alteration or mutilation of the coupon will disqualify the effort.

3. If any match or matches on the coupon should be abandoned or full time is not played for any reason, such match or matches will not be taken into consideration in the adjudication.

4. In the event of ties, the prize will be divided.

5. No correspondence may be enclosed with the coupons, and none will be entered into. Neither will interviews be granted.

6. The Editor reserves the right to disqualify any coupon for what, in his opinion, is good and sufficient reason, and it is a distinct condition of entry that the Editor's decision shall be accepted as finally and legally binding in all matters concerning this competition.

7. Any entries received after Friday will be disqualified. No responsibility can be undertaken for any effort, or efforts, lost, mislaid or delayed. Proof of posting will not be accepted as proof of delivery.

8. Competitors may send in any number of coupons but one mark must be sent with each coupon.

9. Members of the staff of the "Cologne Post" are debarred from entering this competition.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 13.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 20th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 19th.

Arsenal	v. Sheffield Wed.
Everton	v. Liverpool
Manchester U.	v. Newcastle
Wolves	v. Hull City
Bradford City	v. Notts County
Barnsley	v. Tottenham
Bristol City	v. Blackpool
Aston Villa	v. Oldham
Swindon	v. Palace
Kilmarnock	v. Partick

I enter Football Competition No. 13 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(in block letters.)

Rank and No. .....

Unit .....

Full Address .....

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

Inn Signs.
I came across an inn the other day with the sign of "The Helping Hand" There's a British flavour about that sign. "The Count Zeppelin Inn" was just round the corner.

Keen on Form.
There are no race meetings in the Fatherland nowadays, but the Cologne sporting fraternity are nevertheless keen students of the French racing press. I came across a crowd busy reckoning up Auteuil form the other day.

Try Again.
Just outside the rear entrance to the Stapelhaus, hangs a board bearing the following notice: "Entrance to mussim. Nest door."

Very Warm.
The advent of the cold weather has brought into fashion the small round topped Russian fur caps. Just recently I have noticed quite a number of men and women wearing them.

Money's Worth.
I notice that a very popular periodical with German school boys is the pink paper that corresponds with our "Police Budget". They seem to get enough enjoyment out of it for their money.

Quick Changes.
These are days of quick business changes. A Cologne concern, I know, was a month ago a barber's shop; then it became a café and conditorei, and this week, still under the same management it blossomed out into a fruiterer's business.

Cheerful News.
I am informed that the death sentence in Cologne is still administered by means of the guillotine, but in other parts of Rhineland, the axe is still in operation. The executioners receive one thousand marks for each malefactor disposed of.

Envelope Economy.
In many German business houses a novel idea is in use for economising in envelopes. Each envelope is ruled off into a number of squares with the result that it can be used as many as twenty times, the flap being left open. Where written messages are continually being sent from one department to another a big saving is effected.

A Tedious Job.
It may not be generally known that the system of punishing refractory recruits in the German Army was somewhat different to ours before the war. Instead of awarding "C. B." or inflicting a fine for a minor offence, the culprit was in some instances ordered to scrub out a room with a tooth brush and a corporal was detailed to see that the task was accomplished.

A Button Punishment.
Should an unfortunate "rookie" appear on parade with a button undone, a N.C.O. would cut all the buttons off his tunic, and the offender should appear on the next parade in half an hour with the buttons sewn on again.

Bare Trees.
The grip of winter has fallen heavily on the trees in Cologne's famous Rings. They are now destitute of leaves and present a desolate appearance.

Some Change.
I note a café in Wallraf Platz, which but a short while ago was a popular rendezvous, is now being converted into a banking establishment.

Not Quick.
The narrowness of Cologne's main thoroughfares may account for it, but the fact remains that the city's fire brigades are not nearly so smart in answering a call as our brigades at home.

Whistles.
The German tram conductor carries a whistle the same as do our Blighty ticket punchers, yet I have only once seen a conductor out here make use of his.

Been There.
My attention has been drawn to a photo of a Cologne cabaret star which was taken in Liverpool. She sings in English as well as in the language of the Fatherland during her performance.

Palm.
Have you noticed the number of flower sellers who are now offering for sale sprigs of palm? In England we associate this with the days before Easter, not Christmas.

Still Copying.
After the martial moustache reminiscent of a certain ex-monarch, the Charlie Chaplin is now greatly in vogue among young Germans.

Travelling Permits.
The practice of officers visiting the Civil Permit Office with requests for permits to be issued immediately to German civilians has caused inconvenience, and such a practice must stop. Any officer desirous of vouching for an application should endorse a note to that effect on an application form.

See to It.
Officers and other ranks proceeding on duty to any place in the unoccupied territory must be in possession of an authority granted by Headquarters, in addition to the usual permits. Leave to places outside the zone occupied by the Allied Armies will not be granted.

Appropriate.
When the electric light failed at the dance at the Zoo, the Jazz band struck up, "Give me the moonligat, give me the girl."

A Little Mixed.
Our bright contemporary "The Amaroc News" had an amusing "bloomer" the other day. Under a splash heading "Mike O'Dowd offers defi to Carpentier" it started off "Sure fundamental Truths of Christianity was the subject of the Senior Chaplain's message at the Church of the Royal Palace yesterday morning," and so on.

RHINELANDER.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

The Bill.—Indian Frontier and Afghan campaigns cost £14,000,000.

Unpopular.—Two more London National Kitchens have been closed.

Royal Festivities.—The King and Queen will spend Christmas at Sandringham.

Poor Taxpayer.—The cost of the Douglas-Pennant enquiry was £9,000.

Novel.—A Leeds soldier has transformed his "tin hat" into a timepiece.

Flanders Floods.—As a result of heavy rains there are extensive floods in Flanders.

Tax to Go.—It is likely that the petrol tax of 6d. a gallon will go.

Greater Love.—Four Manchester men risked their lives to save a dog from drowning.

Any Others.—A Cardiff boy who flew when not yet five, claims to be the youngest flier.

And it Failed.—A Sinn Fein plot to kidnap the Prince of Wales when in America has been revealed.

Air Regiments.—French air squadrons formed during the war are to be transformed into regiments.

Artist in Hair.—A London girl, aged 15, has invented a new coiffure that may be the rage.

Craving for Novelty.—Ostrich feathers and not bouquets were carried by bridesmaids at a London wedding.

On the Clyde.—When in Glasgow Prince Albert received a casket made by disabled men.

The Old Story.—Toy prices at home are 400 per cent. above those of pre-war days.

The Scuttling Gang.—Scapa Flow scuttlers accusing one of their number of being a spy attacked him with knives.

A Christmas Box.—The new unemployment insurance scheme will be introduced before Christmas.

Helped Perhaps.—Brig. General Mends says the Territorial Force saved civilization.

Controlled.—The Mayor of Bethnal Green says the milk supply of London is in the hands of a huge trust.

Buy Where You Like.—Registration of customers with butchers at home ceases to-morrow.

Under New Management.—The German Liner, "Imperator," has been delivered to the British Government.

Welcome Respite.—One and a quarter millions of shop workers benefit by the extension of the Christmas holidays.

Why Should They?—L.C.C. have declined to prohibit delivery of newspapers by children out of school hours.

War of the Future.—It is anticipated that battleships of the future will carry their own airships,

Obliging.—Ex-Crown Prince Rupprecht has offered himself for extradition. Some time ago he said he would not give himself up.

The Pressman's Only Holiday.—The principal London newspapers are not publishing on Christmas Day or Boxing day.

Ragamuffin V.C.—Jack Cornwell's reformation dated from the time he became a scout. So says General Sir Robert Baden-Powell.

Our Gallant Prince.—When leaving the Savoy Hotel the Prince of Wales acceded to the request of a poor working girl for his autograph.

Margot's Book.—"As well be hanged for a sheep as a lamb," is said to be the motto of the title page of Mrs. Asquith's new book of reminiscences.

The Rage.—Mr. Justice Bray claims that during the last two or three years he sentenced nearly 200 men and women for bigamy.

The Way of the Trade.—Tradesmen buying turkeys and geese at the Agricultural Hall paid high prices for the advertisement such purchases will bring them.

This week a large number of new books can be otained at the "Cologne Post" Bookshop in the Arcade. They vary from "The Man with Two Left Feet" by P. G. Wodehouse (quite one of the latest) to the ever deligatful "Bab Ballads" of W. S. Gilbert.

* * *

Among authors strongly represented are Ian Hay, Jack London, Kipling, Conrad, W. J. Locke, Stephen Laycock, Jeffrey Farnol, Stephen McKenna, O. Henry—the master of short stories—Herbert Jenkins, Compton Mackenzie, and H. Marriott Watson. Do you know the combined thrill and daintiness of his stories of adventure?: There are of course very many others.

* * *

Spanish dictionaries have now been added to the language shelf, and more Russian Grammars are available.

* * *

An interesting illustrated series treats briefly of great industries such as leather, pottery, shipping, aircraft etc.

* * *

Books and tables simplifying wonderfully the wide scope of Military Law have been added. Indoor games and out door sports have a shelf to themselves.

BOOKLOVER.

A BOOKLOVER'S GOSSIP.

Plenty of books are appearing which tell of the brave deeds of various regiments in the war. One that is sure to be popular with Jock is "With the Black Watch," a story of the Marne, by Scout Joe Cassells, one of the survivors of the original Expeditionary Force. For stark and simple strength, realism of detail and a complete picture of desperate resistance this soldier's story is remarkable. Andrew Melrose Ltd. publish it.

* * *

Five stories written during the war by Arthur Beverley Baxter have been collected in one volume under the title of the "Blower of Bubbles" and published by W. R. Chambers, Ltd. As a study of people gripped by the emotions engendered to war conditions these clever stories are of interest. The writer was with the Canadian forces.

* * *

"Bunker Bean" is a story of American life by Harry Leon Wilson, who previously wrote "Ruggles of Red Gap." There is any amount of United States smart talk in its pages which are never dull. Mr. John Lane publishes it at 6s. net.

* * *

Mr. H. G. Wells has set himself an ambitious task in writing "The Outline of History," from the remotest ages to the present day. It is a plain story of Life and Mankind, which does not follow orthodox lines at all. One would be disappointed in Mr. Wells if it did. He has called in the help of experts such as Sir E. Ray Lankester, Professor Gilbert Murray and others to ensure accuracy, and the work which is appearing in 20 fortnightly parts at 1s. 2d. each is to have 600 illustrations. The publishers are Geo. Newnes Ltd. and a specimen copy of the work can be seen at the "Cologne Post" Bookroom.

* * *

Some of the best books for those who want to learn German are issued by the well-know French house of Hachette. Their "First German Book" costs only 1s. and the key 2s. 6d. Another useful work is "Practical Lessons in German Conversation," by Dr. Meissner, M. A., which is published at half a crown. For only 6d. one can also have a pocket conversation manual, "dier spricht man Deutsche."

* * *

Thousands who have read Mr Temple Thurston's "The City of Beautiful Nonsense" will be tempted to dip into the sequel to it which has just appeared, "The World of Wonderful Reality." Most sequels are disappointing. If Mr. Thurston has been able to achieve another literary success on similar lines it will be surprising.

* * *

Few books are more popular as Christmas gifts than the poems of Rudyard Kipling, familiar though they be to most of us. Methuen's publish them in a variety of styles. There is the service edition in ten volumes at 3s. each in buckskin, or lambskin at 7s. each.

* * *

Health is a subject that is receiving far more attention than ever before. To Riders' "Health and Body" Handbooks at 1/6 each Miss Helen Boulnois has just contributed a little volume on "The Dominion of Health" which gives in a bright interesting way some sound advice.

* * *

It is a useful thing sometimes to have a stock of good jokes handy. Those who organise entertainments are often at a loss for a humorous anecdote or quip which can either be utilised as it stands or be adapted. The firm of Routledge issue two collections, edited by H. Moncur Sime; "A Feast of Fun" and "The Fun Physician".

* * *

There are some pleasant pen pictures of rural life in two dainty pocket editions recently written by David Grayson and published by Andrew Melrose Ltd. —"The Friendly Road" and "Adventures in Contentment." The author has been for eight years a farmer, and his essays show an intimate knowledge of the countryside.

LIBRAIRIE HACHETTE

Modern Language Publishers, etc.
LONDON: 18 King William Street,
Charing Cross W.C.

	s. d.
Public School German Grammar, with Exercises, Composition, Conversation, Lists of Verbs and full Vocabularies. 434 pages - - - - - - - - - net	3.6
——Key to Same - - - - - - - net	3.0
First German Book.—Grammar, Conversation, Readings, etc, with Vocabularies. 184 pages - - - - - - - - - - net	1.0
——Key to Same - - - - - - - net	2.6
Practical Lessons in German Conversation (German Towns, Railways, Steamboats, Theatres, Newspapers, Anecdotes, etc.) (Dr. Meissner, M.A.) 264 pages net	2.6
New English and German Dialogues, for Travellers and Students. 230 pages net	1.6
Hier spricht man Deutsch. Pocket Conversation Manual - - - - - - net	0.6
Pictures of German Life. Stories from Contemporary German Authors, with English Notes - - - - - - - - net	1.6

The above can be obtained through, and Catalogues seen at, the "Cologne Post" Bookshop Arcade, Hohestrasse, Cologne.

The Cologne Post BOOK ROOM

Large stock of books.

Any book obtained from England for you.

Daily, weekly and monthly periodicals of all kinds on the tables.

SPECIAL LADIES ROOM

THE ARCADE, HOHE STRASSE

Y. M. C. A. BOOKSHOP

16, DOMHOF.
Special selection of Recent Novels and Childrens Story Books.
Hours 10—12.30, 2—4, 5—7.
Thursdays 10—12.30 only.

Manufacturers of Embroidery

who supplied great quantities of embroidered goods, before the war, to England, America, Canada, etc., seek connection with good firm which will undertake the sale to these countries either on own account or as agents.

The firm undertaking this position must supply the unworked material, as it is unobtainable in Germany. The goods comprise Embroidered pocket-handkerchiefs; Tea napkins; Embroidered ladies underclothing; Cushions, with and without lace and of plain to good medium quality.

The manufactory is well filled with all kinds of machines, and is able to turn out large quantities at short notice. Offers are desired only from good firms who undertake to furnish the unworked material. Box A 430, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

First rate Tools
Agricultural implements
Padlocks. Solingen Steelware

BIG STOCK QUICK DELIVERY
Samples to be seen at the
WARENVERSANDHAUS COLOGNE
Cardinalstrasse 12
Electric car 18 and 20

Visit the British Shop in Cologne
Miss EDITH CAVE'S

Establishment, 84 Hohenzollern Ring
The best place for Souvenirs, Stationery and Military supplies of every description.
Tram 18 passes the door.

Paul Horstmann

COLOGNE
Schildergasse 112
Toys Wholesale
MOUTH-ORGANS
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
Bigstock Manufacturers Agents

PUBLISHERS ANNOUNCEMENTS.

H.G.WELLS'

GREAT NEW WORK

THE OUTLINE OF HISTORY From REMOTEST AGES
to the PRESENT DAY

¶ It is a plain story of Life and Mankind. Mr. Wells begins with the far origins of the world's life. He gives us a clear idea of its probable origin, of the earth in space and time, and the slow creeping up of life upon the land from its first beginnings in the shallow sea. Mr. Wells proceeds to give a no less interesting account of the Ancestry of Man and the beginnings of civilization. Of all this he says "it is now possible to tell a plain story." Mr. Wells then goes on to narrate the great historical events and movements down through the Ages to our own day.

¶ Mr. Wells' work is not a mere essay, but a clear, luminous, concentrated summary of the latest knowledge. For the first time Mr. Wells in this "Outline" gives us some idea of all life and all history as one whole.

¶ He has had the editorial assistance of experts such as Sir E. Ray Lankester, Sir Harry Johnston, Professor Gilbert Murray, and Mr. Ernest Barker, with the object of securing accuracy in every detail.

600 ILLUSTRATIONS
MAPS-CHARTS AND DRAWINGS

WITH MANY BEAUTIFUL PLATES PRINTED IN FULL COLOURS

Part 1 Now Ready, Price 1s. 2d. Post Free 1s. 4½d. to Cologne.

To be published in about 20 fortnightly parts. Full prospectus post free from GEORGE NEWNES, Ltd., 8-11, Southampton Street, Strand, London, W.C.2.

Specimen Copy may be seen at the Bookshop, The Arcade, Hohestrasse.

Mr. EDWARD ARNOLD'S New Books

MONS, ANZAC AND KUT
By an M.P. With Maps. 14s. net.
The writer of these remarkable memoirs is a man well known, not only in England, but also abroad and the pages are full of the writer's charm and gaiety of spirit.

A PHYSICIAN IN FRANCE
By MAJOR-GENERAL SIR WILMOT HERRINGHAM, K.C.M.G., C.B. Physician to St Bartholomew's Hospital, Consulting Physician to the Forces Overseas. With Illustrations. 15s net.
Evening Standard.—"In some ways one of the most human books the war has produced."

WITH THE PERSIAN EXPEDITION
By MAJOR M. H. DONOHOE, Army Intelligence Corps, Special Correspondent of the Daily Chronicle. With Illustrations and Map 16s net.
Daily Chronicle.—"The People of this country are lucky that Donohoe came through safety to write the early complete account. A fascinating volume."

LONDON MEN IN PALESTINE
By ROWLANDS COLLICOTT. With Illustrations and Maps. 12s. 6d. net.
Evening Standard.—"No one who wishes to get an idea of what the fighting on the way to Jerusalem was really like can afford to neglect 'London Men in Palestine.' In very few war books does the reader seem to himself to get so absolutely behind the scenes."

CAUGHT BY THE TURKS
By FRANCIS YEATS BROWN. 16s. 6d. net.
Glasgow Herald.—"For sheer adventure, intrigue, romance and breathless exploit it reads with all the dramatic power more usually looked for in tales of colourful imagination."

THE STRUGGLE IN THE AIR, 1914—1918
By MAJOR C. C. TURNER (late R.A.F.) With Illustrations. 15s. net.

SINGLE-HANDED CRUISING
By F. B. COOKE, author of "The Corinthian Yachtsman's Handbook." Illustrated. 10s. 6d. net.
Sumptuous Edition of the famous Sporting Classic

HANDLEY CROSS; or Mr. JORROCKS'S HUNT
Illustrated by CECIL ALDIN. With 24 Coloured Plates and 100 Black-and-White Illustrations. 2 vols. Royal 8vo. 21s. net.

 Copies of the publications in the list above will be forwarded post free on receipt of a remittance for the advertised price. Please mention this paper when ordering.

EDWARD ARNOLD
London: 41 & 43, Maddox Street, W.

CHAMBERS'S NEW BOOKS

38 Soho Square, London, W. 1. 339 High Street, Edinburgh.

If you are tired of reading about the humour, the gaiety, and the courage under the most adverse circumstances of the "boys" who saved you and your country, there are some volumes in this list which will not interest you. But if that is not your case, then "John Brown" Hospital Jock," "Scottie," and "With the Incomparable 29th" will delight you and make you prouder than ever of the men who fought and won.

Every Member of the 29th will wish to possess

With the Incomparable 29th. By Major A. H. MURE. 5s. net.
In the vivid and stirring words of a participant, Major Mure tells the story of the 29th Division's share in the "Great Adventure" (Gallipoli). With the typical humour and introspective faculty of the Scot the writer now relieves, now intensifies the grim, glorious narrative of the heroic deeds and amazing endurance and self-sacrifice of young and untried troops—Britain's sons of the Homeland and Overseas—in the face of well-nigh incredible difficulties and dangers.

THE BLOWER OF BUBBLES. By A. BEVERLEY BAXTER 6s. net
Here is a book that contains five literary gems. If hitherto you have avoided volumes of short stories, "The Blower of Bubbles" will alter your views and send you on the hunt for similar joyous books.

JOHN BROWN: Confessions of a New Army Cadet. By R. W. CAMPBELL, Author of "Private Spud Tamson." 6s. net.
This stirring story of a Cadet School at work and play is full of the budding philosophy, the racy criticism, and the exuberant humour of the Subaltern in the making.

THE FORESTER'S GIRL. By Mrs. W. IRVINE BELL. 6s. net.
In this story the author describes with all the fidelity and sympathy of an old resident the glorious scenery, the fascinating fur and feather friends and the interesting men and women of the great American Continent.

GREY FISH. By W. VICTOR COOK. 6s. net.
A series of stirring Submarine Stories, through which runs a vein of sparkling humour.

HOSPITAL JOCK. Tales of the Malta Hospitals. By A.C. MACKINNON. 6s. net.
These sketches reveal in an intimate and humorous manner the lovable qualities which have endeared our inimitable "Jocks" to every true-hearted Briton.

THE LUCK-PENNY. By OSWALD WILDRIDGE. 3s. 6d. net.
Author of "Captains & Co."
An absorbing romance of modern buccaneering in the Southern Seas.

SNOOKER TAM OF THE CATHCART RAILWAY. By R. W. CAMPBELL. 2s. 6d. net.
Author of "Private Spud Tamson."

"SCOTT E" AND SOME OTHERS. By "STAFF NURSE." 1s. 6d. net.
While "Scottie" has pride of place in "Staff Nurse's" reminiscences, her gallery of heroes includes representatives of many nationalities, and their characteristics are hit off with kindly humour and appreciation

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

PERIWINKLE'S ISLAND. EDITH ELIAS. Illustrated in Colour and in Line
By MOLLY BENATAE. 6s. net
This is a fairy story of quite exceptional charm, and the artist has truly entered into the spirit of the enchanting tale.

FOR NAME AND NATION. A story of the Days of Marlborough. By ESCOTT LYNN. 6s. net.
Author of "Knights of the Air," &c.
"The Outlook" says: "As a writer of neat and glowing romance Escott Lynn has no rival."

TOMMY OF THE TANKS By ESCOTT LYNN. 6s. net.
Author of "Edric the Outlaw."

PINION AND PAW. By F. ST. MARS. 6s. net.
A book of vivid stories about our fur and feather friends.

SNAP-SHOTS OF THE WILD. By F. ST. MARS. 5s. net.
All lovers of Nature will revel in these graphic and picturesque tales of the denizens of the wild.

THE SHAPING OF JEPHSON'S. A School Story. By KENT CARR. 5s. net.

A GO-AHEAD SCHOOLGIRL. By ELSIE OXENHAM. 5s. net.
Author of "The Tuck-Shop Girl," &c.
"The Scotsman" says: "Elsie Oxenham is an expert in the description of life in girls' schools."

JEAN AND THE BOYS. By MAY BALDWIN. 5s. net.
Author of "Spoilt Cynthia at School," &c.
"The Guardian" says: "Miss Baldwin is in the front rank of living writers for and about girls."

New Coloured Picture Books.

THE HOLE AND CORNER BOOK. By B. and N. PARKER. 7s. 6d. net.
Author of "Cinderella at the Zoo."

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE AND PERSONAL MEDIUM

Do you read the Personal Advts.? There may be a message for you. No advertisement inserted unless name and address is given. A Box No. may always be used, however, if desired. Send 4 Mks. for each line of seven words, including address, to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

FOR SALE.

SECOND HAND prismatic binoculars Zeiss-Goerz, Busch & Voigtländer for sale at Blumenfeld, Balthasarstr. 24, near Deutscher Ring.

ARTISTIC Studio in Berlin offers closed collection of coloured sketches and designs in carpets to cheapest prices. Calling hours: 11 to 2. Sieber, Ursulastrasse 35.

POSTAGE, stamps, Collection of Europe, no war-stamps in finest condition catalogue price Mk. 70,000. For sale at £275. Apply to Langbein, Cologne, Richartzstr. 2a.

BUSINESS-PREMISES in centre of the town comprising Shop, Office, Warehouse and Aweuty rooms. For sale Mks. 135 000.—. Letters Box 168, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (T.c.)

GOOD OLD English Violin. Set of bells for first class orchestra, and Pathe Frères cinematograph for drawing room with dynamo attached. Apply Sgt. J. Spencer, Kretzer strasse 2, Cöln-Nippes.

PIANOS pro month 3 pieces suitable la manufacture to experience. Seifert, Domstr. 56

SMALL electric plant consisting of 3.4 H.P. Petrol-Motor connected with Dynamo 12 Volts 4 Ampers and switch board. Apply to B. Breuer, Köln-Weiden, 158 Aachenerstrasse.

IN PRIVATE-HOUSE grand-piano to sell (splendid plebuated prewar manufacture). Star, Gereonsmühlengasse 3 on left.

PHOTO HOUSE and camera repairing works. Aug. Lang, mechanician of precision. Kl. Neugasse 9/11. Always bargains in second-hand binoculars Zeiss-Goertz, Voigtländer & Leitz.

KODAK. (Pre-war.) Second hand 4½×6 at 300 Marks for sale. A. Sturm, Hahnenstrasse 52 III.

BARGAIN. For sale three genuine Amber Necklaces each containing 200 beads. 1500 Marks or nearest offer. Address: Box 118, A.P.O. S./40 Cologne.

FUR CLOAK Persian with Skunk border valuable for sale. Esser, Schwertmergass 3, part.

SPLENDID PIANO to sell made before the war. Elisabeth Walther, Gereonsmühleng. 3.

MOTOR Cycle:—Bat-Jap 7 H.P. Splendid condition. Just de-carbonised and overhauled English machine, no customs duties going back to England. Smart rakey appearance, low comfortable riding position. Complete with two lamps, two generators tools, pump, horn, spares, spare cover and spare belt. Only reason for selling, owner, officer, buying car. Apply Lt Hunt Station Obercassel.

LADY'S side saddle. Nearly New with riding boots. Also fur lining for coat and pair Field Glasses Thomas Smith, Remount Camp, Cöln-Deutz.

COLLECTION of stamps (Europe and old German) for sale. Marks 65,000,—. Apply to A 433 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

WANTED.

WE WILL BUY any quantity of empty English bottles: beerbottles etc.: Fritz Erle G.m.b.H. Cöln-Nippes, Holbein str. 36-38.

WANTED at once, Artistes, humourous and sentimental, for Impromptu Concert. Apply, with terms, to Corp. Vorley, N.A.C.B. Headquarters, Corps's Mess, Cologne.

PIANO wanted at once on hire by British officer near Cologne. Apply stating cost to Box No. 117 A.P.O. S./40 Cologne.

EX British Officer requires accomodation for wife child and maid on or about December 20th. Requirements: 2 double bedrooms, 1 Sitting Room, 1 kitchen or use of kitchen. Address: Box No. 116 A.P.O. S./40 Cologne.

LANGUAGES

SPANISH OR ITALIAN. Experienced teacher wanted for private lessons. Evenings only. Box 114, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (T.c)

SITUATIONS WANTED.

GENTLEMAN, public school education, sound sense, resource activity and push; practical knowledge of machinery, especially motor cars; knowledge of rubber. Would act as representative to travel between England and Germany, or similar position with progressive British firm. Apply Box 101 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (2)

LOST.

ON 11. 12. 19 between Richard Wagner Str. and A.P.O./S. 40 registered letter, slate coloured envelope crossed with blue crayon back and front and addressed to Mrs. Mc. Ormiak Chancerie Wigtown Wigtownshire. Information to 736 A.E. Coy. Cologne. Reward given. (1)

IDENTITY Disc. German two Mark piece inscribed Constance M. Payne V.A.D. B.A.O.S. lost between Hauptbahnhof, Hohestrasse, Schildergasse. Reward offered. Box 112 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40 ( )

SPORT.

BCOY 20th Durham L. J. would like to arrange away matches with other companies in Cologne area in the following Football (Association or Rugby). Hockey. Running. Apply to Capt. Andrews, 20th D.L.J., Cologne. (1)

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 13, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

ANOTHER STOCK OF XMAS CARDS AT THE BOOKROOM

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

SPECIAL XMAS OFFER FOR No 13. FOOTBALL COMPETITION SEE PAGE 3.

No. 221. COLOGNE, SUNDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

BOMBING NOT SUFFICIENT.

PUNITIVE EXPEDITION ON THE INDIAN NORTH WEST FRONTIER.

STRANGE STORY OF SECRET U-BOATS.

N. W. FRONTIER.

EXPEDITION AGAINST REBELLIOUS TRIBES.

Air bombardments of the villages inhabited by hostile tribes on the Indian frontier have not had the full effect expected in compelling the surrender of the tribes. Military operations are now in progress against the Mahsuds and it appears likely that it will be necessary to march troops into the heart of the Mahsud country, an operation which should not last more than five or six weeks. A joint Jirga of the Mahsuds and Wana Waziris decided against accepting British terms.

POULET'S TRIALS.

STARTLING ADVENTURE IN THE DESERT.

The Paris "Matin" publishes extracts from the notes taken by M. Poulet describing his experiences while attempting to fly from Paris to Melbourne. The flight was comparatively easy as far as Naples. Poulet nearly ran into a mountain at Valona, and he dwells on the low temperature he encountered at a height of 4,800 metres, at which level he flew between Valona and Salonika. Owing to the shortage of petrol he had to lay in a stock, also of castor oil, at Konia Adana.

The intense heat and solar refraction were very uncomfortable when passing over Mesopotamia. When 120 kilometres from Chabar, M. Poulet had to descend to the desert. Baluchis, armed to the teeth, surrounded the machine and adopted a very threatening attitude towards the aviators, but after much argument allowed them to proceed. When they reached Karachi they learnt that the British authorities, having heard that an aeroplane had fallen into the sea, and fearing it was M. Poulet, sent out a search party, which found that the supposed aeroplane was a dead whale, stranded on the beach.

VISCOUNT GREY.

RETURNING TO ENGLAND ON LEAVE.

Viscount Grey has notified Mr. Lansing, the U.S. Secretary of State, that he will shortly be returning to England on leave.

The Washington correspondent of the Associated Press, in announcing Viscount Grey's intended departure, says:—

His return to Washington will depend on the possibility of arranging private business interests and the decision of the Foreign Office as to whether he alone can carry forward the great project of common action between Great Britain and the United States for the reorganization of international finances and commerce. Sir William Tyrrell and Mr. Campbell will accompany him to England.

U.S. MINERS' STRIKE.

COAL CONTROLLER RESIGNS.

Mr. Garfield, the United States Fuel Administrator, has resigned, because he disagrees with the principles of the Coal Strike settlement.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR ARMS.

An apparatus enabling armless men to write or use a knife and fork was demonstrated at the College of Ambulance yesterday. The device, which is described as "a mechanical substitute for the arms and a foot writing machine," is the invention of Mr. G. Thomson, Edinburgh. It is claimed that by its means a man who has lost both arms can cut bread, eat meat with a knife and fork, lift a cup, pick up a pen, dip it in the ink, and write, and place a cigarette between his lips and light it.

VICAR'S SUDDEN DEATH.

At the new Bishop of Chester's first confirmation service in St. John's Church, Macclesfield, on Wednesday night, the Rev. C. Vere Barley, vicar of Christ Church, died suddenly in the vestry in the Bishop's presence before the service had begun. He was 54 years of age, and went to Macclesfield 11 years ago from Normanton.

PEACE TREATY AND U. S.

Senator Lodge precipitated the first discussion of the Peace Treaty in the present session of the United States Senate by declaring that the Treaty is dead unless it is again submitted by President Wilson, its demise being due to the Democrats.

U.BOATS IN MAKING.

STRANGE STORY OF SECRET CONSTRUCTION.

The French newspaper "Le Journal" prints a message from its Bordeaux correspondent which purports to detail a conversation with a naval engineer of a foreign country who desires to conceal his nationality and identity.

This man, who has just returned from Germany, is alleged to have said: "France is for me a second Fatherland, and I consider the Frenchmen as compatriots. I come from your enemies of yesterday and of to-morrow, and I say: 'Do you intend to take a rest on your laurels?' I see in your newspapers articles about the military camouflage of Germany; what I read is exact as regards the recruiting of a new German army, but I regret that these papers are dumb about the naval camouflage.

"There are actually 200 submarines in construction in Germany, and you will not be astonished when you hear that they are being actively built at Essen, in isolated parts, whose assemblage is a marvel of skill. When the Allied Missions of control go through the works the submarines in construction are skilfully camouflaged and shown as parts of commercial ships.

"Take care! The Germans are preparing war not only in the economic field; but they hope for a military revanche for which the Bolshevist Russia would be the best support, while your Allies of yesterday, with their interior troubles, would be unable to interfere."

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

SPIEGLEHALTER-FARLEIGH.

A wedding of unusual interest to British residents in Cologne was solemnized at the Garrison Church in Schildergasse yesterday afternoon.

The contracting parties were Captain Cecil Spieglehalter, of the Lancashire Fusiliers, and Miss Gladys Farleigh. The bridegroom is prominently identified with the Rhine Army Dramatic Society, and the ceremony, which attracted a good deal of interest, was attended by a number of his brother officers and their wives, including Major and Mrs. Ball, Captain Cleyton, M.C., Capt. Donalson, Capt. Paterson, Capt. Maith, Capt. Duncan, Capt. Lumley, Capt. Williams, D.A.P.M., and Mrs. Williams.

The Rev. J. F. Spink, C.F., was the officiating clergyman.

The presents to the bride and bridegroom were very numerous and included several from the Army General and Commercial College, where Captain Spieglehalter is an instructor, and from the B.R.A.D.C.

The bride looked charming in a neat-tailor-made travelling costume, and the honeymoon is being spent at Wiesbaden.

After the wedding a reception was held at the Officers' Club.

SOVIET AND PEACE.

BRITISH LEGATION RETURNS PROPOSALS UNOPENED.

Reuter understands that the British Legation at Copenhagen received most definite instructions that it was not to have any relations with the Soviet Mission which is negotiating with Mr. O'Grady in reference to exchange of prisoners. Accordingly Litvinoff's peace proposals were returned to him unopened.

It is probable that Mr. J. O'Grady M.P. will have to leave Copenhagen in a few days time, it being necessary for him to attend the Executive Meeting of the National Federation of General Workers to be held in London next Thurday. He informed Reuter's correspondent at Copenhagen that his journey must not be connected with his Mission. He would return to Copenhagen if the negotiations for exchange of prisoners were not previously concluded.

WORLD'S BIGGEST MOTOR-SHIP.

The world's greatest motor-ship, the Africa, was launched at Copenhagen on Thursday. She is built for the East Asiatic Company, and is of 14,000 tons. Built to Lloyd's highest class, her length is 445ft and breadth 60ft. She is supplied with two Diesel motors, indicating together 4,500 horse-power.

The "Rheinische Republik" heads an article of the usual type with the following, which is a quotation from a speech made in the German Assembly:—

"Our prisoners in France may stay there for ten years before we extradite any German to the Entente."

AIR ESTIMATES.

EXPENDITURE GREATLY REDUCED.

The revised Estimates for the Air Service were issued on Friday. They show that the actual amount of the estimates at present is £54,030,850, as compared with the forecast in March last of £66,500,000 thus showing a reduction of £12,469,150.

The decrease is arrived at by various eliminations and additions. Thus £13,250,000 were deducted from the original estimates on account of the progress made in the re-organisation of the Air Force on a Peace basis and the consequent possibility of reducing the programme for supply of aircraft and equipment. Another million and a quarter is saved in respect of building accommodation and land, while a further saving of two millions is effected in consequence of the programmes of the Controller of Civil Aviation and Director General of Supply and Research being still in process of development and not having yet matured.

On the other hand it has been found necessary to make provision amounting to four millions for services which were not foreseen in March, notably the demobilization of officers, which is proceeding slower than was anticipated; the decision to pay outfit gratuities to cadets; increased charges for fuel; and the cost of the Airship Service on its transfer from the Admiralty.

It is pointed out that the times are not yet normal, the expenditure including such war items as gratuities, maintenance of surplus personnel, aerodromes, etc., pending demobilisation and dispersal.

Moreover, the Air Force has been engaged in active operations throughout in India, Egypt, North Russia and the Baltic.

MESOPOTAMIA.

SUCCESSFUL PUNITIVE OPERATIONS.

The War Office states that the British columns in Mesopotamia have recently been compelled to undertake punitive operations against the Zibars and Kurds who inhabit the territory to the North-east of Mosul and who have been guilty of serious outrages and murders. These operations, which were conducted by two columns moving North-east from Mosul and South-west from Amadia respectively, have now been executed successfully with but slight loss to ourselves. Civil administration in this district has been restored and British prestige vindicated.

The number of our troops engaged comprised four Indian Battalions, a mounted battery and three companies of Assyrians. The health of the troops was excellent throughout. The main difficulties encountered were due to the impassable nature of the country. The troops have now been withdrawn from Mosul.

SECOND BANDIT.

SHOT FIRED IN A LONDON BANK.

On Friday afternoon a man attempted to imitate the Leeds bank robbery at the Wood Green branch of Barclay's Bank. He drove up in a taxi shortly after the bank had closed, knocked at the door and was admitted by a clerk, as he said he wished to see the manager. Almost simultaneously he produced a revolver and fired a shot in the direction of a group of clerks on the other side of the counter, but nobody was hit. The next moment the chief cashier had felled the intruder with a pair of scales seized from the counter. Five clerks rushed on him and held him down until the arrival of the police, who were fetched by the driver of the taxi.

U.S. STORES IN FRANCE.

WHOLESALE ROBBERIES.

For some time past the American camps near St. Nazaire have been the hunting ground of thieves. Two hundred motor-cars remitted from the American stocks and placed in the military parks have disappeared. Thefts from the camp at Montoir are taking place daily. Several ambulance trains have been literally stripped, even to the moleskin covering the seats. A carriage in which hundreds of rifles had been stored was found empty. Apaches and poachers of the district visited another park every night and helped themselves to revolvers and grenades. The St. Nazaire police have arrested a man who was the principal official in liquidation of the American stocks.

BATH ASSEMBLY ROOMS BOUGHT BY Y.M.C.A.

Bath Assembly Rooms, built by Wood, jun., at a cost of £20,000 and completed in 1771, have been bought by the Y.M.C.A. for £11,000. Alterations are estimated to cost £4,000, and the rooms will be opened for their new purpose early in the new year.

IRONMOULDERS STRIKE.

The Executive of the Ironmoulders Unions have accepted the employers' offer to meet them in London next week with a view to a settlement of the strike.

GERMAN N.C.O.

SENTENCED FOR RECRUITING IN OCCUPIED ZONE.

Arrested by the American military authorities just as he was boarding the train at the Coblenz station on November 28th to leave the area for unoccupied Germany, Hans Jutz, non-commissioned officer of the Second Squadron Cuirassier Battalion, Reichswehr Schuetzen Regiment No. 13, stationed at Munster, Westphalia, has been given the maximum sentence of six months imprisonment and a fine of 5,000 marks by the American Superior Provost Court.

In the face of complete documentary evidence which was found on his person, giving the history of his actions for the past two months. Jutz pleaded guilty to the charges of being a member of the German army within the Allied occupied territory and recruiting for the German army within the occupied territory, both in violation of the rules of land warfare, the terms of the Armistice and subsequent agreements with the German government. Jutz admitted knowledge of the serious significance of his offence and stated only that he was acting under direct orders of his superior officer, 1st Lt. von Gescher, commander of the Westphalian Reichswehr unit mentioned above.

Jutz had been in Coblenz during the latter part of September and October as a member of the local German reception committee for the prisoners of war who were returned from the American camps in France at that time. He left for Munster about October 30th and returned to the American area on November 17th with full instructions from the German military command and the necessary papers to recruit for the German army within the zone. He had secured one recruit and given him travel orders to Munster before his arrest on the 28th.

INSPECTORS OF TAXES.

GREAT DISSATISFACTION AT SOMERSET HOUSE.

The suspension of eleven Superintendent Inspectors at Somerset House has caused much dissatisfaction. The allegation against them is "conduct subversive of discipline and directly opposed to public interest". They are said to have sent a signed statement to the Chancellor of the Exchequer calling attention to the injustice which they contended they had suffered in connection with recent promotions in the Inland Revenue Service.

The officials—Senior Superintendent Inspectors of Taxes—declined to withdraw the letter, and were suspended. Great indignation was expressed at the action of the head of the department, and subordinate officials, who allege favouritism in several recent appointments, have joined in the threat to "down pens". There are some 8,000 men employed in the department.

As a result of the action of the Association of Tax Surveyors the suspensions have been withheld pending negotiation with the board.

LAND GIRLS.

INSIST ON REMAINING ON FARMS.

Following the demobilization of the Women's Land Army, a short history of the whole movement is being prepared. At least seventy-five per cent of those who were in the army on demobilization are remaining on the farms, despite the fact that demobilization took place at the beginning of the winter, when farm work is most arduous and least attractive. More than 4,000 women joined the Land Women's Association within a week of their demobilization from the Land Army.

OUR AD MAN LEAVES US.

One by one the original members of the staff of the "Cologne Post" depart. But yesterday we were a quartette: to-day we are a trio. We have lost our first "Ad. Man," Roy Hardy, (rank, no consequence). True, he is only lost to sight, for he will carry on the good work in London, but we shall miss his quick walk (never without a bundle of papers under his arm) and his premonitory smoker's cough.

Of course we all accepted his invitation to drop in at his palatial rooms for a farewell smoke and chat, and his hosts, Herrn and Frau Thelen and family, must have wondered at the Bohemian invasion.

It was a combined leave-taking, for Alfred Barker, whose imminent departure will leave another gap, also played host.

The Editor voiced the good wishes of the company, and especially of his colleagues on the "Cologne Post", to our Ad. Man, in a few sincere words. Then we sang, "For he's a jolly good fellow" twice over, once for Roy Hardy and once for Alfred Barker.

Oh! yes, we had lots of music. Modest Menzinsky sang delightfully in the intervals of learning Erse from Alfred Hurley. Miss Hilda Potts charmed us with little love-ballads, Professor Krögel and Alfred Barker played exquisitely, and Warwick Pryce moved us to tears through laughter.

"Us" be it known, included the entire editorial staff of the "Cologne Post," and numerous operatic and business friends of the hosts.

Au revoir, our Ad. Man!

By order of the German Minister of Public Instruction the use of the old schoolbooks for the teaching of history is prohibited.

SUMMARY COURT.

INTERPRETER SENTENCED FOR BLACKMAIL.

Curt Leven, aged 18, of 13, Alvensleben Strasse, was employed as an interpreter by the British Military authorities, and whilst in that position was guilty of a very serious offence. He endeavoured to blackmail two publicans at Nippes, one in the sum of 1,500 Marks and the other in 500 Marks.

The charge against him was that of attempting to obtain money from civilians as a bribe to withhold proceedings for offences alleged to have been committed by them.

The evidence showed that accused visited a publican at Nippes and accused him of selling cognac to civilians without a doctor's permission. He told the publican that a corporal could put everything right for 500 Marks.

The publican evidently agreed to pay the money, and Leven promised to call in the evening to collect the amount.

He did so, but in the meantime a military policeman had become acquainted with the proposed transaction and when accused visited the house in the evening the policeman was present and heard Leven say that everything would be alright if the proprietors gave him 500 Marks immediately.

The Presiding Officer, in passing sentence of three months imprisonment, said accused had been guilty of a most serious offence but taking into consideration his youth he would only sentence him to three months. Had he been older a much heavier sentence would have been passed.

ROBBED THE Y.M.C.A.

Ludwig Wachun of 6 Kleine Telegraphen Strasse, Cologne, was employed as a cook at the Central Y.M.C.A., Friesenstrasse. When his house was searched the following goods were found:—530 cigarettes, 1 packet of Y.M.C.A. tea, 3 tins of salmon, 6 tins of corned beef, 9 bags of white flour, 2 tins of pork and beans, 2 tins of Maypole butter and 1 rabbit. A trench dagger was also found in his house.

It was stated that a lot of petty pilfering had taken place of late from the Y.M.C.A., and accused was sentenced to three months imprisonment.

A DEAL IN FOREIGN SECURITIES.

Emil Knoop, a merchant, of 4 Wallrafplatz, pleaded guilty to a breach of postal regulations by attempting to export foreign securities to unoccupied territory without permission.

It had been done by his clerk, he said, without his knowledge, and his name had not been signed to the letter, but he accepted full responsibility. He promised to be more careful in future.

A fine of 2,000 marks, or two months imprisonment, was inflicted.

COLOGNE AIR-MAIL.

DETAILS OF THE DEFUNCT SERVICE.

Statistics are now available regarding six months' running of the Folkestone-Cologne R.A.F. mail service, which was terminated towards the end of October. The actual cross-Channel service was inaugurated on March 1, but it was not until the end of July that a through service between Folkestone and Cologne was regularly flown. During the six months' flying subsequent to March 1, 1,842 trips were made, up to 460lb. weight of mails being carried per machine trip. Of the 1,842 flights begun, 96 per cent. were successfully completed. Of the 270 through flights from Folkestone to Cologne begun, 267 were completed—only 1 per cent. of failures.

The regularity of service was also good. Mails were carried from Folkestone on 146 out of the 182 days under review, and from Cologne on 139 days. During the six months covered only one pilot and one passenger were injured—both in the same accident.

ROYAL VISIT TO UNITED SERVICES FUND OFFICES.

The King and Queen visited the offices of the United Services Fund in Parliament-street on Friday morning. They were received by Lord Byng, and made a tour of inspection, taking great interest in all the arrangements for dealing with applications, and the general administration of the fund.

TAX ON WAR FORTUNES.

The Government has no intention of holding an official enquiry into the practicability of a capital levy, says Mr. Bonar Law, but they are anxious to secure a decision on the feasibility of taxing war fortunes.

LINER ON FIRE AT SEA.

A St. Johns' (New Brunswick) message states that the Leyland liner Mercian, six thousand tons, is on fire at sea. She was then thirty-six miles south of Cape Race, making for St. John's.

EXIT MEAT CONTROL.

The rationing of meat in Great Britain and registration of customers with butchers will be discontinued from the 15th December.

The announcement that the King has approved the issue of the "General Service Medal" is premature.

LEEDS BANK MURDER

SUSPECTED MAN ARRESTED AT BRISTOL.

A man named Redfern was arrested at Bristol yesterday in connection with the murder of the manager at the Leeds branch of the Penny Bank. An accurate description of the alleged murderer was given to the police by the clerks at the bank. It is also alleged that on the day before the outrage Redfern was seen surveying the bank premises and examining the protecting bars of the windows.

Redfern, who is an ex-officer of the Devons, and was twice wounded during the war, had a small shop at Bristol, but apparently business was not good. On Wednesday he appeared unexpectedly at Leeds, where he was employed before the war, and said he had lost all his money by speculation. He carried a small hand-bag in which he said he had some war souvenirs. This bag was dropped, when the man who shot the bank manager fled, and the police found inside it a pair of new handcuffs, giving ground for the belief that the robbery was a deliberately planned affair.

LONDON UNIVERSITY O.T.C

FUTURE OF THE CORPS.

The future of the Officers Training Corps is the subject of a report adopted by a Conference of past and present officers of combatant units who were members of London University O.T.C. The report regrets that the names were not recorded of pre-war cadets willing to take up commissions in a National emergency. This register was not kept owing to the War Office fearing that it would impede the taking up of commissions in the Special Reserve.

The London University O.T.C. contributed in wartime 201 officers. The distinctions won included five V.C.'s, 52 D.S.O.'s and 582 M.C.'s. It is also a matter of regret that the Corps was unplaced in the Victory march-past of London troops.

The report includes a recommendation that the War Office afford facilities for suitable soldiers to undergo a course at London University with a view to qualifying for Regular Commissions.

COAL CHAOS.

BLUNDERS WHICH CAUSE TROUBLE.

In the House of Commons Mr. Adamson, Mr. Brace and Mr. Hartshorn (Labour Members) said they favoured the limitation of profits, but the Coal Profits Bill under which the limitation expired on the 31st March would mean chaos in the mining industry and the creation of a revolutionary atmosphere. The Bill did not fulfil the pledges of the Sankey Report and the miners felt that the Government had yielded to pressure by the coal owners to abolish Government control and return to private ownership.

The abandonment of the Bill creates a very difficult situation and completely upsets the calculations of national finance depending on the expected return from the mines. It is suggested that the industry must again be subsidised or the ten shillings recently taken off household coal must be re-imposed to make good the deficiency.

AUSTRIAN CHANCELLOR PLEADS.

The Austrian Chancellor, Herr Renner, has arrived at Paris. In an interview he said that the object of his visit was to inform the Supreme Council of Austria's desperate condition. Vienna was in the worst plight. He emphaised the absolute necessity of obtaining a month's supply of grain in January.

He believed it to be essential that Austria be granted long term credits until next October in order to secure 25 million pounds worth of food and raw material. He also seeks a modification of the St. Germains Treaty, which mortgages Austrian property, thus rendering loans impossible in the absence of security.

POLITICAL LIBEL RESULT.

Mr. Lyle Samuel was awarded £500 damages in the libel action he brought against Mr. F. W. French, his opponent at the last general election, and Mr. French's agent.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

The tone of the market yesterday was confident, buying generally outweighing the offerings. This was mainly due to expectations regarding the outcome of M. Clemenceau's visit and the report that the United States is prepared to postpone for three years the payment of interest on war loans. French Loans rallied smartly and Home Funds remained steady. Gold shares were buoyant on a fresh rise of bar gold to 111s. 3d. Diamonds were strong on the announcement that the De Beer Company's profit for the year reached nearly four millions sterling. Oils were firm; Mexican Eagles advanced on anticipation of dividends, but were off-set by unfavourable reports regarding the Mexican Government's attitude towards oil-producing companies. Bar silver advanced to 78¼ pence. The exchange on Paris was 41.70, New York 3.70, Brussels, 39.80, Geneva, 20.25, Amsterdam, 9.91½, Germany 182—185, Austria 620—650.

A great Advance in Soap Chemistry

As a result of many years strenuous work in chemical research and its practical application, "Sapon" Soap has been perfected. It is the greatest advance in the chemistry of Soap since that article was first manufactured.

Ordinary Soap consists of Fat deglycerined and saponified with Caustic Soda.

"Sapon" Soap is derived from Carbohydrates which when treated by the Company's patented process, yield Ammonia, Methylamine, and Trimethylamine. These Nitrogenous compounds are highly emulsifying agents, and do NOT combine with Lime or Magnesia Salts in water, as all fat-derived soaps do. Hence, no "scum" or insoluble lime soap is formed, even in the hardest water when "Sapon" Soap is used.

Dr. Shorter, of Leeds University, says of "Sapon" Soaps:—
"They contain 'surface active' colloids, whose 'surface activity' greatly exceeds that of an ordinary fat soap, and that therefore it fulfils in an extremely satisfactory manner the fundamental condition for detergent action."

SKIN DISEASES

The Amines and Amido bodies in "Sapon" Soap are readily soluble in water. They are germicidal but non-injurious owing to their colloid nature. Besides their efficiency as cleansers, they have a wonderfully sedative action.

"Sapon" Soap gives wonderful results in irritable skin diseases, such as Scabies, Eczema, Pruritis, Insect Bites, Acne, etc. The following is the best method of application when it is used for curative purposes, —moisten the Soap, rub it on the part affected and allow it to dry, on.

You will never use old-fashioned Fat Soap once you have used "SAPON" SOAPS and given them a fair trial.

Sole Agents for "Sapon" Soap in Germany
ERIC MORTON & Co.
12, Luttichér Strasse
COLOGNE

SAPON SOAPS LIMITED
Sapon House, London Bridge, E.C. 4, England

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

FLIGHTS LTD
MILITARY TAILORS
LONDON. WINCHESTER. ALDERSHOT.

Mr. A.J.R. Lee will be leaving Cologne on Thursday. Will return in January. Until Wednesday address—

KRONPRINZ HOTEL
(Behind The Excelsior Hotel)

where he will have his usual excellent selection of material, both for Mufti and Uniform, also a stock of Hosiery of the best quality.

LATE OF THE OFFICERS' CLUB No. 1.

THOS. COOK & SON

BANKERS, TOURIST, ARMY & FORWARDING AGENTS

OUR COLOGNE BRANCH IS OPEN AND AT THE SERVICE OF OFFICERS, N.C.O's AND MEN OF ARMY OF THE OCCUPATION

FOREIGN MONIES EXCHANGED

ADDRESS 1, DOMHOF
OPPOSITE THE CATHEDRAL

SPARKES HALL
308, REGENT ST. LONDON W.
4, AVENUE FRIEDLAND, PARIS and
ROOM 71, DISCH HOTEL
Brückenstr. COLOGNE
(Next Door to N.A.C.B. Canteen)

FIELD, HUNTING & POLO BOOTS

Hand-Sewn Field Boots, Civilian Boots, Shoes and Pumps made to order and delivered to Germany in 18 days or in England in 10 days.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstrasse

Sunday, Dec. 14th 1919, at 6 p.m.

Grand Ballad Concert

ARTISTES:
Lieut. S. E. PERCY
Will Recite "THE HAPPY PRINCE".
ERIC MORGAN
The Well-known English Tenor
MARTHA BRUCH
Mezzo-Soprano
HOWARD FRY
Baritone
ALFRED BARKER
The Brilliant English Violinist

Special Augmented Orchestra under the direction of ALFRED BARKER.

Book at Amusements Office.

British Empire LEAVE CLUB
Hon. Dir. Gen. Miss Decima Moore. C.B.E.
Programme for Week ending Dec. 20th 1919

ENTERTAINMENTS

Sunday, Dec. 14th.
5—6 Rev. C. E. Wheeler will talk to the men in the Writing Room.
6.30—8.30 Band Concert, 20th K.R.R. Corps.

Monday, Dec. 15th.
5—6 Impromptu Concert.
6—7 7—8 German Class.
6.30 Practice Dance.

Tuesday, Dec. 16th.
5—6 Impromptu Concert.
6 "Lady Frederick" in Theatre.
6.30 Chess Tournament in Quiet Room.

Wednesday, Dec. 17th.
5—6 Impromptu Concert.
6—7 7—8 German Classes (advanced).
6.30 Dance.

Thursday, Dec. 18th.
5—6 Impromptu Concert.
6.30 Whist Drive.
6.30 Chess Tournament.
6.30 Dancing Class in Theatre followed by a Dance.

Friday, Dec. 19th.
5—6 Dancing Class.
Continuous Cinema.
6.30 Debate in Writing Room.
6—7 7—8 German Class.

Saturday, Dec. 20th.
5—6 Impromptu Concert.
6—7 7—8 German Class.
6.30 Dance.

CINEMA
EVERY DAY. From 2.30 p.m.
Admission 2 Marks.

Church of England Services in Bonn

IN GARRISON CHURCH, BONN.
EVERY SUNDAY:

Holy Communion	8.00 hrs.
" "	11.45 hrs.
" "	19.00 hrs.
Garrison Parad. Serv.	10.00 hrs.
Evening Sermon	18.00 hrs.

Scottish Churches and English Free Churches.

THE MILITARY CHURCH.
8 Filzengraben (Turning off Heumarkt.)
Sunday, 14th December
11 a.m. Preacher: Rev. G. A. SEATH, C.F. (Garrison Chaplain.)
6 p.m. Rev. C. E. James C.F.
Cars Nos. 6, 7, 11, 18 and 20.

Welsh Service 2.30 p.m. in Y.M.C.A. Central.

You are never lonely with a „Gramola" in your home

Gramophone Spezialhaus
COLOGNE
Hohestr. 150

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.

MONDAY, December 15th 1919, and for five nights the

British Rhine Army Variety Company

in a Special Variety Entertainment.

ARTISTES:
ALFRED BARKER
(The Brilliant English Violinist)
Miss HILDA POTTS
Soprano
Mrs. CHAS S. STAIRS
Humorist
HAROLD WALTERS
Baritone
CHARLES GORDON
Handbellringer
and

Miss Inez Bensusan	Bert Rex
Miss Frances Chisholm	Miss Hilda Potts
Pte. J. Terry, R.A.S.C.	Lt. J. Humphrey Hope

in the One Act Play by STANLEY HOUGHTON
entitled
"THE DEAR DEPARTED"
Play produced on Lieut. S.C. PERCY, H.L.I.
Book at Amusement Office.

Palaçe Theatre. Herzogstrasse.

MONDAY, December 15th, 1919, and during the week welcome Return Visit of
Mr. ALFRED HURLEY's London Variety Coy

"THE JESTERS"
ARTISTES.
Mr. JOE MORLEY.
(The celebrated Banjoist from the London Palladium)
Miss MABEL MARTIN.
Soprano.
Miss JESSIE MOUNTJOY.
Songs at the piano.
Mr. HARRY KING.
Comedian.
Mr. CHAS. LEWIS.
with "Joey".

BOOK AT AMUSEMENTS OFFICE.

No 1 Cinema is now closed.

No: 2 ARMY CINEMA.
(Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.

No: 3 ARMY CINEMA.
(Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.

ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.

Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc.,
Staff Instructor in attendance.

The Cologne Post

Telephones: Military, No. 659. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Sunday, December 14, 1919.

THE NOBLE ART.

Boxing, not only as an Army recreation, but also as a national sport, is probably claiming more followers and supporters at the present time than it has done in any period since it first found favour with the British public.

And this, despite the fact that it has been repeatedly attacked by certain narrow-minded folk at home who regard its increasing popularity with undisguised horror and concern.

The unprecedented interest evoked by the Carpentier-Beckett fight was abundant proof of the trend of public opinion and established the fact that the lurid warnings of the kill-joys that indulgence in this sport would spell national disaster and ruin have been little heeded.

The reason probably is that the demobilized soldier has been favourably impressed by the clean conduct of boxing under Army rules, has realised the unique possibilities of physical development it holds, and is convinced that its cultivation will carry with it the improvement of physique and a consequent higher standard of national health.

The sport has not up to the present been widely enough indulged in, in the Army of Occupation. Men have been persistently clamouring for contests, and beyond a few team competitions, little has been done to satisfy these enthusiasts. But now, we are pleased to see that the Army have taken up the matter seriously, and are arranging a number of fortnightly competitions, the first of which concluded with conspicuous success last evening.

Cleaner or more good-humoured sport than that displayed at these competitions it would be impossible to imagine. The contestants without exception showed the right spirit—receiving punishment without resentment and giving it without malice.

That is as it should be. Boxing when properly conducted and controlled, brings out the best in a man and is very far from the blood-thirsty pastime certain prudish people imagine. Judging from the opening competitions just held, the sport has a great future in Rhineland, where it appears to overshadow football, known as the king of sports, in popularity. Lovers of this branch of sport are extremely pleased that the Army have realised the pressing need and responded in such praiseworthy fashion.

TWO LOVELY BLUE EYES.

All this happened in the very early days, before many people had come to Germany. I don't know that it reflects very creditably on my sex, so it is really rather harsh of me to tell the story. However I can't help langhing when I think of it, and it may amuse some of you people as well.

You know just how cheery one feels on the last night at home, with the prospect of that wearisome Boulogne-Cologne jurney looming before one.

I was determined to have a thorough good time during the last evening, and with Jack Somers, went off to Rector's.

It was pretty full, and the chatter and shaded lights and the gleam of jewels and heavy scents made me feel a good bit less gloomy.

We hadn't had the luck to find any of our particular friends disengaged, and I was just beginning to feel very bored at having no partner when I caught sight of Leslie Metcalfe. He waved violently to me and came across.

"For Heaven's sake come and join our party," he said, "we're a man short and I've got some toppin' dancers."

We followed him, and in a minute we'd been introduced to half a dozen girls. They were the usual lot, but one in particular took my fancy.

She was very fair with real corn-coloured hair; and big blue eyes. You know the sort. Soft and appealing, with that do-take-care-of-me-look about her which is so attractive.

She wasn't a scrap painted, and her feet and ankles were things to marvel at.

I managed to squeeze myself in next her, and found that she really was shy and unsophisticated. She was Swedish and was in the chorus of "The Motor Maid."

I'm not easily épris, but I must say that this child—she was nothing more—attracted me. She had one relation alive, a sister who was earning her living, as a governess in Cologne. They hoped, between them, to be able to put aside enough to make a home for themselves in Sweden. It was such a pathetic little ambition that it touched me.

Her big blue eyes sparkled when she heard that I was going to Cologne.

"And you will see Truda," she exclaimed, "she lives in a tiny flat in the Beethoven Strasse, when she is not working. Promise me you will go and visit her. She will make you a good tea—like England. Ah! if only I could go with you."

She was pathetic in her eagerness, and I promised I would go and see her little sister.

"Will you take her a small present, that I am sending her? They are so fragile, I fear they may get broken in the post. They are some coloured combs I have them in my flat. Could we fetch them."

We went off in a taxi, and she was so fascinating with her appealing baby ways that I nearly lost my head.

She produced the combs—common little bright coloured things such as you see in any ordinary shop. I wrapped them up carefully, and she tip-toed up and kissed me like a small child.

I thought of her quite a bit in the train; she was rather different to anyone else I had known, and as we were nearing Cologne I picked out the combs and looked at them. Then the accident happened. One of them slipped out of my hand, and fell on to the floor.

It broke in half—and out of one piece, protruded a small bit of paper. I picked it up. It was covered with very small writing. After a short perusal of the document I put it in my pocket, and on reaching Cologne I hurried off to Sampson of "I" (b).

He frowned; then laughed. "Another link in the chain of evidence against 'Truda.' We've been wondering how certain information was leaking through, and I rather fancied she wasn't altogether as innocent as she looked. Perfect little peach she is too." I never saw Truda's little sister again. K.V.

TRUTH IS NOT CYNICISM.

(Reply to "Anti-Gloom.")

Yes. Mr. "Anti-Gloom," we are all against those whose only happiness is to be miserable and to make others so. To be cheerful is a duty, and one which brings its own reward overwhelmingly.

But (large heavy capitals, Mr. Printer, please) when Rome is burning or even in danger of doing so, is not he the better and the wiser man who recognises the fact, warns his fellows, concentrates his attention and their's on preventive measures, rather than he who merrily fiddles?

What would you have thought of the officer who, seeing men, new to the game, jump upon the parapet to view the landscape, said, "That's right! Hang the dismals! those things you see and hear are only jolly fireworks. Don't let them worry you!"?

No, No! from the cradle onwards we are deeply indebted to those who warn us of certain danger, who call our attention to the disagreeable necessity of preventing all evil that is preventable. We keep our affection for the jolly and careless; but we owe the most to those who save us from so much by playing the more unpopular and unselfish part of warning us against the traditional ostrich attitude.

The fact is, Truth is not, and never has been, popular. But it is only pusillanimous weakness of character which leads the popular to turn away from real problems because they are tiresome, and to exalt pleasantries as the main consideration of life.

"Let us eat, drink, and be merry, for to-morrow we die," giggles Frivolity, and Eternal Wisdom thunders back, "Thou Fool! Though thou die, humanity lives on, and suffers for thy wilful blindness."

We will, indeed, treasure and cultivate cheerfulness; we will meet our trouble with a smile; but troubles there will be, and meet them we must. And we should be grateful to those who make us do so even if they are Dismal Jimmies. But don't let us label everyone thus just because he takes the trouble to press upon our notice things which must matter.

"Seek the sunshine." Yes, that is one of the great keys to happiness. But, as any artist will tell you, the true forms of the things we see and have to deal with are written in shadow. Without shadow no form is perceptible, no beauty evident.

The true spirit is that of the Army, which sang, "Are we downhearted? No!", but which, in order that it might do its job capably and successfully, paid all heed to the thousand instructions, warnings, and notices that alone made it possible for them to cope with their task. Did anyone call "Pessimists" or "Cynics" those who warned a man of the danger of wrongly handling a rifle, of being unready with his gas mask, of not observing certain notices at some cross-roads we wot of? I trow not.

After all it is better to be warned and ready against a danger in case it comes, even should it not occur, than to have laughingly disregarded its possibility. And our gratitude, not our curses, is due to the man who plays the unpopular part of foreteller of possible evil. The world has enriched its comedians and stoned its prophets. But the most valuable organisation of the world (would it had come 20 years earlier) — the Boy Scouts Association, has the summit of all wisdom in its motto, "Be Prepared"! A secondary but important part of its code is "Be cheerful". Pity the man who sees only the dark shadows; but honour him if he warns you of the dangers lurking there. Despise the man for a fool who tells you that there are no shadows or that they have no import. He may be cheery, but he won't help you not to fall into pits. Pay every warning the wise compliment of investigation, and get at the Truth. For Truth is not Cynicism.

W. I.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

Our Readers' Varied Views.

THE RETENTION OF RANK.

Sir,—I agree with "Dinky" as to the democratic character of Britain's great Army, but surely if a man proves his worth and earns promotion above the rank of lieutenant then he should be allowed to retain it, providing, of course, it is not used for business purposes.

"Dinky" would be the last, I am sure, to succumb to snobbery. Yet, I cannot help thinking that much of the agitation in the press is dictated by that snobbery which would place distinction in the hands of the few.

No, let the demobilized retain their rank and the right to wear their old uniforms on occasions of a military character. M.D.

SILLY FILMS.

Sir,—I agree with "Five marker" that soldiers generally have no fault to find with the admirable series of films which are projected at Army cinemas, but as the subject matter of films is so to speak one of taste why not get over the difficulty by putting up a time table?

An operator works by the block, and on studying the programme if we could learn when a particular film was "on" we who look to the cinema for education, amusement, and thrills, providing they have the merit of probability, could make our arrangements accordingly, and not be forced to sit through reams of uninteresting matter.

I throw out the suggestion in no carping spirit, for to me the Army cinema is an admirable institution. BOX OFFICE

THE IMPORTANCE OF LETTER WRITING.

Sir,—Very few people to-day pay much attention to the art of letter writing. To most of us writing a letter simply means a sheet of paper, a pen, a few sentences and it is finished.

It seems very easy, yet it is very difficult, to write a good letter, and even those whose literary attainments are of a high standard are often very poor letter-writers.

It is often thought that only learned men need know anything about the rules of grammar or the laws of style; that only learned men need know how to compose elaborate compositions. That is altogether wrong. Everyone of us whose business it is to write letters is, in a small way, an author, and as such we ought to strive to write the English language correctly. If we do not know it is our duty to learn.

We are often at great pains in our endeavours to learn a foreign language while we are altogether ignorant of the niceties of our mother tongue.

In former times, letters served as a medium for the transmission of news. Men and women wrote long epistles dealing with important questions of the day.

We, to-day, usually write letters dealing with our own affairs, and we therefore do not consider them of importance enough to justify our taking pains in composing them.

And again we live in such a busy world that we have little time for fine letter writing, but that is no reason why we should not do our best. Whether your letter consists of two sentences or of twenty paragraphs, write it in as good a manner as you can.

In writing a clear hand; in paying proper attention to punctuation in following the rule of grammar you are only doing your duty to your reader: in writing slovenly and ungrammatical you are doing your reader an injustice. A well written letter is indicative of a refined mind and of scholarly attainments.

We must remember that good letter-writing is of inestimable value as an aid to success in business life. For instance, glance at the "wants" column of a newspaper and you will invariably find that the applicant for a position must apply in his own handwriting, and why? Simply because the employer will be able to judge the writer; he will be able to read his character in his letter.

When you have written your letter read it over, correct it, if necessary remodel it, make sure you are satisfied that it is well written.

If from the reader's point of view, it is well written, you are no longer a mere letter-writer; you are a man of letters.

Every man who writes, even two well constructed sentences of a letter, is for evermore a Man of Letters. R. M.

LAUNDRY ARISTOCRATS.

Sir,—Apropos the note of "Rhinelander" cannot something be done to compel laundry aristocrats to mend their ways?

Surely prices in Cologne are sufficient considering how badly the work is done, and the vile smell which permeates every garment on its return from the wash. It cannot be soap which is used. Then again things are so indifferently washed as to be practically useless on return.

Blouses come back torn, slit and frayed. Invariably someone else's goods stray into the parcel, necessitating a personal call to receive the lost articles. Sometimes the goods are recovered, sometimes not, and in that case you are left with the choice of wearing someone else's garments, buying new ones, or going short.

The return of the wash is erratic. You can never tell when it will come back, and, as I say, when it does the results are enough to make the English housewife weep. WIFE.

THOUGHTS ON SANDBAGS.

Whilst scanning the columns of a leading daily newspaper recently, I noticed an advertisement announcing the sale of millions of Army Sandbags.

Sandbags—what poignant memories that word awakened within me, and will doubtless awaken in thousands of others who have been "Somewhere in France" or other theatres of war.

I sat for a few minutes reflecting on the many uses (and sometimes ill-uses) to which Sandbags had been subjected during the war.

Apart from its legitimate vocation, the ever ingenious Tommy pressed it into use at the slightest provocation, and it did right royal service as a kit-bag, ration-carrying bag, leggings when puttees succumbed to wear and tear, barbed wire, etc., blinds for windows, and a thousand and one odd uses too numerous to mention, but which will be familiar to many.

What Tommy has not heard a conversation something like this? Q.M.S. to Gunner Jones: "Gunner Jones, you will report to.....to-night for duty as..... Don't forget to take two days' rations with you." Poor Jones already trussed up like a walking Christmas Tree with all kinds of paraphernalia hung about his person, sighs, and asks, "All right, Sir, but how can I carry rations with all this lot on me?" The Q.M.S. replies, "What's the matter with a sandbag, my lad?" The problem is solved.

Apropos Sandbags, reminds the writer of an incident which although it does not directly concern the Sandbag (common or garden variety) deals with his larger and more refined brothers, "Sugar-sacks."

It happened during the early days of the war at the first battle of the Aisne.

The hot weather and necessity for constantly living with clothes on, not to mention sleeping in places not usually habited by man, had led to the unwelcome appearance of the little pest, later very much in evidence amongst the troops in the trenches. In consequence, the necessity for divesting oneself of the affected underclothing was keenly felt, a bath and a clean change of clothing being "non est" under the existing conditions.

Our gun positions were on the crest of a ridge in a salient across the river, and being very much in view of the enemy it was necessary to leave the billet, a sugar factory, by the river bank long ere the cock crowed, returning in the evening when darkness prevented the enemy from paying undue attention to the withdrawal. The result was that sleep was limited to some four hours or so, making toilet a very hurried and primitive affair at the river's edge in the darkness.

The sugar factory, like many other places visited by the "gentle Jerry," bore vivid traces of wanton destruction, and it was not healthy to tamper with anything for fear of traps which had been laid when the enemy abandoned his project of taking parts. However, notwithstanding the need for caution, and heedless of the dangers which might be lurking about, whilst rummaging amongst the debris, we discovered a quantity of new canvas sugar sacks. These were immediately pressed into service. With two holes cut out to admit of arms being thrust through they made passable shirts, and some of the more industrious individuals who possessed a needle and thread fashioned underpants of the same material. Wearers of these primitive garments then fully realised the significance of the ancient custom prevalent amongst Eastern peoples when as a sign of mourning or penitence they adorned their person with sackcloth and ashes.

These improvised garments were at first far from comfortable nor could they be described as dainty underwear, but they were certainly preferable to the vermin-infested ones which had been discarded, and in some cases where the more imprudent had parted with their "undies" some days previously, proved a veritable God-send.

What their uses will be when "demobbed" and sold to the public is a matter for conjecture, but it is to be hoped that those who will handle them will sometimes give a thought to the noble part played by the sandbag in war.

Sandbag, many will haggle and bargain for you, and the price at which you are sold, will perhaps make you wish that you had remained on the field of battle to sleep with the thousands of the brave hearts who lie there, but true worth is not measured by gold.

So, dumb friend of a thousand uses, companion in danger and hours of darkness when the droning of Fritz's giant engines of destruction sounded overhead seeming to say, "Where's your billet?" "Where's your billet?" and we consolet ourselves in the thought that the stoud wall of sandbags would protect us from flying splinters, we humbly thank you and pray that Fate may be kind to you. H.M.G.

DO YOU EVER THINK OF ME?

I pray for you every sunrise
As the sands go whispering by,
And the golden sun is waking
Out here in old Pharoah's sky,
And I wonder, dear friend, I wonder
As the dawn creeps o'er the hill,
If a tender thought it will bring to me,
To say that you miss me still.

I dream of you every sunset
As the bluebirds come to rest,
And Ramleh's purest flowers
Are lulled to her tender breast.
And I wonder, dear friend, I wonder,
As the dusk steals o'er Rah ie,
At morning light, or scented night,
Do you ever think of me?

A.M.S.

BOXING COMPETITIONS.

Huge Success of First Fortnightly Meeting.

EXCELLENT TALENT.

As reported in yesterday's issue the first day of the Army Boxing Competitions at the Cologne Central Y.M.C.A. was an unqualified success. We have already given the bare results of the contests which took place, but to-day we are able to give further details of each fight.

LIGHT HEAVIES.

There was only one fight in the light-heavy weight class, C.S.M. Bradley, 52nd Devons, meeting Sgt. Watts, 51st R.B. Watts had a great advantage in weight and reach. Bradley soon displayed that he was a better exponent of the art than his opponent, and despite physical disadvantages, got in some very heavy punches at the opening session. He used both hands with good effect and had his man on the point of collapse in the end of the first round.

At the second meeting Watts showed that he had not recovered from the gruelling he had received and was early put down for a count. He rose gamely before the call of time, only to be put down again for the full count a few seconds later.

WELTER WEIGHTS.

Pte. Ovenden, 49th Labour Coy v. Sgt. Tayne 51st R.E.

The first round produced some very pretty boxing, both men being exceptionally quick to take advantage of the few opportunities offered.

Ovenden seemed to experience great difficulty in keeping his feet, and had slightly the worse of the opening exchanges. No blows that really mattered were exchanged.

Round two saw Ovenden showing up to advantage and getting home heavily to the body. He was always on the aggressive. Tayne, however, was sound in defence and countered with effect. There was little in the round.

At the third meeting Ovenden led with the left to the jaw, followed by a right to the body. Tayne visibly weakened and was unable to retaliate effectually. The former continued to pile up points and won the contest by a comfortable margin.

Cpl. Doke 18th K.R.R.C. v. Sapper Naylor 206th F. Coy R.E.

This contest ended very abruptly. Doke was obviously the stronger of the pair; he forced matters from the opening, dealing out a great amount of punishment and dismissing Naylor in the first round.

Cpl. Stevens 19th Middlesex v. Sgt James 52nd Kings Liverpool.

Both men shaped well from the commencement, James preferring to wait for his opponent to lead. The Middlesex man succeeded in getting through James's defence repeatedly with a telling left, the latter failing to counter.

At the second meeting Stevens appeared to have James guessing, and although the latter fought gamely he was no match for his clever oppenent. It was easily Stevens' round.

Round three found James endeavouring to wipe off his disadvantage in points, but although he got home occasionally Stevens remained master of the situation and won a good contest on points.

Pte. Ovenden v. Pte. Morris 11th Queens.

This was Ovenden's second fight of the evening, and he appeared little the worse for his earlier bout. In the first round Morris showed that he was no mean opponent, and there were some lively exchanges in which neither man could claim the advantage. As in his first fight, Ovenden assumed the offensive but Morris was not to be worried.

At the second session the Labourite gradually got the measure of his man, used the right with good effect and won the round with little to spare.

The last meeting was also very closely contested, both men leading and countering in turn and the verdict went to Ovenden by a very narrow margin.

Rfm. Jackson 51st R.B. v. Dvr. Mansell Ind. D.A.C.

Mansell did most of the leading but failed to draw Jackson, who was content to counter, which he did with effect. He showed that he was a master of defence.

In the second round Jackson missed with an upper cut and later opened out, making good use of a punishing left. He displayed a very attractive style and continued to have the better of the exchanges.

In round three Mansell made a determined effort to break down his opponent's defence; he succeeded in getting home with both hands but aways received more than he administered. Jackson was awarded the verdict and was a good winner.

LIGHT-WEIGHTS.

Rfn. Turner 52nd R.B. v. Dvr. Hughes No. 3 Section D.A.C.

After some very heavy exchanges at the opening session, the honours of which went to Turner, Hughes was very groggy at the end of the round.

Displaying better generalship, and in particular a sound defence, Turner at the second meeting, after dealing out heavy punishment put Hughes to sleep.

Pte. Sheldrick 49th Labour Coy. v. Pte. Luttrell 11th Queens.

It was soon obvious that Sheldrick was an old hand at the game. He displayed excellent knowledge of ringcraft, avoided his opponent's heavy swings by clever dodging and got in the only few punches there were in the first round.

Early in the second meeting Sheldrick reached the point with a heavy right, and Luttrell went to the boards. He, however, rose before the call of time, and the rest of the round saw Sheldrick complete master of the situation and giving a very pretty display of neat footwork. Luttrell succeeded in reaching the point on one or two occasions.

At the last meeting Luttrell showed improvement, reached the jaw with the left and later got left and right to the head and body.

This spell of success did not last long; Sheldrick again dominated the situation, was the only man in the closing exchanges, and won the fight on points.

Pte. Jewell 19th Middlesex v. Sgt. Hopkins 52nd Devons.

This fight ended unfortunately, Jewell in coming up from a duck accidentally striking his head and being unable to continue. It promised to be a lively contest.

BANTAM-WEIGHTS.

Dvr. Kitchen 206 R.E. v. Dvr. Debuse 18th K.R.R.C.

This was a very spirited contest, in which both men fought gamely and well. They were in a very weak state at the close of the last round, Kitchen losing on points.

Gnr. Hinksman Ind D.A.C. v. L/Cpl. Baxter Northern Bde. T.M.B.

This was a whirlwind encounter in which there was plenty of wild hitting but very little science. Baxter did most of the attacking, driving Hinksman round the ring. The latter took things more coolly, and although he received a deal of punishment he retaliated with some well placed punches and was deservedly awarded the verdict on points.

Rfn. Doe 18th K.R.R.C. v. Pte. Pullen 19th Middlesex.

Another first round ending, Doe knocking out his opponent after some hard hitting.

FEATHER-WEIGHTS:

Rfn. Sparks, 52nd R.B. v. Pte. Leigh, 3rd D.A.C.

Sparks soon had the measure of his opponent, and dismissed him with ease at the first meeting.

Pte. Woodard, 19th Middlesex v. Pte. Holt, 52nd Kings Liverpools.

Woodard drove his man to the ropes in the first round, and put in some good work, but Holt returned some good punches, and there was little in the first round which was a lively affair.

In the second round, after some heavy punching, in which both men gave and received, Holt went down for a couple of seconds.

He was sent down again at the last meeting, and Woodard was declared the winner at the end of a good fight, on points.

THE OBJECT.

Major Delany, in the course of a brief speech, said the object of the competitions was to create the right boxing spirit, and to provide excellent amusement for an enthusiastic and sporting public. They intended running boxing competitions on similar lines every fortnight, and it was hoped to arrange a few six-round contests later on. The next meeting would be on Friday and Saturday in the first week after Christmas, and the names of intending competitors should be submitted by the Monday previous.

LAST NIGHT'S CONTESTS.

Excellent Displays in Competition Finals.

As was only to be expected, the boxing in the finals last night reached an even higher standard than that of the preliminary contests.

There was again a huge audience, including a fair sprinkling of ladies, and the enthusiasm exceeded that of the first night, if that were possible.

The contestants invariably showed good humour and gameness and fought with an exhilarating keenness customary in Army boxing.

As a result of the competitions, the most competent performers have been earmarked by the P. and R.T. Staff, and will be called upon to figure in six-round contests in subsequent tournaments. One thing revealed was that a number of the competitors were physically fit and clever enough to take part in bouts of longer duration. The results were:—

LIGHT-HEAVY WEIGHT.

Final: C. S. M. Bradley, 52nd Devons, v. Cpl. Cook, 19th Middlesex.

Bradley gained an early advantage with a stinging swing to the ribs. Cook, however, pulled round quickly and managed to return the compliment before the end of the round.

The second round started with Cook landing a good left to the jaw. Dodging another forceful punch Bradley got home a favourite right swing to Cook's face, following almost immediately with a second. Cook was heavy on his feet and unable to avoid the quick deliveries of the Devon man.

Early in the third session Cook showed signs of weakening which a right swing to the jaw and a left to the ribs did not improve. He, however, played up pluckily and put up a good show against a better man. Bradley won on points.

MIDDLE WEIGHTS.

Semi-final: Cpl. Clark, 19th Middlesex v. R.Q.M.S. French, H.Q. 1st Rhine Bde.

French wasted no time in getting to business and time and again floored his opponent. Clark, who was not in the same class, was put down four times in almost as many seconds, and took the full count half way through the first round.

Pte. Glinnan, 19th Middlesex v. Cpl. Holyhead, 52nd Kings Liverpool.

The pair were evenly matched, and Glinnan early got to work with a punishing straight left. The Cpl. relied on sledge-hammer blows, but he was no match for the scientific Middlesex man. Glinnan specialised in a damaging left to the stomach, but Holyhead showed remarkable ability for receiving punishment. The fight went to Glinnan.

Middle Weight-Final: Pte. Glinnan defeated R.Q.M.S. French.

Glinnan, although receiving many hard punches causing him to show evident signs of distress, boxed coolly and gamely during the first round until, towards the end he got home a telling left to the other's jaw. Glinnan's left was again usefully employed in the second and with it he gained point after point. In attempting to dodge round the ropes, the private received a stinging blow to the heart, but he was unruffled and continued to make use of his characteristic punch until, eventually, he gained the verdict.

(Continued in next column).

WELTER WEIGHT.

Cpl. Doke 18th K.R.R.C. v. Cpl. Stevens 19th Middlesex.

Semi-final: — Stevens boxed cleverly but had to take a deal of punishment from his more muscular opponent in the first round. Doke was master of the situation in the second round, and landed a number of effective blows. Stevens smilingly stuck to his guns and by no means allowed Doke to get off scot free. Doke lost the fight on points, but his defeat was by no means humiliating.

Semi-final: Pte. Ovenden, 49th Labour Coy. v. Rfn. Jackson, 51st R.B.

Jackson gained several points early on until he was caught napping by a "round the back punch." Jackson moved with lightning-like speed, and this saved him time and again. In the second round he floored his opponent twice in quick succession.

During the interval Ovenden recovered and piled up points with a rapidly delivered succession of lefts to the body and head. Jackson retaliated with a heavy bombardment, and this gave him a narrow verdict on points.

Final:—Rfn. Jackson v. Cpl. Stevens.

The opening exchanges were slightly in favour of Jackson until Stevens, feinting cleverly, drove a hard punch to the stomach followed by another to the jaw. There was plenty of hard hitting in the second round and at the end of a clean fight Stevens was declared the winner.

LIGHT WEIGHTS.

Semi-final: Pte. Turner 52nd R.B. v. Pte. Sheldrick 49th Labour Coy.

The battle started in whirlwind fashion, and there was a cluster of flashing arms and legs to the accompaniment of the thud of many blows. Sheldrick was the cleverer, and came through the first meeting with advantage. Turner, boxing with spirit, showed up better in the early stages of the second round, but a telling bang in the mouth shook him badly. He was in a sorry state when the gong went.

Sheldrick made no bones about the matter in the last act of the drama and after a series of heavy hits floored his opponent. Displaying the maximum of pluck Turner returned to the conflict and continued to the end, losing on points.

Semi-final:—Pte. Jewell, 19th Middlesex v. Dvr. Grey, 2nd D.A.C.

These lads displayed a deal of skill and never missed an opening. In the second round Jewell made a speciality of a right downward swing and with one of them nearly secured the knock-out. Grey recovered, gaining time by clever footwork, but was compelled to retire, having sprained his hand.

Final Pte. Sheldrick v. Dvr. Grey.

Sheldrick displayed better footwork than his opponent and to this must be attributed his victory which came in the third round after a give and take contest.

BANTAM WEIGHT.

Semi-finals:—Rfn. Doe, 13th K.R.R.C. v. Dvr. Debuse, 18th K.R.R.C.

Doe reached the head with two light punches early on but a quick retaliation by Debuse caught the other napping. Doe quickly recovered, and there was no incident of note until near the end of the fight when the Rifleman administered a series of weak punches to the stomach. Doe received the verdict on points.

Semi-final:—Gnr. Hinksman, Ind. D.A.C. v. Pte. Sutton, 19th Middlesex.

Sutton in the first three seconds sent his man reeling to the ropes, and after a series of punishing lefts and rights knocked him out within 20 seconds.

Final: Rfn. Doe v. Pte. Sutton.

Doe showed signs of his earlier battle and a succession of blows rendered him groggy. There was a turn of events in the second round, Doe being the deliverer of terrific punches, one of which knocked his man out.

FEATHER WEIGHTS.

Semi-final: Rfn. Sparks 52nd R.B. walked over.

Semi-final: Pte. Woodard 19th Middlesex v. Pte. Broadbent 52nd Kings Liverpools.

There was a vigorous start, with a rapid exchange of telling punches, in which Woodard came off second best. With extreme calmness Broadbent gradually got the upper hand, reached the body and face with effective blows, and pinning his man in the corner administered the knock-out.

Final: Rfn. Sparks v. Pte. Broadbent.

This was an exceptionally plucky fight in which both men were the recipients of heavy punishment and Sparks only secured the verdict by a narrow margin of points.

A Correction.

In yesterday's brief account of the first day's boxing we inadvertently stated that Dvr. Kitchen defeated Dvr. Debuse. The result should have been reversed.

Maj. Gen. Sir Wm. Henniker K.C.B., D.S.O. presented the prizes.

GATWICK RACING.

Dead-heat in the Timberham Hurdle Race.

OPENING DAY.

At the opening day of the Gatwick meeting on Friday the weather was dull and threatening but the going was good. There was a large attendance.

Details.

Tinsley 'Chase:—1, Our Boy (8-1); 2, Celerity (5-1). Four ran. Only two finished.

Three-Year-Old Hurdle:—1, Simons Craft (2-1); 2, Castle in Spain (10-1); 3, Jack Sheppard (5-1). Nine ran.

Amateur Riders 'Chase:—1, Soult Lodge (2-1); 2, Billet (10-1); 3, Fugle Maid (4-1). Six ran.

Timberham Hurdle:—Ingoe (5-1) and Somerville (6-4) dead heat Troad. (100-6). Twelve ran (stakes divided).

Croydon Hurdle:—1, Kirkharle (evens); 2, Ahanesk (4-1); 3, Crom Aboo (9-2). Seven ran.

Pegasus 'Chase:—1, Fond Lucy (5-2); 2, Llangollen (2-1); 3, Chang (5-1). Four ran.

DEVON "DUMPLINGS".

Defeat Hants In Team Boxing Competitions.

FULL RESULTS.

The boxing teams of the 51st Hants and 52nd Devons met at Wermelskirchen. The hall was crowded to its utmost capacity, both teams being well supported. Lieut.-Col. L Weber, C.M.G., D.S.O., Commanding Officer, and other officers of the 52nd Devons were present. Major Fleming of the P. and R.T. Staff was also amongst the visitors. Later in the evening the audience was honoured by the presence of Major General Sir W. C. G. Heneker, K.C.B., D.S.O.

The officials were as follows:—Referee, Lieut.-Col. J. Betts, D.S.O.; Judges, C.S.M.I. Murray and C.S.M.I. Turner; Time-keeper, Capt. T. W. Cutting; M.C., R.S.M. G. H. Dewey; Steward, C.S.M.I. A. Buchanan.

The bouts were carried out in accordnance with the rules of Army and Navy Boxing.

The results were:—

FLY WEIGHTS.

Pte. Bell, 52nd Devons, defeated Cpl. Barnes, 51st Hants.

Pte. Wilkie, 51st Hants, defeated Pte. Hartman, 52nd Devons.

BANTAM WEIGHTS.

Pte. Hatcher, 51st Hants, defeated Pte. Norris, 52nd Devons.

FEATHER WEIGHTS.

Pte. Hill, 52nd Devons, defeated Pte. Skinner, 51st Hants.

Pte. Cotter, 52nd Devons, defeated Pte. Kelly, 51st Hants.

Pte. Eddy, 52nd Devons, defeated Pte. Tilburn, 51st Hants.

During the interval the Band of the 51st Hants, under the conductorship of Band Sgt. J. Fisher, rendered selections.

LIGHT WEIGHTS.

Pte. Hopkins, 52nd Devons, defeated Pte. Wright, 51st Hants.

Pte. Press, 52nd Devons, defeated Pte. Hipperson, 51st Hants.

Pte. Tyrrel, 52nd Devons, defeated Pte. Needs, 51st Hants.

WELTER WEIGHTS.

L/Cpl. Palmer, 52nd Devons, defeated Sgt. Dell, 51st Hants.

Pte. Peppery, 52nd Devons, defeated Pte. Cook, 51st Hants.

Pte. Gallagher, 52nd Devons, defeated Pte. Edmond, 51st Hants.

MIDDLE WEIGHTS.

Pte. Casey, 52nd Devons, defeated Pte. Petty, 51st Hants.

An excellent exhibition bout was given by Lieuts. Hayes and Parsons, of the 52nd Devons.

Lieut. Col. Irwin, D.S.O. thanked the Devons for providing such a good evening's sport, and a vote of thanks was accorded Lieut.-Col. Betts, D.S.O., C.S.M.I. Murray and C.S.M.I. Turner.

Major-General Heneker presented the prizes, the 52nd Devons team receiving a handsome silver cup as a result of winning by 24 points to 16. Individual prizes were also presented. A special prize was awarded Pte. Petty, 51st Hants, for being the pluckiest loser.

RHINE GARRISON FOOTER LEAGUE.

List of Fixtures for the Opening Matches.

The organisation of the Rhine Garrison Football Association League, the head of which, at the end of the season, will play against the "top-notchers" in the Headquarter Troops League, is going on apace. The first matches, which are to be played on Wednesday next are as follows.

Units.	Grounds.
121st Heavy Battery R.G.A., v. 19th Middlesex Regt. (P.)	Golf Links.
187th Bde. R.F.A., v. Camp Commandant.	Blucher Park.
140th Field Ambulance, v. Rhine Garrison Bde. Ammn. Cm.	Amsterdamer Strasse near Zoo
6th Inniskilling Dragoons, v. 41st M.G.C.	41st M.G.C. Ground.
231st Field Coy., R.E., v. 51st Northumberland Fusrs.	Klettenberg Park.
51st Bn. The Rifle Bde., v. 52nd Bn. The Rifle. Bde.	Lindenthal.
11th Queens., v. 23rd Royal Fusiliers.	Volks Garten. Germania Str.

A CHANCE FOR REFEREES.

If you are anxious to become a first-class referee, opportunity is now knocking at your door.

An examination of referees is to be held on Friday next and there will subsequently be plenty of facilities for practice in the art of controlling a football game.

Certificates will be awarded to proficient men. If you wish to sit for the "exam," send your name and address to the Sports Editor, "The Cologne Post," Cologne, and you will receive full particulars by return.

The Cologne Post
Xmas Souvenir Number

A Magazine not a Newspaper printed on excellent paper in coloured cover, copiously illustrated with pictures of Rhineland events.

Phillip Gibbs, W. E. Hornung, Professor A. Main, Miss Decima Moore, C.B.E., Dr. A. Francis, Rev. G. Rendall, R. F. Gardiner and many others contribute, in addition to the Cologne Post literary staff.

A more interesting Souvenir of the occupation could not be imagined. You will be delighted with it—and your friends still more so. Price 7 Marks, or 9 Pence. Post free to U.K. One Shilling.

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

First of Many.

An excellent evening was spent on Thursday, when a whist drive was held for all ranks by D. Coy. 20th D.L.I. Over 120 competed, and altogether the programme was a great success. This was especially gratifying to those who originated the idea, as it is hoped to arrange a series of similar evenings in the near future.

In addition to the whist drive a splendid musical programme was contributed during the evening. Everyone listened with great pleasure to the songs rendered by Lieut. O. G. Day and Cpl. Greenwood, and to the humorous duet by Sgts. Kipling and Lawler.

Pte. Firth ably presided at the piano. Refreshments were by no means the least popular feature of the evening, Lieut. Lathean kindly providing.

The Drive.

The whist drive itself was carried out in a most business-like manner under the direction of Sgt. Lawler, the Master of Ceremonies. The officers of the company all combined to make the evening a success, all playing among the men. Prizes were won as follows:—1, Pte. Sawyer, S., 157 pts; 2, Pte. Willick, 150 pts; 3, Sgt. French, R. D., 148 pts; 4, Pte. Nicholson, 146 pts. The booby prize, a small doll camouflaged in innumerable sheets of paper, was won by Pte. Ackroyd with 105 pts. The chair was taken by Capt. Turnbull, M.C., the Company Commander, to whom much of the credit for this most enjoyable evening must be given.

The programme was concluded by the National Anthem and afterwards cheers were given for Capt. Turnbull, and all who had helped in the arrangements for the evening.

French and Latin Plays.

An excellent entertainment was given at the Army General and Commercial College on Friday night, when students of the French and Latin classes performed one Latin and two French, plays. Miss Steele's class gave "En Suisse", while Lieut. Mayer's class acted the delightful Racine "Les Plaideurs." The Latin effort was a topical revue with local setting written by Major Bell and containing many clever lines.

The performers were not only line perfect, they spoke with accuracy and dramatic power. More than that they dared to "gag" in Latin, and to gag cleverly, too. Lady Astor, Messrs. Cox, the Lady Teacher and the longer Art Master, all figured in the lines, and the allusions were loudly applauded by the company. On the one hand, demands for plays of the baser sort, on the other, plays in French and Latin. What a mixture we are!

"Lady Frederick."

As Mr. Hope is unable to play the "Admiral" in Lady Frederick on Tuesday, as he will be playing at the Deutsches Theatre, Major Ball has kindly consented to take the part.

To-Night's Deutsches Concert.

The programme for to-night's special Sunday Concert strikes rather a new note. The artistes do not include—as is customary—members of the Cologne Opera House Company, but are restricted entirely to British entertainers. These include Lieut. S. E. Percy, who will recite "The Happy Prince;" Mr. Eric Morgan, the well-known English tenor; Martha Bruch, mezzo-soprano; Howard Fry, baritone; and Alfred Barker, violinist. There will also be a specially augmented orchestra.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Sun.	Meistersinger von Nürnberg	Wagner	5	10.30
Monday	No Performance
Tuesday	No Performance
Wed.	The Taming of the Shrew	Goetz	7	10.15
Thurs.	Rigolatto	Verdi	7	9.30
Fri.	The Women wit-out Shadow	Strauss	6	10.15
Sat.	Tosca	Puccini	7	9.45
Sun.	Faust	Gounod	6	10
Mon.	Ein Maskenball	Verdi	7	10
Tues.	Hansel und Gretel	Humper-dinck	6	8

A Farewell.

Excitement once again prevailed at the Stud Farm Camp at Romerhof, writes a correspondent, when the O.C. invited us to a dinner at a hotel in Lechenich. It was his last night in Germany. Never in the history of the war did an officer get a more genuine send off. After dinner the senior N.C.O. presented him with a silver cigarette case, suitably engraved and after the usual toasts and speeches the Capt. commenced the best of jolly evenings by rendering a good old English hunting song with a rollicking chorus. Pte. Wally in rare cockney style sang "The Costers Linnet" and Pte. Rowan "My Billet in Bally Grenai" Pte. Dudman made a great hit with "Thora" and Pte. Fisher caused roars of laughter with his pathetic little song "Mother I have lost my Soap." For an encore he did a few disappearing tricks with lemonade bottles. Pte. Spivey gave a great performance at the piano and also played the accompaniment during the evening.

The boys returned to the Camp after spending one of the most enjoyable evenings it is possible to imagine, but sorry indeed to know they had lost one of the best officers in the Rhine Army.

Dance Music at the B.E.L.C.

I hear that new music is being obtained for the dance evenings at the Empire Leave Club. The difficulty is, of course, that so many of the dancers know the old tunes so well that they do not dance so easily to the new ones. However, by mixing old and new, the Leave Club people will probably still go on providing an acceptable and enjoyable programme.

Whist at B.E.L.C.

A successful Whist Drive was held at the British Empire Leave Club on Thursday. The winners of the "Ladies" prizes were:—1, Pte. A. Hopper; 2, Cpl. A. Garwood; 3, L/Cpl. Stephenson. The winners of the men's prizes were:—1, Pte. W. Civil; 2, Pte. W. Montell; 3, Pte. J. Wilson. Lieut. Rouch presided throughout the evening.

Coming Events.

At the Deutsches theatre, commencing to-morrow, the Rhine Army Variety Company, which includes many old favourits, will make its debut and will submit performances each evening for the remainder of the week. Mr Alfred Hurley's merry variety company, "The Jesters", will undoubtedly attract large audiences to the Palace theatre while the announcements of the Empire Leave Club and the Y.M.C.A. are as attractive as usual. Our advertisement columns contain full details of shows worth seeing.

JACQUES.

BOXING BOMBSHELL.

Carpentier Will Fight Anywhere at any Time.

In view of the letter published on this page, written by Mr. C. B. Cochran to the Editor of "The Sporting Life," the following Reuter's Paris message is remarkable. It states that:—

M. Deshamps, Carpentier's manager, yesterday through the secretary of the International Boxing Union challenged Dempsey for the championship of the world, Carpentier being willing to meet Dempsey for the best purse offered at any place and time. Deshamps has lodged fifty thousand francs with Victor Breyer, Editor of the "Echo des Sports," as a guarantee.

A BOLD OFFER.

Mr. Cochran on Dempsey-Carpentier Position.

The following letter has been written by Mr. C. B. Cochran to the "Sporting Life": As regards the conflicting nature of the statements of your correspondent, Mr. Breyer, and myself in to-day's "Sporting Life," I am prepared to bet from £500 up to £20,000 that M. Descamps, on behalf of Carpentier, signed on Friday last, December 5, a binding contract with me for Carpentier to box Dempsey in London next year.

In accordance with the terms of that contract I shall before long be placing in your hands a part of the purse money.

WHAT "JIMMY" SAYS.

Confident that he won Fight with Sharkey.

In the first interview which he has given since his match at Milwaukee, U.S.A., a few days ago, with Jack Sharkey, at Milwaukee, who was hailed as the winner of the contest by the American Press representatives—no official decision being allowed to be given—Jimmy Wilde said:

"I understand that all the decisions were against me, but I am positive that had the fight been in England I would have won easily. I don't think there is a doubt about it, though I didn't fight my usual fight.

"Let me ask a few questions. Who landed the cleaner blows? Who did all the forcing in the fight? Who was it did the clinching and sought the clinching?"

OUR BUMPER NUMBER?

Special Offer For Christmas Football Contest.

Are you acquainted with our special competition Christmas offer? On this page yesterday, we stated that we had decided to add the sum of 500 marks to the amount subscribed for No. 13 Contest, and so keep up the good old custom of Christmas.

There are two conditions attaching to the offer, and they are as follows:—

1. Should the competition be won outright by a single competitor the 500 marks will be added to the total prize money.
2. Should the prize be divided the competitor sending in the first winning coupon found by the competition adjudicators will receive the additional award.

As the coupons reach us they are numbered and filed so that no difficulty in discovering the first coupon is anticipated.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 13,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S.40 Rhine Army.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 13.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 20th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 19th.

Arsenal	v. Sheffield Wed.
Everton	v. Liverpool
Manchester U.	v. Newcastle
Wolves	v. Hull City
Bradford City	v. Notts County
Barnsley	v. Tottenham
Bristol City	v. Blackpool
Aston Villa	v. Oldham
Swindon	v. Palace
Kilmarnock	v. Partick

I enter Football Competition No. 13 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions alredy announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(In block letters.)

Rank and No. .....

Unit .....

Full Address .....

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

Sundays.

To-day is Silver Sunday, and next Sunday is Golden Sunday. These are the names given to the two Sundays preceding Christmas Day by the German people.

A Dangerous Crossing.

For Cologne's most dangerous crossing I commend you to the one where Marzellen Strasse and Bahnhof Strasse meet.

Shop To-day.

The German shops will be open to-day and next Sunday. This custom is to permit of the workers making their purchases in their spare time.

Can You?

Our Christmas offer in our popular football contest has caught on. Only ten results are needed and the biggest prize yet subscribed is certain. Can you forecast the results?

Rather Mixed.

I noticed a civilian walking by the Dom, wearing an officer's cap with chin-strap, and a pair of khaki slacks, a civilian raincoat, and brown boots.

B.E.L.C. Pantomime.

Besides the Mystery Play at the B.E.L.C., the rehearsals of the Pantomime "Babes in the Wood" are in ful' swing. but more men are wanted to take parts of chorus men and girls. Don't be shy; give your names in at the Club.

Closing Down.

The offices of the Base Cashiers at Paris and Namur having closed down it will be necessary for Imprest holders in French and Belgian areas to render the necessary forms through the Command Cashier at Wimereux.

Baths Re-Opening.

The Hohenstaufenbath, the Neptunbath and Kaiser Wilhelmbath will be open again from to-morrow. The reason why they were closed is the shortage of coal.

Not in Keeping.

I saw some soldiers laughing outside a tailor's shop in Cologne yesterday. The cause of their hilarity was a dummy of a small boy in the window wearing juvenile clothes, but the wig on the figure was of grey hair.

Bankers Busy.

Quite a number of banks from Allied countries are now opening branches in Cologne.

No Leave Boats at Christma

Officers and men anticipating leave to the United Kingdom just now should note that no troops will be dispatched on leave to the United Kingdom from their units to Base ports on December 24th, 25th and 26th. There will be no sailings for leave or demobilization on Dec. 25th, 26th and 27th, and similarly no sailings from the United Kingdom for returning leave personnel on Dec. 24th, 25th, 26th and 27th. Leave will be automatically extended.

No. 13.

I have failed to notice any tram route in Cologne bearing this number. Is it that superstition has prevented its use?

New Coins.

The new issue of 50 pfennigs pieces will be welcomed. The coin is little larger than a sixpence and bears on one side a sheaf of wheat and an appropriate motto.

Railway Aeroplane.

I learn that great interest is being taken in the adoption of engines and propellors, as in an aeroplane, to draw vehicles on the German railways. Certainly there seems to be something in the notion.

Coincidence?

The present cold snap found me wondering if the recent display of skates and sledges in a Breite Strasse merchant's window was a coincidence, or whether he is some kind of a weather seer.

Kindness to Horses.

I am told by Professor Berrens of the Cölner Tierschutzverein—the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals which exists in every German town has just formed a special committee for the protection of horses.

Dear and Nasty.

A civilian informs me that the price of briquets which before the war was about two marks per 100 pfund is now over 275 per cent dearer. No wonder the average housewife is so careful.

Theatre de Luxe.

I read that a new theatre in Berlin has a seating accommodation for over 3000. It also possesses a revolving stage and boasts of a new electric lighting system.

Camouflage.

This war measure was brought vividly to my mind as I passed the Neumarkt yesterday. There one can still see unserviceable vehicles in all their one-time necessary camouflage.

Dialect.

Cologne has, as many are doubtless aware, a dialect of its own, but few know that a theatre exists in Schildergasse which stages comedies in this tongue. They are, I learn, very amusing.

Overdoing it.

I passed a male civilian in Hohe Strasse yesterday who had a fur cap down over his brow and his head sunk deep into a fur collar. Only his eyes were visible and no doubt the cold snap did not trouble him.

Prematurely Wise.

The war must have a very sobering effect on the juvenile element in Cologne judging by the serious mien of most of the youngsters seen in the streets. One seldom sees them indulge in the youthful pranks so dear to the heart of the English youth.

RHINELANDER.

THE INEVITABLE.

A bold term, but one that is used by the majority in its lightest sense. If the will power of a man has been weakened, and the stress of life bears down hard upon the soul, many a man will then cease to fight against what he calls force of circumstances, and drift with weakened resistance, and bow to the inevitable.

A dangerous term, too, for it is often made the excuse for that giving way to the temptations which assail the soul.

On the other hand no man will deny that there are many things which cannot be changed, but which are the logical conclusion of many actions and in that way may be called the inevitable.

How is man then to know when this great Inevitable is to be accepted? How can he tell when the time has come when he should cease fire and surrender to the foe, or one might say to the force against which he is fighting?

Without a code of moral law, a man is like a ship which sails upon an unknown sea, without chart or compass, without a master brain to guide that ship through the dangerous shoals into a safe harbour.

The conscience of a man will tell him how to differentiate between those forces which must bring pressure to bear upon the life, and those ulterior forces which struggle for the downfall of man, and can only be said to emanate from the powers of evil.

The sins of the fathers descending upon the children is quoted as one of the great injustices of human life, but at the same time is often used as an excuse for giving way to hereditary tendencies which may be found in the offspring of many men. This so-called injustice is a natural law, so logical in its fulfilment that in any other branch of natural life, if it failed to come into operation, there would be no certainty for any action of mankind. On the other hand we know that these results of nature are inevitable, but there is always the opportunity to bring other forces to bear, and by counter-attack nullify the evil tendencies which may crop up in the lives of all.

By a close study of human nature it can be seen that with the action of free-will, there is very little in life to-day which man can call inevitable. The forces of good or evil which exercise a power over human life are in no way inevitable forces, and it behoves a man to watch closely the Titanic struggle going on between those forces for the possession of a human soul.

Bow to the inevitable is the cry of the cynic, who looks upon life as a dreary waste. Bow to the inevitable, says the religious man, who talks and does not act.

Said Cromwell to his men: "Trust in God and keep your powder dry," and the same advice can help us to-day, when we remember that we are not machines, but men with a will power, free under God to combat what many call in life the inevitable.

Rev. C. E. R. WHEELER, C.F.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

Official.—Post early for Christmas.

On The Way.—The Imperator has sailed from New York.

What About?—Mr. Winston Churchill speaks, at Sunderland, at the New Year.

Our Little Difficulty.—Judge Crawford says mental arithmetic is beyond him.

Unafraid.—A Crewe bride, aged 70, has just entered on her fourth marriage.

'Varsity Side-show.—The Royal Agricultural Show will be held at Cambridge in 1922.

Putting it off.—The select committee on war wealth will be appointed next session.

His Ambition.—M. Poulet, on his return to Paris, will prepare for a trip round the world.

His Last Walk.—The assistent Recorder of Leeds dropped dead in the street on his way to the Assizes.

Nasty for Descamps.—Carpentier says managers do the boasting, boxers do the fighting.

Wholesale Clearance.—A 4 cwt. crate of ribbons was taken away on a trolley in broad daylight in a London street.

Complimentary.—A Bermondsey councillor says its old Profiteering Act Committee could not manage a whelk stall.

How Kind.—North Kensington postmen are not soliciting Christmas boxes this year.

Going! Going!—Shirts and a night cap belonging to Charles I. fetched only ten guineas.

Generous.—The Food Controller promises plenty of unrationed food at Christmas.

Where £1 Has Doubled.—French traders now have to pay nearly double for a pound's worth of British goods.

Escaping the Comb.—There are still nearly 400,000 men and women employed in Government departments.

The Next.—Major Cohen, M.P. is asking for the provision of accommodation for cars of M.P's who live outside town.

"The Tiger."—M. Clemenceau takes his meals alone and never goes out to lunch or dinner.

As at School.—Ealing Education Committee is to open its proceedings with prayers.

For 'Flu.—Glasgow Corporation has secured a quantity of vaccine for anti-influenza innoculations.

Aftermath of War.—Thirty British exhumation companies are being employed in France.

More Cheap Clocks.—The Government says Krupps is being used for the manufacture of commercial goods.

Perhaps.—Col. Ward, M.P., says unless the ex-Kaiser is sent to St. Helena he will be back as King of Prussia.

Rosenhof
COLOGNE, Hohestrasse 9.
5 o'clock Tea and Evening Entertainment. From 5.00 till 10.45 p.m. continous performance. Renowned singers, dancers and reciters. First-class House for Officers and civilians only.

Agrippina Café
Breitestr. 92—98, Ist floor. Tel. B9935.
Artiste Concert daily from 4 p.m.
First class wines

ODEON COLOGNE
HOHESTRASSE 9
Variety performance from 7-10.45 p.m.

For Experiers & Wholesalers
Coutellerie-Cutlery
Pocket knives, Scissers, razors-spoons, forks and knives, safety razors, haircutting machines etc.
BAUMANN & Co.
KÖLN, Berlich 43.

5000 ROLLS DRAPERY AND BORDS
new modern samples good papers, at once suitable in large parcels or en bloc. Offers A 432 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

BONN 'RH. Sternstrasse 29-31
Careful Eye-Testing
Eye-Glasses & Spectacles
Opera & Field Glasses
OPTIC
EXAM. OPTOMETRISTE
J. KRAHFORST
Photo-Cameras & Lenses from Zeiss-Goerz and others.
PHOTO
BONN 'RH. Sternstrasse 29-31

OPINIONS OF THE MOMENT.

WHY GERMANY FELL.

Major General Sir F. Maurice, writing of Falkenhayn's recent work on the war, says: Every important book which appears from the German side, and this is certainly one of the most important, makes it more clear that the causes of Germany's downfall were psychological. The German people had been brought up in an absolute faith in their military power; they were led to expect that war would pay and to look for an unbroken series of military triumphs. Their leaders felt that enthusiasm in Germany for war could only be kept alive if this faith were sustained, and they were therefore unwilling to take great risks for great ends.

TRADE SUICIDE.

Lord Inchcape, speaking recently, said. Any measure which seeks to rivet on British industry the abomination of Government control will be fought by the entire commercial community. People who think that this extraordinary Bill was the way to resuscitate British trade had taken leave of their business senses. If all incentive to work, economy, and development is to be removed, if the country is to become stagnant; if we are to become a bankrupt nation; then let us limit the profits not only of the coal companies but also of every other industry and profession.

AGAINST AN AIR FORCE.

Mr. C. G. Grey, the outspoken Editor of "The Aeroplane," says: I have never been a believer in the ability of a single Air Force to do all the air work of the Navy and the Army, let alone the work proper to an Independent Air Force in addition. When a crowd of misguided politicians started the agitation for this single Air Force in 1916 I was strongly opposed to it, and have never found any reason to alter that opinion. The lamentable deterioration in quality of aviators and aircraft alike since the R.A.F. came into being in 1918 has confirmed my first impressions of the evils of the single Air Force idea.

SPIRITUALISM — A WILL O' THE WISP.

Mr. Coulson Kernahan, the novelist has written a little book on spiritualism, in which he says:—I would rather remain unenlightened on matters which God has hidden from us, than seek or accept such sorry so-called enlightenment—and by such means—as spiritualism proffers. Better, I honestly believe, blithely, bravely, and unselfishly, to continue in our appointed work, and on our way through God's world, striving daily and unceasingly to be truer friends, sounder citizens, harder workers, better Christians—and to ask no question whatever of what comes after death, leaving all in perfect trustfulness in the hands of God—than to squander nerve power, will power, and energy in following after the will o' the wisp of spiritualism.

WORLD MONEY DEADLOCK.

Lord Swaythling, head of the great exchange and banking firm of Messrs. Samuel Montagu and Company, speaking on the present state of the money market, says:—At present the politicians of the United States scarcely grasp anything outside their own country. They do not take a sufficiently world-wide view, either politically or commercially, worthy of their great country and traditions. They are too parochial. They think more of making a point in party politics than of the real welfare of their own country aud of the world. I heard a great many thinking Americans say something to the effect that the States had come into the war too late, and they hoped that future generations would not say that they had come into the peace too late. I am strongly in favour of a suspension of international payments among the Allies (and those Neutrals who wish and can be included) for a certain number of years for reproductive imports such as machinery and raw materials—the suspension, of course, to be under Government guarantees.

THE TRAGEDY OF FINANCE.

Sir Oswald Stoll, the music hall magnate who has made a close study of international finance referring to the falling value of English sterling in the states, says: There is tragedy in the wake of this drifting question. By our incredible indifference to standard of value in relation to legal tender money, an indifference persisted in despite the steady decline from bad to worse in our national economic situation, we are perversely drifting towards the most painful economic crisis which this country has ever experienced, and the consequences of which no man can foresee. This crisis will be ushered in by a famine in raw materials, or extreme scarcity of them at famine prices, which will bring our manufacturing industries to a standstill, throwing masses of wage-earners out of employment, and rendering them penniless at a time when imported foodstuffs will rise to hitherto unheard-of prices.

BELIEF IN OUR WOMEN.

Lady Trowbridge, replying to criticism of present-day women, asks:—Why are Church dignitaries so gloomy about the relations of the sexes, the moral state of Society, and the future of Englishwomen? Certainly the Bishop of Coventry is in no doubt whatever that a lamentable state of laxity pervades the morals of our women to-day; and, if he has the gift of prophecy, worse is to come. Seriously, when one considers the thousands of unprotected women engaged in war work during the last five years, and naturally subject to life's ordinary temptations, and considers also the rarity of scandal, one is unspeakably proud of them all. It is a falsehood to say such things may have been hushed up; for, as intelligent people know well, everything comes out in the long run, and if our women had disgraced themselves as a body we should soon know all about it. The fact is, they did not, and they never will. As for the future of women here in England, it has never looked so bright. Soon, very soon, they will be active participants, politically, in the great game of Life, and able to help in the making of the laws that guide our destinies.

READ THIS FORM-THEN FILL IT IN, A CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR HOME THAT LASTS A MONTH

THE COLOGNE POST
HOME SUBSCRIPTION FORM

To Subscription Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40 Rhine Army
I enclose remittance for 20 marks. (From United Kingdom 3/4.)
Please send "The Cologne Post" daily for one month to:

PLEASE WRITE IN BLOCK LETTERS

NAME: .....

ADDRESS: .....

.....

.....

20 MARKS COVERS ALL BRITISH POSSESSIONS

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O. S./40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

POSTAGE, Stamps, Collection of Europe, no war-stamps in finest condition catalogue price Mk. 70,000. For sale at £275. Apply to Langbein, Cologne, Richartzstr. 2a.

BUSINESS-PREMISES in centre of the town comprising Shop, Office, Warehouse and twenty rooms. For sale Mks. 135,000.—. Letters Box 108, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (T.c.)

PIANOS per month 3 pieces suitable Ia manufacture to experience. Seifert, Domstr. 56.

GRAND PIANO, show piece, cross hinged, in rosewood, for sale. Land, Zeppelinstrasse 7.

BARGAIN. Gents Fur Coat with Persian Collar for sale. Seen Sunday Klettenberg, Siebengebirgsallee 41, third floor right. Tram 20 or 21.

MOTOR Cycle:—Bat-Jap 7 H.P. Splendid condition. Just de-carbonised and overhauled English machine, no customs duties going back to England. Smart racy appearance, low comfortable riding position. Complete with two lamps, two generators, tools, pump, horn, spares, spare cover and spare belt. Only reason for selling, owner, officer, buying car Apply 14, Hunt Station Obercassel. (1)

MOTOR CAR, Adler-car 6/12 H.P. with types ready for use. 13000 Mks. Henning & Berntgen, Köln, Aachenerstr. 15.

2 VERY BEAUTIFUL melodious violins for sale. Carl Otto Elias, Köln, Weidenbach 37 II.

WANTED.

BY young English Soldier Organist, advanced lessons on the Organ. Will pay well, Apply Box No. 120, A.P.O. S./40 Cologne.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

GENTLEMAN, public school education, sound sense. resource activity and push; practical knowledge of machinery, especially motor cars; knowledge of rubber. Would act as representative to travel between England and Germany, or similar position with progressive British firm. Apply Box 104 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (1)

LOST.

IDENTITY Disc. German two Mark piece inscribed. Constance M. Payne V.A.D. B.A.O.R. lost between Hauptbahnhof, Hohestrasse, Schildergasse. Reward offered. Box 112 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

LANGUAGES.

SPANISH OR ITALIAN. Experienced teacher wanted for private lessons. Evenings only. Box 114, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (TC)

THE NEW N.A.C.B. DEPARTMENT STORES

NOW OPEN

—the latest and greatest of all the N.A.C.B. enterprises in Cologne — the magnificent and commodious department stores, completely equipped to handle every kind of commodity and arranged in the manner of a first-class London shop. Here Officers and their wives are able to fill all their immediate needs, under one roof, passing from one counter to another, paying at the desk for all purchases.

WHAT YOU CAN BUY

A much wider range of articles may be purchased than it is possible to give here but the items mentioned will give some idea of the scope of your own stores.

ALL CAKES AND PASTRIES	GROCERIES
CONFECTIONERY	ALL WINES
CLOTHING	SPIRITS
SPORTS GOODS	LIQUEURS
FANCY GOODS	ALL BEERS
STATIONERY	TOBACCO
SOAPS ETC.	ALL CIGARS
PERFUMERY	CIGARETTES
	RAZORS ETC.

OFFICER'S CLOTHING

LADIES DEPARTMENT

A special room has been reserved and equipped for the sale of ladies clothing and other personal requirements.

THE TEA ROOM

The tea room is quite an attractive feature of the N.A.C.B. Store and undoubtedly helps in making shopping a pleasure instead of a tiresome necessity. Large and comfortably arranged with separate tables customers may, in company with their wives, enjoy a real cup of tea with cakes, pastries and so on.

FOR OFFICERS & THEIR WIVES AT 27 OBENMARSPFORTEN

Turn off the Hohestr. towards the Rhine — opposite Brückenstr.

NOW OPEN COME TO-DAY

"N.A.C.B. SERVICE."

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 14, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

OUR XMAS NUMBER SEE PAGE FOUR

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

No. 13 FOOTBALL COMPETITION IS GOING TO BE A BUMPER. HOW MANY COUPONS HAVE YOU SENT IN?

No. 222. COLOGNE, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

CLEMENCEAU IN LONDON.

AFTER SUCCESSFUL VISIT BREAKS A RIB DURING ROUGH CHANNEL CROSSING.

COMPOSITION OF BRITISH AIR SERVICE.

LONDON CONFERENCE.

CLEMENCEAU'S SUCCESS AND MISHAP.

The morning conferences held at the Premier's residence in Downing-street with M. Clemenceau and others were devoted to questions interesting the Entente generally, including the Adriatic and Russia. In the afternoons the conference was confined to British and French representatives, who discussed matters specially interesting to France and Great Britain. French Ministers are described as satisfied with the progress of the negotiations, and it is added that the "disposition displayed on the British side is excellent."

Shortly after the last session of the Conference the following official statement was issued from Downing-street:

"On the invitation of the British Government M. Clemenceau arrived in London for a Conference on various questions affecting France and Great Britain. The Prime Ministers took advantage of the presence in London of the Italian Foreign Minister, Senior Scialoja, in order to have an exchange of views with him regarding the Adriatic question, whereat the American Ambassador was also present. The Japanese Ambassador participated in a general Conference, which discussed the Russian problem. In addition the Conference discussed the procedure regarding questions still to be settled, particularly Peace with Turkey. The Conference was marked by the utmost cordiality, satisfactory arrangements being arrived at on all outstanding points. The three days' meeting served to confirm the complete solidarity of the Allies."

One extremely probable result of the conferences will be the formation of a Council consisting of the Premiers of Great Britain, France and Italy, with a plenipotentiary representative of the United States. The first meeting will be arranged to take place in Paris during the Christmas recess. Meanwhile the Supreme Council will continue its functions, although its composition may be altered.

ACCIDENT TO CLEMENCEAU.

M. Clemenceau left Charing Cross for Paris at eight o'clock on Sunday morning. He was accompanied to the station by M. Cambon, and on departure was loudly cheered by his compatriots.

During the crossing of the Channel, which was exceedingly rough and boisterous, M. Clemenceau was thrown violently against a locker aboard the destroyer Temeraire. Although he was thought to be suffering, M. Clemenceau did not allow the accident to interfere with a Conference after he had landed. When a doctor examined him at the Ministry of War, however, he found that a rib had been broken, but the injury was not in itself serious.

JEWELS SOLD AND STOLEN.

That the pinch of high prices is felt by the rich is demonstrated by the quantity of jewels pouring into the market. One hundred thousand sterling was realised at Christie's on Friday, most of the sellers being desirous of retaining their anonymity. A tiara of brilliants belonging to the Duchess of Marlborough fetched £25,000 and a rope of 210 pearls £13,200 the vendor's name being withheld.

Apart from the legitimate disposal of jewels there has been an epidemic of jewel robberies in London, £20,000 worth having disappeared in the West End in the past two days, not including petty larcenies. Daring burglaries are of nightly occurrence.

STRIKE OF MASTER TAILORS.

A novel tailoring strike is in progress in London, where eight hundred East End master tailors have demanded a twenty-five per cent increase from the merchant tailors to meet the cost of the grant of a forty-eight hour week. This demand having been refused, the Master Tailors Federation decided to cease work. Twelve thousand members and workers of the Tailors Union have promised their support to the masters.

SOVIET SUBSIDIES FOR STUDENTS.

The Helsingfors correspondent of a Swedish newspaper says that the Soviet Government has instituted grants to married students of 3,300 roubles annually. Workmen taking up University studies will receive 4,500 roubles if unmarried and 7,200 roubles if married.

FILIBUSTER'S NEW FLIGHT.

D'Annunzio has expressed the hope that the Fiume question will be solved before Christmas, thus enabling him to resume his preparations for the Rome-Tokio flight, in which he now intends to compete. He proposes to fly from Tokio via California, touching at Hawaii.

AIR SERVICE.

FUTURE COMPOSITION OF THE FORCE.

Major-General Trenchard has outlined the scheme for the permanent organization of the Air Force, which is described by Mr. Churchill as having been approved by the Cabinet.

The scheme is based on an annual expenditure of fifteen million sterling. In future the Service will chiefly consist of an Independent Force, but with a small part trained for the Navy and another for the Army. Foundations will be laid for the creation of a highly trained force. Service squadrons will be reduced to whatever minimum is considered essential for overseas garrisons, with a small reserve for the United Kingdom. Some of the great war squadrons will, however, be preserved.

It is proposed to provide eight squadrons for India and three for Mesopotamia. It is also hoped that in the future aerial units can be used as part substitutes for military garrisons. Egypt, which is described as the Clapham Junction of the air between East and West, will have seven service squadrons. Naval bases and important coaling stations overseas will need aircraft as part of their garrisons, therefore a seaplane unit will be established at Malta and another probably at Alexandria. For the co-operation of the Army it is proposed to establish one flight per division for work at all stages of training, also one or more squadrons for co-operation with artillery, while the Home Fleet will have three aeroplane and two seaplane squadrons.

Airships are still considered to be in the experimental stage, therefore only one station is being retained, with one rigid and two non-rigid craft. It is also intended to have a Territorial Air Force, because the scheme will concentrate upon the training of personnel.

Major General Trenchard hopes that manufacturing firms will assist by forming Territorial Units. He thinks that doubtless many individuals will be willing to undertake home or overseas service if required.

D'ANNUNZIO'S MEN.

UPROAR IN ITALIAN PARLIAMENT.

In anticipation of an important statement about Fiume by the Italian Premier, the Chamber of Deputies at Rome was crowded, and very lively scenes were witnessed. When the Under Secretary for War stated that D'Annunzio's volunteers were not being paid by the Italian Government a Socialist deputy interrupted, "We are not interested whether D'Annunzio is paid by you or others. What interests us is that you yourselves have sanctioned the principle of desertion, which we shall adopt by intense propaganda in the army. As you have permitted soldiers to desert we claim the same right for soldiers who are forcibly kept in barracks to leave the army. We will see whether this bourgeois Government will dare to try the soldiers we invite to desert."

This statement was received with frantic enthusiasm by the Socialists and loudly booed by the remainder of the Chamber. The Premier, Signor Nitti, then made a speech but did not mention Fiume, whereupon several Deputies called out, "You havn't spoken about Fiume".

Signor Nitti replied that he would do so during the discussion on the Budget next week. Subsequently the Chamber rejected by 289 votes to 124 a Socialist resolution in favour of immediate recognition of the Soviet Government and resumption of relations with Bolshevist Russia.

The Italian Chamber unanimously adopted the official address in reply to the speech from the Throne, after rejecting the Socialist resolution. Signor Nitti, replying to the debate, which the Socialists conducted with great heat, said that the Government is not becoming a party to an International Convention binding the future policy of Italy. He denied that Italy intended to participate by armed intervention in Russia and declared that the existence of two groups in Parliament Socialist and Popular, would strengthen the Parliament.

SCARLET FEVER.

MILITARY PRECAUTIONS.

Owing to the prevalence of scarlet fever and diphtheria in London orders have been issued at Aldershot that men returning from leave will be medically examined forthwith.

According to a British telegram from Odessa dated 2nd December the Red Army has been driven out of Kieff and the Volunteer Army has advanced slightly Eastwards.

WILSON BETTER.

ABLE TO WALK WITH SLIGHT ASSISTANCE.

President Wilson is now able to walk with the assistance of a stick. In the Senate Senator Lodge urged that the President should submit his proposals for a compromise to secure the ratification of the Peace Treaty, promising that the Republicans will carefully consider them.

Senator Underwood demanded the prompt ratification because the present unsatisfactory impasse is affecting American exports. He suggested the appointment of a Democratic and Republican Committee of conciliation. Senator Lodge rejected the suggestion and said that the only course open to President Wilson was to withdraw the Treaty and re-submit it with fresh suggestions.

The debate became very heated. Senator Knox introduced the resolutions which he and Senator Lodge proposed in November, declaring a state of peace between United States and Germany. Consideration of the various resolutions was postponed until Monday.

AUSTRIA'S OFFER.

TOBACCO AND WATER POWER FOR BREAD.

The Austrian Chancellor, Herr Renner, has expressed gratification at his reception by the Peace Conference at Paris. He said that whether Vienna will have bread for Christmas will depend on Italy's response to the request for urgent shipment of supplies. His Government is determined loyally to carry out the Peace Treaty, but it must be given the wherewithal to work. The long delay in executing the Treaty is ruining Austria, which has ceased to think of union with Germany and has placed herself entirely in the hands of the Allies. He offers in exchange for help, a monopoly of tobacco and the development and exploitation of Austria's immense resources of water power, which could furnish power stations for the whole of Central Europe.

Reuter learns authoritatively that the French Government favours an immediate and favourable response to Herr Renner's appeal.

GERMAN TRAWLER.

ENTERS SCOTCH PORT ON SPECIOUS EXCUSE.

The German trawler Bremerhaven, loaded with fish, entered Aberdeen harbour on Friday and requested to be supplied with coal. The skipper said he had met with stormy weather and had insufficient fuel to return to Germany, but it is suspected that he sought to ascertain whether the old regulations for landing fish were still in force.

Inquiry revealed the fact that he had sufficient coal in his bunkers. The Bremerhaven could not leave the harbour until the tide had risen, and the spectacle of the German mercantile flag at the stern of the vessel exasperated the crowd, which made hostile demonstrations without resorting to violence. Even had the trawler been entitled to coal no men would have assisted to put it on board.

THE CATERHAM CRASH.

The pilot (named Bardley), of the Airco aeroplane on the London-Paris service, which crashed at Caterham on the 11th, has died in hospital at Croydon.

The passenger killed in the same accident was an American named Rand, President of the Marine Trust Company at Buffalo. One of his last acts was to give a large donation towards a proposed monument to commemorate the burial of a battalion of French soldiers, who were overwhelmed in the trenches at Verdun.

COMMONWEALTH ELECTIONS.

Latest returns of the Commonwealth elections indicate that the early belief of a big Government victory is premature. It appears certain, however, that Mr. Hughes has been re-elected at Bendigo, and M. Tudor, Leader of the Opposition, at Yarra. Soldiers may vote in elections whether they are on the register or not.

ROSS SMITH'S RECEPTION.

On Captain Ross-Smith's arrival at Port Darwin be received a tremendously enthusiastic reception. He made a beautiful and spectacular landing, and was immediately seized by the crowd and carried shoulder-high, men and women struggling to shake hands with him. He made the trip from Batavia in seven hours. The Vickers Company has instructed Captain Ross Smith to hand over his aeroplane to the Commonwealth Government when he arrives at Melbourne.

AUSTRALIAN SHIPPING STRIKE.

Another complete stoppage of Australian coastal shipping is threatened. Owing to the shipowners refusing to concede in full their demands for increased wages the engineers have decided to strike. Several steamers are already held up at Melbourne.

BODIES WANTED.

LACK OF CORPSES FOR DISSECTION.

The result of modern social legislation in abolishing casuals and other human derelicts has brought the anatomical and operative surgery departments of University Medical Schools face to face with a very serious difficulty. These departments are entirely dependent on unclaimed bodies for their material. Moreover, many Boards of Guardians who have such bodies at their disposal insist on burying them. The schools consequently have been unable to hold the usual operative surgery courses, and students for the most part are reduced to watching a Professor dissect instead of themselves dissecting.

At the last final examination of the Royal College of Surgeons, at which it is usual to have five bodies for practical tests, only two were obtainable and those only after an immense amount of trouble. As a result each candidate could only be required to perform one operation instead of the customary two.

The authorities pointout that it is an alarming thought that medical students should have to acquire their first operative experience from living bodies, as a student who has only been able to watch a professor dissect or operate is not necessarily qualified to do either. One might as well choose a man as goalkeeper for England on the strength of his having watched every international match of recent years.

A society was founded many years ago, the members of which dedicated their own bodies for scientific purposes after death but the results have been nil owing to the legal decision that one's own body is not one's own personal property. The authorities consider that the only remedy is legislation reversing this decision and requiring that the derelict bodies be applied to medical purposes.

GABY DESLYS' ILLNESS.

OPERATION WITHOUT ANAESTHETIC.

The well-known French actress Gaby Deslys is lying in a Paris sanatorium in a critical condition following an operation for abscess in the throat. The gravest fears are entertained.

The actress was in such a weak condition that the surgeons could not administer an anaesthetic, and the operation was performed while the patient was in full possession of her faculties.

HALF-MILE COAL QUEUE.

Remarkable scenes were witnessed at Edmonton on Saturday. The local coal merchants were practically without stocks, consequently the Coal Overseer obtained a hundred tons of emergency coal and commandeered eighteen trucks containing a hundred tons of industrial coal. This was brought to the Town Hall Depot and sold in half hundred-weights. The queue extended for nearly half a mile.

WAR TIME INFIDELITY.

In disposing of a number of divorce cases at Edinburgh on Saturday Lord Sands referred to the appalling number of cases in which soldiers' wives had erred during the absence of their husbands. It is estimated that the total in the Scottish Courts will exceed six hundred.

TRANS-AUSTRALIAN FLIGHT.

The Air Ministry announces that Captain Sergeant, of the Australian Flying Corps, flew from Melbourne to Port Darwin, this being the first time the continent of Australia has been traversed by air.

CINEMA ACTORS DISAPPEAR.

The United States Navy Department has been requested to aid in the search for David Griffiths and his party of twenty cinema artists, who left Miami, Florida, on Wednesday for the Bahamas.

The trip ordinarily occupies twelve hours. No trace having been found of the party a boat has been sent in search of them.

SOCIALIST PRESIDENT OF BELGIAN CHAMBER.

After three different ballots the Belgian Chamber has elected as its President M. Brunet (Socialist) by 84 votes against 72 votes obtained by M. Carton de Wiart (Catholic).

POULET RETURNING HOME.

The Paris "Auto" states that M. Poulet, who is to receive the Medaille Militaire, will fly back to Paris. He will then prepare for the round-the-world competition organised by the American Aero Club.

A delayed telegram from Rangoon shows that after leaving Bangkok M. Poulet was caught in an equatorial storm which drove him back to Rangoon.

BELGIAN MILITIA CALLED UP.

An Antwerp newspaper announces that arrangements have just been made by the Belgian Ministry for War for the calling up of four classes of Militia to the colours.

SUMMARY COURT.

SCHOOL-TEACHER TEMPTS HIS MOTHER.

Paul Buddy, a school-teacher, of 42 Eintracht-strasse, Düren, whose mother resides in unoccupied territory, secured a travelling pass, permitting a lady to enter occupied territory. He attempted to send it to his mother by registered letter requesting her to impersonate the lady whose name was on the pass. The letter was intercepted, with the result that accused was charged with unlawfully securing the pass and dispatching it to his mother.

The Presiding Officer said the offence was a very rare one. He regretted that a man in the position of accused should be so wanting in a sense of propriety as to try and incite his mother to commit a fraud on the authorities. It was a contemptible thing to do. A fine of 100 marks or ten days imprisonment was the penalty.

TWO EXPENSIVE INVALIDS.

The daughter of a publican residing at 317, Mülheimerstrasse, Kalk, permitted two English soldiers to remain on the premises until 11.25 p.m. They represented to her that they were invalids and were waiting for a train. Her father, Johann Heinrich Piller, had no knowledge of the matter. There was another charge against Piller of being in the unlawful possession of an Army blanket and a pair of boots, Government property.

The defence to that latter charge was that two soldiers left the articles there with accused's daughter and promised to call back for them.

On the first charge of allowing the soldiers to remain on his premises a fine of 250 marks was imposed. The second charge was dismissed.

ABSENT FROM HIS POST.

While Walter Braake, a chauffeur, of 15 Steinweg, Cologne, was absent from his post as a guard at the H.Q. garage, Deutz, a motor car was stolen. Braake was in the employment of the military authorities and there were two charges against him: (1) leaving his post, causing a motor car to be stolen, and (2) neglect of duty.

Braake, who should have been on duty from 4 p.m. until midnight on the day the car was stolen, admitted that he left at eight o'clock and went to his mother's for something to eat. He returned between ten and eleven o'clock.

He was fined 500 marks or fourteen days imprisonment.

EXCHANGE OF VEGETABLES.

Four tins of pork and beans and one tin of M & V ration were found in the house of Elisabeth Laurentz, of 319 Mülheimerstrasse when searched by a military policeman.

Defendant's son appeared to answer the charge and stated that his mother was too ill to be present. He explained that she did some cooking for soldiers and in exchange for fresh vegetables they gave her tinned ones.

The Presiding Officer, remarking that it was a very likely story, inflicted a nominal fine of 20 marks.

BIG FAMILY—LITTLE MONEY.

The space in front of the bench resembled a corner of a Quartermaster's stores during the hearing of a charge against Josef Kneip and his wife, of 44 Ross-strasse, Ehrenfeld. There was a greatcoat, breeches, tunic, trousers, a fire extinguisher, portions of a box respirator and several other articles, the charge being one of illegal possession. A gallon of petrol was also found in the house.

The articles of clothing all showed signs of considerable wear, and the defence was that they had been found by the children of the accused and taken to the house.

Kneip, who is a driver, and possesses a very good character, stated that he had seven children and earned 120 marks weekly. His wife intended to convert the clothing into wearing apparel for the children.

In view of the man's good character and the fact that his family lived in such poverty-stricken circumstances the charge was dismissed, the Presiding Officer warning him that in future he must not be guilty of having in his possession any articles of British property.

INDIAN RIOT INQUIRY.

REVELATIONS OF CASUALTIES.

Mail advices from India state that General Dyer, testifying at Lahore before the Commission of Inquiry into the rioting at Amritsar last April, said he ordered the troops to fire on the crowd of five thousand, which had assembled in defiance of the proclamation of Martial Law. Between four and five hundred were killed and about fifteen hundred wounded. He considered it his duty to disperse the crowd by rapid fire because he regarded the movement as being in the nature of a military revolt.

L.C.C. HOUSING SCHEME.

The Ministry of Health has approved the London County Council scheme for the erection of a thousand houses at Roehampton at the cost of £1,300,000. It is estimated that the annual deficit will be fifty pounds per house.

MINERS ON COMPULSORY SHORT TIME.

Owing to the chaotic transport conditions a number of the mines in South Wales are working only two or three days a week.

HUMAN DEVILS.

SINN FEINER'S SAVAGE VENGEANCE.

A force of police was ambushed by Sinn Feiners at Dungloe, County Donegal, on Friday night, four being wounded by revolver bullets. The assailants escaped.

At Belfast, Patrick Green was sentenced to three years, John Corbett and Thomas Corbett to two years imprisonment for a fiendish outrage. The prisoners were described by the prosecutors as "human devils, carrying out a sentence of a mysterious court."

The evidence showed that following a Sinn Fein tribunal the party met and burst into the house of an aged couple named Daniel and Norah Sheehan, near Kilrush, beat them as they lay in bed, and then dragged them along the road in their night attire, horsewhipping them as they went. Ultimately the couple were forced to kneel and swear by blood that they would not inform the police.

TROUBLE IN TRINIDAD.

NEGRO RIOTERS STORM GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS.

Serious outbreaks have occurred at Trinidad (West Indies), instigated by American negro labour agitators. A mob of negroes at Port of Spain stormed the Government buildings, which they held for three days. The cruiser Calcutta was summoned, and a landing party restored order.

Telegrams from Sir John Chancellor, the Governor of Trinidad, show that while the situation was distinctly nasty for some hours complete quiet has been restored at Port of Spain.

The rioting actually broke out at Tobago, where the cruiser Calcutta landed an armed force and the police fired on the rioters, killing the ringleader.

The trouble at Port of Spain began with a strike of stevedores, one of whom was killed in the rioting. Returned soldiers were also concerned in the disturbances, which ended when wages were advanced. The stevedores have resumed work, but the country is still disturbed.

SPEN VALLEY.

PREMIER'S BENEDICTION ON COLONEL FAIRFAX.

The Coalition candidate at the Spen Valley by-election, Colonel Fairfax, has received a strong letter from Mr. Lloyd George. The Premier, after recalling the fact that Colonel Fairfax fought and suffered in the war, contrasts his notable record of gallant service with the fact that his Asquithian opponent, Sir John Simon, opposed various measures which in Mr. Asquith's own opinion were essential to winning the war. Yet, adds Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Asquith describes Sir John Simon as an "ideal candidate". The Premier concludes by saying that the peace of the world is not yet completely established. All countries, including our own, are suffering from the strain and dislocation of the great war, and that therefore this is not the time to renew party divisions.

W.A.A.C. UNIFORM.

PERMISSION TO WEAR ON SPECIAL OCCASIONS.

An Army Order just issued states that the King has approved of officials of the Women's Legion, Queen Mary's Army Auxiliary Corps, and the Women's Forage Corps being permitted, after relinquishing their appointments, to wear their uniform on special occasions, when attending ceremonials and entertainments of a military nature, and on occasions when the wearing of uniform would appear appropriate. The badges of rank will be those of the rank held by the official on demobilization or retained by her when she quitted the service.

SELF-DEMOBILIZATION.

ORDER NOT TO ARREST NAVAL DESERTERS.

In the course of a case at Marylebone Police Court on Friday, Inspector Ward, of Scotland Yard, stated that about three weeks ago an order was issued to the effect that the police were not to arrest absentees from the Navy, but a fortnight later the order was cancelled. The object of the order, said Inspector Ward, was to reduce the strength of the Navy.

"A funny way of doing it," commented the magistrate.

CHRISTMAS IN MILITARY HOSPITALS.

The military authorities have gratefully accepted on offer by the Joint War Committee of the British Red Cross Society and Order of St. John of Jerusalem, of a sum equivalent to five shillings per occupied bed in military and military auxiliary hospitals for the purpose of providing festivities for the patients in these hospitals on Christmas Day.

The festivities will be arranged at the discretion of the Officer Commanding or the Commandant of each hospital, and the grant will be payable in respect of Naval, Air Force, and pensioner patients as well as soldiers, but officer patients will not be included.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

FLIGHTS LTD.

MILITARY TAILORS

LONDON. WINCHESTER. ALDERSHOT.

Mr. A.J.R. Lee will be leaving Cologne on Thursday. Will return in January. Until Wednesday address—

KRONPRINZ HOTEL

(Behind The Excelsior Hotel)

where he will have his usual excellent selection of material, both for Mufti and Uniform, also a stock of Hosiery of the best quality.

LATE OF THE OFFICERS' CLUB No. 1.

POST STAMP COLLECTION

for sale nearly 2000 stamps.
Price £10
Fudikar, Venloerstr. 7.
Tobacco and Cigarrettes

Souvenirs Jewellery-Watches-Steelware etc. cheapest at
B. Prechner, Cologne, 27 Weidenbach

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

FRY—BARKER

RECITAL

AT THE DISCHSAAL

HERZOGSTRASSE

OPP. PALACE THEATRE

Wednesday, Dec. 17th at 7.30 p.m.

Songs from Brahms, Schubert, Loewe, and Wallace. Violin selections from Handel, Kreisler, Chopin etc.

Tickets can be obtained from Tongers, Konnemann (opp. Opera-house), and at Amusements Office.

Admission: 10, 7, 5, 2½ Mks.
Open to all Nationalities.

X LOOK OUT W
FOR M XMAS WEEK E
AT THE
A BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB E
S Hon. Director General. Miss Decima Moore, C.B.E. K

SIMPLICISSIMUS

Cabaret and Wine-Room
— Hohestrasse 152—154. —
Daily first-class singing and dancing performances.
Open from 6.30 to 10.45 p.m.
— For Officers and Civilians only. —

PRELIMINARY ANNOUNCEMENT

Army Skating Rink,
32 Komodienstraße,
Opening To-day, December 16th, 1919.
5.30 p.m. to 9.30 p.m.
Carnivals and other attractions will be announced later.

SPECIAL NOTICE

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
Special Notice.
Performance of LADY FREDERICK including
MISS DECIMA MOORE, C.B.E.,
and Members of the British Rhine Army Dramatic Company,
To night, at 6 p.m.
Admission free.

NOTICE

Demann & Peters G.m.b.H.
chemical products
textiles and mine products
KÖLN-EHRENFELD, Ehrenfeldgürtel 81
wish to present foreign firms for bying and selling of all kinds of goods.
First rate German and foreign references.

For quick delivery
1 Wagon strong paper, brown
1 Wagon parchment-substitute
Apply A.N.2502, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

For Exporters & Wholesalers
Coutellerie-Cutlery
Pocket knives, Scissers, razors-spoons, forks and knives, safety razors, haircutting machines etc.
BAUMANN & Co.
KÖLN, Berlich 43.

CHEM. LAUNDRY AND DYEING WORKS
Uniforms and Clothes of all kinds cleaned, if desired in 1 to 3 days.
Branches everywhere.
L. SCHUTZ, 88/90, Follerstr. (near Waldmarkt)
COLOGNE, Tel. A 5463.

FOREIGNERS.

Genuine Meissen china Table service with coffee service, teapot, plates and forks and knives (fruit service) for 12 Persons, 156 pieces, onion model, 50 years old, for sale. Apply at C. ANACKER, Eisenach, Langensalzaerstrasse 25.

Rhein-Schelde Transport-Kontor
m. b. H.
CÖLN, Bayenstrasse 73.
Ship brokers and forwarding agents
Shipments to England a speciality

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.
Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc., Staff Instructor in attendance.

VENUS PENCILS

You don't know what pencil perfection is until you try "VENUS." For easy writing, sketching, draughting choose from the 17 superb degrees. They are made of pure smooth-as-satin graphite tempered to perfection.
17 Degrees Black Lead, 6B (softest to 9 H (hardest) and in 3 styles copying
Of all Stationers and Stores throughout the world.
"VENUS," 173/5, Lower Clapton-road, London, E. 5.
VENUS
for Every pencil purpose

Paul Horstmann
COLOGNE
Schildergasse 112
Toys Wholesale
MOUTH-ORGANS
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
Big stock. Manufacturers Agents

First rate Tools
Agricultural implements
Padlocks. Solingen Steelware
BIG STOCK QUICK DELIVERY
Samples to be seen at the
WARENVERSANDHAUS
COLOGNE
Cardinalstrasse 12
Electric car 18 and 20

Gold Krone
EKS
Registered Mark

Ewald Kron, Solingen
Special Razor Manufacturers
Tel. 1934 Telegr.-Address: Goldkrone Solingen
Registered EKS Trade Mark
First quality only. Guarantee with each article. To be obtained in all good shops.

POCKET-CAMERA

Rollfilm 6×9 for sale.
Hohestrasse 15 (in the shop).

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.

TO-NIGHT AND NIGHTLY
the
British Rhine Army Variety Company
in a Special Variety Entertainment.
ARTISTES:
Alfred Barker, Violinist
Miss Hilda Potts, Soprano
Mr. Chas S. Stairs, Humorist
Miss Inez Bensusan
Miss Frances Chisholm
Pte. J. Terry, R.A.S.C.
Harold Walters, Baritone
Charles Gordon, Handbellringer
Bert Rex
Miss Hilda Potts
Lt. J. Humphrey Hope
A one-act Play by
STANLEY HOUGHTON
entitled
"THE DEAR DEPARTED"
will be produced.
Book at Amusement Office.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.

TO-NIGHT AND NIGHTLY
welcome Return Visit of
Mr. ALFRED HURLEY's London Variety Coy
"THE JESTERS"
ARTISTES.
Mr. JOE MORLEY.
(The celebrated Banjoist from the London Palladium)
Miss MABEL MARTIN.
Soprano.
Miss JESSIE MOUNTJOY.
Songs at the piano.
Mr. HARRY KING.
Comedian.
Mr. CHAS. LEWIS.
with "Joey".
BOOK AT AMUSEMENTS OFFICE.

No 1 Cinema is now closed.
No: 2 ARMY CINEMA.
(Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.
No: 3 ARMY CINEMA.
(Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
CINEMA
Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post
Telephones: Military, No. 653. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Tuesday, December 16, 1919.

EDUCATION IN BRITAIN.

Among the many impressions carried from the Army back into civil life, the importance of an efficient education for the individual who makes up the nation will occupy an important position.

Speaking for England especially, our manhood and womanhood has ever been handicapped because, as children, they were "taught," not "educated."

This is not merely a sordid matter of wage-earning power, it is much greater and grander than that. The uneducated, or imperfectly educated, man or woman misses practically all the real beauties of life, in Nature, Art, Literature, and Science, because he, or she, never sees them, or seeing them is unable to comprehend.

Then why has such a state of things been allowed to continue?

To those who, by hook or by crook, have succeeded in struggling into the light the answer is as plain as answer possibly could be. We, as a nation, have not realised the importance of the subject; we have approached it from the wrong point of view, we have been content the grope blindly. The whole question is summed up in that wonderful story of Troy town, "Hocken and Hunken," where Sir Quiller Couch limns with loving hand the life of a typical English countryside. Mr. Rogers is about to resign from the Troy School Board, and his confession of faith concerning his interest in Education sums up, exactly we fear, a very common view of our "Educational" rulers.

"Oh?" said Cai, alert, "I didn' know you took an interest in education."

"I don't," Mr. Rogers responded frankly. "I hate the damned thing. If it rested with me, I'd have no such freaks in the land. But there is always the rates to be kept down. And likewise there's the coal contract to be considered. Added to which it gives you a pull in several little ways." The italics are ours and we would explain that among his multifarious methods of turning an honest(!) penny Mr. Rogers included that of coal merchant.

The rates must be kept down! That has been the almost universal cry, and, the irony of it, it has been shouted under the banner of "Economy." Was ever a word used so fatuously?

If a robemaker has a beautiful piece of white silk, does she hand it to a chimney sweep to make up? Is it given to a child apprentice to cut about? No, silk is too valuable; yet this is the line of action we have followed in dealing with the child mind.

And the minds of the children are the most valuable, the most beautiful, assets possessed by any nation.

Our education committees have included the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker, frequently themselves uneducated, whose main theme has been, "But there's always the rates to be kept down".

Our teachers, themselves often not properly educated, simply "taught," have been asked to do the impossible. We have in mind one girl placed in charge of the precious minds of sixty children of the age of five or six, and told to "educate" them. She would never be, could never be, entrusted with our valuable piece of silk, yet she is given the enormous responsibility of training these young minds when they are in their most impressionable state: when the moulding they receive is going to shape the whole of their lives: when their outlook on learning is being developed and fixed.

And we have called it "Economy"!

The Army of to-day will be the civilian population of to-morrow, the fathers of the next generation. Are we going to allow our children's minds to be foully mishandled and misshaped, as those of their predecessors have been? If we do there is little hope for the nation and we deserve to sink.

No! let us go back to our civilian duties determined to see our children receive their due. Let us differentiate between "learning" and education.

Let us insist that our children shall be trained to think, not merely to remember, and to appreciate the beauties of life. It is their due. It is due to those who have given their lives for us that we make this Britain of ours a more beautiful and brighter place wherein to dwell.

We cannot do this unless we sink all our old shibboleths concerning Education unless we distinguish between true Economy and the false, unless we see that the people to whom we trust our most precious assets are fitted for the job. Elect only those whose pure and sole aim it is to educate the children; pay only those teachers who know how to "educate," and the next generation will be able not only to enjoy their lives but to preserve the hard-won fruits of victory.

Otherwise we have failed.

[illegible]

Are ghosts real or imaginary? Such was the uncanny question discussed at a meeting of our debating class the other night.

The weird poster announcing the event attracted over one hundred men who were anxious to solve the problem and to tell blood curdling and hair-raising experiences.

The united church representatives occupied the platform, which, seeing it was made of frail dining tables, threatened to give way under the weight of so much concentrated theology.

The Roman Catholic Padre occupied the chair; on his left hand was the stalwart sixteen stone Church of England chaplain and on his right, the fourteen stone Nonconformist.

In the background was a huge red screen which, aided by the reflection of the electric light, gave an uncanny but suitable effect.

The room was very cold and full of the haunting spirits of hundreds of men who have dined there and passed away since our Army of Occupation entered Rhineland.

Passed? Yes! Where to? No one knows, but their evil spirits still continue to agitate our stately, wooden white-washed hall. Could we but lay their ghosts!

Outside, the moaning wind rattled the fire-buckets and empty bully beef tins sending cold shivers down that centre of of life and activity—the spine. Already the men had entered the ghost world and longed for a drop of spirit—Black and White for preference—to restore their suspended animation and keep their teeth from chattering.

This was intensified as our Australian Padre opened the discussion with weird stories of spirit rapping, moving tables, haunted rooms and diabolical apparitions seeking to strangle unlucky daredevils who ventured into the chambers of ancient castles to explore their mysteries.

The next speaker had been seized by a ghost when a lad—he was still suffering from a seizure of some sort—his hair was turning white, he had a far away look in his eyes.

He spoke of clanking chains, of white robed visitants from the spirit world, of premonitions. At this stage there was a deathly silence and many furtive glances were cast in the direction of the doors and windows.

The spell was broken by our brave, materialistic Sergeant Educational Instructor from the cold regions of Newcastle who, with withering scorn classed all believers in the supernatural as fools suffering from the hallucination of a disordered imagination.

He paid dearly for his rashness for he was awakened at the uncanny hour of 2 a.m., after a sound sleep, by mysterious rappings on the window of his palatial bedchamber. Breaking into a cold perspiration he recanted, but for three long weary hours he could not sleep and during the day he walked about like a lost soul, with haggard features, and his German classes became mere gibberish. Such is the punishment of unbelievers.

Other lads, who had probably never spoken in meeting before, were compelled by invisible forces to rise from their chairs, ascend the platform and speak of their grandmothers, uncles, aunts and acquaintances who had had terrifying experiences.

Phantom dogs, vampires, floating mediums, who were lifted bodily out of chairs and sent floating out of one window only to return through another, were all described.

This may be an amusing presentation of the subject, but there is the serious side, which we should duly consider, even remembering that, there is a big difference between the open mind and the empty one.

The interest created was so great that a second night is to be devoted to the problem.

The question that is troubling the minds of many is: Are there any ghosts in Rhineland?

C.X.

LITTLE FLOSSIE'S GUIDE

By UNCLE CHARLIE.

So, dar-ling, you have come to join Dad-dy at Cologne (no, dear, not Col-og-nee; Co-loan.

Bear in mind Uncle's ad-vice—al-ways show temper. The boy or girl with the big-gest tem-per al-ways gets what he or she wants, but be sure that your tem-per is more big than the other boy or girl.

Now about the sol-diers here; they go round the streets dressed in kha-ki, which does not look nice, but they can-not help it. There are three kinds of sol-diers—Off-ic-ers (like Dad-dy), War-rant Off-ic-ers, (why War-rant" no-bo-dy knows) and Tom-mies and Jocks.

Off-ic-ers make fun-ny noi-ses in their throats; when they speak to you they will say the words "Top-ping, price-less, old bean." They do not mean much by this but they have to get it off their chests.

War-rant off-ic-ers wear fish bones on their sleeves and talk much deep-er down. Some like them. Some do not.

Tom-mies and Jocks are just sol-diers. You can tell them by their caps. Tom-my talks like you but Jock talks in a queer way and you will not know what he is saying. You will find French and German eas-i-er to learn. You may call a Jock, 'Jock', but nev-er, nev-er, dear lit-tle girl, call a Tom-my 'Tom-my.' Why you must not do this is a mys-ter-y.

You will see lots of Tom-mies; they walk ab-out and hold guns some-times and they mut-ter to them-selves "De-mob, De-mob, De-mob! I signed on with Hen-gist, Hor-sa, John of Gaunt, Per-kin War-beck and Lam-bert Sim-nel and yet they send home men who signed on after Ar-mis-tice!" (No, Ar-mis-tice is not a new kind of pud-ding; it is an e-vent).

Should you want any-thing go up to any sol-dier and he will at once give it to you. He will wish to show you all his sou-ven-irs and pho-tos of his wives and child-ren and you must be al-ways ready to say 'What a pret-ty girl' or 'What fine child-ren.'

If by any chance a sol-dier should not do what you wish (which is rare) stamp your lit-tle foot, look him square in the eye and say with firm-ness the three let-ters 'A. P. M.' Should a Ger-man fail to o-bey, say in the same way the two words 'Town Ma-jor.'

This is all I will tell you to-day—Oh no! I for-get—such a fun-ny thing—the Ru-mour Works. If you go to any Bar-racks or cook-house and make friends with the In-cin-er-a-tor Man he will tell you things. He works where the Ru-mours are made. He will tell you what di-vi-sion is going where, and why, and when. Ask him to send us all to some-where warm for the next three months. Of course, dear, I mean Egypt (pro-nounce 'Egg-wipe') or Mon-ty Car-lo. He will be quite ready to send us to some warm place; he works where they are made.

I will write ag-ain soon (that is if the crab-by Ed-it-or will let me).

Ever your lov-ing Uncle,
CHARLIE.

UTTER DESPAIR.

Does anyone know of a tram driver who is anxious to run over somebody, or a taxi driver who is becoming unfamiliar with inquest proceedings?

I am willing to offer myself for the slaughter.

You ask why I am in such desperate straits.

No; I have no financial troubles and my best girl has not yet deserted me, or at least she didn't appear to have done so in her last letter.

The cause of the trouble may be traced to two things.

First of all there is my aunt Jemima. The dear old lady usually remembers that I have survived the horrors of the war about this season of the year, and doubtless remembering the long line of mufflers, gloves, and socks she has despatched to me in the past, varied her programme this year, and sent me a cheque for £5 to dispose of as my fancy suited.

In the ordinary course of events £5 and myself would soon have been parted, but I regret to say that money for me has become a nightmare. (Yes, Mr. Editor, I will accept payment for this one.)

Then the second fly in my ointment is the letter-box of the "Cologne Post."

An obliging gentleman at Mr. Cook's establishment rapidly transferred my piece of wealthy paper into the necessary bundle of marks, and I sallied forth to "do" Cologne.

Where should I go, the thought struck me. Whilst thus I mused it occurred to me of the awful crime I was committing in thus loitering in this village on the Rhine. How shocked "H.C.W." would be.

I hustled around some.

But where to go, that was the question!

Ah! I would go into a cafe and think the matter out.

"Ober! Ein flasche wein, bitte!" But one bottle did not bring inspiration. I was about to call for another, when again the dread nightmare appeared before my eyes.

"Our troops drink far too much wine" (Vide the "Cologne Post" Letter Box).

I hurriedly left the cafe.

But I could not look the whole world in the face. During the course of my wanderings after the elusive god Momus I had smoked far too many cigarettes, even now I had half of one, unsmoked, reposing in the lining of my cap.

How did I know that this was not "Senior officer" now approaching me?

But life is made up of a series of tragedies, comedies, or farces, if you will. I slipped on a wet roadway, just as I reached him, my hat tilted over my eyes. I'll bet "Old Soldier" would have accused me of not saluting.

I was becoming desperate.

What could I do to make that £5 vanish? One cannot go into the N.A.C.B. for £1 worth of tea and cakes, even were one able to survive such an orgy, and what would "Rhinelander" say if he saw me with such a collection on a plate, or should I say wagon?

In desperation I bought a copy of "La Vie Parisienne" and the "Cologne Post," but then I remembered that letter on "Too much reading".

Furtively I dropped them into the Rhine, only refraining from following them as I thought of the opening I would give to some lynx-eyed person, on the unnecessary polluting of that famous river.

HAWKEYE.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

Our Readers' Varied Views.

SALUTING.

Sir,—I think that your recent stat[illegible] has left a bit of doubt in the minds of many who read the article as to what the exact orders are about salutin[illegible] after retreat which is plainly this:—"All ranks will salute all Officers, (Military, Naval or Allied Army Officers) at all times and in all places."

Where the idea has originated from that there is no saluting after retreat is a mystery.

INSTRUCTOR.

OUR FOOR-FOOTED FRIENDS.

Sir,—It will be a source of comfort to lovers of animals to know that there is a society for their protection in Cologne, and I hope it will have the support of our admirable military police if cases of cruelty come under their notice.

I noticed four horses being led through the streets yesterday presumably to the knackers yard, and their appearance made me wonder how they could have been allowed to reach such a condition.

Obviously they had been worked to the last, and one could scarcely amble along.

All animal lovers of British nationality will doubtless extend to the German society all the support it deserves in its well-meant efforts.

T. O.

SILLY FILMS.

Sir,—A comparison between German and British films shews us up in a very bad light, I am sorry to say.

The reason I do not know, but the facts I can vouch for. On Sunday evening I visited a certain German cinema, and rarely have I seen better film acting, or pictures so well produced.

While at the Army shows there are occasional excellent films, there is frequently much that might just as well be left out of the programme.

MAN IN THE STREET.

LAUNDRY ARISTOCRATS.

Sir,—We are not allowed to forget the presence of the wife in Rhineland, but this time I am glad to see that it is wifie who is complaining and not some crusty old bachelor like myself.

All the same, with the subject of the plaint I have little sympathy. The old woman who has done my washing has given every satisfaction and there are none of the obnoxious odours and delivery delays experienced by your female correspondent.

My advice is, change the laundry. Would "wife" like the address of mine?

CRUSTY.

LETTER WRITING.

Sir,—"R.M.'s" laboured document on "The Importance of Letter Writing" is all very well, but it appears to me that if all the admirable points advocated by him were observed many of us would do little else but write letters.

There are occasions, I am prepared to admit, when it is essential to put one's best into one's letters, but it is equally true that there are others when it is necessary to say a great deal in a very short time.

Then all thoughts of our claim to authorship, style, ambition to be a man of letters and, even grammar, are overshadowed by time's limitations.

Good advice, certainly, but like so many things sound in theory, impossible in practice.

BUSINESS MAN.

RHINELAND AUDIENCES.

Sir,—I read your editorial article this morning with some misgiving, not to say alarm.

I would unhesitatingly express the opinion that at this juncture, at all events, it is undesirable to "re-model the earlier ideals in dramatic and musical entertainment" in the Army of the Rhine. The Occupation still includes among its members many who can appreciate, and are grateful for, the standard of entertainment with which we have been favoured.

Many "young soldiers" are at least ambitious and hope one day to be "men of scholarly attainments" themselves.

To me it is extremely gratifying that such entertainment is made accessible to the "average Tommy."

F.A.C.T.

A BAD HABIT.

Sir,—"H.J.J." must be very simple to let swearing get a hold on him. He is not forced to swear. After all, he must have associated, as I have done, with many troops who do not indulge in such an unnecessary and vicious habit and who yet have had cause to.

I cannot now claim to have kept my language altogether clean, but it was a long time after enlistment before I "let go," and on the few occasions upon which I do do so, it is only under provocation. But the language that I object to is not that of the "damn" variety, but that which is flung about in an indiscriminate way in public places, cafés, etc.

Some may laugh and christen me "Pussyfoot," or what they will, but I intend to keep my vocabulary unadulterated as long as the temptation to spoil it is not too strong, and I trust that those guilty of obscene talk will do likewise.

CUPID.

A RANKER'S PLAINT.

Sir,—May I express my dissatisfaction regarding the presence of such a large number of Warrant Officers and Sergeants in the N.A.C.B. canteens on the Rhine and in the Sternengasse?

Whenever I enter either of these places there always seems to be a large number of these people about, buying things that belong to Tommy and "throwing their weight about" in other ways.

I believe that a special canteen, known as the "Dutch Kitchen" in Komödienstrasse has been provided specially for Warrant Officers and Sergeants, and if a private soldier or a corporal, tried to enter he would be refused admission.

Why therefore should our own canteens be open to these people, any more than the "Dutch Kitchen" is open to privates, etc., like myself?

In regimental canteens, as far as I can remember, only privates were allowed in the battalion canteen, and Sergeants' and Corporal's messes were available for W.O.'s and N.C.O.'s.

I am sure that there are plenty who will agree with me on this subject, and will think as I do, that something ought to be done, regarding the matter.

RANKER.

RECORD SUM TO BE WON.

Delay Of One Post May Mean A Loss Of 500 Marks.

CHRISTMAS COMPETITION.

Bear in mind the important condition attaching to our Christmas Football Competition offer! The 500 marks we are adding to the prize money for No. 13 contest, will, as we have already stated, in the event of a tie, be awarded to the competitor whose coupon was first received by us.

Therefore, delay in sending your efforts this week may easily mean a loss of 500 marks. The moral is obvious; send at once and, in making a bid for the record sum which we are confident will be subscribed, make due allowances for what may happen, as well as for what you think will happen.

While the keen student of form has an undoubted pull, there are occasions when his superior knowledge are his undoing. Each week produces surprise results; there is always the element of chance to reckoned with. The team that by all paper records should win sometimes experiences bad luck and fails.

Legislate for all eventualities and your chance of winning our bumper prize will be greatly enhanced.

As in our previous contests, last week's coupon again presented surprises. Bristol City found Grimsby at home too severe an obstacle and were lucky to get one point.

Barnsley's draw at South Shields upset numerous calculations and the failure of Everton to atone at Nottingham floored many competitors. Dumbarton's surprise win at Paisley also accounted for a large number of failures.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 13,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S./40 Rhine Army.

List of Rules.

1. All forecasts must be made on coupons from this journal.
2. Any alteration or mutilation of the coupon will disqualify the effort.
3. If any match or matches on the coupon should be abandoned or full time is not played for any reason, such match or matches will not be taken into consideration in the adjudication.
4. In the event of ties, the prize will be divided.
5. No correspondence may be enclosed with the coupons, and none will be entered into. Neither will interviews be granted.
6. The Editor reserves the right to disqualify any coupon for what, in his opinion, is good and sufficient reason, and it is a distinct condition of entry that the Editor's decision shall be accepted as finally and legally binding in all matters concerning this competition.
7. Any entries received after Friday will be disqualified. No responsibility can be undertaken for any effort, or efforts, lost, mislaid or delayed. Proof of posting will not be accepted as proof of delivery.
8. Competitors may send in any number of coupons but one mark must be sent with each coupon.
9. Members of the staff of the "Cologne Post" are debarred from entering this competition.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 13.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 20th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 19th.

Arsenal	v. Sheffield Wed.
Everton	v. Liverpool
Manchester U.	v. Newcastle
Wolves	v. Hull City
Bradford City	v. Notts County
Barnsley	v. Tottenham
Bristol City	v. Blackpool
Aston Villa	v. Oldham
Swindon	v. Palace
Kilmarnock	v. Partick

I enter Football Competition No. 13 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions aledy announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(In block letters.)

Rank and No. .....

Unit .....

Full Address .....

INNISKILLINGS v. N.A.C.B.

Cavalry Defeat "Canteeners" unmercifully.

At Kalk on Saturday. The game started off at express speed, the N.A.C.B. scoring the first and their only goal. After this, the N.A.C.B. defence had a very busy time, and had it not been for the brilliant display of their left back the ultimate score must have been double figures. However, the Cavalry soon after started scoring — first through Keys, the second by Sgt. Bennett, and yet a third by Southwell. Thus at the interval, the Cavalry were leading by a score of 3—1.

The second half commenced by an unfruitful, but nevertheless, brilliant piece of work by the N.A.C.B. centre-forward, who is undoubtedly a very fine player, and some of his attempts to penetrate the Cavalry defence were certainly deserving of a better fate, but he received little assistance from the other forwards, so that all his attempts were in vain. Then the Cavalry again got into full swing and simply rolled down like an irresistable avalanche on to the N.A.C.B. defence, volleying in a dozen shots in as many minutes, and the goal-keeper did well in saving; especially one shot fired in from twenty yards out by Southwell, at which the goal-keeper had literally to throw himself, collect, and hurriedly clear before the on-coming forwards reached him. The Cavalry would not be denied, and before the end they scored four more goals.

WARWICKS WIN.

52nd Royal Warwicks v. 113 Brigade R.F.A.

At Gladbach the Warwicks were at full strength and there was pretty keen excitement when the teams lined up. The Warwicks won the toss and kicked off with the slope in their favour. They immediately attacked and Brown was called on to save, which he did ina splendid manner. The Warwicks kept going and after ten minutes play Rodgers scored.

In the second half the Artillery came into prominence, but in front of goal they were very erratic. The left-half and back of the Warwicks were splendid, but the goalkeeper was inclined to hold on to the ball.

Final: Warwicks 1; 113 Bde. R.F.A. 0.

The defence of both sides was wonderful, in view of the treacherous ground.

HOCKEY.

11th Queens v. 51st Northumberland Fusiliers.

This match was played on the 11th Queens ground on the Exerzier Platz, Kalk, on Wednesday, and resulted in a draw 1-1.

The 11th Queens, having won the toss, played with the slope slightly in their favour and play was very fast. Eventually the 51st Northumberland Fusiliers scored.

On the resumption the game continued to be very keenly contested, both sides making efforts to score, but just before time Lieut. Churcher succeeded in scoring for the Queens. Neither side were able to gain the lead, and a very strenuous and pleasant game ended in a draw.

SOUTH AFRICAN CRICKET.

A delayed Reuter's telegram from Cape Town states that a three days' cricket match at Newlands between the Western Province and the Australian I.F. resulted in a draw. The Australians batted first and compiled 269, the Western Provinces following with 153.

In the second innings the A.I.F. declared when 164 for 6, the home team scoring 141 for seven.

36 C.C.S. v. 2 C.C.S.

A Close Finish to a Keen Game.

Despite the hard and frosty ground, a capital game was witnessed at the Stadtwald on Saturday, 36 C.C.S. winning by the only goal scored.

The home team forced the game at the start, but No. 2 soon asserted themselves and obtained several corners, which were cleared. A good run by the "36" placed Harrison with an almost open goal before him, but his shot went woefully wide.

There was some exciting play in front of the visitors' goal in the second half. Eventually Jones obtained possession from Bates and sent in a swift shot which hopelessly beat the visiting custodian. This success appeared to liven up the home team, who continued to press vigorously, but their shooting was very weak. Several corners were forced, Armsdon missing the goal by inches.

No. 2 were superior at forward, but the "36" defence proved equal to all that was demanded of them, Lewis in particular showing capital form. The forwards were weak, Jones being the most prominent. Of the losers, Woodcock and Brown were the more conspicuous, the forwards although lively, finishing weakly.

Q.M.S. Rogers, R.E., proved an efficient referee.

THE WRONG GOAL.

A.M.F.O. Back Heads into his Own Net.

The 257th A.E. Coy, met the A.M.F.O. on the Inniskilling Dragoons' ground on Friday. The Company attacked vigorously at the outset and were rewarded. Amond, receiving from Wormwell, centered, and one of the opposing backs headed into his own goal. Almost immediately, Idle added No. 2 with a brilliant drive. The "Traffic" tried hard to reduce the lead, but Riley, in goal, was equal to their efforts. Just before half-time Idle beat all opposition and scored number three.

On resuming, the "Traffic" attacked hotly, and a smart movement on the left wing resulted in a goal. The Company then took command and Simpson scored their fourth goal with a fast drive.

The "Traffic" tried hard to reduce the lead, but Ward and White were always on the alert. Time came with the Company victors by four goals to one.

Y.M.C.A. HOCKEY LEAGUE.

Eleven Entries For Proposed Tournament.

The following entries have been received for the proposed Hockey League to be run under the auspices of the Cologne Branch the Y.M.C.A. Further entries are expected.

10th Queen R.W.S.	41st M.G.C.
11th Queen R.W.S.	12th Squadron R.A.F.
51st Northumberland Fusiliers.	R.A. Vehicle Reception Park.
51st Warwicks	R.A. Tank Coy.
52nd Rifle Bde.	Y.M.C.A. Headquarters.
	R.A. Signal Battn.

BASKET BALL.

The Basket Ball entries were as follows:

51st N.F.	51st Warwicks.
41st M.G.C.	10th Queens R.W.S.
11th Queens R.W.S.	19th Middlesex.
R.E. Signal Bn.	52nd Kings L.R.

THE BIGGEST YET.

To the number of huge purse offers for the Carpentier-Dempsey fight another has now been received from Australia for a meeting in Melbourne, stated to be the largest bid yet made.

BLACKBURN'S NEW STARS.

Will they lift the Rovers out of the Mire?

ROLLO AND REILLY.

In February 1914 at Ayresome Park Middlesbrough in the International between England and Ireland, the Sons of Erin were handicapped by a winger being unable to appear, but David Rollo came from back to the right wing berth and surprised everyone by his dashing display.

This incident serves to show the versatility of the Rover's new defender. He has figured more often at left than right back in International games and the Ewood Park lot have made a capture.

Rollo was seven years ago booked by Linfield; he cost them nothing and now he has vacated his captaincy of the Irish team for a sum given out as £2,000, the highest figure ever paid for a player from Ireland.

Linfield have parted with a great player and their supporters are rather sore at this, but Rollo expressed his own opinions and was allowed to leave.

His father by the way is a member of the Irish Football League Management Committee.

FRANK REILLY.

The other Blackburn capture, from Falkirk, Frank Reilly, also expressed a wish to be transferred and this alone caused the Falkirk directorate to give way. A splendid pivot with all the characteristics of the Scottish style, he has soon made his presence felt in the Rover's eleven.

He was discovered by the "Bairns" when appearing at left half for East Stirlingshire and was subsquently signed His first appearance in first class circles was against Kilmarnock when he was given the centre half position. So well did he fill it that he has never been displaced. A bird whispers "Jocky" Simpson had a lot to do with the Rovers securing his signature and he never did the Ewood Park lot a better turn.

Blackburn have now in addition to these new "stars," McGhie, Dawson Walmsley (A) Robinson, Duckworth and Hodkinson again available for service. The first two mentioned have each been out of the game for three months.

With this talent on duty it won't be long ere we have the Rovers as of old making a bold bid for a place among the leaders. Their position to-day may not appear to warrant this optimism, but events should prove the assertion correct.

Anyhow it's safe betting they won't go "out" as some dismal scribes have been stating.

GATWICK RACING.

Poethlyn's Fine Gallop in Wickham 'Chase.

The appearance of Poethlyn in the Wickham Steeplechase at Gatwick on Saturday attracted a large crowd to the Surrey enclosure.

Escott's horse had only two opponents —Bushranger III. and White Trout—who both fell. The favourite jumped in his usual fine style and won by a distance from White Trout, who was remounted and finished second.

Courtland 'Chase.—Race declared void.

Horsham Hurdle.—Neilgherry (11-10), 1. Promoter (3-1), 2; Marius (100-8), 3.

Headly Juvenile Hurdle.—Vertigo (5-1), 1; Girvan (10-1), 2; Irish Fair (10-1), 3.

Croydon Hurdle.—Hollins Lane (4-1), 1; Watergruel (5-6), 2; Court Bleddyn (10-1), 3.

Wickham 'Chase.—Poethlyn (8-1 on), 1; White Trout (8-1), 2; Bushranger III. fell.; three ran.

Novices' 'Chase.—Bonnie Charlie (10-1), 1; Shantoi (11-2), 2; Happy Jack (100-8), 3.

ABE MITCHELL IN FORM.

In a thirty-six hole golf match at Sonning, on Sunday afternoon, Abe Mitchell played Miss Cecil Leitch. Mitchell started with a lead of four holes which he later increased to six. Miss Leitch did not win a single hole and was eventually beaten by 9 up and seven to play, Mitchell going out with 35 against 43.

LEAGUE FOOTBALL.

How the First-class Teams Fared on Saturday.

COMMENTS AND RESULTS.

In the first division of the league, Saturday's results supplied few surprises.

The victory of the Villa at Manchester was, however, a meritorious performance, and to take both points from Old Trafford reflects great credit on the Villa Park lot. Blackburn saved a point at Derby, and the presence of Dawson once again leading the line is having its effect. The Rovers are coming back and the danger zone should soon be but a memory.

Everton were lucky to take a point from Notts County, and the drawn game at Bolton was a fitting result. Each of the five leading teams secured full spoils. The games at West Bromwich, Burnley and Newcastle supplied keen football and these clubs are striving very hard to retain their positions with Sunderland hard on their heels.

SECOND LEAGUE.

Tottenham won again, and seem dead certs on present form for the upper circle. Stoke put up a plucky fight at Birmingham and with a little luck might have secured a point. Blackpool's failure at home, where Huddersfield secured three goals against a nil reply, was a shock to their supporters. But even this surprise was not equal to the one Hull City supplied. To be beaten, and decisively beaten at that, by Lincoln, who had only two victories to their credit, needs some explaining. Grimsby again proved they are no mean opponents on their own ground, by taking a point from Bristol City, and Barnsley by a sterling display escaped defeat on Tyneside.

What can one say of Coventry than that they are the unluckiest eleven in first-class football.

New blood, new officials, players who, if placed on transfer, would bring huge sums and yet still without a win. Their display against West Ham was far better than the score suggests and Miller, secured from Everton, was the best forward on the field.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

Swindon gave Northampton another shock and got home by the odd goal in five, while Crystal Palace accounted for Queen's Park Rangers by the only goal of the match. Millwall, who played Tainsh, of Alloa Athletic, in their team, gave Portsmouth an anxious time and a draw would have been a fitting result.

Watford put paid to the account of the men from Reading and took a tighter grip on the second place. They make no secret of their ambitions and Portsmouth cannot afford to make any mistakes.

Newport secured their fifth win and provided Wales with a welcome victory, Cardiff failing at Southend.

Appended are the results:—

The League.—Division I.

Bolton Wanderers	1	Bradford City	1
Bradford	3	Preston N. E.	3
Burnley	2	Oldham Athletic	1
Chelsea	3	Arsenal	1
Derby County	0	Blackburn Rov.	0
Liverpool	1	Middlesbrough	0
Manchester United	1	Aston Villa	2
Newcastle United	2	Sheffield United	1
West Bromwich Alb.	2	Manchester City	0
Notts County	1	Everton	1
Sheffield Wednesday	1	Sunderland	2

The League.—Division II.

Birmingham	2	Stoke	1
Blackpool	0	Huddersfield Town	3
Clapton Orient	1	Notts Forest	0
Grimsby Town	2	Bristol City	2
Port Vale	2	Bury	2
Lincoln City	2	Hull City	0
Rotherham County	1	Leicester City	0
South Shields	0	Barnsley	0
Stockport County	4	Wolverhampton W.	1
Tottenham Hotspur	4	Fulham	0
West Ham United	2	Coventry City	0

Southern League.

Bristol Rovers	1	Southampton	1
Brentford	1	Swansea Town	1
Crystal Palace	1	Queen's Park Rang.	0
Merthyr Town	4	Gillingham	0
Northampton	2	Swindon Town	3
Norwich City	0	Exeter City	0
Newport County	1	Brighton and H.	0
Plymouth Argyle	1	Luton	0
Portsmouth	3	Millwall	2
Southend United	1	Cardiff City	1
Watford	3	Reading	1

Scottish League.

Airdrieonians	0	Celtic	0
Ayr United	2	Greenock Morton	0
Clyde	4	Queen's Park	2
Clydebank	0	Glasgow Rangers	0
Dundee	5	Raith Rovers	4
Falkirk	3	Hearts	3
Hamilton Academic.	0	Albion Rovers	2
Hibernians	4	Kilmarnock	1
Partick Thistle	2	Motherwell	1
St. Mirren	1	Dumbarton	5
Third Lanark	2	Aberdeen	2

Rugby Union.

	Pts.		Pts.
Cheshire	9	Durham	18
Gloucestershire	18	Cornwall	8
South (Scotland)	15	North (Scotland)	8
Bath	9	Cheltenham	0
Blackheath	5	Leicester	0
Cardiff	22	The Army	3
Edinburgh Univ.	8	Oxford University	30
Guy's Hospital	10	London Welsh	0
Harlequins	8	Old Merchant Taylors	5
Llanelly	8	Penarth	0
London Scottish	35	United Services (Chatham)	3
Newport	40	Cambridge University	8
Northampton	15	Gloucester	8
Rosslyn Park	0	Richmond	6
Swansea	10	R.A.F.	10
United Services (Portsmouth)	33	London Irish	10

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

Y.M.C.A. Bonn.

Gross Bonn on Saturday evening was again a scene of much enjoyment and fun, when the time was given up to dancing and games. The former was a favourite with many, especially as the men could choose their own dances. During the interval, various games were played including balloon ball, at which a team from the King's beat teams of Manchesters and R.G.A. On the 17th there is to be another flying billiards tournament, and intending competitors should be present at six o'clock to hand in their names. Good prizes will again be awarded.

Barker—Fry Recital.

At the Dischsaal to-morrow there will be a concert of unusual interest. The presentation of German classics by English performers strikes an interesting note which is bound to attract a large number representatives of both nationalities. Alfred Barker has selected several of the best known works which will certainly receive capable treatment. Howard Fry will submit various baritone solos while Prof. Arnold Krögel will preside at the piano.

Leave Club Events.

At the British Empire Leave Club tonight an impromtu concert at 5 o'clock will be followed by a performance of "Lady Frederick" at 6 p.m. A chess tournament is announced for 6.30.

By One Vote.

An interesting Debate was held at the British Empire Leave Club on Friday. The motion for discussion was, "That in the opinion of this House the English attitude towards questions of morality is better than the Continental." Pte. Doughty opened in support of the motion, and was followed by Pte. Turner, who spoke against. The motion was carried by one vote.

Roller Skating.

There will be scenes of revelry in the No. 1 Army Cinema, Komödienstrasse, this evening when the hall, completely transformed, will be opened as a skating rink. The floor, which is extremely smooth, is of hard wood while the skates available are of the best. The lighting scheme is on artistic lines. The G.H.Q. Jazz Band will dispense lively music from the platform, refreshments will be served, and, of course, there is "Mugs Ally" for the benefit of the uninitiated. Altogether the newest of Army amusements promises to be a great success.

Dancing at the A.G. and C. College.

The Invitation Dance held at the Army General and Commercial College on Saturday last was as enjoyable as its predecessors, and one can add but little more. They are the most enjoyable, if not the largest, functions held in Cologne.

One would like to say sometning about the beautiful dresses, of which there were very many, but, as a mere man, I refrain. Of course there were some nice biscuit-coloured dresses cut high at the neck and decorated with pretty brassards and some in delicate grey, also some delicious khaki, but the others were too varied and complicated to attempt. One in pure white and another a sort of golden confection, adorned by a splendid amber necklace, were remarked.

One amusing feature was the raffle, where one might pay a certain sum for a ticket, and a little extra to escape winning a bead bag. Miss Decima Moore drew the numbers, and, we hear, missed several, whose owners thought they deserved better treatment.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY.	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Tuesday	No Performance
Wed.	The Taming of the Shrew	Goetz	7	10.15
Thurs.	Rigoletto	Verdi	7	9.30
Fri.	The Women without Shadow	Strauss	6	10.15
Sat.	Tosca	Puccini	7	9.45
Sun.	Faust	Gounod	6	10
Mon.	Ein Maskenball	Verdi	7	10
Tues.	Hansel und Gretel	Humperdinck	6	8

Deutsches Sunday Concert.

The Grand Ballad Concert given at the Deutsches Theatre on Sunday night was again a huge success; there were no vacant seats, and every seat contained a person who was obviously enjoying him or herself.

Eric Morgan sang two suites, each containing six songs, and was enthusiastically encored. All his songs whether French, Italian or English were enjoyed, but we would particularly mention "Bergere Legere," "Chanson Triste," "To Anthea" and "Cherry Ripe." Martha Bruch gave us a rare treat in her rendering of the "Aria" from "Samson and Delilah," to which she added "How Shines the Dew," "The Minstrel," and "Cecily."

The baritone, Howard Fry, was better than we ever heard him in the Floral Dance, while "Still as the Night" was a delightful number. The playing of Alfred Barker made us deplore yet further "The Exigencies" of the military situation, that is if they continue to be exigent. His conducting of the specially augmented orchestra, too, was fine.

A novel treat was Lieut. Percy's excellent rendering of the recitation "The Happy Prince," a delightful story told in Percy's inimitable style. A word must be added about that master accompanist Herr Kroegel. Never have we heard more wonderful or sympathetic work at the piano.

Leave Club Concert.

A successful concert, by kind permission of the Commanding Officer, was given by the Band of the 20th King's Royal Rifle Corps at the British Empire Leave Club on Sunday evening to a crowded and appreciative audience. Among the most successful items were selections from "The Bohemian Girl" and "The Dream Princess Waltz", also a cornet solo by a member of the Band. The soloists for the evening included Miss Urquhart, B.E.L.C., who gave a charming rendering of "Until", followed by Huntingdon Woodman's "An Open Secret". Conductor Dix sang "If I might only come to you" and "Songs of Araby", with style and finish. Two violin solos were exquisitely played by Miss Lavie, B.E.L.C. The programme concluded with the Regimental March, played with great spirit.

To Coblenz.

The Audrey Esmond party has entertained packed audiences at the Y.M.C.A. Central, Cologne, during the past week On Friday I found that one needed a shoe-horn to get in the hall and a corkscrew to get out. The party are going down to Coblenz to-day to keep the "Amurricans" from pining too much for God's own country.

JACQUES.

ANOTHER FRENCH VICTORY.

Ledoux Causes Ross to Retire in the Twelfth Round.

Another British Champion went under to a Frenchman in Paris on Sunday evening, when Walter Ross, the British Bantam-weight champion, was defeated by Charles Ledoux, champion of France.

Ledoux, a fiery fighter, who recently defeated Jim Driscoll, started favourite and confirmed public opinion of his fighting powers. Ross was floored in the sixth round for a count of nine and later for a count of six. He fought pluckily, however, and not until his left eye was completely closed did he abandon the fight in the twelfth round.

BILLIARDS.

Newman and Smith gain easy Victories.

The final scores in the Newman-Falkiner billiards match at Burroughes Hall, concluded on Saturday, were:—

Newman	16,000
Falkiner	11,288

At Thurston's the struggle between Smith and Inman resulted as follows:—

Smith	16,000
Inman	15,030

ARMY FOOTBALL.

Second Round Army Cup.

1st. Manchesters 3, 1st. H.L.I. nil.

Replay Match.

Army Gymnastic Staff 6, R.A.S.C. nil.

SCOTTISH RUGBY TRIAL.

South, 15; North, 8.

The Scottish international trial match was played at Galashiels, before 2,000 spectators. Wilson and Logan, both of Selkirk, were unable to play for the South, while Pathilo, Stewart, and Johnston were absent from the North. Within ten minutes of the start Dickie opened the scoring for the South with an unconverted try. Emslie equalised by kicking a penalty goal. Before the interval, however, the South again assumed the lead, Dickie scoring a second try.

The play was resumed in a downpour of rain. The North forwards, showing fine, open play, Bodenstein and Lindsay made an opening for Duffus to score, Emslie converting. The South then took the game in hand, and as the result of good play by their back division, scored three tries in quick succession through Elliott, Clark, and Naylor.

RHINE GARRISON FOOTBALL LEAGUE.

In the list of fixtures of to-morrow's matches in connection with the Rhine Garrison Football Association League published in Sunday's issue the undermentioned teams were omitted:

Rhine Garrison M.T. Coy. v. Rhine Garrison Train
Rhine Garrison Signal Bn. v. 142 Field Ambulance
52nd. Northumberland Fusiliers Bye.

SOCCER AT COBLENZ.

The British department of the Inter-Allied Rhineland High Commission soccer team supplemented by American players will meet a British team from Cologne at the Island Field Dec. 21, and a French eleven on New Year's Day, says "The Amaroc News."

The Cologne team to appear at Coblenz is the 51st Northumberland Fusiliers and is said to be one of the crack soccer organizations of the British Rhine Army. The French team is from Metz, and is ranked among the best of the French army.

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

Last Posting Days.

Next Friday is the last day on which letters intended for delivery in the British Isles by Christmas should be posted. Those for London can be accepted up to Saturday? Parcels for London must be posted to-day.

Christmas is Coming.

In several large houses in Riehlerstrasse Christmas decorations are visible. Through lighted windows, one could see an abundance of crinkled paper, bonbons, and evergreens.

The Cold Snap.

The cold snap is giving some skating and the open stretches of water on the right bank of the Rhine are all covered with ice.

Sunday Skating.

Though the ice on the miniature lakes Bensberg way did not look any too safe, on Sunday crowds of juveniles of both sexes were disporting themselves on rough surfaces and appeared to be enjoying themselves.

Plenty of Room.

There was certainly plenty of room for all. A boy and a girl had a pond all to themselves. In common with other youthful skaters they showed rare skill.

Skating Attire.

Striking skating attire was to be seen. One youngster was wearing a bowler that jammed down over his ears. Another was clad in a bright crimson jersey with hat to match. He was certainly a picturesque figure.

Frühstückstablet.

This is the name applied to the little wood boards which are placed on the German breakfast table on which one cuts any meat etc. The idea has, I learn, greatly interested wives out here.

Tank Pioneers.

Despite the Peace Society's appeal to parents most of the toys in the shop windows are reminders of the great war. At one establishment there is a model of a tank, inscribed, "Originelle Englisch."

Tommy's Friend.

I notice that the popular soldier's club so long famed for its ten pfennig cup of tea, has at last been forced to raise the price, but even now the price is the lowest, so far as I am aware.

Sprechen Sie Deutsch?

Our bookshop in the Arcade now has a plentiful supply of Colonel Maude's "Sprechen sie Deutsch and Parley Voo," the excellent little pocket phrase book published by Forster Groom and Co. Unit commanders wishing for a supply in bulk may obtain them at 3/6 per dozen or 25/- per hundred. They make quite useful little Christmas gifts.

Traffic in Liquor.

The latest proclamation over the signature of the Military Governor states that the sale, gift, or supply to the civil population and the purchase or acceptance in any manner by the civil population of alcoholic drink other than wine or beer, is forbidden except on production of a medical certificate. Similarly the sale, gift, or supply of alcoholic drink other than wine or beer to soldiers is forbidden.

A Christmas Tip.

I hear that our Football Competition department is all out for a bumper Xmas number. The amount subscribed, which is expected to be a record in itself, is to be augmented, by no less a sum than 500 marks. The total will be a useful Christmas Box for one fortunate individual, that is providing it is won outright. The announcement, curiously enough, will be automatically made on Christmas Day. Don't let the number 13 keep you from contributing; the days of superstition are past.

The Economy Campaign.

An official injunction calls attention to the increased cost of stationery and orders the strictest economy in its use.

Closing of Port of Boulogne.

Boulogne will be closed as a military port from January 1st, and all personel for leave and demobilization will travel via Calais. The last sailing to and from Boulogne for leave personnel will be on Dec. 31st.

Bismarck.

I notice a book devoted to this famous statesman bears on the cover a mailed hand grasping a sword. Quite appropriate.

This Weather!

They were arguing about reorganisation and the different missions in Cologne. "Wonder what the Italians are doing here," came a question. "Reorganising the ice-cream traffic," was a swift reply.

The Date.

Recently a friend of mine inquired of a young lady when she was last at confession. She discovered the date written in, of all things, the "Brotbuch."

Passengers' Alarm.

Considerable alarm was caused near the Dom yesterday afternoon, when, owing to the faulty points, the rear coach of a tram broke the connecting bar and jumped the rails. The passengers were badly shaken but fortunately no one was hurt.

Catholic Clubs.

I learn that branches of the Catholic Clubs are shortly closing down. There are but four left. However the Cologne branch still carries on.

First Mail.

I saw a photograph yesterday of the first post-war direct mail from America to Germany. It was, as could be expected, a large one.

Mend a Tear.

A Cologne tailoring firm specialises in mending holes in clothes. Their business is, I am told, an extensive one, due, of course, to high prices of new garments at present obtaining.

A Trifle Mixed.

If you see the sign, "Clothes, Sunday morning," on the door of a certain institution, don't run away with the idea that there is a clothing parade on the Sabbath. For "clothes" read "closed" and the mystery is solved.

No Lorries.

Have you noticed the new signs over famous "No Lorries" inscriptions at the several entrances to the Hohestrasse Arcade? It was a humorist who put them up evidently. The idea that one will purchase so many books as to need a lorry to take them away is really not absurd, it is funny.

Registration of Baggage.

Officers travelling by the leave train to Cologne should note that a representative of the German baggage department will take over the baggage and issue it in exchange for registration tickets. On the out journey these will be issued when the luggage is placed in the van.

Brave Young Guards.

A typical act of gallantry has just come to light. It seems that Sergeant Arthurs, Ptes. Hutchinson, Fellows and Edmunds, of the 51st Royal Warwickshire Regt., at great personal risk put out a fire which occurred at Fort 12, where women were extracting bullets from S.A.A. When the men entered, the room was choked with burning cordite and S.A.A. was exploding. It required over an hour's work to put the fire out.

RHINELANDER.

NOTES FROM LONDON TOWN.

WEST END SHOP SPIES.

There seems to be an epidemic of ultra-vigilance, not to use too harsh a term, in the big West End shops just now. Police Court reports do not reveal any increase in shop-lifting, but nevertheless prospective purchasers, who desire to look round before deciding to part with what is more often than not an outrageous price for anything, are closely shadowed by shop assistants, who are for ever badgering them with entirely unnecessary questions as to what they wish to see, together with plain intimations that they need not take the trouble to find fault where no fault is. It is all very annoying, and if the shops do not wish to lose custom they had better cease to punish the thousands of honest people for the sins of the few.

THE AUSTRALIAN MOSES.

"I cannot help thinking if Moses had stood for Parliament he would have mentioned that little matter in the desert." This is Mr. Justice Darling's latest quip, and I daresay his ever-ready wit helped the plaintiff, Mr. Stephen Kelly, to his verdict in to-day's libel suit against a Brixton newspaper. Mr. Kelly, an ex-Australian sapper, put up for the L.C.C. and incidentally issued a pamphlet on his water-locating exploits in the Gallipoli campaign. The defendant's counsel put it to Mr. Kelly that this publicity was boasting, but Mr. Justice Darling, apt as ever, chimed in with the legend of Horeb. Anzacs will know more than most of us about Mr. Kelly's claims, but at least the place whence the water flowed would have been rightly named Meribah (Strife).

SCOTTISH HUMOUR.

Sir John Randles' story in the "Weekly Dispatch" of the old lady who hailed a passer-by with "Man, man! Stop ma coo!" meeting with the answer "Wumman! Ah'm no a man, Ah'm a magistrate," recalls that quip in one of Arthur Jones' comedies. A young lady, asked whether her father was a gentleman, hesitatingly answered, "Well, he's a solicitor". But Sir John's story is intended to prove that the Scot is a humorist. If it proves anything it illustrates once again that pawky quality inherent, for example, in the celebrated Professor Caird, who when asked by a Salvationist in the street "Are you saved?" replied "Yes, I am as a matter of fact, but a don't like to brag aboot it!"

THE BRONTOSAURUS.

The Buluwayo press is exciting our curiosity about a prehistoric monster rejoicing in the name of the Brontosaurus. Already the modern Beowulfs and Siegfrieds are making preparations to beard this terrifying jabberwocky in its native haunts, and I gather that the name of Captain L. B. Stevens, M.C., has been mentioned as one of the explorers who may be going out to South Africa on the quest. One description has it that the Brontosaurus is covered with scales even to the end of its tail, and sports great vermilion spots, with yellow streaks radiating therefrom, all over its, pulsating body. Some authorities seem to be rather sceptical, one professor scouting the existence of any unknown species of the dinosaur. Perhaps it is our old friend the Dragon of Wantley.

LUXURY MOTORS.

The costliest car for wealthy Londoners is still the new six-cylinder Napier, which, a few weeks ago, at all events cost £1,750 for the chassis alone. During the motor show, both the Rolls-Royce and Lanchester Cars went up to £1,850, but the price of the Napier chassis has, I am told, been advanced to some 2000 guineas—a record price for the British Automobile industry. This sounds like a war-time figure, and reminds me of a certain business man of London who sold a first-rate car for £5,000 under the impression that he could soon replace it. He found he could not, and had to repurchase it for £7,000.

THE INSTITUTION OF STRAP-HANGING.

Tube and tram travellers have learned with dismay that strap-hanging is to be a permanent feature of British life. We have it on the authority of Sir Albert Stanley, who told his hearers at the Savoy Hotel yesterday that we owe this gloomy prospect to the fact that walking has become an unknown art. This too, after all the expectations raised by that lachrymose poster from the ex-President of the Board of Trade, which admitted the Underground's shortcomings, spoke of new cars in process of building, and held out hopes of the promised land. And now after all we must trapeze home for the rest of our lives and be thankful that the law allows nothing less to satisfy the contract "safely and securely to carry."

PERISCOPE.

FOR BUSINESS MEN IN RHINELAND.

A FRENCH CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The French newspaper, "l'exportateur français," announces for the near future the creation of a Chamber of Commerce for Occupied Germany with the seat in Paris and a branch in Mayence. This chamber will be in direct connection with the French Ministry for the rebuilding of the devastated area and with the French Foreign Office.

AN INTER-ALLIED RULING.

By order of the inter-Allied Commission of the Rhineland the subjects of Allied and Associated powers living in the Rhineland will have to pay all direct taxes and custom taxes just as the Germans do. All the foreign firms with their big transactions will have to submit to this order but not those persons belonging to the allied Armies.

THE EXPORT OF COAL AND DYE-STUFFS.

In a letter to the "Frankfurt Gazette," a prominent member of the German chemical industry points out that while the proposed sale of coal by Germany to Switzerland is obviously intended to improve the exchange rate, as it would enable Germany to pay for its imports with foreign bills, it nevertheless is an economic mistake to export raw materials when these might be better employed for the manufacture of far more valuable products available for export, as, for instance, is the case of tar-dyes from coal. As a matter of fact the export value in this particular instance is enhanced a hundredfold. So that if 1,000 tons of coal are sent abroad, the country gets but a hundredth of what it would obtain were the tar dye-stuffs extracted from the said quantity of coal exported. Moreover, the Government ought to bear in mind that the dole to be paid to the unemployed, which might otherwise be required to work up these 1,000 tons of coal into tar dye-stuffs, must be discounted from the export value of the coal.

PROHIBITION OF GERMAN IMPORTS TO SWITZERLAND.

According to a private wire from Zurich, the Swiss Federal Council have issued an order prohibiting the import from Germany of articles pertaining to the furniture trade until further notice, in order to prevent the breakdown of Swiss factories in consequence of the market being glutted by foreign makes. And as though to lend additional strength to this order the Wolff Exchange now reports from Karlsruhe (Baden) that the Baden Minister of the Interior has issued an order to the effect that the export from Baden to Switzerland of all articles of furniture, glassware, porcelain, pottery, household utensils, articles of daily use, agricultural implements of all kinds, ironmongery, cloth, wearing apparel, boots and shoes, and commercial stationery is henceforth forbidden.

NEW COMMERCIAL COMMISSIONER.

Mr. Thomas Robbins has been appointed Commercial Commissioner in Germany. He is taking up his duties immediately at Berlin. The position is more of less that of a commercial Secretary, and he will be working with Col. Thelwall. Mr. Robbins was an officer for some time at Duren, where he, in addition to his military duties, conducted trade enquiries with regard to raw materials and textiles.

BARRACK-ROOM DIALOGUES.

I. EAU-DE-COLOGNE.

After 'lights out' Konky lights a cigarette and becomes as garrulous as a Cathedral guide. On this occasion he was interested in eau-de-Cologne.

"I say Fatty," he said, "what's this 'ere ody Cologne?"

"Water of Cologne," said Fatty.

"What, does they get it out of the Rhine, then?

"I don't know . . . . very possibly."

"Yes, but where do they get the nice smell from? . . . . its enough to knock you down towards the pontoon bridge . . . . Whew!"

"They perfume it," said Fatty.

"How does they fumigate it"?

"Oh, I don't know . . . . they crush roses and add the juice or something of the sort; they put spirits in it as well."

"What, whisky?"

"No, alcohol."

"Yes, but what does they call it ody Cologne for? . . . . old Buggins says it comes from other places as well."

"Yes, a lot comes from Jersey."

"What, does the Rhine run into Jersey, then?"

"No, you blockhead . . . . Jersey's an island."

"O, come orf it . . . . you don't know all about it . . . . I bet you don't know what they calls it 4711 for."

"Do you know?"

"Rather . . . . its the regimental number of the bloke what discovered it . . . . what yer larfing at? . . . . fat lot you know about ody Cologne."

C.W.Y.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

No More.—The final war honours list has made its appearance.

Help For Belgium.—Belgium has concluded a British loan for £50,000,000.

Spanish Politics.—Another Spanish Cabinet has been formed.

The O'Grady Way.—Mr. O'Grady returned Litvinoff's peace offer unopened.

But not Enjoying Them.—Girls are smoking cigars in London restaurants.

A Glut.—Sprats were sold at 1d. a lb. at Weymouth yesterday.

London's Youngest.—The leading lady in "Fifinella" is only sixteen years of age.

One Relief.—There are no restrictions on passenger train parcels at home.

Lure of the Label.—Inexpensive "Gifts" in London shops include articles priced at hundreds of pounds.

The Direct Snub.—The Railway Servants Hospital Fund returned a cheque representing the earnings of a strike breaker.

Now Ex-Officers!—Captain Barnett M.P. says there is wealth beyond the dreams of avarice in Persia.

Direct Action.—An Adare woman who refused to join a labourers' strike was pulled out of bed and beaten.

Search For Tall Venus.—A "Statuesque woman" is the latest requirement of the stage in the Palace Theatre revue.

Mrs. Atkins for India.—Another batch of soldiers' wives have left England to join their husbands in India.

Tragic.—An ex-flying officer is said to be distributing handbills for a London advertising firm.

Battle-scarred.—Battle scarred 'busses are to be repaired and put to their old uses.

Free Church Padres.—The Admiralty is considering the appointment of Nonconformist chaplains to the Navy.

Everybody Dancing.—Boarding houses are preparing for tea dances, dinner dances and even lunch dances.

The Popular Fancy.—The boxing boom has extended to the Riviera. Visitors to Monte Carlo will be well supplied with it.

Wind up.—Pte. Melvin, the Black Watch V. C., after being decorated, declined to be photographed.

To New Uses.—France is considering the conversion of old warships into colliers.

Never Again.—Ross Smith's mechanic says he would not do the trip to Australia again for £10,000.

For England.—The "River Clyde" of Dardanelles fame is to be towed to England for national preservation.

Franc Up.—Clemenceau's visit to England has produced an improvement in the value of the franc.

No Gold Coins Yet.—Banking experts adhere to the view that gold coins are not necessary.

Cheap.—Herefordshire growers claim that they are unable to obtain even 2d. per pound for apples.

Expensive Paris.—The allowance in lieu of rations for troops remaining in Paris is increased to 12 francs per diem.

Ever-Open Door.—Red Triangle Institutes have been established in 35 Leicestershire villages.

The First.—The first German vessel flying the German flag to enter Plymouth since the war, has arrived.

Fastidious.—Burglars at Golders Green packed up a woman's sleeping suit with other things.

We Shouldn't Object.—A Paris wedding was postponed because the bride's dress showed too much silk stocking.

The Simple Life.—Lady Carbery told the Divorce Court that when in Africa with her husband she lived like a savage.

A Batman's Lapse.—General Vaughan, commanding the Cavalry Brigade at Aldershot, prosecuted his batman for stealing a camera.

Not a Cuthbert.—An Admiralty clerk brought up at Old Bailey said he had a spirit which craved for thrills as a drunkard craved for drink.

Keeping his Promise.—The Prince of Wales has taken up the case of the Portsmouth unemployed with the Ministry of Labour.

Thieves' Daring.—In broad daylight a safe weighing a hundredweight was removed by thieves from a Birmingham restaurant.

Fini.—From to-morrow all billeting in France and Belgium will cease. Billeting allowance will be issued to officers and men.

Who Pays Then?—The President of the London Mormons offers £200 to anyone who can prove fares to Utah are paid by the Church.

Another Big Deal.—The Government has parted with two million yards of gaberdine cloth, material used for making W.A.A.C. uniforms.

Dummies Repulsed.—General Thwaites says one of the most successful ways in which the British scored in the war was by the use of dummies.

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O. S./40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

BUSINESS-PREMISES in centre of the town comprising Shop, Office, Warehouse and twenty rooms. For sale Mks. 135,000,—. Letters Box 108, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (T.c.)

PHOTO HOUSE and camera repairing works. Aug. Lang, mechanician of precision. Kl. Neugasse 9/11. Always bargains in second-hand binoculars Zeiss-Goertz, Voigtländer & Leitz.

NEW AND SECOND HAND Zeiss-Goerz Binoculars cameras also watches for sale. Kämmergasse 21.

FUR, real Russian wild cat, new, splendid colour effect for ladies'-coat, sleeves and collar complete, a bargain. Particulars Box 125, A.P.O./S. 40, Cologne. (2)

BEAUTIFUL Christmas Present genuine Turkish carpets Kelims 3×1¾ — 1¾×1½ for sale (£20). Lemmens, Frankenplatz 8, next to the Hotel du Nord.

FOR SALE. New Zeiss binoculars telescope (system Busch). F. Grusdas, Cöln-Stilz, Nfdeggenstr. 1 I. Car No. 15.)

BLACK COLOURED PIANO for sale. Apply to Wilhelm Roug, Cöln-Bickendorf, Sandweg 37.

MASTER-VIOLIN. Joseph Guarrevius Cremona violin for sale. Fr. Wiegand, Cöln-Ehrenfeld, Eichendorfstr. 38.

CINEMA APPARATUS with motor for sale, complete. M. Kuhl, Alteburgerstrasse 36, Cologne.

WANTED.

BY young English Soldier Organist, advanced lessons on the Organ. Will pay well, Apply Box No. 120, A.P.O. S./40 Cologne.

SITUATION for housework, Cologne or near, speaks English. Apply Zenan, Joachimstrasse 6, Bonn. (1)

GOOD second-hand football boots. Apply No. 5 Ambulance, Mülheim. (2)

IMMEDIATELY one or two Bedrooms, sitting room and kitchen, or use of kitchen for English N.C.O. and family. Box No. 121, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (4)

DEMOBBED W.R.A.F. seeks post, clerical work, or Nursery governess. Box 123, A.P.O./S. 40, Cologne. (1)

TO LET.

A FURNISHED bedroom is at the disposal of English lady. Berg.-Gladbach, Paffrathersstrasse 64, 1st floor.

LANGUAGES.

ENGLISH CONVERSATION desired in exchange for GERMAN LESSONS by well educated Gentleman. Apply to A 434 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

G R

By order of the Disposal Bond

The Ministry of Munitions has for disposal large quantities of

FOODSTUFFS, ETC.,

comprising—

Roast Fowl	Beef Essence	Mealie meal
Vanilla Essence	Vermicelli	Pigeon food mixed
Lemon Essence	Hops	Pigeon food grit
Lentils	Dried Peas	Herbs, mixed
Vibrona	Sparklets "B" bulbs	Meat extract
Soups, assorted	Sparklets "C" bulbs	Spice mixed
Cerebos salt	Anchovy paste	Granulated potatoes
Preserved meat	Anchovy essence	Arrow root
Dried vegetables	Chicken broth	Bicarbonate of soda
Beans, dried	Chicken essence	Egg powder
Benger's Food	Potted meat	Jellies, Calf's Foot
Cornflour	Mutton broth	Olive oil
Fruits, assorted	Mutton extract	Pearl barley
Nutmegs	Mutton essence
Ox tongue	Lemonade crystals

also 82,000 ½bottles Bass Beer

The attention of OFFICERS' MESSES, CLUBS, and COMMERCIAL FIRMS is drawn to these goods, which will be sold as a whole to the highest or most suitable bidder, or to Officers' Messes, Clubs, etc. in smaller lots at equitable prices.

Tenders for all or any part of these goods will be accepted not later than 22nd December, 1919.

All particulars, with schedule of provisions for disposal, may be obtained from Room 182, Domhof 28, Cologne.

Verbal tenders will not be considered.

The Ministry of Munitions does not bind itself to accept the highest, or any tender, nor gives any guarantee as to quality or condition.

The successful tenderer will be required to forward a cheque for the full amount, made payable to the British Ministry of Munitions, Room 190, Domhof 28, Cologne, immediately on notification of acceptance (payment many be made in Sterling).

Removal of the goods purchased must be made within 10 days of receipt of Authorisation of Ownership, which form will be handed to the purchaser within 3 days of receipt of payment.

MINISTRY OF MUNITIONS,
(DISPOSAL BOARD) G.H.Q. COLOGNE.

The Cologne Post
Xmas Souvenir Number

A Magazine, not a Newspaper. Printed on excellent paper in coloured cover, copiously illustrated with pictures of Rhineland evends.

Phillip Gibbs, W. E. Hornung, Professor A. Main, Miss Decima Moore, C.B.E., Dr. A. Francis, Rev. G Kendall, R.F.Gardiner and many others contribute, in addition te the "Cologne Post" literary staff.

A more interesting Souvenir of the occupation could not be imagined. You will be delighted with it—and your friends still more so. Price 7 Marks, or 9 Pence. Post free to U.K. One Shilling.

Xmas Souvenir Number
The Cologne Post

Open your Door
to all the Music of all the World
Buy a „Gramola"

Gramophone Spezialhaus
COLOGNE
Hohestr. 150

The high grade "TUCKMAR" Razor

Do you know why everybody asks to-day for a "Tuckmar" razor and why they are called the "Worlds Perfect Razor"??? Because they are the very best and most durable razors in shaving!!! The excellence of the "Tuckmar" razors consists in their being made from the very best silver steel and in their having the best reputation in the world!!! Every razor fully warranted! SOLD EVERYWHERE!

TÜCKMANTEL & MARTIN, Ohligs-Solingen.

Factory-Agent and Exhibition: Gormanns & Schallenberg, Cologne, Neumarkt 32-34.

TUCKMAR RAZORS P. LAAFF, Specialist KOMÖDIENSTR. 79 Opposite Army Cinema No. 1. Lowest price

Directly opposite the Dom and Main Station

Special House for Amateur Photography
ANDREAS PILLEN

I. COLOGNE, Deichmannhaus, opposite the Dom & Main Station.
II. COLOGNE, Hohenzollernring 70.

Big depot for Ica, Goerz, Zeiss, Ernemann, & Nettel Cameras.

Projectors and Cinema Apparatus.

Please ask for:

DEUTZ & GELDERMANN

First-class Champagne

FRANZ JOSEF ROETTGEN, COLOGNE, General Agent.

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marsellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 16, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S/40 British Army of the Rhine.

SEND IT HOME, YOUR PEOPLE WILL LIKE TO READ IT.

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

DO YOU READ RHINELAND ECHOES? PERHAPS YOU ARE MENTIONED.

No. 223. COLOGNE, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

COMPLETE ALLIED ACCORD.

PERMANENT GOOD EFFECTS OF RECENT LONDON CONFERENCES.

BOMBS AND SHOTS AT EGYPTIAN PREMIER.

LONDON CONFERENCE.

IMMEDIATE AND FUTURE BENEFITS.

The conference at Downing-street was the first meeting of the whole body of Allied and Associated Powers for a long time. The general concensus of opinion is that the international atmosphere has changed immensely for the better and brought a settlement of vexatious problems considerably nearer. The salient fact in the development of events is the partnership between France and Great Britain, which constitutes the chief and deciding influence in the task of European settlement. It is expected that Mr. Lloyd George and M. Clemenceau will meet much more frequently in the future to decide numerous administrative questions which will arise after the ratification of Peace.

The fact that the American Ambassador was present during the conversations with Signor Scialoja is regarded as significant. The Italian Minister departed for Italy yesterday, and it is understood that he bears proposals which will probably end the Fiume difficulty. Importance is also attached to the participation of the Japanese Ambassador in the Conference regarding Russia.

AMERICAN IDEALS.

OPPOSED TO THE SPIRIT OF BOLSHEVISM.

A Conference at Washington of representatives of 119 National and International Unions, including Railroad Brotherhoods, has adopted a resolution denouncing the attempts to inject the spirit of Bolshevism into the affairs of the American Labour Federation. It describes the principles of Bolshevism as destructive of American ideals. Other resolutions favoured the continuance of the Government control of railways, and urged the Senate to ratify the Peace Treaty, and the Covenant of the League of Nations, declaring that "we feel we cannot with honour or humanity maintain a policy of isolation from and disinterestedness in the distress and sufferings of European peoples."

WORLD'S END.

"HERE COMES THE BOGEY MAN"

A Central News message from Washington says that the Astronomer Royal and Sir Oliver Lodge have been interviewed. They describe as "bosh" the predictions of the Michigan Professor Porta that terrible cataclysms will happen to the earth on the 17th (to-day) as the result of the conjunction of six planets which will cause enormous sunspots, the effect of which will be to upset the earth's balance.

Sir Oliver Lodge declares that this conjunction of planets occurs every century. The Astronomer Royal has been simply overwhelmed by letters from frightened people.

AUSTRALIAN ELECTIONS.

The Australian Commonwealth elections resulted as follows:—

Nationalists (comprising Liberals and members of the Labour Party who followed Premier Hughes on the question of conscription during the war) 35; Farmers' Party (which generally supports the Hughes Government) 11; Anti-Nationalist and Labour 29.

The last house of representatives consisted of Nationalists, 49; Farmers, 3. Anti-Nationalists and Labour, 23.

ROSS SMITH'S THANKS.

Capt. Ross Smith says that the prompt construction of aerodromes by the Governor General of the Dutch East Indies greatly facilitated the flight to Australia. In fact it would otherwise have been difficult to complete the last stages. The excellent arrangements and the attentions paid to the aviators in the Dutch East Indies were largely responsible for the success of the flight.

PADEREWSKI QUITS.

M. Paderewski has finally and irrevocably resigned owing to his repeated failures to reconstruct the Polish Government. M. Skulski, ex-Mayor of Lodz and a strong anti-German, has formed a cabinet largely composed of mediocrities.

Practically all the German, Austrian, and other prisoners except Turkish have now been repatriated from Malta.

EGYPTIAN PREMIER.

DETERMINED ATTEMPT AT ASSASSINATION.

An unsuccessful attempt to assassinate the Egyptian Premier was made at Cairo on Monday morning by a student named Selim, who was immediately arrested. The scene of the outrage was outside the Italian Club, opposite General Headquarters. The assailant first threw a bomb and then fired a revolver. Three revolvers were found in his possession.

A Cairo telegram dated the 10th says that the police and British soldiers frustrated several attempts at demonstrations.

Motor lorries full of troops patrolled the city, the men alighting wherever a crowd was encountered and dispersing the throng with sticks without any difficulty. Occasionally they were obliged to fire in the air but generally speaking no resistance was offered. The demonstrations were practically confined to students.

ASIA MINOR.

FRENCH TAKE OVER THE ADMINISTRATION.

The administration of Cilicia and what are known as Occupied Enemy Territories (West) including Lebanon, Beyrut, Tripoli and Alexandretta, has been handed over to General Gouraud. North and North-East of Aleppo the British Military posts in the Marash, Aintab, Urfa and Jerablus areas have been also relieved by the French.

Occupied Enemy Territory (East) including Damascus, Homs Hama and Aleppo has been handed over to the Arabs under Emir Feisul. All British troops have now been withdrawn from Syria.

The "Morning Post" prints a message from its Alexandria correspondent dated the 7th December to the effect that all Europeans have been hastily withdrawn from Damascus owing to the open hostility shown towards both English and French as the former are supporting French policy.

Two British officers who lately arrived at Damascus were warned not to enter the city and were obliged to spend the night in concealment at the railway station.

BORDEN RETIRING.

CANADIAN PREMIER'S FAILING HEALTH.

Sir Robert L. Borden has announced his intention of retiring from the Dominion Premiership on the 1st January owing to failing health. A conference of his followers will be summoned to choose a successor. Owing to overwork at the Peace Conference Sir Robert Borden was two months ago compelled to take a six weeks' rest at Virginia Hot Springs, but while he experienced some benefit, his recent resumption of the cares of office caused a partial relapse and for the past fortnight he has suffered from insomnia. His physicians ordered him to cease work and as the Sessional preparations involve close application on the part of the Leader of the Government, Sir Robert has decided to retire.

"SPECIALS" FOR DUBLIN.

The Irish Executive have asked Civil Servants in Dublin to volunteer for service as special constables to assist the Dublin Metropolitan Police and the Royal Irish Constabulary.

The arrangements have not yet been prepared, and it is not known what response the appeal for volunteers will receive.

NEW FRENCH LOAN.

At the recent Conference at Downing-street the Economic and Financial situation was examined in great detail. In order to remedy the fall in the exchange, which is prejudicial to both nations, the British Government has agreed to the issue of a French Loan in Great Britain, the details of which will be fixed by agreement.

GERMANY'S REPLY.

The German delegation handed the German Government's reply to the Allied Note to the Secretary General of the Peace Conference at 10.30 on Monday morning.

NEW TURKISH PLOT

The Russian wireless has circulated a message to the effect that a plot has been organised at Constantinople with the object of enthroning the son of the ex-Sultan Abdul Hamid.

FOOTBALL TICKETS.

PROFITEERING NUISANCE ON THE INCREASE.

A novel profiteering case was before the magistrate at the West London Police Court on Monday, when a man was fined twenty shillings for obstruction. The defendant and several other men were outside the Chelsea football ground on Saturday selling tickets at enhanced prices and causing a commotion among the crowd seeking admission.

Some of the prices charged yielded between 400 and 500 per cent., but the defendant said that his tickets cost him 5s 9d and he sold them for 7s 6d. The magistrate declared that profiteering in football tickets was becoming a great nuisance.

AIR SERVICE.

NAVY, ARMY AND AIR FORCE IN COMBINATION.

Speaking on the Air Force estimates in the House of Commons, Mr. Winston Churchill emphasised the independent status of the Force, and expressed the opinion that it would take five years to bring the permanent post-war Air Force into the same smooth running order as were the pre-war Army and Navy.

Owing to the enormous number of aeroplanes left over from the war new bulk construction would be necessary for two or three years. There would be a regular circulation of units by roster between home and foreign stations as it was intended to preserve and foster the regimental idea. The Air Force had now been reduced to the minimum strength compatible with its peace time functions.

It was not the Government's business to go to greater expense in promoting civil aviation beyond the provision of aeroplane routes and the necessary legislation.

Continuing Mr. Churchill emphasised also the very satisfactory relations between the Air Staff and the Admiralty. Admiral Beatty had shown himself a sincere friend of the Air Force and the most favour able results were anticipated through his co-operation.

A system of temporary commissions would be adopted. About fifty per cent would be permanent commissions; forty per cent short service temporary commissions and ten per cent would be for birds of passage from the other two services. Progress could only be made in treatment of the problem of defence by a combined joint Imperial Staff of the three services operating under a single control, and he hoped that the discussions now proceeding between the heads of the three services would lead to a real advance in this most urgent and important matter.

THE WILSON MYSTERY.

CONFLICTING EVIDENCE.

Prominence is given by the "Daily Mail" to an article by a "Distinguished American Politician" with reference to the mystery surrounding President Wilson. He points out that from the outset of his illness no more than a dozen persons, including his doctors, have been allowed to see him. Viscount Grey is returning because it is impossible for him to present his credentials.

The article says that President Wilson is in a state of nervous depression, requiring the maximum of quietude, and concludes, "It is clear that as a potent factor in affairs of State President Wilson is practically eliminated."

A statement issued by the White House says, "The hope of the Republican leaders of the Senate that the President will make some move which will relieve the situation as regards the Treaty is entirely unfounded. The President contemplates making no compromise or concession, but intends that the Republican leaders of the Senate shall continue to bear the undivided responsibility for the fate of the Treaty, and the consequent present state of the world."

IDLE RAILWAY WAGONS.

In view of the traffic congestion on the railways being largely due to the shortage of trucks the Minister of Transport has issued a circular urging all users of railway waggons to expedite the release of wagons detained under load at their destination.

He gives the following astonishing figures to show the extent to which this evil is increasing. In 1918 the average number of days per month on which wagons were detained was 313,627, whereas over the first half of 1919 the average was 426,333, showing an increase of thirty-six per cent. in the monthly loss of wagon power.

WOOD GREEN BANDIT.

As a sequel to the attempted robbing at the Wood Green branch of Barclay's Bank, Edwin Lock was charged at Tottenham with having feloniously shot at Edgar Newton with intent to murder him. Accused was remanded.

RESTORATIONS AT YPRES.

A National Congress of Belgian architects has passed a resolution unfavourable to the restoration of the Cloth Hall and Cathedral at Ypres.

HOME RULE.

MEASURE POSTPONED TILL NEXT SESSION.

Replying to a question on the Government of Ireland Bill, Mr. Lloyd George said in the House of Commons on Monday that owing to the pre-occupation of the Government in making preparations for the various discussions at the International Conferences which have taken place, "I am afraid I cannot make a statement on Irish proposals this week, but hope to be able to do so next Monday. As the House rises on Tuesday and no further progress can possibly be made with the Bill this session, the Government thinks it would conduce to more effective progress with this troubled problem if their proposals were placed in outline before the country with a view to the introduction of the measure early next session."

Replying to a supplementary question the Prime Minister said that it is the intention of the Government to maintain law and order in Ireland.

FIUME FINALE.

D'ANNUNZIO ANNOUNCES A SETTLEMENT.

A circumstantial story concerning Fiume emanates from New York. The Associated Press Correspondent at Trieste states that he has been informed by Signor Pedrazzi, head of D'Annunzio's Press Bureau, that D'Annunzio and the Italian Premier have signed an agreement whereby Italy will have complete sovereignty at Fiume. All provisions of the Pact of London will be carried out. The powers of Government at Fiume will be transferred to a deputy of General Badoglio, representing the Italian regular Army, which D'Annunzio's troops will rejoin, retaining their ranks and honours.

Pedrazzi declared that D'Annunzio has had all his demands guaranteed and considers his work done. General Caviglia, who arrived at Trieste on Sunday, has been sent by Badoglio to take command at Fiume as soon as the date of transfer is fixed. D'Annunzio will then issue a proclamation announcing the successful completion of his mission and pronouncing his valedictory address.

SCHOLASTIC ITEMS.

Bishop Welldon, speaking on recent student rags, denounced the stupidity of personal assaults and insults. He declared there is need for a public protest against such acts, which bring Great Britain into contempt.

The late Miss Caroline Stovin, of Connaught Square, who left £19,147, bequeathed £10,000 to Rugby School for Stovin Scholarships and Exhibitions.

The founder of Clark's College, the late Mr. George Clark, left £73,911.

Bishop Gore has joined the staff of King's College as Lecturer in Theology.

The Theological Hostel in Vincent Square has been reopened, after its war use as a clearing hospital for foreign service nurses. Owing to the long waiting list of students an appeal is made for £12,000 for extensions.

The first of the Class Lists of the Cambridge Special Examinations has just been issued. There was only one military candidate, G. C. Grand, of St. Catherine's, who obtained a second class Diploma in Forestry.

Mr. Godfrey Harold Hardy, F.R.S., Fellow and Mathematical Lecturer of Trinity College, Cambridge, has been elected Savilian professor of geometry at Oxford. The professorship had been suspended owing to the war.

COAL FOR THE CONTINENT.

The Director of the Colliery Investment Trust of London and Swansea has returned to London from Paris, where he completed the arrangements, interrupted by the American coal strike, for supplying the Continent with coal and coke. An agreement has been signed for the supply of 50,000,000 tons, half to Italy and half to France and Switzerland.

Shipments will commence in February.

BANK RAIDERS BEWARE.

The possibility of a recurrence of armed raids such as were attempted at Leeds and Wood Green is not being overlooked by bank officials. Cashiers were instructed some time since not to have piles of Bradburys on the counter. Certain banks have now decided to arm cashiers and Head Messengers with revolvers.

ANOTHER IRISH GRIEVANCE.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. T.P. O'Connor moved the adjournment of the House on a matter of urgency in order to call attention to the wholesale arrests in Ireland. He failed, however, to secure the requisite numerical support and the matter was therefore not debated.

SPAIN BUYING TANKS.

General Villaba, the new Spanish War Minister, is heading a Government Mission which is negotiating the purchase of large surplus war stocks. He praised our army administration and said he has arranged to purchase much medical equipment, lorries, field kitchens and possibly tanks.

SUMMARY COURT.

DRUNKEN STUDENT'S COSTLY INSULT.

Described as a student, Wilhelm Geyer, (26), of Deutz was charged with insulting a British officer in the Kalker-Haupstrasse.

The officer in question was going home with his wife on the night of December 6th. He noticed the accused struggling with a woman, who screamed. On going to her assistance the officer found that the man was in possession of her handbag, umbrella and fur. These he restored to her and advised Geyer to go home. Geyer retorted, "Now, I'll talk to you. The English are here. You have won the war, but you are not going to have your own way. I have been a German officer and don't care a damn for any English officer."

Geyer was handed over to an M.P., and on the way to the police station he kept shouting, "Damn the British swine-hound."

Accused asserted that he was drunk and remembered nothing. He called witnesses, including a German policeman and a woman who was in his company All declared that he was very drunk.

The Presiding Officer: "I accept your story that you were drunk and on that account I will not send you to prison. You will be fined 1,000 marks or a month."

AN ARMED BULLY.

Heinrich Hausmann, a violent character residing at 13 Waisenhausgasse was given three months in gaol for being in unlawful possession of a dagger. He had had the weapon since the Armistice, and has threatened the woman with whom he has co-habited.

THE OLDEST PROFESSION.

There were several charges against Helene Kehlenbach, a smartly attired young woman, who resides at 39 Moltkestrasse.

Alleged to be of a certain class, the accused was seen to accost officers and soldiers in the Hohestrasse. She took hold of a Sergeant by the arm and walked by his side, mentioning the sum of two hundred marks.

She resisted violently when taken into custody, and two German police had to assist the M.P. A British cheque book, several photographs and 2,450 marks were found in her possession, and her papers were not in order.

Accused was remanded in custody pending further enquiries.

RAILWAY OFFICIAL'S LESSON.

Two soldiers who were examining tickets at Cologne station remonstrated with a civilian for failing to salute an English officer. Heinrich Edel, of 31 Unter-Kahlenhausen, who occupies a responsible position at the station, interfered, and called one of the soldiers a "pig-dog."

When asked for his identity card he refused to hand it over, and, according to the evidence, was most insulting in his demeanour towards the soldiers.

In passing sentence of three weeks imprisonment the Presiding Officer said that the military police had a very delicate duty to perform, and the charge against accused was rendered all the more serious by the fact that he occupied such an important position.

OFFICER CONVICTED OF BIGAMY.

Pleading guilty at the Old Bailey to bigamy, John Robert Lamb, described as a captain in the Army Pay Corps, was sentenced by the Recorder to six months' imprisonment in the second division.

It was stated that Lamb was married to a Miss White in June, 1907, at Dalston and that they lived together until he went overseas in 1915. In June, 1917, he met Miss Winifred Hailes, who lived at Salisbury, and married her on September 24 last.

In the course of his own evidence prisoner admitted that in 1903 he married Miss Irene Norah Shetwood King at Liverpool, but he never lived with her, as they parted on their wedding day, and he had been told she was dead. A witness stated that he saw Miss King, who was a dancer, in London in June, 1910, but the jury were not satisfied that she was alive when Lamb married Miss White.

WOMEN'S FASHIONS CONDEMNED.

Father Bernard Vaughan, in a statement to a Press representative, declared that to-day's fashions in women's dress were "bizarre, distorted, and ridiculous." The want of clothes, he said, was savagely exposing girls to consumption and its kindred ailments, not by hundreds, but thousands. So he was assured by competent authority. "Our girls, who ought to live to a ripe old age, droop, drop, and die like flowers unfed by warmth and sunshine. Improperly fed and immodestly dressed, they defy all the laws of hygiene, and down they go.'

AUSTRIA TO PAWN ART TREASURES.

A Commission of French experts has gone to Vienna to co-operate with the British and Italian delegations with a view to selecting certain Habsburg art treasures as pledges for loans to Austria by the Allies.

The Dorpat conference has adjourned till the end of the month.

Max Nordau, the well-known German author, has arrived in London to co-operate in the Zionist movement.

BANK MURDER.

PRISONER COLLAPSES IN THE DOCK.

The alleged perpetrator of the Leeds Bank murder, Albert Redfern, an ex-officer of the Devonshire Regt., appeared at Leeds Police Court on Monday charged with causing the death of Edward Terence Oates. The prisoner had to be assisted into the dock, where he sat on a chair trembling violently in every limb.

While the police were describing how he drove the bank staff into a small lavatory, locked them in and then fired through the door, Redfern struggled up to his feet, feebly raised his hand, and shouted hoarsely "No." Then he immediately collapsed into a limp and inert mass on the floor of the dock.

Evidence was also given that he had secured passports for himself and a lady and had sent their luggage to the station. The sum of twenty-six pounds was found on him when he was arrested, and £374 was handed to the police by the lady. Before being taken to the Court, Redfern was identified by the bank staff and the taxi driver who drove him to the bank.

PERSIAN OIL.

HUGE GOVERNMENT SUBSIDY.

The Anglo-Persian Oil Company Acquisition of Capital Bill has passed the second reading in the House of Commons. It sanctions the issue of £2,050,000 from the Consolidated Fund for the acquisition of share or loan capital of the Company.

Replying to the debate, in the course of which the Company's acquisition of the Scottish Shale Company was criticised, Mr. Baldwin, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, said that the new money would be devoted principally to the laying of additional pipe lines in Persia, the completion of a refinery at Swansea, additional oil fuel bunkering accomodation, and to the building of tank steamers.

The shale industry in Scotland, he asserted, is in a parious condition and it is most unlikely that private companies could carry on the industry. The Anglo-Persian Company is anxious to secure the shale renneries at present unused, and hopes to carry on the industry in Scotland. No labour trouble is anticipated, as the company is prepared to pay the Sankey rate of wages.

YANKS WON THE WAR.

GENERAL PERSHING'S CLAIMS.

According to a Washington massage, General Pershing, in his final report on his work as Commander-in-Chief of the American Forces in Europe, declares that the United States won the war. He indicates how the American Army snatched victory from what seemed like defeat. Other points brought out were, firstly, that American troops were trained in France in such a way as to initiate in them the fixed idea that they must take the offensive in battle and not the defensive—"they must remain on the offensive until they have won," secondly that despite the insistence of the Allies that the American Forces should be regarded as reinforcements and merged with the Allied Forces, General Pershing held out for an independent army.

JAPAN AND SIBERIA.

From a Japanese source Reuter learns that notwithstanding the changes in the Russian situation Japan has no intention of withdrawing any troops from Siberia. She realises that the removal of her troops from the Siberian railway would mean that important and strategic lines of communication would fall into the hands of the Bolshevists. Although for geographical reasons Japan has special views concerning Siberia, she will adopt no line of action except after consultation with her Allies.

"AMBASSADOR'S" CONTEMPT OF COURT.

The self-styled "Soviet Ambassador" to the United States, the notorious Martens, who is giving evidence before the State Legislative Committee, has refused to produce his correspondence and other papers on the ground of diplomatic immunity. The Committee has accordingly ordered proceedings for contempt of court to be instituted against him in the State Supreme Court.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

The market opened confident on the political outlook, while the better exchange position had a further stimulating effect during the session. Business in Minings and Oils, notably Mexican Eagle, exhibited expansion but fresh new capital issues had a restraining influence on business in other directions. Home Railways were decidedly better on the prospects of a settlement of the wages question, and the markets closed strong. India and the Continent purchased the offerings of gold at 111s. 3d. Silver advanced to 78 7/8 on small advances. The Exchange on Paris was 40.25; New York 3.74; Switzerland 20.97; Amsterdam 9.87; Germany 183—185; Austria 620—640.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

FLIGHTS LTD.

MILITARY TAILORS

LONDON. WINCHESTER. ALDERSHOT.

Mr. A.J.R. Lee will be leaving Cologne on Thursday. Will return in January. Until Wednesday address—

KRONPRINZ HOTEL

(Behind The Excelsior Hotel)

where he will have his usual excellent selection of material, both for Mufti and Uniform, also a stock of Hosiery of the best quality.

LATE OF THE OFFICERS' CLUB No. 1.

—where Harvey's Hunting Port is stored. These ancient cellars, extending under many of the streets of Bristol and covering many acres of historic ground have a spaciousness and purity of atmosphere which combine to provide the ideal conditions in which a fine wine may mature and come to perfection.

HARVEY'S

"Hunting Port"

A fine old Tawny Port, always in brilliant condition and fit for immediate use. Supplied to Clubs and Messes in all parts of the world.

78/- per doz. f.o.b.

John Harvey & Sons, Ltd

Founded 1796. BRISTOL. ENGLAND.

Purveyors of Wines to H.M. KING GEORGE V.

ANOTHER NEW DEPARTMENT

The N.A.C.B. are now prepared to carry out all kinds of Laundry Work at rates below those charged by Civilian Laundries.

Price list can be obtained at the following N.A.C.B. establishments.

The Officers Shop
27 Obermarspforten.
64 Aachener Strasse.

British Officers Club Nr. 2.
Marricer Hostel.

The above addresses are also Receiving Stations.

N.A.C.B. Service

Winehouse Köhler

(formerly Carlton)
Grosse Sandkaul 24–26
behind "Coffeehouse Germania."
The most fashionable place in the city.
Small-Orchestra starting at 5.0 p.m.
For officers and civilians only.

WINEHOUSE PALME

Ehrenstraße corner Benesisstraße

First class wines

Diners—Suppers

DAILY CONCERT

ALBOSAN

makes your complexion smooth and white

ROSOGEN

turnes a pale complexion rosy and young
6 Marks each Box. To be have at all hair dressers and drug-stores.
AGENTS wanted for England and other foreign countries.
Manufactured by
Birkendahl & Brandenbergs
Fabrik chem. pharmaz. & Kosm. Präparate.
Cäcilienstrasse 18/22, Cologne.

Photo House HARTSTEIN

Margaretenkloster
(close to the Cathedral)

Cameras and all Articles for Amateur Photography

Developing and Copying

within 24 hours

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

TO-DAY

VI CORPS OFFICERS CLUB

GRAND ORCHESTRAL CONCERT

under the direction of

BERM. BLUM

Augmented Orchestra of 20 Performers

3.30—5.30

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.

Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc.,
Staff Instructor in attendance.

ARMY SKATING RINK.

NOW OPEN. This week, Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday other ranks and wives only 5.30 to 9.30.
Friday Officers and wives 3.30 to 10.0
Skates provided. Cloak Room Accommodation for spectators Mugs' Alley for Beginners. Commencing shortly, Teas and refreshments will be served on the Balcony.

I. MARCUS

& CO. Dept. C. 54a
HOUNDSDITCH
LONDON, E. 1

Wish to buy large quantities of all Clocks, Watches, Mouth Organs and Musical Instruments, Mechanical Toys, Dolls, Cutlery, Brooches etc.

We are also willing to act as Agents in England for all commodities required for the German market. Write direct and tell us what you have to offer and what you want to buy.

ZEISS-GLASSES

If you want

EYE GLASSES

come to

S. Goldfinger, G.m.b.H.

Hohestr. 88 Optician Hohestr. 88

We test your eyes in specially fitted rooms.

EXPORT. WHOLESALE

TOYS

J. COHN, Gablonz. Factory of toy novelties. Large variety of samples always on view BLIND, Cologne, Rotgerberbach 12, 3rd floor. If required, general agent will call on you.

Manufacturers of Embroidery

who supplied great quantities of embroidered goods, before the war, to England, America, Canada, etc., seek connection with good firm which will undertake the sale to these countries either on own account or as agents.
The firm undertaking this position must supply the unworked material, as it is unobtainable in Germany. The goods comprise Embroidered pocket-handkerchiefs; Tea napkins; Embroidered ladies underclothing; Cushions, with and without lace and of plain to good medium quality.
The manufactory is well filled with all kinds of machines, and is able to turn out large quantities at short notice. Offers are desired only from good firms who undertake to furnish the unworked material. Box A 430, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

Demann & Peters G.m.b.H.

chemical products
textiles and mine products
KÖLN-EHRENFELD, Ehrenfeldgürtel 81
wish to present foreign firms for bying and selling of all kinds of goods.
First rate German and foreign references.

POST STAMP COLLLCTION

for sale nearly 2000 stamps.
Price £10
Fudikar, Venloerstr. 7.
Tobacco and Cigarrettes

To sell ca 6000 kilos

FINE CARDBOARD

laying plain to be delivered immediately.
Offers under A439 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.

TO-NIGHT AND NIGHTLY
the
British Rhine Army Variety Company
in a Special Variety Entertainment.
ARTISTES:
Alfred Barker, Violinist
Miss Hilda Potts, Soprano
Mr. Chas S. Stairs, Humorist
Miss Inez Bensusan
Miss Frances Chisholm
Harold Walters, Baritone
Charles Gordon, Handbellringer
Bert Rex
Lt. J. Humphrey Hope
Pte. J. Terry, R.A.S.C.
A one-act Play by
STANLEY HOUGHTON
entitled
"THE DEAR DEPARTED"
will be produced.
Book at Amusement Office.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.

TO-NIGHT AND NIGHTLY
welcome Return Visit of
Mr. ALFRED HURLEY's London Variety Coy
"THE JESTERS"
ARTISTES.
Mr. JOE MORLEY.
(The celebrated Banjoist from the London Palladium)
Miss MABEL MARTIN.
Soprano.
Miss JESSIE MOUNTJOY.
Songs at the piano.
Mr. HARRY KING.
Comedian.
Mr. CHAS. LEWIS.
with "Joey".
BOOK AT AMUSEMENTS OFFICE.

No 1 Cinema is now closed.
No: 2 ARMY CINEMA.
(Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.
No: 3 ARMY CINEMA.
(Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB

CINEMA

Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post

Telephones: Military, No. 659. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Wednesday, December 17, 1919.

CREDIT.

Never before has credit meant so much to the world. On it the whole future of European civilization depends to-day. Millions and millions of people depend upon credit for their very existence; it is the keystone of the arch bridging the chasm between war and peace. The solution of the grave difficulties arising from the waste and redistribution of the world's wealth is like a nightmare, haunting statesmen of all countries.

As one of the results of the war, nations that were debtors have become creditors: the United States in particular is now enormously rich. There has been no catastrophe in history that has even approached this war in the violent changes it has made in the relative positions of many countries and in the destruction of capital wealth.

Those nations now at the top of the tree financially must naturally come to the aid of those now poor. Otherwise the whole fabric of international trade relations totters to the ground.

The exchanges are topsy turvy. The old laws of supply and demand in regard to money cannot be enforced to-day. If they continue much longer no one can foresee what disaster may overtake the world.

Credit can be the only instrument by which wealth accumulated in one place may in reality be used in another until gradually and by processes of commercial dealing the wealth of the world becomes again more naturally distributed.

It is therefore to America that everyone looks for a speedy way out of the general impasse, and from all accounts she is rising to the occasion. The States is beginning to extend large amounts of credit to the Allies and will have to do a great deal in this direction before the wheels of international trade can revolve at all normally.

It is a huge task and will require a large measure of confidence in human nature and in the ability of the peoples to work out their salvation when financial facilities have equalised to some extent the world's wealth.

CARE OF THE DISABLED.

While the unemployment of many thousands of physically fit demobilized officers and men gives rise to gravest consideration and calls for strong action, we must not forget the vast number of those even less favourably placed.

We refer to those who have survived the war, but bear ineffaceable traces of the part they played in their country's battles. Many are minus arms, legs, eyes or have made some other physical sacrifices for which no monetary remuneration in the shape of pensions can compensate.

In this class, too, is included a by no means negligible number of fellows, who as a result of the pernicious use of gas have developed tuberculosis.

Surely, it is such cases as these that have first claim upon the nation at the present time; it is a debt of honour, to ignore which would bring upon us everlasting shame. To be bodily strong and out of work is a severe penalty, but to be broken in body and unable to work is infinitely worse.

The artificial limb branch of the Pensions Ministry is, we are pleased to learn, doing all in its power to provide the best substitute that human brains have devised.

For those who have lost the greatest of all natural gifts — sight — it is beyond the human compass to provide a substitute, but, happily, even for the blind it is possible to do a great deal to relieve the mental torture which must result from the sacrifice of the gift of vision.

Ex-soldiers are taught to read by the Braille system and are trained in occupations in which it is possible to earn a living, despite their disability, and which has the effect of diverting their minds from the calamity they have suffered.

The greatest difficulty of all is presented by the tubercular man, for, whereas it may be possible to train him for a suitable outdoor profession, it is by no means easy to find him employment when he has been trained. Employers cannot be expected to engage a consumptive man, thereby placing their other employees in danger of infection.

Under these circumstances we submit that the £2 per week, the maximum — 100 per cent. — disability pension for the ex-Tommy, is totally inadequate to meet the case.

Whereas the sufferer has little hope of employment his ailment demands the most nourishing food it is possible to obtain; how far will £2 per week go in these days of exorbitant prices?

The ex-service men's organisations have realised, however, the need for exceptional treatment in such cases and are losing no time in laying the facts before the proper authorities.

LETTER TO CHARLES.

IMPRESSIONS OF A MERE CIVILIAN.

Dear Charles,—How is London looking? As gay and smutty as ever? I'm sure you'll be surprised to see where I am; yes I've reached the Promised Land at last—but as a humble civilian (you knew they'd demobbed me didn't you?)—no not a commercial, Charles—it's not as bad as that; I'm on an Inter-Allied Mission or something but I'll tell you about that later—no one's quite clear as to what we are yet.

The first thing you notice about Cologne is that the trams go the wrong way; now that may only seem a little thing at first sight, and of course if you've been out since Mons and got used to the Continent it's all right, but when you've been at home as long as I have it's damned dangerous.

Now in London I'm fairly expert; twice—no, three times have I successfully negotiated that tricky bit of Trafalgar Square—you know, Charles, the bit where you cross from Nelson's column down into Whitehall when you're in a hurry to visit Papa Cox; well as I was saying the trams go the wrong way here and all my "Safety First" habits are useless; and they keep so close to the pavement too. A friend of mine who's rather stout (about twenty stone in fact) derailed a tram the other day simply by standing on the curb; he didn't see it coming and wondered what had pushed him. But that's enough about trams, is'nt it?

I'm sure you'll want to hear something about our cathedral—or Dom we call it when we get familiar with it. Well thousands go round it, but few go inside it, and I am not yet one of the few; but it looks very nice from the outside; an opinion, by the bye, which seems to be fully shared by the natives, for you see it reproduced in every shape and form simply everything—everything, Charles, from ashtrays to.. to.. any and every kind of white elephant that the souvenir hunter can be persuaded to buy. And the Dom's twin spires are five hundred or five thousand something or other high; oh, I can't go into figures—Charles I'll have to send you a guide-book; anyway take my word for it it's the highest thing of its kind that ever was.

And that brings us to the natives doesn't it? And what almost outnumbers the natives the British Army, bless em. You know I thought that what with the terrific row that they have been kicking up at home anent economy and demobilisation, etc., there'd hardly be anyone left out here; but the place swarms with khaki still; of course they tell me the crush is nothing like what it used to be, and that the blaze of staff tabs no longer hurts the eyes but ..well.. where was I? Oh, yes the natives; well you know, Charles, the native is very Teutonic to look at—I suppose you knew that? Well, I didn't realise it quite so much as I do now; I thought our caricaturists at home were a little hard on him perhaps, but really...well you couldn't mistake him for anything else—funny tight overcoats, either very long or very short, with fur collar and above that the inevitable square head surmounted by a Homburg—and then the women, Charles, well whoever they may be one mustn't be rude about the fair (or is it the unfair?) sex, but, well, someone told me once that they grow on one in time.. but Heaven help me if I forsake my fair Phyllis for the blonde podginess of Germania.

And mentioning the fair Phyllis (bless her kissable little face) reminds me, Charles, that the wives are here in great force—I refer not to the good spouses of the O.R's but to that mysterious species the temporary officer's wife. They all wear armlets to distinguish them from.. well anyway to distinguish them, and they haunt the clubs in great droves and they induce in me one constantly recurring thought; can you guess what that is, Charles? Youre right.—Still, "still a happy bachelor!"

Yours ever, JOHN.

"DUFF."

An appetising odour of stew pervaded the cookhouse.

Bearing visible signs of his occupation, "Cooky" was busy over a miscellaneous assortment of dixies, his assistant hovering in the background with various packages from which he ever and anon added to the concoction in process of manufacture.

I usually looked in about eleven o'clock each morning, partly to pass on the latest gossip from the camp and round about, and partly to partake of a mug of steaming hot Sergeant Major's tea, which was very welcome between breakfast and dinner time.

All the latest from the Quartermaster's Stores and the barrack rooms I passed on for the edification of "Cooky" and his worthy assistant, keeping up a running fire of comment on things that had happened and were about to happen.

Thus does one obtain unlawful issues of tea in spare hours.

"Got any duff for dinner to-day, cooky?" I enquired hungrily.

Now how was I to know that I had touched a sore point with him?

I hardly expected the answer he gave me, which took the form of a tin of "bully" beef, aimed with some accuracy.

I ducked just in time, and made a hurried exit from the scene of the outrage.

For some days "Cooky" treated me with icy reserve. I endeavoured in vain to fathom the cause of his sudden change of front.

My odd moment mugs of tea were greatly missed, and I quite failed to appreciate where I had been guilty of a want of tact.

Determined to find out the cause I waylaid his assistant.

"Didn't you hear about it?" he said.

I politely informed him I had not heard of the mysterious it.

"Well, p'raps it was before you came to the Battery," he continued.

"He made a duff one day, and next morain' half the Battery went sick."

A close acquaintance with Cooky's culinary efforts had given me no doubt at all as to his ability to accomplish such a feat; indeed, I would not have been surprised to have seen the statistics of the number of victims he had sent to an early grave, but with the exercise of a little tact I had managed to show some appreciation at even his worst efforts.

I pursued the matter further and enquired the cause of such a calamity.

"Well," continued Cooky's assistant, "I don't know for sure, but what I can make out of it, he put dubbin in it in mistake for lard."

Cooky and I are pals again, but needless to say, even though the festive season is fast approaching, I never mention pudding to him.

I have a shrewd idea that the disaster was caused by his assistant, in an endeavour to usurp Cooky's superior position.

"HAWKEYE."

BARRACK ROOM DIALOGUES.

II.—GRAND OPERA.

"Grand Opira . . . . grandmothers" said Konky scornfully, "its all swank. Look at Archibald . . . . 'e goes and learns one or two jawbreakers and then comes 'ere torkin about Vahgner an' Showpan . . . show off, more life." "I'm inclined to agree with you Konky," said Fatty. "But music lovers are not all Archibalds."

"'E was telling old Buggins larst night about Charlie Choppin's knock turn in E flat or sometning . . . wot yer smiling at?"

"I'm sorry," said Fatty.

"I say, Fatty, what is a knock turn?

"Nocturn means night."

"What, one o'them chaps in armour?"

"No, no . . . . night, evening."

"Well I never 'eard about it afore. I've 'eard of a comic turn an' a nacrobatic turn, but never a knock turn . . . sounds like boxing."

"O Konky, you are an ignoramus."

"I can knock spots off you in some things tho'. But I say, Fatty, what do you think about this 'ere grand opira?

"How do you mean?"

"Well, I tainks its all a lot o' rot. Frinstance, when one bloke meets another bloke an' says, 'How d'yer do?' what call 'as 'e got to sing it for five minutes?"

"O well, it all depends on how it's sung. A lady might sing 'No' for ten minutes and make a very delightful negative of it."

"What d'yer mean, negative? I ain't torkin about photogrify."

"You're hopeless," said Fatty. "I thought you liked a bit of music."

"O ah, I likes a catchy bit what a chap can whistle, an' mark yer I'm not sayin' there aint a catchy bit 'ere an' there in this 'ere grand opira. There was a catchy bit in that there "Tanhorser" but when I starts to whistle, a bloke in front o' me turned round an' looks at me as if I'd pinched 'is rations."

"There you are, Konky," said Fatty, "you have a taste for music, but it needs cultivating. You see, these catchy bits that you want to whistle to, and tap your toes in time with, they appeal to your sense of gaiety or they suggest the rhythmic movement of dancing; but a composer can express all sorts of thoughts and emotions with his music. You see Konky, music is a language." . . . .

"A language?" asked Konky incredulously.

"Yes, the best of all languages, and a universal language too, thank goodness." . . . .

"Ere, arf a mo' . . . you can't pull my leg like that. I knows what a universal language is."

"Well, what do you think it is?"

"Why, it's this 'ere Hespiranto," said Konky.

C. W. J.

WAR CHRISTMASES.

We offered prizes recently for the best description of a Christmas spent in the war—One of fifty marks for short narratives of each Christmas—1914, 1915, 1916, and 1917. The number of contributions sent in was not large but the judges have selected one for each year and these will appear in our forthcoming souvenir number. The following successful competitors each receive a prize of 50 marks.

Christmas 1914. Sergt. J. C. Prichard No. 25 General Hospital. Rhine Army.

Christmas 1915. Sergt. H. Warner, c/o D.V.S. G.H.Q. Rhine Army.

Christmas 1916. Bdr. A. F. Bacon H.Q. Rhine Garrison. "G." Rhine Army.

Christmas 1917. Cpl. C. R. Sensier, R.G.A. c/o I.Q.M.G.S. G.H.Q. Rhine Army.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

Our Readers' Varied Views.

THE SUPPLY OF COAL.

Sir,—Can any other rank, who has his wife here, tell me where to get coal to keep his room warm and do the cooking?

It is impossible to obtain this precious mineral from a German dealer without a ration card.

Could not the authorities issue some instructions whereby an English soldier and his wife could on payment obtain at least the same ration as the German people, instead of having to "scrounge"?

H.A.W.

SILLY FILMS—THE TRADE'S VIEW.

Sir,—I have read "Box Office's" letter and I would like to give the Trade's view on the matter.

When the manager of a cinema books his films the one thought uppermost in his mind is "Will it draw?"

He cannot possibly study any individual member of his audience, but I am sure if "Box Office" spoke to the manager of his favourite cinema, and booked every seat in the hall for three nights the manager I know would be only too glad to book any film "Box Office" cared to choose.

So will "Box Office" remember next time he is "tempted to grab his hat and run" that he is only one insignificant member of the audience and the manager is not dependant on his ninepence for a living?

CINEMA MANAGER.

DEBATES FOR TROOPS.

Sir,—There is a splendid opportunity at the B.E.L.C. of acquiring the art of public speaking. Various topics are discussed and everybody without exception is accorded a chance of not only speaking, but openly and formally opposing motions for discussion.

The chairman is a master of the rule of debate. Furthermore, every encouragement is given to interested men, who, whilst wishing to speak, are perhaps diffident.

One or two recent gatherings have been poorly attended, and as this was doubtless due to this attraction of the Leave Club not being sufficiently known, an appeal is made to all who possibly can to attend on Friday at 6.30 p.m. and so promote the success of a most desirable and elevating feature of the Club.

Next Friday night the subject of an alliance between Great Britain and America will be discussed, and I trust that men will attend, speak and vote.

SPEAKER.

LAUNDRY ARISTOCRATS.

Sir,—I should be much obliged to "Crusty" if he would kindly supply the information he so kindly offers in his letter of to-day.

I have tried four different laundries in the town, and like "Wife" either get my garments back in a terrible condition or else do not get them back at all.

Although we are in a foreign country we English girls like to go about looking nice and not smelling of nasty horrid German soap and soda.

I think it would be very nice if an English laundry was started just for English people residing in Cologne.

For my own part, I am sick of having to wear torn, and bad-smelling garments day after day.

PHYLLIS.

RHINELAND AUDIENCES.

Sir,—I have read with much interest your article "Rhineland Audiences," summing up, as it does, the varied views ventilated in the "Letter Box" during recent weeks and avail myself of the invitation to send serious opinions.

It certainly seems that the scholarly soldiers are now in the minority, and, therefore, entitled to less consideration. To consider the filling of places of amusement of primary importance jars upon one, even if a high standard is maintained.

A good percentage of instructive plays should, I think, be shewn to cater for "scholarly" ones not yet demobbed, and to keep the minds of the newer troops on the upward path. Stagnation is retrogression.

To be one of an appreciative audience attending an instructive play, if only half filling the theatre, is preferable to being swallowed up in a packed place, where a "level" play is on.

Careful speculation is better than rash, although the latter is sometimes more profitable.

SCHOLARLY.

A BAD HABIT.

Sir,—"Cupid" has struck the right note. Swearing is a bad habit and one which should be checked. I admit, myself, that at times strong forcible language is excusable, but a man with a will, can, and must keep a control over both his temper and his tongue.

Like "Cupid" I am willing to admit that at times, I use strong language, but it is always justifiable, and what is more, it is merely strong language (that is bad enough) and not obscene.

It makes me sick to hear men using this language in the public streets and public places and I am glad to see that some one else is man enough to make a complaint against it.

I should imagine "Cupid" to be one of those mild-tempered men who never turns a hair but smiles optimistically to himself whenever he is called by such epithets as "Pussyfoot".

I trust "Cupid" will keep a stout heart and a stiff upper lip and not fall to the temptation of replying in tones that will cause delight to his tormenters.

ATHENE.

GOOD NIGHT.

When the bright lamp is carried in,
The sunless hours again begin,
O'er all without in field and lane,
The haunted night returns again.

Now we behold the embers flee
About the firelit hearth; and see
Our faces painted as we pass
Like pictures on the window-glass.

Must we to bed, indeed? Well, then,
Let us arise and go like men,
And face with an undaunted tread,
The long black passage up to bed.

Farewell, O brother, sister, sire!
Oh, pleasant party round the fire!
The songs you sing, the tales you tell,
Till for to-morrow, fare ye well!

ROBERT L. STEVENSON.

HOW THEY STAND.

Sunderland's Consistent Form threatens Leaders.

WATFORD'S CHALLENGE.

Sunderland are now third in the First Division and neither the "Throstles" or Burnley can afford to be careless. The Wearsiders are now a place above their neighbours, Newcastle, and have a game in hand. At the other end of the table Aston and Blackburn Rovers climbed again, due to their last Saturday's performances. Both teams seem bound for safe waters. The three bottom clubs show no change in position and Preston alone gained a point.

SECOND LEAGUE.

The four leaders remain unchanged, but Huddersfield, now fifth, are making a bold bid for a higher rung. The collapse of Hull City and Blackpool opens up a rare battle for positions. Clapton climbed two points and if only Coventry can find their feet there will be a desperate struggle among the clubs at the foot of the table.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

The seven leading teams still hold their places, and Watford's rise is exciting the Southern Leaguers. Three points behind Portsmouth and a game in hand makes the "Pompey's" position none too secure. Newport displaced Northampton and are making a great effort to escape from the danger zone.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE.

Rangers and Celtic still lead and Dundee occupy third place. Motherwell drop two places and Dumbarton mount one.

The five bottom clubs show no change.

The League.—Division I.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
West Bromwich Albion	18	13	0	5	50	25	26
Burnley	19	11	3	5	30	26	25
Sunderland	18	11	2	5	34	22	24
Newcastle United	19	10	4	5	26	17	24
Chelsea	18	9	3	6	28	19	21
Bolton Wanderers	19	7	5	7	33	30	19
Middlesbrough	19	7	5	7	24	29	19
Manchester United	17	6	6	5	28	21	18
Everton	18	7	4	7	38	34	18
Manchester City	18	7	4	7	42	38	18
Sheffield United	19	7	4	8	32	33	18
The Arsenal	18	5	8	5	28	29	18
Bradford	18	7	3	8	31	29	17
Bradford City	19	6	5	8	31	35	17
Aston Villa	18	8	1	9	31	35	17
Blackburn Rovers	19	6	5	8	26	35	17
Derby County	19	5	7	7	20	26	17
Liverpool	18	7	2	9	23	26	16
Notts County	18	5	6	7	27	38	16
Preston North End	18	6	3	9	28	43	15
Oldham Athletic	17	5	2	10	23	27	12
Sheffield Wednesday	18	3	4	11	13	29	10

The League.—Division II.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
Tottenham Hotspur	18	15	2	1	55	13	32
Birmingham	18	12	3	3	37	16	27
Blackpool	19	11	3	5	38	21	25
Hull City	19	11	2	6	40	28	24
Huddersfield Town	18	10	3	5	35	15	23
Stoke	18	11	1	6	30	21	23
Bristol City	18	8	6	4	24	17	22
West Ham United	18	9	4	5	19	19	22
Stockport County	18	8	5	5	30	19	21
Fulham	19	8	4	7	26	25	20
Barnsley	18	8	3	7	37	21	19
Bury	18	8	3	7	23	23	19
Coventry	18	7	4	7	27	23	18
South Shields	18	7	4	7	16	19	18
Rotherham County	19	6	3	10	19	35	15
Nottingham Forest	19	4	6	9	18	30	14
Clapton Orient	19	6	1	12	20	31	13
Wolverhampton Wand.	18	4	4	10	21	32	12
Leicester City	18	3	3	10	13	34	11
Grimsby Town	18	4	2	12	14	36	10
Lincoln City	18	3	4	11	15	47	10
Coventry City	18	0	4	14	4	39	4

Southern League.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
Portsmouth	20	13	4	3	40	14	30
Watford	19	12	3	4	31	15	27
Reading	20	8	9	3	26	18	25
Queen's Park Rangers	19	10	4	5	31	19	24
Crystal Palace	18	8	7	3	30	17	23
Cardiff City	18	7	8	3	31	20	22
Brentford	19	7	7	5	22	20	21
Plymouth Argyle	19	7	6	6	23	14	20
Norwich City	17	8	4	5	33	23	20
Swindon	19	8	4	7	32	30	20
Swansea Town	20	6	7	7	22	21	19
Exeter City	18	6	7	5	20	12	19
Millwall	19	7	4	8	28	30	18
Merthyr Town	20	5	7	8	24	29	17
Southend United	18	6	5	5	23	26	16
Bristol Rovers	18	5	6	7	22	33	16
Southampton	20	6	4	10	27	36	16
Luton	18	5	4	9	21	32	14
Brighton & Hove A.	20	4	5	11	18	28	13
Newport County	19	5	3	11	16	34	13
Northampton	19	3	6	10	32	48	12
Gillingham	19	3	3	13	9	41	9

Scottish League.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
Glasgow Rangers	20	16	3	1	59	9	35
Celtic	18	13	4	1	40	15	30
Dundee	20	10	4	6	41	27	24
Ayr United	21	10	4	7	46	32	24
Motherwell	20	9	6	5	33	30	24
Heart of Midlothian	20	10	3	7	34	27	23
Hibernians	20	10	2	8	38	39	22
Airdrieonians	20	7	7	6	24	18	21
Aberdeen	20	7	6	7	25	26	20
Dumbarton	20	6	8	6	30	33	20
Greenock Morton	19	8	3	8	28	17	19
Queen's Park	21	7	5	9	33	37	19
Partick Thistle	18	7	4	7	26	29	18
Clydebank	18	7	3	8	32	29	17
Third Lanark	19	5	7	7	24	33	17
St. Mirren	21	6	5	10	30	43	17
Kilmarnock	21	7	3	11	25	47	17
Falkirk	22	5	6	11	24	42	16
Raith Rovers	22	5	5	12	44	56	15
Clyde	21	5	5	11	29	40	15
Albion Rovers	19	6	3	10	20	33	15
Hamilton Academicals	20	5	2	13	28	48	12

London Combination.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
West Ham	14	9	3	2	25	13	21
Chelsea	16	8	3	5	25	22	19
Tottenham	13	7	3	3	37	14	17
Arsenal	14	7	3	4	29	18	17
Clapton Orient	18	7	2	9	37	41	16
Fulham	15	6	3	6	22	23	15
Queen's Park Rangers	17	3	7	7	17	27	13
Crystal Palace	14	5	2	7	19	24	12
Millwall	13	6	0	7	17	23	12
Brentford	14	2	2	10	20	33	6

FOOTBALL RESULTS.

Association.

Tottenham Hotspur 4. Corinthians 1.

Rugby.

Edinburgh Acad. 12 pts. Oxford Un. 14.

BILLIARDS.

Closing scores on Monday in the fourth heat of the Victory tournament at Burroughes Hall, London, are appended:

Reece (rec. 1500) ..... 2258.
Inman ..... 1286.

WE WANT YOUR EFFORT.

Coupons Rolling In For Christmas Football Contest.

RISK OF DELAY.

The large portion of our mail bag, taken up by entries for No. 13 Football Competition, in connection with which we have made a special Christmas offer, shows that the risk of delay has been realised by a large number of competitors.

For the benefit of those who are not yet acquainted with the conditions of our offer, we repeat that we are adding the sum of 500 marks to the amount subscribed for this contest, the result of which will be published in our issue on Christmas day.

The addition must be won by a single competitor and, in the event of a tie in the forecasts, will be awarded to the competitor whose coupon was first received at this office.

All the evidence to date points to No. 13 being a record, and there is little doubt but that the gross total will be a very substantial sum.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 13,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S.40 Rhine Army.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 13.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 20th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 19th.

Arsenal	v. Sheffield Wed.
Everton	v. Liverpool
Manchester U.	v. Newcastle
Wolves	v. Hull City
Bradford City	v. Notts County
Barnsley	v. Tottenham
Bristol City	v. Blackpool
Aston Villa	v. Oldham
Swindon	v. Palace
Kilmarnock	v. Partick

I enter Football Competition No. 13 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(in block letters.)
Rank and No. .....
Unit .....
Full Address .....

DERBY RACES.

Favourites to the Fore at Opening Day.

The opening day of the Derby meeting attracted a moderate attendance. The weather was fine, but dull, and the going was good.

RESULTS.

Duffield Selling Hurdle Race:—1, Chubb (100-7); 2, Wingmah (7-4); 3, Gamelyn (3-1). Thirteen ran.

Derwent Handicap Steeplechase:—Warbine (6-4 on) beat Johnson. Two ran.

Byrkley Handicap Hurdle Race:—1, Doublet (11-4 on); 2, Appleton (4-1); 3, Topsy's Baby (100-8). Four ran.

Derbyshire Steeplechase Plate:—1, Coper Hill (13-8); 2, Prince Clifton (2-1); 3, Jeffries (100-7). Six ran.

Three Year Old Hurdle Race:—1, Fiurious (6-1 on); 2, Brown Queen (100-7); 3, Dark Magic (20-1). Eight ran.

Elveston Steeplechase Plate:—1, Jimmy Rafter (5-1); 2, Great Krime (9-2); Only two horses finished. Five ran.

CROSS COUNTRY RUNNING.

Cambridge Defeat the Dark Blues at Roehampton.

At Roehampton, over a seven-mile course, Cambridge beat Oxford by 22 points to 33. Placings were:

1, E. A. Montegue (Rugby and Magdalen) Oxford. Time 42 minutes 30 seconds.

2, A. C. Telfer (King's School Canterbury and Selwyn) Cambridge. Time 42 minutes 42 seconds.

3, G. E. Ingle (Felstead and Jesus) Cambridge. Time 43 minutes 4 seconds.

RESULTS FROM 1905.

(Roehampton Course).

	Pts.		Pts.
1905 Cambridge	23	1910 Oxford	15
1906 Cambridge	27	1911 Oxford	16
1907 Cambridge	27	1912 Oxford	24
1908 Oxford	22	1913 Cambridge	23
1909 Oxford	20

GRAND STEEPLECHASE DE PARIS.

The value of the Grand Steeplechase de Paris of 1920 has been increased from £4,000 to £6,000, and the Auteuil Hurdle Race from £2,000 to £3,000, as in pre-war days. The weights have been revised; in each instance four-year-olds will carry 9st 7lb, five year-olds 10st 6lb, six-year-olds and upwards 10st 8lb. In the steeplechase previous winners of that event or of a Grand National will carry 10lb extra. In the hurdle race, winners of a Grand Steeplechase, Grand Hurdle Race, or a Grand National will carry 6lb extra. Entries for these two events are due on Tuesday, Jan. 27.

BRISTOL ROVERS' CUP-TIE.

Bristol Rovers, having failed to induce Northampton with a guarantee of £500 to transfer next Saturday's Cup-tie to Bristol, have decided to play the same team at Northampton as opposed Southampton, save, of course, that Mansfield, who broke his shoulder-bone on Saturday, will make way for another. The unfortunate thing for the Rovers is that Whatley, the reserve goalkeeper, has already committed himself in a Cup-tie this season, and at the moment the Rovers have no goalkeeper available for the Cup match.

FUSILIERS WIN.

52nd North. Fus. defeat No. 1 Concentration Camp.

A KEEN TUSSLE.

These teams met on the Volksgarten, on Sunday, under bad conditions. Notwithstanding the fact that the ground was only half-size and in a greasy condition the game was fast and the N.F.'s showed up well in all departments. They were one man short.

Soon after the kick-off the Fusiliers invaded the homesters' territory in fine style, and after some good work by their forwards, succeded, through Cpl. Buckley, in scoring the first goal.

The camp retaliated vigorously and gave their opponents a warm time but nothing resulted. Later the N.F.'s were penalised for handling just outside the penalty area, but their custodian was equal to the occasion, saving a fine shot.

The Camp eventually equalised through Stevens, and there was no further score till half time, though the Northumberlands were a constant danger.

On resumption the Fusiliers immediately took up the offensive and C.Q.M.S. Kirkham netted their second goal. Later a third goal by the N.F.'s was disallowed. The Fusiliers continued to have the best of matters and deservedly won a hard-fought game by 3 goals to 1.

CAN TANCY LEE ATONE?

Another European Championship on Friday.

It is to be hoped that British boxing will not sustain another shock on Friday in Paris, when Tancy Lee, the Lonsdale Belt holder and Feather-Weight Champion of Great Britain, encounters Louis De Pontnieu, France's premier 9st. boxer, for the European title; but we cannot be very optimistic about the 38-year-old Scot's chance of adding to his laurels at the expense of the French champion, who is his junior by 11 years, and at the age when a boxer usually accomplishes the best performances of his career.

De Pontnieu's record is not perhaps a great one, but it extends over 11 years, one of which was spent in America, where he had 16 contests, meeting, among others, Billy Marchant, the Saltore feather-weight, Battling Nelson, ex-champion light-weight of the world, Matty Baldwin, and Johnny Griffiths, who is in England now and fixed up to meet De Pontnieu's countryman, Francis Charles, at the Albert Hall on Boxing Night.

From this it will be seen that Lee, at his advanced age, is going against a fairly experienced customer, and while Tancy may reproduce some of his old form it seems too much to look forward to him coming through victoriously.

FRENCH TRIBUTE.

Paris Opinion of Ledoux-Ross Battle.

We publish below comments from Paris on the Ledoux-Ross fight:—

Ledoux won, as all France expected him to do, but Ross gave our champion a terrific battle. In fact, it was one of the hardest of Ledoux's career, and but for a severely damaged left eye Ross would possibly not have left the French boy in possession of the field at the end of the twelfth round.

It was great to see these little bull-terriers fighting, fighting—always fighting. Ross was put down in the fourth round, but he came back and fought and boxed with the greatest determination and dash, and continued so to do although he was down again in the fifth and eleventh rounds—four times in all up to that point—from terrific left hooks.

In spite of his knock downs Ross was very often the aggressor, and what is more, actually held the upper hand in some cases when the battle was particularly fierce. But superior strength and stamina and hitting power were on the side of Ledoux, and bringing them all to bear on the little Britisher the Frenchman gained the upper hand.

LEAVE CLUB CHESS TOURNEY.

The result of recent championship games in the British Empire Leave Club Chess Tournament was as follows:—

C.S.M. Graham	2	Sergt. Taylor	1
L/Cpl. Whyte	2	Gunner Stanley	0

The approximate positions are:—

1. Sergt. Yates.
2. „ Kemplin.
3. L/Cpl. Howes.
4. C.S.M. Graham.
5. Sergt. Taylor.
6. Pte. Wooster.
7. Cpl. Jordon.
8. L/Cpl. Whyte.
9. Gunner Stanley.
10. Pte. Hartley.
11. Sergt. Fry.
12. „ Keight.
13. Gunner Peck.
14. Pte. Scully.
15. Sergt. Rogers.
16. Pte. Harrow.
17. Sergt. Lloyd.
18. L/Cpl. Raymond.
19. Pte. Duncan.
20. L Cpl. Harrison.
21. S. Sgt. Hollowell.
22. Driver Shaw.
23. Pte. Stones.
24. „ Drewett.
25. „ Hudson.
26. Driver Rubinstone
27. Pte. Luer.
28. M.S.S. Box.
29. L/Cpl. Sers.
30. Pte. Gilmore.
31. „ Sharples.
32. Sergt. Lea.
33. „ Bott.
34. Pte. Ovington.
35. „ Bacon.

THE ARMY CUP.

Ex-Rhinelanders in Second Round Ties.

RESULTS AND TEAMS.

Considerable interest was taken in the second round ties in connection with the Army Cup which were played during the week end in England. The teams competing included several units recently home from the Army of Occupation. Rather a curious point in connection with the match between the 13th Hussars and the 17th Lancers was that the score was identical with that in a struggle in France in 1914. The results and teams are appended:—

13th HUSSARS 5; 19th LANCERS 1

17th Lancers:—S. M. Simpson; Cpl. Felling, Sgt. Shinstone; S.S. Batterbee, Pte. Harman, Tptr. Edwards; Tptr. Broadley, Pte. Innes, Cpl. King, Pte. Stevens, Cpl. Wakefield.

13th Hussars:—Cpl. Noakes; S. M. Wheeler, Sgt. Guttrell; Cpl. Pringle, S.M. Tassey, Pte. Hewitt; Pte. Barnes, Pte. Simms, Sgt. Page, Pte. Bell, Pte. Munroe.

Referee, Col. Impey, R. Sussex Regt.

1st MANCHESTER REGT. 3; 1st H.L.I. 0

Manchesters:—Pte. Thompson; L/Cpl. Strathdee, C.S.M. Cookson; Capt. Nurson, Cpl. Slack, Sgt. Smith; Sgt. Bousfield, Cpl. Worcester, Sgt. Newman, Sgt. Worcester, Pte. Davidson.

H.L.I.—Pte. Lees, Pte. Cameron, Cpl. Black; Cpl. Dent, Pte. Lannigan, Sgt. Donald; Piper Millen, Pte. Gray, Pte. Fotheringham, Cpl. White, Cpl. Brown.

MILITARY POLICE.... 2 THE QUEENS.... 1

Military Police:—L/Cpl. Balfour; Cpl. Rice, L/Cpl. Johnson; L/Cpls. Beck, Bucke, Carlton; L/Cpls. Halliday, Mitchell, Lane, Steward, Forsyth.

1st The Queen's Regt.:—Pte. Worms; Sgt. Mauditt, Cpl. Jude; L/Cpl. Hill, Lieut. Fairbrother, Pte. Hills; Cpl. Batchelor, Pte. Woodward, Pte. Whittle, Cpl. Banks, Pte. Lovatt.

Referee, Sgt. Goodwin, R.E.

1st KING'S OWN 3. 1st WILTS 2

1st Wilts:—Sgt. Morgan; Baish, Sgt. Giles; Sgt. Russell, Fortune, Sgt. Jeffries; Marsh, Q.M.S. Wilkins, Sgt. Foreman, Haines, Sgt. Gerrault.

1st King's Own:—Farrington; Cpl. Burgess, Fell; Millings, Capstick, Quinn; Baker, Sgt. Rickwood, Bowyer, Gilham, Crain.

Referee, Lieut. Guggenheim, Tank Corps.

NORTH STAFFORDS.... 5 WORCESTER REGT.... 1

Worcesters:—Capt. Lawrence; Davidson, Edwards; Brindley, Exton, Petrie; Fleckney, Baker, Evans, Giles, Pearce.

North Staffords:—Hand; Bell, Shelley; Reeves, Burrage, Lieut. Grady; Buckley, Dennis, Ashdown, Gallagher, Barrett.

Referee: Lieut. Grant (Cameronians).

GORDON HIGHLANDERS.... 3 WELSH FUSILIERS.... 1

RHINE GARRISON LEAGUE.

Matches for Decision on Saturday next.

The second games to be played on Saturday next in connection with the Rhine Garrison League are as follows:—

Teams.	Ground.
Camp Commandant v. 121st Heavy Battery R.G.A.	Golf Links Marienburg.
Rhine Garrison B.A.O. v. 187th Brigade, R.F.A.	Westhoven.
41st Bn. M.G.C. v. 140th Field Ambulance.	Amsterdamer Strasse.
51st Bn. Northumberland Fusiliers v 6th Inniskilling Dragoons.	Lindenthal, Volks Garten.
52nd Bn. Rifle Brigade v. 231st Field Coy.	52nd Bn. Rifle Brigade.
23rd Bn. Royal Fusiliers v. 51st Bn. Rifle Brigade.	41st Bn. M.G.C. Ground.
Rhine Garrison M.T. Coy. v. 11th Bn. "Queens" R.W.S. Regt.	Blucher Park.
142nd Field Ambulance v. Rhine Garrison Train.	Poller Wiesen Ground.
19th Bn. Middlesex Regt. v. 52nd Bn. Northumberland Fusiliers.	Klettenberg, Luxembourg Strasse.

AMATEUR BILLIARDS.

Up to noon on Saturday 22 entries for the Amateur Championship of England, due to commence at Orme's Hall, Soho-square, on Monday, January 5, had been received at the headquarters of the Billiards Association and Control Club. The entry list however, did not close until midnight on Saturday, and the figures of 22 may be augmented when the official list is issued. Amongst the entries are those of four past champions in Major H. L. Fleming and Messrs. Sidney Fry, J. Graham Symes, and S. S. Christey, but such well-known names as those of Messrs H. C. Virr, A. Croneen, G. A. Heginbottom, and W. B. Marshall are not included in the 22.

N.S.C. BOXING.

In a 15-round bantam weight match at the National Sporting Club, on Monday, Harold Jones, of Ferndale, easily outpointed Jack Doyle, of Salford.

Christmas Numbers come and Christmas Numbers go but there has not been an Army of Occupation Souvenir before. Apart from its value as a literary and artistic production, the fact that it is unique from an historical point of view will make it much sought after by those at home. The price of is 7 Marks or Ninepence, Post free to United Kingdom One Shilling. Units ordering more than 50 Copies obtain 10% discount.

The Cologne Post Xmas Souvenir Number

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

Rhine Army Variety Company.

Unfortunately the British Rhine Army Variety Company did not make its bow to the world under such happy auspices as its parent organisation, the Dramatic Company. It is difficult to account for the very meagre attendance at the Deutsches theatre on Monday evening unless it is that the majority of the artists are old friends in Rhineland, opportunities to witness whose performances have been frequent. The initial effort of the new company sparkled at times but taking the performance as a whole there was something lacking. For instance, the curtain did not rise until half an hour (or thereabouts) after the advertised time. Then the proceedings opened with a cinema picture in ghastly silence, notwithstanding the presence of an excellent little orchestra whose accompaniment would have brightened things considerably.

* * *

Another unfortunate little hitch was the conclusion to a concerted item in which Miss Hilda Potts, Charles S. Stairs and Cpl. Ellis were involved. The turn was a bright and enjoyable one, but bad rehearsal must have been responsible for the looseness of the exit of the two male members of the trio when Miss Potts still remained seated on the stage.

The chief item on the programme was Stanley Houghton's one-act play, "The Dear Departed," produced by Lieut. S. E. Percy. The characters were taken by Miss Inez Bensusan, Miss Francis Chisholm, Miss Hilda Potts, Pte. J. Terry, Bert Rex and Lieut. Humphrey Hope, all of whom acted extremely well.

Other contributors to the programme were Alfred Barker, who played the violin with customary skill, and Charles Gordon, hand-bell ringer and Harold Walters, entertainer.

There should be plenty of talent available to make the new venture a big success, but it must be realised that good stage management is of vast importance in submitting a music hall programme.

20 M.A.C. Dance.

The 20th M.A.C. held their fortnightly dance on Friday night last in the Locaner Strasse School. About 60 guests were present. The G.H.Q. Jazz Band was in attendance and rendered excellent music under the conductorship of Sgt. Hallmark. Light refreshments were provided at 10 p.m. and a very enjoyable evening was brought to a close at 12 p.m. C.S.M. Howell, M.M. and Q.M.S. Bowden, R.A.M.C. carried out the duties of M.C.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Wed.	The Taming of the Shrew	Goetz	7	10.15
Thurs.	Rigolatto	Verdi	7	9.30
Fri.	The Women wit out Shadow	Strauss	6	10.15
Sat.	Tosca	Puccini	7	9.45
Sun.	Faust	Gounod	6	10
Mon.	Ein Maskenball	Verdi	7	10
Tues.	Hansel und Gretel	Humperdinck	6	8

"The Jesters."

"The Jesters" received a splendid reception on Monday when they returned once more for another week's engagement at the Palace Theatre. The members of Mr. Alfred Hurley's popular combination of talent have made many friends in Rhineland since they arrived a few months ago, not only on account of their ability as entertainers, but also by reason of their personal charm of manner. All the old favourities are still together and they include Mr. Joe Morley, the celebrated banjoist; Miss Mable Martin, soprano, Miss Jessie Mountjoy, songs at the piano; Mr. Harry King, comedian, and Mr. Chas. Lewis, ventriloquist.

Forthcoming Events.

This evening, commencing at 5 o'clock, there will be the usual impromptu concert at the Leave Club, Cologne; this will be followed by German classes from 6—7 and 7—8. At 5.30 there will be a dance. On Thursday an impromptu concert at 5 o'clock will be followed at 6.30 by a whist drive and a chess tournament, a dancing class and a dance. On Friday a debate, German classes, and a cinema performance are announced, while on Saturday there is to be an impromptu concert, German classes and at 6.30 a dance.

British Empire Leave Club.

I hear that the lighting and decorations at the British Empire Leave Club during Xmas week will be really worth seeing. Those who are lucky enough to get tickets for the Officers' New Year's Eve Fancy Dress Dance, to be held at the Club on Wednesday 31st December, will have the pleasure of seeing them. Those requiring tickets are asked to apply early direct to the Leave Club.

JACQUES.

A WRESTLING MASTER.

Yukio Tani, the Jap, again in London.

The famous Japanese wrestler, Yukio Tani, has opened another campaign in Great Britain, where he has started a five weeks' engagement in the minor hall at Olympia during the great Victory Circus.

Tani is not only a great ju-jitsu wrestler, but he is master of the catch-as-catch-can style, and although it is more than fifteen years since he won the light-weight championship match by beating the redoubtable Jimmy Mellor of Stalybridge, he has not been defeated in the Lancashire style. True, he has had but few matches, but he is hoping for one or two; possibly Tom Rose, of Bolton, may come along.

In ju-jitsu Tani is still supreme at his weight in our Continent, and through his manager, Mr. Jack Henderson, who has been associated with him for many years, he will still be ready to forfeit £100 to any European, no matter what his weight, who can overthrow him at ju jitsu. Anyone indeed, who can stand up to Tani for fifteen minutes is assured of earning £20 if he is a professional, or, if an amateur, a silver cup value £40, presented by Mr. Fred Wilkins, director of the Victory Circus.

RUGBY RECORDS.

Table of this Season's Varsity Matches.

In view of the narrow win of Cambridge over Oxford at Queens Club, the following table will be of interest:—

OXFORD.

Opponents.		G.	T.	P.	G.	T.	P.
Old Merchant Taylors	W	2	9	57	0	0	0
Guy's Hospital	L	0	1	3	3	3	24
Richmond	W	4	6	38	0	0	0
The Army	W	2	2	16	0	2	6
Harlequins	W	6	2	33	0	0	9
United Services	W	3	2	19	0	2	8
Gloucester	L	1	0	5	2	1	6
Leicester	W	2	2	16	2	0	8
Blackheath	L	0	1	3	1	1	6
R. V. Stanley's XV.	L	1	1	8	0	4	12
Dublin University	L	0	0	0	0	2	6
Newport	L	0	1	3	0	4	12
London Scottish	W	3	8	39	0	1	3
St. Thomas' Hospital	W	9	9	71	0	0	0
Cambridge	L	1	0	5	2	0	7

CAMBRIDGE.

Old Leysians	W	5	2	30	0	0	0
The Army	W	1	2	11	1	0	3
Harlequins	W	7	3	43	0	1	3
Richmond	W	4	3	28	0	0	0
St. Bart.'s Hospital	W	3	5	30	0	0	0
London Scottish	W	4	3	33	1	0	5
Northumberland	W	3	5	30	0	1	3
Guy's Hospital	W	2	0	8	0	1	3
Manchester	L	2	1	13	4	1	21
Edinburgh Academicals	W	2	1	13	1	1	7
Old Merchant Taylors	W	4	2	25	0	2	6
Edinburgh University	W	4	4	31	1	1	8
United Services	W	0	3	9	1	1	6
Col. Craven's XV	L	0	0	0	0	1	3
Oxford	W	2	0	7	1	0	5

A "DEAD" OWNER.

Colonel Paynter was accorded a fine reception when going out on his horse, Jack Symons, in the Quorn Hunt Steeplechase at Leicester. Besides being wounded, he was once reported in all the Leicester papers as having been killed, and his obituary was published. No wonder everyone was pleased to see him back in the saddle again.

Unfortunately his horse was not good enough to beat Wavertree, but no doubt the gallant Colonel will be catching the judge's eye again at the United Services Meeting at Sandown next month.

FOOTBALL ITEMS.

Pithy Gossip about Our Leading Players.

By Tynesider.

A short time ago, Jones, the Everton reserve centre, owing to an injury to Miller went to outside right. The following Saturday he played in this position in the first team and now he cannot be displaced. Such is the luck of football!

* * *

Some folk think Everton, because of their wealth can "buy the earth". They must have had some shocks lately, for the "Toffees" bids for many stars have all been turned down.

* * *

In the old days of the team of "all the talents", Sunderland were partial to Scottish players. This season, no native of the Land O'Cakes has yet appeared in their eleven. Queer to see the Wearsiders without a Scotsman.

* * *

Percy Dawson and Grenyer graduated in North Shields and another player with a future has been secured from there by Bury. This is S. Sample, who from all accounts is a player who will soon be in the limelight.

* * *

Peter Quinn, the new Coventry player transferred from Bradford City, is another boy who hails from North Shields.

* * *

Newcastle are up to their old games, splendid mid-field play, but when it comes to goals.—Sh'.

* * *

Folk who think Blackburn are bound for Division Two, will get some surprises shortly. What's the betting they are among the leaders next May?

* * *

Reilly went to Blackburn after all. The "Inspired" scribes at home said he wouldn't, but if you see it in this column "It is so".

* * *

May I tip a dark horse for Division One next season, and they are not shouting about it—Stoke.

* * *

"Clem" Stephenson, the Villa's sparkling forward, resides in Newcastle and travels at week ends to assist the Birmingham club.

* * *

The three Nor'East clubs each have a Scottish player who refuses to return to the fold. The names are Phillip (Sunderland), Andrew Wilson (Middlesboro) and John King (Newcastle United).

* * *

Charlie Barron, of Prudhoe Castle, a local North East club, has been sought after by Bristol City. He's moving.

* * *

Strange isn't it that Tyneside players are so much in the limelight at present. Which is the best football nursery? Don't all shout at once.

* * *

Tinsley is back again in the Middlesboro first eleven. Will he keep his place? is the question troubling Ayresome Park supporters.

* * *

Manchester United have now five class backs at their call. Some teams are lucky.

Next Season.

George Geary, the Leicestershire cricket professional, has been engaged by the Nelson Club as their professional for next season.

Retired.

The old selling chaser E.R. has been turned out of training.

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

The Height.

I heard of a girl who was asked the other day, "What is the height of your ambition?" "Six feet one and just demobbed," she replied sweetly.

Startling Prices.

In spite of the fact that supplies appear to be good, the prices for various foodstuffs to be seen in the German shops are rather startling. Cheese at marks 12 per pound to the populace makes one shiver.

N.A.C.B. Christmas Store.

I hear the N.A.C.B. are opening a store at 64. Aachener Strasse for the sale of Christmas extras. Time is getting short. Oranges at 1½d each, and Christmas puddings at 2/1½ per lb. can hardly be called exorbitant.

A mix up.

It was in the midst of a thrilling hand to hand fight between the escaped convict and the much tried hero. The villain was about to get his deserts, when the orchestra struck up "The Star of Bethlehem". Rather inappropriate I thought it. It happened at a certain Army Cinema.

Was ist das?

I thought everyone knew what the letters B.R.A.D.C. meant. But yesterday morning I noticed a mix up on a hoarding. Underneath was an old concert party placard which read "Was ist das?"

Topical.

I note a topical photograph in a Cologne Shop window. It shows a country postman doing his rounds on skis.

Rapid Scoring.

Watching a couple of civilian teams in a match in the Volksgarten I was struck by the doings of one forward. Operating at centre he scored six goals in less than forty minutes. He could give some Army players points.

Allied Troops.

One of the lady workers in the Church Army canteen in Cologne's main station informs me that fully sixty per cent. of the troops served belong to our Allies. A change from a few short months ago.

Hustle, Mess Presidents.

The Commandant, School of Cookery informs me that many units have responded to the letter offering to make plum puddings and mincemeat at the School. He asks me to remind Messing Officers and Mess Presidents, however, that if any more wish to take advantage of the offer will they get in touch with him as soon as possible?

Labours Finished.

The Church Army canteen in Antoniter strasse has now closed its doors. A significant sign of the times.

A "Duration" Calendar.

Have you seen the 100 year "Kalendar" now being sold at one mark pro stuck in aid of the Cologne orphans. It is a clever idea and may prove useful to some people.

All Hot.

A popular drink with the troops now that the cold weather has set in is "Punch." It can be obtained at any café or bierhalle and is, I understand, good for indigestion.

Car Signals.

The system of signals on Rhineland tramways is the same as our own, viz., one bell for starting, two for stop, and three for stop at once.

Advertisement.

I notice that a well-known travelling case firm have a van on the streets built to represent a huge trunk. It is certainly a good advertisement.

A Substitute.

A friend of mine, who is billeted at a butcher's shop, had occasion to ask the herr if he had a razor-strop in the place. Unfortunately he hadn't, but he offered the use of his largest steel instead.

Another Double.

Talking of doubles, I am assured that Ex-King Manoel's counterpart is to be seen occasionally in Cologne. He is, as a matter of fact, a repatriated prisoner.

Popular Esperanto.

Apropos my note on Esperanto, the following day a friend directed my attention to two or three establishments whose windows announce that the new language is spoken there.

Cologne Post Advertisements.

If you want to sell anything, advertise it in the "Cologne Post." It is a certainty. The other day I mentioned that Messrs. Forster Groom's little book, "Sprechen sie Deutsch . . ?" could be obtained from our bookshop in the Arcade, and this morning the Editor received an order for a copy from Glasgow!

No Reminders Wanted.

A Cologne hoarding bears an appeal by the German Society of Peace to parents and others. It reads: "Do not give weapons or guns or anything reminding of the war to your children at Christmas." This appeal was sent to all the local German papers, but only two published it, "The Rheinische Zeitung" and the "Rheinische Republik."

RHINELANDER.

AROUND AND ABOUT.

A FUTURE EPIDEMIC.

So many obscure diseases, after afflicting some local population in the Orient for centuries, have assumed the role of epidemics and started out to travel around the globe, that the discovery of a new one and the possibility of squelching it where it lives, and before the moving impulse has acted upon it, are evidently of international interest. Such a malady appears to be the "tsutsugamushi", long known in some of the river valleys of Japan and said to be transmitted by an insect living as a parasite on certain field mice. The extermination of these mice is suggested as a means of putting an end to the disease.

MEANING OF "PROTOCOLS."

We have heard much lately about "protocols," especially in connection with the latest move of Germany. But what is a protocol? The present writer propounded this conundrum to a dozen people without getting correct information. One thought it was the name for a new brand of whisky, which would be, he gloomily prophesied, "nobbut 30 under proof." Protocol is really a Greek word meaning the first leaf of a book, a kind of fly-leaf containing a description of the contents. It thus came to mean in diplomacy a preliminary record or minute of propositions agreed upon at a conference, to be embodied afterwards in a formal treaty.

HE WAS LATE, BUT CLEAN.

A rather dirty-looking cat left the pavement on the west side of Kingsway. He was hardly in the road before the stream of traffic going north blocked his path. Sitting down in the gutter he began calmly to wash his face. When at last a gap showed in the traffic he walked to the middle of the road. Here he found himself confronted by the traffic going south. It was a nuisance; it meant delay; but—well, he had the other side of his face to wash, and in the lea of a refuge he sat down and washed it. Then, when the way was clear once more he trotted with dignity to the farther pavement. The whole of his face was clean as he turned up Portugal-street to keep his appointment. No doubt she remarked on his smart appearance!

MEDALS AND RIBBONS.

The official notification, published recently, anent the wearing in plain clothes of orders, medals and ribbons, seems to leave the matter very much where it was before. There has been considerable discussion in the papers about the wearing of military decorations in civilian dress, and considering how short was the time, comparatively speaking, that the majority of men recently discharged served in the Army, and how long a period necessarily elapses before decorations reach those who have earned them, it is not to be wondered that there is abundant evidence of a general desire to wear in civil life the orders and medals, or at least the ribbons of these decorations, which have been issued for military service.

FIGHT WITH DEVIL FISH.

How four anglers struggled with a horned devil fish is now told. The fishermen, who were in a motor-launch at Coogee, New South Wales, felt a heavy strain on their lines, and when they tried to haul them in, the monster flung itself clear of the water. It had a diamond-shaped body, and from its shoulders protruded two flappers. It had a mouth like a shark, with long, curved teeth, while from the forehead rose two long horns. Its tail was ten feet long. The fishermen made for the shore and the fish followed them for two miles, making attempts to strike the boat with its flappers.

STAMPS OF YOUNG EUROPE.

Some extraordinary stamps are being issued by the newly-born States of Europe. Most of the designs symbolise their recently found freedom. The stamps of Czecho-Slovikia bear the picture of a lion tearing off the fetters of slavery, while those of Yugo-Slavia have that of a man smashing the clains that bind him. In the background the dawn is breaking. Lettonia, to celebrate its liberation from the Bolsheviks, has issued a miniature masterpiece. In the centre two female figures are seen embracing, while in the foreground a skull and withered bush lie rotting. The walls of Riga loom up in the distance, and the whole scene is luminated by the Aurora Borealis.

VANITY FAIR.

A Feature for the British Woman in Rhineland.

The Difficult Age Disappears.

Never was the young girl so well served by Dame Fashion as at present, when the countless variations of picture styles make it possible for the plain girl to bloom as a beauty. Unless the girl is rich enough to discard a frock after it has been worn a few times she should avoid the fluffy picturesque styles—the petal skirts in tulle, or the gowns with floating draperies of chiffon. The plain styles are not only more serviceable, but are smarter, and a clever worker could succesfully make them herself.

Necessary to Confidence.

It is an undoubted truth that there is nothing like the fact of being well dressed for producing a feeling of self-confidence and assurance. Put a woman in a well-made and becoming gown, and she can face the world with equanimity. It is poor economy for anyone, to wear gowns that are not well cut and of good quality. She will look far better dressed by wearing one good frock several times than by appearing in a variety of confections of inferior cut and quality.

Extremes Match.

Extremes in the dress world must match. With skirts becoming more and more addicted to trouser-like effects, it's only natural that toques should take on an Eastern note. Gold tinsel is well adapted for the purpose, and a folded turban-like model has a brown, draped visor veil to help the Turkish illusion; a cap, chiefly of moleskin, has whorls of brown and green and crimson and blue and yellow ribbon, shot with gold, arranged in close formation over the top of the crown.

Fresh Air and Beauty.

Generally speaking, we are what Mr. Lloyd George called a C3 population because we have not realised that exercise and open air are the best beauty doctors going. To women I would emphatically say that the best way to become beautiful is certainly that of taking plenty of exercise and living as much as possible in the open air. If we let Nature develop as she intended, she will produce a form of beauty which is not to be despised. It is impossible, of course, to change one's cast of features, but it certainly is possible to develop ourselves to such an extent that there shall not be such a thing as "plainness."

New Dances.

The dance craze is, undoubtedly, still rampant, and there is talk of the appearance of new dances. Personally I consider it is a lot of fuss about nothing. Take the threatened revival of the Tango, for instance; it is very rarely performed in a public ballroom. It is certainly a graceful and alluring dance, but its failure to capture favour is quite understandable. It takes weeks to master the intricacies of its steps, and then, unless you always dance with the same partner you find that the movements they perform are not the ones you do. What a waste of time when you might be fox-trotting. In hardly any ballroom does one see anything but the fox-trot, the hesitation, and the modified jazz. These dances have proved their worth, and in spite of everything it will be a long time before they are ousted from popularity.

Inexpensive Christmas Cake.

One breakfast cupful of brown sugar or ¾ of syrup, 1 breakfast cupful of currants, 1 breakfast cupful of sultanas, 1 breakfast cupful of raisins, 1 breakfast cupful of cold water, 3 ozs. margarine, or lard preferable, 1 teaspoonful mixed spice, pinch of salt and a little candied peel. Boil above ingredients for 3 minutes, turn into a bowl to cool, after well mix 2 cupfuls of flour, 1 teaspoonful carbonate of soda, and thoroughly mix into the other ingredients, Bake 1½ to 2 hours in a moderate oven.

AGNES.

CHRISTMAS STORIES.

AWARDS IN OUR PRIZE CONTEST.

Recently we offered three prizes respectively of 150, 100 and 50 marks for the best Christmas stories submitted by our readers. Unfortunately the response was not great, nor was the quality of the contributions quite as high as we had anticipated. Still, many of the efforts were quite creditable, for most of those who tried for the prizes were clearly beginners, and the art of short story writing is not learnt in a day. To tell the truth it is perhaps the most difficult branch of literature. The prizes are awarded as follows:

First prize (150 marks). Sergt. E. Sullivan. A. Coy. 26th (S.) Battn. Royal Fusiliers, No. 20 Lines, Clipstone Camp, Notts.

Second prize (100 marks). Sergt. J. G. Addison. 1st Northumberland Fusiliers, Rhine Army.

Third prize (50 marks). Miss Clara Frances F. Thomson (age 12 years), c/o Lt.-Col. A. F. Thomson, D.S.O., D. Battery 187th Brigade, R.F.A., Rhine Army.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

Doggy's Christmas Box.—The muzzling order will not be relaxed before Christmas.

Not Khaki.—Now pink collars are to be the fashion for men next season.

Hotel Life.—London hotels are preparing for bumper Christmases.

Worse Than Cologne.—Milk is unobtainable in Petrograd.

Fewer Kisses?—Mistletoe is rare in England this year.

Really.—Lord Fisher says he has talked too much.

Something to be Cheerful About.—L.C.C. tram fares are not to be increased.

Paris Toys.—Ugly rag dolls are all the rage in Paris just now.

A Helping Hand.—Miners have made a grant of £1,000 to moulders on strike.

Nice Nest Eggs.—State clubs are sharing out their savings just now.

Any Old Way.—Motor scooters are being used at home to reach Hunt meets.

Belloc's View.—Mr. Hillaire Belloc says London is doomed to decline having given way to Tilbury.

The Smallest.—The world's smallest pony will be one of the attractions at the Olympia Circus.

Early Crime.—Two fourteen year old girls were caught picking pockets in Central London.

Tinned Food Triumphs.—Tinned food once debarred from many a home is now popular.

No Second Class.—Second class sleeping car accommodation is to be abolished in Germany owing to the demand for berths.

New Operetta.—A new operetta by Signor Mascagni has been produced in Rome.

Emulating Paris.—The Madrid Press strike which began a week ago is practically ended.

More Disappointments.—The New Year Honours list will be of very modest dimensions.

The Law Busy.—Solicitors at home are said to be doing unlimited business just now.

In the Way.—Swansea police have been asked to keep funerals off the tramways track.

Dearer.—The French Post office have increased rates for foreign telegrams by 55 per cent.

Protecting Ex-soldiers' Interests.—The Labour Party has formed an advisory committee of ex-service and legal men.

A Joke.—Mr. Oscar Asche says "Chu Chin Chow" was only a joke when it was written.

Popular.—Sir Francis Lloyd has taken up duty as Food Commissioner for London and the Home Counties.

Quadruple D.S.O.—Brigadier General Wood is the seventh soldier to win a third bar to the D.S.O.

Deathbed Wedding.—Major Kinnel, West Yorks, who was married in bed at Weymouth has now died.

Family Re-union.—Litvinoff's wife and child have arrived at Copenhagen from England.

Sensible Men.—America's labour leaders have repudiated and condemned Bolshevism.

The Old Story.—All kinds of boots and shoes are likely to be dearer at the New Year.

Doesn't Want a Palace.—The New Bishop of Bradford, unable to find a house in that city, has returned to Plymouth.

Sale Hustle.—A £25,000 tiara belonging to the Duchess of Marlborough was sold at Christie's in three minutes.

Cotton.—An offer of £240 per share is being made for £30 shares in a Lancashire mill.

A Scare.—There is no truth in the story that two Englishwomen were murdered near Boulogne.

Love's Labour Lost.—Thieves who broke into offices near Neath and carried away the safe found it empty.

Music for Queues.—Alfred Collins is arranging for an orchestra to play in the vestibule of Drury Lane while people book.

An Opinion.—Lord Ampthill doubts whether the whole truth and nothing but the truth was brought out in the Douglas-Pennant case.

Chaplain's Distinction.—The Rev. E.N. Mellish, the first chaplain to win the V.C. in the war has now received the Military Cross.

Pipes and Gaiters.—Ultra-musical people at Covent Garden are wearing heavy leather gaiters in the stalls and smoking about the foyer.

Decorum at Islington.—Supporters of the Islington Labour Council, who wore their hats when in the gallery were ordered by the Labour Mayor to remove them.

Demob.—The War Office states that 1,444 Officers and 21,337 Other Ranks were demobilized or discharged during the week ending December 10th. Since the Armistice 141,388 Officers and 3,293,354 other ranks were demobilized.

A great Advance in Soap Chemistry

As a result of many years strenuous work in chemical research and its practical application, "Sapon" Soap has been perfected.

It is the greatest advance in the chemistry of Soap since that article was first manufactured.

Ordinary Soap consists of Fat deglycerined and saponified with Caustic Soda.

"Sapon" Soap is derived from Carbohydrates which when treated by the Company's patented process, yield Ammonia, Methylamine, and Trimethylamine. These Nitrogenous compounds are highly emulsifying agents, and do NOT combine with Lime or Magnesia Salts in water, as all fat-derived soaps do. Hence, no "scum" or insoluble lime soap is formed, even in the hardest water when "Sapon" Soap is used.

Dr. Shorter, of Leeds University, says of "Sapon" Soaps:—

"They contain 'surface active' colloids, whose 'surface activity' greatly exceeds that of an ordinary fat soap, and that therefore it fulfils in an extremely satisfactory manner the fundamental condition for detergent action."

SKIN DISEASES

The Amines and Amido bodies in "Sapon" Soap are readily soluble in water. They are germicidal but non-injurious owing to their colloid nature. Besides their efficiency as cleansers, they have a wonderfully sedative action.

"Sapon" Soap gives wonderful results in irritable skin diseases, such as Scabies, Eczema, Pruritis, Insect Bites, Acne, etc. The following is the best method of application when it is used for curative purposes,—moisten the Soap, rub it on the part affected and allow it to dry, on.

You will never use old-fashioned Fat Soap once you have used "SAPON" SOAPS, and given them a fair trial.

Sole Agents for "Sapon" Soap in Germany

ERIC MORTON & Co.
12, Luttichér Strasse
COLOGNE

SAPON SOAPS LIMITED
Sapon House, London Bridge, E.C. 4, England

G R

By order of the Disposal Board

The Ministry of Munitions has for disposal large quantities of

FOODSTUFFS, ETC.,

comprising—

Roast Fowl	Beef Essence	Mealie meal
Vanilla Essence	Vermicelli	Pigeon food mixed
Lemon Essence	Hops	Pigeon food grit
Lentils	Dried Peas	Herbs, mixed
Vibrona	Sparklets "B" bulbs	Meat extract
Soups, assorted	Sparklets "C" bulbs	Spice mixed
Cerebos salt	Anchovy paste	Granulated potatoes
Preserved meat	Anchovy essence	Arrow root
Dried vegetables	Chicken broth	Bicarbonate of soda
Beans, dried	Chicken essence	Egg powder
Benger's Food	Potted meat	Jellies, Calf's Foot
Cornflour	Mutton broth	Olive oil
Fruits, assorted	Mutton extract	Pearl barley
Nutmegs	Mutton essence
Ox tongue	Lemonade crystals

also 82,000 ½ bottles Bass Beer

The attention of

OFFICERS' MESSES, CLUBS, and COMMERCIAL FIRMS

is drawn to these goods, which will be sold as a whole to the highest or most suitable bidder, or to Officers' Messes, Clubs, etc. in smaller lots at equitable prices.

Tenders for all or any part of these goods will be accepted not later than 22nd December, 1919.

All particulars, with schedule of provisions for disposal, may be obtained from Room 182, Domhof 28, Cologne.

Verbal tenders will not be considered.

The Ministry of Munitions does not bind itself to accept the highest, or any tender, nor gives any guarantee as to quality or condition.

The successful tenderer will be required to forward a cheque for the full amount, made payable to the British Ministry of Munitions, Room 190, Domhof 28, Cologne, immediately on notification of acceptance (payment may be made in Sterling).

Removal of the goods purchased must be made within 10 days of receipt of Authorisation of Ownership, which form will be handed to the purchaser within 3 days of receipt of payment.

MINISTRY OF MUNITIONS,
(DISPOSAL BOARD) G.H.Q. COLOGNE.

The high grade "TUCKMAR" Razor

Do you know why everybody asks to-day for a "Tuckmar" razor and why they are called the "Worlds Perfect Razor"???

Because they are the very best and most durable razors in shaving!!!

The excellence of the "Tuckmar" razors consists in their being made from the very best silver steel and in their having the best reputation in the world!!! Every razor fully warranted! SOLD EVERYWHERE!

TÜCKMANTEL & MARTIN, Ohligs-Solingen.

Factory-Agent and Exhibition: Gormanns & Schallenberg, Cologne, Neumarkt 32-34.

TUCKMAR RAZORS P. LAAFF, Specialist KOMODIENSTR. 79 Opposite Army Cinema No. 1. Lowest prices.

WANTED.

GOOD second-hand football boots. Apply No. 5 Ambulance, Mülheim. (2)

IMMEDIATELY one or two Bedrooms, sitting room and kitchen, or use of kitchen for English N.C.O. and family. Box No. 121, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (4)

I SEEK again situation as cook with English lady or family. Offers to Neusserstrasse 47 III.

DEMOISELLE SUISSE Française Artiste Peintre instruite désirait connoitre Dame ou Monsieur distingués Anglais ou Américain pour échange leçon de Français ou Peinture contre Conversation anglaise. Ecrire box 132 A.P.O./S. 40 Cologne. (1)

COOK-MAID seeks position in English Officers' mess. Best references of English messes to hand. Write A 437, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

BONN. Young lady wants exchange of conversation with English lady. Apply to A 438, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

CORRESPONDENCE CLERK, experienced shorthand-typist, able to conduct correspondence in French and German, wanted. Write, stating full particulars and salary required, to Box 129, Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40. (3)

FURNISHED OFFICE required, with use of telephone; near station preferred. Full particulars and terms to Box 130, Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40. (3)

BUSINESS PREMISES and dwelling house, in the best spot of Brühl, near Cologne, for sale. J. Beisenherz, Brühl, Augusta Victoriastrasse 22, Telephone 204.

ENGLISH OFFICER requires two double bed rooms and dressing room, one or two sitting rooms, use of bath room, for himself and family. Attendance and cooking required. Write to Box 45, Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40. (1)

PERSONAL.

SHOULD this be noticed by Daniel Smith please communicate with brother Pte. J. Purse, 111684, 52nd D.L.I., Bonn. (3)

MUSIC

PIANOFORTE LESSONS given to English by first-class diplomée, Cologne Academy of Music; English speaking. Apply personally or by letter to Hilda Rohder, Neusserstrasse 83, 1st floor, Cologne.

PELZHAUS WEILLER
FURS
COLOGNE, 4 Rudolfplatz
(Near Opera House) — Refined work
English spoken

For Experiers & Wholesalers
Coutellerie-Cutlery
Pocketknives, Scissers, razors-spoons, forks and knives, safety razors, haircutting machines etc.
BAUMANN & Co.
KÖLN, Berlich 43.

EXPORT

Manufacturers of Surgical Instruments

NEUMANN & CIE.
COLOGNE, Minoritenstraße 21A.

4500 Leather whips
39 ins. long, with leather covered steel core, to be disposed of. Apply to Siemenauer, Jahnstr. 3, II.
B 2855 (Telephone).

TIGER SKIN
with head all real, selling-price: Mk. 6000.—.
Max Reichenberger, Pelzwaren, Crefeld.

A CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR HOME

WE SEND A PRINTED ADVICE TO YOUR FRIEND THAT YOU HAVE ARRANGED FOR THEM TO RECEIVE THE POST DAILY FOR ONE MONTH. FILL IN THE FORM — WE DO THE REST.

THE COLOGNE POST
HOME SUBSCRIPTION FORM

To Subscription Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40 Rhine Army

I enclose remittance for 20 marks. (From United Kingdom 3/4.)

Please send "The Cologne Post" daily for one month to:

PLEASE WRITE IN BLOCK LETTERS

NAME: .....

ADDRESS: .....

.....

.....

20 MARKS COVERS ALL BRITISH POSSESSIONS

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O. S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

BUSINESS-PREMISES in centre of the town comprising Shop, Office, Warehouse and twenty rooms. For sale Mks. 135,000.—. Letters Box 108, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (T.c.)

FUR, real Russian wild cat, new, splendid colour effect for ladies' coat, sleeves and collar complete, a bargain. Particulars Box 125, A.P.O./S. 40, Cologne. (2)

COLLAR, with real stones (pearl and brilliant) 1150 Marks. Apply to A 436, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

SECOND-HAND cameras, with Zeiss-Goerz lense; a bargain. Pohl, Boisserées strasse 12, 1st floor (near Hohenstaufen Bad).

ZEISS-GOERZ Binoculars, 6×30 and 8×, in splendid condition. Pohl, Boisserées strasse 12, 1st floor (near Hohenstaufen Bad).

XMAS PRESENT. Heavy golden ring (gentleman's), for sale, cheap. Write A 435, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

A GOOD HARMONIUM for sale at reasonable price. Habsburgerring 10.

YOUNG LADY, speaking English, teaches piano, German, and singing. E. Schreiner, Hohenzollernring 76.

SPLENDID PIANO to sell made before the war. Elisabeth Walther, Gereonsmühlenstr. 3.

OFFICER has for sale, cheap, a suit-case, hand-sewn pig skin, and a dressing-case, ladies. Both new; bought before prices rose in Cologne. Private reason for sale explained. Apply Box No. 131, Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40. (2)

NEARLY new lady's saddle, English manufacture, for sale. M. Giessen, Cöln, Gladbacherstr. 2.

2 Very ancient violins, Italian Guarmerius, for sale cheap; rare prices. Assemacher, Vogteistrasse 29 ptr.

PERSIAN CARPET, first-class manufacture, 6×4½, for sale, at the fast price of £380. Heinr. Pellenz, Cöln-Ehrenfeld, Schützenstr. 2

REAL old Italian Violincello. To be seen every morning from 12 till 2 o'clock. Neumarkt 31 II.

MISSING.

PTE. MILLS (27569) Royal Berks Regt. Any information gladly received by Mrs. Mills, 23 Buttermere Rd., Sheffield. (H)

INFORMATION is wanted of Pte. M. H. Holmes No. 54815 6th platoons 1/5 West Yorks, missing since April 25th 1918 Kemmel Hill. Supposed to have been seen since at Shulfort and Fockedy premises in Maubeuge. Kindly write Holmes 3 Windsor Rd., Shipley Yorks.

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 17, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

READER WINS M 2259

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

PERHAPS ITS YOUR TURN NEXT WEEK!
SEE PAGE 3

No. 224. COLOGNE, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

PEACE ON EARTH, GOODWILL...

BRIGHT PROSPECTS OF SEASONABLE RATIFICATION OF TREATY.

DEBATE ON THE ARMY ESTIMATES.

PEACE IN SIGHT.

GOOD START FOR THE NEW YEAR.

The tension which arose in the relations between Germany and the Entente has given place to hope that the Treaty of Versailles will shortly be put into execution as the result of the presentation of the German reply to the Allied Note.

Conversations with the German experts, who were due to arrive at Paris yesterday, will probably continue until the end of the week. If, as is likely, an agreement is then established, the necessary interviews between the Allied Delegates and the German plenipotentiaries will at once begin with a view to laying down the measures to be taken in common for the final execution of the Treaty of Versailles. It is regarded as possible, therefore, that the operations of the Peace Treaty will become effective between Xmas and the New Year.

DUBLIN POLICE.

NEWSPAPER SUPPRESSED FOR STRONG OPINIONS.

The Dublin "Freeman's Journal" has been suppressed, and police and military have dismantled essential parts of the machinery.

"The Daily News" has offered the "Freeman" the use of two columns daily, "in order to enable you to give free expressions of opinion on Constitutional Nationalism during your period of suppression." The "Freeman's Journal" has accepted. "The Daily News" declares that the offending article in the "Freeman's Journal" was not directed against the Dublin police, but against what is described as being tantamount to enforced police service by members of the Irish Civil Service.

The suppression was the subject of questions in the House of Commons.

The reason given for the action taken was the fact that the paper said that people refusing to enlist as special constables to assist the police in patrol duty would be regarded as marked men.

The Chief Secretary of Ireland said, amid cheers, that the Irish members seemed to forget that the police ranks were being thinned nightly as the result of outrages.

The question was again raised on the motion for adjournment, when the motion of protest was defeated by 161 votes to 52.

Mr. Macpherson announced that the proprietors of the "Freeman's Journal" have instituted proceedings against the Government

DEATH OF AN ADMIRAL.

We regret to announce the death of Admiral Sir Henry Frederick Stephenson, G.C.V.O., K.C.B., which occurred yesterday in London. Admiral Stephenson was born in 1842 and entered the Navy in 1855. He served in the Crimean war, the China expedition of 1857 and the Egyptian Campaign of 1882. He was in command on the Pacific Station from 1893—1896, and in 1897 was appointed to the Command of the Channel Squadron. He was Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod since 1904.

ZEEBRUGGE MEMORIAL.

BELGIAN DESIGN CHOSEN.

A distinguished company of artists and others attended a private view on Tuesday of the models and drawings submitted for a memorial of the Storming of Zeebrugge and the blocking of the canal. One of the designs has been selected, and an appeal is now being made for the erection of a monument on Belgian soil, where a site already has been presented.

The successful design was that of a Belgian architect and sculptor.

POPE ENJOINS SILENCE.

The Pope has strictly forbidden all Cardinals who participated in the recent secret consistory to divulge the contests of his allocution. His reason is that it dealt only with subjects relating to the internal workings of the Catholic Church, which are consequently of no interest to the outside public.

PRINCE'S NEXT TOUR.

The Prince of Wales, at a meeting of the General Council of King Edward's Hospital Fund, announced that he is going to Australia, probably in March next, and expects to be absent from England for six or seven months.

The strike of London master tailors has been settled.

ARMY ESTIMATES.

PENSIONS AND PROMOTIONS FROM THE RANKS.

The revised Army Estimates of 405 million pounds were passed by the House of Commons on Tuesday. Mr. Winston Churchill said that next year's estimates will not amount to a quarter of that sum. He also stated that the Treasury had agreed that general officers might, if they so desired, take advantage of the permission to take their pensions now in full, even though their time was unexpired. This would clear the General List for promotion in the new post-war army.

Mr. Churchill also said that he supported the idea of promotion from the ranks, but such promotion should be made at an early age and a method must be devised whereby qualified privates would receive special training at a special college. He wanted to systematise the method of promotion from the ranks but the service was ill-circumstanced for this, as there are over four thousand surplus officers and over three thousand applying for permanent commissions. Many of them had risen from the ranks in the field and wanted to be permanent Captains and Majors. There must, however, still be a trickle from Sandhurst and Woolwich, otherwise those establishments must close. He believed that a minimum number of promotions to new commissions should be made from the ranks yearly.

BRITISH IN RUSSIA.

CHURCHILL PLEADS GUILTY.

Commenting on British military operations in Russia, Mr. Winston Churchill declared that the Labour Party had said that he, more than anyone else, had been responsible. When the decision which carried us into Russia was made he had nothing to do with military policy. He found 40,000 British troops in Russia, and the extent of his guilt had been the reducing of them to 2,000.

The Bolshevists had been held this year by Koltchak and Denikin. If the latter's forces were destroyed, the whole of the great Bolshevist power would be available to strike down the Baltic States, to menace Poland and Finland, and to advance through Persia to the frontiers of India, disturbing the whole of Asia. Then we should realise that we had not been fighting the battles of Koltchak and Denikin but that they had been fighting ours.

PRICE OF CEREALS.

PROTECTING THE FARMERS.

Speaking at Shrewsbury yesterday Lord Lee, Minister of Agriculture, stated that a Bill would be introduced into Parliament early next session giving effect to the recommendation of the Royal Commission of guaranteed minimum prices for wheat, barley and oats. He hoped also to include in the Bill by agreement with landowners a clause which would give farmers increased security of tenure. Lord Lee described the attempt to apply the forty-eight hours Bill to Agriculture as wrong and ridiculous.

DUMP EXPLOSION.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE.

A big explosion of ammunition took place yesterday at the ammunition depot of Mariensiel (North Germany). Hand grenades were being unloaded when careless handling caused an explosion which extended to the main dump. The station of Mariensiel itself was severely damaged, likewise the railway bridge and a number of houses in the village. Up to now it is known that forty-five workmen were killed and more than 100 wounded.

THE FRENCH LOAN.

It is reported from Paris that the French Loan to be floated in England will be for £300,000,000. British financial circles incline to the belief that the flotation of this loan is not imminent, owing to the depreciation of sterling, which is largely due to France buying dollars through London.

SPEAKER TO RETIRE.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Empire Parliamentary Association Lord Burnham intimated that the Speaker is about to retire.

Mr. Charles Cannon, Secretary to the Delegates of the Oxford University Press, died at Oxford on Monday.

EX-GERMAN SHIPS.

SUSPECTED EXISTENCE OF CONSPIRACY.

Fire broke out on the ex-German steamer, Boonah, lying in the Albert Docks, on Tuesday. Two of the holds were well alight and the whole of East London was lit up by the flames, upon which the energies of many fire brigades were concentrated.

There has been quite a series of suspicious fires recently on ex-German ships, not merely in London but in North and South America and it is suggested that the outbreaks are the result of a German plot to destroy expropriated ships.

The Boonah had been requisitioned by the Australian Government and was due to sail for Hull on Tuesday and then embark Australian troops at Southampton on the 20th.

The arrest of four suspects at Wapping is believed to be in connection with fires on various ex-German steamers. All the men made determined attempts to resist arrest. It has transpired that three of them are foreigners who have recently been subjected to close surveillance in the same connection.

The interior of the former German vessel Prinz Eitel Friedrich, which was anchored in the Hudson river, has been burned out, but it is estimated that repairs can be effected and the vessel placed on the South American route by next July.

"TRUTH WILL OUT."

HOW PERSHING WON THE WAR.

General Pershing's report describing the work of the American Expeditionary Force makes no mention of General March, his Chief of the General Staff. Until the report was published most people at New York, says the "Daily Telegraph" correspondent, believed that the two Generals had been working together in the closest harmony.

Friends of General Pershing say that the American leader deserves credit for not having claimed in his report for the part he played in inducing Marshal Foch to start a general offensive in the summer of 1918, instead of waiting till the spring of 1919. They state that Marshal Foch knew nothing about the Soissons offensive, which started with the crushing in of the Marne salient. This offensive was undertaken as a local affair, which was unknown to Marshal Foch until he heard the result!

ARAB RAID.

BRITISH AUTHORITIES SEIZED.

A communiqué from Mesopotamia states that a certain Ramadhan who was recently appointed Governor of Ragga on behalf of the Arab Government, carried out a raid at Dairelzar on the 11th December and imprisoned the British and Arab military and civil authorities there.

This was doubtless done without the knowledge of the Arab Government, but the complicity of the Turkish authorities on the other side of the frontier is suspected.

Dairelzar was occupied last year in accordance with the terms of the Armistice with Turkey, and its forcible seizure is a grave offence against the authority of the Peace Conference.

ARMED BANDITS.

DARING ROBBERY AT A POST OFFICE.

A masked man in army uniform entered the Clayton road Sub-Post office at Newcastle on Tuesday evening and presented a revolver at the two ladies behind the counter, saying "If you don't shout I won't harm you. All I want is money."

Thereupon he swept up from the counter notes and silver amounting to thirty-five pounds and decamped. No arrest has yet been made.

SOVIET AND PEACE.

Replying to a question about Litvinoff's terms of Peace, Mr. Lloyd George said that if the Bolshevists want to make peace they must make it with the people with whom they are making war, Denikin, Koltchak, and other forces.

"GO AND EAT COKE."

At a meeting of engineers at Cleveland (Ohio) it was announced that an engineer at Middlesboro has succeeded in extracting alcohol from coke. The discovery promises to revolutionise the supply of liquid fuel.

SEELY'S VAIN PROTEST.

Brigadier General Seely, in moving a reduction of the Air Force vote, protested against the Air Service being under control of the War Office. His motion was rejected by 180 votes to 39.

O'GRADY'S NON-SUCCESS.

A complete breakdown of the negotiations at Copenhagen for the exchange of prisoners of war and civilians between Great Britain and Soviet Russia is expected.

SCOTTISH WIVES.

SUGGESTION OF INFIDELITY REFUTED.

At the Court of Session, Edinburgh, on Tuesday, Lord Andersen referred to Lord Sands' estimate that three thousand Scottish soldiers' wives had been unfaithful during the war.

Lord Andersen estimated that three hundred thousand wives of soldiers were left in Scotland during the war. Consequently even if Lord Sands' estimate were correct, the point that should have been emphasized was that despite their trials and temptations, ninety-nine wives out of every hundred kept straight. Put as it was Lord Sands' remark did a gross injustice to the women of Scotland which contrasted most favourably with any other country which had been engaged in the war.

COMMERCE DEGREES.

LACK OF ACCOMMODATION FOR STUDENTS.

Sir William Beveridge, Director of the London School of Economics, referring to the new degrees in Commerce, said that training has already started. The School of Economics is so overcrowded that temporary accommodation has been found at the Y.M.C.A. huts on the Aldwych Island site. A large number of ex-service men are working for Commerce degrees in the Exchange and Audit departments, the Government paying the fees for their young men to attend the classes. One business firm is paying fees for eighty-six of its employees, and railway companies are sending from 500 to 600 students.

WAR MATERIAL.

QUANTITIES SURRENDERED TO THE ALLIES.

Replying to a question in the House of Commons, Mr. Winston Churchill said that the total numbers of guns and aircraft handed over by Germany are 5,000 guns, 25,000 machine guns, 3,000 trench mortars and 1,700 aeroplanes. As regards rolling stock there is a deficiency of forty-two locomotives and 4,760 waggons remaining to be delivered by the Germans. An overwhelming proportion of the stipulated railway material has already been delivered, and he thought the Germans had made a tremendous effort to comply with the conditions imposed.

HONOURS LIST.

MANY WAITING TO BE INVESTED.

The War Office states that 40,000 recipients of Naval, Military, Air Force and Civilian war honours have not yet been invested with their decorations. To reduce the number of those still waiting, local investitures will be held early next year by a member of the Royal Family on behalf of the King. This arrangement is designed to meet the convenience of officers, especially those who have been demobilized. Priority will be given at these investitures to recipients of honours who are about to go overseas. Those desiring to attend should make application to their General Officer in Command.

MISSING AIRMEN.

SUCCOUR ARRIVED TOO LATE.

Further information has been issued by the Air Ministry regarding the fate of the Australian airmen, Captain Howell and Private Fraser, who fell into the sea at St. George's Bay, Corfu, on the 9th December in the course of their flight to Australia. The accident occurred in the evening. A motor-boat and sundry fishermen at once proceeded to the spot where the machine had fallen, but were too late to save the occupants, whose bodies have not yet been found.

LITERARY MSS. RETURNED FROM LEIPZIG.

According to the Bookman's Journal for this week, Mr. John Murray, the publisher, has just received from Germany the original MSS. of Byron's "Childe Harold," A MS. of Walter Scott, and some rare books which were sent just before the outbreak of war to the Leipzig Exhibition. During the war Mr. Murray heard nothing of them, but they have now been returned in good condition.

FOR HIGHER EDUCATION.

The Labour Ministry states that applicants for higher education and training who were demobilized before October must apply before December 31st. In cases of later demobilization, applications must be forwarded within three months, and in any case not later than June 30th next.

SPLENDID OFFER TO Y.M.C.A.

The Y.M.C.A., which since the armistice has incurred a debt of £75,000, has received from Dr. Mott, General Secretary to the Y.M.C.A. in North America, an offer of £100,000 immediately and a further £100,000 providing the outstanding debts are cleared off.

SUMMARY COURT.

NO OPTION FOR FUTURE OFFENDERS.

Another case of insolence to an English officer resulted in Edward Roseler, a carter, of 39 Griechenmarkt being sent to prison for fourteen days.

The officer was driving a motor car along Komödienstrasse, and accused, who was driving a cart towards the Dom Square, was obliged to pull up to allow the officer to pass. He made use of an offensive expression, evidently a curse of some sort, and his manner was very insolent.

In passing sentence the Presiding Officer said these cases were becoming too common and imprisonment would be the penalty in future.

DETERRING AN UNDESIRABLE.

Dominico Gagliardine was ordered to be deported to unoccupied territory on the 2nd December, but he returned again on the 6th December without permission.

He was sent to prison for six months and will be deported again on the termination of his sentence.

FURIOUS MOTOR DRIVING.

The charge against Wilhelm Erpenbach, of 551, Subbelratherstrasse, Bickendorf, for which he was fined 300 marks or three weeks imprisonment, was that of endangering the safety of British troops by negligent driving of a motor lorry. He was driving on the wrong side of the road at a speed of twenty-five miles per hour.

SILENCE IS GOLDEN.

A military policeman went to the assistance of two German policemen who were having some trouble with Wilhelm Wichterich. He was resisting arrest and when he was handcuffed made use of some insulting remarks in German anent the military police.

He was given seven days imprisonment.

HOUSE PROBLEM.

PREMIER APPEALS TO BUILDERS.

At a meeting held on Tuesday of masters and men engaged in the building trade Mr. Lloyd George made a strong appeal for the speeding up of house building. Five years of war he said, had thrown the social machinery out of order. Local authorities have already site schemes for over half a million houses, and sites for 300,000 houses had actually already been purchased in England and Wales. Builders have laid out sites for scores of thousands of houses in this country and he trusted that local authorities would appeal to local patriotism and he had no doubt that any cash difficulties would be overcome.

It was right that men should get a reasonable profit from the capital they risked and the labour which they put into building, but it was the business of the Government to make it impossible for advantage to be taken of a great social need to drive up the cost.

Before the war there were 900,000 men engaged in the building trade but now there were fewer than 700,000. The building trade must draw new recruits to its colours. Young men of the building trade were being released from the army and in the next few months some 30,000 would be free. This was having its effect in increasing the output. The Government hoped that after the 1st January the normal course of business regarding building material would be reverted to, through ordinary trade channels.

BRITISH EMPIRE.

SCHEME FOR FEDERATION OF PARLIAMENTS.

Speaking at the seventh annual meeting of the Empire Parliamentary Association yesterday, Mr. A. J. Balfour said that one of the results of the partnership in war between the democracies constituting the British Empire would be that for all time it would act as a bond of glorious memories between the parts of the Empire. Great results would accrue from closer union.

The Speaker of the House of Commons, who presided, expected that before long the Devolution Committee would be able to submit a scheme which would provide the first step towards a Federation of the Parliaments of the British Empire.

TROOPS FOR OVERSEAS.

It is announced that a large number of Infantry Battalions are proceeding overseas at the end of the month. More than twenty battalions will be distributed among Egypt, the Army of the Rhine and elsewhere. Men belonging to the Regular Battalions which are under orders, who are at present absent from their units, will be recalled immediately.

LONELIEST ISLAND IN THE WORLD.

The Postmaster General is about to send to Rio de Janeiro the mails for Tristan d'Acunha, the loneliest island in the world. The battle cruiser New Zealand, with Lord Jellicoe aboard, is due at Rio on the 27th January and will take the mails for Tristan d'Acunha.

The Earl of Plymouth has been elected High Steward of Cambridge University in place of the late Lord Wokingham.

U.S. PROHIBITION.

FABULOUS PRICES FOR XMAS DRINKS.

The Liquor Retailers' Association of New Jersey has asked permission of the Supreme Court to institute new proceedings with a view to having National Prohibition declared unconstitutional.

The decision of the Supreme Court upholding war time prohibition has come as a tremendous shock to liquor interests. Immense stocks had been laid up for sale at Christmas in the hope and belief of a contrary decision, and great revels had been planned in New York and other cities. It is estimated that ninety million gallons of whiskey alone are unsaleable, and the total financial loss is estimated at £300,000,000. Smuggling is already rampant. From Canada and Mexico motor-boats are running cargoes nightly.

The price of Christmas drinks has gone up in alarming fashion in places where drink can still be got. Champagne at seven guineas a bottle; Scotch whisky from one to six guineas a bottle; Benedictine, seven guineas a quart; Chartreuse, twenty guineas a bottle, and Absinthe, seven guineas a bottle, are prices that are demanded—and paid.

CRITICAL 1920.

WORLD SHORTAGE OF FOOD.

The Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Food, Mr. McCurdy, addressing a Conference of Labour Members of local food committees, said there will be a serious shortage of essential foodstuffs in 1920, which experts estimate will be the most critical year since the war. Butter and cheese supplies from Australia will certainly be short owing to the drought. Supplies of tea have decreased and there is no prospect of the world's supply of sugar balancing the demand.

A surplus of meat exists in Great Britain at the present time but there will be a world shortage in 1920. More meat will arrive in the Thames next quarter than we shall know what to do with, owing to the shipments from Australasia. Restrictions on consumption were released in order to prevent this meat being wasted, because the cold storage facilities are inadequate. The cold storage capacity of Great Britain is only forty-two million cubic feet compared with seven hundred million in the United States.

The Food Controller states that some degree of supervision of food supplies will be necessary for at least three years.

THE BRONTOSAURUS.

BIG GAME HUNTERS' NEW THRILL.

Amongst a number of British big game shooters who are leaving in quest of the Brontosaurus, the pre-historic animal which two Belgian travellers recently reported as having seen in the Congo Free State, is Captain Lester Stevens, who is taking his dog "Laddie," which is half sheep-dog and half wolf. This dog was famous during the war for carrying messages from the trenches. It is believed that the huge reptile lives in a subterranean lake.

Mr. Walter Winans says that Hagenbeck and Hamlin, the two great collectors of animals, both believe that the Brontosaurus still survives.

AMRITSAR RIOTS.

Mr. Montagu, Secretary of State for India, referring to the Report of the Inquiry into the Amritsar riots, said he fully appreciated the profound disturbance of public opinion owing to the reports recently received, but he urged the public to await the impartial and authoritative pronouncement of the Committee of Inquiry, which he hoped would be available without unnecessary delay. It was most difficult to state the exact number of casualties, and he looked to the Committee to give authentic figures.

RECORD BOOK SALE.

The sale of the Library at Britwell Court, Bucks, by Messrs Sotheby eclipsed all records, 108 books fetching £110,000. Of this total a New York bookseller paid £85,000, including £15,100 for a fourth Edition of Shakespeare's Venus and Adonis bound up with a first edition of the Passionate Pilgrim.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

Markets maintained their cheerfulness though business was less active. British Funds were stimulated by the Chancellor's statement on the subject of reducing the National Debt. French Loans stood out prominently on a further improvement in France due to the arrangements being made to stabilise the French exchange. Mexican Minings were restored to a better position on the brighter political news from Mexico. Oils relapsed on profit-taking sales but rallied later on. All supplies of gold were sold at 11s. 3d. Silver advanced to 79 1/8 on purchases by Bears and to limited supplies. The Exchange on Paris was 38.86; Belgium 38.75; Switzerland, 20.902; Amsterdam 9.93; Germany 182-183; Austria 670-700.

Three ammunition barges caught fire and exploded at the mouth of the Thames on Wednesday.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

FLIGHTS LTD
MILITARY TAILORS
LONDON. WINCHESTER. ALDERSHOT.

Mr. A.J.R. Lee is leaving Cologne today. Will return in January.
To the
KRONPRINZ HOTEL
(Behind The Excelsior Hotel)
where he will have his usual excellent selection of material, both for Mufti and Uniform, also a stock of Hosiery of the best quality.
LATE OF THE OFFICERS' CLUB No. 1.

ARMY SKATING RINK.
NOW OPEN. This week, Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday other ranks and wives only 5.30 to 9.30.
Friday Officers and wives 3.30 to 10.0
Skates provided. Cloak Room Accommodation for spectators Mugs' Alley for Beginners. Commencing shortly, Teas and refreshments will be served on the Balcony.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstrasse
Special Sunday Concert
Sunday, December 21st, 1919, at 6.00 p.m.
Grand Vocal and Instrumental Concert
The Band of:
Inniskilling Dragoons.
By kind permission of Colonel B. VINCENT, C.B., C.M.G.
Officer Commanding.
Bandmaster E. ADAMS.
Book at Amusements Office.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.
Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc.,
Staff Instructor in attendance.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Note; there will be no performance at the Deutsches Theatre on Saturday evening.
Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.
TO-NIGHT AND NIGHTLY
the
British Rhine Army Variety Company
in a Special Variety Entertainment.
ARTISTES:
Alfred Barker, Violinist
Miss Hilda Potts, Soprano
Mr. Chas S. Stairs, Humorist
Miss Inez Densusan
Miss Frances Cuisholm
Harold Walters, Baritone
Charles Gordon, Handbellringer
Bert Rex
Lt. J. Humphrey Hope
Pte. J. Terry, R.A.S.C.
A one-act Play by
STANLEY HOUGHTON
entitled
"THE DEAR DEPARTED"
will be produced.
Book at Amusement Office.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.
TO-NIGHT AND NIGHTLY
welcome Return Visit of
Mr. ALFRED HURLEY's London Variety Coy
"THE JESTERS"
ARTISTES.
Mr. JOE MORLEY.
(The celebrated Banjoist from the London Palladium)
Miss MABEL MARTIN.
Soprano.
Miss JESSIE MOUNTJOY.
Songs at the piano.
Mr. HARRY KING.
Comedian.
Mr. CHAS. LEWIS.
with "Joey".
BOOK AT AMUSEMENTS OFFICE.

No 1 Cinema is now closed.
No: 2 ARMY CINEMA.
(Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.
No: 3 ARMY CINEMA.
(Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
CINEMA
Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post
Telephones: Military, No. 653. Civil: A 5513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S.40, British Army of the Rhine.

Thursday, December 18, 1919.

BUY IT TO-DAY.

O' the making of books there is no end. Xmas Numbers are with us every year—and always the same old snow and churches, Holly and Misletoe.

In producing a Souvenir Number, the Editor had in mind a pictorial and press record of all sides of occupation life. How far this ideal has been achieved you can judge for your self—but one thing is certain

The Cologne Post Xmas Souvenir Number
will be unique amongst books and publications.

It is not a Newspaper like the usual daily issue, but a Magazine printed on high class paper and full of illustrations depicting all sides of life here.

For yourself in a years time this Souvenir will be a most valuable treasure—connecting you with the days of your soldiering on the Rhine, and for your friends and relations' now, a more intresting gift could not be imagined.

Amongst those who contribute are; Phillip Gibbs, W.E.Hornung, Professor A. Main, Miss Decima Moore, C.B.E., Dr.A.Francis, Rev. G. Kendall, R.F. Gardiner and many others, in addition to the Cologne Post literary staff.

Photographs—official and otherwise from all sources, make a pictorial record of all the principal events.

The Cologne Post Xmas Souvenir Number
Is published at 7 marks or ninepence—
one shilling post free to U.K.
Units ordering more than 50 copies obtain
10% discount.

7 MARKS OR NINEPENCE
ONE SHILLING POST FREE TO U.K.

First rate Tools
Agricultural implements
Padlocks. Solingen Steelware
BIG STOCK QUICK DELIVERY
Samples to be seen at the
WARENVERSANDHAUS
COLOGNE
Cardinalstrasse 12
Electric car 18 and 20

THE GENUINE
SPIKUSON RAZOR
Spikuson Registered — Spikuson Registered
is well known on the market. Full guarantee for every razor. Also Hamburg Ring and other good Razors kept in stock and a great variety of CUTLERY GOODS
WHOLESALE RETAIL
W. CARNEIM
a. d. Dominikanern 1, corner Marzellenstr. near the General Post Office.

ANOTHER NEW DEPARTMENT

The N.A.C.B. are now prepared to carry out all kinds of Laundry Work at rates below those charged by Civilian Laundries.
Price list can be obtained at the following N.A.C.B. establishments.
The Officers Shop
27 Obermarspforten.
64 Aachener Strasse.
British Officers Club Nr. 2.
Marricer Hostel.
The above addresses are also Receiving Stations.
N.A.C.B.
Service

EXPANDERS

with 4—10 detachable strands in rubber or steel-springs.
D. JANSEN
CÖLN, Columba Str. 1
(close to Breite Str.)

Import. Export.
I undertake buying and selling of all kinds of goods. Have capital and good connections.
Max Blonder
Berlin, Münzstr. 26. Cologne, Im Dau 13.

OCCASION
2 prewar Goerz Cameras, one with Dogmar Objective 4, 10 × 5 cm, 3 double cassettes and for films packs. The other with Dagor Objective 6, 8, 9 × 10 cm, 2 double cassettes, one films pack cassette with leather case and stand for sale.
Herm. Lindemann, Domkloster 2. 10—1, 2.30—7.0

CARE IN LETTER WRITING.

The importance of care in letter writing suggested by a correspondent is one which cannot be gainsaid.

All who have had the censoring of correspondence whether in Company, section or at the base will agree that 75 per cent. of the letters which passed through their hands had not the merit of care, apart from shortcomings in the matter of composition and literary style.

As a matter of fact many were disjointed, often to the extent of not being understandable, while others were terse and had the appearance of being so hastily written as to suggest that the writer had a task to perform which he did not relish. Care in handwriting and punctuation did not seem to enter into the reckoning.

As our correspondent, a ranker, suggests, a well-written letter is indicative of a refined mind and of scholarly attainments, yet how often did "Just a line" suffice in the connection between the front line and civilization? It was not that the welfare of the dear one at home was as naught to the man in the trench. On the contrary, war and its inevitable separation broke down many barriers and gave renewed strength to the affection of the household, yet one cannot help thinking that the recipient felt a tinge of neglect because of the fighting man's inability to put into words just what he felt.

Many letters we know breathed affection. We envied the man who could pen the ideal letter under such conditions. There was certainly not the scope for re-modelling which our correspondent advises, but nevertheless there was no excuse for the bald, uninspiring train of thoughts which formed the weekly link with home.

There is certainly room for improvement. Given other places and more comfortable surroundings, let care enter the presentation of your thoughts on paper. Let the letter home be productive of your best.

TOYLAND.

It is impossible to escape the infection of the bazaars this first Peace Christmas-tide. The local stores form a Wonderland before which old and young succumb.

If you are a child—and who is not?—you will go into ecstasies of delight. If you are a grown-up you will marvel at this Utopia where after-war problems do not exist, and think of some little bairn who has a claim on your affections at home.

Mere grown-ups, who can remember the limited toys of their childhood, can only gasp at the splendour and diversity of this toy universe. If they are human they will wish they were kiddies again.

You cannot escape the infection. It is amusing for a nonce to see one whose very life not so long ago depended upon the smooth running of an aeroplane engine, a master of mechanics wrapt in the evolutions of a mechanical toy, simplicity itself, or the typical British soldier, who the Christmas before last stood in Flanders mud, now fascinated in company with his offspring by a motley collection of Gollywogs and Teddy Bears, mixed up with puppies, cats, birds of the air, and beasts of the jungle, hectic parrots and elongated elephants, as weird and grotesque a family as ever you would wish to find in "Alice in Wonderland."

Reconstruction is no problem in Toyland. Industries flourish with the depth of Daddy's purse. There are wonderful engineering outfits on all hands. The railways are never overcrowded or troubled by strikes. Nor is there demobilization of the fighting forces of Toyland in the air. They still carry on for the miniature warfare of the fireside.

Dolls' houses of every shape and size, from cardboard maisonettes to sumptuous villas of suburbia, dispel the housing question, while the shops of Toyland do not ask for coupons. The housewife has none of the care of the modern woman, shopping is a joy, prices do not fluctuate, babies are never troublesome, larders are ever full.

This is Toyland—if you have time then seek it out. You will find pleasure even in the pleasure which it affords to British children who are spending their first Christmas in the Rhineland.

THE CHRISTMAS PRESENT.

It was Christmas Eve in Cologne. Lieutenant Reggie Twopipsup, of the Machine Gun Corps, got off the car on the Kaiser Friedrich Ufer and walked to his elegant billet in the Deutscher Ring. He pressed the bottom bell-push marked "Portier" and heard a ring somewhere in the interior. A moment later a musical, bass buzz came in answer. It sounded something like a note on a papered comb and always reminded him of his not far distant childhood days.

Lieutenant Reggie was little more than a boy be it understood. A fat and smiling frau ushered him in. She, too, seemed to exhale the Christmas spirit, he thought. It had been a wonderful day. It was snowing when he left his billet in the morning. The Deutscher Ring was a white fairyland. The water was frozen and the shrubs and trees and statues were prettily powdered with snow. Two little German girls were merrily snowballing each other in the gardens.

Somehow it had been a children's day. Every child in Cologne seemed to have suddenly become possessed of a sleigh. Every hill and slope and gradient seemed to be alive with children tobogganing in the snow. Along the Rhine bank and in every ring and strasse their happy laughter rang out. It was the Christmas spirit and the coming of the snow. Two pretty fräuleins actually had the impudence to snowball Lieutenant Reggie, and I hesitate to confess that he gave them their change.

In the evening our young officer went shopping at Leonhard Tietz's. He went up in the lift and some instinct took him into the toy department. There were dolls dolls and little dolls, Christmas trees, miniature bedroom-suites, toy engines, skipping ropes, balls, and games of every description. And the children! They were of all ages from the baby in arms to the fräulein on the threshold of womanhood. There was decidedly an atmosphere of happiness and eager expectation in this part of the big shop. Yes, it had certainly been a children's day.

Lieutenant Reggie got into bed and lighted a cigarette. A sound came into his mind like the drone of an aeroplane engine. Ah yes, it was Molly in the dairy. His thoughts went back to the pretty little farm in Shropshire which would soon be his, and to his girl-wife whom he had married scarcely a year ago. Molly had turned out a thorough little brick. He fancied he could see her now, with her sleeves rolled up, and pouring new milk into the separator. He was very much in love with Molly. She would have been here in Cologne with him, but . . . well, one never knows.

He thought of the apple trees in bloom, the pet lamb, the funny duck who laid her eggs in a nest under a bush at the foot of the chestnut tree, the circus mare and the frisky, long-legged foal, the cows and the pigs and the hens, the orchard and the pasture-land down by the brook, the rosy-cheeked, village maid-servant, Eric, who drove the motor van into town, and the boys on the farm . . . . and then somehow or another he was in the farmhouse kitchen-sitting-room. There was a big fire in the grate and chestnuts were roasting on the hob. It was Christmas evening. Molly was sitting on a cushion at his feet, and cracking walnuts. She had let her soft, flaxen hair down and still looked the young miss of fifteen she was when he first met her. His arms stole round her neck and she raised her dear face to be kissed. . . . . and he heard a voice wishing him a merry Christmas in German.

The elderly frau had brought his morning coffee and letters. After she had closed the door behind her, Lieutenant Reggie eagerly picked out a letter addressed in his young wife's handwriting. It was rather short and shaky and read:—

"My darling hubby. What do you think? I have a lovely Christmas present for you. You are the father of the duckiest little baby girl that ever was. I am writing this in bed and am still rather weak so you will please excuse. Your own little wifie. P.S. I hope you will soon visit us."

Us. What a wonderful word it was. He got out of bed and dressed like a man in a dream. He went down to frühstück in a state of strange, mental exaltation. A miracle had happened. Only once in a man's life does such news come, and only once is he thrilled through and through with the wonder of it. I hope to feel like that myself some day. C.W.J.

BARRACK-ROOM DIALOGUES.

III.—THE DRAMA.

Konky lit his eternal cigarette. "I say, Fatty," he said, "Who's this 'ere Bernard Shaw? Wot does they make such a fuss about him for?"

"He's an Irish playwright and musical critic . . . . you saw a play of his the other night".

"O ah, 'Man and Supperman'. . . . . old Buggins says 'man' is a common ornary man an' 'supperman' is a superior sort o' man."

"Like you and I," said Fatty with a twinkle in his eye.

"Whoat come orf it."

"I think Shaw meant man in the plural and superman is the female of the species."

"Whatever are you a torkin about? Even old Buggins says 'e don't know what you means 'arf the time."

"It's the expression he doesn't understand."

"You're a bit of a swank you know, Fatty."

"O, I don't know. . . . . its my natural way of speaking . . . . why should I de cent to your barrack-room style? O tempora! O mores!"

"O, Lord, dry up. Wot was we torkin of?"

"The drama."

"Ah, yes. Now there's that there play 'The Silver Box.' Buggins says it's a clever play."

"So it is. . . . . very clever."

"Can't see anything in it meself. . . . . a bloke pinches a cigarette case an' gets sent to quod. Nothing very clever in that."

"There's a good deal more to it than that, Konky. Do you remember the lady in the first act saying that the poor always hung together and that they were drunken and immoral?"

"Ah, I remembers that."

"Well, as the play went on Galsworthy showed that these vices and failings were not confined to one class of society. Do you remember the police court scene and how the 'nobs', as you would call them, played into each others hands?"

"Ah, I remembers that, but that's none so clever is it?"

"You try to write a play yourself, Konky, and you'll soon find out."

"I likes a play with some 'go' in it, like "Seven Days' Leave" or "The Female Hun."

"They're not so bad if you go to laugh at them."

"O, ah. I laughs at the comic bloke."

"I laugh at the tragedian and the sentimental heroine."

"O, well everybody knows you're balmy. But I say, Fatty, does yer reckon these 'ere play writer chaps does any good?"

"O, yes, certainly. They put social problems before the public. Look at "Damaged Goods," and look at "Strife," showing the futility of capital and labour fighting. Look at "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," showing that your sins have a nasty habit of coming home to roost."

"Wot is a social problem, Fatty?"

"I've just been telling you. Any question which affects the welfare or morals of the people such as, 'is incompatability of temperament a sufficient justification for divorce?'. . . . . ."

"Whoa! cough it up Ducky."

"Cough what up?"

"Why I thought you'd swallowed the bloomin' dictionary." C.W.J.

MORE THAN SKIN DEEP.

It is a very risky thing these days to judge and form conclusions from external appearances as witness the case of Private Smithkins.

Khaki is a great leveller and many a mighty brain is at present being protected from the inclement weather by just an ordinary cap, khaki, service dress pattern.

I once knew a man whose external appearance was the very embodiment of a typical pugilist, with a bullet head and massive neck, but strange to say, he was the mildest man I have ever met, possessing a thin squeaky voice, beside which the cooing of a dove was as a peal of thunder.

His sole aim in this life was to avoid giving offence to anyone.

Then to quote another instance. A friend of mine who keeps a provision shop for the benefit of the community down Peckham way, rejoices in a close resemblance to the late Sir Henry Irving.

When taking a constitutional he creates somewhat of a furore in his particular suburbia, and many a whispered "'Amlet!" may be heard, as his majestic figure passes, a though I can vouch for it that the only "dam'letting" he does is across a counter, at a profit.

But I digress.

To return to the subject of Private Smithkins.

Now Smithkins was a particularly inoffensive looking brand of the human species.

Had a police description of him ever been necessary, it could have been summed up as, "Pale complexion, fair hair, wears glasses."

There was really nothing in his appearance to denote the genius underlying his insipid exterior, but genius, like murder, or election results, or the air in a punctured tyre, must out.

Like a live Mill's grenade with the pin out, there is no suppressing it.

Smithkins got an opportunity of displaying his great genius when it was decided to produce a pantomime under battalion arrangements.

With due forethought, and in view of the amount of material to hand in the battalion for the taking of the name parts, it was arranged that the "Babes in the Wood" was to form the basis of our efforts in amateur theatricals.

Private Smithkins came rapidly to the fore. As stage manager he herded the crowd of budding actors from one corner of the improvised stage to another, and generally displayed a knowledge of his art, although he nearly came to handing in his resignation when a facetious member of the Company remarked audibly that he believed Smithkins had once been a "call" boy.

Under his careful tuition the pantomime became a great success, but the Quartermaster Sergeant and the Sergeant Major were somewhat puzzled to account for the instantaneous success they made in their parts.

You see Private Smithkins had allotted them the parts of the two bold, bad robbers, a touch of genius that the crowd did not fail to miss.

As I say, one should not judge by external appearances.

Genius is more than skin deep.

"HAWKEYE."

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

Our Readers' Varied Views.

A BAD HABIT.

Sir,—I think I recognise your correspondent, "Cupid." The pen name is different but it's the same old cant.

Surely "Cupid" is none other than our old friend "Anti-Box."

Away with such hypocrites!

ANTI-CANT.

A RANKER'S PLAINT.

Sir,—The letter by "Ranker" needs no comment.

It appears to be the views of a disappointed youngster whose experience in the Army is limited to his own surroundings.

As regards W.O's and N.C.O's "chucking their weight about" it is up to the youngster to remember that discipline is the British Army's "Tin God" and it's up to "Ranker" to see that next time he manages to get in the way of one of the Senior ranks he remember the old maximum. "A still tongue—wise head."

ONE OF 'UM.

WHEN TO SALUTE.

Sir,—I think "Instructor" must be a product of the Armistice.

When I learned the gentle art of soldering I was taught to pay no compliments after sunset. A sentry never saluted, but merely stood to attention when an officer passed.

In these days of "Poshness," when it is often impossible even in the daytime to tell whether the party is an officer, Y. M. C. A. official or a W. O. sporting his latest kit, saluting becomes a difficulty.

FOUR YEARS OUT.

(Our correspondent has probably forgotten, during the past four long years, a soldier salutes whenever he recognises an officer. Guards pay no compliments between retreat or réveillé, except grand rounds, but sentries always salute an officer if they can discern him.—ED.)

Sir,—With reference to the letter signed "Instructor", appearing in your issue of to-day, I think I can throw some light on the origination of the fallacy that there should be no saluting after retreat.

Para. 1802, King's Regs. lays down that "Guards will not pay compliments between retreat and reveille, except to Grand Rounds." This also applies to picquets. It was from this that the idea arose regarding no saluting after retreat, as at the commencement of the Campaign, those of the New Army, who received such short training at home before being sent into the thick of it, performed perhaps two or three guards and a similar number of picquets. Hence the idea of no saluting after dark.

It may be remembered by those who came out at the commencement, that for some time a great number of the old regular Army had the idea that compliments were not to be paid on Active Service!

Orders are clear enough on the subject, as, besides the number of Routine Orders on it the following extract from para. 1791, King's Regs. is quite comprehensive enough:—"Warrant officers, N.C.O's. and men will salute all commissioned officers whom they know to be such, whether in uniform or not, etc." The latter part of this para. is worth noting also, that "N.C.O's. and men will address warrant officers in the same manner as they do officers, but will not salute them."

GEOREX.

LAUNDRY ARISTOCRATS.

Sir,—May I suggest to "Wife" that she may easily remedy the lamentable state of affairs of which she complains by washing her own blouses, a thing which is often done by ladies in England to-day.

The wife in Cologne has nothing whatever with which to occupy her time, and a little wholesome occupation would probably be of great benefit to her, and would keep her, at least for a short time, away from the Honestrasse, where she is tempted to spend money.

I have it on the authority of an eminent manicurist that the washing of blouses is not in any way detrimental to the appearance of the hands, so "wife" need have no fear on that score.

NEVERWASH.

RHINELAND AUDIENCES.

Sir,—This is another old discussion revived. I am pleased to see, however, that F.A.G.I., like myself, favours the maintenance of the standard of Rhineland entertainments at their present standard and deprecates any change in the direction of lower kinds.

The stage and even the concert party should be educational as well as entertaining and it is up to the promoters to see that the right stuff is put on.

If the young soldier is not scholarly, he has an open and receptive mind in the process of moulding.

Far better that he should cultivate a taste for what some choose to call "high-brow stuff." M.A.D.

THE ETERNAL PROBLEM.

Strange that the thing which man most loathes
(To need, to buy, and wear new clothes)
Is just the thing that never palls
To thrill the hearts of all Females!
"Clothes and the Ladies," let us sing;
What worry and delight both bring;
Woman's eternal daily care
Is what to buy and what to wear;
Shopping, measuring, altering stitching
Things bizarre and things bewitching;
Frocks and stockings gowns and hose,
Evening wraps and things like those;
For what else were Ladies born
Than to show how clothes are worn?
O Woman, in your hour of ease
Don't you find Fashion hard to please?
And just as fickle in its taste
As in the changing line of waist?
What anguish when you vainly try
Your neighbour's dresses to outvie!
The more you spend the less you wear;
The most "dressed" Fashion leaves most bare;
The highest Fashion could conceive
Would be to dress like Mother Eve,
But that, alas! would never suit
Nor leave you aught to do, to boot!

A. S. in "Edinburgh Evening Despatch."

SERGEANT'S SOLO SUCCESS.

Wins 2,259 Marks In No. 12 Football Contest.

PROMISING THIRTEEN.

After experiencing a slump due to the demobilization of many of our competitors, our football competition total has latterly shown a steady weekly rise. This week 2,259 marks have been subscribed and have been won outright by one competitor.

This augurs extremely well for No. 13 contest, the result of which will appear on Xmas day. It is already evident that a record sum will be subscribed for this number and the total we are supplementing by a Xmas gift of 500 marks.

In making a bid for this bumper prize it will be well to bear in mind the fact that there is no limit to the number of coupons which can be sent in by any one competitor. The only condition is that each must be accompanied by one mark.

THE "EARLY BIRD".

We have ruled that in the event of the amount subscribed being divided, by reason of more than one competitor forecasting the maximum number of correct results, the 500 marks will remain intact and be awarded to the competitor whose coupon first reached this office.

For the biggest prize make your biggest effort. The fortunate winner, if solo, will receive a substantial Xmas present.

The number is 13, but in this instance we are going to prove that it is not always the unlucky one.

In No. 12 contest the winner was:

Sg. C. Lawford,
No. 1 Coy.
M.F.P.
Cologne,

whose coupon showed but one error. Many competitors came near this total, but the Hull and Grimsby matches upset the majority of the entrants.

When our football representative called yesterday to interview the winner, he was informed that he had proceeded to England on leave on Tuesday. The home address of the winner was obtained and the amount, converted into English P.O.'s, has been forwarded to him.

This will undoubtedly be a welcome surprise to the winner, and a splendid contribution to a merry Xmas.

It is interesting to note that only once has our contest been won with an all-correct coupon.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

Two successful competitors have written us as follows: Pte. H. Freeman says, in acknowledging the receipt of our cheque that he was very proud to succeed in winning our prize, adding that his lucky star must have been in the ascendant when he made out the winning coupon. It is his ambition next time to find his name alone in the place of honour.

He concludes by "Wishing the best of success to your competition and the best of luck to the 'Cologne Post', our paper".

Spr. R. Walsh, also thanking us for cheque received, says "I appreciate the straightforward manner in which you conduct your competition. I wish it increasing success."

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 13,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S.40 Rhine Army.

List of Rules.

1. All forecasts must be made on coupons from this journal.

2. Any alteration or mutilation of the coupon will disqualify the effort.

3. If any match or matches on the coupon should be abandoned or full time is not played for any reason, such match or matches will not be taken into consideration in the adjudication.

4. In the event of ties, the prize will be divided.

5. No correspondence may be enclosed with the coupons, and none will be entered into. Neither will interviews be granted.

6. The Editor reserves the right to disqualify any coupon for what, in his opinion, is good and sufficient reason, and it is a distinct condition of entry that the Editor's decision shall be accepted as finally and legally binding in all matters concerning this competition.

7. Any entries received after Friday will be disqualified. No responsibility can be undertaken for any effort, or efforts, lost, mislaid or delayed. Proof of posting will not be accepted as proof of delivery.

8. Competitors may send in any number of coupons but one mark must be sent with each coupon.

9. Members of the staff of the "Cologne Post" are debarred from entering this competition.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 13.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 20th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 19th.

Arsenal	v. Sheffield Wed.
Everton	v. Liverpool
Manchester U.	v. Newcastle
Wolves	v. Hull City
Bradford City	v. Notts County
Barnsley	v. Tottenham
Bristol City	v. Blackpool
Aston Villa	v. Oldham
Swindon	v. Palace
Kilmarnock	v. Partick

I enter Football Competition No. 13 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(in block letters.)

Rank and No. .....

Unit .....

Full Address .....

BRITISH BOXING.

The Vanishing Supremacy of Great Britain.

GREAT FAILURES.

What has happened to British boxers and boxing? We may well ask ourselves this question in view of the disasters which have befallen our most fancied exponents in almost every weight during the past few years.

The notable exception, of course, is Jimmy Wilde, the Tylorstown Terror, who is a boxing wizard at the weight. He never finds a boxer in anything like his own class at his ridiculously small poundage and in the majority of his contests has had to concede anything up to a stone to his many opponents. Nevertheless, his record is one that has never been surpassed, for he has sustained but one defeat. This was at the hands of the American boxer, Pal Moore, to whom he was conceding a considerable amount of weight.

To get back to the failures. The most outstanding disappointment was Bom. Billy Wells, who in the days before the war was the great hope of the British boxing public. But the idol was shown to have feet of clay when he was so summarily defeated by Carpentier, champion of France. So firmly convinced were people in Great Britain that Wells was the man to regain heavy weight honours for his country that even after the second defeat by the brilliant Frenchman they still continued to blindly believe in his capabilities. The Bombardier's skill as a boxer is undoubted, but it is equally certain that he lacks one of the essential attributes of the fighter.

Recently there has been an attempt to regain for Wells the place he once held in the estimation of followers of the noble art in Great Britain, but this can never be achieved until he has accomplished something which will warrant such a confidence.

Joe Beckett succeeded Wells as the hope for British heavy-weight champion who would redeem our past failures in this class.

In a remarkably short time, by reason of successful contests with our best heavy weights, including Billy Wells and Frank Goddard, he rose from a boxer of third-rate class to be British champion. His victories were so convincing that there was justification for the hope that he would succeed where others had failed and wrest the championship of Europe from Georges Carpentier. It is unnecessary here to go into the details of his attempt and failure, but the fact remains that we have yet to produce the heavy-weight boxer who will be able to gain honours outside Great Britain.

Going through the list of those at present available one has to confess that we have no one who appears to possess the ghost of a chance of such success.

Beckett's failure was followed a short time later by the defeat of Walter Ross, our Bantam weight champion, by the champion of France in the same weight, Charles Ledoux, and our chances of annexing the feather weight championship of Europe, for which Tancy Lee and Louis de Ponthieu meet in Paris to-morrow, are far from bright.

While France has only taken up the sport in recent years she has made great strides, and one by one the European championships are being won by her young exponents.

This surely is that there is something radically wrong with British boxing at the present time. It may be that the old-fashioned style no longer succeeds against the modern forceful fighter. If this is so it is greatly to be regretted, because the sport will have lost much of its attraction. Whirlwind tactics may bring about the defeat of an opponent, but they never will appeal to an audience so much as the older methods in which men box and in which science plays such an important part.

RUNAWAY VICTORY.

Sappers 12—Nil Defeat of Royal Air Force.

The 23rd Field Coy. R.E. were in form again on Monday when they played the R.A.F. 91st wing on the ground in the Bonnerstr. Barracks. Dutton opened for the Sappers, scoring in the first three minutes. After the first goal the Sappers kept up a hot pace, registering six goals by half time.

The success of the first half was repeated early in the second half, and the result of the game was a 12—0 victory.

The whole of the R.E. team played perfectly and in splendid combination. Scorers:—Spr. Patterson 4; Sapper Dunt 4; Spr. Dutton 2; Spr. Phillip 1; Spr. Thomson 1.

POETHLYN'S FAILING

Horses Hanging Back till New Year.

"NATIONAL" PROSPECTS.

A large number of promising jumpers are being held back till the New Year, when many large prizes are being dangled before the faces of owners and trainers. As was seen at Derby, it is impossible at an ordinary meeting to support a horse to win a substantial amount of money. In a few weeks' time good horses will be opposing each other, and it will be possible for those interested to increase their investments to any amount.

POETHLYN'S CHANCE.

Meanwhile there is a good deal of speculation about the chances of Poethlyn to win the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree next March. Last year Poethlyn had little to beat, and the fences were by no means so formidable as usual. The jumps have been restored to their old standard—big and difficult—and there is a serious doubt about Poethlyn getting round.

Mrs. Peel's great horse has won 13 consecutive steeplechases, and he will win a few more before he goes to Aintree. He is probably a better horse now than he ever was before. Next month he will be ten years of age. Not only has Poethlyn to overcome the huge obstacles of Aintree, but he will be meeting two younger horses who are irreproachable jumpers.

YOUNGER HORSES.

They are Troytown and Clonree. Both have won races over part of the Grand National course, and Clonree, who is only five years old, has proved himself master of the jumps as they now exist.

It might not be correct to describe Poethlyn as a faulty jumper, but he "chances" his fences so often that he sends shivers down the spine of his friends, and no horse can chance the present Aintree fences and survive.

Troytown is a young and improving horse, and although he gallops with his head very low, he never makes a mistake.

EARLY BETTING.

So far bookmakers are very chary of offering prices against the likely horses in the Grand National. The only list yet reported that quotes prices gives Poethlyn at 5 to 1, Troytown 8 to 1, Pollen, Clonree and Ballyboggan 14 to 1.

One reason why Poethlyn stands today at such a short price is because a rule has been made that does not permit of any horse carrying over 12st. 7lb. But for this fact the handicapper would be justified in giving Mrs. Peel's horse 13st. or more.

One may remark that nothing has been heard since last season of Captain Dreyfus, who was the last horse to beat Poethlyn. This was at Windsor in March 1917.

DERBY DETAILS.

Two Outsiders Win at Tuesday's Meeting.

The weather was fine at the second day of the Derby meeting on Tuesday and there was a good attendance.

Details.

Selling Hurdle:—1, Magnolia (6—4 on); 2, Krooner (3—1); 3, Soltman Zeal (100—8). Four ran.

Osmaston Hurdle:—1, Saint Ives (100—8; 2, Governor Wood (6—4): 3, Slave Crag (100—13a). Eight ran.

Burton Chase:—1, Eager Simon (5—2); 2, The Bore (9—4); 3, Roman (100—8. Nine ran.

Ashbourne Hurdle:—1, Matruh (2—1); 2, Dornock (9—1); 3, Indian Feast (7—1). Sixteen ran.

Belper 'Chase:—1, Cyrils Hope (10—1); 2, Jimmy Rafter (6—4); 3, Cafue (5—4 on). Three ran.

Rugeley 'Chase:—1, Top Hole (9—4); finished alone. Three ran.

BILLIARDS.

The closing scores in the principal English billiards matches on Tuesday were:—

Reece 3,391
Inman 2,378

Breaks, Reece: 193, 135, 213 and 140.
Inman: 143, 215, 131, 121 and 162 (unfinished).

Newman 2,667
Falkiner 2,119

Breaks, Newman: 121, 134, 127, 239 and 203 (unfinished.
Falkiner: 151, 133, 515 and 141.

RUGBY RESULTS.

Dublin Univers. 8; Cambridge Univers. 0;
Bride 20; Twickenham 12.

ASTON VILLA.

From Bible Class Eleven To Cup Winners.

FAMOUS TEAMS—4.

In common with many of our leading clubs Aston Villa owe the beginning of their career to a church team.

Many years ago a handful of football enthusiasts, members of a Bible Class, clubbed together and bought a football with which to enjoy healthy recreation. These youths belonged to the Aston Villa Wesleyan Church, at Lozells, Birmingham and from this small beginning arose a club whose doings are famous where ever football is known. They played in their first season one match, the first half under Rugby and the second half under Association rules. In their second season, however, they began to shape as a team and met not a few opponents.

Some of their enthusiasts collected £5 with which to rent a ground at Perry Barr, a ground that will be ever famous in the history of football.

INTO THE LIMELIGHT.

Then came George Ramsay, and the brothers Lindsay, and the Bible Class students, came into the limelight. Their doings began to be talked about and with a player like Ramsay captaining and generalling the side they commenced to play real football. That it was appreciated was soon evident and crowds flocked to watch the doings of a team that was then but beginning to climb. That it would reach such dizzy heights of fame never entered the heads of the men that mattered, but climb they did, and they never looked back.

Mention may be made of the men who first brought them into fame, Crabtree, Archie Hunter, another great captain James Cowan, George Ramsay, the brothers Lindsay, Jack Devey, Athersmith, and Dennis Hodgetts. These are taken at random and one could fill columns with famous names and doings if one felt inclined.

A GREAT RECORD.

This is briefly, very briefly, the story of the famous "claret and blues" rise to fame. Their records are legion, but suffice it that they hold along with Preston North End the honour of having won both the Cup and League in one season. The "Villans" did this in 1886—87, and they lifted the cup when defeating their near neighbours West Bromwich Albion in the final tie. The Albion were also the vanquished when the Villa won the trophy in 1894—95. This was the original Cup which was stolen from a shop window in Birmingham in 1895, when, of course the Villa were the holders.

They have won the Cup six times in all and the League Championship on seven occasions although in the past fourteen seasons they only headed the league once, this being in 1909—10.

In their last appearance at the Palace they defeated Sunderland and thus robbed them of the coveted honour of being League Champions and Cup holders in one season.

This season the "claret and blues" have seemingly struck a bad patch but that they will come again is certain. They will not be League Champions but given a safe place on the table and all out for the cup, next May may see them again holders of the trophy.

They have been well in the glare of the public limelight by their recent failures and it is not saying too much when one adds that the sympathies of the football world were with them in their misfortunes, for they are one of the most popular sides in the Leagues.

TYNESIDER.

AN EVEN GAME.

R.A.O.C., Nippes v. Rhine Signal Battalion.

This game was played on the R.A.O.C. ground at Nippes and resulted in a draw, 2-2.

During the first half play was very even, but at the interval the R.A.O.C. led by one goal.

In the second half the Signals forwards got going, and after 15 minutes play, Sapper Reid sent in a beautiful shot which hit the crossbar and on the rebound Sapper Dedman headed into goal, scoring for the Signals.

After the resumption some fine passing was seen between the Signals forwards, which resulted in another goal being scored, putting them ahead.

Three minutes later the R.A.O.C. scored a good goal, which put them on equal terms.

Derby Improvements.

Since the last steeplechase meeting at Derby Mr. Stanley Ford has had built an entirely new steeplechase course. All the fences are now on the flat, the ridge and furrow and drop fences having been done away with.

PLAY: MUSIC: SONG.

Amusement and Recreation.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	SEATS	PRICE
Thurs.	Rigoletto	Verdi	7	9.30
Fri.	The Woman with our Shadow	Strauss	6	10.15
Sat.	Tosca	Puccini	7	9.45
Sun.	Faust	Gounod	6	10
Mon.	Ein Maskenball	Verdi	7	10
Tues.	Hansel und Gretel	Humperdinck	6	8

Y.M.C.A. Concert.

I was privileged to be at one of the excellent concerts given by the Y.M.C.A. Central Staff at the Loreley Hall on Tuesday evening. The Hall was not so packed as it might have been, owing to weather conditions and other attractions, but the attendance was fairly satisfactory. The star artiste of the programme was Miss Harrison, whose rendering of musical monologues showed her to be gifted with extensive talent. Pianoforte solos were contributed by Miss Nash, and songs by Mrs. Frost, Pte. Cowgill and Pte. Frisby. Other items were violin solos by Miss Frazer and songs at the piano by Rev. A. D. Mackenzie.

The Deutsches.

There will be no performance at the Deutsches on Saturday evening, as the theatre is to be utilised for a dress rehearsal of "The Knight of the Burning Pestle," to be presented on Monday.

A Popular Comedian.

This is an impression of Mr. Leslie Ross, in one of his characters, one of the principals of the concert party which has received tremendously enthusiastic receptions throughout Rhineland. Comedy comes very naturally to this popular little comedian, who always appears with his clever and versatile partner Nanny Hanton. The Ross-Hanton pair have made a name for themselves in the Army of Occupation, and they are a never-failing attraction. Their witticisms have the merit of originality, and they have everywhere met with unbounded success as laughter provokers.

"Lady Frederick" at B.E.L.C.

A most successful performance of "Lady Frederick" was given on Tuesday night in the theatre of the British Empire Leave Club, the members of the B.R.A.D.C. kindly taking part.

The original caste seen at the Deutsches Theatre a fortnight ago played their respective parts with the exception of Major Ball, who portrayed the "Admiral," and Lieut. Ingall, who gave the "Servant."

A delighted and appreciative audience witnessed the play, amongst whom were Major General and Lady Lawford, Major General and Lady Heneker, Lieut. General Morland, General Ritchie and Colonel Heath.

At the conclusion Miss Decima Moore called for three cheers for the members of the B.R.A.D.C., to which a most hearty response was accorded.

JACQUES.

"KID" LEWIS V. MATT WELLS.

Substitute Match at the Albert Hall.

To the disappointment of Dick Smith, the match between him and Joe Beckett for the Heavy-weight Championship of England has been postponed, and to substitute this event for the big tournament at the Royal Albert Hall on the 26th inst., the "Kid" Lewis—Matt Wells match has been brought forward for decision on that date.

The meeting of the two will arouse considerable interest, chiefly for the reason that it will afford followers of boxing the opportunity of gauging what there is to choose between Lewis and Johnny Basham, the "welter" champion.

Just how much Lewis, who held the world's championship prior to going down before Jack Britton several months ago, has improved since he last boxed here as the holder of the feather-weight title and Lonsdale Belt has yet to be demonstrated to us, but it may be said that the possibility of Wells administering a set-back to him is not entertained except by the few staunch supporters of Wells, who are still loth to admit that the former champion light-weight was beaten when he recently finished a loser to Basham by reason of a points decision at the end of 20 rounds.

Except for being a little rough in his tactics on that occasion, Wells fought well enough fully to extend his man, and if he can do the same against Lewis, the contest will be worth seeing.

FIGHT FOR FRANCE?

Negotiations between Jack Kearns and Decoin.

A Reuter's Paris message states that according to a telegram received yesterday by Decoin, the manager of the Paris Wonderland, from Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, the latter wants 250,000 dollars as his end of the purse for a match with Carpentier in France for the World's championship.

Kearns says he has received a bona-fide offer of a purse of 350,000 dollars for a meeting between the pair in America. He requests in addition the option of a percentage on gate receipts.

Decoin wired in reply that he is prepared to guarantee him the 250,000 dollars and asks to be informed what percentage is desired. If the reply is satisfactory, Decoin states his intention of leaving immediately for America in order to conclude the contract.

FRENCH RUGBY.

Trial Match for Team to Play Scotland.

A trial Rugby match between France and the "Rest" at Perpignan to choose a team to represent France against Scotland on New Year's Day was won by the latter by 5 points to 3. But this means little, as the men were frequently changed about from side to side in the course of the game. In the fifteen selected after the match there are only three representing the Paris Club, the others belonging to the South-West Provincial Clubs of Bayonne, Toulouse, and Perpignan.

Since the war Rugby has made little progress in Paris, whereas in the south-west a Rugby team has sprung up in every town. The team selected represents French Rugby football at its strongest. Scotland has its work cut out to win even with its best team.

TRAVELLING EXPENSES.

No Concessions to be made to Football Clubs.

Lieut.-Col. Sir Alfred Warren, M.P., in a written question in the Commons, asked the Minister of Transport if his attention had been called to the fact that the cost of travelling to football teams and supporters was now nearly 150 per cent. above pre-war rates; and if steps would be taken to restore the basis of pre-war rates plus 50 per cent.

Mr. Arthur Neal, who replied, writes:—

My attention has already been called to this matter, and I have given it careful consideration. I regret, however, that in the present financial position it is not possible to make an exceptional issue of cheap tickets in favour of football clubs.

WORLD'S SCULLING.

Barry and Felton sign articles for Meeting in Australia.

Ernest Barry, ex-world's sculling champion, and Felton, of Australia, the present holder, signed articles yesterday for a return race for the championship on Parramatten River, Australia, the date to be decided before September next.

Felton, who is shortly leaving for Australia, experienced a great misfortune yesterday. He had arranged to take back to his native country a new boat together with the one with which he won the championship. The boats were being taken to Tilbury docks on a motor-lorry when the vehicle was run into by a motor-bus and the new boat was broken in half. Felton was present at the time and was very much upset by the occurrence.

COLOGNE BOXING.

The second fortnightly boxing competitions have been fixed for the second and third of January, and will take place at the Central Y.M.C.A. as last time. The programme, which is even more attractive than that presented last week, will be supplemented by two additional contests of three or six rounds. Look out for full particulars in to-morrow's "Cologne Post."

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE IN A NUTSHELL.

For 1920.

M. Conn has engaged L. Bara as his cross-country jockey for 1920.

"Sticks" and Flat.

Baron Baeyens has secured the services of Dujardin to ride his jumpers, and Lancaster on the Flat.

Substitute.

M. Kknayan has engaged the French jockey E. Allemand for next season to ride when O'Neill is not available.

Arrivals and Departures.

Recent arrivals at Epsom are Trespasser, Abaddia, Germiston, Bay Tree, and Bezique. Vendome and Hukm have left for other quarters.

Double Role.

Harold Walden, the Bradford City centre, is also a first-class entertainer at the piano, and he will shortly be heard at the Bradford Alhambra.

"Tony"

"Tony" Hogg, who was Leeds City's pre-war goalkeeper, has been signed on by Newcastle United. He occasionally assisted Fulham during the war.

A Winning Owner.

M. Edmond Blanc, who for many years headed the list of winning owners, is gradually getting another establishment together. His racing string consists of Observateur and six two-year-olds.

Buenos Ayres Best.

Craganour and Old Man are the two leading stallions in Buenos Ayres, with Jardy, a son of Flying Fox, occupying third position. Then come Diamond Jubilee, Cylene and Saint Wolf.

A Piper.

A. Piper, who rode the Isle of Wight winner, Camp Kettle, is now attached to Hampson's Epsom stable. He is a brother of E. Piper, who rode Aboyeur when that horse won the Derby.

The 42nd.

Tuesday's Rugby match at Queen's Club was the 42nd between Oxford and Cambridge. The latter have now won 15 and Oxford 18, while nine games have been drawn.

Billiards.

At the annual general meeting of the Billiards Association it was decided to go into voluntary liquidation, with a view to completing the amalgamation with the Billiards Control Club.

Leicester Fosse.

The statement of the liquidator who carried out the voluntary winding up of the Leicester Fosse Football Club Co., Ltd., shows that the sale of the undertaking as a going concern to the Leicester City Football Club Co., Ltd., realised £4,500.

Jones Wins.

At Hoxton Baths, Fred Jones, of Rushden, beat Sammy Lane, of Neath, who retired during the sixth round of a contest scheduled for 20 rounds.

Fast Time.

Furious covered the mile and a half of the Three-Year-Old Hurdle Race at Derby in the fast time of 3 min 2 3-5sec, which is the fastest done this winter so far.

The Last Meeting.

The Corinthians last met the Spurs, in the season 1906-7. In the home game at Queen's Club they won by 6—1, but at Tottenham were beaten 5—0.

Not Upheld.

Mr. Caldicott has failed in his appeal against the decision of the Windsor Stewards dismissing the objection to Raybarrow. The Stewards of the N.H. Committee held that the question was one of fact, which had been dealt with by the local stewards, and they declined to entertain the appeal.

Good Field.

The entries for the New Century Steeplechase at Hurst Park this week include a number of well-known hurdlers, such as Corydon, Longerline, Wrecker, Procurator, Hollins Lane, Furious, Sippet Charlie, Garryvoe, Vertigo, Stanton and Somerville.

Villa Addition.

Aston Villa have signed on a centre-forward named Andrew Young, from Blythburton, the club from which Stevenson and several other Villa players were secured. He is 23 years old, 5ft. 8½in. high, and scales 12 st.

Rugger Fund.

Mr. Arthur Hartley, president of the Rugby Union, and Mr. G. Rowland Hill, ex-president, in announcing that the fund raised for "Rugby Football for Our Forces" has been closed, state that donations amounted to £241, and that £192 was expended in the purchase of footballs.

Jimmy Ratter's Owner.

Major H. S. Hodgkins, of the 4th Dragoon Guards, is owner of Jimmy Rafter, and the success of the gelding in the Elvaston 'Chase at Derby compensated his owner for the several seconds the chesnut has run. He was trained by Ben Roberts, the steeplechase jockey.

Bliss Injured.

Bliss, of Tottenham Hotspur, who was badly kicked on Saturday in the match against Fulham, was medically examined, and he was informed that he could not play yesterday. His place was taken by W. E. Hardinge, of Cambridge University, who was in the Corinthian side against Tottenham Hotspur.

THE ARMY CUP.

On account of certain unavoidable movements of units concerned in the Army Cup the Council of the Army Football Association at their meeting decided to defer making the draw for the third round of the Army Cup until Dec. 30. This will not affect the playing of the third round, which has been fixed for Jan. 31. Sixty-four clubs are now left in.

RUGBY CHANGES.

L. P. Morian, (Blackheath) who was originally selected to play for the South, now replaces Greenwood in the English pack.

In the South fifteen, A. R. Aslett, Sandhurst, replaces Smallwood at three-quarter and C. S. Conway, Cambridge University, and Petty Officer Golding, Navy Depôt, Devonport, take the places of Moresby-White and Meriam in the forward line.

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

All Gone.

The only Irish unit left in Rhineland is the Inniskilling Dragoons. Ireland has not a representative infantry battalion left out here.

A Good Motto.

The pains the average German frau takes in her household is reflected in the common motto to be seen almost everywhere. Translated it reads, "My kitchen. My pride."

Watch the Pfennigs.

The importance the German attaches to this coin was evidenced yesterday in a large shop, where many were kept waiting till the assistant had got change and repaid the said amount out of a mark tendered.

Gulls Fly Inland.

With the cold weather the gulls are flocking up the Rhine. To-day one was reminded of the Thames Embankment, although the gulls do not seem so tame as the Thames variety.

Climbing Irons.

We all know the climbing irons of our own linesmen in the Royal Engineers. The German civil linesmen are not troubled in any way with these awkward appliances. Their irons consist of two large spikes fitting on the boots.

A Big Adventure.

The once familiar Indian troops have now all left for a sunnier climate. Some of them were very loath to go back, and no doubt their experiences in the Army have been to them a big adventure.

Why Not?

Do the girls who serve in the different N.A.C.B. Canteens ever attend the different dances and other social functions that take place in Cologne? I may be wrong, but one seldom sees much of these girls at dances.

Shop Window Decoration.

Nothing can equal the ingeniousness of some German shopkeepers in the matter of shop window decorations. One showily arranged shop notice is decorated to represent a snowfall. This was managed by sundry pieces of wadding hung here and there and pasted on mirrors.

Gymnastics.

In a remote village near Cologne I came across a class of youthful gymnasts practising for a display at Christmas. They were clever, too.

Cribbed Tunes.

I visited a certain cabaret the other evening and found that nearly all the vocal items were to well-known ragtime tunes, although as far as my smattering of German could let me gather, the words had not the same meaning.

Young Foragers.

The large piles of firs in the Alte Markt are often the subject of daring raids by the Cologne youngsters who swoop down and seize large pieces despite the efforts of the police to drive them away.

Presents For Home.

The other afternoon I was under the impression that the N.A.C.B. was running a girl messenger service. About a score of its girls bearing parcels were wending their way along Marzellen Strasse. But probably the packages were destined for Blighty.

Take Your Sandwiches.

Dropping into a restaurant in a village outside Cologne the other day I was struck by the number of couples taking tea there. As is the general rule they nearly all brought sandwiches with them. Having tasted some of the mealy mess served as cake I came to the conclusion that they were wise.

Survival of German Modesty.

Mentioning the fact, the other day, to the Fräulein in his billet, that his maternal grandparents were German, a Tommy found himself studied with some interest. The Fräulein's female companion, upon being told how well-behaved he was in his quarters, went on to say that that was, of course, due to the German blood in his veins.

Breaking-up Party.

A pleasant little function took place at the breaking up of Miss Steel's French class at the A.G. and C. College. In the afternoon the Museum was visited and the fine array of pictures noted and discussed. Then an adjournment was made to the B.E.L.C. where, by the kind permission of Miss Decima Moore, high tea was served. Some of the students then contributed some items in French, a notable event—English soldiers declaiming in French in a German Clubhouse. The proceedings terminated with a concert, very kindly arranged by the voluntary lady-workers of the Leave Club, which was heartily appreciated.

Irony.

The label on a famous cigarette brand now on sale in German shops bears these words, inspired during the war, "is and always has been an entirely British firm."

Useful But Heavy.

I noticed an English lady the other day wearing a pair of field boots. Rather heavy for a lady, I thought.

The Dialect of the Dales.

A door in a certain office not a mile from the Dom bears these words on a placard: "Put wood in t'hole, lad." A Yorkshire wit wrote that sentence.

A Vague Tariff.

For a droll way of enumerating foodstuffs for consumption commend me to a shop in Severinstrasse. A cafe there has its tariff set out thus: Coffee 30 pfgs., Cacao 75 pfgs., Cakes, and so on, 1 mark.

Any Old Tale.

A culprit at the Summary Court, charged with being in possession of Army blankets said he received them from German soldiers passing through Cologne last November. The court thought otherwise.

No Room 13.

Further evidence supporting German belief in superstitions is contained in the fact that not a single hotel in Cologne has a room bearing that number.

Out of Season.

In one shop window I have noticed they have a clearing line of tennis balls. All things equal, they are remarkably cheap, but they suffer in comparison with the British article.

MISTLETOE AND KISSES.

ORIGIN OF AN ANCIENT CUSTOM.

In paying honour to their great god, Thor, romantic Scandinavians built great fires called "Jule" or "Yule" fires. In the old days the higher the flames towered through the forest the greater pleased was Thor.

The men soon learned that the trees upon which mistletoe clung would give the brightest fires. They believed this was due to the great Thor himself, who caused the mistletoe to grow on those trees to let his people know which were best for burning in his honour.

The trees upon which quantities of the mistletoe grew were sapped of their vitality, and, being drier, burned with a brighter flame than other trees that were full of sap. So when any one met under the mistletoe in the great forests, no matter how great enemies they were, they dropped their weapons and greeted each other kindly: nor would they take up arms against each other until the sunrise of another day. This was their tribute in honour of Thor.

They began to take bits of the mistletoe into their homes and hang it over the doorways, and if any enemies came they could not enter the houses beneath the mistletoe without becoming friends of the people inside so long as they remained there.

From this came the habit of greeting people who stepped under the mistletoe with an embrace or a kiss, and at indoor feasts the mistletoe was hung up in the room and the people greeted each other with kisses.

So in these days the couple kissing beneath the Christmas mistletoe in a spirit of fun or romance carry on a custom the Scandinavians had a thousand years before.

"Wot yer waitin' for Alfred, manicure or face massidge?"

Fast in the Rails.

Traffic was suspended in Marzellenstrasse yesterday morning for 20 minutes owing to a rather unusual accident. A horse attached to a heavily laden dray slipped and one of his shoes became fast in the tram points. It took the united efforts of three men twenty minutes to extricate the animal.

Examination Humour.

Surely it was a humorist of the grimmer order who set a recent "English" exam. paper. Among the questions was one which started off "Distinguish the meanings of the following pairs of words. . ." and one of the pairs was "gratitude" and "gratuity." As the examiner had previously distinguished between "fluid" and "fluent," it may have been possible.

A Dance Rendezvous.

The other evening I was in a Cologne tea place, when I noticed a couple of tables marked "Reserved." Idly speculating, I was pleasantly surprised when an English sergeant came in, dance slippers protruding from his coat pocket, and sat down at one of these tables. Then two English girls arrived and so on until half a dozen couples were at tea. Afterwards all paired off and left apparently for some dance. The idea of a rendezvous like this struck me as both, novel and good.

Worth Winning.

Turn to page three and read the offer we are making in connection with our new football contest. The prize will be worth lifting.

Cafe Souvenirs.

Apropos a recent Echo where a German cafe proprietor has a propellor as a souvenir I came across a large framed diploma in a Cologne cafe. It was presented to the proprietor on the conclusion of a walking tour across half the world, starting from Munich in July 1895, and returning to the same town in December 1896.

Pretty Women's Gossip.

I have received a cutting from the "London Mail" which has raised my correspondent's ire. It starts off in the hackneyed idiotic manner, "A pretty woman of my acquaintance", and goes on to say that the German civilians follow the lead of "the military" in being "impudent in their manner to English ladies as they pass them in the street.". If the civilian is impudent the ladies have it easily in their power to obtain swift and just punishment by appealing to our ever ready and efficient military police, but to blame the military thus is as irresponsibly petty as it is grossly unjust.

RHINELANDER.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

Never Say Die.—M. Clemenceau despite his broken rib is hard at work at home.

Standing By. — Japan is keeping her troops in Siberia.

Walk to Church. — Bristol still has no Sunday trams and buses.

Not Picardy. — Primroses are blooming in Monmouthshire.

More Trouble. — Belgian miners have decided on a general strike.

And "Dry." — Mr. "Pussyfoot" Johnson is still out of action.

Gone Home.—The crew of the raiding cruiser "Emden" are back in Germany.

Fatal Error.—A Notts doctor drank ammonia for bismuth.

More Fortunes.—A boom in shipping shares is existing in Cardiff market.

Popular Gaby.—Gaby Deslys has undergone another operation.

Famous Name. — Sir John Jackson, M.P., the famous contractor, has died.

What They Cost.—For four tramway-cars East Ham is paying £2,100 each.

Any Old Skins?—In North-West Suffolk rabbit skins fetch from 1s. to 1s. 3d.

Irish Outrage.—A man was stripped of his clothing, and left naked by the roadside in North Tyrone.

Complimentary.—When Sir Eric Geddes was addressing Bristol business men someone threw a bag of flour.

The Enemy.—It is contended by authors that bridge has done a deal of harm to literature.

Get Ready.—Christmas letters for troops in France and on the Rhine leave England on Friday.

Boom in Slates.—Closed for forty years several slate quarries in Carnarvon and Merioneth have been re-opened.

Kingly Port.—Given to a Red Cross sale by the King a bottle of port wine fetched £19 at Bishops Stortford.

Awful Death.—His clothing catching on a revolving shaft in a glove factory at Yeovil a man was killed.

A Respected Leader.—Mr. E. Tindal Atkinson, K.C., has resigned his office as Recorder of Leeds.

Baths as Memorial.—In memory of old boys who fell, Wycombe Grammar School is to build swimming baths.

Real Charity.—Grants from 10s to £25s. are to be handed to Leighton Buzzard war widows.

Snatching a Living.—Fleetwood trawler-owners have refused to sell fish at the new control prices.

A Change.—Ten survivors of an American steamer which struck a mine were picked up by Germans.

Their Due. — Mercantile seamen will rank as ex-service men for out-of-work pay.

Despite High Prices. — Policemen are required to regulate queues outside West End toy-shops.

A General Hope. — Mr. Chamberlain hopes it will not be necessary to issue notes lower than ten shillings.

Cheap at the Price.—32,000 children of St. Pancras are to have a peace treat at 6½d. per head.

A Danger. — A bluejacket, who used a carpenter's tool brush when shaving, died from anthrax.

Hulloa! — Telegraphic communication between France and Germany has been resumed.

Kingly Benediction.—General Bramwell Booth was received by the King before starting on his world's tour.

Something Anyway.—Mr. Lloyd George says relations between Rumania and the other Allies are now satisfactory.

Blended.—Australia's new Parliament will probably consist of 37 Nationalists, 28 Labour Members and 10 farmers.

Price of Patriotism.—An ex-officer has become a London street hawker to supplement his wage in order to keep his wife and baby.

"Kinema You Asses."—A London thief being chased by a crowd put them off the scent by shouting "Kinema, you asses".

Fond Of England.—The Queen of Spain hopes to return to England in the summer, when she and her family will pass a few weeks in the Isle of Wight.

Erring Wives.—It is said that some 3,000 Scottish wives committed misconduct in the absence of their husbands on military service.

Household Footballers.—The football club at Buckingham palace is to be known as the Royal Household Football Club.

Poor Girl.—Queen Elizabeth are the Christian names of a prospective bride whose banns have been published at a Surbiton church.

Hindy and Willy.—Hindenburg as Imperial President, and the ex-Crown Prince on the throne, is the dream of the Prussian League.

Found.—A 6-ft. Venus has been found in London for the Palace Theatre revue. She escaped from the Bolshevists in Russia.

PUBLISHERS ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Diamond, 15 ct. Gold and Enamel Scarf Pin, Irish Guards. £9 10 0.

Diamond and Pearl Fancy Cluster Ring. £27 10 0.

Diamond, Sapphire, Black and White Onyx Sleeve Links set in Palladium. £75 0 0 per pair.

BY APPOINTMENT. Jewellers to His Majesty the King.

CHRISTMAS JEWELLERY

THE Goldsmiths and Silversmiths Company have a comprehensive collection of Jewellery, from which a selection of Christmas Presents can be made. This Jewellery is of highest quality and at the moderate prices charged represents the best value unobtainable.

A Catalogue of Christmas Gifts will be posted free on request.

ONLY ONE ADDRESS.
NO BRANCHES.

THE GOLDSMITHS & SILVERSMITHS COMPANY LTD. with which is incorporated The Goldsmiths' Alliance Ltd. Est. 1751
112, REGENT STREET, LONDON, W.1.

G R

By order of the Disposal Board

The Ministry of Munitions has for disposal large quantities of

FOODSTUFFS, ETC.,

comprising—

Roast Fowl	Beef Essence	Mealie meal
Vanilla Essence	Vermicelli	Pigeon food mixed
Lemon Essence	Hops	Pigeon food grit
Lentils	Dried Peas	Herbs, mixed
Vibrona	Sparklets "B" bulbs	Meat extract
Soups, assorted	Sparklets "C" bulbs	Spice mixed
Cerebos salt	Anchovy paste	Granulated potatoes
Preserved meat	Anchovy essence	Arrow root
Dried vegetables	Chicken broth	Bicarbonate of soda
Beans, dried	Chicken essence	Egg powder
Benger's Food	Potted meat	Jellies, Calf's Foot
Cornflour	Mutton broth	Olive oil
Fruits, assorted	Mutton extract	Pearl barley
Nutmegs	Mutton essence
Ox tongue	Lemonade crystals

also 82,000 ½bottles Bass Beer

The attention of

OFFICERS' MESSES, CLUBS, and COMMERCIAL FIRMS

is drawn to these goods, which will be sold as a whole to the highest or most suitable bidder, or to Officers' Messes, Clubs, etc. in smaller lots at equitable prices.

Tenders for all or any part of these goods will be accepted not later than 22nd December, 1919.

All particulars, with schedule of provisions for disposal, may be obtained from Room 182, Domhof 28, Cologne.

Verbal tenders will not be considered.

The Ministry of Munitions does not bind itself to accept the highest, or any tender, nor gives any guarantee as to quality or condition.

The successful tenderer will be required to forward a cheque for the full amount, made payable to the British Ministry of Munitions, Room 190, Domhof 28, Cologne, immediately on notification of acceptance (payment may be made in Sterling).

Removal of the goods purchased must be made within 10 days of receipt of Authorisation of Ownership, which form will be handed to the purchaser within 3 days of receipt of payment.

MINISTRY OF MUNITIONS,
(DISPOSAL BOARD) G.H.Q. COLOGNE.

KODAKS Ica, Zeiss, Goerz Ernemann, Nettel Cameras

Developing and Copying

All photographic work and repairs done.
Photographic Specialists

Nelles & Wolffram, Cologne, Unter Pettenhennen

Please ask for:

DEUTZ & GELDERMANN

First-class Champagne

FRANZ JOSEF ROETTGEN, COLOGNE, General Agent.

Mention The Cologne Post when replying to advertisements. It helps you and the advertisers.

CARPETS-LINOLEUM

All qualities of Tapestry Tournay-Velours- Axminster etc. Oriental carpets also in big stocks.
Wanted by a big wholesale firm
Apply to
ARNOLD GEHLEN
COLOGNE, Trajanstrasse 3
Telephone B 5637.

SIB. MÜLLER

Leather - Travelling - Articles
COLOGNE
Corner Andreaskloster
opposite the Officer's Club
(Ewige Lampe)
undertakes all repairs.

A CHRISTMAS PRESENT FOR HOME

WE SEND A PRINTED ADVICE TO YOUR FRIEND THAT YOU HAVE ARRANGED FOR THEM TO RECEIVE THE POST DAILY FOR ONE MONTH. FILL IN THE FORM — WE DO THE REST.

THE COLOGNE POST
HOME SUBSCRIPTION FORM

To Subscription Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40 Rhine Army
I enclose remittance for 20 marks. (From United Kingdom 3/4.)
Please send "The Cologne Post" daily for one month to:

PLEASE WRITE IN BLOCK LETTERS

NAME: .....

ADDRESS: .....

20 MARKS COVERS ALL BRITISH POSSESSIONS

.....

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O. S./40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

BUSINESS PREMISES in centre of the town comprising Shop, Office, Warehouse and twenty rooms. For sale Mks. 135,000.—. Letters Box 108, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (T.c.)

FUR, real Russian wild cat, new, splendid colour effect for ladies' coat, sleeves and collar complete, a bargain. Particulars Box 125, A.P.O./S. 40, Cologne. (1)

XMAS PRESENT. Heavy golden ring (gentleman's), for sale, cheap. Write A 435, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

YOUNG LADY, speaking English, teaches piano, German, and singing. E. Schreiner, Hohenzollernring 76.

OFFICER has for sale, cheap, a suit-case, hand-sewn pig skin, and a dressing-case, ladies. Both new; bought before prices rose in Cologne. Private reason for sale explained. Apply Box No. 131, Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40. (1)

PHOTO HOUSE and camera repairing works. Aug. Lang, mechanician of precision. Kl. Neugasse 941. Always bargains in second-hand binoculars Zeiss-Goertz, Voigtländer & Leitz.

REAL-Amber-Necklases at lowest prices by whole sale dealer. Apply for samples to H. Bley, Bonn, 22 Roonstr.

ZEISS-prism-glass 6×24 for sale. Price 380 Mks. Apply to A 444 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

GUITAR— beautiful master instrument with splendid tone with leather case. Stadlmair, Cologne, Schillingstr. 29.

LORRY Benz-Gaggenau 45/50 HP. 5 Tons complete ready to sell. Bohnen, Köln-Klettenberg, Luxemburgerstr. 254. Call 9-10, 2-4

CHRISTMAS present. Collection of 133 old Netterlandish drawings, water colours and etchings is to be sold. Value 5250 Off. A 442, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

WANTED.

GOOD second-hand football boots. Apply No. 5 Ambulance, Mülheim. (1)

IMMEDIATELY one or two Bedrooms, sitting room and kitchen, or use of kitchen for English N.C.O. and family. Box No. 121, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (3)

CORRESPONDENCE CLERK, experienced shorthand-typist, able to conduct correspondence in French and German, wanted. Write, stating full particulars and salary required, to Box 129, Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40. (2)

FURNISHED OFFICE required, with use of telephone; near station preferred. Full particulars and terms to Box 130, Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40. (2)

OFFICER'S BRITISH WARM — with waist band — height 5ft. 10ins. Apply Box No. 135. Cologne Post A.P.O. S/40.

SITUATIONS VACANT.

TWO English ladies resident in centre of Cologne require good daily servant. Must be respectable, honest and a fair cook. Liberal wages and good food. References essential. Apply Box 134, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (2)

MISCELLANEOUS.

ENGLISH Officer recommends young German as clerk or attendant. Apply Bertold Olesch by Breuer, Bonnerstr. 51.

EVENING lessons in Engl. shorthand by German lady. Write to A 441 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

MISSING.

PTE. MILLS (275 9) Royal Berks Regt. Any information gladly received by Mrs. Mills, 23 Buttermere Rd., Sheffield. (T.c.)

INFORMATION is wanted of Pte. M. H. Holmes No. 54815 6th platoons 1/5 West Yorks, missing since April 25th 1918 Kemmel Hill. Supposed to have been seen since at Shulfort and Pockedy premises in Maubeuge. Kindly write Holmes 3 Windsor Rd., Shipley Yorks. (T.c.)

PERSONAL.

SHOULD this be noticed by Daniel Smith please communicate with brother Pte. J. Parse, 111684, 52nd D.L.I., Bonn. (2)

LANGUAGES.

ENGLISH lady wishes to exchange English conversation for German three afternoons weekly. Apply Box 133, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (1)

YOUNG GERMAN lady speaks Engl. wishes exchange conversation with Engl. lady or gentleman. Write to A 440 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

ENGLISH Conversation desired by well educated German Gentleman. Apply to A 443 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 15 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 18, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

EVERYBODY'S READING IT
"THE COLOGNE POST"
XMAS
SOUVENIR NUMBER
7 Marks or 9 pence
One Shilling Post Free to "BLIGHTY"

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

PUBLIC OPIN VOTES
"C P" XMAS
SOUVENIR NUMBER
A GREAT SUCCESS
GET YOUR COPY
NOW

No. 225. COLOGNE, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

"THIS WAY TO THE DUMP."

LEGAL DECISION THAT FOREIGN GOODS CANNOT BE EXCLUDED FROM BRITAIN.

FUTURE OF THE TERRITORIAL FORCE

THE OPEN DOOR.

STARTLING JUDGMENT OVER BRITISH IMPORTS.

In delivering a reserved judgmen yesterday, Mr. Justice Sankey ruled that the Government has no power to prohibit imports of goods other than arms, ammunition and gunpowder. The judgment turned on the interpretation of the Customs Consolidation Act, 1876, which says "the importation of arms, gunpowder, ammunition, or any other goods may be prohibited by Proclamation or Order in Council". Under this authority the Government had issued thirty-two Proclamations.

Mr. Justice Sankey held that the phrase "any other goods" covered only goods of the same class as arms and ammunition and gunpowder.

Leave to appeal was granted.

The decision was made on a test case brought by Manchester Chemical Manufacturers concerning the seizure of a consignment of Pyrogallic Acid. The embargo on these goods was made by proclamation in June last but the restrictions were withdrawn on the 1st September except as regards materials for key industries. It is on the latter class of goods that the embargo is now declared illegal. If Mr. Justice Sankey's decision is upheld in the Lords, it will be necessary to introduce a Bill in 1920 indemnifying the Government against seizures of goods under proclamation. The decision has naturally delighted Free Traders.

Sir John Simon, in an interview, said that the whole embargo system had been blown sky high.

BRITISH AIRSHIP.

PASSENGER AND GOODS SERVICES.

Important British airship developments are pending. According to the "Globe" the aviation firms of Vickers, Beardmore and Short have practically amalgamated, a number of shipping magnates being associated with them. It is stated that the famous trans-Atlantic airship R 34, and the R 39 (now under construction in Scotland) will be acquired and altered to carry passengers and goods.

Services in Great Britain and to Scandinavia and Holland will first be organised, after which a demonstration flight from London to Egypt will probably be run. A weekly airship service to America is also contemplated but this is unlikely to materialise for some considerable time.

PENSION WARRANT.

ACTING RANKS TO BENEFIT.

The Royal Warrant for Pensions provides that no grant to a disabled soldier or his dependants shall be re-assessed to his or their disadvantage. A gratuity or final weekly allowance may be granted instead of a pension, such grant not to exceed two hundred pounds. Disablement pension granted to a soldier holding acting rank at the time of his disablement may be at the rate appropriate to that rank. A permanent pension when granted shall not be altered on account of any change in a man's earning capacity.

UNIVERSITY FOR SWANSEA.

A Charter of Incorporation has been granted by His Majesty the King to the Technical College at Swansea, thus raising it to the rank of a University. Swansea University College will now be able to confer degrees, honours etc. The town is raising a fund of £150,000 for the endowment of its University, more than half of which has already been securedt

UNION OF CHURCHES.

A special Commission of the General Assembly of the Established Church of Scotland decided at Edinburgh yesterday to approach the Government as regards the legislation necessary to secure the Union of the Church of Scotland and the United Free Church.

DOG SAVES 92 LIVES.

A hurricane has been raging in the North Atlantic for the past week, which has strewn the coast with wrecks. A Newfoundland dog aboard a steamer wrecked off Newfoundland saved the lives of ninety-two passengers and crew by taking a line ashore.

There is no sign of a compromise between Republican Senators and President Wilson on the Peace Treaty. No action is expected to be taken by either side before the New Year.

TERRITORIALS.

TO BE VOLUNTARILY RECRUITED.

According to the "Times" the War Office has now come to certain definite decisions regarding the reconstitution of the Territorial Force. The most important is that it will be voluntarily recruited on the basis of liability for foreign service in grave national emergency. It is not yet decided whether Territorials shall go abroad as units or in drafts. This is a most critical decision, as the whole question of our future Army Reserve is bound up with it. The War Office has decided to retain the pre-war standard of annual training.

MONEY SPINNERS.

TRIPLE BONUS FOR LANCASHIRE OPERATIVES.

In view of the prosperity of the industry and the fact that employees are under agreement to work at the present rates of wages until 31st March next, the Federation of Master Cotton spinners has decided to distribute three bonuses among its 115,000 employees. These will be paid on the 10th January, 14th February and 20th March. Men over twenty-one years of age will receive three pounds each time, and women over twenty-one two pounds, younger employees getting from twenty to thirty shillings. It is estimated that the total cost will be £1,500,000.

Weaving operatives are now hoping for a similar movement on the part of their employers.

The Executive Committees of two of the leading Cotton Operatives Unions held a meeting at Manchester yesterday afternoon and decided unanimously that these bonus proposals were in every respect unsatisfactory, particularly as to the amount and method of payment.

POULET'S ILL-LUCK.

BIRD SMASHES HIS PROPELLER.

On his second attempt to get away from Rangoon M. Poulet was again unfortunate. He started from Rangoon for Bangkok but when over the mountains in Burma a vulture dashed at his machine with the result that the right propeller was broken. Poulet therefore returned to Moulmein, where he alighted successfully in the middle of the night.

The Paris "Intransigeant" has opened a subscription list on behalf of M. Poulet, who received no official aid whatever towards his Australian flight. The first list totals 5,757 Francs and includes the names of Nungesser and other well-known airmen.

IRONMOULDERS' STRIKE.

Representatives of the Engineering Employers Federation and the Ironfounders Union met at the Ministry of Labour on Wednesday with a view to discuss a settlement of the Ironmoulders strike, which has lasted for twelve weeks. Actually only 50,000 moulders are out but the strike has thrown nearly 100,000 other workers out of employment.

The meeting broke up at midnight having failed to reach an agreement, and stands adjourned till Tuesday.

HIGHER FARES.

Speaking at Bristol, Sir Eric Geddes intimated that railway rates would be raised within a month. Negotiations with the railwaymen were proceeding satisfactorily, he said, and it had been agreed to refer future disputes to a National Wages Board consisting of representatives of the managements, the men and railway users. There would be no strike until one month after such reference.

DON'T MISS THIS.

Come round to the Y.M.C.A. and have a meal, or borrow a book, or listen to the concert or one of a thousand other things. First, however, understand that the Y.M.C.A. is faced with a deficit of £750,000, and it's up to YOU to help. Stand by for further particulars.

ANTIPODEAN AIR ROUTE.

In view of the probable establishment of a commercial air service between England and Australia Captain Ross Smith suggests as intermediate sections London, Cairo, Calcutta, Singapore and Port Darwin. He favours the use of seaplanes from Calcutta.

The Labour Gazette asserts that retail prices of food etc. are still 125 per cent. above their pre-war level.

SINN FEIN RAID.

CORK RAILWAY STATION CAPTURED.

Late on Tuesday night a daring raid was made on the premises of the Cork, Bandon and South Coast Railway at Cork. Parties of armed men entered the station premises and locked up the employees in one building. A thorough search was then made of the stores and offices under the belief that arms were stored there pending transportation on the railway. Nothing was found, however, and the parties retired. The raid was carried out very quietly and attracted no outside attention. It was effected about midnight by two hundred armed and disciplined Sinn Feiners within two hundred yards of the Police Headquarters. On a signal being given by whistle the raiders took up their allotted positions, locked up all the signalmen, shunters, drivers and clerks and occupied the station for an hour, searching for an expected consignment of arms to the military. No arrests have been made.

WAR GRATUITIES.

PAYMENTS TO NEXT OF KIN NEARLY COMPLETE.

The War Office states that the war gratuity granted in December last has now been issued to the legal representatives of over 543,000 officers and men who died in the war. The rate of issue of gratuities has reached over 40,000 a week. This is in addition to the total of 98,000 cases dealt with at the same time as the rest of the estate.

The work is rapidly approaching completion and if the representatives of any officers or men entitled to gratuities have not already received a communication from the War Office on the subject, they should at once send particulars to the Secretary to the War Office, Imperial Institute, South Kensington London SW. 7.

This does not apply to officers who held temporary commissions, as the gratuity issueable in respect of such commissions is provided for under the Royal Pay Warrant and this gratuity being paid when the officers' balances are issued, no application is necessary.

ON THE KING'S ROLL.

EIGHT THOUSAND PATRIOTIC FIRMS.

It was announced in the House of Commons by Sir Robert Horne, Minister of Labour, yesterday, that the number of firms now on the "King's Roll" who are pledged to employ a certain proportion of disabled soldiers, is 8,100. They afford employment to 1,230,000 workpeople in addition to 75,500 disabled ex-service men.

The number of disabled men placed in employment by the Labour Exchanges between the 15th September and the 5th October was 14,700, and many more have been placed by direct application. The number of disabled men on the register of unemployed on the 5th December was 42,000.

IN COMMON DIGNITY.

WAR GRAVE MEMORIALS.

The refusal of the War Graves Commission to allow relatives to erect private memorials in France and Flanders was sharply criticised in the House of Commons yesterday. Lord Robert Cecil declared that it inflicted unjustifiable suffering on parents and others.

Mr. Churchill upheld the decision that memorials should be uniform in design. The soldierly feeling was that all—Prince and peasant, private and officer,—should rest together in common dignity and honour.

FILM OF PRINCE'S TOUR.

The Albert Hall was packed with an enthusiastic audience yesterday when the King und Queen and other members of the Royal Family attended to visit the first exhibition of films depicting the Prince of Wales' Canadian tour. The High Commissioner for Canada, who presided, dwelt on the wonderful personality of the Prince and the enormous success of his tour, emphasising the Dominion's undeviating loyalty to the Empire and the Crown.

FOOD FOR AUSTRIA.

The Supreme Council, after hearing Herr Renner, the Austrian Chancellor, has decided to permit the immediate despatch to Austria of thirty thousand tons of foodstuffs now lying at Trieste and has also decided that financial assistance from the United States is indispensable to facilitate the revictualling of Austria.

PREMIER SMUT'S POLICY.

Delayed messages from Bloemfontein state that General Smuts in his declaration of policy at Bloemfontein said that the South African Party would combine neither with Nationalists nor Unionists. Foreshadowing a large programme of reforms, he appealed for the support of all moderate men.

A German barque from Philadelphia has arrived in the Downs, the first since 1914. None of the crew were allowed ashore.

POOR RATEPAYERS.

LABOURITES SQUANDERING PUBLIC MONEY.

The new Labour majority on the Bermondsey Borough Council (South London) is going the pace in the matter of finance to such purpose that after being in office only one month, they already find it necessary to levy a Supplementary Rate of 1s. 10d. in the pound, making the total rate 12s. 10d. for the year, provided no further supplementary levy is made.

The advance of a pound a week in the wages of all the Council's employees alone involves a sixpenny rate. The "Star" points out that women lavatory attendants are now getting 66s. 6d. per week, and are thus being paid at the rate of over two shillings an hour.

During the past month the Council has been responsible for the expenditure of £13,725 which was not provided for in the Estimates. The new Council has decided to cover last year's deficit of £5,000 on the Municipal Electricity Undertaking by loan instead of from the current rate.

Speaking at Battersea yesterday Mr. Scott Duckers said the new programme of the new Labour Council at Battersea meant a great increase in the rates. In order to keep them under twenty-shillings in the pound there must be a drastic re-assessment of the whole Borough.

WAR HONOURS.

FUTURE RECOMMENDATIONS.

An Army Order issued yesterday directs attention to the fact that final action has still to be taken in respect of (1) certain lists of recommendations for services in the field since the Armistice, for gallant conduct in escaping or attempting to escape from captivity and for valuable and meritorious services rendered whilst in captivity; (2) recommendations for the Royal Red Cross. It is further stated that recommendations may be submitted as hitherto in respect of services (including Nursing Services) in those theatres in which hostilities still continue; and that in respect of military services the pre-war system of honours will now be reverted to. The following forms of reward dealt with by the War Office will be available under peace conditions:—(1) Order of the Bath—Military Division. Appointments and promotions to fill establishment vacancies; (2) Order of the British Empire (Military Division). Available for award for "gallant conduct" on the part of officers, the qualifying services being of the character of those for which in the case of other ranks the Meritorious Service Medal is available.

The Albert Medal, Edward Medal, Board of Trade Medal, Royal Humane Society Awards, Stanhope Gold Medal, and the Medal of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution will be open to all ranks of the Army in recognition of the services for which each distinction is the particular form of reward, but the final selection for these distinctions will not rest with the Army Council.

Recommendations for Brevet promotion and substantive promotion under the Pay Warrant will be accepted only in respect of most exceptional services, provided that the services fall within the terms of those articles of the Warrant in which the conditions are set out.

ITALIAN POLICY.

ALLIES AND DISPOSAL OF FIUME

Last Saturday the Italian Premier, Signor Nitti, made a speech at Rome stating that Signor Scialoja had not been entrusted on his visit to London with the duty of concluding with the Allies any treaties compromising the future of Italy.

This statement has given rise at Paris to various misinterpretations, and many leaders of opinion incline to the belief that it indicates a change in Italy's foreign policy.

The "Matin" states that according to authoritative information from Rome Signor Nitti's speech must only be read as containing the assurance that all treaties submitted to Italy for signature will be discussed in the Italian Chamber before being signed. The Foreign policy of Italy, adds the "Matin," will be based as in the past on the principle of complete solidarity with the Allies.

The "Journal des Debats" reports that as a result of the recent conferences in London, Mr. Lloyd George and M. Clemenceau have addressed a Note to Signor Scialoja pointing out that no settlement of the Fiume question is possible except that advocated by President Wilson.

OVERSEAS AERODROMES.

An item of £50,000 appeared in the Army Estimates for expenditure in connection with the aerial route from Cairo to India. This is only the first step, said the War Secretary, towards the preparation of aerodromes and accommodation at Cairo, Baghdad and Karachi, which are the most important sections of the air route from London to Australia.

The present type of aeroplane is well enough for war or adventure, commented Mr. Churchill, but for peace time commerce a greater degree of safety is necessary.

Several divisions were taken, resulting in substantial majorities for the Government.

The present uniform of the Royal Air Force is to be replaced by one of more modest and sober hue while preserving the distinctive character of the Force.

SUMMARY COURT.

SAVAGE AND INSOLENT BULLY.

A meeting at Monheim between a British soldier and a German girl of seventeen led to the appearance at the Summary Court of H. Gotze, whose address was not given. He was charged on seven counts, including an attempt to stab the soldier, making use of offensive remarks, accusing the soldier of attempting to violate a German girl, and resisting arrest.

It appeared from the soldier's evidence that while he was speaking to the girl at Monheim accused came on the scene and warned him that he must not speak to the fraulein. The German next attempted to strike the girl but witness interfered. Accused then took out a knife and attempted to stab him. He also struck the soldier several times with a stick and said "I was a German sailor and am now a member of the Bolshevik Army in Berlin. I will put an end to you in the Rhine."

The girl in her evidence stated that on the departure of the soldier the accused indecently assaulted her and threatened to kill her if she told anybody. He also took a ring from her finger and asked her to meet him again. She promised to do so, being frightened at the time, but did not keep the appointment. She informed the German police of the occurrence.

The Presiding Officer in passing sentence of six months imprisonment for the assault and attempt to stab, said accused would be tried by the German Courts for the indecent assault.

BORROWED PASSES.

On receipt of a letter from his brother in Westphalia stating that one of his children, who is consumptive, was very seriously ill, Christian Haldebaum of Saarbrücken went to visit the child. He used his brother's pass for the purpose but was detected by the Military Police and charged with being in Occupied Territory without permission and using a pass other than his own.

The Presiding Officer said these cases were occurring very frequently and were giving a good deal of trouble to the authorities.

Accused was fined forty marks.

INSOLENT TRAM CONDUCTOR.

For insolent behaviour towards a British officer and his wife, a tram conductor named Philipp Busch, of 42 Am Salzmagazin, was sentenced to fourteen days imprisonment.

When asked for her ticket by the accused the lady produced a permanent monthly pass, but this, according to the evidence, did not satisfy the conductor. He demanded it several times and eventually snatched it out of her hand for examination, and threw it back at her. In the lady's opinion this was done with the object of trying to ridicule her in the eyes of the other passengers.

The officer bore out his wife's statement. The Presiding Officer said he was sorry that these cases kept occurring, because his experience of tram conductors was that they were an exceedingly civil body of men. He was afraid that the courtesy and forbearance shown by the English people was being mistaken for weakness, and in future, cases of insolence to British officers would be severely dealt with.

A DISGRACEFUL HOUSE.

Describing it as a very bad case, the Presiding Officer sentenced Paul Engles, a restaurant proprietor, of 502 Venloerstrasse to one month's imprisonment. He was charged with allowing British troops in his house while it was "out of bounds." The military policeman who make the raid said that on a previous occasion when accused's house was visited, sixteen women were found there who on examination were found to be diseased disease.

The accused pleaded that the soldiers were drunk and threatened him with a revolver if he did not supply them with drink.

TO ART STUDENTS.

SPECIAL TEN DAYS' COURSE.

A special Art Course of 10 days' duration, including instruction in black and white, studies from the life, figure construction etc., water-colours, oils and pastel, is offered by the Commandant of the Army General and Commercial College.

This will afford an excellent opportunity for those readers of the "Cologne Post" who have in the past taken such a keen interest in the study of Art generally.

The Course will assemble on the 29th December and end on the 8th January. The hours have been arranged to suit all ranks, i.e. 14.00 to 16.00 and 17.30 to 19.30 hours daily.

Applications for vacancies for the above course should be addressed to The Adjutant, Army General and Commercial College, not later than December 24th. Applications from present or past Art Students of the College will not be accepted.

REPATRIATION OF PRISONERS

During the fortnight ended 10th December, 1,462 German and Austrian prisoners of war were sent home from the United Kingdom and Malta, while during the same period 1,198 Turkish prisoners were repatriated from Egypt, Salonica and Malta. The number of prisoners of war repatriated by the British authorities since the 1st September last is as follows: Germans, 267,740; Austrians, 3,343; Turks, 34,612; Bulgarians 1,284. Total 306,979.

Mr. J. T. Brownlie, of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, has been adopted as Labour candidate for the Crewe division.

TALLY-HO.

FOX HUNTING DISPUTE IN BUCKS.

Landowners, farmers and foxhunting subscribers to the number of 250 met at Aylesbury on Wednesday with a view to adjusting the dispute which has arisen over the presence in the Whaddon Chase district of a pack under the Mastership of Lord Dalmeny as a rival to the original Whaddon Chase Hunt under the Mastership of Colonel Selby-Lowndes. The Marquis of Lincolnshire, Lord Lieutenant of Buckinghamshire presided.

Lord Dalmeny and Colonel Selby-Lowndes both addressed the meeting and an excited discussion followed. As there seemed no prospect of a settlement a ballot was proposed but before the vote was taken Colonel Selby-Lowndes and his supporters left the hall. Finally Lord Dalmeny was confirmed in his Mastership by 113 votes to two.

AID TO FARMERS.

SLIDING SCALE OF PRICES FOR CORN.

Sir Arthur Boscawen, Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Agriculture, speaking at Truro on Wednesday, said that the Board were drafting a Bill for next session which would approach a real Agricultural Policy and would undoubtedly maintain guaranteed prices for cereals. The prices laid down in the Corn Production Act were insufficient. In view of the present cost of production, wheat at forty-five shillings next year would mean bankruptcy. Therefore the Government would put in prices based on the cost of production which would vary from year to year. He hoped the measure would not be for a definite short term of years but until Parliament otherwise determined. In any case there should be at least four years notice of termination of the guarantee so that farmers might have some years to look ahead.

The Bill would also provide for the fullest compensation to farmers if they were unreasonably disturbed, and there must also be a guarantee that labourers will be paid a decent living wage. The Board is opposed to the application of the forty eight hour week to agriculture but if such demand were forced upon it, then there must be a clause enabling any employer to contract out by agreement with his men.

WHO'S YOUR TAILOR?

GAY FASHIONS FOR MEN.

The fashion artist, Mr. Henry Parkes, is appealing for fifteen thousand young men to act as pioneers of dress reform in order to brighten the masculine drabness of modern life. He has designed and is exhibiting brocaded evening dress, complete with ruffles and buckles, also coloured suits for business men. Many military, naval and sporting men are supporting Mr. Parkes. Three leading West End tailors are turning out the gayest adaptations of old fashions, including goldbraided waistcoats and coats. The favourite colours are royal blue and purple.

228 MILES AN HOUR.

AIRMAN'S WONDERFUL FEAT.

The well known French airman, Sadi Lecomte, flying yesterday at Villa Coublay aerodrome, covered a measured kilometre at the rate of 307 kilometres 225 metres per hour. At one time he flew for several seconds at the amazing speed of 364 kilometres 555 metres (228 miles) per hour. These experimental flights were officially regulated.

WORK OF BRITISH TRANSPORTS.

An official return of the number of troops conveyed in transports on long sea routes in the month of November gives a total of 4,662 officers and 48,119 other ranks. Of this number 751 officers and 15,463 other ranks sailed from India to the United Kingdom and 119 officers and 3,167 other ranks from Mesopotamia. 245 Officers and 2,595 other ranks came home from Egypt, and 91 officers and 2,544 other ranks from the Black Sea Army (Constantinople). Of the rest 1,033 Officers and 4,475 other ranks were repatriated from the United Kingdom to Canada, Australia, and New Zealand.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

Business slackened somewhat under the influence of the approaching holidays but the general tone was good. The reduction of the National Debt by £4,346,000 stimulated British funds but they closed under best. French Loans failed to sustain the whole of their initial improvements. Oils opened firm but finished lower, pending the declaration of the Mexican Eagle dividend. Industrials weakened owing to a number of new capital issues and the falling off of public interest. Foreign exchanges are becoming more favourable, consequently gold was quoted at 108s. 9d. Silver was inactive and declined to 78 in consequence of an advance in the America Exchange. The exchange on Paris was 79,77; Belgium 38,10; Switzerland 20,75; Amsterdam 10,04; Germany 181—183; Austria 670—700.

ANOTHER NEW DEPARTMENT

The N.A.C.B. are now prepared to carry out all kinds of Laundry Work at rates below those charged by Civilian Laundries.

Price list can be obtained at the following N.A.C.B. establishments.

The Officers Shop
27 Obermarspforten.
64 Aachener Strasse.

British Officers Club Nr. 2.
Marricer Hostel.

The above addresses are also Receiving Stations.

N.A.C.B. Service

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstrasse

Special Sunday Concert

Sunday, December 21st, 1919, at 6.00 p.m.

Grand Vocal and Instrumental Concert

The Band of:

Inniskilling Dragoons.

By kind permission of Colonel B. VINCENT, C.B., C.M.G. Officer Commanding.

Bandmaster E. ADAMS.

Book at Amusements Office.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.

Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc., Staff Instructor in attendance.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Note; there will be no performance at the Deutsches Theatre on Saturday evening.

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.

TO-NIGHT AND NIGHTLY
the
British Rhine Army Variety Company
in a Special Variety Entertainment.

ARTISTES:

Alfred Barker, Violinist	Harold Walters, Baritone
Miss Hilda Potts, Soprano	Charles Gordon, Handbellringer
Mr. Chas S. Stairs, Humorist	Bert Rex
Miss Inez Bensusan	Lt. J. Humphrey Hope
Miss Frances Chisholm	Pte. J. Terry, R.A.S.C.

A one-act Play by
STANLEY HOUGHTON
entitled
"THE DEAR DEPARTED"
will be produced.
Book at Amusement Office.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.

TO-NIGHT AND NIGHTLY
welcome Return Visit of
Mr. ALFRED HURLEY's London Variety Coy
"THE JESTERS"
ARTISTES.
Mr. JOE MORLEY.
(The celebrated Banjoist from the London Palladium)
Miss MABEL MARTIN.
Soprano.
Miss JESSIE MOUNTJOY.
Songs at the piano.
Mr. HARRY KING.
Comedian.
Mr. CHAS. LEWIS.
with "Joey".
BOOK AT AMUSEMENTS OFFICE.

No 1 Cinema is now closed.

No: 2 ARMY CINEMA.
(Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.

No: 3 ARMY CINEMA.
(Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
CINEMA
Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

BUY IT TO-DAY.

Of the making of books there is no end. Xmas Numbers are with us every year—and always the same old snow and churches, Holly and Misletoe.

In producing a Souvenir Number, the Editor had in mind a pictorial and press record of all sides of occupation life. How far this ideal has been achieved you can judge for yourself—but one thing is certain will be unique amongst books and publications.

The Cologne Post Xmas Souvenir Number

It is not a Newspaper like the usual daily issue, but a Magazine printed on high class paper and full of illustrations depicting all sides of life here.

For yourself in a years time this Souvenir will be a most valuable treasure—connecting you with the days of your soldiering on the Rhine, and for your friends and relations' now, a more intresting gift could not be imagined.

Amongst those who contribute are; Phillip Gibbs, W.E.Hornung, Professor A. Main, Miss Decima Moore, C.B.E., Dr.A.Francis, Rev. G. Kendall, R.F. Gardiner and many others, in addition to the Cologne Post literary staff.

Photographs—official and otherwise from all sources, make a pictorial record of all the principal events.

The Cologne Post Xmas Souvenir Number

Is published at 7 marks or ninepence—one shilling post free to U.K.
Units ordering more than 50 copies obtain 10% discount.

7 MARKS OR NINEPENCE

ONE SHILLING POST FREE TO U.K.

R.C. FLACK & CO.
Naval-Military and Civil Tailors
CAMBRIDGE.

The largest selection of newest materials for Military and Civil dress.
A large stock of Military and Civil requirements.

Orders completed in about 14 days.

KRONPRINZ HOTEL
ROOM 6, Behind EXELSIOR.

Souvenirs Jewellery-Watches-Steelware etc. cheapest at
B.Prechner, Cologne, 27 Weidenbach

SIMPLICISSIMUS
Cabaret and Wine-Room
— Hohestrasse 152—154. —
Daily first-class singing and dancing performances.
Open from 6.30 to 10.45 p.m.
— For Officers and Civilians only. —

CAFÉ BIOSCOP
Breitestr. 58—60. Corner Langgasse.
Near the Empire Leave Club.
Every day 5 o'clock tea with Concert
First Class Ice Creams. Special Tea Room. Concert on Sunday morning.

ARMY SKATING RINK.
NOW OPEN. This week, Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday other ranks and wives only 5.30 to 9.30.
Friday Officers and wives 3.30 to 10.0
Skates provided. Cloak Room Accommodation for spectators: Mugs' Alley for Beginners. Commencing shortly, Teas and refreshments will be served on the Balcony.

VI. CORPS OFFICERS CLUB XMAS TREE

Married Officers who wish to take part in the VI. Corps Officers' Christmas tree on December, 30th. Should apply for tickets at once to A.Q.M.G. VI. Corps Headquarters.
Application should state the number of tickets required (1) for adults giving name (Rank and unit of officers) (2) for children giving names and ages).
N.B. No babies in arms are invited.
Tickets will be 10 marks each and will be paid for at the door.
Time 4 p.m. to 6.30 p.m.
Applications for tickets must be received at VI. Corps H.Q. by the 23rd inst.

WEIN-RESTAURANT
Heinrich Piller
64 Hohenstaufenring 64
near Opera house and Hohenstaufenbath now reopened.

IMPORTANT TO IMPORTERS AND EXPORTERS
LARGE STOCK IN AMBER BEADS
COMING TO COLOGNE
If you are intrested apply to No. 105 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

The Cologne Post
Telephones: Military, No. 659. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Friday, December 19, 1919.

OUR SOUVENIR NUMBER.

How many of us can plead not guilty to at some time or other during the war becoming victims of the souvenir craze?

A very limited number, we submit, while in a great many cases, it was developed to such an extent that it became a mania. The craving is a very natural one, and is inspired by very human motives.

Men who were participating in the great struggle on the Continent were eager to possess some little memento of the small part they were playing in the great world tragedy, a reminder of the suffering endured in common with thousands of their fellows, and a perpetual emblem of their willingness to sacrifice in the great cause.

The fragment of shell, which came perilously near, would bring back a flood of memories of Loos, the particle of aeroplane recall the cruel days of the Somme, or the part of a German rifle would always be associated with the fateful days spent in the region of stricken Ypres.

And there is yet another reason. In these days of scepticism, when proof to the hilt is required in order to carry conviction, it was doubtless thought that the souvenirs of the battlefield would be convincing evidence to those at home that the owner had known what it was to live under the fire of the enemy's guns.

Now that we have left France and Flanders far behind, we still remain souvenir hunters, and it is to Rhineland that we are at present devoting our token-gathering inclinations.

It was in order to satisfy this very apparent desire that we decided to publish a comprehensive review of British doings in Rhineland in magazine form. We are confident that our Xmas Souvenir number, as it is called will more than satisfy the most fastidious searcher.

It will solve once and for all the souvenir problem, and we feel sure that it will be in great demand by all who are, or have been, in the Britsh Army of Occupation.

THE SWEAR HABIT.

Not only in our columns, but in those of some of the leading American journals has the subject of swearing come into prominence of late. The question asked is whether or not the war has been responsible for an increasing use of bad language.

But first of all it is necessary to come to an understanding as to what is or is not profane. To the meek and modest old maid at home the mildest form of oath is regarded as an unforgiveable crime, whereas the hardened campaigner would accept the same remark as a perfectly legitimate form of speech. An expression which would cut a mother to the heart would pass unnoticed by a father.

It is to a great extent a question of circumstances and commonsense.

But we are living in an age in which we are slowly growing to accept the use of words which would have shocked the last generation, and the drawing room and the Press no longer look upon the milder swear word as in bad taste or indecent.

There is, however, a type of expression which is, of a truth, profanity and which jars as the grating of a file upon the senses of the average man. This, we take it, is what is really meant when a soldier speaks of bad language.

That the use of this extreme type has become more common as a result of the experiences of France and Flanders is an undisputed fact. Exceptional strain on nerves and tempers, to which we were all submitted during the war, demanded exceptional forms of expression and all soldiers will agree that they were strong enough.

Unfortunately, with a return to the conditions of peace the habit has not in all cases been overcome and expressions of the maximum profanity are now made use of with a minimum of provocation.

Still there is no reason to suppose that this undesirable state of affairs will become a permanency, and though it may may take some time to eradicate, there is little doubt but that nerves and tongues will eventually arrive at the armistice stage and the latter be content once more with milder and sweeter epithets.

There is one point which gives rise to serious concern. The young soldier has, we regret to say, also acquired the objectionable habit and without good cause or justification. He has merely adopted it from the veteran for whom there was some excuse. Will he, too, realise that the use of filthy expressions is by no means an attribute of manliness and renounce further indulgence?

LETTERS TO CHARLES.

IMPRESSIONS OF COLOGNE.

Dear Charles,

A terrible thing has happened since I last wrote to you. No civilians are allowed in the N.A.C.B. officers' clubs now unless on the lead—I mean unless one goes as the guest of an officer. As a friend of mine says, "Who wants to go into a place just to receive the stony stare from innumerable wives?" but that's merely sour grapes.

I rather liked the clubs—they're really quite palatial, Charles, and you get German music and German waiters with all the meals—not to mention ditto wine and the society of warriors of all calibres. But I have just made a discovery; did you know that those mysterious initials N.A.C.B. stand for Navy and Army Canteen Board? You see the idea—the Navy apparently at the head of it; now you're in the Admiralty, Charles, surely you can do something about it; you know the sort of thing—this intolerable insult to the ex-officer but permanent gentleman, etc., etc.; you could almost write a letter to the "Times" or . . or . . "John Bull" about it . . . . only I suppose Dear old England has quite forgotten the existence of its Rhine Army in the excitement over Beckett and Carpentier . . .

The only other event of importance is that I have been to the Opera—truly a great event, though. Need I remind you that I am not in the least musical; play me "Hors d'oeuvres" or "the Maid of the Mountains" on the gramophone and I am really thrilled, but alas, such stuff they tell me is not music; and in the past I have always said, "Then you can have your rotten old operas, only leave me to my simple and (to me) melodious ragtime." In other words I jazzed and recked not of music with a capital "M."

Here I bowed to the inevitable and went. It was called "Conte se tutte" or something like that, one of Mozart's lesser known works, so they tell me, but anyway I don't suppose you've ever heard of it Charles. Well I suppose I did enjoy it to a large extent—but you know these operas, and indeed all these shows here, labour under a great, and to me, I must confess, insuperable disadvantage. They begin at seven or in some cases even six o'clock; d'you realise what that means, Charles, to one who, well, at any rate, does not neglect his inner man? "What", you say, "has the inner man to do with the higher aesthetic emotions?" Unfortunately a great deal.

I ask you, how long do you think "The Kiss Bird" or "Aberration" or whatever your latest success in London is called, would run if it faced an audience of, to put it crudely, empty stomachs? Not one blessed week, believe me—why it's only that after-dinner optimism which makes lots of plays bearable. And then the heroine was rather . . . well that always is so in opera, isn't it Charles? I mean the singing develops them or something doesn't it? Well, the hero couldn't quite get his arms round her—it did spoil the realism a little, I thought. No, I have no other complaints to make.

I shall probably come back to you quite the musician, and insist on dragging you all to Covent Garden. I shall choose one of those things that you have to have an early breakfast to be in time for, and which go on far into the night; it will be a fitting punishment for ever questioning my taste.

I don't think there's really any more news, Charles, except that I met an officer this morning with only one pip and a fur collar; you're an authority on military matters, surely that's against King's Regs or something, isn't it? I mean a fur collar with a crown by all means (that is if you really feel the cold round there) but with one pip . . . tut! tut!, or words to that effect; unless of course you're in the Army Service Corps (I beg its pardon "Royal") I suppose it's all right then. I spoke to him about it, but he didn't seem to like it; funny how touchy some people are, isn't it?

Yours ever JOHN.

ART EXHIBITION.

Talent in the Rhine Army.

The Art Exhibition held in the Y.M.C.A. at Lindenthal last Saturday brought ample proof, if proof was needed, not only that there is really good artistic talent in the ranks of the British Army of Occupation, but also that Art is appreciated by the British soldier of the present day. For there was a constant stream of khaki-clad visitors passing through the rooms used for the exhibition from the minute the doors opened until closing time. Nor were members of the fair sex wanting, who are commonly supposed to be more versed in these matters than 'mere men,' to say nothing of the votaries of Mars.

Both in number and quality the entries on Saturday far surpassed those of the previous exhibition, held some three months ago, a fact which is decidedly encouraging to those who take an interest in the all-round development of our young soldiers. It is now practically certain not only that the next exhibition held under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. will be nearer the centre of Cologne, so as to be accessible to all, but that a big building will be required to house the show. As it is, Burlington House will have to look to its laurels in the future.

Coming to the entries themselves, these were found to be arranged in six classes, among which they were fairly evenly distributed. Sapper W. Carr, of the Royal Engineers, carried off the premier honours in the water-colour section with an exquisitely tender "Woodland Scene," which met with instant approval. Some of this exhibitor's sketch-books were also on view, and showed that he has the genuine artistic temperament, an unerring eye for beauty and painstaking application to detail.

Universally admired in this section was the "Night Reflections" of Corporal E. Gratwick, a nocturne in which the mirrored lights of the Rhine bank lead the eye upwards to the mystic splendour of Cologne's majestic cathedral, dimly discerned in the gathering gloom of night. This picture deservedly gained the second prize. More in the architectural style was a picture of the Rhine bridge at Bonn, by Pte. R. Welstand, which for its careful accuracy and promise of better things received high commendation alike from judge and visitors.

In the Black and White section there could be no doubt as to who would be awarded the first prize, this going to L'Cpl. Lawrence Jarvis, whose "Hollyhocks" was a finished piece of chiaroscuro. The second prize occasioned more difficulty. It went eventually to Pte. C. W. Allard for three still life drawings, which, however, were run pretty close by two charming pen sketches of Bodendorf and the Market Place at Bonn, the work of Miss P. Sutton, of the Y.M.C.A.

In the section for designs first place was taken by Rfm. C. V. Gordon (51st R.B.'s), with a beautifully illuminated design. in which the letters "Y.M.C.A." stood boldly out from a background of the national emblems of the United Kingdom. Next in pride of place came a splendid poster by L'Cpl. R. E. Johnson, showing the ill-fated Cunarder "Lusitania," which received its meed of attention from everyone who visited the exhibition.

The outstanding entry in the section for comic sketches, and the only one adjudged worthy of a prize, was a sketch by Pte. D. L. Mays, entitled "Private Rumour," the execution of which matched the vigour of the conception.

Two sections were devoted to photographs, but the entries here were rather disappointing in point of numbers. Pte. Green, of the A.O.C., took first prize for photographs of Rhineland, his efforts being represented by some night pictures of Cologne from the right bank of the Rhine, a beautiful "Sunrise" and a study of the polar bears at the Zoo. Miss K. M. Hood annexed the second prize with some excellent views of the Ahr Valley.

In the second section for photographs Mr. E. H. J. Evans, of the Y.M.C.A., was awarded first prize for a study of a dog and a spring scene entitled "Nature's Finest Textures", while Sgt. H. C. Bampton, R.F.A., came a close second with some views at Paffrath.

The exhibition was reinforced by a large number of photographs kindly lent by the Signal Section, VI Corps, and by the originals of many of the most popular cartoons which have appeared in the "Cologne Post," this through the courtesy of the editor. Several other artists also allowed specimens of their work to be placed on view, which added in no small degree to the interest of the exhibition.

Everything possible was done to make the exhibition a success, and the arrangements for the comfort of visitors reflect the highest credit on the organizer, Mr. E. F. Carver, the librarian of the Y.M.C.A. in the VI Corps, himself a talented artist with a prolific brush, as was evidenced in the large number of specimens of his work, which, though not entered for competition, gave body to the water-colour section.

During the afternoon tea was daintily served in the library and reading-room, after which the visitors were regaled with a musical programme rendered by the members of Miss Audrey Esmond's Concert Company in the Star Theatre, the audience showing enthusiastic appreciation of every item.

The judging of the entries for the exhibition was most capably carried out by Captain Jemmet, of the Army Art School.

In fine, the exhibition may without exaggeration be written down a triumphant success, and it is to be hoped that it will be followed with another at no distant date.

The prizes, four of which were presented by Lady Cooper and Lady Laura Ridding, will be distributed at the whist drive to be held next Saturday night in the Loreley Hall at the Central Y.M.C.A., Friesenstrasse, to which all are invited.

CAN YOU WRITE?

We pay for all literary contributions to "The Cologne Post," and are pleased to consider articles, humorous sketches and poems by members of the Rhine Army. No article should exceed 500 words, and even shorter ones can be submitted.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

THE ART OF LETTER WRITING.

Sir,—In perusing the letter on "The Importance of Letter Writing," appearing over the initials "R.M.," one is painfully reminded of the old saying, "Physician, cure thyself."

Your correspondent says, "in writing slovenly and 'Ungrammatical' you are doing your reader an injustice." This lapse in a letter so full of instruction is, one feels, perhaps a little unfortunate.

W.R.F.M.

A BAD HABIT.

Sir,—There was an obvious reason for "Cupid's" reformation. He doesn't indulge in the swear habit now having become a victim of the "arrow."

But it appears to me that in his reply to H.J.J. he has missed the mark altogether. He may find it easy to keep his vocabulary unadulterated, but must remember that we have not all the same weaknesses.

What is a great temptation for one man has no appeal for another. But I expect "Cupid" has his little vices although he may not have the moral courage of H.J.J. to confess them.

ANOTHER VICTIM.

A WONDERFUL MEMORY.

Sir,—The other evening an argument arose as to how Datas got his wonderful memory. One said it was a gift of nature. and another that it was his own mind put into working order during his younger days.

Perhaps your readers can be induced to give their opinions as to which of the two arguments is right. AN ADMIRER.

SILLY FILMS.

Sir,—I do not agree with the remarks "Man in the street" makes about German films being produced, and acted better than films seen at Army Cinemas and in England.

I have had three years' experience with one of the largest film renters and producers in England, and also as a cinema operator. I might mention that 75 per cent of films thrown upon the screen at Army cinemas are not England's best by a far way, and were produced about 1910 when producing, acting, and the art of photography was not so favourable as at present.

Surely he does not think that English film renters are going to send out here such films as "Intolerance," "Birth of a Nation," "Ibsen's Ghosts," and the Western Import's latest, "Tommy Atkins in Berlin." If he does, he is greatly mistaken. R.A.M.C.

RHINELAND AUDIENCES.

Sir,—You ask for opinions on the views expressed in your leading article on this subject. May I give mine?

I think, sir, there is a lot in what you say. Anyone with half an eye can see that there is a different type of individual to cater for in these days than there was in the earlier days of the occupation.

I am sure that if this were realised by those who so kindly give their services to entertain the lads it would be greatly appreciated.

I believe "General Post" was put on this week and here we have the right goods. It is reasonably melodramatic as was "The Man who Stayed at Home" and appeals to all. Some of the plays staged recently, did not, and there is no getting away from the fact, talk of high dramatic art or whatever you like.

By reviving "General Post" it would appear that those running our amusements are realising this. May the policy continue and all will be well.

Then I hear there is likely to be a Pantomime soon. Nobody can say that this will not be very popular if it's a fitting production. H.P.C.

A RANKER'S PLAINT.

Sir,—The letter by your correspondent "Ranker" requires qualifying.

It rather strikes me that he has rushed into print after having had a verbal encounter with one "of these people" as he puts it.

As one of the "crowd" of unsung or undecorated I personally see no objection at all to either Warrant Officers or Sergeants patronising the N.A.C.B. Canteens.

I fail entirely to see that they monopolise the Canteens, as I am continually in both the N.A.C.B. Canteens at various hours of the day, and have never yet noticed the overwhelming majority of senior N.C.O.'s that he mentions.

My experience of barrack life in Aldershot was that, though there was a room set apart exclusively for the use of N.C.O's it was not incumbent on them to visit there and there only.

To say the least of it, why quibble at all; surely we of the rank and file are all out here for the same purpose, and any Canteens should be open to all and sundry. Why make a storm in a tea cup? A.F.B.

BUSINESS AND LIFE.

Sir,—There are, I think, in the world to-day a number of men who think that business is the only important thing in life worth troubling about; that ledgers are the only books worth reading; that the only thing worth writing is a bill of account: and that the only thing worth doing is to carry well-filled money bags to the bank.

Some of these men ignore our English literature, and think music is only fit for the light-headed to hear; think works of art are only fit to please those who have nothing better to look at. They would have all these things trampled in the dust; these things, the noblest that the genius of our race has produced, count for nothing in their eyes.

Business is, I must admit, very important in the life of a nation, but we must not let it override our national virtue. We must not let our ambition to succeed in business cast the shadow over all that is noble in our Literature, all that is sweet in our music, all that is beautiful in our art, for if we do, ruin will be the end of us as a people, and the ruin of a people means the ruin of an Empire.

The majority of readers may consider these statements as the bombastic utterances of a man whose only interest in life is Literature, Music, and Art. I assure you that I think as much of business as I do of anything else in the world.

Remember that that nation which has the most gold is not the wealthiest. That nation is the wealthiest "which nourishes the greatest number of happy human beings," and the source of all human happiness springs from all that is noble in the art of life. K. M.

YANKS AND FRENCH.

Join Forces to Prevent World Contest in London.

MORE OFFERS.

French and American boxing promoters are joining forces in a determined effort to prevent the Carpentier—Dempsey fight being held in London. Negotiations are progressing rapidly and it is likely that some arrangements may be made for a match in Paris before an agreement can be signed with Mr. C. B. Cochran, who is now in America with a view to procuring the contest for London.

"Sparrow" Robertson, the Paris representative of Mr. "Tex" Rickard, the biggest American promoter, has been conferring with M. Decoin, the manager of the Paris Wonderland with the object of joining interests in bidding for the world championship battle.

Owing to the material difficulties which Rickard encountered in his attempt to stage the contest in America he declares that he is now prepared to help French promoters to secure the fight for Paris.

A Reuter's message from San Francisco, referring to Decoin's offer of 250,000 dollars, states that Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager said, "The statement certainly sounds business-like and there is every prospect of making a satisfactory deal." Kearns added that he had been offered a similar sum for a match in Connecticut and expected a still larger offer from New Orleans.

AMATEUR BOXING.

Scottish Controlling Bodies Agree to Amalgamation.

A conference between the Scottish Amateur Boxing Association, the Scottish Amateur Boxing, Gymnastic, and Wrestling Association, and the Amateur Boxing Association, was called to consider and, if possible, find a way out of the existing deadlock between the two Scottish associations controlling amateur boxing in Scotland. After considerable discussion the following resolution, proposed by Mr. S. C. Griffiths and seconded by Mr. J. H. Paterson, was carried unanimously:

"That a united Scottish amateur boxing association be formed from the two associations at present in Scotland, viz.: The Scottish A.B.A. and the Scottish A.B., G., and W.A., the Scottish A.B.A. to become the Eastern District centre and the Scottish A.B., G., and W.A. to become the Western District centre. The United Scottish A.B.A. to be formed by a general council elected from the two district centres, to consist of the president, hon. secretary, and hon. treasurer of each centre, with the addition of three delegates from each centre. The annual general meeting to be held in Glasgow and Edinburgh alternately, the chairman to be the president of the centre in which the annual general meeting is held."

The United Scottish Amateur Boxing Association agree to abide by the rules of the Amateur Boxing Association in their entirety, and be affiliated to the parent body.

BENNY LEONARD TO DEFEND HIS TITLE.

Benny Leonard, the world's champion light-weight, will, it is stated, defend his title against Johnny Dundee at New Haven, Conn., U.S.A., on Jan. 16; weigh-in at 9st 9lb at 3 o'clock on the day of the fight. Dundee was expected over here shortly at the Royal Albert Hall, but a match with Leonard will, of course, change the plans of the Italian boxer with a Scottish ring-name.

THE WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP.

According to a Paris message Dempsey's manager demands 50 per cent of the gross takings in connection with the championship if the match takes place in Paris.

CARPENTIER'S GIFT.

Georges Carpentier has given a thousand pounds to provide a merry Christmas for the poor of Paris.

WELSH AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIPS

The Welsh A.B.A. has decided to hold the Welsh amateur championships at Cardiff on Feb. 23. The competitions will be for bantam (8st 6lb), feathers (9st), light (9st 9lb), welter (10st 7lb), middle (11st 6lb), and heavy (12st 7lb). The Taibach Amateur Club has been admitted to membership.

THE F.A. CUP FINAL.

Chelsea Ground the Probable Venue.

It is most unlikely that this season's F.A. Cup Final Tie will be played at the Crystal Palace. The negotiations with the trustees have been going on for several months, but as the F.A. will not consent to the terms which the Palace authorities will not modify, it has been necessary to make other arrangements.

Should the Palace people suddenly alter their minds, it might yet be possible to have the final at Sydenham, but it is deemed improbable that there will be any further negotiations between the parties.

In these circumstances, as it is settled that the Tie shall be played in London, it may be taken for granted that it will be housed on the Chelsea F.C. ground. There is not another football enclosure in the metropolis that can be seriously considered as against the Stamford Bridge ground, and it is anticipated that the Football Association Council at its meeting next Monday will announce that this will be the venue.

REFEREES EXAMINATION.

In connection with the examination of referees to be held to-day, reference to which has already been made in the "Cologne Post," intending entrants should apply at the Amusements Office where full details will be supplied by Lieut. Lyon, Sports Officer.

DANNY SHEA.

Blackburn's "Star" Inside Forward.

TO-MORROW'S ARTICLE.

To-morrow on this page we will publish an article by this famous "Rover" entitled, "Players and the Spectator" and Danny Shea knows from a long experience of what he writes.

It will be fresh in most football enthusiasts memories that Blackburn secured his services from West Ham United, then operating in Southern League football for a fee of £2,000.

That he was worth it has been amply demonstrated and his goal scoring efforts have repaid many times over what his transfer cost.

During the war he was a rover and played for many teams, but his own club, badly in need of his services, did not succeed in fielding the international.

He returned to the fold, however, and this season is once again assisting the Lancashire team. His partner, with whom he played many sterling games, has, unfortunately, retired from football and the pre-war tricky wing is no more. Capped in the season 1912—13, he played a brilliant game and well earned his subsequent selection.

He confesses that the best goal he ever scored was obtained in the International Trial game at Tottenham in November 1912, when, it will be remembered, the despised and adversely criticised South team beat the strong North eleven by the only goal of the match. This was obtained by Shea after a dazzling solo effort. Bob Crompton was just a fraction of a second too late with a lusty shoulder charge and the ball, travelling at express speed, left the North goalie helpless.

To this goal and his display that day, this popular forward owed his introduction to the international game.

He has again, after a recent injury, returned to Blackburn's first league eleven and his return will be welcomed by all lovers of the game. A past-master of footwork, clever with his head and with ideas of his own as to how to fill the inside position, such is Danny Shea, International and sportsman.

W. LE. C.

FOOTBALL ITEMS.

BY W. LE C.

Bliss of Tottenham, has scored in each of the 'Spurs home games. He got quite an ovation when he netted against Fulham.

* * *

Walker of Coventry City is a commercial traveller who works during the week.

* * *

Newcastle United know their business. They have now Best (cousin to Best of Sunderland) R. Fish, and J. Morton on their books as amateurs. Each of these three are men who may soon make their mark on football's page.

* * *

Birmingham gave West Bromwich A. W. Smith, in exchange for Millard. Both centre forwards, but the Throstles must be chagrined at the change. Smith has been dropped but Millard is leading his line in convincing style.

* * *

W. Kirton secured by Aston Villa after the Leeds City smash has surpassed all expectations and has become a great favourite at Villa Park. A Newcastle youth, this is his first season as a professional.

* * *

Northampton's refusal of Bristol Rovers offer re the cup tie venue, may spell paid for their cup chances. Look at their home record. Three months and not one win.

* * *

The injury to Copeland, Coventry's clever defender at West Ham, only emphasises their shocking ill-luck.

* * *

Buchan, of Bolton, secured his sides equalising goal against Bradford City, last Saturday but his famous brother was not on the target at Sheffield.

* * *

The fourth and fifth clubs on the table possess the League's best defences. Newcastle United and Chelsea respectively.

ANOTHER NEEDHAM.

Derby County will give a trial at centre forward on Saturday against the League leaders, West Bromwich Albion, to G. W. Needham. He is a nephew of the famous Ernest Needham, and before joining his present club did service for Luton and the Arsenal.

He served with the Sherwood Foresters for four and a half years, and made a name in Army football circles. He has been scoring freely for Derby County Reserves this season.

Swansea's New Player.

Swansea Town Football Club have secured the signature of L. R. Lewis, inside forward, late Belfast Distillery and London Combination. Lewis, who has just been "demobbed," was sought after by various London clubs.

The Cambridge Captain.

J. S. F. Morrison, the Cambridge captain has agreed to sign an amateur form for Sunderland, and he will be available to play against Manchester City on Saturday next. As everyone knows, Morrison plays at left back.

A Benefit Match.

Northampton, who have arranged two new fixtures for Christmas week, meeting the East Midlands on Boxing Day and Bedford on Dec. 27, have decided to play a match for the benefit of the Northampton shire County Cricket Club at the end of the season. Leicester have consented to provide the opposition.

F. A. BEAT ARMY.

Army forwards fail in Second Half.

FOUR GOALS TO ONE.

The play was hard and fast without a single stoppage for fouls. The first half was evenly fought, the association scoring first. Grimsdell placed a corner kick with great accuracy for Sloley to head the ball into the net. Fifteen minutes later Sgt. Simms headed a centre from Sgt. McKay well out of the reach of the A.F. goal-keeper. At half time the score was one each.

F. A. FORWARDS IMPROVE.

In the second half the association forwards improved and the Army forwards failed to maintain the dash displayed in the first half. Broad for the F.A. was dangerous in several rushes and gave his side the lead by heading in a pass from Rutherford. Within four minutes Sloley scored a third goal and later Rutherford threaded his way through the defence and put the ball across for Hardinge to score.

DAVIS CUP.

A telegram from Sidney states that the Australian Lawn Tennis team for Davis Cup contests will be selected from; Anderson, Brookes, Patterson and Thomas.

PLUMPTON RACES.

Mr. Bottomley's Promotor Wins at 10 to 1.

The going was on the soft side for the opening of the Plumpton meeting on Wednesday when in fine but misty weather a large attendance watched some excellent sport.

Beginners Hurdle:—1, Lady Alicia (7-2); 2, Ayrshire Queen (10-1); 3, Porton (100-6). Fourteen ran.

Punch Bowl Hurdle:—1, Marius (5-2); 2, Triple Blue (6-1); 3, Citron (5-1). Nine ran.

Hassock 'Chase:—Fly III (13-8); 2, Fond Lucy (11-10); 3, Tirhugh (8-1). Four ran.

Dostel Hurdle:—1, The Gunyah (2-1); 2, Mac-Merry (2-1); 3, Double Deck (5-1). Seven ran.

Tyro 'Chase:—1, Promotor (10-1); 2, Templebar (100-8); 3, Splinter (100-8). Nine ran.

Ovingdean 'Chase:—1, White Surrey (7-1); 2, Valentine Masher (5-2); 3, Ballincarroona (3-1). Four ran.

SEASON'S STALLIONS.

By Our Special Commissioner.

The time has now arrived for a considered analysis of the list of stallions available to breeders next season. Many of the leading sires are, of course, already full, while others, such as the latest Derby winner, Grand Parade, who by the way, also has a full list for 1920, stand in no need of special recommendation.

There are, however, many others to whom attention can be usefully directed, while, as everyone knows, there are several notable beginners, including the fine stayer, He, the dual Manchester Cup and Ascot Gold Cup winner, By Jingo, and the Royal Hunt Cup hero, Irish Elegance.

The latter horse has for companion at the Foxhill Stud, Swindon, a son of Polymelus in Polygnotus, now rising four years old.

MR. GUY NICKALLS FOR U.S.A.

Mr. Guy Nickalls, who is to go to Yale as a coach, if an American cable is correct, has so many rowing records to his name that to give them in any detail would fill a book.

He won the Diamond and Wingfield Sculls for some years with almost monotonous regularity; with Lord Ampthill, and, later, with Vivian Nickalls (his brother), and E. R. Balfour, he carried off the Silver Goblets five times; he was a member of our winning Leander crews at Henley; and seven times he stroked the winning four in the Stewards Challenge Cup, Henley.

Then, of course, he holds many 'Varsity records. If Yale have succeeded in obtaining his services, England could have given them no better.

BILLIARDS AT BONN.

Two Successful Y.M.C.A. Flying Tournaments.

Two flying Tournaments held last night at Gross Bonn caused great excitement, and some really brilliant playing was witnessed by an enthusiastic crowd.

In the 2nd round of the 1st series, playing 10 minutes, McAteer marked 62, Ibottson being next with 54. The semi-final, however, saw Ibbotson beaten by Edwards, and McAteer with 61, well beating Sykes (28). The final was closely followed by a huge crowd of spectators, which at times threatened to inconvenience the players.

McAteer, who was last weeks runner-up, found form and good fortune, and made the exceedingly good total of 107 (in 15 minutes) against Edward's' 40.

The qualifying games in the 2nd Tournament were for 5 minutes, owing to the short time available. Up to the final the best totals were Tibbutt (24), Garside (20), Smith (23). Tibbutt went off colour in the semi-final, and lost to Smith, who, in turn, lost to Garside in the final (12 min.) with 33 points to 47.

DARK LEGEND UNSOUND.

Information has been received from India that Dark Legend is not likely to run in either the King's Cup or the Viceroy's Cup this year, the horse, it is reported, being unsound.

Dark Legend won both races last year, and was subsequently matched with Helford for £5,000 a side, over 1¾ miles, Dark Legend to concede a stone.

The match was to have been run after the Viceroy's Cup this year, but Mr G.W. Dick, who purchased and sent both horses out to India understands that it will not now take place, and that Mr Galstaun will pay £500 forfeit, as provided by the conditions of the match.

AMERICAN OFFER.

Promoter Reiss Wants British Boxers for Coblenz Contests.

THE "FISTIC FANS."

We publish without comment a letter from Promoter Lewis W. Reiss, the enthusiastic boxing and wrestling promoter attached to the American Y.M,C.A. Coblenz. He says:—

Sir:—Would you mind inserting in your valuable sport columns something about my being desirous of having some of the English boxers up here? I would appreciate this greatly. Until the month of November I had a great many of the English and Irish lads up here boxing, but since the demobilization process has been at work, I have had but few.

I would like to have wrestlers and boxers in all classes. I am willing to give the equivalent of fifty (50) marks per round for the boxing, and two hundred (200) marks for a twenty-minute wrestling bout, best two out of three, or three hundred (300) marks for a half an hour boxing exhibition.

The boxing rounds are two minutes each here. The wrestling, generally for twenty or thirty minutes. If a man gets his falls before the stated time limit, he receives the equivalent to the above terms in a prize of his own selection. I understand the British boxers and wrestlers are not permitted to accept money, hence my stating the equivalent to these certain amounts.

If the men wish to box any of the British boys; that is if one Britisher wishes to box another, we will only be too glad to let them box it out up here and we will pay the above terms. I would like to have some of the men up here for every man we have had made a decided hit with the fistic fans up here and I wish to encourage inter-allied sport as much as we can.

If there are any basket ball teams in Cologne, I think we can arrange a few games for them. Any help in this encouragement of inter-allied sports will be appreciated.

BOXING CONTESTS.

Arrangements for 2nd Service of Competitions.

The idea of disallowing the winner of last week's boxing competition at the Y.M.C.A. Central to compete in the next bouts is a very happy one. It has the advantage of encouraging the earlier losers to try again as well as fresh boxers to come forward. But the decision of the P & R. T. staff does not mean that those who were successful will be deprived from winning further prizes. It is hoped to match the winners of the first and second series in the third contests when suitable prizes will be offered.

The next series of competitions will take place on the 2nd and 3rd of January at the Y.M.C.A., Cologne, and entries for all weights should be sent to the A.I. of P & R. T. G.H.Q. by 12 o'clock noon on the 24th inst. The weights are as under:—

Fly-Weight 8st. and under,
Bantam-Weight 8st. 6. and under,
Feather-Weight 9st. and under,
Light-Weight 9st. 9. and under,
Welter-Weight 10st. 7. and under,
Middle-Weight 11st 6. and under,
L. Heavy-Weight 12st. 7. and under.

It is proposed to supplement the coming series by arranging two outside contests of three or six rounds. Names of applicants for these should be submitted as early as possible with complete record and weight.

Tickets for reserved seats are obtainable in advance from the Amusements Officer, Cologne, or at the doors on the night of the show.

BILLIARDS.

The closing scores in the principal matches in England on Wednesday were as follows:

Reece 4,236
Inman.....3,598

Breaks: Reece 262, 132, Inmann 196, 145, 143, 126 and 122.

Newman 4,000
Falkiner.....2,797

Breaks: Newman: 221, 533, 261, 167 107; Falkiner 126, 101, 220.

RUGBY RESULTS.

Welsh 30; Universities 6;
Northumberland 21; Oxford Un. 9.

COLOGNE CUEISTS.

Y.M.C.A. Defeat 20th M.A.C. "on Points."

A most interesting Competition of a friendly nature, points 150 up, took place last evening at the Continental Hotel, between the 20th M.A.C. and the Y.M.C.A. H.Q. Staff. Five games were played, the first two being won by the Y.M.C.A., and it looked as though they were going to have an easy victory.

Capt. Maunsell, however, the third player, for the M.A.C., managed, after a good fight, to beat his opponent by 10 points, and this seemed to turn fortune in their favour, for they also won the next two games. The result being as follows:—

Y.M.C.A.		20th M.A.C.
Messrs. Britten	150	Sergt. Major	115
" Collins	150	Capt. Jack	121
" Ludlow	140	Capt. Maunsell	150
Blacklidge	122	Corp. Jackson	150
Deuchars	140	P. Causworth	150
	702		686

The Y.M.C.A. won on number of total Points.

Sportsman's Death.

The death has taken place of Major Egerton Green, Secretary of the Hunlingham Club.

Fractured Rib.

When Sunnycroft fell in the Burton 'Chase W. Bullock fractured a rib. Frank Lyall, who received a similar injury at Nottingham, was present at Derby, and will resume riding after Christmas.

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

A Popular Soprano.

Since the "Tabs" became defunct one has had little opportunity of being entertained from the public platform by the ever delightful, sweet and pure vocal efforts of Miss Hilda Potts. At the Deutsches Theatre this week Miss Potts is undoubtedly one of the strongest attractions in the performances being submitted by the Rhine Army Variety Company; her choice of numbers is as happy as her treatment of them.

W.O's and Sergeants' Dance.

At the fortnightly G.H.Q. Warrant Officers and Sergeants' subscription dance at the Burgergesellschaft on Wednesday evening there was an exceptionally large attendance and a particularly merry time was spent. The G.H.Q. Jazz Band, with several novel and inspiriting effects, was one of the chief contributing factors towards the success of the evening. The catering arrangements were admirably carried out and the Christmas table decorations lent a festive touch to the scene.

In view of the fact that there will be many mess festivities during Christmas and that a large number of members will be on leave it has been decided that the next dance will take place towards the end of January, the definite announcement to be made later.

Q.M.S. Hackett, in a happy little speech on behalf of the members, tendered a vote of thanks to the committee for the arrangement of so many pleasant evenings, and the committee in reply offered their thanks to the ladies who had come forward and made the functions the success they had been.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Fri.	The Women without Shadow	Strauss	6	10.15
Sat.	Tosca	Puccini	7	9.45
Sun.	Faust	Gounod	6	10
Mon.	Ein Maskenball	Verdi	7	10
Tues.	Hansel und Gretel	Humperdinck	6	8

Another Departed.

When the amusements office came into being in Cologne one of the first members of the staff was Sgt. Myres. That was nearly twelve months ago and he has remained in the same capacity up to the present time. Throughout that period he has worked untiringly and by a happy blend in his personality of cheeriness and forcefulness he has been able to deal with the many difficult points that have cropped up from time to time with satisfaction to everybody. A very wide circle of friends will regret his departure fnom Rhineland which takes place today. He is to return to civilian life in England.

JACQUES.

SPORT IN BRIEF.

President's Gift.

Mr. H. Seymour Berry, J.P., president of the Merthyr Association Football Club, has made a gift to the club of £500.

Stevens for Oxford.

G. T. S. Stevens, the brilliant athlete of University College School, is going up to Brasenose College, Oxford, next term.

Their Strongest.

Fulham, being without a League engagement, will play their strongest eleven against the Corinthians at Craven Cottage to-morrow.

A double Role.

Waddington, the Yorkshire County cricketer, has signed an amateur form for Bradford City. He can keep goal, and is also a centre-half of average merit.

Stage Golf.

The Stage Golfing Society will wind up its playing season with a match against Wimbledon Park, on the latter club's ground, on Friday, when only one round of four-ball matches will be decided.

Postponed.

The match between De Ponthieu, champion of France and Europe, and Tancy Lee, champion of England, for the featherweight championship of Europe, will take place at the Cirque de Paris on December 24.

A Friendly.

Being without a Southern League match for Saturday, owing to many of the clubs being engaged in the last qualifying round of the English Cup competition, Portsmouth have arranged a friendly with Brentford at Fratton Park.

Purchases.

Mr. Stewart Gates bought Magnolia for 360gs., and Mr. H. Beckett gave 210gs. for St. Yves at Derby.

For India.

Mr. G. W. Dick, who is well known on the English Turf, has left for India to take over the horses owned by the Maharaja of Cooch Behar.

Too Easy.

Top Hole's victory was practically a bloodless one, as Mountain Pass refused at the first hurdle and Jack Symons fell seven furlongs from home.

SAPPERS SUCCUMB.

19th (S) Middlesex Regt. (P) v. 231st Field Coy. R.E.

Played at Bonnerstrasse Barracks on Saturday. The Engineers kicked off and play commenced at a moderate pace. The ground was frozen and consequently handicapped the players. However, after fifteen minutes play the "Middles" forwards made a dashing attack and Chitterden headed the ball cleverly into the net. This roused the Engineers and a forced corner proved fruitless. Play remained even until five minutes from the interval, when Thane, after a sparkling display of footwork, increased the score for the Pioneers.

Upon resumption mid-field play ensued for a time, until the "Middles" broke away and Thane missed the upright by inches. Both sides tried hard to further the score, but no more goals were added and the whistle blew, the Pioneers being victorious by 2 goals to nil.

WARWICKSHIRE COUNTY CRICKET CLUB.

Mr. G. H. Cartland presided over a meeting of the Warwickshire County Cricket Club, when it was announced that engagements had been made with Bates, Smith, and Howell for next year, while offers had also been made to W. G. Quaife and a number of young professionals. It was decided to give Charlesworth a benefit.

A scheme was discussed for the purchase of the ground and improving the pavilion accommodation.

Notice is to be given that at the forthcoming annual meeting a proposal will be submitted for increasing the subscriptions, raising the charge in the case of ordinary members from one guinea to twenty-five shillings, inclusive of entertainments tax.

Spur's Benefit.

Tottenham Hotspur, who are giving a benefit to their centre-half, C. Rance, have set aside the proceeds of the home combination match against West Ham Reserves for this object, in addition to which the club will make a donation of £350.

THE FINAL COUPON.

Your Last Chance Of Entering Our Xmas Contest.

EXTENSION OF DATE.

In the next column will be found the last coupon for No. 13 Football Competition, offering the final opportunity of participating in our special Christmas contest.

We have, for this one week only, decided to extend the closing day until Saturday, instead of Friday, and all coupons which reach us by mid-day of the 20th will be in accepted. We are making this alteration in order to allow the procrastinator to compete.

We want all to compete to make this contest a bumper in every way.

Coupons have been rolling in and there can be no doubt but that the total, together with the 500 marks which we are adding to the sum subscribed, will be an amount well worth winning.

Do not be content with sending a single coupon this week. The extra effort may be the correct one.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 13,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S./40 Rhine Army.

List of Rules.

1. All forecasts must be made on coupons from this journal.
2. Any alteration or mutilation of the coupon will disqualify the effort.
3. If any match or matches on the coupon should be abandoned or full time is not played for any reason, such match or matches will not be taken into consideration in the adjudication.
4. In the event of ties, the prize will be divided.
5. No correspondence may be enclosed with the coupons, and none will be entered into. Neither will interviews be granted.
6. The Editor reserves the right to disqualify any coupon for what, in his opinion, is good and sufficient reason, and it is a distinct condition of entry that the Editor's decision shall be accepted as finally and legally binding in all matters concerning this competition.
7. Any entries received after Friday will be disqualified. No responsibility can be undertaken for any effort, or efforts, lost, mislaid or delayed. Proof of posting will not be accepted as proof of delivery.
8. Competitors may send in any number of coupons but one mark must be sent with each coupon.
9. Members of the staff of the "Cologne Post" are debarred from entering this competition.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 13.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 20th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 19th.

Arsenal	v. Sheffield Wed.
Everton	v. Liverpool
Manchester U.	v. Newcastle
Wolves	v. Hull City
Bradford City	v. Notts County
Barnsley	v. Tottenham
Bristol City	v. Blackpool
Aston Villa	v. Oldham
Swindon	v. Palace
Kilmarnock	v. Partick

I enter Football Competition No. 13 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions alredy announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(In block letters.)

Rank and No. .....

Unit .....

Full Address .....

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

Finance.

All ranks are warned that if they purchase any securities from Germans payable in the United Kingdom they acquire no title to the securities and cannot obtain payment for them in the United Kingdom.

"Windy Corner."

"What has struck you most since you have been in Rhineland?" I asked an acquaintance of mine recently arrived. "The cold wind blowing across the Dom Square," he replied. And I don't think he was far wrong either.

Another Questionable Brand.

I see one tobacconist is making a big display of a cigarette called the "Halfpenny" brand. The German buyer certainly has a choice in names judging by the variety to be seen.

Music hath Charms.

Although something of an iconoclast in religious matters a friend of mine is a regular attendant at the Dom on Sunday mornings. He is a connoisseur of Church music and informs me that the Cathedral Choir is one of the finest he has ever heard.

Preparing for Christmas.

Visiting the Empire Leave Club I found quite a Christmas atmosphere pervaded the place. From the theatre the sweet sound of Christmas songs floated down. It was a rehearsal for the Christmas play "Eager Heart" which is to be given.

Unwieldy Craft.

The huge size of some of the barges to be seen on the Rhine is a matter for comment. With the river at a good level it must require quite a degree of skill to navigate such unwieldy craft.

A rarity.

In Krebsgasse yesterday a little pony drawing a small cart was the object of much interest. It was only about three feet high, and is the first I have seen in Rhineland.

At Bonn.

Despite the fact that very few troops are at present stationed in Bonn adequate provision is made for soldier visitors. There are still four institutions to cater for Tommy.

A Blank Sheet.

After paying 20 pfgs. for a programme in the Deutsches Theatre the other evening, a friend of mine discovered that the inner pages were quite blank. Although he tried to get it exchanged for another it was in vain. The programme girl was adamant.

Bookroom During Christmas.

"The Cologne Post" Bookshop and Reading Room will be closed on Dec. 25th. and 26th. but will be open as usual on Saturday the 27th. It will not be open however on Sunday December 28th.

No Lift.

I hear a good story concerning a rather corpulent major who, when exploring the Dom, was told the number of steps to be climbed. He immediately asked if there was a lift, and on being told there was not, promptly declined to proceed further.

Alpine Fashions.

In Hohestrasse yesterday I saw three young ladies creating a stir. They were the object of all eyes, the reason being that they were attired in long sports coats, and natty little woollen hats. Quite reminiscent of Swiss fashions.

Names of Streets.

I notice that where the name "Kalker Haupt Strasse" has been substituted for "Kalker Strasse," instead of taking the old sign down, a red line is struck through it.

Dusting a Letter-box.

I noticed a woman dusting a letter box yesterday morning. I do not know whether she was engaged on the job in an official capacity or what.

Ancestral Pride.

The privilege was accorded a member of this staff of a look into the parlour of the rooms in which he is staying. Upon the walls were to be seen imposing portraits of relations carrying one back to four or five generations, and dating back to fairly early in the 18th century.

Reserved!

Apropos the recent G.R.O. and comments in the "Post" on riding on tram-cars, a conductor on an over-crowded car was recently heard to remark to a German civilian who was travelling on the footboard "Come off that place is reserved exclusively for English soldiers.'

Good Business.

The other morning I noticed before a shop door twenty-seven empty 7lb corned beef tins. As this article is rationed the shop in question must have done some business.

Notice to Book Readers.

On account of the children's Christmas fete on December 24th the reading room and library of the Cologne Central Y.M.C.A. will not be open that day between 1 and 6 p.m. On Christmas Day, both reading room and library will be open all day.

Christmassy.

The shop that advertises "Chester Cheese" is now booming "Christmas Puddings."

Faith in the British.

I cannot say whether the Germans as a race are ultra-superstitious, but the American "prophecy" that the world was coming to an end this week se med to quite upset a barber, who gravely inquired of a soldier if the British believed it.

RHINELANDER.

NOTES FROM LONDON TOWN.

A LITTLE LEARNING.

There is an amusing story going about of a certain School Board Member whose success in life was hardly built up on the solid foundation of a classical education. He was delivering his annual address to the school and in the course of a moving eulogium on friendship wound up with this precious recommendation: "Friendship is the finest thing in the world, my dear boys and girls. Take the lives of David and Jonathan, Damon and Pythias, Castor and Pollux, Scylla and Charybdis, Gog and Magog for your patterns, and you will not go far wrong."

NICHOLAS DE CUSA ON THE MILLENIUM.

As a fact, the end, according to Cardinal Nicholas de Cusa, ought to have occurred in 1704, because the Deluge came so many jubilees after the Creation. Swedenborg gave 1757, William Muller 1843, Baxter 1850, John Cumming 1866, and Mother Shipton 1881. Hallam's "Middle Ages" contains a diverting account of the preparations made by businessmen against the expected dissolution, charters for instance, being gravely drawn up in the form: "As the world is now drawing to its close," etc. The curious thing is that whereas fire is the favoured agency among prophets ancient and modern, most scientists agree that the end is far more likely to come by the world sharing the moon's fate of getting frozen up.

A BRAVE AIRMAN.

As day by day goes on hope for Captain Howell becomes ever fainter and it now seems unhappily certain that the plucky Australian pilot has been lost on the first stage of the world flight. There seems still a large element of luck in in flying for Captain Howell was a most experienced airman. He left the Infantry in 1916 and has flown for thousands of miles becoming one of the best known of Australian flyers. In the war he crashed down 30 enemy machines, besides downing a number of kite balloons. Needless to say he held the D.S.O., M.C. and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

MRS. ASQUITH'S MEMOIRS.

Rumour has it that Mrs. Asquith will receive well over £5,000 for her book of reminiscences. In view of Mrs. Asquith's unrivalled opportunities for knowing all about everybody, such a sum, purchasing as it will the serial rights, is not involving the publisher, Mr. Thornton Butterworth, in any undue risk, for the book will certainly have a tremendous sale. Mrs. Asquith is more scrupulous than so many workers of memoirs in that she can do the work herself instead of farming it out, and when one realises how frank she is in private conversation, that augurs well for the book.

THE OLD "FOUR HUNDRED" CLUB.

There are, I am informed, quite a large number of people applying for admission to the membership roll of the Embassy Club which opens on Tuesday under the control of Mr. Albert de Courville. The cuisine of this Club, which was once variously known as "The Four Hundred" and "Martan's Club", will certainly not suffer under the direction of that epicurean master-chef M. Capezza, and the Shirley blue and gold decoration scheme (named after Miss Shirley Kellogg by Lucille) is wonderfully soft in tone and tasteful.

THE COMMEMORATIVE PLAQUE.

The next-of-kin of those who gave their lives in the Great War will be glad to learn that the Commemorative Plaque is now about to be sent to them. The first one to be cast was, appropriately enough, that of Lord Kitchener, and I have before me a photograph of it. The plaque is of bronze and is 4¾ inches in diameter. A fine figure of Britannia holding a trident and a wreath of palm is standing beside the British lion, while in the bottom segment or exergue of the plaque, which is circular in shape, is a symbolical representation of the lion slaying the eagle. I do not grasp the precise symbolism of two fish floating about near Britannia's shoulders, but I should think they have some reference to our supremacy of the seas.

PERISCOPE.

FOR BUSINESS MEN IN RHINELAND.

PURCHASE OF SECURITIES IN GERMANY.

It has come to notice that coupons and securities payable in the United Kingdom are being offered for sale in the Occupied Territories of Germany, and it is pointed out for general information that the Acts and Proclamation relating to trading with the enemy, so far, at least, as securities are concerned (coupons are treated for this purpose as securities) remain in operation in the United Kingdom until the Treaty of Peace comes into force. Consequently no person acquires by virtue of any assignment or delivery of any coupon, or other security transferable by delivery, made or to be made in his favour by or on behalf of an enemy, whether for valuable consideration or otherwise, any rights or remedies against the person liable to pay, unless the transaction is by licence and subject to certain exceptions. All ranks are therefore warned that if they purchase any securities from the enemy, payable in the United Kingdom, they acquire no title to these securities, and that they cannot obtain payment thereof in the United Kingdom.

BRUSSELS INTERNATIONAL FAIR.

The forthcoming International Commercial Fair at Brussels promises to be of exceptional interest and importance to British trade. The organization has been undertaken by the municipality with the financial support of the Belgian Government and the Province of Brabant, under the patronage of the popular King Albert. The Fair will be open from April 4 to April 21, 1920.

Intending British exhibitors should communicate at once with the Department of Overseas Trade, 35, Old Queen-street, S.W., with a view to securing facilities.

A COLOGNE TRADE FAIR?

The German local newspapers seem to be quite silent about the Cologne Spring Fair. Is the question of place and room going to make it impossible? The German Minister of Economics is considering the advisability of holding only three fairs in Germany at Leipzig, Hamburg and Frankfort. That would mean that all other undertakings would be suppressed, and Frankfort would then be considered as the Western centre of business. The "Kölner Tageblatt" points out that Leipzig and Frankfort are both in unoccupied Germany, and therefore cannot give any guarantee for security and order. The Frankfort fair, which was undoubtedly a success, was threatened in the last few days by strikes and disturbances. It is quite clear that the main business transactions are made in the occupied area. Later on it will be even more apparent as the German ports will lose some of their importance. Direct shipping traffic betwen London and Cologne will be established very soon.

The Bavarian Government, like the Government of Baden, have taken measures against the foreign buyers. They have prohibited the export of all articles of household, glass, china, sewing machines and furniture.

Capt. T. C. McCormick, who recently arrived in the Rhineland from Paris, has been assigned to the Inter-Allied Waterways Commission and will be stationed at Cologne.

"COLOGNE POST" CELEBRITIES V. "RHINELANDER."

FROM EVERYWHERE.

They Want One.—Enfield is to have a cenotaph.

The Cow Says so.—Milk will remain at a shilling a quart.

Speed.—A French woman has just flown 3¾ miles a minute.

Cabmen Pleased.—Birmingham tramway-cars will not run on Christmas day.

Art of Advertising.—Outside a Paris shop boys spray passers-by with scent.

Popular Prince.—Prince Olaf is coming to England.

What's Brewing?—Mr. Churchill had an audience of the King.

Nearly all Gone.—"Wrafs" will be reduced to 200 in a few months.

A Few Remain.—Chinese coolies still in France number only a few thousand.

His Selection.—Mr. H. W. Forster takes the title of Baron Forster of Lepe.

His Next Stunt.—The Prince of Wales is leaving for Australia in March.

Perhaps.—Sir T. Beecham thinks labour would subsidise theatres if in power.

The Risks we Run.—A West Malling woman put laudanum in her husband's tea.

His View.—The Sultan of Turkey thinks the Turks are not so bad as they are painted.

Denied.—Canon Sheppard, domestic chaplain to the Royal family, is not retiring.

Still About.—A fresh case of rabies has occurred in Kent and another in Glamorganshire.

No Getting Out.—Middlesborough Corporation yesterday approved the use of concrete coffins.

Straight to the Slaughter.—Newcastle will not have a Christmas market owing to foot and mouth disease.

The Winner.—A Belgian has furnished a winning design for the Zeebrugge memorial.

No Amalgamation.—Paris journalists decline to become affiliated with the printers.

Greedy.—A Cheltenham boy sucked eucalyptus oil from a handkerchief and died.

Blondes Take Back Seat.—Mr. Charles Garvice says dark girls are more brainy than fair ones.

A Jolly Christmas.—The Navy will enjoy the first real Christmas since the war.

Youthful Bill Sikes. — A Kent boy has pleaded guilty to 21 charges of housebreaking at Glasgow.

Optimistic. — Mr. Churchill says the Slough motor depot is now a paying asset.

Coming Home.—Since November, five vessels have sailed from India for home, carrying 172 officers and 5000 other ranks.

For the East. — In connection with arrangements made for wives bound for the East a special train leave St. Pancras on Friday at 1 p.m. for Tilbury.

Waiting.—There are 40,000 recipients of Naval, Military, Air Force, and civilian war honours who have not yet been invested with their decorations.

Their Champion.—Lord Anderson claims that Scotland compares favourably with any country in the matter of erring wives.

Propaganda de Luxe.—A Jarrow man summoned by his wife for maintenance said he was engaged in propaganda work for his class. He stayed in bed till mid-day.

The Other Comforter.—A Camberwell tradesman was summoned in respect of a baby's comforter. Subsequently tradesman and customer adjourned for a drink.

OUR SOUVENIR NUMBER.

REGULATIONS FOR SENDING IT HOME.

Our Souvenir Number is selling like hot cakes, and hundreds are taking advantage of the arrangements made for posting to send it home, and to all parts of the British Empire.

There is no other souvenir of our stay in Rhineland to come anywhere near it, and you will naturally want to send it to your people. Here are several ways, made easy, of doing so.

(1) Buy a copy with special envelope for 8 marks. Put a penny stamp on the envelope mark the latter "Printed Matter Only," do not enclose a letter, and get the Orderly Room, or "Censor," stamp on the outside. Post it in the ordinary way.

(2) Go to our bookshop in the Arcade, give the assistant the name and address (printed in block letters) to which you want it sent, and 10 marks. We guarantee to post it correctly.

(3) Or send us the address, and ten marks by post.

Remember that Units taking fifty copies or more get ten per cent discount off copies and envelopes. Each copy seven marks. Envelopes 1 mark each.

A great Advance in Soap Chemistry

As a result of many years strenuous work in chemical research and its practical application, "Sapon" Soap has been perfected. It is the greatest advance in the chemistry of Soap since that article was first manufactured.

Ordinary Soap consists of Fat deglycerined and saponified with Caustic Soda.

"Sapon" Soap is derived from Carbohydrates which when treated by the Company's patented process, yield Ammonia, Methylamine, and Trimethylamine. These Nitrogenous compounds are highly emulsifying agents, and do NOT combine with Lime or Magnesia Salts in water, as all fat-derived soaps do. Hence, no "scum" or insoluble lime soap is formed, even in the hardest water when "Sapon" Soap is used.

Dr. Shorter, of Leeds University, says of "Sapon" Soaps:—
"They contain 'surface active' colloids, whose 'surface activity' greatly exceeds that of an ordinary fat soap, and that therefore it fulfils in an extremely satisfactory manner the fundamental condition for detergent action."

SKIN DISEASES

The Amines and Amido bodies in "Sapon" Soap are readily soluble in water. They are germicidal but non-injurious owing to their colloid nature. Besides their efficiency as cleansers, they have a wonderfully sedative action.

"Sapon" Soap gives wonderful results in irritable skin diseases, such as Scabies, Eczema, Pruritis, Insect Bites, Acne, etc. The following is the best method of application when it is used for curative purposes, —moisten the Soap, rub it on the part affected and allow it to dry, on.

You will never use old-fashioned Fat Soap once you have used "SAPON" SOAPS and given them a fair trial.

Sole Agents for "Sapon" Soap in Germany
ERIC MORTON & Co.
12, Luttichér Strasse
COLOGNE

SAPON SOAPS LIMITED
Sapon House, London Bridge, E. C. 4, England

G R

By order of the Disposal Board

The Ministry of Munitions has for disposal large quantities of

FOODSTUFFS, ETC.,

comprising—

Roast Fowl	Beef Essence	Mealie meal
Vanilla Essence	Vermicelli	Pigeon food mixed
Lemon Essence	Hops	Pigeon food grit
Lentils	Dried Peas	Herts, mixed
Vibrona	Sparklets "B" bulbs	Meat extract
Soups, assorted	Sparklets "C" bulbs	Spice mixed
Cerebos salt	Anchovy paste	Granulated potatoes
Preserved meat	Anchovy essence	Arrow root
Dried vegetables	Chicken broth	Bicarbonate of soda
Beans, dried	Chicken essence	Egg powder
Benger's Food	Potted meat	Jellies, Calf's Foot
Cornflour	Mutton broth	Olive oil
Fruits, assorted	Mutton extract	Pearl barley
Nutmegs	Mutton essence
Ox tongue	Lemonade crystals

also 82,000 ½-bottles Bass Beer

The attention of
OFFICERS' MESSES, CLUBS, and COMMERCIAL FIRMS
is drawn to these goods, which will be sold as a whole to the highest or most suitable bidder, or to Officers' Messes, Clubs, etc. in smaller lots at equitable prices.

Tenders for all or any part of these goods will be accepted not later than 22nd December, 1919.

All particulars, with schedule of provisions for disposal, may be obtained from Room 182, Domhof 28, Cologne.

Verbal tenders will not be considered.

The Ministry of Munitions does not bind itself to accept the highest, or any tender, nor gives any guarantee as to quality or condition.

The successful tenderer will be required to forward a cheque for the full amount, made payable to the British Ministry of Munitions, Room 190, Domhof 28, Cologne, immediately on notification of acceptance (payment may be made in Sterling).

Removal of the goods purchased must be made within 10 days of receipt of Authorisation of Ownership, which form will be handed to the purchaser within 3 days of receipt of payment.

MINISTRY OF MUNITIONS,
(DISPOSAL BOARD) G.H.Q. COLOGNE.

Into Any Home Anywhere
„The Gramola"
brings not one kind of music but all kinds

Gramophone Spezialhaus
COLOGNE
Hohestr. 150

Directly opposite the Dom and Main Station.
Special House for Amateur Photography
ANDREAS PILLEN
I. COLOGNE, Deichmannhaus, opposite the Dom & Main Station.
II. COLOGNE, Hohenzollernring 70.
Big depot for Ica, Goerz, Zeiss, Ernemann, & Nettel Cameras.
Projectors and Cinema Apparatus.

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O. S/40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

ZEISS-Goerz-Binoculars 6×30 and 8×30 in splendid condition. Pohl, Boisserées tr. 12. I Floor.

BUSINESS-PREMISES in centre of the town comprising Shop, Office, Warehouse and twenty rooms. For sale Mks. 135,000.—. Letters Box 108, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (T.c.)

REAL-Amber-Necklases at lowest prices by wholesale dealer. Apply for samples to H. Bley, Bonn, 22 Roonstr.

9.12 CAMERA, Goerz-Anschütz, schlitzshutter 1/1000 sec; optic Goerz Dagor; 4 double cases for plates. Probsteigasse 33 II.

SECOND-HAND doll, 92 cm. height, 300 Mk. Sippes, Schenckendorstr. 1.

OLD English carved mahagony furniture, two arm-chairs, two chairs, one table. Sachsenring 22 (Private house).

ELECTRIFYING machine, with many apparatuses, for sale; very interesting and amusing play. Steyer, Karolingerring 13.

2 Almost new silk evening dresses, with boots to match, one beautiful evening cloak, with fur collar, and one Russian fox fur for sale. Neusserstr. 57–59 III., Agneschurch.

FOR EXPORT. Large assortment of cigarette cases, Solingen razors, tobacco boxes, knives and forks. To view at F. E. Esser, Hohestr. 42. Export and Import.

WANTED.

WE WILL BUY any quantity of empty English bottles, beerbottles etc. Fritz Erle, G.m.b.H., Cöln-Nippes, Holbeinstr. 36–38.

IMMEDIATELY one or two Bedrooms, sitting room and kitchen, or use of kitchen for English N.C.O. and family. Box No. 121, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (2)

CORRESPONDENCE CLERK, experienced shorthand-typist, able to conduct correspondence in French and German, wanted. Write, stating full particulars and salary required, to Box 129, Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40. (1)

FURNISHED OFFICE required, with use of telephone; near station preferred. Full particulars and terms to Box 130, Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40. (1)

OFFICER'S BRITISH WARM — with waist band — height 5ft. 10ins. Apply Box No. 135. Cologne Post A.P.O. S/40.

CONTINENTAL typewriter at once, second-hand preferred. State price and full particulars Box 136, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (3)

SITUATIONS WANTED.

GERMAN GIRL seeks position; experience in cooking and housekeeping; some English known. Apply 4, Schaaf, Opladen, Friedrichstrasse 60 III. (1)

SITUATIONS VACANT.

TWO English ladies resident in centre of Cologne require good daily servant. Must be respectable, honest and a fair cook. Liberal wages and good food. References essential. Apply Box 134, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (1)

MISCELLANEOUS.

EVENING lessons in Engl. shorthand by German lady. Write to A 441 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

ANY information of Sec. Lieut. J. B. Clarke, 4th South Lancs. Regt., attd. 12th Somerset Light Inf. (74th Division), supposed to be killed at Allaines, north of Peronne, Sep. 2nd, 1918, to Box P. P., Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (TC)

DEMOISELLE SUISSE Française Artiste Peintre instruite désirait connaître Dame ou Monsieur distingués Anglais ou Américain pour échange leçon de Français ou Peinture contre Conversation anglaise. Ecrire box 132 A.P.O./S. 40 Cologne. (1)

MISSING.

PTE. MILLS (27509) Royal Berks Regt. Any information gladly received by Mrs. Mills, 23 Buttermere Rd., Sheffield. (T.c.)

INFORMATION is wanted of Pte. M. H. Holmes No. 54815 6th platoons 1/5 West Yorks, missing since April 25th 1918 Kemmel Hill. Supposed to have been seen since at Shulfort and Fockedy premises in Maubeuge. Kindly write Holmes 3 Windsor Rd., Shipley Yorks. (T.c.)

PERSONAL.

SHOULD this be noticed by Daniel Smith please communicate with brother Pte. J. Purse, 111681, 52nd D.L.I., Bonn. (1)

RAZORS very sharply ground and completely polished at
C.A. LÜTTERS, COLOGNE
Breitestr. 23.
Special store for razors.

Wine, vintage 1917
growth of the administration of Bassermann and Jordan, at Deidesheim of the finest selection in 55 numbers nearly 10000 bottles with burned corks for sale.
Weingutsbesitzer Ludwig Mühlbauer
Passau N.-Bayern
Hoflieferant.

LANGUAGES.

YOUNG GERMAN lady speaks Engl. wishes exchange conversation with Engl. lady or gentleman. Write to A 440 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

MUSIC

LADY pianist gives piano lesson in English in Cologne and Bonn, and accompanies song and violin. Apply to A 445, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

MUSIC HALL LUISENHOF
According to an order of the British authorities dated the 17. Dec. 1919 the LUISENHOF is reopened for Allied troops.

Electrical Piles for pocket-lamps
to deliver immediately in big quantities
JUNKERMANN & CO.
G. m. b. H.
COLOGNE, Wolfsstrasse 12/14.
Tel. A 892, A 6367, Telegr. Juco, Köln

Goerz Taro Tenax 9 by 12, with D. A. Dagor lens. Zeiss, Goerz and Voigtländer prismatic glasses.
Good opportunity to purchase.
Funk, Wholesale Photographic Dealer
Köln, Elstergasse 8, near Museum.
'phone B 4484.

PELZHAUS WEILLER
FURS
COLOGNE, 4 Rudolfplatz
(Near Opera House) — Refined work
English spoken

Professional Photographers
buy cheapest through
"HARBERS" 'RIVAL BRAND'
44, Prinz Heinrich Str. Köln-Mülheim Tel. 358
Manfrs. of Photo-printing machines.
Camera studio and all supplies, (papers, plates, chemicals &c.)
Great Bargains in High-class "KODAKS"

Motor — Car for Sale
Ehrhard Phaeton four-seater, without tyres, first class make, American cover, varnish, and cushions dark blue, with all modern accessories. Not used since outbreak of war; everything in best condition. Terms cash against delivery. For further particulars apply to Chr. Bauersfeld, Cöln-Ehrenfeld, Siemensstrasse 18.

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 19, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S/40 British Army of the Rhine.

OUR SPECIAL BOOK NUMBER

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

ARE YOU IN ANY OF THE PICTURES IN THE "C P" XMAS SOUVENIR NUMBER?

No. 226. COLOGNE, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

OUR INFLEXIBLE POLICY.

PRIME MINISTER'S FIRM STATEMENT ON EUROPEAN AFFAIRS.

PRINCE OF WALES AT THE GUILDHALL.

RESPONSIBILITY.

PREMIER'S SPEECH ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Foreign affairs were debated in the House of Commons on Thursday, the attitude of the United States being the subject of some very important pronouncements by the Prime Minister.

With reference to the Anglo-French Agreement he said that in the event of the United States failing to ratify the Triple Treaty we were free to reconsider our decision. There was no understanding on the matter, for one simply could not contemplate that the United States would dishonour the signature of its great representative. It would be a great mistake to discuss the subject on such a supposition. He had no reason to believe that the United States would not agree to the Treaty, but for Great Britain alone to undertake that charge would be a very serious obligation and in many respects an entirely new departure. It would be the first time we had been called upon to guarantee such protection, and if the Government should be brought face to face with a decision of that kind they would at once inform the House and give it the opportunity of challenging the decision if it wished to do so. It would be undesirable to discuss the matter beyond that at the present stage.

Regarding Fiume the Premier said that the Italian Premier has been invited to meet M. Clemenceau and himself, and possibly the American representative, in Paris in the course of the next few days.

In Russian affairs the trouble was that there was no one to speak for the Russian people. If the Bolshevists wanted to speak for Russia let them summon a National Assembly, freely elected, and then there would be someone and something to make Peace with. Directly there was some form of steady Government in Russia with whom they could negotiate Peace it would be the duty of the Allies to take the first real opportunity of doing so. This was the opinion of those who discussed the matter at Downing-street last week.

After describing what had been done to relieve the acute distress in Austria Mr. Lloyd George admitted that this was inadequate, but, he continued: "We can only carry burdens equal to our strength. I do not see what more can be done for Central Europe unless America comes in frankly with France and Great Britain to take her fair share. Peace with Turkey has been delayed in order to give the United States time to decide what share, if any, they were prepared to accept in guardianship over the Christian communities in Turkey. To have precipitated a decision which we were prepared to take at any moment might have led to misunderstanding with the United States and engendered suspicion, but now we were entitled to say that we had waited up to the very limit which had been promised to America, and that we now proposed to make Peace with Turkey at the earliest possible moment."

Whatever America may decide to do with regard to the League of Nations, continued the Premier, the League is vital to the peace of the world, and the Government are convinced that Great Britain, at any rate, must go on with it. (Cheers). Certain discoveries were made at the end of the war which, had they been used, would have produced indescribable horrors. It was vital that the world should have some civilised means of preventing war being waged with such additional terrors. Our Estimates had been carefully framed with a view to the exclusion of anything which was provocative, but until the League of Nations, including America, was firmly established, we must make our own country secure; (Prolonged cheers) for if Great Britain were insecure then peace, liberty and civilisation itself were insecure.

SYRIAN AGREEMENTS.

Dealing with the situation in Syria the Premier said it was part of the larger question in Turkey, arrangements for the settlement of which were discussed at the recent London Conference. Conversations between the French Government and Faisul had not yet ended, but he was happy to say that in consequence of these conversations and the arrangements between the British and French Governments the tension in Syria is sensibly relaxed.

RIDING MISTRESS KILLED.

The mystery surrounding the identity of a well-dressed woman who was recently killed at Kingston Vale while driving a phaeton, owing to a collision with a motor car, has been solved. She is Miss Lucy Douglas, the well-known Hyde Park riding instructor.

As coal reserves are exhausted, the Austrian Railway Department has completely suspended passenger traffic on all the State railway lines during Christmas week.

CITY FATHERS.

WELCOME HOME TO THE PRINCE OF WALES.

London accorded a very hearty welcome to the Prince of Wales on Thursday when he drove through the City to the Guildhall to receive an address of welcome on the success of his visit to Canada and the United States. A crowd of prominent personalities was present at the Guildhall, including Prince Albert, Field Marshal Earl Haig, the Prime Minister, Mr. A. J. Balfour and Mr. Asquith, who shook hands very cordially with Mr. Lloyd George when they met on the dais.

The City Recorder read the Address congratulating the Prince on having, by his unremitting efforts, natural dignity and courtesy, greatly strengthened the ties binding Canada and Great Britain in attachment to the Throne and Empire, and establishing a new bond of friendship between Britons and Americans.

The Prince, who was loudly cheered, said he was deeply grateful for his cordial welcome. He paid a tribute to the splendid part taken in the war by the Dominions. His Mission to Canada and the United States was undertaken with the keenest pleasure, and the warmth of his welcome in Newfoundland followed him all through the tour. He also greatly enjoyed his visit to the United States, and deeply appreciated the cordiality with which he was entertained at Washington and New York.

In proposing the health of His Royal Highness at the subsequent luncheon at the Mansion House Mr. Lloyd George said the King had sent the Prince on a Mission to Canada and the United States and the King and Queen had had their reward in the remarkable success of the visit. It was made at an opportune time, for the Throne meant a good deal. It was the Institution that united all the peoples of the Empire. The bond between Great Britain and Canada was stronger to-day because of the Prince's tour, which had also done much to promote goodwill between the peoples of Great Britain and the United States. That was a very important thing, for, upon the good understanding between the two English-speaking nations depended the peace of the world.

The Prince, in reply, remarked that he was greatly struck by the fact that during his visit to Canada he was accorded a great reception by ex-Service men everywhere. His tour would influence the whole of his life. He had observed with interest that in the United States everyday life and politics closely resembled our own. The war had put an end to the idea that Great Britain was played out. Our duty now was to see that we all worked together in adjusting our social, economic and industrial problems in general sympathy and best goodwill towards one another. Our problems can only be solved by commonsense and good will and it is up to us to show other nations how difficulties can be overcome.

SUVLA BAY SOUVENIR.

Replying to a question in the House of Commons regarding the steamship "River Clyde", Mr. Lloyd George said that she is now lying at Malta very badly damaged, and the Ministry of Shipping had decided that it would not be justified in incurring the expense of bringing her home. It would cost twenty thousand pounds simply to tow the vessel, and the expense of repairing her would be enormous.

On a suggestion being made that it might be possible to preserve the vessel at Malta, the Premier thought that it might be worth considering, and he promised to look into the matter.

GENERAL DYER'S DEFENCE.

A correspondent writes to the "Morning Post":

General Dyer is being violently assailed in the Radical Press for his stern action in suppressing the dangerous uprising in Amritsar last April. His critics here do not stop to reflect what might have happened if he had been less stern.

General Dyer's best defence is epitomised in a relic that some years ago was—and possibly still is—to be seen in a corridor of the Junior United Service Club. It consists of a sheet of paper, framed and glazed, to which is affixed a wisp of a woman's golden hair. The relic is labelled: "Found on a bush near the edge of the Well at Cawnpore."

TRAITRESS TO DIE.

A telegram from Amiens states that Mme. Marie Totot, who has been found Guilty of having denounced 20 Frenchmen to the Germans when they were in occupation of the town, has been sentenced to death by Court-martial.

Her husband was killed in the war after a distinguished career as an officer in the French Army.

Lord Dalmeny was granted a divorce yesterday owing to his wife's desertion.

THE 1914 STAR.

CLASP AWARDED TO NAVAL MEN.

In an official order issued yesterday the Admiralty announce that the King has approved the grant of a clasp to the officers and men who have been awarded the "1914 Star" and who actually served under the fire of the enemy in France and Belgium between August 5, 1914, and midnight, November 22-23, 1914.

The clasp will be in bronze and will bear the inscription: "5th August—22nd November, 1914." In undress uniform when ribands are worn, the grant of the clasp will be denoted by the wearing of a small silver rose in the centre of the riband. Two roses will be issued with each clasp. Provided the claims are approved by the Admiralty, the clasp will be issued to all officers and men of the Royal Navy, Royal Marines, Royal Naval Reserve, and Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve who were actually present on duty within range of the enemy's mobile artillery between the dates mentioned. The clasps earned by officers and men who have died will be issued to their legatees or next-of-kin entitled to receive them.

Notification will be given when the roses and clasps are ready for issue, and no application should be made for them until then.

Service in the following units does not qualify for the clasp:—Transport staffs; Royal Naval Hospital, Dunkirk; Royal Marine Brigade, Ostend; Royal Naval Air Service, Dunkirk; Royal Naval Division detachments at Dunkirk; divisional engineers and divisional train.

SPEN VALLEY.

HAIG'S TESTIMONIAL TO SIR JOHN SIMON.

Sir John Simon, who is contesting Spen Valley in the Independent Liberal interest, read a letter from Field Marshal Earl Haig at one of his meetings. Earl Haig wrote "As you say, I have no desire to enter into political controversy or to take sides in any political question. Since you write to me however that it is being hinted in some quarters in Spen Valley that your services in France were only make-believe and casual, I have no hesitation in saying that your work during the year you spent with the Royal Air Force in France was very real and very valuable, both to the particular branch of the Service to which you were attached, and to the Army as a whole."

LEEDS MURDER.

INQUEST AND VERDICT.

A verdict of wilful murder was returned against Albert Redfern for the murder of the Leeds Bank manager E. T. Oates. During the evidence at the inquest it was stated that Redfern had been dangerously wounded in the war and that while in hospital his heart once stopped. Nevertheless he recovered. On many occasions afterwards he appeared absolutely irresponsible and sometimes it required several persons to hold him down.

FAILURE.

NO EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS IN RUSSIA.

Negotiations between Mr. J. O'Grady and Litvinoff regarding the exchange of prisoners were broken off on Thursday afternoon without an agreement having been reached on the main question. One or two further meetings are to be held to settle the details and arrangements for despatching supplies to the British prisoners in Russia, and of mutual postal facilities.

VLADIVOSTOCK "INCIDENT."

Interrogated regarding the murder of certain Allied and Russian troops at Vladivostock by Koltchak's Cossacks, Mr. Lloyd George told the House that the incident was satisfactorily arranged and there is no reason to anticipate a repetition of this isolated quarrel.

PROFITEERING ACT.

Sir Auckland Geddes's bill to extend the duration of the Profiteering Act is one of the shortest on record. Its single operative clause provides that the Profiteering Act, 1919, shall continue in force until May 19, 1920.

NEW STEEL DISCOVERED.

Doctor Arnold, Professor of Metallurgy at Sheffield University, has discovered a new steel of unrivalled hardness. Its cutting powers are said to be far beyond all existing qualities of high-speed steel

ACCIDENT TO ROSS SMITH.

The "Times" has received the following cable from its Sydney correspondent "Ross Smith safe. Anthony Downs. Broke propeller. Repairing."

The price of silver has risen by 2¼d during the past week and is now 79½ pence per ounce.

THE UNDERWORLD.

STOLEN ARMY FLANNEL RECOVERED.

The mysterious disappearance on the 3rd December of 65,000 yards of khaki flannel while in course of transit on American Army lorries, yielded a sensational sequel yesterday. Scotland Yard detectives raided a warehouse in Middlesex-street, Whitechapel, and although no arrests were made all the material was recovered from the cellar. It has transpired that the thieves took advantage of the temporary inattention of the drivers of the four lorries on to which the material was being loaded, to drive off with the goods. The lorries were subsequently left derelict.

INTIMIDATION.

LABOUR COUNCILS ABUSE THEIR POSITION.

The West Ham Borough Council have decided to post notices in all their working departments intimating the desire of the council that all employees should join trade unions.

The London Municipal Society state that the Labour Party majorities on 12 London borough councils are forcing employees to join trade unions. "The Bermondsey, Shoreditch, and Poplar borough councils," says the society, "propose that increased rates of pay shall be given only to employees who are trade unionists. This system of extreme coercion and oppression bears very hardly upon many workers who either do not believe in the trade union movement or who have seceded from it for personal reasons. It is to be noted that this industrial conscription comes from the party which fought hard for conscientious objectors to military service."

OLD AGE PENSIONS.

RUSH LEGISLATION.

In response to repeated pressure from Members of Parliament to increase Old Age Pensions before Christmas the Government offered to present a Bill to Parliament to-day, to be passed through all its stages at one sitting. They feared however that there would be opposition from some quarters of the House to the authorising, practically without discussion, of an additional annual expenditure of millions. If there were any real opposition the Bill would have to be dropped.

SECRET SUBMARINES.

ANOTHER MYTH DISPELLED.

Statements which have been made as to the secret construction of submarines in Germany formed the subject of a question in the House of Commons yesterday. The Prime Minister said that there had been frequent Allied inspections of German ports, and it was not considered that any grounds existed for the suggestion that submarines were being constructed in Germany, either secretly or otherwise.

THE CENOTAPH SITE.

The Works Committee of the Westminster City Council reported yesterday that, looked at from the point of view of expediency as distinct from that of sentiment, the placing of the Cenotaph in the middle of a roadway having so large a volume of traffic as Whitehall was undesirable, and that if the monument were placed in one of the grass covered enclosures in Parliament Square the public would be able to pay homage without risking their personal safety.

The Council adopted a resolution, to be forwarded to the Government, that the permanent memorial should be erected on one of the plots in question.

FRENCH OFFICERS' SUCCESS.

On the occasion of Sir Henry Wilson making the usual passing out inspection at Sandhurst on Tuesday, the Commandant of the College reported that the ten French army officers who had been doing duty at the College during the term had made the greatest possible success of their difficult task.

MYSTERIOUS MESSAGES FROM PERSIA.

A Bolshevist wireless message dated the 9th December said: "Englishmen in Northern Persia are surrounded. Persians annihilated British at Meshed to the number of thirteen hundred."

This message has now been repeated to the War Office without comment by the officer commanding at Meshed, three days after the alleged destruction of himself and his command.

ANCIENT COPPER MINES CLOSED.

Alderley (Cheshire) copper mines have been closed.

These old workings run under Alderley Edge, a famous landmark and resort on the estates of Lord Sheffield. The mines have been in existence for several centuries, and are said locally to be the oldest in England.

They are believed still to contain large quantities of copper ore and other minerals.

SUMMARY COURT.

GERMAN LEGAL VIEW OF DRUNKENNESS.

According to German law, if a man is so drunk that he is not conscious of his actions, he may commit any crime in the calendar with impunity.

This remarkable dictum was elicited during the hearing of a case at the Summary Court in which Johann Marum was charged with assaulting two members of the Royal Air Force by striking them with an umbrella.

Accused's lawyer pleaded that the man was very drunk and had no knowledge whatever of having committed the assault.

On being asked by the Presiding Officer what was the German law respecting offences committed while under the influence of drink, Counsel replied that if a man was so drunk as to be unconscious of his actions he could not be held responsible.

Presiding Officer: Then if a man drank himself into a state of beastly ferocity he might commit murder or rape and if he pleaded next morning that he was drunk he would get off. It must be a delightful state of Society to live in.

Holding that even though drunk, a man must be held responsible for his actions to a certain extent, the Presiding Officer sentenced the accused to one month's imprisonment.

LUNATICS AT LARGE.

In the early hours of the morning two elderly women were found by a policeman sitting on the doorstep of a house at Lindenthal. They were without identity cards and night passes and when questioned gave false names and addresses.

One of the accused, Frau Jacob Kop, of 49 Altestrasse, Frechen, appeared in Court and admitted the charges but pleaded that she was very ill and had lost a child recently. The other woman advised her, she said, to give a false name and address.

A German policeman stated that Kop was half witted and that the other accused was at present an inmate of the lunatic asylum in Bonn.

Kop was discharged with the advice that she must not wander about at night.

WIFE TURNS INFORMER.

The wife of Max Fischer, of 3 Buschgasse, informed a military policeman that her husband was in possession of a revolver and on searching the house the weapon was found.

Accused, through his lawyer, produced a number of testimonials to his good character and in view of this and the fact that the man had evidently no malicious intent a nominal fine of 250 marks was imposed.

RAILWAY THREAT.

PROMOTION OF A MAN WHO DID NOT STRIKE.

A dispute between the Northampton branch of the National Union of Railwaymen and the L. & N.W.R. threatens serious consequences. The dispute arose over the promotion of a man to an inspectorship. The men allege victimisation, the promotion being made, they say, because the man did not strike in the recent railway dispute.

A conference between the N.U.R. officials and the local representatives of the company was held at Northampton but broke down after three hours' discussion.

The men say they are determined to cease work unless the appointment is cancelled. They claim to have received promises of support from all branches in the Midland area.

FIGHT FOR JEWISH FREEDOM.

Two thousand five hundred Jewish children, drawn form all parts of London, were gathered in the Great Assembly Hall, Mile-end-road, for the annual "Chanucah" festival to commemorate the Jewish freedom from Greek oppression over 2,000 years ago. The Rev. Dayan H. M. Lazarus said the Holy Land had been in the hands of various peoples. No one would admit that the Holy Land really belonged to the Jewish people, until the British, in their great struggle for freedom, fought for Jewish freedom as well, and restored Palestine to its rightful people once more.

DOG POLICE FORCE.

As a result of the daily robberies of goods trains standing in sidings and of merchandise waiting to be dispatched, the French railway companies (says Reuter) propose to employ specially trained watch dogs. The "Dogs' Regiment" employed at the front during the war numbered some 13,000 animals, and five or six thousand more were used in factories and depots. It is probable that the dogs who have not yet been "demobilized" may be taken over by the railways.

RAILWAYMENS' WAGES.

The Railwaymen's leaders conferred yesterday with Sir Eric Geddes, who delivered the Government's proposals regarding wages standardisation, which will be submitted to the men for their decision. Mr. J. H. Thomas is hopeful that the agreement will be completed by New Year.

A Bolshevist bulletin received yesterday announces that the Red Army has again captured Kieff.

STUDENTS AGAIN.

RAGGING IN A WORTHY CAUSE.

Preceded by a motor lorry bearing the lifeboat in which Sir Ernest Shackleton made his famous 800-mile voyage from Elephant Island to the Falklands, about forty students of Middlesex Hospital, carrying sandwich boards, marched in procession through the West End yesterday. The boards bore advertisements of a cinema performance to be given at the Albert Hall in aid of the Middlesex Hospital, when incidents in Shackleton's expedition will be shown.

The students all wore fancy dress, some being disguised as nurses. As the procession passed along, whistles and rattles were used, and at intervals the whole party shouted in chorus "Sex-sex sex-Middlesex."

IN THE HOUSE.

RUMOURS OF A RUSH ELECTION.

The announcement made by Mr. Bonar Law in the House of Commons that the War Emergency Legislation Bill will be the only measure to be carried over to next session is regarded as confirmatory of the Government intention to drop the Coal Profits and Anti-Dumping Bills. Mr. Bonar Law also stated that the Unemployment Insurance Bill will be introduced before the close of the session but will not be proceeded with.

Questioned regarding the alleged collapse of the supply of domestic coal, Sir Auckland Geddes denied the existence of any shortage. He said the trouble was due to lack of transport, for which the application of the eight-hour day was responsible.

The lobby correspondent of the "Daily News" asserts that the unexpected action of the Government in dropping the Coal Profits, and Anti-Dumping Bills, postponing the Home Rule Bill, and proroguing Parliament before Christmas is the outcome of their intention to rush a General Election in February, in order to fight Labour on the Nationalisation issue.

It is pointed out that the Labourites have planned a Nationalisation Campaign in January and have threatened a further industrial strike in February unless the principle is conceded.

The Government gives an emphatic denial to the above rumour, while the Labour leaders disclaim any intention of adopting such a strategic plan as is attributed to them. They declare that they are fully aware of the pitfalls in such a course.

Between now and the next session Ministers will be fully occupied with the devising of means for strengthening the Coalition and ensuring its smooth working.

MODERN DANCES.

FRENCH CARDINALS' CRUSADE.

The campaign started by the French Cardinals against the dances now in vogue is getting stronger. The Prelates consider that when the country is passing through a grave economic crisis there should not be so much tangoing and fox-trotting.

Cardinal Andrieux, of Bordeaux, after careful inquiries, now enters a vigorous protest against the tango, hesitation waltz, fox-trot, one-step, two-step, double Boston and triple Boston—all foreign dances. His criticism is to be read in all the churches of Bordeaux and the Gironde.

"We recall to Catholics," he says, "that they ought to give up, under penalty of committing a grave fault, these amusements condemned by Christian morality and by Catholicism, for it is not at this moment, when France is weeping for more than 1,500,000 of her sons, that others should be permitted to amuse themselves in this unseemly fashion."

STRANGE NEW EPIDEMIC.

Some time ago a mysterious outbreak of what was believed to be sleeping sickness occurred at Stockholm. The malady has now appeared at Malome, where seven cases have been reported three of which proved fatal. The symptoms are said to be similar to influenza except that there are no pains in the limbs, but slight fever developing into protracted lethargy.

W.A.A.C's TO STAY.

Although the War Office has decided on the disbandment of the W.A.A.C.s. it is understood that possibly small detachments will be retained for work in connection with the Registration of War Graves in France and administrative work in England.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

Markets were dull owing to the closing of commitments in view of the Christmas holidays, but the undertone was satisfactory. French Loans were weaker in sympathy with the new depreciation of the franc, due partly to the modification of ideas regarding the size of the forthcoming loan for stabilising the rate of exchange. Oils were quiet, Mexican Eagle dividend being not yet announced. Money was in better demand and discounts were harder. Gold was quoted at 107s 7d. Silver advanced to 78d on the weaker American exchange. The exchange on Paris was 41.97; Belgian, 40.05; Switzerland, 20.85; Amsterdam, 10.12; Germany, 184-186; Austria, 630-670

ANOTHER NEW DEPARTMENT

The N.A.C.B. are now prepared to carry out all kinds of Laundry Work at rates below those charged by Civilian Laundries.

Price list can be obtained at the following N.A.C.B. establishments.

The Officers Shop
27 Obermarspforten.
64 Aachener Strasse.

British Officers Club Nr. 2.
Marricer Hostel.

The above addresses are also Receiving Stations.

N.A.C.B. Service

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstrasse

Special Sunday Concert

Sunday, December 21st, 1919, at 6.00 p.m.

Grand Vocal and Instrumental Concert

The Band of:

Inniskilling Dragoons.

By kind permission of Colonel B. VINCENT, C.B., C.M.G. Officer Commanding.

Bandmaster E. ADAMS.

Book at Amusements Office.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.

Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc., Staff Instructor in attendance.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.

There will be no performance in this Theatre this evening.
On application being made at Amusements Office money will be refunded for any tickets purchased.

Palaçe Theatre. Herzogstrasse.

TO-NIGHT
welcome Return Visit of
Mr. ALFRED HURLEY's London Variety Coy
"THE JESTERS"
ARTISTES.
Mr. JOE MORLEY.
(The celebrated Banjoist from the London Palladium)
Miss MABEL MARTIN.
Soprano.
Miss JESSIE MOUNTJOY.
Songs at the piano.
Mr. HARRY KING.
Comedian.
Mr. CHAS. LEWIS.
with "Joey".
BOOK AT AMUSEMENTS OFFICE.

No 1 Cinema is now closed.
No: 2 ARMY CINEMA.
(Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.
No: 3 ARMY CINEMA.
(Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
CINEMA
Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post

Telephones: Military, No. 653. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Saturday, December 20, 1919.

Y.M.C.A. RHINE ARMY

XMAS IN THE HUTS

LOOK OUT FOR THE SPECIAL XMAS ENTERTAINMENTS!

I. SPECIAL CHRISTMAS FESTIVITIES ARE BEING ARRANGED IN ALL THE FOLLOWING Y.M.C.A. CENTRES WITH THE RHINE ARMY:

FOR MEN OF THE COLOGNE GARRISON.
1. Cologne Central Club
2. School for British Children
3. No. 3 General Hospital, Opladen
4. No. 25 General Hospital, Wiesdorf
5. Mülheim Central Club
6. Ehrenfeld Club (M.T. Depot)
7. Ehrenfeld Club (Garrison Bakeries)
8. Durham House, Riehl Barracks
9. Marienburg Barracks Club
10. Deutz Club
11. Kalk Central Club
12. Wahn Barracks Club
13. Lindenthal Club

FOR MEN OF THE INDEPENDENT DIVISION.
14. Wermelskirchen Club
15. Paffrath Club
16. Solingen Club
17. Schlebusch Club
18. Opladen Club
19. Bonn Central Club
20. Troisdorf Club
21. Godesberg Club
22. Siegburg Club

FOR MEN OF THE TANK GROUP.
23. Rötgen Club

At each of these Y.M.C.A. Centres, Christmas festivities are being arranged for all Troops in the neighbourhood; either on Christmas Eve, Cristmas Day, Boxing Day, or New Year's Eve. Christmas Trees, with Presents; Christmas Games; Christmas Teas, &c. &c. Apply at once to your nearest Centre and make sure of getting an invitation.

II. MADAME BERTHA MOORE'S ETCETERAS CONCERT PARTY has come out from England to give 14 days special Christmas Concerts. The Y.M.C.A has made arrangements where by admission to all Concerts given by this Party will be FREE OF CHARGE to all Troops in the Rhine Army. The following programmes and arrangements are made:

DATE	TIME	PLACE
December 19th	6.30 p.m.	Y.M.C.A. Durham House, Riehl Barracks
" 20th	"	" Central, Cologne
" 21st	"	" Durham House, (Sacred Concert)
" 22nd	"	" Cinema, Kalk
" 23rd	afternoon	36 C.C.S.
" 23rd	6.30 p.m.	Y.M.C.A. Ehrenfeld, Bakeries
" 24th	5 p.m.	" Deutz
" 25th	7 p.m.	44 C.C.S.
" 25th	6.30 p.m.	Y.M.C.A. Central, Cologne
" 26th	6 p.m.	" Rotgen, (Tank Group)
" 27th	6.30 p.m.	" Marienburg
" 29th	afternoon	" Central, Bonn
" 30th	6.30 p.m.	25th General Hospital
" 30th	6.30 p.m.	Y.M.C.A. Opladen
" 31st	afternoon	3rd General Hospital
" 31st	6.30 p.m.	Y.M.C.A. Solingen
January 1st	6.30 p.m.	" Mülheim

III. Mr. HUGH HERRING, THE Y.M.C.A. CONJURER will give his special Entertainment, FREE OF CHARGE, to all Troops as follows:

DATE	TIME	PLACE
December 23rd	6.30 p.m.	Y.M.C.A. Opladen
" 24th
" 25th	2.00 p.m.	Dom Hotel, Cologne
" 25th	6.30 p.m.	Y.M.C.A. Durham House, Riehl Barracks
" 26th	"	Y.M.C.A. Marienburg
" 27th	"	" Lindenthal
" 29th	"	" Deutz
" 30th	"	" Wahn Barracks
January 1st	7 p.m.	" Central, Cologne.

Go to your nearest Y.M.C.A. Hut to find out all details of

WHAT IS ON FOR CHRISTMAS.

R.C. FLACK & CO.
Naval-Military and Civil Tailors
CAMBRIDGE.

The largest selection of newest materials for Military and Civil dress.
A large stock of Military and Civil requirements.

Orders completed in about 14 days.

KRONPRINZ HOTEL
ROOM 6, Behind EXELSIOR.

Visit the British Shop in Cologne
Miss EDITH CAVE'S
Etablishment, 84 Hohenzollern Ring
The best place for Souvenirs, Stationery and Military supplies of every description.
Tram 18 passes the door.

MOTOR CAR
2 seats, pointed radiator, Wire-Wheels sporting model 5/14.
HANSA LIMOUSINE
8/24 H.P. 4 seats
fashionable small car. FOR SALE.
ING. PAUL DAHMEN
COLOGNE-NIPPES, Neusserstr. 367

Scottish Churches and English Free Churches.

THE MILITARY CHURCH.
6 Filzengraben (Turning off Heumarkt.)
Sunday, 14th December
11 a.m. Preacher: Rev. G. A. SEATH, C.F.
(Garrison Chaplain.)
6 p.m. Rev C. A. Seath C.F.
Cars Nos. 6 7, 11, 18 and 20.

Welsh Service 2.30 p.m. in Y.M.C.A. Central.

ARMY SKATING RINK.
NOW OPEN. This week, Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday other ranks and wives only 5.30 to 9.30.
Friday Officers and wives 3.30 to 10.0
Skates provided. Cloak Room Accommodation for spectators: Mugs' Alley for Beginners. Commencing shortly, Teas and refreshments will be served on the Balcony.

Church of England Services in Cologne.

THE GARRISON CHURCH (C. of E.)
Schildergasse
SUNDAY Dec. 21st ADVENT IV.
Holy Communion: 8.00 hrs.
PARADE SERVICE: 10.30 hrs.
Rev. H. Dominey C.F.
HOLY COMMUNION: 11.30 hrs.
EVENSONG. 18.00 hrs.
Rev. E.K. Browne C.F.
DEVOTIONAL SERVICE IN PREPARATION FOR CHRISTMAS COMMUNION.
Rev. J.C.L. Johnstone S.C.F.
Wednesdays, Dec. 24th: S. Thomas, transferred).
HOLY COMMUNION: 8.00 hrs.
The clergy will be in church from 17.00 to 19.00 hrs.

CHURCH ARMY CHAPEL Hotel du Nord.
Holy Communion: Sundays 8.00.
Tuesdays 7.30. Thursdays 7.00.
Fridays 7.30.

Catholic Services in Cologne on Sundays.

COLOGNE, CATHEDRAL
Mass in Cathedral at 8 a.m. (north Transept) High Mass in Cathedral at 9-15 a.m.
Parade Mass in Minoritenkirche (Minoritenstr.), 2 minutes from Cathedral at 10 a.m.
Rosary and Benediction in Minoritenkirche at 7 p.m. Confessions in Cathedral on Saturdays from 5—7 p.m.

Church of England Services in Bonn

IN GARRISON CHURCH, BONN.
EVERY SUNDAY:

Holy Communion	8.00 hrs.
" "	11.45 hrs.
" "	18.00 hrs.
Garrison Parad. Serv.	10.00 hrs.
Evening Sermon	18.00 hrs.

RESTING GROUND OF HEROES.

Every thinking individual will support Mr. Kipling's appeal for a more reverent demeanour on the part of visitors to the battlefields, for it has become only too necessary.

Scrutinising one's newspaper or walking along the boulevardes of Paris, one's good sense receives a shock when one notices those posters advertising motor trips to the devastated regions, or studies for a while the impression of Verdun marked by all its war ghastliness.

One is still more shocked when one hears the conversation of those who have been that way. They speak of this ghastly evidence of human agony as of some show, gloat over the evidence of war, yet this is but the beginning, for with the New Year tourists by the hundred thousand are expected from the ends of the earth, all agape to see how and where men died for their ideals.

This is a profanation of humanity of which it is difficult to write. But since it orginates in want of thought rather than in want of heart, we would beg these gapers after sights of desolation and horror to think of those to whom Ypres and the Somme can never be mere curious historic spectacles like the field of Waterloo.

To them and to their sorrows the battlefields should be consecrated for a generation at least. At present some are deterred from their pilgrimage by the thought of the conditions under which it would be undertaken.

The world forgets so quickly nowadays, and democracy in particular is so rich in life that it can hold death cheap. Who could have believed, for example, until Armistice Day came, that there were so many who could rejoice so whole-heartedly? But jubilation at relief from an almost intolerable strain has an excuse wholly lacking to joy-rides over the battlefields or to the sale of beer and picture postcards on ground that should be treated at least as reverently as a a cathedral close.

The battlefields are holy ground, and nothing should be tolerated within their area which is unworthy of the dead or an affront to those who mourn.

PREVENTION v. CURE.

It is at last becoming generally realised that "Prevention is better than cure," and the Ministry of Health has declared that "The first duty of medicine is not to cure disease, but to prevent it." In the past we have been all too ready to deal with the effect and disregard the cause. We have been content to endeavour to kill the weed from the top allowing the root to live and prosper in the soil of misapplied energy.

Now the Ministry has renounced the fatal doctrines of the past and is acting upon the firm conviction that the health of a nation is wrapped up in the physical fitness of its children and the ideal now aimed at is the procuring for every child a fair start at birth.

Such a resolve in certainly a sound one and while the task set is tremendous, the price of success is so high that there can be little doubt but that every effort will be made to bring about, what at present appears, an almost Utopian reform.

Sir George Newman has given us an idea of the plan of campaign, and suggests that the initial step is the removal of the fatal influence of bad heredity. He says:—"If we permit ourselves to favour and provide for the unguided propagation of a population of poor physique or of persons marked from birth with the stigma of alcohol, venereal disease or mental deficiency, we shall sooner or later discover that we are building on false foundations."

We would suggest that in many quarters the falseness of the base has already been realised, and the strong line which public opinion is taking on the vexed question of venereal disease shows that the magnitude of the evil consequences which this hideous scourge holds, are at last sinking deeply into the minds of the man in the street.

What the situation demands, is more advanced medical education, which will renounce many of the old beliefs and substitute the new point of view which aims at prevention rather than cure after infection. There is a call, also, for the education of the child on lines which will make it second nature to take all steps on attaining the age of discretion, to procure sanitation and to keep the dread disease as a wolf from the door.

THE PENINSULA.

Much credit is due to Major A. H. Mure, author of "The Incomparable 29th" (Chambers, 5/-nett) for the light hand with which he treats the grim horrors and realities of the Suvla Bay exploitations.

Though a history of the 29th Division in general and a record of the Royal Scots, the author has not made the mistake of being too personal or limited in his treatment of war as it was out there. The dry humour one associates with a Scotsman threads its way throughout the pages and adds not a little to the reader's enjoyment.

There have not been many books published that deal with the ill-fated Gallipoli Expedition, and to those who took part in it—especially members of the 29th Division, Major Mure's book will be full of interest from cover to cover.

A "REST" CAMP.

Those who were not there fail sometimes to realise that at Gallipoli one could never get really "out the line." Everywhere was within range of the Turkish guns, and it was almost impossible to get out of the way of stray bullets.

The following extract from Major Mure's book will give some idea as to the condition of things. "In Gallipoli the so-called 'rest camp' or reserve trench, was the most dangerous place. The firing line, so long as you kept your head well down, was really the safest place, except just when you were going over the top; that was hot always. In the support trenches you usually got shelled, and the snipers paid you their best attention. The shells and the bullets that went over the top of the firing line (and more did than didn't) found their way to the reserve trenches. And you were always under fire in every part of the damned peninsula. There was no real cover. In the firing line you got some of the shots intended for you; out of it you got all the shots that were intended for you and a great many that were not.

"I remember a small shell landing in the cook's fire and scattering it all over the place. Nobody was hurt, but the cook's feelings were. Most cooks are irascible, and to this rule Army cooks are no exception. Another time I happened to be standing near three or four men who were watching a mess tin, full of tea, boiling on a small fire of their own. The owner of the tin went away for a moment, when wack went a bullet straight through the precious utensil. Curiously enough it did not topple over but began to leak badly. The men screamed with laughter and the owner hurried back. He was furious with his fellows; he thought they were playing a trick on him and it took some time to make him believe that the practical joker was a bullet—and this was a rest camp."

FLEAS AND THINGS.

Amongst the minor discomforts at Suvla, not the least were lice — little things it's true—but a big factor nevertheless. The author says, "This reminds me of an interesting correspondence on the habits of the louse. A unit felt aggrieved because of the part-worn clothing that was being issued to it, so the adjutant took the matter up with the staff officer responsible for the issue. Part, only part, please notice, of Minute I— official billets doux are always called minutes in the army—stated that "several of the kilts received have been found to contain a large number of lice-eggs. Most of these eggs are possibly dead, but according to the habits of lice it is probable that some of them are still fertile, which might mean the infection of the whole battalion."

The reply in Minute II stated, "With reference to the lice eggs mentioned by you, by a special process they are thoroughly sterilized by the cleaners here, the process and the results being to the satisfaction of the local medical authorities. No possible danger rests there, and the dead eggs could only be removed to the detriment of the kilt. Finally, in connection with the habits of lice mentioned in your letter, the views stated therein are erroneous. The eggs of the lice (Pediculus vestimenti) germinate after nine or ten days or die (A. E. Shipley, Sc. D. Christ's College, Cambridge). They further depend entirely upon the body for their existence, and quickly die apart from it. They cannot live for any length of time in discarded clothing. In this respect they differ profoundly from the bug and the flea, which may be considered as only occasionally living on the body" (B. E. Cummings, Department of Entomology, British Museum).

Then there was a shortage of water—and the heat—the flies and the sand—a multitude of boils, blains and sceptic sores—all of which are dealt with by Major Mure, but with never a grumble. There is, as has been said before, much to admire in the author's treatment of what might be too grim and grey.

W. K.

PARIS IN WARTIME.

High reliefs and deep shadows were strange to most of us until the great European war burst upon an unsuspecting world. Complicated though life was in pre-war days, contrasts were not common — not accepted as part of the daily round.

With the upheaval of all our traditions, with the dislocation of all our routines and habits, the even tenor of our ways erupted and life was no longer placid. Everywhere—town, city or village were up against new conditions — restriction became necessary.

Certain towns and cities not in "The Fighting Line" experienced in a minor key the danger of war. Amongst these Paris must of course rank one of the foremost, and in her book "Paris Sees it Through" (Messrs Hodder & Stoughton, 15s. nett) Miss H. Pearl Adam shows with a singular charm what Paris thought and what Paris did during those dark days of war.

As in the firelight hard faces become kind and household gods possess added charm, so under Miss Adam's facile pen shadows become less sombre. Never inconsequent, never flippant, the writer flits from grave to gay and chronicles in a manner at once interesting and arresting how Paris saw "it" through.

WHAT WAS ENGLAND DOING?

The misunderstanding that existed between us and our French Allies was very real at times. The author says: "The French were pleased with us for promising that all unmarried men should go to the front, but that pleasure was but a drop in the total sum of their bewilderment at our dislike of obligatory service. Hanotaux pointed out that while we were talking of our unmarried men going, France already had her fathers in the line, and the boys of eighteen on their way to join them. That was cold fact and from one point of view it had no answer. Our effort in munition making had not been properly laid before the French public, and when a people has invented obligatory service for itself and carried it on through many a war and many an invasion, and brought it triumphant out of the fire of national disaster, in a century and a quarter it cannot understand the point of view of an island, inviolate for nine centuries save when we heard the Dutch guns in the Thames, and made such a wonderful fuss about it! which stops to consider whether it shall, or not, send all its men to the Front.

The British Navy, which requires two million men to work for it on land, prides itself on its silence. It never mentioned its two millions, let alone the number of those who served it afloat. Its silence is dramatic and magnificent and "in our tradition"; but there were moments when the Briton living abroad caught between French incomprehension and English pride of silence, was tempted to blasphemy, and to say that the silent service risked the substance of its service for the shadow of its silence.

WAR WEARY PARIS.

When the Allies took up arms, they had no time to put each other on the back, but America so stayed her entry that she got a great reception from war-weary Paris.

Paris was bestarred and bestriped with great freedom, and speeches of mutual admiration quite darkened the air. With the admirable intention of increasing the value of the tribute, the Eifel Tower cannon began a salute of 101 guns at the precise moment when one of our best-known baritones began to sing the "Marseillaise" in front of the La Fayette statue. Everybody was pleased except perhaps the baritone, who found the competition worse than that of the ordinary orchestra. At the same moment the stars and stripes fluttered up to keep company with the Tricolour at the top of the Eifel Tower, and every heart swelled with appropriate emotion.

Members of the Mission who are quartered in the same Barracks with our British Military Police are very unlike the popular notion of Americans, in that they keep themselves to themselves like the traditional British milord of mid-Victorian times. Whether they have received a consigné of silence, or whether they really do not want to talk to their colleagues, will be proved by subsequent events.

TOMMY'S YARN.

In this connection a British corporal of our military police told me a story which strikes me as the best example of unconscious art in story-telling that one could find and also of Tommy's reliance on his hearer to supply what he thinks it unnecessary to say. The story goes thus: "These 'ere French, they're queer; they do 'ave the rummiest ways. I suppose it's because they're French. But their Ambulance service, I will say its awfully good—that quick, that efficient, tray bong in fact. The other day the Americans come along to be quartered with us, up along of them Fusileer Marines of the French. Of course them speaking in a manner of thinkin' the same language we says to them: Come and name it! Not a bit of it; they wouldn't talk, they wouldn't 'ave a drink".

"P'raps they'd been told not to; anyway they wouldn't come near us. So one of our men—you know him, m'm, Mc Tavish—he's been to tea and dinner 'ere He says: Look 'ere. I bet you I make one of them Americans come and 'ave a drink sociable! And sure enough 'e goes off and a bit later we sees 'im and a Yank in the Canteen. McTavish orders drinks, and when they come, the Yank 'e says: 'Ere's to the President! and McTavish drinks to the President, and then the Yank of course orders a round. McTavish ses: 'Ere's to King George! The Yank ses: To 'ell with your Kings! And that Ambulance Service 'ad 'im in orspital inside of twenty minutes. It's a jolly good service, although the French are queer."

One could quote from Miss Adam's book indefinitely, but space forbids. Those who read this review and are interested and wish to study it in its entirety, are reminded that this and any other book can be ordered at the "Cologne Post" Book-room, Arcade, Hohestrasse.

Of War literature there is no end, but Miss H. Pearl Adam strikes a new key and gives us what is undoubtedly fact in a form more pleasant than most of our modern fiction.

W. K.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

DODGING THE ISSUE.

Sir,—I wonder if your readers ever encounter, as I do myself, numerous Germans speaking English, who boast their nationality is anything but German. I presume they are of the opinion they rank much higher in our esteem.

One particular German café proprietor told me he was a Roumanian and to support his statement produced a small piece of Roumanian money.

ANONYMOUS.

THE "POSH" YOUNG GUARD.

Sir,—I have lately noticed when walking in the various "strasses" of Cologne that about every tenth O.R. one meets, is sporting kid gloves and it is becoming a common thing to see officers' trench coats being worn by Tommies.

The kid gloves, if supplied by the Army, would I think be more economical in the end than the woollen ones which so easily wear out besides giving the wearer a smart appearance. The trench coats however give rise to mistakes which create embarrassment.

I have seen more than one private salute a raincoated private wearing an officer's cap, and it is about time it was stopped.

WOOLLEN ONES.

PRICE OF FOOD.

Sir,—I discovered, quite by chance the other day, that for identical articles and identical service in the respective restaurants at the N.A.C.B., No. 1 and 2 Clubs, different prices are charged.

The first entry on the Annexe menu was: "12 oysters with bread and butter, 20 marks." While on that of the "Earwig" Club "12 oysters" (with no mention of bread and butter) were priced at 22 marks.

Among other substantial discrepancies may be mentioned Welsh rarebits 2.50 marks in one Club and 4 marks in the other. Roast goose was marked at 28 marks and 30 marks respectively.

The high prices were not all on the one side, and, I suppose, taking a whole meal the matter would about level itself, but it is strange that the two places under one management should vary at all.

HUNGRY.

A BAD HABIT.

Sir,—"Anti-Cant" is quite right. I was not quite certain as to the identity of "Cupid", but now "Anti-Cant" has mentioned it, I am absolutely certain that he is no other than "Anti-Box". There is a distinct resemblance in the hypocritical line of letter.

I should not be surprised if "Cupid" and "Anti Box" are not one and the same with "One of the Gods."

If there is anyone I detest it is a hypocrite, and especially in the matter of obscene language.

I suppose "Cupid" is one of those "good men" who never swears and walks about with his hands folded and his eyes turned heavenwards, and people say "look at that good man, how benevolent he looks"?

BLUNT.

Sir,—Referring to "Cupid's" letter, I think this is a protest that is long overdue, The indiscriminate use of obscene language in streets and cafés, and on tramcars is becoming worse. I have heard the foulest language used on cars, in the presence of women.

Surely no man worthy of the name would take advantage of the woman's ignorance of his language to swear in her presence? Apparently however, this is so. I have seen many English ladies subjected to annoyance in this way.

Personally I am no saint, but I do think that men might make some effort to restrain themselves in the use of bad language, when they are in places where they can be heard by women, be they English or German.

SIGNALS.

A RANKER'S PLAINT.

Sir,—Many share "Ranker's" opinion. There are two places at least allotted to Sergeants and W.O.'s. Let them use them and not talk so much about "Tin God" discipline.

On parade that is all right, but when it comes to canteens and other places devoted to rankers they surely are not the places for W.O.'s.

1915.

Sir,—"Ranker" has undoubtedly done a great service in pointing out the prevailing custom of W.O.'s and Sergeants making use of the men's canteens.

This is quite inexcusable when it is considered that there is a canteen reserved exclusively for these ranks.

I venture to state that "One of 'em" is not thinking so much of the Army discipline as his own self conceit in advising young soldiers to keep a still tongue. Why this is necessary in a canteen I fail to see.

In all Battalions in which I have served the W.O.'s and Sergts. have always been prohibited from using the men's mess, a very satisfactory arrangement for all concerned, I think.

LANCE JACK.

Sir,—With regard to "Ranker's" plaint, does he mean to say that this happens in all N.A.C.B. Canteens in the occupied area? I live in Bonn and there is no place set apart for W.O.'s and Sergeants. We all gather together. Also we do not buy the things which belong to Tommy as we are Tommies too.

It would be hard on N.C.O.'s in Bonn if they had to go to Cologne whenever they wanted a bottle of beer or cigarettes.

DOUZE ANS SERVICE.

SILLY FILMS.

Sir,—"Man in the Street" has not had great experience of cinemas or he would never have ventured to express such opinions.

Maybe the Army cinemas and Y.M.C.A.'s are his first experience of the movies Unfortunately the films shown in these splendid places are with few exceptions four or five years old and so cannot be compared with the German films on show to-day.

Great strides have been made in the British film industry of late and Germany is at least ten years behind us to-day.

All the German dramas are sadly overworked and one cannot see a really good "comic". They are usually silly and ridiculous with no real good humour like one can see in a London cinema.

And as for acting, none of the Germans can touch the English stars. In scenery and effects, too, the British film is every bit as good and often superior to the German.

Finally a number of German films which are shown at even the very best German cinemas are undoubtedly immoral and would be banned in England.

A PICTURE GOER.

THE PLAYERS AND THE SPECTATOR.

BY

DANNY SHEA.

(THE FAMOUS ENGLISH INTERNATIONAL AND BLACKBURN ROVERS INSIDE RIGHT.)

Considering the enormous crowds which attend football matches, and the high pitch of excitement to which they are worked in many games, I think the behaviour of the average crowd is, on the whole, quite praiseworthy. Defeats for the home team are often taken with quite good grace, and any cleverness displayed by a visiting side receives its due meed of applause. At the same time, however, there are occasions when the football spectators seem to let their excitement over-run their discretion.

Already this season we have had experience of games stopped by onlookers rushing on the field, and from one or two centres there have come to me stories of barracking by the onlookers, who have said—and continued to say—nasty things to their players. I feel sure that if the supporters of every club would stop to think of the influence which they can have on the game in general and the play of their own particular pets especially, they would alter their tactics somewhat.

PLAYERS AS MACHINES.

Perhaps the man who, more than any other, has a bad effect on the players, is the onlooker, who regards the players as a machine. This kind of spectator does not seem able to appreciate the fact that footballers are human beings, and if for any reason they should fail to put up a good performance, he suddenly becomes sarcastic at the players' expense. All the good play which that particular player may have been showing for weeks, seems to be suddenly forgotten because of that one indifferent exhibition, and the very onlooker who, in the previous match, was prepared to swear that Jones was the best footballer he had ever seen, will on the next Saturday stand up and tell him to go and play marbles, or something even less complimentary.

Spectators such as these do the game nothing but harm. I should like to ask them if they never feel out of sorts, if, when they take part in their favourite recreation they always feel right at the top of their form. Ask the cricketer, the billiard player, or the tennis man, whether he always feels in just the same state of readiness for the fray. And footballers are no more machines than those who play these other games, nor can they reasonably be expected to be right at the top of their form all the time.

Moreover, the spectator cannot know just why the player is not at his tip-top best. For instance, just before the start of one of our matches not long ago, a well-known player received a telegram telling him that his wife had been taken ill suddenly. He simply had to turn out, because the club had no other man in reserve at the last moment, but it is not surprising that he failed to do himself justice that day. His thoughts were not concentrated on the game as they should have been, but the onlookers, knowing not the circumstances, were not a bit kind in their remarks.

IGNORING THE SPECTATORS.

Perhaps the reader may retort that this is an extreme case, but I have simply given it as an instance of what the footballer is sometimes called upon to do in order not to let his side down. Of course it may be argued that the ideal player is the one who can just ignore the presence of the onlookers and go on doing his level best and playing his natural game whatever the crowd may say. With experience, the player gradually gets into this state, and we have many men in big football to-day who just go on steadily no matter how much criticism is hurled at their heads.

When Newcastle United are playing away from home, for instance, it very often happens that the crowd around the rails says a lot of severe things to McCracken if he should be in one of his "offside tactics" moods. But to criticise McCracken is the same as pouring water on to a duck's back. Nay, he even seems to thrive on it, and whatever happens he just goes on playing his natural game according to his own views as to the best policy to be pursued in the interests of his side. And that, as I say, is perhaps one big asset which goes to the make-up of the ideal footballer. And as I say, most of the experienced players get hardened to the mere presence of the crowd, and also their remarks, but it is the young and inexperienced player who often falls a victim to the sarcasm of the onlookers, and whose play is the most likely to be affected by their remarks.

I known quite a number of football managers who would never, if they could help themselves, give a new player his first trial in the League team when they were playing at home. Why? For the simple reason that those managers are afraid lest the spectators should not give the youngster a fair chance. Did space permit I could tell you stories of young footballers who have been well-nigh broken-hearted after their first experience in big matches. They have gone on the field determined to do their best, but having been cursed with the sort of temperament which made them self-conscious and subject to stage fright, they have quite failed to do themselves justice. Thereupon the onlookers have said nasty things, and many a young player possessing numerous qualities which go to the making of a first-class player, has received a big disappointment at the very outset of his career.

Every supporter of this or that club is anxious for his side to win. That being so, it is up to him to help to bring about that result by giving the men a fair chance and every possible encouragement.

NO SCOPE FOR ORIGINALITY.

In other ways too, the football spectator has a big influence on the play of teams and individuals. In these days we hear quite a lot about the absence of originality about the play of footballers in general. Perhaps there is something in the accusation, though I should hate to think we are as stereotyped as some people make out. But if football is inclined to be "samey" I think the spectator must take his share of responsibility. He is apt to come down rather severely on young players who adopt out-of-the ordinary methods. And they are very free with advice as to what should be done by the man in possession of the ball. As soon as Jones gets it, he is told in a loud voice what to do with it—to pass to Robinson or to shoot. Now, the footballer who is old and wise, knows very well that the less attention he pays to the shouts of the spectators the better, but the young player is often carried away, and, even against his better judgment, follows the advice of the crowd. Many a fine player, with more than a touch of genius for the game, has been spoilt because the spectators would not allow him to develop his originality. Instead of encouraging the man with ideas of his own, the onlookers have "put their foot down" firmly, and all the player's out-of-the-ordinary ability has been snuffed out.

Just one more word. The football spectator has it largely in his power to determine what sort of game he gets for his money—that is whether the play is clean or "dirty." Let the onlooker condemn foul play whole-heartedly, whether by a visitor or a member of the home team, and we shall see much less foul play in the average match. That's a dead certainty.

INMAN AND SMITH.

Champion's Public Challenge Accepted and Date Fixed.

Relative to Inman's public challenge made at Thurston's on Saturday evening for a return match for double or treble stakes, and Smith's reply thereto, the champion was asked by a "Sporting Life" representative on Thursday whether there were any fresh developments. Inman replied that the date offered by Smith—the two weeks commencing Monday, March 22, next—was quite suitable so far as he was concerned, but that he was waiting Smith's pleasure regarding the amount he was prepared to wager.

The champion remarked that he was agreeable to stakes of £100 a side, but that he preferred £250 a side, and hoped Smith's party would go to that amount. Directly Smith signifies his intentions and posts a deposit to bind the match, he (Inman) will clinch the deal on the basis of conceding 1,500 start in 16,000 up.

JUST THE THING TO SEND HOME

PRICE 7 MARKS

OR NINEPENCE

10 Marks, or one shilling, Post free to United Kingdom

The Cologne Post

Xmas Souvenir Number

DONT DELAY POST IT NOW

FOOTBALL ITEMS.

Coventry City have only scored four goals in 18 games, the worst record in Britain.

* * *

The three leading English League leaders have scored 145 goals against their opponents 53.

* * *

Smailes Newcastle's new centre will be ineligible for the cup ties he has played in Blyth Spartan's cup battles.

* * *

Hoffman, the South Shields International amateur keeper, is recovering from his recent illness. Sunderland could do with him.—Nuff said!

THE GREAT AUCTION

Frantic Bidding for World's Heavy-Weight Contest.

"C.B.'s" DOUBLED OFFER.

A message from Mr. C. B. Cochran, the English boxing promoter, who is now in America with the object of securing Dempsey's signature to a contract binding him to meet Carpentier in London next year, carries the keen competition for the staging of the world-champion contest to a further interesting stage.

Before the Carpentier-Beckett fight Mr. Cochran announced his intention of offering thirty-five thousand pounds for a match between the winner and the world's champion, and definitely stated that he would not go beyond this sum by a single penny. Recent events, however, have made it obvious that the amount put up by the English promoter would be altogether insufficient to meet the demands of Dempsey who has received numerous highly tempting offers, both from France and America.

PARIS FEELING.

There is a strong feeling in Paris as well as on the other side of the Atlantic that the great fight should be decided in one or other of the countries which possess the principals. As mentioned in yesterday's issue, Mr. "Tex" Rickard, the great American promoter, and M. Decoin, the manager of the Paris Wonderland, have combined forces in the endeavour to arrange a contest in Paris, the former having met insurmountable difficulties in his efforts to make the States the venue.

The competition has now developed into a tussle between the joint interests of France and America against "C.B." It is, doubtless, the formidable opposition which has resulted from this combination which has forced the English promoter's hand and compelled him to increase his purse to three hundred thousand dollars, which is now equivalent to seventy-five thousand pounds. According to a Paris message M. Decoin has wired Dempsey offering him 250,000 dollars as his share of the purse, and if this is correct Mr. Cochran is still being considerably outbidden; his stipulation is sixty per cent. for the winner and forty per cent. for the loser.

PLUMPTON 'CHASES.

Short Odds for Closing Day of Meeting.

For the second day of the Plumpton Meeting the weather was fine, but dull and the going soft.

Results.

Juvenile Maiden Hurdle Race:—1, Duke Mavis (4-1); 2, Irish Fair (5-4 on); 3, Doctor Nicol (100-8). Eight ran.

Barcombe Selling Steeplechase:—1, Frank Ash (21-20 on) beat Our Boy. Two ran.

Moderate Handicap Hurdle Race:—1, Hedu (11-4); 2, Gavrelle (5-1); 3, Ivington (10-1). Nine ran.

Brighton Steeplechase:—1, Spoil (5-4) beat Ripling Water. Two ran.

Novices Steeplechase:—1, Promoter (11-4); 2, Amerongen (11-8); 3, The Admiralty (10-1). Seven ran.

Three Y-O Hurdle Race:—1, Royal Raider (3-1); 2, Interrogation (10-1); 3, Mintama (11-10 on). Eight ran.

RHINE BOXING CONTESTS.

As announced in these columns yesterday, the forthcoming series of competitions at the Y.M.C.A., Cologne, will be supplemented by outside events. It was at first decided to accept two outside for 3 or 6 rounds, but these have now been amended to 4 or 6 rounds of three minutes duration.

A.I.F. CRICKET TOUR.

The Australian Imperial Forces Cricket team sailed for Australia at the beginning of the week, says a Cape Town telegram. Collins, the captain, interviewed before going on board the steamer said he did not believe the real strength of the South African team had been revealed in the two representative games they had played. He thought, perhaps, the importance of the occasion may have been responsible but predicted that in a very few years South Africa should be fairly strong again.

From an International point of view the most pressing need of South Africa, added the skipper, was a fast bowler and a slow right arm.

ENGLAND v. THE SOUTH.

The Rugby Union announce that A. M. Smallwood, of Cambridge University, will play in the South three-quarter line, as originally chosen.

The other changes published hold good, and it is not expected that any other alterations will be necessary in either fifteen for to-day's match at Twickenham.

A GOALLESS DRAW.

231 Field Company R.E. v. 51st Northumberland Fusiliers.

RHINE GARRISON LEAGUE.

A large number of spectators witnessed a fast and exciting game between the above teams on the ground in Klettenberg Park.

From the commencement the Fusiliers made repeated attacks on the R.E.'s goals and, but for the fine play of Cpl. Clark at right back and the Sappers' trusty custodian, they would certainly have scored in the first 15 minutes.

The Sappers warming to the game took up the offensive in turn and kept the Fusiliers defence busy. At half time there was no score.

On resumption the R.E's invaded the Fusiliers territory and caused them great alarm in the goal area. After a free kick the Fusiliers broke away and attacked the R.E.'s goal, but thanks to the good defence they were unable to score, and the game ended after a hard struggle in a draw with no score.

19th Bn. Middlesex v. 52nd Northumberland Fus.

The above match to be played on the Klettenberg ground, Luxemburger Strasse to-day should prove a keen tussle. The above teams have met on three previous occasions, the Middlesex winning two and Northumberland Fus. one. The Northumberland's, having strengthened their side, will be all out to equalise the honours and also to gain the league points.

RHINE ARMY SIEGE PARK v. 36th C. C. S.

These teams met on the former's ground on Wednesday when rain and sleet made the ground very treacherous. Play in the first half was even and no goals were scored. About half way through the second half, while the home team were pressing, one of the C. C. S. backs put the ball through his own goal, and there was no further score.

A FUTURE CHAMPION?

Smith's fine display against Inman

It speaks well for the high reputation established by Inman, writes "Hazard" in the "Sporting Life" that a good many people did not despair of the champion beating Smith, even when the latter, by his excellent play, had doubled his original allowance of 1,500 in less than a week.

It was certainly a very fine performance to get well inside the allowance he was conceding, but one doubts whether the champion had any real hopes of winning after "sampling" Smith during the first week.

Six years had elapsed since Inman last played Smith, then a raw recruit to the ranks of first-class professionals. But in the interim the ex-linotype operator from Darlington had learned a thing or two, and more fit physically than for many years past, he has proved himself, in my opinion, the most potent force in billiards at the present moment, Inman not even excepted.

ARTS AND WILES.

All the arts and wiles which have won Inman most of his big games in the past were tried on Smith at Thurston's during the past fortnight, but all to no purpose. In every phase of the game itself, and in coolness and imperturbability, the champion found at least his equal in the young man from Darlington, who during the last few weeks has carried billiards London by storm.

To be outdone in attack, as he was in the earlier stages of the match under notice, is no new experience for Inman, but to run up against a "safety merchant" to whom he could give no "wrinkles" must have been rather galling to a player who has been acclaimed far and wide as the greatest tactician the game has ever known.

Quite early in the match Smith made a wonderful break of 626—which stood out by itself in the whole game—but as I viewed things the Darlingtonian really won by his facility and cleverness in piercing the "safety" armour of the champion.

A Newcastle correspondent writes us saying "United are at it again, carpet pattern football but don't bother the goalkeeper." There you have the reason for their lapses.

* * *

Hampton, Chelsea's goalie was taken prisoner just prior to the armistice.

LEAGUE BATTLES.

Tottenham's great task at Barnsley to-day.

THE CUP MATCHES.

To-day there are several interesting games down for decision, of which one of the most promising is the "Throstles" visit to Derby. Despite the splendid form recently displayed by the visitors, they may find the "Rams" equal to the occasion.

Manchester City go to Sunderland and as the Wearsiders will be minus the services of Young, their clever back, this contest presents a very open appearance. The Mancunians may secure a point. Newcastle go to Old Trafford and should account for Tom Robson's men.

Bradford City at home are a strong combination, but, even so, the possibilities of Notts County cannot be too readily discounted, Everton and Liverpool will provide a splendid struggle and the visitors should be in the picture when the whistle goes. Preston made no fewer than eight changes last Saturday and this reads none too good; Barnsley oppose them to-day and have a fine record at Deepdale. However, the home team may succeed in annexing both points.

SECOND LEAGUE.

Barnsley, at home to Tottenham may be the cause of the Spurs second defeat. They take some holding at Oakwell. Coventry, surely, will at last change the 0 to a 1 in their "won" columns. There can be no excuse if they fail on their own ground to Clapton to-day.

Blackpool are all out for the leadership, but so are Bristol City and here another keen struggle should result. Ground advantage and last week's debacle of the Seasiders, points to the success of the Southern team. Huddersfield, after last week's display should account for West Ham, but it will be a close game. Grimsby are a determined set on their own pitch and it is doubtful if Birmingham will succeed in bringing away any points. Stoke should account for Leicester, who have not won at home for six weeks.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

Only one game is down for decision to-day, Crystal Palace supplying the opposition at Swindon; a division of the honours appears to be a probable result.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE.

The Rangers are a certainty, no more need be said. Celtic visit Boghead and Dumbarton will make the "Idols" go all the way.

ENGLISH CUP TIES.

The sixth qualifying round furnishes some "needle" games and is exciting considerable interest. Bristol Rovers, despite Northampton's cup fighting abilities, have a great chance on the "Cobbler's" ground.

Newport to beat Exeter City, Gillingham to account for Swansea and a draw at Brighton, where Luton will be the visitors, are likely results. Watford look a "cert" at Southend, but the element of surprise is never so pronounced as in cup-tie battles and there is just a possibility that they may go under to their fellow leaguers.

LEAGUE I.

Arsenal v. Sheffield W.	Man. U. v. Newcastle
Aston V. v. Oldham	Middlesboro v. Bradford
Blackburn v. Bolton	P.N.E. v. Burnley
Bradford C. v. Notts C.	Sheffield U. v. Chelsea
Derby v. W. Bromwich	Sunderland v. Man. C.
Everton v. Liverpool

LEAGUE II.

Barnsley v. Tottenham	Hudderst'd v. West Ham
Bury v. Lincoln City	Leicester v. Stoke
Bristol City v. Blackpool	Notts F. v. Port Vale
Coventry C. v. Clapton O.	Stockport v. S. Shields
Fulham v. Rotherham	Wolves v. Hull City
Grimsby v. Birmingham

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

Swindon v. C. Palace

SCOTTISH LEAGUE.

Aberdeen v. Hibs.	Morton v. 3rd Lanark
Albion R. v. Falkirk	Motherwell v. Clydebank
Clyde v. Airdrie	Queen's Park v. Dundee
Dumbarton v. Celtic	Raith R. v. Ayr
Hearts v. St. Mirren	Rangers v. Hamilton
Kilmarnock v. Partick

ENGLISH CUP.

Sixth Qualifying Round.

N'thampton v. Bristol R.	Brighton v. Luton
Newport v. Exeter	Southend v. Watford
Gillingham v. Swansea

Billiard Match.

In a match between the Y.M.C.A. staff and 20th M.A.C., at the Continental Hotel on Wednesday, the latter team won by a fairly narrow margin. The scores were:

Mr. Duchars	140.	Pte. Unsworth	150.
" Blacklidge	122.	Corpl. Jackson	150.
" Collins	150.	Capt. Jack	121.
" Ludlow	140.	Capt. O.S. Maunsell	150.
" Britten	150.	C.S.M. Howell	115.

PLAY: MUSIC: SONG.

Amusement and Recreation.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Sat.	Tosca	Puccini	7	9.45
Sun.	Faust	Gounod	6	10
Mon.	Ein Maskenball	Verdi	7	10
Tues.	Hansel und Gretel	Humperdinck	6	8

ROLLER SKATING.

Yesterday afternoon the Cologne Roller Skating rink, in Marzellenstrasse, was opened officially to officers and their wives. For the past few days, other ranks have been enjoying themselves in large numbers each evening, the spirit of the proceedings suggesting that the newest venture of the enterprising amusements department, with Capt. Haygarth at the head, is certain to succeed.

Towards tea-time yesterday, the floor—not particularly extensive, but of first-rate quality—was comfortably filled with mixed skaters, and by the evening all the available skates had been requisitioned. Many of those present displayed evidence of many years aquaintance with the art of gliding, while "Mugs' Ally" accommodated the less experienced until such time as they gained sufficient confidence to join the whirling throng in the centre ring.

Tea was served on the balcony, from where a good view of the animated scene below could be had. The G.H.Q. Jazz band, meanwhile, played lively tunes at frequent intervals, under the conductorship of Lew Hallmark.

The lighting effects form one of the most striking features of the new rink. Three large circular fittings in the ceiling supply the main illumating power and these are supplemented by clusters of red lightseround the sides of the walls. Two limelights add to the general brightness of the spectacle.

From Monday next, there will be two sessions a day, those on Tuesdays and Fridays being reserved for officers and their wives.

Christmas Panto'.

Without the slightest warning, the Inniskilling Dragoons have suddenly flooded the hoardings of Cologne with the announcement—made on striking posters—that their Dramatic Company are to produce "Aladdin" at the Metropole theatre for the week commencing 1st January, 1920. Miss Marjorie Moore is included in what looks to be a remarkably strong caste. There is to be a childrens matinee on the 3rd.

No Performance.

There is not to be a performance at the Deutsches Theatre to-night, this decision having become necessary to prepare for next week's attraction.

JACQUES.

ANOTHER COUPON.

Shorter Time Available For No. 14 Football Contest.

To-day appears our first coupon in No. 14 contest and competitors should bear in mind that the teams figuring on this coupon will be in many cases playing their third match in three days. This, of course, is due to the holiday matches.

Owing to the Christmas holidays there will be no issue of this journal on Friday so that there will be one coupon less next week. Competitors should make a note of this, and we would also point out that it is advisable, in order to avoid the Christmas rush, to post efforts early.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 13,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S.40 Rhine Army.

List of Rules.

1. All forecasts must be made on coupons from this journal.
2. Any alteration or mutilation of the coupon will disqualify the effort.
3. If any match or matches on the coupon should be abandoned or full time is not played for any reason, such match or matches will not be taken into consideration in the adjudication.
4. In the event of ties, the prize will be divided.
5. No correspondence may be enclosed with the coupons, and none will be entered into. Neither will interviews be granted.
6. The Editor reserves the right to disqualify any coupon for what, in his opinion, is good and sufficient reason, and it is a distinct condition of entry that the Editor's decision shall be accepted as finally and legally binding in all matters concerning this competition.
7. Any entries received after Friday will be disqualified. No responsibility can be undertaken for any effort, or efforts, lost, mislaid or delayed. Proof of posting will not be accepted as proof of delivery.
8. Competitors may send in any number of coupons but one mark must be sent with each coupon.
9. Members of the staff of the "Cologne Post" are debarred from entering this competition.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 14.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 27th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 26th.

Burnley	v. Preston
Liverpool	v. Everton
Bolton	v. Blackburn
Notts C.	v. Bradford City
West Ham	v. Huddersfield
Clapton	v. Coventry
Palace	v. Millwall
Southampton	v. Watford
Queens Park	v. Kilmarnock
Falkirk	v. Dumbarton

I enter Football Competition No. 14 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(In block letters.)
Rank and No. .....
Unit .....
Full Address .....

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE IN A NUTSHELL.

Cup-tie.
Thornycrofts' English Cup-tie with Sheppey United to-day will be played at The Dell.

"Inseparables."
Rigby, Popplewell, and Mitton, known as the Inseparables, have figured at half-back in every one of Exeter City's Southern League matches this season.

For the "Cities."
A. S. Hamilton, the Headingley and Yorkshire half-back, is selected to play for the "Cities" against the Rest of Scotland in the Scottish Rugby trial at Edinburgh.

Regatta.
The twelfth annual charity regatta and sports organised by the Middlesex Wanderers will be held at Richmond on Boxing Day morning, the whole of the proceeds on this occasion being devoted to the Richmond Royal Hospital.

Police at Race Meetings.
In a written answer to a question by Mr. Gilbert, the Home Secretary states that Metropolitan Police are employed at certain race meetings both inside and outside the Metropolitan Police district. They are charged for at rates which vary according to rank from £3 4s. 8d. a day for superintendents to £1 4s. 8d. a day for constables.

Exit the Panther.
The Panther has left Newmarket en route for Buenos Ayres.

Old Q.P.R.
F. A. Wright, who is now partnering Coutanche at full-back for Ilford, is the old Queen's Park Ranger.

"Tich" Improving.
"Tich" Mason is progressing very favourably, and hopes to get up for the first time since his accident in a few days.

Veteran's Return.
White Surrey, who won the Ovingdean 'Chase, had not previously been seen on a racecourse for about a couple of years.

Col Paynter's Accident.
When Jack Symons broke down and gave his owner, Colonel George Paynter a bad fall two fences from home in the Rugeley Steeplechase at the Derby meeting, the gallant soldier had the misfortune to break his right wrist.

20 'Chases.
From the close of the flat season until Tuesday, inclusive, 20 selling steeplechases appeared in the programmes. One was void, six ended in walks over, six resulted in matches, two attracted three runners, three four runners, and two, five runners.

Winner Retained.
Marius was retained at 210 guineas after winning the Punch Bowl Selling Hurdle at Plumpton.

Heavy Loss.
A big loss on last season was reported at the annual meeting of the Herts County Cricket Club. Receipts had only amounted to £265, while the expenditure had been £401.

The only one.
In the Beginners' Hurdle, Baynards came to grief at the first flight, but he was the only one of the 14 runners that failed to stand up.

Better, but.—
Ivor Anthony is getting on well after his accident at Gatwick on Saturday, but it will be some little time before he is seen in the saddle again.

R.A.S.C. 'Chase.
Lord Fitzwilliam and Lord Birkenhead have presented cups to be competed for at the R.A.S.C. steeplechase meeting at Sandown next month.

Groves Reappears.
The Arsenal will be resting White, his place in the eleven to meet the Wednesday being filled by Groves. Graham, who broke down in the game at Highbury with Bolton, will be given a trial run with the reserves.

Sec. to Manager.
Mr. David Ashworth, who has been secretary and manager of Stockport County for the last six years, has accepted the offer of the managership of the Liverpool Club. He formerly acted as Oldham Athletic's manager for eight years.

Kellock's Five.
Kellock, who has been singularly unlucky as a pivot in Southern League football, signalised his return to his favourite position in the Argyle team by scoring the five goals of the game against Devon County,—two in the first half and three in the second.

Exeter's Eleven.
The team to represent Exeter City in their English Cup match against Newport County at Somerton Park today is the same as did duty last Saturday at Norwich, with the possible exception that Strettle may be preferred to Medcalf at left back.

Amateur's Gift.
E. V. Chandler (Belsize B.C.), heavyweight amateur champion, has given to the 1st London Divisional R.E. War Memorial the special prize awarded to him in that unit's tournament at Shoreditch on Tuesday night, when he took part in a three round-special contest with H. Franks.

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

Helping.

Collections are taking place in Cologne for Austrians in distress.

"Open to all Nationalities."

That was how the invitation to the recital given by Barker and Fry at the Dichsaal was worded. It points out the international character of art.

A Fact.

A critic reminds us that Elgar's oratorio, "The Twelve Apostles," was performed for the first time at the Gurzenich Hall in Cologne.

Tip for a Wager.

If you want to win any wagers count the number of figure 5's on a five mark note and offer odds that your friends cannot guess it. You will be astonished at the number of times it appears.

Frauleins Disappointed.

The one thing lacking in the Xmas decorations which one can see is mistletoe. This popular British custom is not observed in Germany albeit many will wish it was.

A Reminder.

The N.A.C.B. establishments in Glockengasse now present a Christmassy appearance. In the entrance to each department stands a large Christmas tree hung with all the decorations common to this season.

Notice to Dancers.

On account of the Scouts' rally in the Cologne Central Y.M.C.A. Loreley Hall on Saturday, December 20th, the usual weekly dance will not be held.

The Latest "Profiteers".

The Christmas trees on sale in the streets may be very cheap from our point of view, but civilians do not think so, and I notice an indignant cartoon in a Berlin paper dealing with profiteering in this line.

Won't they be Glad?

Cologne school children are on holiday from now to 18th January.

Trench Fireworks.

Have you noticed the glow in the sky these dark nights? A rich healthy glare is noticeable and reminds one of trench days, particularly when the electric tram cable sparks in imitation of gun flashes.

Officers' Allowances.

All officers who have any complaints re non-payment of their allowances should send in writing to the Command Pay Office through their Commanding Officer full particulars of the complaint. These complaints are to be sent to the Command Paymaster, Cologne, marked "Personal," so that immediate action may be taken to rectify matters.

The Link.

It is strange to note the number of French and Belgian commercial cars now in Rhineland. Quite refreshing to see Liege and Bruxelles in large letters on the sides of passing vehicles.

Please Note.

All coupons received by us up to to-day mid-day will be accepted in this week's contest. This extension of the closing date applies to this contest only.

Vacancies.

A number of German-speaking N.C.O.s and men are required for duty with the Independent Division. These interpreters will be granted extra duty pay at 1/- per diem.

Rhine Army Golf Club.

An officer is required to act as honorary secretary of the Rhine Army Golf Club. Will any officer who is willing to act in this capacity send his name to Major Tucker, Staff Officer to Engineer-in-Chief, General Headquarters?

For Blighty.

I noticed a number of N.A.C.B. girls walking to the Cologne main station with kitbags and parcels yesterday. They are going on Christmas leave.

Prefers Cologne.

I met a civilian the other day who had just returned from Berlin whither he had been for a fortnight on business. He painted a sad picture of life in the capital and did not conceal his delight at being back in the occupied zone again.

Those Stadt Notes.

Incidentally he had "umpteen" town notes for various small amounts including many from Poland, and these he gave as souvenirs to British soldiers, for they are not negotiable in Rhineland.

Good Cigars from Berlin.

And he had some excellent cigars which goes to show that though the food problem in Berlin may be acute, lovers of the weed are still well catered for.

Queues for Milk.

Once again we have the milk queues with us. Walking down Langgasse last evening I was attracted by the number of folk gathered outside a dairy, Evidently not satisfied with the tin variety.

Irish Units in Rhineland.

Apropos of my note the other day about the Irish left in Rhineland I am told that I've put my foot in it again. Several of the "bhoys" point out that there are still many Irishmen serving here in English and Scottish regiments, and, moreover, they are all volunteers. Exactly, and I did not say that there were no Irishmen. "Irish unit" was the term used. Anyway, may they one and all have a really good Irish Christmas. RHINELANDER.

A BOOKLOVER'S GOSSIP.

Barrack room tales are always popular. That is why I was attracted by the bright covering of "Scottie and a few Others" from the pen of a "Staff nurse" and dedicated to the late Lt.-Col. F. Wyville Thomson, Administrator of Dundee War Hospital and others. This admirable series of sketches is published as they were originally written — penned mostly in the midst of work under the British Red Cross and the Croix Rouge Française. As the writer remarks, the war is past, but our admiration for the heroic endurance of the wounded can have no past. It must now and always be an ever-present living reality; else they suffered in vain. The writer provides an intimate study of hospital life, and fills one with increased admiration for the lads who fought, that England might live. Messrs W. and R. Chambers, Ltd. are the publishers.

* * *

In a different degree we get "Escaping from Germany" (Andrew Melrose, Ltd.) from the pen of Pte. Edward Page, Royal Marine Light Infantry. As the title suggests, it is the chronicles of a reservist who, having been taken prisoner, made three attempts to escape from Germany. It certainly provides a source of comparison between the treatment meted out to their prisoners by the Allies and shows as nothing else can the desperate straits to which Germany sank. There is no claim to special literary skill or talent, and if I may say so the book is of increasing value because of this. We can quite believe the writer when he says words have failed him to describe fully the horrors and feelings of the time of his captivity.

* * *

The appeal for investigation into the conduct of Germans in authority at the different concentration camps will be supported by every right-thinking man and woman, but it is comforting to reflect though, that, all Britons did not forget their nationality. He says:—Half-starved, ill-clothed, covered with vermin from head to foot, compelled to live in vile dens of huts like cattle, they could not browbeat us; they could not, try as they might, crush that spirit that has made our race. I take great pride in placing upon record this fact: we never for one moment forgot that we were Britons; and no matter in what circumstances of difficulty or misfortune we found ourselves, we always stood up to them, very often having to suffer ill-usage as the consequence. We could not help it—the old spirit was there and it would force its way to the surface.

* * *

In the "Elemental," published by Messrs. George Routledge and Sons, Ulric Daubeny strikes a novel note. It is a compilation of extracts from the diary of a man who made physical fitness his religion, believing that "A purity of body most necessarily implies a purity of soul."

He attained the zenith of ambition and was in every way irreproachable. Then with dramatic suddenness the mode of his life undergoes a complete change. From a pillar of virtuousness he becomes a Hercules of vice and he plunges into the most outrage ous excesses. The diary shows that it is not a case of a sudden yielding to hereditary sin, but rather the result of mental derangement. A fascinating if somewhat morbid story.

* * *

If every author had the success he has earned, Alfred Olivant would be much more popular than he is. His latest novel, "Two Men" (Allen and Unwin), the third story he has written of Sussex life, is attracting a good deal of attention. His first novel, "Owd Bob," was rejected by most of the London publishers, and when it appeared was dismissed in two or three lines by one of our leading critical organs, which has since referred to it, more than once, with respect. But it met with a ready appreciation in America, and has steadily grown in popular favour over here, till it is commonly spoken of now as the one great dog story that deserves to stand by Dr. John Brown's immortal "Rab and His Friends."

BARRACK-ROOM DIALOGUES.

IV.—BOOKS.

Konky put My Lady Nicotine in white between his lips and set her on fire.

"I been reading a good book, Fatty," he said.

"Well done, Konky. Who's the author?"

"I don't know."

"You're a funny chap. Why that's the first thing I look at."

"It's called 'The Three Musketeers.'"

"O, really," said Fatty, genuinely pleased.... "I'm glad you liked it.... it's by Alexandre Dumas....one of the finest historical novels ever written. I thought it might have been Charles Garvice, or Sexton Blake, or one of those numerous stories about places the author has never seen, and people who never existed."

"Wot's the matter with Charles Garvice? I likes 'is books."

"O, well, I'm glad you like something better, anyhow. If only I could get you to read Kipling, or Hardy, or Barrie...."

"I can't understand this 'ere Kipling. Old Buggins lent me a book called 'Kim' an' I couldn't make top nor tail of it."

"But some of Kipling's tales are quite easy to understand....I'll get you a copy of 'Captain Courageous.' You mustn't get the idea that all great books are difficult to read. Why, the very best book in the world is written in simple language."

"Wot book d'yer mean?"

"The Bible, of course....'the earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the face of the waters'....look at the power and grandeur of the simple, direct expression."

"I ain't never seen a Bible to speak of. They 'ad a pile of 'em at the Rifle Depôt for chaps on church parade, but nobody ever reely read 'em."

"I will lend you mine, Fatty, and you shall read the book of 'Esther' and the 'Song of Solomon.' The 'Song of Solomon' is one of the most beautiful love poems in the language....'thou hast dove's eyes ....thou art all fair my love, there is no spot in thee'....look at that, all words of one syllable."

"You're a queer bloke, Fatty; I don't quite know what to make of yer."

"Now then you two, lights out," said the sergeant.

"Good night, Konky, old man."

"Good night, Fatty, an' God bless yer."

C.W.Y.

AN INTERESTING RECORD.

"The Athenaeum" was founded in 1828 by J. S. Buckingham, who desired, as he declared, "to make it like the Athenaeum of antiquity the resort of the most distinguished philosophers, historians, orators and poets of our day".

After two years of vicissitude, during which the chief contributors were Frederick Denison Maurice and John Sterling, the former of whom used his position to fight for Shelley's fame, the paper was acquired by Charles Wentworth Dilke, the friend of Keats, who had been for some time editor of "The London Magazine."

Dilke at once took a determined stand against the then general practice of inserting paid puffs of the publishing trade. A year after he had taken control he reduced the price from 8d. to 4d. The sale of the paper was immediately trebled. Within six months he could claim that the sale of "The Athenaeum" exceeded that of any other literary paper.

Among the contributors in the 'forties were Thomas Carlyle, James Hogg, Tom Hood, Leigh Hunt, Charles Lamb, and W. S. Landor. From this time forward the position of "The Athenaeum" was established, and its history is a part of the history of English literature.

Nearly all the most distinguished Englishmen of letters during the nineteenth century were frequent contributors to its pages—we need but mention the constant collaboration of Robert Browning, Swinburne and Walter Pater—and by these the unique critical tradition of "The Athenaeum" was created.

It may be best defined as a combination of scholarship with liberal enthusiasm. Time after time "The Athenaeum" has helped men of outstanding genius to recognition. Shelley and Keats were both praised and defended in "The Athenaeum", when their work met with nothing but derision and contempt in other quarters.

After a short period during the war in which it mainly concerned itself with social questions, "The Athenaeum" resumed publication in April, 1919, under the editorship of Mr. John Middleton Murray, as a critical weekly devoted to literature, science and the arts. While retaining the sound tradition of scholarship for which it was distinguished throughout the nineteenth century, "The Athenaeum" has been successful in its aim of reinvigorating English criticism.

In its pages may be found the best work of the younger school side by side with the best work of an older generation. Work is judged and appraised with a single eye to its merits, and in a short time.

"The Athenaeum" has established for itself a unique reputation for critical honesty and fearlessness.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

The Right Background.—Film production in Palestine has begun.

Among the Peers.—Lord Forster has taken his seat in the Lords.

The Roll.—Unemployed ex-service men number 42,000.

The Saucy Ones.—Postcard postage in France may be dearer.

Germans to Follow.—All Austrian prisoners in France are released.

But no Transport.—A much bigger coal output is recorded.

His Champion. — Lady Astor says the Premier is not a political profiteer.

Fun for the New Year.—A General Election is promised for early next year.

Chief of Aviation.—It is said that Lord Londonderry will succeed General Seely as Air Minister.

Christmas Cheer.—Demobilized soldiers are finding Christmas employment in the Post Offices at home.

A Straight Fight.— The coalition candidate at Bromley is carrying a pair of boxing gloves on his car.

Impromptu Better.—The Prince of Wales alluded to the reading of speeches as a practice of which he did not approve.

That or Work.—Woolwich unemployed are demanding the reintroduction of the dole.

A Good fellow.—Sir Charles Wakefield says the Prince of Wales has a genius for friendship.

Austria's Plight.—Austria will be trainless next week, owing to the coal shortage.

A New Trial.—Sweden reports a new malady, resembling sleeping sickness and "flu."

Holly Prices.—Green holly met an abundant sale at Oswestry market, fetching 20s. a cwt.

A New Post.—Viscount Churchill has been appointed the first Governor of the British Overseas Bank Ltd.

Crewe's Choice.—Mr. J. T. Brownlie has been adopted Labour candidate for Crewe.

Same Old Prices.—West End theatre managers have decided to postpone the question of increased prices.

The Daily Bill.—Average daily expenditure for the 244 days from April to Nov. was £3,099,486.

Stopping Profiteering.—In 18 cases of whisky sales above maximum price at St. Pancras, fines and costs were £348.

Impracticable.—L.C.C. decided that a Labour proposal for non-stop trams during rush hours was impracticable.

"Some" Storm.—Newfoundland has suffered £100,000 damage in a storm which lasted two days.

Now Labour.—Colonel J. S. Wedgwood, M.P., has been chosen Labour candidate for Newcastle-under-Lyme.

Memorial Plaques.—As many as 198,222 memorial scrolls have been distributed by the War Office.

At Last.—It is said that 30,000 soldiers are to be released for a great housing hustle.

Human Cork.—A Plymouth fisherman acted as a human cork in a boat which had been badly holed.

Hanging as Usual. — The British executioner and his assistants are working at pre-war rates.

On the Stage.—Hounds from the Blankney pack took part in a comedy opera at Sleaford.

Small Beginnings.—A Mile-End boy grazed his hand against a van and died from lockjaw.

Pershing's Claim.—People at home are asking which was the war Pershing says the Americans won.

The Penalty.—Two Germans found with 80,000 cigarettes were sent to prison for three months and fined 5,000 marks at Coblentz.

A Real Souvenir.—Wood from the Vindictive will be used for the casket in which Dover will present its freedom parchment to the Premier.

The New Type.—To meet the "crush" a new type of train has been constructed by the Metropolitan Railway Company.

Too Few.—The King's National Roll now contains the names of 8,069 firms willing to employ disabled ex-Service men.

Shipping Deal.—The Hudson Bay Company is acquiring Messrs. Griffiths and Lewis and the Dulcia Shipping fleets.

"Pussyfooters" Rout.—By a majority of three votes a cask of beer has been accepted for the inmates for Christmas by the Brigg Guardians.

Tribunal Suspends Sitting.—Believing that most profiteering occurs among wholesalers, Enfield Tribunal has suspended its sittings.

Judicial Ruling.—Justice Sankey has ruled that the Government has no power to prohibit certain imports of ordinary peace time trade.

Owing to pressure on our advertising space due to special Xmas Advertisements, Publishers Announcements are unavoidably held over.

G R

By order of the Disposal Board

The Ministry of Munitions has for disposal large quantities of

FOODSTUFFS, ETC.,

comprising—

Roast Fowl	Beef Essence	Mealie meal
Vanilla Essence	Vermicelli	Pigeon food mixed
Lemon Essence	Hops	Pigeon food grit
Lentils	Dried Peas	Herbs, mixed
Vibrona	Sparklets "B" bulbs	Meat extract
Soups, assorted	Sparklets "C" bulbs	Spice mixed
Cerebos salt	Anchovy paste	Granulated potatoes
Preserved meat	Anchovy essence	Arrow root
Dried vegetables	Chicken broth	Bicarbonate of soda
Beans, dried	Chicken essence	Egg powder
Benger's Food	Potted meat	Jellies, Calf's Foot
Cornflour	Mutton broth	Olive oil
Fruits, assorted	Mutton extract	Pearl barley
Nutmegs	Mutton essence
Ox tongue	Lemonade crystals

also 82,000 ½bottles Bass Beer

The attention of

OFFICERS' MESSES, CLUBS, and COMMERCIAL FIRMS

is drawn to these goods, which will be sold as a whole to the highest or most suitable bidder, or to Officers' Messes, Clubs, etc. in smaller lots at equitable prices.

Tenders for all or any part of these goods will be accepted not later than 22nd December, 1919.

All particulars, with schedule of provisions for disposal, may be obtained from Room 182, Domhof 28, Cologne.

Verbal tenders will not be considered.

The Ministry of Munitions does not bind itself to accept the highest, or any tender, nor gives any guarantee as to quality or condition.

The successful tenderer will be required to forward a cheque for the full amount, made payable to the British Ministry of Munitions, Room 190, Domhof 28, Cologne, immediately on notification of acceptance (payment may be made in Sterling).

Removal of the goods purchased must be made within 10 days of receipt of Authorisation of Ownership, which form will be handed to the purchaser within 3 days of receipt of payment.

MINISTRY OF MUNITIONS,
(DISPOSAL BOARD) G.H.Q. COLOGNE.

LIBRAIRIE HACHETTE

Modern Language Publishers, etc.
LONDON: 18 King William Street,
Charing Cross W.C.

	s. d.
Public School German Grammar, with Exercises, Composition, Conversation, Lists of Verbs and full Vocabularies. 434 pages - - - - - - - - - net	3.6
——Key to Same - - - - - - - net	3.0
First German Book.—Grammar, Conversation, Readings, etc., with Vocabularies. 184 pages - - - - - - - - - net	1.0
——Key to Same - - - - - - - net	2.6
Practical Lessons in German Conversation (German Towns, Railways, Steamboats, Theatres, Newspapers, Anecdotes, etc.) (Dr. Meissner, M.A.) 264 pages net	2.6
New English and German Dialogues, for Travellers and Students. 230 pages net	1.6
Hier spricht man Deutsch. Pocket Conversation Manual - - - - - - net	0.6
Pictures of German Life. Stories from Contemporary German Authors, with English Notes - - - - - - - - net	1.6

The above can be obtained through, and Catalogues seen at, the "Cologne Post" Bookshop Arcade, Hohestrasse, Cologne.

The Cologne Post BOOK ROOM

Large stock of books.

Any book obtained from England for you.

Daily, weekly and monthly periodicals of all kinds on the tables.

SPECIAL LADIES ROOM

THE ARCADE, HOHE STRASSE

Closed on Dec. 25, 26 and 28.

Electrical Piles for pocket-lamps

to deliver immediately in big quantities

JUNKERMANN & CO.
G. m. b. H.
COLOGNE, Wolfsstrasse 12/14.
Tel. A 892, A 6367, Telegr. Juco, Köln

Y. M. C. A. BOOKSHOP
16, DOMHOF.
Special selection of Recent Novels and Childrens Story Books.
Hours 10—12.30, 2—4, 5—7.
Thursdays 10—12.30 only.

THE ARMY GENERAL COLLEGE
(58 HANSA RING, COLOGNE)

The next course begins on 10th January 1920 and lasts for six weeks, giving opportunities for study in various stages of the following subjects:

A. GENERAL WING.

English.
French.
Geography.
History.
Mechanical Engineering (Elem.)
German.
Classics.
Civics.
Mathematics.
Chemistry & Physics.

B. COMMERCIAL WING.

GROUP I.

(a) Economics. (To include, Money, Trade & Finance; and the Indust. Development of England.)
(b) Commercial Geography.
(c) Commercial Law.
(d) Company Law.
(e) Bookkeeping (Elementary).
(f) Bookkeeping (Intermediate).
(g) Accountancy.
(h) Auditing.
(i) Commercial Correspondence and Training (Elementary).
(j) Commercial Correspondence and Business Training (Advanced).
(k) Banking.
(l) Commercial Arithmetic. (Elem.)
(m) " " (Advanced.)
(n) Shorthand & Typewriting.
(o) Secretarial Practice.

GROUP II.

(p) French. (Elementary.)
(q) " (Commercial.)
(r) German. (Elementary.)
(s) German. (Commercial.)
(t) Spanish. (Elementary.)

C. AGRICULTURAL WING.

COURSE C (I).

The Allotment Holders' Course, which in intended to meet the requirements of students wishing to take up an allotment on demobilisation, and is held at the Army Educational Farm.

COURSE C (II).

The Agricultural Science Course, which is intended for men with farming experience who wish to continue their studies or take up science connected with agriculture.

D. ART CLASSES.

1. Pure Art, figure drawing, painting and sketching.
2. Commercial Art, drawing, design, construction and artistic crafts.

ALL RANKS wishing to enter for the above courses should apply at once to their Commanding Officers

Names must reach G.N.Q.G. 30th December.

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O. S./40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

BUSINESS-PREMISES in centre of the town comprising Shop, Office, Warehouse and twenty rooms. For sale Mks. 135,000,—. Letters Box 108, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (T.c.)

REAL-Amber-Necklases at lowest prices by wholesale dealer. Apply for samples to H. Bley, Bonn, 22 Roonstr.

PHOTO HOUSE and camera repairing works. Aug. Lang, mechanician of precision. Kl. Neugasse 9/11. Always bargains in second-hand binoculars Zeiss-Goertz, Voigtländer & Leitz.

MUSIC instrument, light oak Polyphon, 2,40×0,75, with 13 plates, for sale. Write offers to Loevenich, Köln, Roonstr. 71.

PERAMBULATOR, English, second-hand, for sale, 350 Mks. Can be seen daily, 9-1 and 4-7, at Sudermanstr. 4 (fruit shop). Letters to Box 139, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (1)

OFFICER'S tunic, brand new (chest 35, height 5 ft. 9 in.), £2 10s., or nearest offer. Call room 81, Hotel Monopol, in office hours. (1)

SECOND-HAND Zeiss telescope, 12,20, 40×80, and Binoculars. Blumenfeld, Bathasarstr. 24, near Deutscher Ring.

PERSONAL.

WILL Sgt. Barnett, 5th Batt. Royal Irish Rgt. Transport, please communicate with Ernest, D.L.I. (2)

WANTED.

IMMEDIATELY one or two Bedrooms, sitting room and kitchen, or use of kitchen for English N.C.O. and family. Box No. 121, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (1)

CONTINENTAL typewriter at once, second-hand preferred. State price and full particulars Box 136, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (2)

WE SEEK, at good interest, £2—3000. As surety will be given, if required, 1st mortgage of a large warehouse, worth 600,000 Mk. Offers to A 446, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ANY information of Sec. Lieut. J. B. Clarke, 4th South Lancs. Regt., attd. 12th Somerset Light Inf. (74th Division), supposed to be killed at Allaines, north of Peronne, Sep. 2nd, 1918, to Box P. P., Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (TC)

MISSING.

PTE. MILLS (27509) Royal Berks Regt. Any information gladly received by Mrs. Mills, 23 Buttermere Rd., Sheffield. (T.c.)

INFORMATION is wanted of Pte. M. H. Holmes No. 54815 6th platoons 1/5 West Yorks, missing since April 25th 1918 Kommel Hill. Supposed to have been seen since at Shulfort and Fockody premises in Maubeuge. Kindly write Holmes 3 Windsor Rd., Shipley Yorks. (T.c.)

HEAR your favourite melodies on the „Gramola"

Gramophone Spezialhaus
COLOGNE
Hohestr. 150

IMPORTANT TO IMPORTERS AND EXPORTERS
LARGE STOCK IN AMBER BEADS
COMING TO COLOGNE
If you are intrested apply to No. 105 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

Please ask for:
DEUTZ & GELDERMANN
First-class Champagne
FRANZ JOSEF ROETTGEN, COLOGNE, General Agent.

PELZHAUS WEILLER
FURS
COLOGNE, 4 Rudolfplatz
(Near Opera House) — Refined work
English spoken

Demann & Peters G. m. b. H.
chemical products
textiles and mine products
KÖLN-EHRENFELD, Ehrenfeldgürtel 81
wish to present foreign firms for buying and selling of all kinds of goods.
First rate German and foreign references.

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 20, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

FIRST EDITION "C.P." XMAS SOUVENIR NUMBER ALMOST SOLD OUT. HAD YOURS YET?

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

ORDER YOUR XMAS SOUVENIRS FOR HOME AT THE BOOKROOM —& DO IT NOW.

No. 227. COLOGNE, SUNDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

SHOTS AT IRISH VICEROY.

SINN FEINERS' DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE LORD FRENCH.

ATTACKED WITH BULLETS AND BOMBS.

SINN FEIN!

ATTEMPTED MURDER OF VICEROY OF IRELAND.

A fiendish and desperate attempt to assassinate the Viceroy of Ireland, Field-marshal Lord French, was made at Dublin on Friday.

The unveiling of a memorial was the occasion chosen by Sinn Feiners for the dastardly and despicable crime. As Lord French's car was proceeding along a road an obstruction was seen in the form of another car, broadside on.

With great presence of mind and skill the Viceroy's chauffeur swung his car round at the critical moment when a party of some twenty Sinn Feiners made the attack with a volley of shots.

The miscreants then threw hand grenades and the second car in the Viceroy's suite was smashed. In the third car were some soldiers who immediately opened fire, and a fierce exchange of shots ensued, with the result that one civilian was killed and one policeman wounded.

Lord French was unharmed.

Immediately on hearing the news of the attempted assassination and of Lord-French's fortunate escape the King telegraphed his congratulations.

Yesterday morning the Viceroy took his usual walk in the Park.

£500 APPROPRIATED.

EX-GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL'S FRAUD.

Pleading guilty to five charges of obtaining money by false pretences, Thomas James Lovett, fifty-three, a clerk, of Tooting, was sentenced by the North London Magistrate to twelve months' imprisonment, with hard labour.

Lovett had been employed for some time under the Ministry of Labour as a "non-compliance inspector" at a salary of £4 2s. per week. His duty was to visit employers in the South Midlands and the Eastern Division to see that the insurance cards were stamped. If he found omissions he had to collect amounts due and pay them into his Department the same day. He was dismissed on July 31, but since then he had collected illegally £500, which had not been handed over to the Department.

TEACHER MURDERED.

LATEST OUTRAGE IN COUNTY CORK.

Murder is suspected in the case of the death of a man named Michael Blanchfield, a National School teacher, whose body was found in the village of Nohoval, Co. Cork, yesterday morning. There were two bullet wounds in the back, and the body lay in a pool of blood.

Blanchfield was seen near the village, where he resided alone, about eleven o'clock on Wednesday night, and it is stated that revolver shots were heard between eleven and twelve o'clock. At present no motive is known for the crime.

HOSPITAL SUNDAY FUND.

The annual meeting of the Metropolitan Hospital Sunday Fund was held at the Mansion House under the presidency of the Lord Mayor. In moving the adoption of the report Mr. Robert Holland Martin, treasurer, said that the collection for the year ended on October 31 last amounted to £86,232, including £11,271 in donations and £40,307 in church offertories. Collecting had been rather difficult owing to the uncertainty existing as to the hospital policy of the Ministry of Health. The Council hoped to do better still in the coming year by the house-to-house collection, arrangements being made for a real team of people in each parish.

The Royal Institute of Public Health have accepted an invitation from the Burgomaster of Brussels (M. Adolphe Max), on behalf of the Belgian municipalities and Universities, to hold their Congress in Brussels next May.

The Great Northern Central Hospital has received from the Stoke Newington War Hospital Supply Depot a cheque for £25 out of their surplus war funds.

ARSENAL BLOWN UP.

An explosion has occurred at the Picatinny Arsenal, Dover, New Jersey. The explosion was followed by a fire, which destroyed three other buildings.

One person was killed and four injured, two seriously. The total loss is estimated at 1,000,000 dollars approximately.

A consequence of the riotous conduct in Wycombe during the recent furniture trade lock-out is a bill of £688 2s. 6d. for the Oxford City police drafted into the town for special duty.

UNRULY TURKS.

DISQUIETING REPORTS FROM MESOPOTAMIA.

Information from the disturbed areas of the East in which British forces are still involved is very disquieting.

Anti-British feeling in Turkey has increased, particularly in Western Anatolia, and it is becoming more and more difficult for the Allies to exercise control over the Turkish army.

In Mesopotamia there is a considerable revolt. Arab forces are still in occupation of Bhezezzor (? Deir ez Zor, about 300 miles N.W. of Bagdad), where the Government buildings have been completely burnt out. Large numbers of Bedouins are camped in the neighbourhood, and it is presumed that they were brought in to help and have now got out of hand. Aeroplanes sent to reconnoitre the place were heavily fired on.

There is a large Turkish-Arab movement on foot, and a strong column of troops is moving down the Euphrates in the direction of Bagdad. There is a strong possibility that British troops will come into contact with them.

Kurdistan, which is partly in Turkey and partly in Persia, is also very unsettled. According to a Berlin message to the Paris "Matin," that picturesque rogue, Enver Pasha, has been crowned King of Kurdistan. British forces in Mosul recently undertook an expedition against Kurds to the North-East of the city to punish them for certain acts of aggression.

Further East, on the North West Frontier of India the situation is more closely related to the Bolshevist problem than is generally realised. Moscow is in constant communication with Kabul.

It is not without significance that an ordnance has been issued prohibiting the possession of Russian rouble notes in India. It is announced (says a Reuter wire from Delhi) that any person found in possession of such notes is liable to be punished with imprisonment for three years and with a fine and confiscation.

MARLOH TRIAL.

NOSKE'S INDICTMENT DEMANDED.

The Marloh trial was the principal subject dealt with at no less than sixty-seven public meetings which were called by the Independent Socialist Party in Berlin last Sunday.

The meetings were largely attended, but no disturbances marked the proceedings.

All the speakers sharply censured the action of the Government in the case, and the demand was unanimously raised that the chief culprits, namely Col. Reinhard, Capt. von Kessel, and Defence-Minister Noske, should be immediately placed in the dock on the charge of having incited Marloh, and his men to commit manslaughter.

IRISH AFFAIRS.

LABOUR PARTY TO INVESTIGATE

The Parliamentary Labour Party, realising the desirability of securing accurate information, have decided to send a deputation to Ireland during the coming Recess to investigate the conditions in that country to ascertain the effect of the present system of government, and to what extent this system is interfering with legitimate individual liberty.

At a special meeting of the party, held in the House of Commons yesterday, the following deputation was appointed: Mr. W. Adamson, Mr. J. R. Clynes, Mr. A. Henderson, Mr. W. R. Smith, Mr. W. Tyson Wilson, Mr. J. A. Parkinson.

EX-KAISER WANTED AS WITNESS.

The German Parliamentary Commission of Inquiry which is investigating the causes that led to the outbreak of the war, is now seriously considering the advisability of summoning the ex-Emperor Wilhelm as a witness, if need be by the intervention of Holland.

The public sittings of the Commission will be resumed in January, while the official documents which have any bearing on the matter will be published before Christmas.

KHAKI COLOUR DISCARDED.

At the closing session of the South African Party Conference General Smuts mentioned that the new colour of the uniform of the South African Defence Force would not be khaki, but one which would command the support of all sections of the community.

Mr. Judd, a Socialist candidate for the Australian Senate, has been fined five pounds for describing Australian soldiers as "six bob a day murderers."

AFGHAN FRONTIER.

FURTHER CONCENTRATION OF TRIBESMEN.

The latest telegrams from India show that the situation as regards the Mahsuds is distinctly worse, Reuter's Agency understands. In the first place the Mahsuds did not, as expected, attend the Jirgah at Kirgeh last Tuesday, and it is reported that for the present there is no likelihood of their accepting the British terms. On the contrary, a Mahsud force, estimated at two thousand strong, is reported to be in the vicinity of Mandanna Kach, four miles north-west of Jandola, for which place also a Wana Waziri force is marching in response to an appeal for assistance from the Mahsuds. Several small Mahsud-Waziri gangs are out raiding in the Tochi valley.

R.A.F. MESS DRESS.

PATTERN APPROVED BY THE KING.

The vexed question of mess dress for the Royal Air Force has at last been decided by the King's approval being given for the adoption of the pattern recently submitted to him by Sir Hugh Trenchard.

The material is a durable cloth of finer texture than, but of much the same colour as, that used in the new Service dress of the R.A.F.

The jacket has a roll-step collar and shoulder-strap, and on the latter are the badges of rank in gold wire lace, surmounted by a bird and crown in gold embroidery. Shoulder-straps of Air officers bear a wreath of small oak-leaves surrounding the button.

The lapels are faced with pale silk of the same shade as the material. The buttons are of the mounted-eagle-and-crown pattern, with roll collar and four small buttons, and the trousers are plain and of the same material as the mess jacket.

The cost is estimated as between £25 and £30 a suit.

The cost, of course, will fall on the officers of the R.A.F. themselves; but up to the present no orders appear to have been issued making the use of the new dress compulsory.

PRIVATE BILLS FOR 1920.

Private Bill legislation next session will exceed that for several years past. The petitions for these Bills for 1920 have all been deposited. In 1913 the number was 112, which increased in 1914 to 135. During the war years the numbers were small, and in the session just closing there were only 57. Next year there will be 120, and in addition plans have been deposited for 58 Provisional Orders.

Several railway Bills are foreshadowed, and tramway Bills are being promoted by Hastings, the Tyneside, Stoke-on-Trent, Wrexham District, London United, Metropolitan Electric, and South Metropolitan.

There are many gas and water Bills, and several for general powers and improvements.

NEW ZEALAND GENERAL ELECTIONS.

The High Commissioner for New Zealand has received a cablegram from his Government, says Reuter, giving the following results of the New Zealand elections:

Reform Party	48
Liberals	18
Labour	10
Independents	4

This gives the Government party 50 seats and all other parties 30 seats.

The licensing returns are not yet completed, but the prospects point to prohibition being carried.

SMALLER YANKEE NEWSPAPERS.

The House of Representatives Post Office Committee has appealed to the newspapers of the United States to reduce their consumption of paper by 10 per cent. for the next six months in order to relieve the shortage of news paper. The Committee promises in the meantime to defer action with regard to the Anthony Bill, which deprives of mail privileges, newspapers containing more than 24 pages.

MUZZLING ORDER TO LAPSE.

Provided there are no fresh cases of rabies within the Metropolitan district, the Board of Agriculture hope to withdraw the muzzling order in that area about the end of January. Intimation to this effect has been sent by the Board to the National Canine Defence League, who had asked for the withdrawal of the order.

CHANNEL TUNNEL SCHEME.

The Government's attitude towards the Channel Tunnel will not be announced before the recess. Reports of the experts have only just been received and have not yet been considered.

OSTEND AS BRITISH ARMY BASE.

Arrangements have just been completed at Ostend for the transport of British troops to Germany via Ostend.

LONDON-COLOGNE.

A DIRECT STEAMER SERVICE.

Colonel H. W. Burton, O. B. E., who was until quite recently in charge of the Docks and Waterways for the Rhine Army, and British representative on the C. I. N. C., informs us that he has now completed his arrangements for a direct line of steamers to commence running forthwith between London and Cologne. This will cut out the cost of the extra handling which up to the present has had to be done at Rotterdam or Antwerp, to say nothing of the advantage which will accrue to British Shippers, who will have their goods delivered at Cologne about 48 hours after shipment instead of the period which often runs into weeks under the present system of transhipment and subsequent barging up the Rhine.

We understand that the greatest assistance has been forthcoming from official circles in smoothing out the difficulties attendant upon such a proposition, and it is largely this factor which has enabled this most important step to be accomplished towards adjusting the financial relationships between Great Britain and Germany. It is considered that so soon as there is encouragement on both sides to speed up and increase output, there will be the germ of restabilising credits. Colonel Burton will have charge of the affairs of the Company in London, the temporary address being 159, Fenchurch Street, while arrangements have been made for an officer who was for over two years associated with the Directorate of Movements to come over and take charge of their interests in Cologne. It is anticipated that the first sailing from London will take place in the first week of the New Year.

THEIR 'AIN FOLK.

BLUNT DESCRIPTIONS OF HOHENZOLLERNS.

The National Congress for the Potsdam district has, according to the "Vorwärts," developed into a monarchist orgy.

Two telegrams of greeting have been dispatched to "Their Majesties" at Amerongen, and the Chairman, Herr Averdunk, in a speech, said:

"Our Royal House towers so high above all the princely houses of the world that it is really not difficult further to spread the knowledge of the Hohenzollern Charter from mouth to mouth."

The "Vorwärts," commenting on this, hands out the following testimonials to individual Prussian Kings:

Frederick the First, the first Prussian King—a conceited, extravagant waster. Frederick William the First—a cruel, despotic tyrant, who wanted to have Frederick the Second, his son, the only really capable Hohenzollern, shot. Frederick William the Second—a licentious libertine, under whom the mistress system and the craze of mysticism flourished. Frederick William the Third—a weak-minded, backboneless, and perjured rascal. Frederick William the Fourth—likewise perjured, and, in the end, mad. William the First—a weak tool in Bismarck's hand. William the Second—one of the greatest political fools in the world's history. William, the ex-German Crown Prince—a superficial young man of coarse mind, a sporting dandy, very fond of the female sex, and in other respects totally incapable. He invented cuff links."

"This is in brief," concludes the "Freiheit" "the character of the towering princely house."

According to the "Vossische Zeitung," incitement to irreconcilable hatred of the enemy was unanimously expressed in the speeches at the Congress and was applauded.

At the close the chairman is reported to have urged the prevention of the surrender of German men to the enemy by all possible means.

COAL EXPORTERS ALARMED.

State coal exporters in Wales were alarmed yesterday by the stoppage of colliers for France, Italy and Ireland, fearing a reimposition of the order prohibiting export. Enquiries in official circles indicated that the refusal of clearance papers was due to precautionary instructions issued by the Coal Controller, owing to the need of conservation of coal for domestic requirements. The Board of Trade announces, that the coal output for the week ended 6th December was 4,808,524 tons, being the highest since May.

SHORTEST WILL ON RECORD.

What is said to be the shortest will on record is that of Lieut. Frank Robson Kirkley, of Sunderland, who died on active service in Italy on Dec. 13 last. The will is made on the back of a vignette photograph, which is autographed "Muriel," and on the back is written in indelible pencil:

I leave all to her.—Frank R. Kirkley, July 13, 1917.

The will, being that of a soldier on active service, has been held to be valid, but affidavits were required from members of his family to identify the lady referred to.

The death is announced of the Rev. Joseph R. Shortt, Rector of Southwick, Sunderland, and brother of Mr. Edward Shortt, K.C., the Home Secretary.

SUMMARY COURT.

TWO VERY EXPENSIVE DRINKS.

Johann Bollig, a cafe proprietor, of the Waidmarkt, was charged with serving cognac to Josef Schiffbauer, a traveller, of 4, Paulstrasse, on the 10th December.

The latter was unable to produce a medical certificate authorising him to purchase the cognac, but on the following day he called on the military police authorities and handed them a certificate signed by Dr. Wendelschmidt of 8, Georgesplatz.

Dr. Wendelschmidt gave evidence, but was unable to state on what date Schiffbauer called on him. He asked the witness to give him a certificate and gave as his reason that he had been in trouble with the police. The doctor examined him and found him to be suffering from chronic alcoholism, and as a result gave Schiffbauer a certificate to procure more alcohol.

Bollig and Schiffbauer were each fined 1,000 marks or one months imprisonment.

"WELCOME TO MINE INN."

On passing the restaurant of Theodor Kleinherr, of 983, Berg Gladbacherstrasse at 1 o'clock in the morning, a German policeman was attracted by the sounds of laughing. He sought admission to the premises and after an interval of twenty minutes the door was opened. The proprietor said the policeman had no right there and hit him on the cheek. Another German policeman came along and on attempting to enter the house he was pushed back.

Eventually the policemen effected an entrance, and accused then locked the door and became very threatening in his attitude. He went to seek a weapon to assault them with and during his absence his daughter let the policemen out.

The presiding officer said he regarded the case as a very serious one. British and German policemen must not be assaulted in the execution of their duty.

Kleinherr was given six week's imprisonment.

ARMED PRISON BREAKER.

"Stone walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage".

Michael Malmedy, whilst undergoing a term of imprisonment at the hands of the military authorities, succeeded in effecting his escape. He was recaptured however, and in his possession was found a loaded revolver and some ammunition.

His record was a bad one, and he was sent to prison for six months.

SCAPA REPARATION.

GERMANY CONTINUES TO HAGGLE.

The Supreme Council met to-day under the presidency of M. Jules Cambon. The Council agreed to the frontier line fixed between Galicia and the Bukovina. M. Loucheur, Minister of Industrial Reconstruction, and M. Leygues, Minister of Marine, made statements on the progress of the conversations regarding the compensation to be paid by Germany for the scuttling of the German Fleet at Scapa Flow. Several proposals were made in this connection, but none were definitely adopted.

The mixed naval conference in connection with the Reparations Commission held a full meeting yesterday afternoon, when the question of the settlement of the Scapa Flow affair was again discussed. It is stated that the German experts submitted more or less final proposals regarding the compensation which they are prepared to offer to the Allies. These proposals will be submitted at once to the British Government, which is the principal interested Power in the Scapa Flow affair, and also to the other Allied Powers for their approval.

The "Journal" gives the following account:

The Allied demands comprise in particular five light cruisers and 400,000 tons of harbour material. The Germans began by declaring that they could not deliver the cruisers because these vessels were necessary to the policing of their coasts. They offered, however, to give in exchange several large fighting units which are under construction in their yards. The Allies replied that these "Dreadnoughts" and battle-cruisers must be broken up in accordance with the decisions taken by the Powers, and that no concession is possible on this point.

41st DIVISION WAR MEMORIAL.

At a meeting presided over by Major-General Sir Sydney Lawford it was decided to erect a monumental memorial at Flers, France, and at Messines Ridge, Belgium, to commemorate the gallant deeds of the 41st Division and perpetuate the glorious memory of its dead. It is hoped that all who are interested in or connected with the Division will assist by sending subscriptions to the Hon. Secretary, Lieutenant Colonel Talbot Jarvis, Sharnbrook, Bedfordshire.

DISTILLERS' LONG SUIT.

The Distillers Council at Chicago announces that it intends to file a suit at Washington in order to recover from the American Government four hundred million dollars, being estimated loss due to wartime prohibition enforcement.

Prince Albert has been admitted to the Freedom of the Mercers Company and presented with a silver replica of a 300-year-old loving cup.

SERIOUS CHARGE.

ALLEGED CONSPIRACY WITH PUBLIC OFFICIAL.

A sensational development of the charge against Captain and Quartermaster Opie took place on Thursday when F. W. Goss and Regtl.-Quartermaster-Sergeant George Kitson, Devon Regt., were arrested on a charge of conspiracy.

Mr. Goss is chief accountant of the Millbay Steam Laundry, vice-chairman of the Finance Committee of the Plymouth County Council, and a well-known Freemason. He is also widely known in sporting circles, having for a long period been hon. secretary of the Devon County Football Association, though not now holding that position.

The arrest followed the remand earlier in the day of Captain and Quartermaster Opie, who is charged with converting to his own use a cheque for £29 17s. 11d. entrusted to him in November last for payment to the president of the Crownhill Convalescent Hospital.

Mr. McGahey, defending the prisoner, protested against the action of the military authorities in the case. He had been informed, he said, that, even if bail were granted the accused, the military would at once rearrest him.

Mr. Maybourne Pearce, prosecuting for the Director of Public Prosecutions, said the military had no option but to take the accused into custody if bail were granted. He had not been discharged from military custody, but had merely been handed over to the civil authorities for the purpose of that charge.

The magistrates allowed bail on the accused's personal security of £250 and one other security for a similar sum. A gentleman approved of by the policy became surety, but the accused was immediately taken into charge by the military.

In addition to the original charge of converting a cheque for £29 17s. 11d. to his own use, seven other similar charges were preferred against the accused, the amounts varying from £14 to £37. Prisoner's solicitor complained strongly of the action of the military authorities. He said that Opie, after serving in Russia, was arrested on returning to England on Nov. 3. He was kept under close arrest, a sentinel with fixed bayonet standing on guard. Despite many protests he had been unable to move hand or foot to defend himself.

Prisoner was remanded until Tuesday.

COFFIN DISPUTE.

MUNICIPAL UNDERTAKERS.

An unsavoury dispute at Southampton between the Board of Guardians and the local undertakers, concerning the burial of people from the workhouse and infirmary, has ended in a complete victory for the Guardians.

It was announced at the last meeting of the board that arrangements have been made for the Guardians to assume the entire duties of undertakers. Black suits and hats have been bought for their officers, who have agreed to act as bearers, and a hearse has been purchased.

The dispute arose through the refusal of the undertakers to touch coffins made by the board's own carpenters.

THE POPULATION OF FRANKFORT.

The results of the census taken at Frankfort last October have now been made public. They are very interesting in their way, for they prove that Frankfort, which is the principal city of Central Germany, has practically suffered no reduction in the number of its inhabitants in consequence of the war. According to the official figures, the population of the town now number 448,299 souls, whereas the pre-war figure was 445,000.

The dire effects of the world-war, however, become somewhat apparent when comparing the number of males with the number of females. Previous to the war, there were reckoned to be in Frankfort 1,061 females to each 1,000 males. The proportion is now 1,125 to 1000. But here, too, the statistics are not absolutely reliable, for quite a number of Frankforters are no doubt still held back in France as prisoners of war.

BUSY DIVORCE COURTS.

Notwithstanding the efforts made this week to clear off the huge list of undefended divorce petitions, it seems probable that when the Law Courts rose yesterday for the Christmas Vacation there were still between 100 and 200 cases untouched.

At the beginning of the term there were 1,769 undefended cases on the list and up to 1,468 had been disposed of. Two Courts sat on Friday and three yesterday, an event almost unprecedented for the day of adjournment.

Between 30 and 40 undefended cases is the utmost number that can be disposed of in a day.

BRITISH ENVOY TO BERLIN.

Lord Kilmarnock, the new Chargé d'Affaires at Berlin, will leave England early next month.

Lord Kilmarnock is heir to the earldom of Erroll. He has had long diplomatic experience in Tokio.

PRESIDENT OF FRENCH CHAMBER.

M. Deschanel has been elected President of the Chamber by 478 votes out of a total of 503.

Y.M.C.A. RHINE ARMY

XMAS IN THE HUTS

LOOK OUT FOR THESE FOUR SPECIAL FEATURES IN THE CHRISTMAS PROGRAMME:-

1. Christmas Entertainments in Y.M.C.A. Huts.
2. "Etceteras" Concert Party.
3. Mr. Herring, the Y.M.C.A. Conjurer.
4. Special Performances in Y.M.C.A. Cinemas.

The following is a complete list of Christmas Entertainments and Concerts arranged by the Y.M.C.A. for the Troops of the Rhine Army. Go to your nearest Y.M.C.A. Center and find out full particulars:—

CHRISTMAS 1919.

Y.M.C.A. Centres.	Christmas Entertainment.	The "Etceteras" Concert Party.	Mr. Herring, Y.M.C.A. Conjurer
Cologne Central	New Year's Eve	Dec. 20 and Christmas Day (7 p.m.)	Jan. 1 (7 p.m.)
School for British Children	Christmas Eve
No. 3 General Hospital	December 23	Dec. 31 (2,30 p.m.)	Dec. 23 (6,30 p.m.)
No. 25 General Hospital	Christmas Day	Dec. 30 (2,30 p.m.)
Mulheim Central Club	Christmas Eve	Dec. 30 (6,30 p.m.)	Dec. 31 (6,30 p.m.)
Mulheim Cinema	Dec. 25, 26. and 27. (Special Pictures and Acrobatic Performance).
Ehrenfeld (Bakeries)	Christmas Day	Dec. 23 (6,30 p.m.)
Ehrenfeld (M.T. Depot)	Boxing Day
Durham House	Dec. 24 (Special Pictures and Acrobatic Performance) Dec. 27	Dec. 19 and Dec. 21 (6,30 p.m.)	Christmas Day (6,30 p.m.)
Marienburg	Christmas Day	Dec. 27 (6 p.m.)	Box. Day (6,30 p.m.)
Deutz	Dec. 22 (Special Pictures and Acrobatic Performance, Boxing Day.	Christmas Eve (6,30 p.m.)	Dec. 29 (6,30 p.m.)
Kalk (Central Club)	New Year's Eve
Kalk (Cinema)	Dec. 23 (Special Pictures and Acrobatic Performance	Dec. 22 (6,30 p.m.)
Wahn Barracks	Dec. 30.		Dec. 30 (6.30 p.m.)
Lindenthal	Dec. 27.		Dec. 27 (6.30 p.m.)
Wermelskirchen	Christmas Day	Jan. 1 (6,30 p.m.)
Paffrath	Christmas Day
Solingen	Dec. 29 (Special Pictures and Acrobatic Performance) Christmas Day	New Year's Eve (6,30 p.m.)
Schlebusch	Christmas Day		Dec. 24 (6,30 p.m.)
Opladen	Christmas Day
Bonn	Christmas Day	Dec. 29 (6,30 p.m.)	Jan. 2 (6,30 p.m.)
Troisdorf	Boxing Day
Godesberg	Christmas Day
Siegburg	Christmas Day
Rotgen	Christmas Day	Boxing Day (6,30 p.m.)

Other Centres.

36 C.C.S.	Dec. 23rd (5 p.m.)
44 C.C.S.	Christm. Day (5pm)
B.E.L.C.	Dec. 28 (6.30 p.m.)

Y.M.C.A. H.Q.
RHINE ARMY.

DECEMBER, 20. 1919.

COME TO

X "The Better Ole" W

XMAS WEEK

AT THE

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB

Hon. Director General, Miss Decima Moore, C.B.E.

M E

DANCES PANTOMINE FANCY DRESS BALL PRIZES CARNIVAL

2000 XMAS SOUVENIRS.

CINEMA.

A E

Monday	Dance	6.30
Tuesday	"Babes in the Wood" By Men of the Rhine Army	6.30
Wednesday	Fancy Dress Ball 3 Prizes Band of 23rd Royal Fusilers	6.30 to 11 p.m.
Thursday	— XMAS DAY — Toy Town Gift of 2000 Xmas Souvenirs Xmas Revels Carnival	6.30
Friday	"Babes in the Wood" Xmas Supper Ball Special prize for the "Decimore Waltz" (Originated by Corporal Heather) Presented by Miss Decima Moore C.B.E., and 3 Prizes for Special Dances. Band of the 6th Inniskilling Dragoons.	2.30
Saturday	Dance	6.30
Sunday	Xmas mystery Play "EAGER HEART" With Choir.	2.30

S K

CINEMA. Every day but Friday.

THOS. COOK & SON

BANKERS, TOURIST, ARMY & FORWARDING AGENTS

OUR COLOGNE BRANCH IS OPEN AND AT THE SERVICE OF OFFICERS, N.C.O's AND MEN OF ARMY OF THE OCCUPATION

FOREIGN MONIES EXCHANGED

ADDRESS 1, DOMHOF
OPPOSITE THE CATHEDRAL

Solingen Cutlery Stock in Cologne

Hugenbruch & von Döhren

CÖLN, Hohenstaufenring 11, Tel. B 6151

Trunk and travelling leather cases, attaché cases and all leather articles and substitute for sale at

PETER MANDT

CÖLN, Severinstrasse 162 a

Electric car 5, 6, 7 & 11, Station Perlengraben

THE GENUINE

SPIKUSON RAZOR

Spikuson Registered — Spikuson Registered

is well known on the market. Full guarantee for every razor. Also Hamburg Ring and other good Razors kept in stock and a great variety of CUTLERY GOODS

WHOLESALE RETAIL

W. CARNEIM

a. d. Dominikanern 1, corner Marzellenstr. near the General Post Office.

Scottish Churches and English Free Churches.

THE MILITARY CHURCH.
6 Filzengraben (Turning off Heumarkt.)
Sunday, 14th December
11 a.m. Preacher: Rev. G. A. SEATH, C. F. (Garrison Chaplain.)
6 p.m. Rev. C. A. Seath C.F.
Cars Nos. 6, 7, 11, 18 and 20.

Welsh Service 2.30 p.m. in Y.M.C.A. Central.

Church of England Services in Cologne.

THE GARRISON CHURCH (C. of E.)
Schildergasse
SUNDAY Dec. 21st ADVENT IV.
Holy Communion: 8.00 hrs.
PARADE SERVICE: 10.30 hrs.
Rev. H. Dominey C.F.
HOLY COMMUNION: 11.30 hrs.
EVENSONG. 18.00 hrs.
Rev. E.K. Browne C.F.
DEVOTIONAL SERVICE IN PREPARATION FOR CHRISTMAS COMMUNION.
Rev. J.C.L. Johnstone S.C.F.
Wednesdays, Dec. 24th: S. Thomas, transferred).
HOLY COMMUNION: 8.00 hrs.
The clergy will be in church from 17.00 to 19.00 hrs.

Christmas Day, December 25th.
7.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
8.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
10.30 hrs. Parade Service.
11.30 hrs. Holy Communion.

CHURCH ARMY CHAPEL Hotel du Nord.
Holy Communion: Sundays 8.00.
Tuesdays 7.30. Thursdays 7.00.
Fridays 7.30.

Christmas Day.
6.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
8.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
9.30 hrs. Matins.
10.30 hrs. Holy Communion with hymns and address, Rev. L. D. Agate: M.A.
17.30 hrs. Evensong and address: Rev. L. D. Agate, M.A.

SPARKES HALL

308 REGENT ST. LONDON W.

and

4. AVENUE FRIEDLAND, Paris

ROOM 71, DISCH HOTEL

Brückenstr. COLOGNE

(Next Door to N.A.C.B. Canteen)

FIELD, HUNTING & POLO BOOTS

Hand-Sewn Field Boots, Civilian Boots, Shoes and Pumps made to order and delivered to Germany in 18 days or in England in 10 days.

From Tuesday next we shall be closed during Xmas week.

R.C. FLACK & CO.

Naval-Military and Civil Tailors

CAMBRIDGE.

The largest selection of newest materials for Military and Civil dress.

A large stock of Military and Civil requirements.

Orders completed in about 14 days.

KRONPRINZ HOTEL

ROOM 6, Behind EXELSIOR.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.

Special Christmas production

Monday, December 22nd, 1919 and until further notice, THE BRITISH RHINE ARMY DRAMATIC COY in

"THE KNIGHT OF THE BURNING PESTLE"

a Costume Comedy of Merry England in four acts by BEAUMONT & FLETCRER.

BOOK AT AMUSEMENTS OFFICE.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.

Monday, December 22nd, 1919, at 6 P.M. and for six nights.

SPECIAL VARIETY PROGRAMME

ARTISTES.

THE THREE VERSATILE
in song and story.

HAROLD WALTERS
Baritone.

REX AND ERNO
The World's Worst Wizards.

ERB KARNO TRIO
Comedy Musician Act.

ERNO ELLIS
Comedian.

CHARLES STAIRS
"Git-Back"

THE FOUR WHIZZ-BANGS
Comedy Tumbles.

One Act Farce, entitled
"BACK TO IT"
ALFRED BARKER
The English Violinist.

BOOK AT AMUSEMENTS OFFICE.

ARMY SKATING RINK.

NOW OPEN. This week, Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday other ranks and wives only 5.30 to 9.30.
Friday Officers and wives 3.30 to 10.0
Skates provided. Cloak Room Accommodation for spectators: Mugs' Alley for Beginners. Commencing shortly, Teas and refreshments will be served on the Balcony.

No 1 Cinema is now closed.

No: 2 ARMY CINEMA.
(Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.

No: 3 ARMY CINEMA.
(Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.
Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc., Staff Instructor in attendance.

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstrasse

Special Sunday Concert

Sunday, December 21st, 1919, at 6.00 p.m.

Grand Vocal and Instrumental Concert

The Band of:
Inniskilling Dragoons.

By kind permission of Colonel B. VINCENT, C.B., C.M.G. Officer Commanding.

Bandmaster E. ADAMS.

Book at Amusements Office.

The Cologne Post

Telephones: Military, No. 659. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Sunday, December 21, 1919.

THE FESTIVE SEASON.

Preparations for the greatest of all festive seasons are now in full swing. On all hands we see indications of the approach of Christmas, the one time in all the year when everything is overshadowed by the universal call to celebration.

Evidences of its imminence are afforded by the gaily, decorated shop windows, displaying the multitude of good things which go to make the season the happy one it is, in the worried looks worn by P.M.C's., upon whose shoulders devolves the responsibility of getting ready for the great repast, and lastly upon the happy, expectant faces of the children who know that Santa Claus never fails in his unbounded generosity.

Christmas is essentially a time for family re-union; it is the period when the proud mother delights to see the members of the family, be they few or many, congregated around the Yuletide log. It is a time for retrospect and it is also a time for peering out into an unknown future. The happenings of the past are discussed and plans are made for the year to come.

Many of us, owing to the demands of the Service, are doomed to spend yet one more Christmas Day away from the home fireside. For some it will be the fifth in succession. Even so, we have much for which to be deeply grateful; perhaps the other Christmases were spent under far less congenial circumstances, and as we recall the Xmas feast in the muddy holes of Flanders or on the shell-torn plains of the Somme, we shall probably look with favour upon the prospect of the comparative comfort with which we shall celebrate in Rhineland.

For what will be for the majority of us the last Christmas in khaki, we shall need no persuasion to enter wholeheartedly into the spirit of the occasion and have a right royal time.

CHIVALRY ON THE RHINE.

As one notes the amazing amount of limelight focussed on the English women in the Rhineland, one may be forgiven for asking—Is chivalry dead? The Englishman prides himself on his treatment of his women folk. He speaks of German inferiority, but I sometimes wonder if the German male laughs up his sleeve as he reads the petty insults offered to Englishwomen by thoughtless writers.

An Englishman goes white with rage as he notes the treatment meted out to German women; he pats himself on the back and says, "I am a good fellow." So he is, but for goodness sake let us cut out petty grievances. No doubt women are hardened to "Wives and efficiency;" they seem to be meekly bearing the stigma of "Spendthrift."

I am sure they are sorry about their chocolates at the Opera and their chatter at the clubs. Doubtless they have made good resolutions to copy the German Frau in all household duties, so let us leave them for the moment washing their own blouses.

If you tell a child every day of his life that he is an aggravating little wretch, in time he will become one. I wonder if men and women have changed so much. Is the mother of to-day so very different from the mother of yesterday?

Are the men who criticise so very different from the men we served in canteens, or nursed in hospital? War strain—yes but women had it too; that awful waiting has left its mark. It has become habit to hide real feelings under a laugh, but do not let us forget that the laugh may probe somebody else's wound.

Women idolized their men, every Khaki boy was some woman's Sir Galahad. Men seem not averse to women's company. Reaction. Well, let us hope that we shall have soon finished with that word. Here in the Rhineland, where many a young soldier is forming his ideas, it seems a dangerous place in which to lower the ideal of womanhood. Do or do we not want our young soldiers to have noble ideas of women? Fair discussion is good, but are the kind of letters we have been reading classed under that heading?

Why do some men and women glare at each other across the wide gulf of sex, and point a finger at every weakness? Human nature is strong in both sexes, so let us remember —

"There's so much bad in the best of us
And so much good in the worst of us
That it ill behoves any of us
To talk about the rest of us."

NORA ESSEX.

We think so too, so this discussion is now closed.—Ed.

LETTERS TO CHARLES.

III.—IMPRESSIONS OF A MERE CIVILIAN.

I've had a small adventure since I last wrote to you. I went into a cabaret the other night—of course that in itself is an adventure to the mere domesticated Englishman, isn't it? But wait and you shall hear what happened.

First, though, I think I must really disillusion you about cabarets—else you'll think this is going to be like a cutting from "La Vie Parisienne"—which it is not. I know what the word conjures up in your mind, Charles, wine, women, the wilder sort of night-life and what-not; well I can assure you it is not so—not in the kind I got into anyway.

My cabaret was full of most respectable "fraus" with their spouses, busy drinking indifferent wine of the country, and giving an occasional blasé glance to an indifferent variety show. However, I sat down and prepared to make the best of things, and then, to my horror, discovered that I had exactly five marks left on me.

What would you have done, Charles? Would you have had the nerve to order a glass of water, tip the waiter the five marks, and then retire as rapidly and as gracefully as possible—or would you have slunk out of the door before you were yet discovered? Well, I did neither; I sat there wretchedly and guessed that the end could not be far off; if not actually ejected by the management, I could see that the stony stares of my neighbours, all virtuously consuming their wine, would soon do for me.

Then a waiter bore down upon me—a ferocious glint in his eye—I suppose I had already been there too long without ordering anything; frantic, I tried to think of something adequate to say to the man . . . I temporised . . "No, not now . . that is . . later perhaps," German and English dreadfully mixed. But I saw that it was too late. He raised the knife in his hand . . . (it's like a nightmare isn't it, Charles?) and then . . no, I didn't wake up—this is a real story.

Well, what actually did happen was that the waiter became extremely insolent and said, "You kom heer, you must dreenk", and more to that effect. So I was stung to a suitable retort. I asked him whether he thought it was the first time I had visited the mouldy place, (as indeed it was)—that I drank when it pleased me to do so, and furthermore if he tried to dictate to a British subject... brrr...Charles, he collapsed utterly—he did really; he became almost servile; and so I saw the whole of their wretched show for almost 'nikts'.

'Nikts' of course is our old friend 'napoo' in a new guise; which reminds me, the language is a great stumbling-block, isn't it? As you know, I don't speak a word of German, though of course everyone who hears that I am on the Allied Mission at once assumes that I can; and to be credited with erudition that one does not possess is always delightful, I think, don't you—especially languages.

I don't quite know why it is but if you're a linguist people will always take the rest absolutely for granted; you may be utterly incapable of spelling "parallel" or distinguishing Ella Wheeler Wilcox from Rupert Brooke but if you can chatter away in a foreign tongue you're the "goods", as they say (I presume) in Coblenz.

To those who are rude enough to ask me I have to confess, of course, the sad truth—it's far too dangerous to lie about a thing like that—but do I disillusion the others?...well, would you?

As a matter of fact my stock-in-trade of German when I arrived here was rather less than what I took to France. There, if you remember, Charles, one could get on splendidly and do any amount of shopping simply by a judicious use of "Combien" and the forefinger.

The pointing part still holds good here, of course, but the vocabulary is only acquired by slow and laborious degrees. I'm sticking to it grimly, though it really is a beastly language to learn; the genders are so appallingly irrelevant aren't they?

Cheerio, remember me to Piccadilly.

JOHN.

FLOSSIE TO UNCLE.

Yes, uncle dere, here I am in Coloan, but wy we call it Coloan I do not no. All the Germans call it Cerln. Is that becorse a big Cerlnel made the citty? I live in London. I askt our landlady here what the Jermans call London. Jest fancy. They call it London, two. I recievd yore letter. I thank you for yore advise. I think kaki looks verry nice.

Are their only 3 kinds of solgers? Wot are the kind with red ribbin round there hats and arms? I had to ware a red ribbin on my arm wen I was wacsinarated. Now I ware a bloo and wite wun becors I am an Inglish wooman.

Dont you no wot a warrint offiser is? That means a man is nerely a ful-bloan offisser. He wood be wun if he warrint a warrint oun. You tell me not to call a Tommy Tommy. Must I call him Tom or Thomas or wot? I heard wun call his friend Gosh and Jeew iz. Can I call him Gosh, or is Jeewiz nicer? Why do they call the Jermans sumtimes Jerrie and sumtimes Fritz? Wot is there rite name?

You no those flying solgers with funnie hats cockt on wun side. I asked wun yesterday ware I cood by sum choclit. He only stoired at me. He wagged his hed quick and sed Compreepa. Another solger passing by showted to me, he dont understan yet, hes a froggy. Please rite me at wunce dere uncel and tell me why that flying man did not understan me and why the other man called him froggy. He did not hopp.

The tram konductor came to me to-day and I gave him sum munny and he sed donke. Wasn't he rood to call me a donki just becorse I didnt understand his silly jibbrish? I was goin to tell a pleesman but there was nun. Then I remembered yore letter. I looked strait at his face and sed Town major. That fritened him. He pulled the bell and stopped the tram. He waived his hand to me and I got out. He pointed up a street and said da da jest like a little baby. I dont no wy he wonted me to go up that street.

I must close now. Please rite and anser all my qweschens soone. With ever so much luv,

Yore verry divoted neese,

P.S. I hav just red yore letter agane. Praps that flying man was a Jock.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

THE TRUE CRITIC.

Sir,—Some people have their eyes open solely for the purpose of seeing fault in the work of others.

Any man can be a critic; that is, in as far as finding fault is concerned; but is there the true critic who looks at both sides of a thing, who looks at the true side, and also at the false.

In the opinion of the present writer, to find fault is the simplest thing in the world. To correct that fault is quite a different thing.

K.M.

A CASE FOR ACTION.

Sir,—I know that it is unpleasant to stand in a queue outside the Amusements Office in order to book for the Opera. Anyone who goes through the ordeal really deserves a seat, but the Amusements Officer should not forget that there are troops stationed at some distance from Cologne who have work to do in a morning. To these the telephone is the only means of getting a seat.

This morning I was informed that no seats could be booked by telephone until the queue outside the door had been dealt with, and on ringing up later I was told that all seats had been taken up.

Cannot some better arrangement be come to than this?

HOPEFUL.

A BAD HABIT.

Sir,—After seeing "Cupid's" letter and comments by "Anti-Cant" one cannot help but remark that however one may try to burke the facts the language used by many of our men in public places is by no means necessary.

I see no harm in a good plain "damn," but the prevalence of words of a more disgusting nature are far too common in public.

With so many of our own people about, one is surprised at the mode of expression used by many men who know very well they would not speak like it at home.

COMMON SENSE.

LAUNDRY ARISTOCRATS.

Sir,—"Neverwash" has selected a nom de plume admirably suited to his nature.

What does he mean by suggesting that British wives as a class are incapable of washing their blouses?

Were he married he would know that the weekly wash is made up of something else besides blouses, articles, the washing of which could not be attempted with the limited accomodation offered by at least one German household.

Hence the necessity of sending them out. This has doubtless created the protest by "Wife." Articles are ruined by German laundries as I can vouch for, a fact which makes me want to get back to my little home where I can deal with the weekly wash as I would like to deal with "Neverwash."

WARRANT OFFICER'S WIFE.

WHEN TO SALUTE.

Sir,—As one who claims to know when to salute I would emphasise the difficulty already called attention to by a correspondent.

I refer to the dressiness of N.C.O's and men of the clerk order, I mean the men who are excused parades because of clerical work, and because of this and contact with their officers wear plumes to which they are not entitled.

I refer to brown boots, kid gloves and officers' hats, not to mention (after dark) trench coats, etc. Earlier on they were content with altered slacks and waisted tunics, but the abuse does not stop here. Yesterday quite by accident I saw the clerks leave a certain H.Q. One was wearing bright brown boots.

For my own part they can wear what they like, but it is aggravating to turn a corner and salute one who you imagine holds the King's Commission and find that the compliment has been thrown away upon one of the orderly room ilk.

YOUNG BUT KEEN SOLDIER.

A RANKER'S PLAINT.

Sir,—I had no intention of entering the lists till I read "A.F.B's" letter, though I agree there is something to be said for "Ranker."

"A.F.B." tells us he is "continually in both the N. A. C. B. canteens at various hours of the day." May I ask how he manages that, and what is the business which takes him there?

My experience of barrack life at the Curragh, Ballykinlar and Salisbury, was that warrant officers and sergeants knew their place and kept it; so did the private soldier of the nineties. I wish I could say the same of these private soldiers of the Rhine Army of whom "A.F.B." is a type.

Admittedly there is time wasted in our canteens, but those who monopolise the counter most, (so far as my observation goes) are, to again quote "A. F. B.," "of the crowd of unsung and undecorated."

Physician, heal thyself!

JUST A PRIVATE.

FILMANIA.

Hall Caine has proved filming leads straight to prosperity;
He who will not follow is the dullest sort of jay;
Essayist and poet, novelist of mildest merit, he Seeks fame and fortune in our countless Cinemae;
James and Meredith and Hardy
Were effete and shy and tardy,
For they went on printing fiction in their old and tiresome way.

Now comes relief from laborious reviewery,
Free from the irksomeness of books I cannot read,
I'll be a taster in a tea-house or a brewery—
Dropping my pen will be very nice indeed;
Bus conducting, cobbling, weeding,
Are less arduous than reading,
When one has to frame one's verdict on another dallara's screed.

Ah! better still; it is evident Barrabas is Doomed to extinction with his sleek chicanery;
Soon he'll be scarce as in Pall Mall a cab'oss is;
Soon, very soon, we shall chant with holy glee
Nunc dimittis (fully choral,
But omitting tribules floral)—
"There shall never more be Publishers to all eternity."

ROBERT K. RISK.

IS BOXING BRUTAL?

Vicar's Trenchant Reply to Bishop Welldon.

"CLEVER, THRILLING, WONDERFUL."

Bishop Welldon, whenever he speaks and whatever he says, is a man whose opinion is always entitled to respect, says B. G. Bourchier, M. A. Vicar of Hampstead Garden Suburb, writing to the "Sporting Life." But I feel confident that the Bishop is a big enough man to recognise that he is not by any means infallible. Indeed, his article entitled "Why I Think Boxing Brutal" in the "Daily Mail" of Saturday is clear evidence of his fallibility. He bases his strictures in particular, and his condemnation in general, of this essentially British sport upon a newspaper report. This is unfortunate, although, alas! it is what commonly occurs.

NO BRUTALITY.

Boxing is invariably inveiged against by those who openly confess that they have never witnessed a great fight. The Bishop was not present at the Beckett-Carpentier contest.

Mine was the good fortune to be. Nor was it the first time, by a long chalk. On this occasion I sat in the third row from the ring, being thus enabled to see every detail. And I can take my oath that nothing occurred between the two men that had even the remotest suggestion of brutality. The whole thing was begun, continued, and ended in little more than one minute.

The Press has talked of "a sensational victory." It was. We went to witness an historic contest. What we did see was, I imagine, the most dramatic happening in the annals of boxing. But it was not brutal. It was clever. It was thrilling. It was wonderful. All good boxing is.

Conducted, as all big fights in England are, under the strictest conditions and rules, there is no room for brutality. Clean sportsmen would not tolerate it.

UNFAIR COMPARISON.

Boxing and bull-fighting are about as comparable as chalk and cheese. In the arena a dumb beast is driven in to die. It has no choice, no will of its own, no rights. I attended such a fight in Madrid. I hated it.

But not a single boy or man need go within a hundred miles of a boxing ring unless he goes of his own free will and accord. To discuss the relative skill of a boxer and a matador is to attempt the impossible. The fighter uses his brain, the bull does not.

Long may boxing occupy a front place among clean British sports!

BOXING DEFENDER.

Vicar-Sportsman Firm Believer in Manly Pursuits.

The Rev. Basil Bourchier, first vicar of the Hampstead Garden Suburb, whose vigorous defence of boxing appears above is one of the keen, broad-minded cleric-sportsmen type of men whom it is a pleasure to know.

Mr. Bourchier is a firm believer in manly pursuits, and if evidence of his virile and practical outlook were needed, it is to be found in the fact that fourteen days after the outbreak of war he went out with a Red Cross unit to Belgium.

There he was taken prisoner, tried and sentenced to be shot, but intervention led to the commutation of the sentence, and he was sent to a German prison and subsequently released. He is an ideal vicar, a popular and beloved chaplain, and an expert lawn tennis player and motor cyclist.

GODDARD AND COGHILL.

Meeting at Mr. Bettinson's Albert Hall "Complimentary."

As is customary the final members' night at the National Sporting Club, to take place next Monday, is to be set apart as Mr. A. F. Bettinson's "Complimentary." The programme arranged compares favourably with those of other years, the leading feature being a fifteen round contest between Frank Goddard, late of the Queen's Bays, and Gordon Coghill, a captain in the Australian I. F.

It will be recalled that when war broke out a match had been arranged between Jack Dempsey, the present holder of the world's heavy-weight championship, and Coghill, to take place at Sidney. This was abandoned, and since then the Australian has had very little practice. He has only taken part in one contest in England, when he put up a game struggle against Fred Fulton, the young American giant, who was a much heavier man.

Since this defeat he has trained hard and should be in better fettle for his match on Monday.

Goddard's record will be much better known; his prospects of going far as a heavy weight received a decisive check when he has beaten by Beckett at Olympia. He has defeated every other opponent he has met. When he subsequently met and defeated Victor McLaglen he showed considerable improvement, and this he undoubtedly owed to the coaching he received from his old opponent Dick Smith.

Smith again has the big Guardsman in hand, and it remains to be seen whether he has still further benefitted by his assistance.

BILLY WELLS' VERSATILITY.

One of the reasons for Bdr. Billy Wells' popularity is his versatility as an all-round athlete. A fine sprinter, he ran very close for a Powderhall Handicap; he is well known along the Thames towing-path as an accomplished oarsman, and in addition to cycling, golf has always formed part of his training for a big match.

On Wednesday, in a friendly foursome over the Fulwell Club's course, he and his partner, Jack Milne, the Neasden professional, were successful over P. E. Taylor, of the home club, and Mr. Phil Kelso, the popular manager of the Fulham F.C.

MEN WHO MATTER.

Forwards with most Goals to their Credit.

LANE STILL LEADS.

Scoring four times in the two matches against Manchester City, Morris of West Bromwich Albion, has dispossessed Browell, of the former club, of the leadership of the first League goalscorers' list, and is within one point of Lane, of Blackpool, the chief goalscorer in the three big leagues.

Morris, with 19 goals, leads the Manchester City centre-forward by one point. Cock, who occupies third place in the First League list with 16, has now scored ten goals for Chelsea since being transferred by Huddersfield.

VILLA'S BIG FACTOR.

Stephenson, who has been a big factor in Aston Villa's recent improved form, comes next with 14, a point in front of Kitchen, who has made a welcome reappearance for Sheffield United after many weeks.

Of the remainder Buchan (Sunderland), White (Arsenal), and Barnes (Manchester City), are credited with a dozen each.

Lane's position at the head of the Second League is being strongly challenged by Bliss, the Tottenham sharpshooter. He has scored in every home match for the Spurs, and his goal against Fulham brought his total up to 18, two points behind the Blackpool crack. Halliwell, of Barnsley, is third with 16, followed by Cock, of Fulham, with one less.

These four players are well clear of the rest, of whom only Millard (Birmingham), Rodgers (Stockport), and Taylor (Huddersfield), with 10 each, have attained double figures.

BROAD WELL AHEAD.

Broad, the Millwall centre-forward, has drawn further away from the rest of his Southern League rivals. With a total of 16 he is four points in front of Smith and Doran, the centre-forwards of Crystal Palace and Norwich respectively.

Springfellow (Portsmouth) and Whitworth (Northampton) share fourth place with 11 each, while Armstrong (Portsmouth), Birch (Queen's Park Rangers), Burrill (Southend), and Grimshaw (Cardiff), are the only other players with double figures to their credit.

FOOTBALL TRANSFERS.

Sheffield Wednesday have signed on an inside forward, Colin McKay, from the Heart of Midlothian Club. He is only 22 years of age, stands 5ft 9in, and scales about 11st.

With their first-class playing resources strained through injuries to players, Sheffield Wednesday have signed on David Parkes, their old centre half-back, whom they secured from Brighton and Hove in 1913-14, and who, in the last season of professional football, proved to be one of the best middle men in England. Whilst playing in junior football during the war Parkes broke his leg, but he has done so well with Stourbridge during the present season that the Wednesday have been induced to re-sign him.

FOOTBALLER'S TRAGIC DEATH.

Tich Evans, outside-left of Swansea Town Association Football Club, was on Friday afternoon found dead with his head nearly severed from his body underneath the grand stand on the Swansea football field. He had been dead some time. In his right hand was tightly grasped a razor. Deceased was one of the most popular players in the Swansea team. A fortnight ago his wife died. The discovery was made by fellow-players practising on the field.

MEREDITH AND MANCHESTER.

There is not yet any prospect of W. Meredith playing league football. The deadlock was not removed on Friday, when Mr. J. H. Davies, president of the Manchester United Football Club, met Meredith and offered to re-engage him on behalf of Manchester United at the full wages of £10 a week. There was also an offer to pay him a cheque of £762 18s. 4d., representing the balance still due from his benefit, and ratified by the Football Association. After a long conference the Welsh international refused to sign, though he may further consider the matter.

YORKSHIRE CRICKET CLUB.

At a meeting of the Yorkshire County Cricket Committee at Leeds the draft balance-sheet for last season was declared to show a profit on the season of over £200. It was reported that members' subscriptions had amounted to £990 in excess of those of the previous season. It was decided not to increase the members' subscriptions, but to make an appeal for an increased membership.

Lord Hawke, on behalf of the committee, presented Mr. R. W. Frank with a canteen of cutlery in recognition of his services as captain of the second eleven from 1900 to 1914. The annual meeting was fixed to be held at Sheffield in January.

THREAT TO DULWICH HAMLET.

The famous Dulwich Hamlet club, whose team is leading in the Isthmian Football League, is threatened with extinction owing to the Ministry of Health having intimated to the governors of Dulwich College that the Champion Hill football ground and adjoining land is required for the erection of offices for the staff of the department.

Determined opposition will be made against the proposal, and in addition to a monster petition which it is hoped will be ready for signature at the home match to-morrow, a town's meeting is being arranged at Dulwich Constitutional Club for Tuesday evening.

For eighteen years the Dulwich Hamlet club has maintained the highest principles of amateurism at Champion Hill, and has this season been to considerable expense to make the ground one of the best equipped in South London.

RHINE GARRISON.

11th Queens just beat 23rd Royal Fusiliers.

A CLOSE GAME.

The 11th Queen's met the 23rd Royal Fusiliers on the Queen's ground, Kalk, in the first of the league's matches on Wednesday.

A good run down by the Queen's outside right resulted in Segt. Ellerby placing the ball just over the top. Several long shots were then tried by the Queen's without success and the Fusiliers managed to carry the ball down to the Queen's end of the field.

The Royal Fusiliers then made another effort to break through the Queen's defence, and on this occasion they managed to score through the medium of Pte. Abbott, their centre forward. This little reverse seemed to put more energy into the Queen's team, and they bombarded the Royal Fusiliers goal, Lieut. Bratchell putting in one especially hard shot which went just to the side. Another long shot skimmed the top of the goal. Pte. Morris managed very skilfully to obtain possession of the ball when the Fusiliers appeared as if they were going to shoot, and, dribbling the ball, down slightly, passed it to Sergt. Ellerby who managed to outpace the Royal Fusiliers' backs and scored with a shot which gave the goalkeeper no chance. Half time arrived with the score. 1—1.

On the resumption the Queen's immediately attacked, and pressure was maintained on the Fusiliers goal; very shortly their goalkeeper brought off a couple of brilliant saves. The Fusiliers however, did not seem able to get the ball away at all, and later another scrimmage took place in front of their goalkeeper, and Sgt. Argent, obtaining possession scored.

After a while, the ball was cleared well up in-to the Fusiliers half; a great race between the Fusiliers goalkeeper and Sgt. Ellerby resulted in the former just obtaining possession of the ball. In clearing, however, he passed it to the Queens outside right who put in a shot that went just wide of the goal. Result:—Queens 2; Fusiliers 1.

The 11th Queens were represented by: Sgt. Daniels, Pte. Morris and Pte. Saville; Pte. Genger, Lieut. Bratcheil and Pte. Goodwin; Pte. Luttrell, L/Cpl. Osborn, Sgt. Ellerby, Sgt. Argent, and Pte. Ray.

OFFICERS v. SERGEANTS, 11th QUEEN'S.

This match was played on Germanin strasse ground, Kalk, on Monday, and resulted in a win for the Sergeants by 2—0.

The Officers started with only 9 players. The Sergeants from the start exerted a considerable amount of pressure on the officers' goal and scored through the medium of Sergt. Loydell from a centre from their left wing.

With ten players, the Officers made one or two raids in the Sergeants half, only to be ousted, and they then lost their centre forward, Capt. Williams, who had to retire into the goal. Half time arrived with the score 1—0.

On the resumption a certain amount of pressure was brought on the Sergeants' goal, but the Officers appeared to tire somewhat and Sgt. Ellerby breaking away scored with a shot which he placed well out of reach of the goalkeeper. Further efforts were then made by the Officers to obtain a goal, but the whistle went leaving the Sergeants winners and giving them a revenge for the defeat they received at hockey the previous week, when they went down by 14—0.

The Sergeants' supporters were most enthusiastic throughout the match, being ably led by C.Q.M.S. Austin.

ARTILLERY v. INFANTRY.

On Tuesday at Berg.-Gladbach, "B" Coy., 51st Warwickshires scored a clever victory over A Bty., 113th Bde., R.F.A. The ground was very hard and slippery and the ball travelled fast.

The first half was even, neither side scoring, though the "gunners" forced the pace. On resumption of play, the Infantry hustled their opponents in strong fashion, and in a scrimmage in the goal mouth, scored their first goal. The "Gunners" goalie had to retire as a result of slipping on the frozen ground, and later the left half followed him. Against the weakened side, the Infantry pressed strongly, adding two more goals. Final: B Coy. Warwicks 3; A 113 Bde. R.F.A. 0.

SHEFFIELD UNITED.

Points About Yorkshire's Famous Cup Fighters.

FAMOUS TEAMS—5.

Sheffield United owe their beginning to the energy and hard work of a gentleman whose name will ever be associated with football. I refer to Mr. Wolstinholme who was at that time secretary of the Sheffield United Cricket Club.

He first saw the possibilities of a football eleven and, together with a number of others, determined to found a football club to be associated with the cricket club.

Things went on apace, and the gentlemen responsible advertised for players (imagine such a thing to-day!) and eventually a professional team was got together. Their first game played on the Hallam cricket ground was won by three goals to one and thus the famous "Blades" began their football career.

A GOOD START.

They played in the Midland league and then in the Northern League, subsequently entering the First League. The first game they played under the League's auspices took place at Liverpool, and Everton were their victims. This was a good start and they were destined to administer many defeats while operating on foreign soil.

In the season 1896-97 they were doughty opponents and were runners-up for the league championship, which they managed to win the following season after many stirring battles. The next season they finished third bottom of the chart. From "champions" to the vicinity of the "Wooden Spoonists" was some fall.

But they were, in this season, all out for "t'Coop", and succeeded in inflicting defeat on Derby County to the tune of 4 goals to 1 in the final. This occurred after they had met Liverpool four times in order to decide which should combat the victorious "Rams".

CUP FIGHTERS.

Dealing with their cup battles it is interesting to note that in the first ten years of their existence as a club they never got further than the second round of the competition proper, and once were beaten by Bolton Wanderers by thirteen goals to one, at Bolton, after defeating Burnley in the first round.

They were again finalists in 1900—1, and after drawing at Sydenham, fell to the 'Spurs at Bolton, a ground that they will ever associate with bad luck to their cup chances. The following season saw them at the Palace once again and after a drawn match, they defeated Southampton, both matches being played at the Palace. Then came a lean time and it was not till 1913—14 that they managed again to reach the semi-final, only to fall to Burnley, that season's cup winners. However, the following season they made amends and once more became cup holders. This was the last final played and they have thus held the cup for nearly four seasons. Will they keep it?, is the question exciting Sheffield folks.

The United have had many famous players in their ranks, and to name but a few: "Paddy" Boyle, Hendry, Bennett, Foulkes, Needham, Cain, Drummond, Lipsham Priest and Hedley. What would they give to have men of this calibre assisting them to-day? They are not having a good time with it this season and indeed are occupying a poor place on the table.

On present form it seems safe to gamble that the Cup will find a new resting place next May.

"TYNESIDER".

PLAYERS AND REFEREES.

Cardiff City Directors Issue Appeal to Their Team.

The Cardiff City directorate have displayed the following notice in the players' training quarters:—

The directors desire to call the attention of the players to the unde sirability of disputing the referee's decisions. This is a very dangerous and undignified practice, and leads to distur bances among the spectators. The directors wish the players to take this notice as final; to accept without comment the decisions of the appointed officials, and always to conduct themselves as gentlemen.

SPORT NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

The Latest.

The latest Hotspur player to join Gillingham is Bob Steel, who has been granted a temporary transfer. Steel has this season been doing a lot of refereeing in the Southern League.

Recuperating.

Herbert Jones has left Newmarket for Switzerland, and his many friends will wish him a speedy and complete recovery from his recent illness.

Christenings.

Mr. W. Baker has named his smart Ruckinge Queen colt by Aiglon, Arlington. The Castaneta filly has been named Johanetta, and the Creole filly Gipsy Queen.

Southampton in Town.

Despite the temptation to give the League players a rest in view of the Christmas programme, Millwall fielded their best team in the friendly game with Southampton at New Cross.

Trainer's Plaint.

After the race for the Headley Hurdle at Gatwick on Saturday, Pope, the trainer of Lady Llama, complained to the Stewards of the start for this race. The Stewards asked the starter to exercise more care to get riders in line in future.

Rugby Fixture.

Richmond Rugby F. C. have arranged a match with the Edinburgh Wanderers, which will be played at Richmond on the 29th.

Pro. v. Press.

An informal day's golf was indulged in by professionals and Pressmen at Fulwell, when foursomes were played morning and afternoon, with a professional and a Pressman forming each couple.

Plumpton Price.

Mr. H. P. Clinton purchased the Barcombe 'Chase winner, Frank Ash, for 320 guineas at Plumpton yesterday.

Disobedience.

The "Racing Calendar" states: Subsequent to the Oakside Hurdle at Windsor on December 10th. G. Duller was fined £10 for disobedience at the post.

Matched.

A boxing match has been arranged for next Thursday afternoon at the Hoxton Baths between Benny McNeill (America) and Louis Ruddick (Leeds).

Sticking to Wales.

Oram, the Welsh forward, who recently signed on for Leeds (N.U.), has not yet turned out for his new club, and it is now announced that he has no intentions of leaving Wales.

Dismissed.

The protest by Rotherham Town against Loughboro. Corinthians for playing an ineligible man in the fifth round of the English Cup has been dismissed.

Jones and Stone.

Charlie Stone (Taff's Well) and Fred Jones (Rushden) have signed articles to box at the Blackfriars Ring on the afternoon of Boxing Day.

Settled.

McCall, the international centre half-back, has decided to remain with Preston North End. Differences had arisen in regard to a guarantee of a second benefit match which is forthcoming, and the Liverpool directors made an offer for McCall, but the differences between the player and the North End club have now been amicably settled.

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

"THE WALKYRIE."

In consequence of the indisposition of Frau Scheffer and Herr Schroeder, "Frau Ohne Schatten" could not be performed on Friday evening, but opera friends did not fare badly, the Valkyrie being given instead.

Otto Klemperer probably never interpreted that colossal overpowering music better than on Friday. It is difficult to find words of praise enough to express the delight Menzinsky gave all Wagner enthusiasts with his rendering of Sigmund. He certainly is one of the best, if not the best, in that role in Germany. His musical phrasing is simply marvellous, and not the smallest passage seems to be neglected.

In the song "Wintersturme" he rendered the musical poetry of that delicious song better than ever.

Sophie Wolf as Sieglinde and Frau Poensgen as Brunhilde were excellent. Both ladies are splendid Wagner singers and so is Frau Grimm Mitteimann, who sang the part of Fricka. Herr Gless, as Hunding, was in splendid form; his deep notes seemed to have gained sonority. The role of Wotan was with Herr Schorr in the best of hands as also the minor parts of the opera. Director Remond's mis-en-scene deserves great praise.

C. L.

Next Week's Attractions.

At the Deutsches Theatre this week the much-anticipated play, "The Knight of the Burning Pestle," will occupy the stage each evening including Thursday. The play is particularly suitable for the festive season, and if rehearsals are any criterion the production by the Rhine Army Dramatic Company should be very popular. At the Deutsches this evening there will be a vocal and instrumental concert. The band of the Inniskilling Dragoons, under Bandmaster E. Adams, will perform, and among the vocal artistes will be Mr. Norman Angell, the well-known bass, who is making his last appearance in Rhineland. At the Palace Theatre a strong variety company should draw full houses. There will be many other entertainments in Rhineland, including the "Jesters," who will be on tour. Reference to our advertising columns will show exactly what's on.

A Merry Gathering.

The inaugural of a weekly series of dinners of Roman Catholic officers, in the Annex Club the other evening, was one of the most cheery little parties that I remember for a long time. Major Sheehan presided; the speeches were all happily brief and to the point, and the whole spirit of the gathering suggested that future meetings are likely to be a huge success.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Sun.	Othello	Verdi	6	10
Mon.	Ein Maskenball	Verdi	7	10
Tues.	Hansel und Gretel	Humperdinck	6	8
Wednesday	No Performance.
Thurs.	Tannhäuser	Wagner	6	10
Fri.	Dar Bajazzo Cav. Rusticana	Leoncavallo Mascagni	7	10
Sat.	Figaro's Hochzeit	Mozart	7	10.30
Sun.	The Woman without Shadow	Strauss	6	10.30
Mon.	Hansel und Gretel	Humperdinck	6	8
Tues.	Tannhäuser	Wagner	6	10

B.E.L.C. Whist Drive.

The top secore of 149 was reached by Pte. C. Rhodes at the British Empire Leave Club Whist Drive on Tuesday night, Pte. L. Roberts and Gunner G. Cruikshank being 2nd and 3rd with 147 and 144, respectively. The "ladies" prizes were won by Cpl. A. Garwood, first, with 149, and Pte. G. H. Woolley, second, with 144. Pte. Miller was third with 143. Pte. J. Green was M.C. and Lt. Rouch President.

"The Better 'Ole."

"The Better 'ole." This you will find if you visit the B.E.L.C. during the festive season. From the Old "Dug-Out," you will pass up the decorated staircases, through the "Snow Storm," into "Balloon Allée" to the "Japanese Garden" and the "Naval Room." From thence, you will mount the stairs to the "Hall of Delight," where you will find dances, pantomimes, gifts of 2,000 Christmas souvenirs, carnival, special prizes, and in the restaurant on Boxing Day a Christmas supper of turkey, plum pudding, mince pies, etc. All details of Christmas arrangements will be found in our advertising columns in page 2.

Roller Skating.

In yesterday's issue it was inadvertently stated that the new skating rink in Cologne was in Marzellen Strasse. Actually the rink in situated in Komodien Strasse and judging by the large attendance of enthusiasts present during the last few days this fact is pretty thoroughly known.

Band Concert.

By kind permission of the Officer Commanding the 13th Bn. The King's Royal Rifle Corps, there will be a concert by the Band of that Regiment this evening at the British Empire Leave Club from 6.30 p.m. to 8.30 p.m.

JACQUES.

LEAVE CLUB DEBATES.

Unique Opportunities for Budding Public Speakers.

The Friday evening debates at the British Empire Leave Club provide unique opportunities for soldiers in Rhineland to acquire the ability to speak in public and to improve their power of expression. In selecting the subject for debate great care is taken and the discussions are always upon matters of topical interest and of great educational value. Great benefit can be derived from the attendance at such meetings whether a man takes part in the discussions or not.

Last Friday's motion was, "That in the opinion of this house alliance with America is desirable". After the matter had been thoroughly probed, Sgt. Woods speaking for and Pte. Smith against, the voting showed a majority of five against the proposition.

There will be no debate on Boxing Day, but the subject for January the second will be:—"That in the opinion of this house international disarmament is practicable". The motion will be supported by Pte. Smith, while Pte. Thorne will argue for its rejection.

PERSONAL PARS.

Lts. Fred Grumpelt and E. A. McMahon, U.S. Army, who have been on duty in Cologne for the past year as American representatives on the C.I.N.C., have left for Antwerp en route for America. These officers were immensely popular in Rhine Army circles, and leave Cologne with the very best wishes of their many friends. Several farewell parties were given in their honour.

* * *

We have to announce the engagement of Capt. C. E. H. Bird, R.A.S.C., adjutant S.M.T.O., VI Corps to Miss E. M. Gardner of Cobham, Surrey. It is understood that the wedding will take place at the Garrison Church Cologne at the end of this month. Capt. Bird is undoubtedly one of the most widely known, genial and popular officers in Cologne.

LAWN TENNIS.

Queen's Club Ladies Doubles Tournament.

Among those taking part in a ladies doubles competition are Mrs. Lambert Chambers (lady ex-champion,) Lady Wavertree (Mrs. Hall Walker). Mrs. Beamish, and Miss Ryan, the American volleyer. The draw is as follows:—

Lady Wavertree and Mrs. Craddock, rec. 16.1, a bye; Mrs. Lambert Chambers and Mrs. Cobb, ser. v. Mrs. Satterthwaite and Miss Ryan, owe 15.4; Mrs. H. Edgington and Mrs. Beamish, owe 3.6, v. Mrs. O'Neill and Miss P. L. Howkins, ser; Miss E. Tighe and Miss Ward, rec. 15, a bye.

One match has been played, in which Mrs. H. Edgington and Mrs. Beamish beat Mr. O'Neill and Miss Howkins (8—6, 6—4.)

THE FUTURE OF GEORGE HIRST.

Our Leeds correspondent understands that George Hirst, the Yorkshire county cricketer, who first played with Yorkshire in 1889, and who is now 58 years of age, has received an offer of an engagement as cricket coach to Eton College. His acceptance of the offer would not entail his severance from county cricket, for it is understood that he would still be able to play with Yorkshire during a part of the season.

BART'S. BENEFIT.

On the occasion of the meeting at the Hall next month between Joe Beckett and Dick Smith, in a 20-round contest for the heavy-weight championship of England, the hospital that will benefit by the kindness of the holders of the boxes and seats above referred to will be St. Bartholomew's.

WHO HAS WON IT?

All Competition Records Surpassed by No. 13 Contest.

KEEP IT UP.

As we confidently anticipated, our Christmas Football Contest is a record for the competition. The number of coupons sent in is considerably larger than for any other contest and to this sum we shall add a further amount of 500 marks. Our competition staff has been kept exceedingly busy in order to cope with the large mails, and the task of adjudicating, which will commence as soon as the results are known, will entail a huge amount of work.

In our next issue we shall be able to publish the total amount subscribed, but the successful competitor or competitors will not appear until Christmas morning.

Below will be found the coupon for No. 14 contest, and there is no reason why this should not be an equally successful number. As pointed out in our issue of yesterday, owing to there being no publication of the "Cologne Post" on Boxing Day, there will be one coupon less available this week. Do not forget this and so lose the opportunity of competing for what is likely to be another substantial prize.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—
FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 14
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O./S. 40 Rhine Army.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 14.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 27th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 26th.

Burnley	v. Preston
Liverpool	v. Everton
Bolton	v. Blackburn
Notts C.	v. Bradford City
West Ham	v. Huddersfield
Clapton	v. Coventry
Palace	v. Millwall
Southampton	v. Watford
Queens Park	v. Kilmarnock
Falkirk	v. Dumbarton

I enter Football Competition No. 14 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(in block letters)
Rank and No. .....
Unit .....
Full Address .....

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

Allied Markings.

I notice a large number of toys such as tanks, areoplanes, etc. bear in many cases the allied markings used during the war.

And Time Too.

A correspondent who has been to Bonn recently tells me that he was agreeably surprised at the timidity of the civilians to use the portion of the tram reserved for soldiers.

Wassail.

I came across a party of civilians in a cabaret drinking wassail in "punch." I understand that this custom originated from Germany in medieval times.

His Chief Concern.

Recently a discussion was taking place in a certain mess in Cologne regarding the conditions of life in the next world. All kinds of things had been considered when one wag asked. "What is the rate of exchange there?"

Good Idea.

Talking of money I hear that you can obtain a new note for half a torn mark note, on taking it to a German bank. Good idea!

Easily Replenished.

I notice that a certain vendor of Christmas trees has a large pile, about eight feet high, not far from his stall. As soon as his stock at the street stall runs low he replenishes it from the rear.

A Foolish Practice.

A soldier was killed at Weisdorf the other night by slipping from the footboard of a tram while endeavouring to board it when in motion. The foolishness and danger of this practice should be carefully borne in mind by our men.

A Heavy Load.

I saw a very small boy carrying a huge Christmas tree the other day. It was a seasonable sight and he struggled along bravely with his treasure, followed by a girl wheeling a barrow full of other things dear to the hearts of children. The tree cost five marks.

Economy.

It seems to be the custom in the Rhineland for people who go to the bakers to take with them paper to wrap the loaf in. A lady who visited a Bonn bakery the other day had brought for this purpose a copy of the previous day's issue of a Paris newspaper.

Level Crossing Fatality.

A fatal accident occured at the level crossing at Weisdorf on Tuesday evening. An ambulance car endeavoured to cross the rails whilst the barrier was being lowered in its descent, killing one man and seriously injuring another.

Big Families.

There are two stock questions always put to a defendant at the Summary Court. One is "How old are you?" and the other (to adults), "Are you married?" If the answer is in the affirmative, there follows "How many children?" and the answer to this question in a surprising number of cases, goes into double figures.

The Mystic Number.

A correspondent claims to have discovered the meaning of the mystic number 4711, a famous brand of Eau de Cologne. The proprietor of this brand, Herr Muhlens, has four sons and seven daughters, or eleven children in all, and so he adopted the novel idea of making this combination of letters his trade mark.

New Arrivals at the Bookshop.

Do you want to read Temple Thurston's works or send one home as a Xmas present? If so, you'll find them all at our Arcade Bookshop, Hohestrasse. Also Mrs. Humphrey Ward's remarkable work "Fields of Victory," full of striking incident and telling diagram. And that compendium of thousands of useful facts, the "Daily Mail Year Book," is also on sale.

United Action for the Children.

Some time ago, in the "Cologne Post" the hope was expressed that occasion would be found to give an "outward and visible sign" of the unity in which, while they have been in Cologne, the various associations with the Army have been working in their several spheres. This "sign" is about to be given. A Christmas fete is being organised for the British children and their parents by a committee representing the (1), British Children's School Staff; (2), British Empire Leave Club; (3), Catholic Club; (4), Church Army; (5), Navy and Army Canteen Board; (6), Salvation Army (7), VI Corps Club and (8) Y.M.C.A.

Congratulations.

The Joint Secretaries of the Committee are the Assistant Chaplain General and Dr. Francis. We understand that arrangements are in progress that will make the 24th a memorable day for the children. Meantime we offer our congratulations to the Associations on their co-operation in so excellent a cause.

"Some" Linguist.

Have you noticed the weinstube in Cologne whose window announces that English, French, Italian, Dutch, Spanish, Scandinavian, Russian, and Polish are spoken therein?

Poster Slump.

I notice a hoarding in Marzellen Strasse which while about thirty yards long bears but two posters refering to recent events. Is it that there is a slump in poster displays?

Business Slack.

A restaurant recently handed over by the military to its former owners seems to be having a lean time of it. Judging by appearances business is very slack.

Distinction.

I noticed a coffin bearing a coat of arms on the sides, being carted along Ursula-strasse yesterday afternoon.

An Improvement!

The new fifty-mark notes now in circulation are a decided improvement on those hitherto in use. The paper is of a stronger texture and they are more artistic in appearance.

Their Busy Season.

The Army Post Office is one of the busiest spots in Cologne at present. I looked in there yesterday and found the officials snowed under with work. Bags of parcels were stacked in every available corner for dispatch to England.

More Troops for Rhineland.

It is announced that the Rhine Army is to be reinforced at the New Year by seven battalions of infantry comprising the 2nd Royal Highlanders, 1st Durham Light Infantry, 3rd Middlesex Regiment, 4th Worcester Regiment, 2nd Royal West Kent Regiment, Loyal North Lancs, and 1st Royal Sussex.

"COLOGNE POST" CELEBRITIES. VI. "THE FIGHTING EDITOR."

On the Rack.

I was amused to see three street urchins riding on the luggage rack in rear of a taxi the other day. It was pouring with rain, but they appeared to be enjoying their joy-ride.

Nearly a Tragedy.

I was near being the subject of a coroner's inquest a few days since. One of the chefs at our mess inadvertently mixed some petrol with the supper viands and the result was most disastrous to my digestive organs. The culprit was however, exonerated on promising not to offend again.

Making Good out of Tommy.

In one street in Cologne there are now three cafés side by side catering exclusively for Tommy. One has been to the fore since the early days of Occupation, another only recently took to serving eggs and chips, and the third, now completely renovated, was, until a week or two ago, an establishment devoted to the sale of ladies wear.

Another Y.M.C.A. Concert Party.

Madame Bertha Moore, sister of Miss Decima Moore, is coming out to the Rhine Army area with a concert party, under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A., and the party will be joined by Miss Marjorie Moore, who is at present at the British Empire Leave Club. Madame Bertha Moore has collected £24,000 by her song and story recitals in aid of Lord Roberts' Memorial Workshops for Disabled Soldiers and Sailors, which in the words of H.R.H. Princess Christian "owe Madame Bertha Moore a great debt of gratitude for all she has done for them."

Their Programme.

This party will give their first concert in Cologne at the Central Y.M.C.A. on Saturday at 7 p.m. They will also be there on Christmas Day: and in view of this visit at Madame Moore's request, a large number of copies of Christmas Carols have been got out from England in order that the audience may join in the singing of them.

RHINELANDER.

SUPERSTITION.

Mr. Edward Lovett tells us that superstition has revived enormously during the war among soldiers and women, but we know that for hundreds of years the people of England have held to many different kinds of superstition, and in the old folk lore we can see the drift of the ideas of men and women of all classes.

There are stories told to-day and believed in rural England, which one would hardly credit in these so-called enlightened times. Calves teeth are sold in the open market in many places to hang round a child's neck as a cure for all ailments during the time of teething, and in the poorer parts of London, people wear coloured necklaces next the skin as a charm against bronchitis.

The natural question one may ask is—are these so-called charms any good, are they efficacious in dealing with the different ailments against which they are supposed to guard? Can instances be given in which cases have been cured by the use of these charms? One is forced to admit that instances can be quoted and tales told of wonderful cures, even when the doctor has given up all hope.

Then wherein lie those wonderful healing powers? They must either be in the matter themselves or in some way connected with the articles in question.

Certain waters are reputed to have healing propensities, and men and women have been cured of disease by bathing in those waters. Can these be true stories? All these questions must be answered in the affirmative, and the natural conclusion is that it is all founded on the great problem of mind over matter.

The fact that certain people implicitly believe in these things so predominates all other ideas, that the natural result is the healing of these people by their faith in these charms. No real power in either the article or the waters, but all a question of faith and so bringing in the great natural law of mind over matter by means of the fancied power in charms.

Faith comes into all these cases as in nearly everything in our mortal life and exercises a power over the human race that some men fail to credit.

How often has it been said that in an illness if the doctor were to come and administer a dose of liquid which was only water the patient in many cases would be cured by that liquid?

The fetish of the savage tribe holds sway over the uneducated mind, which to modern ideas seems almost incredible. Each tribe attributes success in battle to their own particular fetish, and often wins those battles by the presence of the fetish. There is no power in the Fetish itself, but only the influence it holds over the minds of that race giving them confidence in themselves.

The man who knows his cause is just will often succeed in the great struggle, for that knowledge will give him confidence in himself.

"Thrice armed is he who hath his quarrel just."

The man and woman who place confidence in the God who made them will have a greater advantage in life than those who hold no such faith; the mind of these people will predominate over the matter of every-day life.

Some people will call a religion of any sort a superstition. Granted then that the Christian religion is a superstition, then that same superstition is bound to help a man in his life, even if one only looks upon that religion as a power that will help a man to achieve the great ideal of existence—Mind over Matter. REV. C. E. R. WHEELER, C.F.

MISTLETOE KISSES.

To discover the origin of kissing under the mistletoe it looks as though we must go back to the time of our Norse ancestors, when the legendary Baldur was slain with a sprig of mistletoe by someone prompted by Loki. In reparation of this calamity, says Mr. P. H. Ditchfield in his interesting "Old English Customs," the plant "is dedicated to his mother Frigg, so long as it does not touch the earth, which is Loki's kingdom. Hence the mistletoe is kung from ceilings in our houses; and the kiss given under it is a sign that it is no longer an instrument of mischief."

BADGES OF FIGHTING UNITS.

Now that the Imperial War Museum is in process of formation, it is to be hoped that the distinguishing marks of fighting units which were collected in France will be given the prominence they deserve. These marks, which were regarded with almost as much pride as regimental badges, were in many cases quaint. A few one can recall are the boar's head of the Fourth Army, the three question marks (whats) of Gen. Watts' Corps, the bulldog of the Sixth Corps, the Manx legs, consisting of three sevens, of the 21st Division, the double-three domino of the 33rd Division, the red uniform of the 50th Division, and the chessboard of the 34th Division. Apart from these and a miscellaneous collection of animals, birds, imps, and other devices, there are the plain diamonds, squares, triangles, etc., of various colours worn by individual battalions.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

Power.—Funds of the A.S.E. total £2,800,000, and the membership is 320,880.

Bridge.—Bridge clubs are very much on the increase.

Popular Cards.—Christmas cards are very popular at home this year.

A Famous Ship.—The "Clyde" is not to come to the Thames for exhibition purposes.

A Good Training.—The success of ex-soldier servants is generally reported.

Unlike the French.—The German lottery loan has failed.

Society Divorce.—Lord Dalmeny has secured his divorce.

The Old School.—Mr. Frank Allen, the music-hall director, has retired.

Agreed.—The Premier says there is a time when alliances have to be watched.

Unwanted.—The Buxton gun factory is to be released for sale.

For India.—It is rumoured that the Prince of Wales may visit India in 1921.

A Hero's Wife.—The wife of a dead French officer has been sentenced to death as a traitor.

Camouflaged.—A Berwick man has been living as a Buddhist priest in a Buddhist temple for many years.

Murdered.—The body of a five-year old girl has been found buried in the sand on West Hartlepool beach.

Lowly Beginnings.—Mr. A. G. Waterson, M.P., says that as a lad he had to beg his bread from door to door.

Stripes and Ruffles.—There is a movement in London for brighter clothes for men.

Secret Once.—German prisoners helped to burn secret documents at the breaking up of G.H.Q. in France.

The Tiger's Mascot.—Clemenceau purchased a black cat as a mascot when in London.

Dignity and Honour.—All the tombstones to be erected over British graves in France will be alike.

Anti-Kinema.—The immoral tendency of some German films is occupying the attention of the Berlin public.

Not Timbuctoo.—There is a boom in boxing in Berlin. One boxer was billed as a champion of Tasmania.

Patriotism or the Exchange?—A Berlin goldsmith refuses to sell any goods to foreigners.

Difficult.—Folk at home are complaining of the difficulty of Christmas shopping.

Franc Down.—There has been a further depreciation in the value of the franc.

Partners Scarce.—Invitation cards to dances advise the recipient to bring a man.

The End.—The Q.M.A.A.C. will practically cease to exist at the end of the month.

Cashless.—The clerk of the Wrexham Council announced that there was no money at the bank.

Houseless Ex-Soldiers.—There was a scene at a Barry sale owing to ex-soldiers being homeless.

To be Sold.—St. Patrick's College, Rome, is to be sold to the Italian Government by the Irish Augustinians.

'Flu.—Spanish influenza has broken out in the Archangel district, and deaths have been reported.

Who will Help?—There is a deficit of nearly three-quarters of a million pounds on the war work of the Y.M.C.A.

All Out.—Evacuation of the Baltic Provinces by German troops is now complete.

German Property Levy.—A Property Levy Bill has been passed by the German National Assembly.

The Old School.—Harry Jeffery, the famous old-time jockey has just celebrated his golden wedding.

Plucky Robert.—A London police inspector voluntarily gave up a pint of his blood for the purpose of transfusion.

The Shortest.—A Lieutenant made his will on the back of a vignette photograph measuring 2½" by 3¾".

A Good Idea.—Lunch wagons from which a meal can be obtained for 10d. have been placed outside Washington Government offices.

Popular Zoo.—Up to November 30 the Zoo had been visited by 653,187 people more than in the corresponding period last year.

Canadian Premiership.—Sir Robert Borden is being urged by his colleagues to take a long rest, but to retain the Premiership.

Imitation.—Eton, Harrow, and Rugby, are the names of three large halls erected to accommodate students at Columbia University.

World-Task.—Boy Scouts throughout the Empire are to be set the task of finding ex-members of the South African Constabulary.

Dead People Restored.—Massage of the heart is being used with great success in cases where there is a stoppage.

A great Advance in Soap Chemistry

As a result of many years strenuous work in chemical research and its practical application, "Sapon" Soap has been perfected.

It is the greatest advance in the chemistry of Soap since that article was first manufactured.

Ordinary Soap consists of Fat deglycerined and saponified with Caustic Soda.

"Sapon" Soap is derived from Carbohydrates which when treated by the Company's patented process, yield Ammonia, Methylamine, and Trimethylamine. These Nitrogenous compounds are highly emulsifying agents, and do NOT combine with Lime or Magnesia Salts in water, as all fat-derived soaps do. Hence, no "scum" or insoluble lime soap is formed, even in the hardest water when "Sapon" Soap is used.

Dr. Shorter, of Leeds University, says of "Sapon" Soaps:—

"They contain 'surface active' colloids, whose 'surface activity' greatly exceeds that of an ordinary fat soap, and that therefore it fulfils in an extremely satisfactory manner the fundamental condition for detergent action."

SKIN DISEASES

The Amines and Amido bodies in "Sapon" Soap are readily soluble in water. They are germicidal but non-injurious owing to their colloid nature. Besides their efficiency as cleansers, they have a wonderfully sedative action.

"Sapon" Soap gives wonderful results in irritable skin diseases, such as Scabies, Eczema, Pruritis, Insect Bites, Acne, etc. The following is the best method of application when it is used for curative purposes, —moisten the Soap, rub it on the part affected and allow it to dry, on.

You will never use old-fashioned Fat Soap once you have used "SAPON" SOAPS and given them a fair trial.

Sole Agents for "Sapon" Soap in Germany

ERIC MORTON & Co.
12, Luttichér Strasse
COLOGNE

SAPON SOAPS LIMITED
Sapon House, London Bridge, E.C. 4, England

G R

By order of the Disposal Board

The Ministry of Munitions has for disposal large quantities of

FOODSTUFFS, ETC.,

comprising—

Roast Fowl	Beef Essence	Mealie meal
Vanilla Essence	Vermicelli	Pigeon food mixed
Lemon Essence	Hops	Pigeon food grit
Lentils	Dried Peas	Herbs, mixed
Vibrona	Sparklets "B" bulbs	Meat extract
Soups, assorted	Sparklets "C" bulbs	Spice mixed
Cerebos salt	Anchovy paste	Granulated potatoes
Preserved meat	Anchovy essence	Arrow root
Dried vegetables	Chicken broth	Bicarbonate of soda
Beans, dried	Chicken essence	Egg powder
Benger's Food	Potted meat	Jellies, Calf's Foot
Cornflour	Mutton broth	Olive oil
Fruits, assorted	Mutton extract	Pearl barley
Nutmegs	Mutton essence
Ox tongue	Lemonade crystals

also 82,000 ½bottles Bass Beer

The attention of

OFFICERS' MESSES, CLUBS, and COMMERCIAL FIRMS

is drawn to these goods, which will be sold as a whole to the highest or most suitable bidder, or to Officers' Messes, Clubs, etc. in smaller lots at equitable prices.

Tenders for all or any part of these goods will be accepted not later than 22nd December, 1919.

All particulars, with schedule of provisions for disposal, may be obtained from Room 182, Domhof 28, Cologne.

Verbal tenders will not be considered.

The Ministry of Munitions does not bind itself to accept the highest, or any tender, nor gives any guarantee as to quality or condition.

The successful tenderer will be required to forward a cheque for the full amount, made payable to the British Ministry of Munitions, Room 190, Domhof 28, Cologne, immediately on notification of acceptance (payment may be made in Sterling).

Removal of the goods purchased must be made within 10 days of receipt of Authorisation of Ownership, which form will be handed to the purchaser within 3 days of receipt of payment.

MINISTRY OF MUNITIONS,
(DISPOSAL BOARD) G.H.Q. COLOGNE.

THE ARMY GENERAL COLLEGE

(58 HANSA RING, COLOGNE)

The next course begins on 10th January 1920 and lasts for six weeks giving opportunities for study in various stages of the following subjects

A. GENERAL WING.

English.	German.
French.	Classics.
Geography.	Civics.
History.	Mathematics.
Mechanical Engineering (Elem.)	Chemistry & Physics.

B. COMMERCIAL WING.

GROUP I.

(a) Economics. (To include, Money, Trade & Finance; and the Indust. Development of England.)
(b) Commercial Geography.
(c) Commercial Law.
(d) Company Law.
(e) Bookkeeping (Elementary).
(f) Bookkeeping (Intermediate).
(g) Accountancy.
(h) Auditing.
(i) Commercial Correspondence and Training (Elementary).
(j) Commercial Correspondence and Business Training (Advanced).
(k) Banking.
(l) Commercial Arithmetic. (Elem.)
(m) " " (Advanced.)
(n) Shorthand & Typewriting.
(o) Secretarial Practice.

GROUP II.

(p) French. (Elementary.)
(q) " (Commercial.)
(r) German. (Elementary.)
(s) German. (Commercial.)
(t) Spanish. (Elementary.)

C. AGRICULTURAL WING.

COURSE C (I).

The Allotment Holders' Course, which in intended to meet the requirements of students wishing to take up an allotment on demobilisation, and is held at the Army Educational Farm.

COURSE C (II).

The Agricultural Science Course, which is intended for men with farming experience who wish to continue their studies or take up science connected with agriculture.

D. ART CLASSES.

1. Pure Art, figure drawing, painting and sketching.
2. Commercial Art, drawing, design, construction and artistic crafts.

ALL RANKS wishing to enter for the above courses should apply at once to their Commanding Officers

Names must reach G.H.Q. By 30th December.

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O. S./40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

BUSINESS-PREMISES in centre of the town comprising Shop, Office, Warehouse and twenty rooms. For sale Mks. 135,000,—. Letters Box 108, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (T.c.)

SECOND-HAND Zeiss telescope, 12,20, 40×80, and Binoculars. Blumenfeld, Bathasarstr. 24, near Deutscher Ring.

OFFICER'S British warm, with waist band, height 5 ft. 10 in. Apply Box 135, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (2)

FOR XMAS. 4 beautiful nacre opera glasses. Blumenfeld, Bathasarstr. 24, near Deutscher Ring.

200 BICYCLES, with free-wheel, first quality, for sale. Friedr. Schmitz & Co., G.m.b.H., Palmstrasse 47.

A SPLENDID gold ring, with five large brilliants. To view between 2 and 3 o'clock Deutz, Kalkerstr. 2 III.

MERCEDES automobile, excellent touring car, complete with rings etc., for sale. To view 2 till 4 Kyffhäuserstr. 41, Factory.

GRAND piano, most beautiful instrument, for sale; very moderate price. Offers to A 449, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

SETTER for sale; good watch-dog, 400 Mks. Cologne, Burgmauer 64.

GERMAN shepherd's dog, pure race, wolf's colour, able to resist a man. Sachsenring 82.

VERY elegant broad door-decoration embroidery, in Terracotta velour. Only principals need apply under A 450, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

WANTED.

CONTINENTAL typewriter at once, second-hand preferred. State price and full particulars Box 136, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (1)

BY Cologne Solicitor who speaks English, well situation wanted at English bank or industrial and commercial corporation. Apply to A 447, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

WAITRESS, speaking French and a little English, wants position in Hotel or canteen. App'y to A 448, Cologne Post. A.P.O./S. 40.

LANGUAGES.

GERMAN learned quickly. Call Spandow's, Rudolfplatz 7, near Opera house. 20 years experience at English schools.

GERMAN Instruction. Children's classes will be arranged in January. Particulars: Spandow, Rudolfplatz 7.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ANY information of Sec. Lieut. J. B. Clarke, 4th South Lancs. Regt., attd. 12th Somerset Light Inf. (74th Division), supposed to be killed at Allaines, north of Peronne, Sep. 2nd, 1918, to Box P. P., Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (TC)

WILL N.C.O.'s and men who joined the expeditonary force in March, 1918, from the 4th Res. Bat. Devons. Reg., and were transferred to the 8th Bat. Gloucester Reg., please communicate with Lieut A. M. Harvey, M.B.E. Devons. Reg., VIth Corps Officer's Club, Cologne.

PERSONAL.

WILL Sgt. Barnett, 5th Batt. Royal Irish Rgt. Transport, please communicate with Ernest, D.L.I. (1)

FISCHER & WOLFF Berlin C
COLOGNE,
1, Brüderstrasse Tel. B 9562
are buyers of gobelins, silk and decoration materials, carpets, huckabacks etc.

JUST THE THING TO SEND HOME

PRICE 7 MARKS

OR NINEPENCE

10 Marks, or one shilling, Post free to United Kingdom

The Cologne Post
Xmas Souvenir Number

DONT DELAY POST IT NOW

ODEON COLOGNE
HOHESTRASSE 9
Variety performance from 7-10.45 p.m.

Rosenhof
COLOGNE, Hohestrasse 9.
5 o'clock Tea and Evening Entertainment. From 5.00 till 10.45 p.m. continous performance. Renowned singers, dancers and reciters. First-class House for Officers and civilians only.

BONN o/RH. Sternstrasse 29-31
Careful Eye-Testing
Eye-Glasses & Spectacles
Opera & Field Glasses
OPTIC
EXAM. OPTOMETRISTE
J. KRAHFORST
Photo-Cameras & Lenses from Zeiss-Goerz and others
PHOTO
BONN o/RH. Sternstrasse 29-31

MOTHERS read "The Cologne Post". Send it daily to yours.

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 21, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION OUR XMAS TOTAL SEE P. 3

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

DO NOT SEAL IT SEE P. 4 SOUVENIR NUMBER

No. 228. COLOGNE, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

FRENCH'S TERSE MESSAGE.

ASSAILANT SHOT WHILE IN THE ACT OF THROWING A MILLS' BOMB.

HERO OF ATLANTIC FLIGHT KILLED.

FRENCH'S ESCAPE.

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE CRIME.

"All well. One assailant killed."

This laconic message, one of the shortest despatches on record, was despatched to the Chief Secretary for Ireland by Field Marshal Sir John French, Viceroy of Ireland, who thus dismissed the dastardly and elaborate attempt on his life.

After writing these five words he ate a good luncheon and then went about his work and fulfilled his engagements as though nothing had happened, being all the time well aware that death may be waiting for him round the corner of every street or road in disaffected Ireland.

He has been inundated for weeks past with threatening letters.

A remarkable feature of the present outrage as of others is the escape of the assailants. Equally remarkable is their knowledge regarding the movements of their victims. In the present case the attempt at assassination was made in broad daylight on a much frequented road, yet the body of armed men disappeared completely. No one was supposed to know that Lord French was on a visit to a friend sixty miles from Dublin, yet the raiders were evidently accurately informed.

A PITCHED BATTLE.

Further particulars of the outrage show that a regular fusillade was poured in when Lord French's car reached the obstruction, but the chauffeur swerved the car skilfully and just got round it. Bombs and hand grenades were also thrown by the assailants, and the car following the Viceroy's was almost demolished by a bomb, though the chauffeur, who was the only occupant, was uninjured. Meanwhile the military in the third car replied to the assailants' fire, and for some time there was a continuous rattle of firearms mingled with the louder explosions of bombs.

The attack was made shortly after the Viceregal party left Ashtown station near the entrance to Phoenix Park, 1½ miles from the scene of the assassination of Cavendish and Burke in 1882. It was apparently planned down to the minutest detail. Lord French's escape was due to the fact that his car was leading. The assailants allowed it to pass with only a few shots and concentrated their fire on the second car, thinking it was the Viceroy's. The latter's car which is protected by steel plates, was undamaged. The constable who was wounded was on duty at the corner of the road and was warned by the gang to get clear before the cars approached. As he refused he was tripped up and was wounded in the foot as he lay on the ground. It was while the fusillade and bomb-throwing were at their hottest that the man who was standing at the cross roads in the attitude of bombthrowing was shot. His confederates attempted to carry off the body but failed owing to the intensity of the military fire. They then scattered over the country side and escaped. A detective seated beside Lord French's chauffeur was wounded in the hand, otherwise there were no casualties in the Viceroy's party.

O.P. AND BOMBING POST.

The elaborate nature of the attack is shown by the fact that the assailants had erected a bombing post, also an observation post on a tall tree commanding a view of the railway station.

The most connected narrative of the occurrence is that given by Sergt. Halley, Lord French's personal-body guard, who was seated beside the chauffeur. He said that the attack began near a public house, a bomb suddenly exploding against the side of the car. Four more bombs exploded in the roadway. The sergeant fired his revolver at figures he glimpsed behind the hedges. Then another bomb struck the hood of the car and one of the splinters wounded the sergeant in the hand. He continued firing with his left hand. Four men armed with revolvers then came into the roadway and fired. The sergeant replied as the car speeded up and drove to the Viceregal Lodge. The remaining cars continued the battle. None of the attackers were masked. Lord French remained calmly seated in the car throughout.

The second car contained only a corporal chauffeur, who stopped his car and fired his revolver at assailants in the roadway and behind the hedges. This car was also bombed, but not disabled. The third car contained four soldiers who fought a pitched battle for five minutes, when the attackers, overwhelmed by a hot fire, fled, mostly on bicycles. Three only remained on the road. One of them had just drawn the pin from a bomb when he was shot dead. A motorlorry with military and constables was hurried up from the station and the occupants fired at the retreating assailants.

IRISH DEPRECATION.

The King telegraphed to Lord French immediately he received news of the attack, "I am shocked at the attempt

(Continued in next column.)

SIR J. ALCOCK DEAD.

CRASHED IN A FOG AT ROUEN.

One of the most brilliant and famous aviators, Sir J. Alcock, met his death at Cottevrard, near Rouen, on Friday, as the result of an accident.

Whilst flying in a fog his machine collided with a tree, and crashed to the ground. He sustained a fractured skull and never recovered consciousness.

Sir John Alcock was only twenty-seven years of age, and his career as an aviator was unexcelled. He was born in Manchester and was the eldest son of Mr. John Alcock.

His name will go down in the history of aviation as the pilot of the Vickers Vimy machine that flew the Atlantic in June of this year.

On the outbreak of war he joined the R.N.A.S. and figured in many bombing raids against the Turks. He was taken prisoner in 1917, and was not liberated until after the armistice.

He secured the D.S.O. for bringing down seven enemy machines.

FIUME FURIOUS.

D'ANNUNZIO HISSED BY INHABITANTS.

The Municipal Council of Fiume on Thursday, by 44 votes to 4, pronounced against d'Annunzio's continued occupation of the city. The poet, in whose presence this decision was taken, refused to accept it, had the tocsin rung and assembled a crowd, whom he harangued in his own familiar style. The populace hissed him down. D'Annunzio is still recalcitrant, but it is considered that his reign in Fiume is over.

made on your life this afternoon and rejoice at your safety." The Prince of Wales, Queen Alexandra and Duke of Connaught also sent telegrams. Cardinal Logue wired "Congratulations on your miraculous escape."

In reply to a message from the Lord Mayor of Belfast, Lord French said:—I am delighted to receive your very kind congratulations and those of the City of Belfast, which is ever unsurpassed in loyalty and progress and devotion to the Empire."

A letter from Archbishop Walsh was read in all Catholic Churches at Dublin on Sunday. It included the following words: "The attempted assassination of the Viceroy has shocked the city. It calls for a melancholy protest from every Irishman who loves his country, as such crimes, instead of helping, are only likely to retard reform, as did the Phoenix Park murders nearly forty years ago."

DEAD ASSASSIN IDENTIFIED.

The dead assailant was quickly identified as a grocer's assistant living at Dublin.

At the inquest held at Dublin on the man, whose name was Savage, the public were excluded. Constables on duty carried loaded revolvers in their holsters.

A Dublin grocer testified that he had employed Savage as an assistant for two years. He was unmarried and lived on the premises. His parents lived at Sligo. The inquiry was adjourned. Savage is described by his intimates as sober, industrious and extremely religious. It is stated that he belonged to the Republican volunteers and participated in the 1916 rising as a rebel sub-Lieutenant. He was a member of the party which held High Courts against the military and he drifted to the Terrorists when the movement was driven underground.

GOVERNMENT FIRM.

Speaking at Liverpool Mr. Bonar Law, declaring that the Coalition was never more homogeneous than at present and that talk of a general election is nonsense, said that the Government will not allow an Irish Republic to be established. The attempt on Lord French was indicative of the spirit in which a certain section in Ireland intended to welcome the Government's honest endeavour to deal with the subject. Such attempts would never move the British people to grant self-determination.

The outrage is condemned very strongly by the London newspapers, but it is generally hoped that the crime will not affect the Government's policy.

SINN FEINERS AND THE HOUSE.

Stringent precautions were taken at the House of Commons to prevent any disturbance by Sinn Feiners yesterday in view of the Premier's anticipated statement on Ireland. Some time ago, when it was expected that Irish business would be taken, a number of Sinn Feiners obtained admittance to the Strangers' Gallery. They were closely watched but gave no cause for interference with them. It is known, however, that it has long been the intention of Sinn Fein to make some hostile demonstration in the House when the Irish Bill is introduced. Only strangers who were guaranteed by members were admitted yesterday.

SOVIET DEMANDS.

IMPUDENT TERMS FOR EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS.

Interviewed by Reuter's correspondent at Copenhagen, Mr. J. O'Grady, the British M.P. who has been negotiating for exchange of British and Russian prisoners, said that Litvinoff, when he was offered what Mr. O'Grady considered fair proposals, replied that if he were to return to Russia with such proposals he would first be greeted with laughter, and would finally be shot.

Litvinoff's proposals were:—

British privates and N.C.O.'s to be released for all Russian prisoners of war in England, including 28 officers.

The British Government to instruct the Archangel Government to release 225 prisoners there, in return for which 22 British officers in Russia would be released.

The Soviet Government to release British women and children in Russia if Great Britain instructed the Danish Government to send back 1,700 escaped Russian prisoners of war now in Denmark.

Male British civilians to be released if the British Government instructed the Inter-Allied Commission in Berlin to be consider the re-patriation of Russian prisoners.

To these one-sided proposals Great Britain replied that she had no jurisdiction over the prisoners of the Archangel Government; that she could not, and would not, instruct Denmark as demanded, but if the Danish Government agreed to the release of the 1,700 prisoners in Denmark, Great Britain would provide transport facilities. Since the Inter-Allied Commission in Berlin had never met, the last condition is impossible of execution.

On Mr. O'Grady offering to release all Russian prisoners and nationals in England, in return for our prisoners and nationals, Litvinoff replied that he did not care a straw about those in England, but only those in Archangel, Mesopotamia, and the Caucasus. As regards prisoners captured in the Caucasus and Mesopotamia, Great Britain agreed in principle to their release, and to consultation with the Persian Government in the matter.

Y.M.C.A. DEFICIT.

HOW AMERICA SHOWS APPRECIATION.

In connection with the offer of £200,000 by the American Y.M.C.A. towards the funds of the British Y.M.C.A., a cable has been received from the General Secretary of the American Association to the effect that they have been greatly impressed by the wisdom, economy and practical helpfulness wherewith the work has been conducted as well as its vast extent and great volume of voluntary service, especially by women workers. The message adds: "In recognition of countless services rendered to the American Army and Navy we subscribe five hundred thousand dollars, payable immediately towards the fund, and will gladly contribute in addition the last five hundred thousand dollars to complete the fund."

SAVE THE CHILDREN.

BRITISH RELIEF FOR VIENNA.

Subscriptions to the Vienna Emergency Relief Fund are pouring in from all parts of the United Kingdom. Over forty thousand pounds has been received already, and the Committee is making arrangements for the immediate dispatch of hospital supplies, cod liver oil, soap and other articles for the women and children of Vienna. Collections will be made in churches of all denominations next Sunday on behalf of the "Save the Children Fund."

SPEN VALLEY POLLING.

The polling at Spen Valley by-election, which took place on Saturday, was more animated and considerably heavier than at any previous election at Spen. It is believed that the women's vote will prove to be the deciding factor. Workers polled in large numbers on leaving work, especially the women workers wearing their shawls. Never before had so many motor cars been seen dashing about the Spen Valley.

SHOPPING BY CANDLE LIGHT.

A strike of gasworkers in the towns of Aberavon and Port Talbot resulted in the entire neighbourhood being plunged into darkness on Saturday. All shops were closed with the exception of a few which carried on by candle light.

At the request of their leaders the men have returned to work and also agreed to continue during the holidays pending a satisfactory settlement.

LOVE MATCH AFTER 50 YEARS.

A couple were wedded at Swansea last week whose joint ages totalled 118 years. Fifty-five years ago they were playmates, but the bride had married another whilst her husband-to-be was at sea. They only met again recently after many years.

General Birdwood and Lieut.-General Monash received a great welcome on their arrival at Freemantle.

NEW CHUMS.

UNITS UNDER ORDERS FOR THE RHINE.

The War Office states that preliminary arrangements are being made for the despatch of Regular Units to Germany and Egypt for temporary duty. They will replace units of the Army of Occupation and personnel which in due course will become available for demobilization. The Infantry Battalions and Artillery Brigades selected for this temporary service are:

ON THE RHINE:

3rd Brigade R.F.A.
2nd Bn. Black Watch.
1st Bn. Durham L.I.
3rd Bn. Middlesex Regt.
4th Bn. Worcester Regt.
2nd Bn. R. W. Kent Regt.
2nd Bn. L. N. Lancs Regt.
1st Bn. R. Sussex Regt.

IN SILESIA:

35th Brigade R.F.A.
1st Bn. R. Irish Regt.
1st Bn. R. Dublin Fus.
2nd Bn. Gordon Highlanders.

IN EAST PRUSSIA:

2nd Bn. R. Irish Fus.
1st Bn. R. Munster Fus.
1st Bn. Essex Regt.
1st Bn. Lancashire Fus.
2nd Bn. Cameron Highlanders.
3rd Bn. Royal Fus.
2nd Bn. Berkshire Regt.

IN SCHLESWIG:

1st Bn. Sherwood Foresters.

IN EGYPT.:

1st Bn. Highland L. I.
2nd Bn. East Surrey Regt.
1st Bn. York and Lancs. Regt.
1st Bn. South Lancs.
2nd Bn. Shropshire L. I.

The date on which the troops will be dispatched to Silesia and East Prussia will depend on the course of the diplomatic negotiations now proceeding, and the movement of units to Egypt will be determined by the provision of the necessary tonnage; but, in any event, the main bodies will probably not be required to embark before the middle of next month.

ARAB EXCESSES.

EMIR FEISUL PROMISES CORRECTION.

Emir Feisul, writing to Field Marshal Wilson in connection with the Arab occupation of Deirezzor, in Mesopotamia, repudiates personally and on behalf of the Arab Government all knowledge of or complicity in the outrage. He says he has telegraphed to his brother Emeer Zeid directing him to publish in the papers a communiqué declaring that those responsible for and the abettors of the outrage against their British Ally, will be punished as rebels. He has further instructed him to order any Arab official now at Deirezzor to withdraw, to release the British officers detained there, and to hand them over to the British authorities. Emir Feisul proposes to place the offenders already arrested at the disposal of the British authorities. He concludes by stating that he will be delighted to comply with any further action which the British authorities desire.

The Emir says he has no doubt that the outrage was committed by Ajeimi el Sadun and his party who are now acting for the Turks, their object being to sever relations between the Arab and British authorities.

BRITISH SHIP FOUNDERS IN MID-ATLANTIC.

A wireless message intercepted by the Camperdown Station (Halifax, Nova Scotia) reports that 43 of the crew of the British steamer "Manxman" have been lost through the vessel foundering in mid-Atlantic last Thursday morning. The captain, first mate, fourth engineer, and wireless operator were among those drowned. The other officers, the chief steward, and eleven of the crew are aboard the steamer "British Isles," which was due at New York yesterday. The "British Isles" sighted the "Manxman" on Wednesday, and stood by for twenty-four hours with a view to assisting her to port.

VERSUS PUSSYFOOT.

A largely attended meeting of Anti-Prohibitionists held at Nottingham on Sunday adopted a resolution protesting against the insolent interference of American agitators in Great Britain's domestic affairs.

Mr. Arthur Hayday, M.P., one of the principal officials of the National Union of General Workers, strongly condemned the underhanded and subtle nature of the tactics employed by foreign advocates of prohibition.

MARRIAGE OF DR. NANSEN.

The marriage took place at Christiania on Wednesday of Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, the famous Arctic explorer, formerly Norwegian Minister in London, and Mme. Sigrun Munthe, the widow of the famous painter, Gerhard Munthe.

ROSA LUXEMBURG'S MURDERER.

The German Government has asked the Hague to grant the extradition of ex-Lieutenant Vogel for the murder of Rosa Luxemburg. The request will be dealt with before a tribunal at Haarlem.

SUMMARY COURT.

BABY'S PRAM LINED WITH STOLEN SHIRTS.

While a raid was in progress at 84 Hacketauerstrasse, a civilian approached a military policeman and suggested that if a certain top room were searched there would be an interesting find. The room was accordingly searched, and quilts, blankets, cycle tubes and various other articles of clothing were found there, in addition to twelve pounds of bacon, five pounds of cheese, jam, tea and sugar and the inevitable Ruby Queen cigarettes. The cigarettes were found in a pillow and shirts were found in a pram underneath ababy. Different things were found in and under the beds, and the washing machine had also been used as a store.

One result of the raid was the appearance of the following persons, all charged with being in unlawful possession of Army property, and they were dealt with as stated: Paul Synnak, six weeks; Julius Synnak, three months; Felix Synnak, ten weeks; Engelbert Synnak similarly charged, did not appear.

It was stated that robberies had occurred in the district of late, including a set of chessmen from the Church Army. They were discovered in the miscellaneous loot.

FORBIDDEN WEAPONS.

For being in unlawful possession of arms, several offenders were smartly dealt with.

Charged with being in possession of a revolver, Eugen Asbeck, chauffeur of 25 Sparrstrasse, was given four months. A German policeman spotted him at 4 a.m., coming out of a house and arrested him for burglary. Accused had in his possession the revolver (unloaded) a dagger and a mask. In the German Courts Asbeck will be charged with house breaking.

Joseph Richman of 61 Freiheitsstrasse, Deutz, was also sent down for four months. He was found in possession of a revolver and is wanted by the civil courts for burglary. He declared that he suffered from shell-shock and said he found the revolver in the street.

Georg Kallinger, a nightwatchman, of 6 Schnurgasse, was charged with being in possession of a revolver, twelve rounds of ammunition and a bayonet. Accused asserted that he is watchman at the British stores in Johannisstrasse and he was not safe without weapons. Application had been made for him to carry arms but it had not been granted. He was fined 500 marks or one month imprisonment.

VARIOUS OFFENCES.

Jacob Kohl, of 41 Wahlenstrasse, Ehrenfeld, was charged with serving cognac to civilians at 11.10 p.m. He pleaded that it was merely a family party, but he was fined 500 marks or a month.

Conrad Dausner, 72 Ehrenstrasse, was given three months imprisonment for the theft of various articles from the R.A.O.C. Depot at Nippes, where he had been employed as a labourer.

The eating-house kept by Frau Klavoitch at 51 Kammergasse is "out of bounds," but the proprietress, though twice warned within a week, neglected to show the necessary card in the window. It was, as a matter of fact, found in a cupboard.

Accused, who said no soldiers visited her house, was fined 350 marks or fourteen days.

OFF-DUTY INSOLENCE.

A case in which a tramway official was charged with not saluting an officer, was adjourned.

The Presiding officer, addressing the representative of the tramways, and speaking from personal observation, said that in the Riehl neighbourhood their officials when off duty were very fond of not recognising British officers. The tramwaymen walked about with their hands in the pockets, smoking their pipes and ostentatiously ignored British officers. If that sort of thing continued, it would only lead to trouble.

The tramway representative said the Presiding Officer's remarks would be conveyed to the proper quarter.

FARTHING DAMAGES FOR EX-PREMIER.

The Federal High Court has awarded Mr. Ryan, ex-Premier of Queensland, one farthing damages against the Melbourne "Argus," which accused him of entering into a conspiracy with Germans and anti-Loyalists. Mr. Ryan claimed £10,000.

GERMAN DIPLOMATISTS FOR ITALY.

It is announced that Dr. Otto von Bergen and Baron von Ritter are going to Rome to represent Germany and Bavaria respectively.

The Holy Secretary proposes to send Monsignor Pacelli, now at Munich, to Berlin as Papal Nuncio.

COLONISING PALESTINE.

The Palestine Department of the Zionist Organisation estimates that the preliminary work alone to be done in Palestine before a start can be made with colonisation, will cost 25 millions.

U.S. COUNCIL OF TEN.

In the Senate, Senator Underwood has introduced a resolution for the United States to appoint a Committee of ten Senators to consider ways and means of arriving at a ratification of the Peace Treaty.

CANADA AND PEACE.

AMNESTY GRANTED TO ALL MILITARY PRISONERS.

The Canadian Dominion Government has abrogated all war time restrictions and Acts and ordered the release of all men in Canada convicted for military offences. Besides granting this amnesty to all military offenders the Order in Council directs that all prosecutions under the Military Service Act are to cease. War-time liquor restrictions will be discontinued from 1st January. While prohibition in the provinces will not be interfered with the Federal restrictions on the importation of liquor is removed.

Betting on horse race tracks, which was prohibited during the war, is now restored.

A DRY VOYAGE.

EX-GERMAN RECORD LINER REACHES ENGLAND.

The mammoth "Imperator," the first ex-German passenger boat to fly the British flag, arrived at Southampton on Sunday after a trip of eleven days, with nearly three thousand passengers.

Captain Smith, the old commander of the "Aquitania," who brought the vessel across, attributed the delay not so much to adverse weather as to the defective boilers and machinery, which badly needed overhauling, and the poor quality of the coal.

Owing to the refusal of the American authorities to release any liquor from bond the Imperator was a "dry" ship. Most of the passengers accepted the situation with equanimity.

RAILWAY COLLISION.

BRITISH EMIGRANTS KILLED.

A terrible railway accident is reported from Montreal, in which twenty-three were killed and fifty injured in a collision. The passengers included some returned Canadian soldiers and 300 immigrants, mainly English and Scottish, who arrived on Friday on the "Empress of France." The collision appears to have been due to a misunderstanding of orders, the engineer of a freight train not apparently realising that the passenger train was running in three sections.

A TASK FOR BOY SCOUTS.

General Sir Robert Baden-Powell wants the boy scouts of the Empire to do him a "good turn." He is asking them to search for ex-members of the South African Constabulary, of which he was Inspector-General. Many of these men were under Sir Robert's own command in Mafeking. In 1907 this force was disbanded. Its members dispersed all over the world. An Old Comrades' Association was formed, with branches in London and South Africa. Every year till 1914 a reunion was held in London. On the outbreak of war Sir Robert offered to raise and command a battalion of these men, but it was thought they would be of more use dispersed throughout the Army, where they would spread their spirit. When the annual reunion was held this year the muster was fewer than thirty. Sir Robert wants the boy scouts to help him to find the rest.

MINEOWNERS REPUDIATE STRIKE AGREEMENT.

After a conference with Mr. Palmer, the United States Attorney General, the bituminous mineowners issued a statement denying that they had agreed to the strike settlement as stated in Mr. Wilson's letter to the Commissioner. Mr. Palmer replied that it would be an amazing repudiation of their own statements if they failed to accept the settlement.

DRIFTING MINE DANGERS.

The ever-present danger of drifting mines is exemplified by the following telegrams. Lloyds Station at Stavanger reports that a Norwegian cutter has been sunk by a mine off the coast of Stavanger Province. Lloyds at Brisbane reports that a drifting mine has been found near Cookstown, Queensland, and another off Dove Island, Torres Straits. They probably drifted from New Zealand.

NEXT COVENT GARDEN BALL.

The glory of the old Covent Garden Balls will be revived on the 15th January when a fancy dress, poudre and uniform masked ball will be given at the Opera House in aid of St. Bartholomew's Hospital. It is to be a real revel and will be attended by leading notabilities of the social, Bohemian and theatrical worlds.

CHRISTMAS LEAVE.

For troops serving in France and Flanders and on the Rhine instructions have been issued that leave, which would normally expire on December 24, 25, 26, and 27, is to be extended till the 28th, 29th, 30th, and 31st.

Captain Ross Smith has arrived safely at Camooweal Queensland.

Y.M.C.A. RHINE ARMY

XMAS IN THE HUTS

LOOK OUT FOR THESE FOUR SPECIAL FEATURES IN THE CHRISTMAS PROGRAMME:-

1. Christmas Entertainments in Y.M.C.A. Huts.
2. "Etceteras" Concert Party.
3. Mr. Herring, the Y.M.C.A. Conjurer.
4. Special Performances in Y.M.C.A. Cinemas.

The following are some of the Christmas Entertainments and Concerts arranged by the Y.M.C.A. for the Troops of the Rhine Army. Go to your nearest Y.M.C.A. Centre and find out full particulars:—

CHRISTMAS 1919.

Y.M.C.A. Centres.	Christmas Entertainment.	The "Etceteras" Concert Party.	Mr. Herring, Y.M.C.A. Conjurer
Cologne Central	New Year's Eve	Dec. 20 and Christmas Day (7 p.m.)	Jan. 1
School for British Children	Christmas Eve		—
No. 3 General Hospital	December 23	Dec. 31 (2.30 p.m.)	Jan. 16
No. 25 General Hospital	Christmas Day	Dec. 30 (2.30 p.m.)	Jan. 14
Mulheim Central Club	Christmas Eve	Dec. 30 (6.30 p.m.)	—
Mulheim Cinema	Dec. 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27. (Special Pictures).		Jan. 15
Ehrenfeld (Bakeries)	Christmas Day	Dec. 23 (6.30 p.m.)	Jan. 12
Ehrenfeld (M.T. Depot)	Boxing Day		—
Durham House	Dec. 27	Dec. 19 and Dec. 21 (6.30 p.m.)	Jan. 6
Marienburg	Christmas Day	Dec. 27 (6 p.m.)	Jan. 7
Deutz	Boxing Day.	Christmas Eve (6.30 p.m.)	Jan. 8
Kalk (Central Club)	New Year's Eve		—
Kalk (Cinema)	Dec. 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27. (Special Pictures)	Dec. 22 (6.30 p.m.)	Jan. 13
Wahn Barracks	Dec. 30.		Jan. 9
Lindenthal	Dec. 27.		Jan. 10
Wermelskirchen	Christmas Day	Jan. 1 (6.30 p.m.)	Jan. 21
Paffrath	Christmas Day		—
Solingen	Christmas Day	New Year's Eve (6.30 p.m.)	Jan. 20
Schlebusch	Christmas Day		Jan. 19
Opladen	Christmas Day		Jan. 17
Bonn	Christmas Day	Dec. 29 (6.30 p.m.)	Jan. 3
Troisdorf	Boxing Day		Jan. 2
Godesberg	Christmas Day		Jan. 5
Siegburg	Christmas Day		Jan. 22
Rotgen	Christmas Day	Boxing Day (6.30 p.m.)	—

Other Centres.

36 C.C.S.	Dec. 23rd (5 p.m.)
44 C.C.S.	Christm. Day (5pm)
B.E.L.C.	Dec. 28 (6.30 p.m.)

Owing to illness, Mr. Herring is unable to start his Programme before Jan. 1. Arrangements are being made whereby a Special Acrobatic Performance will take the place of his Conjuring Show in the huts where he was to have appeared between now and that date.

Y.M.C.A. H.Q.
RHINE ARMY.

DECEMBER, 22. 1919.

SPARKES HALL
308, REGENT ST. LONDON W.
4, AVENUE FRIEDLAND, PARIS
ROOM 71, DISCH HOTEL
Brückenstr. COLOGNE
(Next Door to N.A.C.B. Depot)
FIELD, HUNTING & POLO BOOTS
Hand-Sewn Field Boots, Civilian Boots, Shoes and Pumps made to order and delivered to Germany in 18 days or in England in 10 days.

From To-day next we shall be closed during Xmas week.

N. A. C. B.
OFFICERS' CLUB
XMAS DAY
AND
NEW YEAR'S EVE
XMAS DINNER AND DANCE
AT THE
EWIGE LAMPE.
XMAS DINNER
at No. 2 CLUB.
TICKETS 50 MARKS
TABLES SHOULD BE BOOKED EARLY.

PAULA DESBOROUGH is holding a series of practice dances for past and present pupils on TUESDAYS and THURSDAYS
NEXT DANCE TUESDAY JAN. 6
For full particulars and tickets apply:
Kaiser Wilhelm-Hotel
Kaiser Wilhelm-Ring
Phone. (Civil) A 4325.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

On Xmas Day all Army Amusements will be open as usual and at the usual times.

DEUTSCHES THEATRE.
"The Knight of the Burning Pestle," at 6 p.m.

PALACE THEATRE.
Grand Variety Programme, at 6 p.m.

No. 2 CINEMA (Modernes Theatre)
Breite Strasse.
Finest Picture House in Germany.

No. 3 CINEMA (Panopticum)
Hohe Strasse.
The Acme of Comfort.
2.30 and 6 p.m. Daily.

SKATING RINK, 32 Komodien Strasse
5.30 to 9.30 p.m. Daily.

N.B. The Army Gymnasium will be closed on Xmas Day and Boxing Day.

INNISKILLING DRAGOONS PANTOMINE
JAN. 1. 1920
WATCH THESE COLUMNS.

Church of England Services in Cologne.

THE GARRISON CHURCH (C. of E.)
Schildergasse
Wednesday, Dec. 24th: S. Thomas, transferred).
HOLY COMMUNION: 8.00 hrs.
The clergy will be in church from 17.00 to 19.00 hrs.

Christmas Day, December 25th.
7.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
8.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
10.30 hrs. Parade Service.
11.30 hrs. Holy Communion.

CHURCH ARMY CHAPEL Hotel du Nord.
Holy Communion: Sundays 8.00.
Tuesdays 7.30. Thursdays 7.00.
Fridays 7.30.

Christmas Day.
6.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
8.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
9.30 hrs. Matins.
10.30 hrs. Holy Communion with hymns and address, Rev. L. D. Agate; M.A.
17.30 hrs. Evensong and address: Rev. L. D. Agate, M.A.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.

Special Christmas production

Nightly until further notice,
THE BRITISH RHINE ARMY DRAMATIC COY in
"THE KNIGHT OF THE BURNING PESTLE"
a Costume Comedy of Merry England in four acts by BEAUMONT & FLETCRER.
BOOK AT AMUSEMENTS OFFICE.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.

Nightly at 6 p.m.

SPECIAL VARIETY PROGRAMME
ARTISTES.
THE THREE VERSATILE
in song and story.
HAROLD WALTERS
Baritone.
REX AND ERNO
The World's Worst Wizards.
ERB KARNO TRIO
Comedy Musician Act.
ERNO ELLIS
Comedian.
CHARLES STAIRS
"Git-Back"
THE FOURWHIZZ-BANGS
Comedy Tumbles.
One Act Farce, entitled
"BACK TO IT"
ALFRED BARKER
The English Violinist.
BOOK AT AMUSEMENTS OFFICE.

ARMY SKATING RINK.
NOW OPEN. This week, Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday other ranks and wives only 5.30 to 9.30.
Friday Officers and wives 3.30 to 10.0
Skates provided. Cloak Room Accommodation for spectators: Mugs' Alley for Beginners. Commencing shortly, Teas and refreshments will be served on the Balcony.

No 1 Cinema is now closed.

No: 2 ARMY CINEMA.
(Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.

No: 3 ARMY CINEMA.
(Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.
Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc.,
Staff Instructor in attendance.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
CINEMA
Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post

Telephones: Military, No. 653. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S.40, British Army of the Rhine.

Tuesday, December 23, 1919.

BRITAIN'S YOUNG MEN.

The air has claimed yet another distinguished victim. Sir John Alcock, the hero of tho wonderful Atlantic flight, is the latest addition to the ever-increasing list of great pioneers of the air, for they are still that, who have sacrificed themselves in the great effort of civilisation to procure the mastery of the skies.

The news of his death came as a severe shock to the whole world, for his wonderful feat in successfully defying the manifold perils of the Atlantic had penetrated to the most remote quarters of the globe, and had called forth the unstinted admiration which such an act of reckless bravery and almost unprecedented risk of death rightfully claims.

It seems an irony of fate that he should have successfully overcome the difficulties of the greatest adventure of the air only to meet his death in the now everyday enterprise of essaying a trip to Paris.

The passing of this gallant pilot calls vividly to mind the widespread sorrow and regret ocasioned by the news of the death of other brilliant flying men during the war.

When Ball and McCudden eventually fell after a series of miraculous exploits we all felt that we had sustained a personal loss. But even the risks of war in the air, and we all know how real they were, cannot, we suggest, be said to exceed those taken by the late Sir John Alcock when he set out from America to attempt, what many described as, the impossible.

This calamity is yet further proof of the fact that we are still a long way off the realisation of the dream of complete air mastery. While flying under favourable climatic conditions can now be said to be as safe as other means of travel, as evidenced by statistics which have been recently published, the aeroplane is still far from stable and reliable in unfavourable weather.

The best brains of the nation are concentrating in the endeavour to overcome the difficulties which still stand in the path of complete success and, given time, they may be relied upon to find the solution.

A LEARNED GROCER.

MANKIND 900,000 YEARS AGO.

The life of Benjamin Harrison, the village grocer of Ightham, is a wonderful example of the triumph of a man of brain, and grit over the difficulties which beset his path, and apparently barred the way to his desired goal.

Mr. Harrison was born in Ightam, one of the prettiest of pretty Kent villages, the son of the village grocer; and his grandfather was grocer before him. There were two young Harrisons, of which Benjamin was the younger, and in accordance with tradition the grocery business was to be taken over by the elder son. This suited the view of the younger exactly, for his one great idea was to see all the world, to explore its distant corners.

However, the elder son's health gave way and he had to go abroad permanently so Benjamin had to take over the village grocery. Thus his hopes of foreign exploration were defeated.

Mr. Harrison, however, was not to be floored so easily and, as he explained to the present writer, he determined to explore thoroughly the Kentish valley in which he lived. Success attended his efforts, and he soon found large numbers of the flint instruments made and used by the men who inhabited Kent in the Paleolithic Age—thousands of years ago.

Thus encouraged, he carried on, and found, in the old river-bed, gravels 800 feet above the present sea level, some ruder shaped flints which bore evidence in the shaping of having been chipped and used by man. These were named "Eoliths" (or stones of the "dawn" age) and for many years the most famous geologists of the whole continent discussed, fervidly, the question as to whether man, or nature, had shaped them.

Finally they were generally accepted as being man-made, some 200,000 to 900,000 years ago, and the village grocer of Ightnam became famous. Science men the world over have visited the wonderful collection of flint instruments which he has made and lovingly arranged in his village home.

H. G. Wells in his "New History of the World" describes him as "one of those modest and devoted observers to whom British geology owes so much, In his book, "Prehistoric Times", Lord Avebury says, "Mr. Harrison has found on the summit of the Kentish Downs, near Igh ham, a certain number of Palaeoli hic implements.. and a much larger number of very rude specimens. so rude indeed that their claim to classification as worked implements is disputed by some high authorities. Many of them are, however, as it seems to me, undoubtedly worked."

Mr. Harrison celebrated his 82nd birthday on Sunday last, and although somewhat deaf still works away at his beloved and world famous collection.

Thus a village boy with few opportunities and with no great fund of learning to begin with, but taught to observe and to think, has raised himself to a place on the highest platform of Science.

W.E.R.

GEORGE ON ROLLERS.

"There's no fool like an old fool."

It all arose through George. George is a few years my senior; therefore he can lay claim to being a bigger fool than I am.

We had visited one of those charming establishments where one may obtain anything from a battleship to a packet of pins, and where payment for same is made a secondary consideration.

George was endeavouring to find a suitable gift as a peace offering to one in Blighty who was anxiously awaiting his return.

It was while I had my back turned that George first noticed the cause of what was subsequently to become a thorn in my side.

If I had known as much then as I do now, I would have promptly hit George over the head with a model tank that was lying handy, and carried him home. But my luck was out.

"See them, Jim", he said, pointing to a case full of nice bright roller skates. I saw, and wondered.

"Do you skate, George?" I enquired in a weak moment.

"Rather", he replied. "What do you say to buying a pair and coming down to the new rink in Komödienstrasse? I'll hold you up and teach you."

George has rather a wheedling way with him, and my powers of resistance were never very strong. My bank balance has often been sadly depleted by members of the fair sex.

But George seemed so confident, and I felt as if I had a strong supporting pillar to rely on as we made our way to the rink.

How soon was I to be disillusioned.

Knowing nothing of these things I took it to be a sort of preliminary canter on his part when after a gigantic half an hour's struggle in adjusting the skates he at length managed to attach them to his feet with the aid of sundry pieces of string and proceeded to test their running powers.

An agonised yell from George and a confused jumble of arms and legs out on the rink attracted my attention.

My courage began to ooze. George as a pillar of support seemed to be growing somewhat rickety.

Having expounded his theory he proceeded on a somewhat erratic course down the rink, leaving a trail of victims in his wake.

He arrived back to where I waited for my first lesson, with a triumphant smile on his face, and enquired of me, "Are you ready?"

I began to wish the floor would open and swallow me up.

But I could not possibly back out now. I must do or die, possibly both.

With a determined look on my face like an explorer going out into the unknown I launched forth.

The next five minutes remain in my mind as a confused jumble. George lost all interest in the proceedings quite early, as was only natural when one attempts to skate on the back of the head.

* * *

Has anyone got a large size in tin hats to lend George.

He has to parade in battle order tomorrow, and the ordinary size will not fit him now.

For myself I am determined to head a revolution in Mexico when I'm demobilized. It's much safer.

HAWKEYE.

THE GREAT STEENBECK MYSTERY.

A DRAMATIC TALE OF THE GREAT WAR AND COLOGNE.

It was a rainy cheerless evening in the Ypres salient in the autumn of '17, and the mud and shell-holes had almost disappeared beneath a sea of unruffled waters. Above the German lines, coloured lights shot at intervals in the inky heavens—the only reminders that a more beautiful world existed somewhere in the past and might some day, God willing, exist again.

The firing of the guns was desultory in the extreme, but within a pill-box, not many thousands of yards from the Steenbeck, which served as an advanced dressing as well as a wireless station, a handful of men were quietly preparing against the night.

At zero, the British infantry on the other side of the hollow, wherein the Steenbeck ran, were to advance, and fairly heavy casualties were anticipated as "stormtruppen" were opposite and in ominous numbers.

At the appointed hour the barrage opened; hearts beat high; the general excitement was intense.

From the little passage in the pill-box the inmates in turn viewed the battle with suppressed emotion, the things that were not seen being infinitely more awe-inspiring than the things which were seen.

Then the first of the mournful procession of stretcher bearers, husky and perspiring, began to arrive. In whispers the Doctor gave his directions to the R.A.M.C. sergeant and together they worked like Trojans. Some were already having their Pisgah view of Palestine, a quiet unearthly serenity stealing over their countenances, others were moaning pitifully in a painful stupor.

"Here's a 'Jerry'," whispered one of the R.A.M.C. men in the dressing station, as a coat of dirty grey dimly appeared on a stretcher in the candle-light. "He seems to be pretty far away with it."

As he lay there, he seemed to be engaged in a subdued conversation, and in his eyes, peeping between the folds of bandage, there danced a light and shade which seemed to indicate an alternate inward peace and discord. In the mature opinion of one spiritualistic member of the little party the German was in communication with distant friends.

After treatment, he was carried out into the sulphur-laden night and conveyed to the next dressing station further down the line. In the midst of other labours he was speedily forgotten about by all in the pill-box except the spiritualistic Tommy, who continued to ruminate over the incident for many moons. The fact that the "conversation" was carried on while the German was alive, being a source of great and increasing mystification.

* * *

Fully a year later, on Christmas eve, 1918, to be precise, a little company of British Tommies, characteristically convivial, found themselves on that night of nights in a German café in Cologne. So convivial were they that they imagined themselves more musical than the orchestra, whom they proceeded to supplant without much ceremony. A playful and good-humoured fracas ensued, during which one of the British gently flicked a German violinist's face.

Blood began to flow copiously down the hitherto lily-white shirt-front of the fiddler, who was now rapidly assuming the appearance of a scarlet pimpernel. A frantic fraulein appeared, and in broken English excitedly explained that her friend the unfortunate violinist bore the marks of honourable warfare on his left cheek (to say nothing of the iron cross on his breast), and that it ill became a gentleman to open the wounds.

"Left cheek," interjected our spiritualis friend to the violinist, "where did you receive that wound, may I ask?"

"At Beaumont Hamel on November 13th, 1916," he stolidly replied.

The interrogator felt nonplussed, but continued, "it wasn't by any chance near Poelcapelle in the autumn of 1917?"

"Nein, mein Herr," he answered, "but I had a brother who was fatally wounded there and who is now in a better world."

"Indeed," said the spiritualistic Sherlock slowly warming to his subject, "and was he badly smashed in the left cheek?"

"He was."

"Do you know if anyone has been in communication with him since he left this troubled vale?"

"I have," replied the violinist. "Through a spiritualistic medium I have enjoyed many interesting, not to say profitable, conversations with him."

"Look here, Fritz," said the man in khaki enthusiastically, "I should like you to ask your departed brother a number of pertinent questions. Can you arrange a meeting where you, the medium and myself can attend?"

"Nothing easier, provided—"

"Provided what?"

"You can give me ten packets of English cigarettes and a hundred marks, and the medium 20 packets of English cigarettes and two hundred marks.

"That's a bargain," said the Briton, who on fixing a rendezvous and a suitable time for the service and the handing over of the price, rejoined his noisy friends.

When at length the eagerly awaited day of the meeting arrived, the indefatigable investigator of the Great Steenbeck Spiritualistic Mystery had evolved numerous questions with a view to unravelling a problem that had baffled him for months. Were all the questions satisfactorily answered, he maintained, or even half of them, all mystery would immediately vanish.

The large apartment for the seance was dimly lit by a lamp surmounted by a shade of dark greenish hue, and a peculiar odour filled the room.

Then the questions and answers began. For three quarters of an hour the medium was given queries, which he passed on to another world, receiving in reply to each, very satisfactory and amazingly plausible answers. Tommy was wonderfully well satisfied, though the problem of the passing of a message from a person on this side of Jordan still remained unsolved.

When the sitting was over the interrogator approached the Germans to bid them good-night and chanced to catch a ray of light on the face of the medium as he hurried mysteriously from the room. Heavens! there was the mark of a gash beneath the left cheek-bone! And—equally astounding—his hair was red!

Y.W.O.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

THE SKATING RINK.

Sir,—May I suggest that some form of barrier or bannister should be provided at the Cologne skating rink?

When there is but a small crowd there, the deficiency is not so apparent, but with a "maddening throng" present the lack of some form of support not only renders it difficult for absolute beginners but dangerous for all skaters.

"Mugs' Alley" should, in my opinion, be divided by a handrail from the main rink with a good sized gap at each end to skate through.

FLORENCE.

PRICE MARKINGS.

Sir,—Once again German tradesmen are dropping back in their old ways. We know the temptation to profiteer at the expense of Christmas shoppers but they need reminding of the regulation in force regarding the pricing of articles on sale.

Take a walk down a main street in Cologne and see how much it is being observed. True, there are small tickets attached to the majority of articles, but these often enough bear a variety of figures, and the upshot of it is that a Tommy is called upon to pay just what the snopkeeper fancies.

The remedy is in the hands of the shopper.

OFFICER.

WHEN TO SALUTE.

Sir,—Ventilation giving to the subject of swagger dress is to my mind long overdue and one which will commend itself to members of the British Army of the old school.

After viewing the Saturday evening parade in and about Hohe Strasse I am led to wonder what our friends of the regular army will think when they again make their appearance on the Rhine.

Amongst the lowlier rank there seems a general desire to outdo one another in the matter of "posiness" of a non-regimental type. Some do not seem satisfied with the regimental dress as originally designed and have embarked on fancied schemes of their own which, while they may appeal to their vanity, are totally out of place.

OBSERVER.

PRICES AND PRICES.

Sir,—I should like to support the complaint of your correspondent with regard to prices as charged at the N.A.C.B. Clubs Nos. 1 and 2.

I leave it to your readers to draw their own conclusions but there is no getting away from the fact that at one club there is much better service, more comfort, and a lower scale of charges for various dishes.

Why should this be? I presume they are under the same management and possess the same facilities for obtaining eatables and the like. Why then should there be a variation in the charges?

GERTIE.

A RANKER'S PLAINT.

Sir,—As one who is unconcerned as to the issue raised by "Ranker" I would like to express my disapproval of the sentiments expressed by "One of em."

As a former ranker and commissioned officer, I contend that whatever the relations on the parade ground between W.O., N.C.O., and men there is no necessity to carry that discipline into canteens and meeting places. If it is contended that it is, then W. O.'s and N. C. O's should make use of the premises provided for them and leave the Canteens for those of lowlier rank.

To remind "Ranker" of any difference in rank savours of snobbery and bad taste.

EX-MAJOR.

SILLY FILMS.

Sir,—"A Picture Goer" makes a mistake in his reply to "Man in the Street," in that he uses the word British in reference to the films seen in English cinemas.

He must remember that 99 per cent. of films seen in our cinemas are American, not British, productions.

I quite agree with him; we are far ahead of the Germans in the film industry, and are gradually drawing ahead of the Yanks. In reference to his paragraph, re immoral films, has he seen "The Cannibals", which is a recent British production? If so I would like to hear his opinion of an immoral film.

CINEMA MANAGER.

A CASE FOR ACTION.

Sir,—I am pleased to see that someone has taken up the matter with regard to the booking of opera seats. I believe correspondence arose upon the subject some time ago, but in a different light.

I quite agree with "Hopeful" that it is very unpleasant to have to stand in a queue waiting for tickets, especially in inclement weather, but I also think that those who are unable to get to the Amusements Office through pressure of business should be catered for. We are not all like those people who have nothing to do, and all day to do it in. We have to work.

I can quote occasions when I have telephoned nine times during the morning, and when eventually I found the box office disengaged, I was politely informed that there were no seats left. That was in the days when booking was carried on at the Opera House.

I would suggest that two clerks be employed on the booking for the Opera—one to deal with the queue, and the other with the telephone; this would be of great use, and not only would the people all get served in turn, but they would also be attended to much quicker.

WAGNERIAN.

YOU.

Thou art so good, so pure, thy heart and soul
So noble, so divine;
I walk in fear, in dread, by day and night
Because God made thee mine.

Thou art so just, so white, thy virgin love
So sacred, so supreme;
When thou art near, I feel the burning fires
That set my soul a Dream.

Thou art so fair, so dear, thy faithful trust
So brimming, so complete;
I bring my life, my love, my strength, my all
To set them at thy feet.

T. M. SCORE.

THE LOCAL LEAGUES.

Rhine Garrison and H.Q. Matches on Saturday.

ONE-SIDED CONTESTS.

The Rhine Army Headquarters Troops League is attracting considerable interest. The opening games were played on Saturday when the Rhine Flotilla, Transportation, and the Police were severely trounced by the V.R.P., C.P.O. and R.E. Signals respectively.

The Royal Engineers having withdrawn from the league, the Rhine Army Siege Park have been admitted and will take over the fixtures.

Saturday's results were as follows:—

G.H.Q.	1.	R.A.C.O.	0.
V.R.P.	8.	Rhine Flotilla	1.
R.A.M.C.	2.	20 M.A.C.	0.
Tank Bn.	3.	Vety. & Remounts	2.
CommandPayOffice	8.	Transportation	0.
R.A.S.C.	2.	R.A.F.	1.
R.E. Signals	5.	Police	0.

GARRISON LEAGUE.

The Rhine Garrison League commenced its matches three days earlier, and the results have already been published in these columns. Information and fixtures in connection with both these leagues will be given in the "Cologne Post" from time to time. Reports of matches played are appended.

Rhine Signal Batt. v. Police.

The Police kicked off before a good sized crowd at Riehl on Saturday and attacked strongly, but could not get past Lieut. Ost, the left back, who relieved with strong kicks. The signals took some time to settle down, but soon got going and scored a fine goal through Mead after some clever passing.

A few minutes later Signals scored a second goal, after a brilliant run and shot by Dedman, which the goalkeeper practically saved.

The police rallied after this and got well in range of their opponents' goal, but lacked finish. Their forwards displayed little understanding. A third goal was not long in coming to the Sigs., it being put through by one of the Police men while trying to clear.

Half time arrived with Signals leading by 3-0.

ONE-SIDED GAME.

The second half was all in the Signals' favour, indeed their backs very seldom had to fall behind the half-way line.

Two more goals were scored by Lieut. Land, who played with a tremendous amount of energy and skill. The end of a most interesting though rather one-sided match came with the Signal Battalion winning by five clear goals.

The Police are a strapping lot of fellows, and at times they showed that they are capable of much better things. They have plenty of stamina and never acknowledged defeat although obviously outplayed. Their goalkeeper deserves special mention He saved several very hot shots in splendid style.

The Signals' team was good all round. The goalie had little to do, but what he did was good. At back Lieut. Ost was a power of strength. His height, combined with his experience, makes him a very difficult obstacle to the opposing forwards. The half backs were all good. Lieut. Allen, when he gets accustomed to centre, will make his mark. Walsh is good but leaves his position too much. Forward the Signals are very strong; the three inside men work splendidly together and gave the opposing centre half a very bad time. One might have thought they had played together for years instead of only a few weeks. The best of a good line were Dedman and Mead. On Saturday's form the signal team will want a lot of beating.

VI CORPS AMMUNITION COLUMN.

No. 1 SECTION v. No. 2 SECTION.

The above teams met at Berg Gladbach on Saturday in a qualifying round of VI Corps R.A. Football Competition.

The game opened in good style and No. 1 were the first to attack, but No. 2 soon carried the play into their opponents half, and a ding dong struggle ensued, first one goal and then the other being visited.

The defences on both sides were playing a sterling game. No. 2 at once returned to the attack and a fine movement on the part of the left wing forwards ended in Gunner Wilson opening the score for his side. The struggle still continued and during an attack by No. 1 Lieut. Gilbert was unfortunate enough to head through his own goal.

In the second half Gunner Malcolm gave his side the lead with a fine shot. No. 1 continued to have the better of the play and Bdr. Hannaway further increased their lead, and Gunner Malcolm scored again for No. 1. No further scoring took place and No. 1 ran out winners of a good game by 4 goals to 1.

GARRISON LEAGUE TABLE.

UNIT.	Pld	Won.	Lost	Drn.	Goals For	Goals Agst.	Pts.
187th Brigade, R.F.A	1	1	—	—	14	—	2
Rhine B.A.C.	1	1	—	—	3	1	2
121st H. Bty. R.G.A.	1	1	—	—	3	2	2
11th Bn. "Queens"	1	1	—	—	2	1	2
52nd North'd Fus.	1	1	—	—	2	1	2
6th Inniskilling Dragoons	1	—	—	1	1	1	1
41st M.G.C.	1	—	—	1	1	1	1
51st Rifle Bde.	1	—	—	1	1	1	1
52nd Rifle Bde.	1	—	—	1	1	1	1
231st Field Co. R.E.	1	—	—	1	—	—	1
51st North'd Fus.	1	—	—	1	—	—	1
142nd Field Ambulance	1	—	1	—	1	2	—
23rd Royal Fus.	1	—	1	—	1	2	—
19th Bn. Middlesex Regt.	1	—	1	—	2	3	—
140th Field Ambulance	1	—	1	—	1	3	—
Camp Commdt.	1	—	1	—	—	14	—
Rhine Garrison Train	Not yet played.
Rhine Garrison M.T. Comp.

OPERATION ON BASHAM.

Johnny Basham, the welter-weight champion, is about to undergo a slight operation to his ear.

A BRILLIANT KEEPER.

11th Queens v. Rhine Garrison M. T. Coy.

The 11th Queens met the Rhine Garrison Mechanical Transport Coy. on Saturday on Germania strasse football ground, Kalk.

The Mechanical Transport, having won the toss, the Queens kicked off and put in a shot which hit the goal post. A few minutes later Sgt. Argent put in another hot shot which the goalkeeper saved but could not clear and Sgt. Argent scored on his second attempt.

The pressure after the kick off was maintained on the M.T. goal and culminated in a corner from which the Mechanical Transport managed to obtain a break-away. They very nearly succeeded in scoring, the ball passing in front of an open goal.

After this narrow shave, the Queens once again continued to bombard the Mechanical Transport goal, and it was only the brilliant goalkeeping of Lieut. Clark which prevented the Queens scoring. Half time arrived with the Queens leading 1—0.

SOUND KEEPING.

On the change over the Queens immediately assumed the attack, and Sgt. Ellerby tried a long shot which the goalkeeper saved and shortly afterwards the upright was hit twice in quick succession The pressure was maintained and Lieut. Clark brought off some remarkably good saves. The Mechanical Transport again made an effort to break through, but their outside right was brilliantly tackled by Pte. Goodwin. He passed the ball to Lieut. Bratchell, who ran through and scored a brilliant goal for the Queens which gave Clark no chance.

The Queens still continued to keep a great pressure on the M.T. but could not manage to increase the score, and the whistle went leaving them winners 2—0.

Lieut. Clark, for the Mechanical Transport, gave a really splendid display of goal keeping and it was owing to him that the score was only 2-0. The Queen's defence was very sound but their forwards seemed to forget when they had possession that there were some other forwards to pass too.

11th Queens team: Sgt. Daniels; Pte. Morris and Pte Saville; Pte. Ginger, Lieut. Bratchell and Pte. Goodwin; Pte. Luttrell, Sgt. Ellerby, Sgt. Argent, L/Cpl. Osborn and Pte. Ray.

Command Pay Office Trounce Transportation.

Played on the Amsterdamer Strasse ground on Saturday and resulted in a win for the former team by 8—0.

The Command were soon in evidence with some fine play, Partridge scoring with a great drive from the touch line. The score was quickly increased by White with a cross shot.

The Transport team played well but were unable to pierce a sound defence. A break through enabled them to increase the Command's lead which was followed by a fourth from Sutton, the result of a free kick.

In the second half play was again in favour of the Command. The opposing goalie in trying to save the fifth goal from Brown was badly injured and had to leave the ground. Further goals were added by Telling, 2, and Partridge.

The Transport team gave a better display than the score suggests, and were well saved at right back, inside right and centre forward.

WELL-MATCHED TEAMS.

R.A.S.C. Defeat R.A.F. by the odd Goal in three.

The above match took place at Ostheim on Saturday in dull weather on a very heavy ground.

The teams were pretty well matched and a well contested game left the R.A.S.C. the winners by the odd goal in three. Pte. Simpson for the R.A.S.C., after a long run in which he beat three opponents, scored from the left wing giving the goalie no chance. The R.A.F. continued to press towards the close of the game but failed to penetrate the solid defence of the R.A.S.C.

RHINE GARRISON CUP TIE.

1st ROUND.

The first round of Rhine Garrison Cup Tie will be played off on Wednesday 24th December as follows:

	Grounds.
Camp Commandant.	19th Middlesex Barracks.
19th Bn. Middlesex Regt. (P.)	Germania Strasse.
231st Field Coy. R.E.	52nd Rifle Brigade Ground.
11th Bn. Queens R.W.S. Regt.	121st Heavy Bty. R.G.A.
52nd Bn. Rifle Brigade.	Ground Bonne, Amsterdamerstr.
51st Northumberland Fusiliers.	Westhoven.
121st Heavy Battery R.G.A.	Stadtwald, Lindenthal.
140th Field Ambulance.	Poller Wiesen.
187th Bde. R.F.A.	41st Bn. M.G.C. Ground.
51st Bn. Rifle Brigade.
Rhine Garrison Bde. Ammn.Col.
6th Inniskilling Dragoons.
52nd Northumberland Fusiliers.
Rhine Garrison Train.
142nd Field Ambulance.
23rd Bn. Royal Fusiliers.
41st Bn. M.G.C.
Rhine Garrison M.T. Coy.

BANDSMAN RICE BEATEN.

At the Nouveau Cirque, Paris, on Saturday, the French heavy-weight Journee defeated Bandsman Rice on points.

BRADFORD'S SHOCK.

Barnsley's Sensational Defeat of the 'Spurs.

THE ENGLISH CUP.

Saturday's results provided another crop of surprises and the sensation of Division 1 was the success of Notts County at Bradford. The Notts' men have a fine record of wins at Valley Parade and they added to this, though only by the odd goal in seven. The Villa are steadily mounting, and their three goals against Oldham reads well. Bolton took a point from the Rovers, a smart performance considering the Ewood men's improved form and the Arsenal managed at last to win at home.

Newcastle disappointed at Manchester where the Old Trafford lot secured both points. A draw was a fitting result at Liverpool where the local rivals met, whilst the conquering "Throstles" continued their chain of successes by defeating the "Rams" of Derby. Sunderland and Burnley both won, so there was no change among the leaders.

SECOND LEAGUE.

Barnsley are a great force at Oakwell and they demonstrated to the "Spurs" how their style can upset calculated movements. It was a great day for Barnsley folk, and enthusiasm reached fever heat when the home team scored four minutes from the start. Downs played a great game and the defender was a great factor in his side's success.

Birmingham did well to win at Grimsby, and Huddersfield accounted for West Ham before their best gate this season. Coventry could do everything but score against Clapton. Three goals disallowed and a sparkling display gives an idea of how unfortunate they are in missing that long-looked-for victory.

Stoke and Hull City both received nasty jars, the former, especially, when failing at Leicester.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

Only one game played in this competition. Swindon faced Crystal Palace and a draw about represented the run of the play.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE.

Celtic found Dumbarton a handful at Boghead and the home team gave them some anxious moments. The draw flatters Celtic.

Hearts were surprised at home by St. Mirren and Hibernians did well to take a point from Aberdeen. Morton put up the biggest score of the day and Rangers were full value for their win at Ibrox where Hamilton opposed them.

THE CUP TIES

The most sensational happenings in the final qualifying round was the success of the North Eastern League teams, Darlington and West Stanley.

Darlington beat Norwich 5—0, and the "Canaries" created a bad impression by their doubtful tactics, while West Stanley accounted for Rotherham. Newport had a narrow win over Exeter City but the surprise of the South was Watford's failure at Southend.

For the Southern League leaders to get beaten by a team with only five wins to its credit was a bitter blow for the Londoners.

Luton had a surprise win at Brighton and Gillingham put up a great fight against Swansea: a penalty gave them the right to fight again.

Appended are the results.

The League.—Division I.
Arsenal	3	Sheffield Wednesday	1
Aston Villa	3	Oldham Athletic	0
Blackburn Rov.	2	Bolton Wanderers	2
Bradford City	3	Notts County	4
Derby County	0	West Bromwich Alb.	4
Everton	0	Liverpool	0
Manchester United	2	Newcastle United	1
Middlesbrough	1	Bradford	2
Preston N. E.	0	Burnley	1
Sheffield United	3	Chelsea	1
Sunderland	2	Manchester City	1
The League.—Division II.
Barnsley	3	Tottenham Hotspur	0
Bristol City	0	Blackpool	0
Bury	3	Lincoln City	0
Coventry City	0	Clapton Orient	0
Grimsby Town	0	Birmingham	3
Huddersfield Town	2	West Ham United	0
Leicester City	3	Stoke	1
Stockport County	1	South Shields	0
Wolverhampton W.	4	Hull City	2
Southern League.
Swindon	2	Crystal Palace	2
Scottish League.—Division I.
Aberdeen	1	Hibernians	1
Albion Rovers	2	Falkirk	1
Clyde	0	Airdrieonians	2
Dumbarton	0	Celtic	0
Hearts	1	St. Mirren	2
Kilmarnock	2	Partick Thistle	0
Greenock Morton	5	Third Lanark	1
Motherwell	3	Clydebank	2
Queen's Park	3	Dundee	2
Raith Rovers	2	Ayr United	1
Glasgow Rangers	4	Hamilton Academic	1
F.A. Cup.
Brighton and Hove	0	Luton	1
Castle ord Town	3	London Caledonians	2
Darlington	5	Norwich City	0
Gillingham	1	Swansea	1
Hednesford Town	2	Gnome Athletic	2
Northampton	2	Bristol Rovers	2
Newport County	1	Exeter City	0
Port Vale	4	Loughborough Corin.	0
South Liverpool	1	Rochdale	2
*Thornycroft's (Woolston)	4	Sheppey United	0
West Stanley	1	Rotherham County	0
Southend	1	Watford	0

*Played on Southampton's ground.

FOOTBALL AND WORK.

Chambers of Commerce in Lancashire have received letters from the Birmingham Chamber protesting against midweek football matches, and the Burnley Chamber has supported the objection.

The letter instances the replay of the West Bromwich and Aston Villa match at Birmingham, which disorganised industry. At one firm 75 per cent. of the operatives applied to cease work at midday, with a promise that they would make up the time. If the request had been refused French leave would have been taken, so it was necessary to close down the whole works for half a day.

WILLIAM MEREDITH.

Despite reports to the contrary, the deadlock between William Meredith, the international footballer, and his club, Manchester United F.C., still continues, though offers for a settlement have been made.

A REMINISCENCE.

Indian Sport Incident recalled by London Fight.

EURASIAN "COCHRAN".

The report in "The Cologne Post" on the Carpentier-Beckett contest has vividly brought back to my mind one of the greatest events in the sporting history of the world, writes a correspondent I refer to the great wrestling match by Abdul Karim versus Herr Schmidt, fought about 1905 in Mela Ram's Tank, Lahore, British India.

For a month before the event, a tikka-gharry (Indian hired carriage) with a discordant cornet inside and a big drum on the roof outside was distributing hand-bills throughout the city of Lahore and its suburbs.

The local "Cochran", a Eurasian second-hand furniture dealer, with the help of some of the native millionaires of Lahore, had put up a purse of 8,000 rupees, 5,000 to go to winner and 3,000 to the loser.

IN BATHING TANK.

The "venue", Mela Ram's Tank, is one of those bathing tanks erected in many places in India by pious persons for the convenience of pious pilgrims, in this case a square amphitheatre-like brick structure with flights of steps on all sides leading down to the water and with open colonnades all round. The place was well adapted to the purpose. By kind permission of the City Fathers the water was pumped out of the tank into an irrigation canal running alongside; the sediment at the bottom was by the Indian sun soon converted into a thick dry layer of dust and sand, forming, in the eyes of a native of India, an ideal arena for a wrestling-match.

The excitement in the city of Lahore ran high. Such a contest between a European and a "kala admi" had never been heard of. It was not going to be one of your ordinary two penny-halfpenny exhibitions. None of your Anna tickets! No! First seats, upholstered chairs (the upholstering a little gone) Rupees 25 each; 2nd seats (rush-bottomed morahs) Rupees 20, and so down to 1 Rupee; nothing lower than one Rupee!

POLICE REFEREES.

On the appointed day thousands of natives took their seats. The place was crowded Hundreds sat even on the roofs of the colonnades. Among a sprinkling of Europeans the two most prominent persons were the Deputy-Commissioner of Lahore and the Superintendent of Police. These were present partly, with a posse of native constables, to preserve order, partly to see fair play, in fact to act as referees.

A few minor events were first gone through. When it came to the chief event, the excitement ran fever-high. Abdul Karim (well known as champion wrestler of India) and Herr Schmidt (whom nobody had ever heard of before) faced each other. The Deputy-Commissioner gave the word, and—in less than 5 seconds Herr Schmidt was lying flat on his back on the sand of the arena.

There was a hush.

Presently the Deputy-Commissioner burst out:—"Well, I never!"

The Superintendent of Police said:—"By Jingo!"

And the whole assembly exclaimed:—"Wah! Wah!"

TURKISH DELIGHT.

Suddenly the crowd realized that the contest was over and that Abdul Karim had won. Then pandemonium broke loose. Turkish caps, turbans, even shoes were hurled on high.

It was a stunner! It was the most sensational match in sporting annals! Only the pen of a Mark Twain or an Aliph Cheem could have done justice to it.

As the thousands streamed out of the enclosure, the event was volubly discussed in all its bearings. The breast of Young India swelled with pride: Abdul Karim had beaten Herr Schmidt! Asia had beaten Europe! A few of the spectators said nothing, but thought a great deal. I have been told that many of those who went and paid were called disrespectful names by those of their friends who stayed away, a proceeding entirely uncalled-for; for who could have foretold that Asia would defeat Europe in such fashion?

It only remains to record that Herr Schmidt (with 3000 rupees in his pocket) left Lahore by the next train and was never heard of again.

Rumour has it that the second-hand furniture-dealer's syndicate made 20,000 Rupees out of the job.

EXILE.

INDIAN CRICKET.

Hindus' easy victory in Annual Tournament.

A delayed Reuter's telegram from Bombay states that the annual cricket tournament between Europeans, Hindus, Mohammedans and Parsis ended on Dec. 10th, when the Hindus defeated the Mohammedans in the final by an innings and six runs.

This year the tournament was played at Bombay. The weather was cold and consequently the wicket very hard; this assisted the bowlers and the scores were low. The only century of the competition was made by a Hindu named Vithal.

In the first game the Hindus, after being behind on the first innings, gained a meritorious victory over the Parsis by six wickets. The second game between the Mohammedans and Europeans provided a very keen struggle. The European team included F. A. Tarrant, a former Middlesex player, Lieut.-Col. J. G. Greig, Major K. O. Goldie, the brothers Captain and Major Weigall, and Lieut. J. H. Parsons. With five wickets in hand in the second innings the Europeans needed only thirty-seven runs to win. But a sensational collapse occurred, and the Mohammedans won by 24 runs.

In the final match the Mohammedans were completely outplayed by the Hindus. Scores:—First match, Parsis 167 and 164; Hindus 119 and 213 for four. Second match:—Mohammedans 194 and 126; Europeans 156 and 130. Final Mohammedans 149 and 97; Hindus 252.

OUR BUMPER CONTEST.

3,707 Marks the Gross Total for Christmas Competition.

RESULT ON THURSDAY.

To-day we are able to announce that the total subscribed for No. 13 football contest was 3,207 marks and to this total in accordance with our special offer we are adding a further five hundred marks, making the aggregate 3,707 marks. Our hopes that this contest would be a record have been fully realised. Even in the days before demobilization played havoc in the the ranks of competitors, the total subscribed never exceeded 3,000 marks, so that No. 13 gives a clear lead of over 200, and, together with the sum which we are contributing, the increase is no less than 700 marks.

As previously announced the name of winner, or winners, will be published in our issue of Thursday, Christmas Day. At present our competition staff are busily engaged in the heavy task of adjudicating.

Our coupon for No. 14 contest will be found in the next column and in drawing attention to this we again point out that as a result of there being no issue of the "Cologne Post" on Boxing Day, there will be one coupon less for this contest.

Consequently we advise our many competitors not to take the risk of delay.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 14,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S. 40 Rhine Army.

List of Rules.

1. All forecasts must be made on coupons from this journal.
2. Any alteration or mutilation of the coupon will disqualify the effort.
3. If any match or matches on the coupon should be abandoned or full time is not played for any reason, such match or matches will not be taken into consideration in the adjudication.
4. In the event of ties, the prize will be divided.
5. No correspondence may be enclosed with the coupons, and none will be entered into. Neither will interviews be granted.
6. The Editor reserves the right to disqualify any coupon for what, in his opinion, is good and sufficient reason, and it is a distinct condition of entry that the Editor's decision shall be accepted as finally and legally binding in all matters concerning this competition.
7. Any entries received after Friday will be disqualified. No responsibility can be undertaken for any effort, or efforts, lost, mislaid or delayed. Proof of posting will not be accepted as proof of delivery.
8. Competitors may send in any number of coupons but one mark must be sent with each coupon.
9. Members of the staff of the "Cologne Post" are debarred from entering this competition.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 14.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 27th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 26th.

Burnley	v. Preston
Liverpool	v. Everton
Bolton	v. Blackburn
Notts C.	v. Bradford City
West Ham	v. Huddersfield
Clapton	v. Coventry
Palace	v. Millwall
Southampton	v. Watford
Queens Park	v. Kilmarnock
Falkirk	v. Dumbarton

I enter Football Competition No. 14 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(in block letters.)
Rank and No. .....
Unit .....
Full Address .....

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

Palace Theatre.

There is a strong holiday attraction at the Palace Theatre, Cologne, this week, and the first rate variety company billed played to an enthusiastic audience yesterday evening. The artistes included the Three Versatiles, in song and story; Harold Walters, baritone; Rex and Ernow, described as the world's worst wizards; Erb Karno Trio, in a comedy musical act; Erno Ellis, comedian; Charles Stairs, entertainer; the four Whizz Bangs, tumblers; Alfred Barker, violinist, and a one-act farce entitled, "Back to it".

Wedding Bells.

I wonder how many people who read the announcement in Sunday's issue of the engagement of Capt. C.E.H. Bird, R.A.S.C., and Miss E. M. Gardner, recognised that the lady referred to is Miss Diana North, who has charmed so many of us, while with Mr. Leslie Ross's vaudeville company in Cologne. Since the announcement was made shoals of congratulations have descended upon the couple whose future happiness is the desire of a large circle of friends.

"The Knight of the Burning Pestle."

At the Deutsches Theatre yesterday evening "The Knight of the Burning Pestle" was produced before a crowded audience. The play, which is by Messrs. Beaumont and Fletcher, is quaint, Christmassy, and full of old time humour. One of the most striking features of the production is the dressing of various characters, for which Mr. Peter van Gardt was entirely responsible. About the whole play there is a seasonable atmosphere, and undoubtedly it will meet with a full measure of approbation during the week. Unfortunately space does not permit of a complete notice being given to-day, but this will appear to-morrow.

The Xmas Dinner.

A special Xmas dinner is being provided at Nos. 1 and 2 N.A.C.B. clubs on Xmas Day. At No. 1 Club there will also be a dance. Tickets may be obtained at 50 marks and tables should be booked. The same arrangements will be made for New Year's Eve.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Tues.	Hansel und Gretel	Humperdinck	6	8
Wednesday	No Performance.
Thurs.	Tannhäuser	Wagner	6	10
Fri.	Der Bajazzo Cav. Rusticana	Leoncavallo Mascagni	7	10
Sat.	Figaro's Hochzeit	Mozart	7	10.30
Sun.	The Women with our Shadow	Strauss	6	10.30
Mon.	Hansel und Gretel	Humperdinck	6	8
Tues.	Tannhäuser	Wagner	6	10

"Babes in the Wood."

"The Babes in the Wood" pantomime is being performed at the British Empire Leave Club to-day at 7 p.m., Friday, the 26th at 2.30 p.m., and Tuesday, the 30th at 7 p.m. All the characters will be taken by members of the Rhine Army, and the Orchestra will consist of ladies of the British Empire Leave Club and British soldiers. The pantomime is being produced by Miss Anderson. At the performance on Friday afternoon, the B.E.L.C. will be pleased to welcome as many British and Allied children as possible, together with their parents.

On Sunday, owing to the postponement of "Eager Heart," a concert will be given at 6.30 p.m. by Madame Bertha Moore's "Etceteras Concert Party," including Miss Marjorie Moore, by kind permission of the Y.M.C.A.

Leave Club Dances.

On the occasion of the Fancy Dress Ball on Wednesday, the costumes will be judged by Lady Robertson and Mrs. Acherson, who will present the winners with prizes. For the special dance on Friday, Miss Decima Moore will present these with an additional prize from her husband, His Excellency Brigadier-General F. G. Guggisberg.

JACQUES.

ENGLISH RACING.

Haydock and Hurst Park Meetings.

Hastings provided a contrast to Poole in the matter of luck at Hurst Park on Saturday, for while the last-named scored three times the Wroughton trainer provided three seconds in Garryvoe, Wavylace, and Arborfield.

A really smart recruit to hurdling was introduced in the name of White Heat, and there has been no new-comer to the game that can be better liked. He won the Surrey Hurdle in such convincing style that he has the makings of a champion.

Details.

Surrey Maiden Hurdle:—1, White Heat (7-1); 2, Garryvoe (7-4); 3, St. Eloi (7-1).

Priory Selling Steeplechase:—1, Wee Sandy (6-4 on); 2, Suzanne III. Two ran Surbiton Three-Y.-O. Hurdle:—1, Jack Sheppard (2-1 on); 2, Young Lover (8-1); 3, Geordie (6-1).

Molesey Steeplechase:—1, Neurotic (3-2); 2, Snaun Spadah. Two ran.

Hampton Steeplechase:—1, Memento (2-1); 2, Wavylace (6-1); 3, Vermouth (2-1).

Mole Handicap Hurdle:—1, Annoya (9-4); 2, Arborfield (11-10); 3, Serban (4-1).

HAYDOCK.

The results at the Haydock Park meeting were as follows:

Newton Handicap Hurdle:—1, Lord Ednam (11-2); 2, Dornoch (7-2); 3, The Settler (4-1).

Juvenile Selling Hurdle:—1, Phil (6-5); 2, San Pol. Two ran.

Haydock Park Steeplechase: 1, My Royal (10-1); 2, Irish Rebellion (7-2); 3, Cargo (7-2).

Club Steeplechase:—1, Bonnie Charlie 8-1); 2, Moorefield (8-1); 3, Cyril's Hope 5-1).

Saturday Selling Hurdle:—1, Ubeoff 9-4 on); 2, Dismount (7-2); 3, Devil's Dyke (7-1).

St. Helens Steeplechase:—1, Prince Clifton (6-5 on); 2, Ophion (5-1); 3, Glen Royal II (2-1).

BILLIARDS.

At the new hall, Piccadilly, on Saturday afternoon, in the tournament heat, the best breaks were 177 (full), 102, 128, 177, and 123 by Reece. Interval scores: Reece (rec. 1,500), 7,075; Inman, 6,200.

Both men being behind their points in the game between Rayner and Tothill at Leicester-square, it was decided to limit it to 6,500 points. Interval scores: Rayner, 5,975; Tothill, 5,583.

STILL BIDDING.

Another Huge offer from Paris for Great Fight.

The "Auto" announces that M. Vienne president of the Paris Wonderland, has cabled to Dempsey's manager stating that if the Dempsey-Carpentier fight takes place in Paris he will guarantee 1,200,000 francs (£48,000 normal) for Dempsey alone, plus one quarter of the amount offered for the exclusive rights of filming the fight.

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

The Singer was Welsh.

At a canteen concert in Bonn on Sunday evening, the star artiste was a Welshman, whose songs in his native tongue, were quite a popular feature.

A Good Idea.

Taking a walk down Hohestrasse I was struck by the good use to which a number of empty doorways had been put. They resembled miniature stalls. These street stalls serve good purpose and incidentally brighten up the streets.

Our Souvenir Number.

It is only natural that having read our souvenir number you should remember old folks at home, but in doing so, do not make the mistake of sealing up the envelope in which it is enclosed. If you do, the recipient will have to pay a surcharge.

A Back Number.

I notice a current issue of a German illustrated journal features pictures of the Carpentier-Beckett contest. It is only a memory to most of us now.

American Weds German.

A wedding took place yesterday between a German lady and an American citizen. The latter was until quite recently a member of the American forces in Occupation. Demobilized, he returned to America, but came back to claim his bride.

Lacking in Taste.

A great number of the cabaret turns which are featured are to British minds greatly lacking in taste. Many would, if appearing at a British music hall, be sure of that nightmare of all artistes, the "bird."

Any Complaints?

A Tommy raised a good laugh at the Zoo the other day. It was feeding time, and as the keeper flung some flesh to the bears Tommy, with an R.S.M.'s voice, inquired "Any complaints."

The "Cutty."

I fail to notice any of our troops smoking the old clay pipe nowadays. Is it that the cheapness of the mark has accounted for this? One canteen I know has a good stock of what was a priceless possession to many in the "old days."

Pantomime for Christmas.

If you are a lover of pantomime then make a note of the fact that the Inniskilling Dragoons Dramatic Society are staging the pantomime "Aladdin" at the Metropole Theatre, Apostelnstrasse, from Thursday, Jan. 1st, to Wednesday, Jan. 17th, with a children's matinee on Saturday. Particulars will be found in another column.

A Post Office Aviary.

What is the attraction round the post office for the bird life of Cologne? If you go round about 3.30 p.m. you will see hundreds perched on the telephone wires.

Paper and Silver.

A local newspaper tells of a German who came to Cologne to buy a suit. He was told that it would cost 850 marks. but the shopkeeper added that he would sell it for 85 marks in silver. The customer went home to fetch the 85 marks and got the suit at this price.

Stage Management.

Entering a certain cabaret the other evening I was surprised at the smallness of the stage staff. Two men appeared to be stage managers, stage-hands, and members of the orchestra rolled into one.

"The Ex-Serviceman."

The Christmas Number of the "Ex-Service Man," edited by Captain. H.H.C. Baird, D.S.O., is to hand and forms very interesting reading. There are seasonable greetings and messages from Lords Haig, Beatty and Byng, among others.

1914 Clasp.

Presumably those entitled to wear the 1914 clasp are for the most part regular soldiers, so it is not surprising to see very few officers and men on the Rhine wearing it.

Stumping Up.

A little girl asked my aid the other day for a charitable fund to provide meals for Cologne's poor kiddies at Christmas. She stopped numerous officers and Tommies, and with the Britisher's usual generosity not one refused help.

Nix Silber Papier?

The German children are very keen on collecting the tin foil which is used in cigarette packets, etc. I learn this is sold to benefit black children under the care of German missionaries.

Upsetting Critics.

"The Woman without Shadow, "the opera recently presented at the Opera House, has been the subject of much criticism from the Cologne papers, and has come in for a wholesale condemnation.

A Cautious Frau.

One cannot but admire the shopping instinct of the frau who in Schildergasse before purchasing a box of matches made the hawker strike one or two to see that they carried the right stuff. She had evidently had experience of the French variety. The test as applied to numbers to be found in boxes sold in canteens would be equally useful.

RHINELANDER.

NOTES FROM LONDON TOWN.

CHRISTMAS IN THE WEST END.

Gorgeous indeed are the windows of the West End shops. Women and children hover from morning till dusk gazing and gazing again at those nice presents which the artist in window designing knows so well how to display with such subtle appeal. The prevalent note in the window dressing is the flare of loud, vivid, startling colours, in stripes, cubes and lozenges. I suppose these revolutionaries in display tints are indebted to Bukst Serge Daghileff's Russian ballet and the syncopated colouring of the latter-day impressionists. The mot d'ordre, however, is not confusion. There is on the contrary a unity of conception attained by a process of selection—just a few alluring articles against a black and silver or Tyrian purple background of drapery.

"ALL TO HER."

These words, in the commendably short will of Lieut. Frank Kirkley, who died on active service, recall the shortest will on record, namely "All to Martha". Lieut. Kirkley's will runs, "I leave all to her", meaning the original of the vignette photo on the back of which he had written these words. This being a soldier's will the technicalities of the Wills Act do not apply, though evidence of identification of the lady has to be given. Of course a soldier on active service can save himself all immediate trouble by an oral will, but most lawyers agree that the complications incidental to proving a nuncupatory will deprive the privilege of most of its value.

TRAMS OUT OF DATE.

The Works Committee of the Kensington Borough Council has expressed a strong opinion against the laying of any further tramways in Metropolitan streets, and the Borough Council has adopted the Committee's report against proceeding with further expenditure on "what must be regarded in the present day as an out-of-date means of conveyance." Certainly the motor-bus merits the preference given it in the report, for half London's big streets, where trams run, are up for tram-line repairs, and a journey by tram means a slow painful wobble over numerous temporary cross-overs and frequent halts in endless lines of stationary traffic. The bus on the other hand meanders unconcernedly up side streets to its goal.

"CHARLEY'S AUNT" AGAIN.

The Brazilian aunt is coming to us again like Christmas time. Perhaps she is jealous of the fact that her record run has recently been beaten by Chu Chin Chow. The famous farce, which was first acted at Bury St. Edmunds in 1892, is to be revived this Christmas at its original London home—the Royalty. This is the fourth time it has been produced at the Royalty, the other years being 1892, 1907 and 1909. The other theatres that have echoed with laughter at its roaring humour are the Great Queen Street Theatre, Comedy, Terry's, Aldwych, Savoy, Strand, Little, Prince of Wales, London Opera House, St. James's and the Garrick.

APPEAL FROM CRIMINAL APPEAL COURT.

The hearing in the House of Lords of the Crown's appeal from the decision of the Court of Criminal Appeal in the Beard murder case is the first of its kind. The Criminal Appeal Court has been in existence since the autumn of 1907, and thus for 12 years no "point of law of exceptional public importance 'rendering it' desirable in the public interest that a further appeal should be brought" has hitherto induced the Attorney General to grant his certificate under Section 1 (6) of the Criminal Appeal Act. This seems highly creditable to this latter Court, but nevertheless there occurs to me that famous aphorism of Lord Halsbury (when at bar): "You only get common sense when your case reaches the House of Lords".

MURDER WHILE DRUNK.

It is certainly surprising that the first Appeal should be on the point of a man's responsibility for crime—and a terrible one at that—while under the influence of drink. The principle that drunkenness is no excuse for crime is as old as the hills. But how far it can excuse a man in cases where a specific intention is the whole essence of the crime may no doubt be an important matter for the jury. It is, however, a commonplace in our criminal law that the essentials of any given crime are so clearly stated in hosts of decisions and in the Criminal Consolidation Act that no one ought now to be in doubt what constitutes any particular crime. For my own part I think a jury can safely be left to say from all the circumstances whether a drunkard knew what he was about or not.

FOR BUSINESS MEN IN RHINELAND.

BRITISH PLAN FOR FOREIGN MARKETS.

The Department of Overseas Trade is busily engaged on schemes to further the interests of British trade abroad. It is the intention of the Department to organize touring exhibitions all over the world, and also to establish show-rooms for British manufactures in the chief cities on the Continent. Both these proposals will, however, depend on the amount of support forthcoming from manufacturers.

THE TOURING EXHIBITIONS.

In regard to the touring exhibitions, the proposal is that exhibits should be collected of articles suitable for particular markets, and that these could then be carried round to the various commercial centres to the great advantage of our trade, which has lost ground in the face of keen American and Japanese competitors. In the case of the Dominions, where there is a similarity in demand, the same exhibits would be suitable to all, and it is estimated that the cost of an 18 months' tour with some 500 exhibits to the whole of the Dominions would be between £40,000 and £50,000. It is proposed to utilize the ordinary shipping services, the alternative of a special exhibition ship involving too heavy a cost.

CONTINENTAL SHOW-ROOMS.

The other proposal—the Continental show-rooms—has suggested itself as the result of the present exhibition boom on the Continent. The Department is quite ready to arrange for participation in these exhibitions, in co-operation with the Federation of British Industries and other organizations interested, if manufacturers desire it. The proposed show-rooms are, however, in addition to this participation. The idea is to secure a building in each of some 20 or 30 of the chief capitals and cities on the Continent. These could serve as permanent exhibition buildings, in which could be shown in rotation exhibits from different groups of British industries. It is not intended to have one class of exhibit permanently on view. After being on show the exhibit would be moved to the next city, so that there would be a succession of these exhibitions in each centre.

EXHIBITORS TO BE CANVASSED.

Both these projects must, however, be self-supporting, and on the occasion of the great British Industries Fair at the Crystal Palace from February 23 to March 5, a canvas will be made of the exhibitors there, and at the branch fairs at Birmingham and Glasgow, to ascertain what amount of support is likely to be secured. To make all these schemes as successful as they merit, it is essential that British manufacturers should realize the importance of reopening business with overseas markets now. Full order books for the home market should not blind them to the danger of losing further ground abroad, which they may regret in the near future.

BRITISH TRADE IN SPAIN AND GREECE.

Mr. R. T. Nugent, the director of the Federation of British Industries, who has just returned from a visit to the office of the federation's trade commissioner in Madrid, has reported that inquiries were made as to the proposal exhibitions to be held at Valencia and Barcelona. Mr. G. H. Locock, assistant director of the federation, who has recently returned from Athens, where the Exhibition of British Manufactures was recently held, had a conversation with M. Venizelos in Paris. The latter said he felt assured the exhibition would lead to a fruitful interchange of commerce between his country and the United Kingdom

LONDON CLUBS.

That fine old club of "Swears" Wells in Bond Street has now passed into the ownership of Viscount Lascelles, heir to the Earl of Harewood. The new proprietor who, under the will of the second Marquess of Clanricarde, came into a cool two millions, is a most popular man and saw much service in the Grenadiers during the war, being wounded more than once. The Cocoa Tree Club is not quite so happy in its ownership. The Duke of Leeds recently put up to auction a portion of the Club premises in Bluebell Yard, St. James's Street, and the price reached was well over £16,000. The Committee are now trying to decide whether to acquire the premises or carry on without these anxiliary premises.

ADA CROSSLEY'S CHILDHOOD STORY.

Madam Ada Crossley, who is retiring from the concert platform, much to the regret of all music lovers, tells a pathetic little story of her youth in Australia. A travelling company with a marvellous band was announced as coming to her native town, but the little girl had not the wherewithal to buy a ticket. Undismayed she went out to hunt leeches and after selling her catches to a local chemist went to the concert a happy child. This story reminds me of Mme. Patti's daring as a child at the first important concert she attended. After listening for a short while to a certain lady artiste, little Patti tripped up from the audience to the stage and there and then executing a number of remarkable trills and roulades remarked to the astonished artiste, "That is how I should do it".

FROM EVERYWHERE.

Finishing.—British troops are leaving italy.

The Penalty.—Sentence of death on 14 terrorists at Budapest is confirmed.

Good News.—Better bacon is beginning to reach London.

The Date.—Parliament will re-assemble on or about February 10.

The Latest.—The Government promise a land reform Bill for early next session.

A Glutton For It.—M. Clemenceau is back at work.

Continuing the Good Work.—The Y.M.C.A. is opening boys' clubs at home.

A London Garden City.—A garden city at Catford, S.E., is proposed.

Coming Home.—10,000 troops are homeward bound from India.

A Rest.—Mr. Lloyd George will spend a week in Wales.

Anything for a Living.—An ex-officer is hawking bananas in Liverpool streets.

To Die.—Court of Criminal appeal dismissed three appeals from death sentences.

Good News.—London's diphtheria epidemic is subsiding.

His Intention.—Sir John Alcock intended retiring from the R.A.F. shortly.

Brutal.—An Oswestry gardener flogged his naked daughter with a horsewhip. He was fined £5.

High Speed Steel.—The Government has removed the embargo on the Sheffield steel discovery.

"Nonsense."—Mr. Bonar Law describes the idea of an election in February as all nonsense.

On the Slippery Slope.—Sir H. Rider Haggard says the middle classes are on the road to ruin.

Denied.—The statement that the King is to visit France early next year is denied.

Brighter Sundays.—There is hope of Sunday games being permitted in parks and open spaces of London.

Sands Murder.—So far no arrest has been made in connection with the murder on the sands at West Hartlepool.

The "Brontohoaxus."—The story of the so-called Brontosaurus having been seen in the Congo is an elaborate hoax.

Old One O'Clock.—General von Kluck says Marshal Joffre was the victor in the Marne struggle.

Any Old Building.—Bucks Education Committee proposes to use a stable at Slough as a school clinic.

Dangerous.—A Hull trawler skipper was fined £75 for fishing in the Heligoland Bight minefields.

Absolute.—Sir H. Duke made absolute the divorce decree granted to the Duchess of Westminster.

The Last Stage.—Berlin's Commission for putting into force the Treaty of Versailles has left for Paris.

A Refusal.—U.S. Senate has refused to eliminate from the Railroad Bill a provision preventing strikes.

Thanet to Ashton.—Sir Walter de Frece has been adopted as Coalition Unionist candidate for Ashton-under-Lyme.

A Privilege.—"Wrens" may wear their uniform on State and other occasions of ceremony.

Scandalous.—Mistletoe sold for 112s. a cwt. at Manchester, against the pre-war rate of 15s.

His Salary.—General Sir Francis Lloyd, London's Food Commissioner, will receive £1,200 a year.

One Way.—Owing to the coal shortage Berlin Christmas holidays will be prolonged till January 23.

Who is He?—At New Malden the body of an unidentified man was found decapitated on the railway.

What is it.—Mr. Lloyd George hopes to be able to announce the Government's new coal policy to-morrow.

Going up.—Postal telegraph and telephone charges are to be increased in France.

Mixed.—A man summoned at Tottenham for income tax wrote that he was now under the parish doctor.

Unjust.—Tramway-car passengers in the Black Country complain that fares have been put up to 3d. for less than a mile.

A Revelation.—For some months wireless telegraphy between England and Amsterdam has been an auxiliary to the cable.

A Polite Refusal.—A City magnate, who had an idea for the improvement of the exchange, was told he might find a suitable occupation at a labour exchange.

Craze for Dope.—The Mayor of Carlisle says the practice of buying methylated spirits for drinking purposes is on the increase..

One Way.—Serious whisky thefts are reported at Liverpool Docks, barrels being tapped by means of a gimlet and a tube.

Cheer.—A man said to have earned £100 in three months when summoned at Tottenham for income tax offered 5s. a week.

The Only Way.—For charging retailers excessive prices two Birmingham milk wholesalers were fined £150 and £120 respectively.

THE ARMY GENERAL COLLEGE

(58 HANSA RING, COLOGNE)

The next course begins on 10th January 1920 and lasts for six weeks giving opportunities for study in various stages of the following subjects

A. GENERAL WING.

English. French. Geography. History. Mechanical Engineering (Elem.)
German. Classics. Civics. Mathematics. Chemistry & Physics.

B. COMMERCIAL WING.

GROUP I.

(a) Economics. (To include, Money, Trade & Finance; and the Indust. Development of England.)
(b) Commercial Geography.
(c) Commercial Law.
(d) Company Law.
(e) Bookkeeping (Elementary).
(f) Bookkeeping (Intermediate).
(g) Accountancy.
(h) Auditing.
(i) Commercial Correspondence and Training (Elementary).
(j) Commercial Correspondence and Business Training (Advanced).
(k) Banking.
(l) Commercial Arithmetic. (Elem.)
(m) " " (Advanced.)
(n) Shorthand & Typewriting.
(o) Secretarial Practice.

GROUP II.

(p) French. (Elementary.)
(q) " (Commercial.)
(r) German. (Elementary.)
(s) German. (Commercial.)
(t) Spanish. (Elementary.)

C. AGRICULTURAL WING.

COURSE C (I).

The Allotment Holders' Course, which in intended to meet the requirements of students wishing to take up an allotment on demobilisation, and is held at the Army Educational Farm.

COURSE C (II).

The Agricultural Science Course, which is intended for men with farming experience who wish to continue their studies or take up science connected with agriculture.

D. ART CLASSES.

1. Pure Art, figure drawing, painting and sketching.
2. Commercial Art, drawing, design, construction and artistic crafts.

ALL RANKS wishing to enter for the above courses should apply at once to their Commanding Officers

Names must reach G.H.Q. By 30th December.

VENUS PENCILS

The "VENUS PENCIL" owes its tremendous demand and extensive use not simply because it can satisfy the greatest variety of requirements, technical and otherwise, but because it is the best and can be relied upon as dependable for all work where perfect results are required.

17 Degrees Black Lead, 6 B (soft-st) to 9 H (hardest), and in 3 styles copying

Of all Stationers and Stores throughout the world.

"VENUS," 173|5, Lower Clapton-road, London, E. 5.

VENUS HB — for Every pencil purpose

I. MARCUS & CO. Dept. C. 54a HOUNDSDITCH LONDON, E. 1

Wish to buy large quantities of all Clocks, Watches, Mouth Organs and Musical Instruments, Mechanical Toys, Dolls, Cutlery, Brooches etc.

We are also willing to act as Agents in England for all commodities required for the German market. Write direct and tell us what you have to offer and what you want to buy.

Into Any Home Anywhere

„The Gramola"

brings not one kind of music but all kinds

Gramophone Spezialhaus COLOGNE Hohestr. 150

The high grade "TUCKMAR" Razor

Do you know why everybody asks to-day for a "Tuckmar" razor and why they are called the "Worlds Perfect Razor"???

Because they are the very best and most durable razors in shaving!!!

The excellence of the "Tuckmar" razors consists in their being made from the very best silver steel and in their having the best reputation in the world!!! Every razor fully warranted! SOLD EVERYWHERE!

TÜCKMANTEL & MARTIN, Ohligs-Solingen.

Factory-Agent and Exhibition: Gormanns & Schallenberg, Cologne, Neumarkt 32-34.

TUCKMAR RAZORS P. LAAFF, Specialist KOMÖDIENSTR. 79 Opposite Army Cinema No. 1. Lowest prices.

Directly opposite the Dom and Main Station.

Special House for Amateur Photography

ANDREAS PILLEN

I. COLOGNE, Deichmannhaus, opposite the Dom & Main Station.
II. COLOGNE, Hohenzollernring 70.

Big depot for Ica, Goerz, Zeiss, Ernemann, & Nettel Cameras.

Projectors and Cinema Apparatus.

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O. S. 40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

BUSINESS-PREMISES in centre of the town comprising Shop, Office, Warehouse and twenty rooms. For sale Mks. 135,000.—. Letters Box 108, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (T.c.)

OFFICER'S British warm, with waist band, height 5 ft. 10 in. Apply Box 135, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (1)

PHOTO HOUSE and camera repairing works. Aug. Lang, mechanician of precision. Kl. Neugasse 9/11. Always bargains in second-hand binoculars Zeiss-Goertz, Voigtländer & Leitz.

SALE.—Two dark-blue cloth shabracks, one dark-blue cloth rug, with leather edging, white breeches, buckskin. Write A 451, Cologne Post. A.P.O./S. 40.

SPLENDID PIANO, cross stringed, black, beautiful tone, 9500 Mks. Denk, Mathildenstrasse 65 II.

PERAMBULATOR, English, second-hand, for sale, 350 Mks. Can be seen daily 9-1, 3-7, at Sudermanstr. (fruit shop). Write Box 143, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (1)

MISCELLANEOUS.

ANY information of Sec. Lieut. J. B. Clarke, 4th South Lancs. Regt., attd. 12th Somerset Light Inf. (74th Division), supposed to be killed at Allaines, north of Peronne, Sep. 2nd, 1918, to Box P. P., Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (TC)

WILL N.C.O.'s and men who joined the expeditonary force in March, 1918, from the 4th Res. Bat. Devons. Reg., and were transferred to the 8th Bat. Gloucester Reg., please communicate with Lieut A. M. Harvey, M.B.E. Devons. Reg., VIth Corps Officer's Club, Cologne.

YOUNG German lady, well educated, speaking English well, offers her services as interpreter and guide to English ladies wanting to do shopping at reasonable prices. Fee by the hour or morning. Write Box 142, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40. (1)

LANGUAGES.

GERMAN teacher, Ph.D., speaking English, begins German course. Write Box A 452, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

YOUNG Polish academician wishes exchange of simple conversation of English for German. Apply to A 453, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40

WANTED.

YOUNG German lady, speaking English, to give lessons, two hours in morning, to Officer's son of six, at Mülheim. Particulars and terms to Box 145, Cologne Post, A.P.O. S. 40. (1)

BEDROOM with use of sitting room and kitchen required in Cologne for soldier and wife. Write Box 146, Cologne Post, A.P.O. S. 40. (2)

LOST.

TWO DOGS, one half Airedale, half sheep dog, Airedale coat, colour black and white, no tail, war dog, 15 on collar. The other black and white fox terrier, answers to name "Gwinnie." Dogs last seen at Rhine Garrison Officer's Paper Chase, Dec. 2nd 150 Marks reward for information as to whereabouts of above dogs. Capt. Selby, D/51 Brigade, R.F.A., Rhine Army. (3)

SIMPLICISSIMUS

Cabaret and Wine-Room

— Hohestrasse 152—154. —

Daily first-class singing and dancing performances. Open from 6.30 to 10.45 p.m.

— For Officers and Civilians only. —

SIB MÜLLER

Leather - Travelling - Articles

COLOGNE

Corner Andreaskloster opposite the Officer's Club (Ewige Lampe) undertakes all repairs.

ZEISS-GLASSES

If you want

EYE GLASSES

come to

S. Goldfinger, G.m.b.H.

Hohestr. 88 Optician Hohestr. 88

We test your eyes in specially fitted rooms.

Photo House HARTSTEIN

Margaretenkloster (close to the Cathedral)

Cameras and all Articles for Amateur Photography

Developing and Copying

within 24 hours

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 15 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 23, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

XMAS AMUSEMENTS SEE P. 2

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

DO NOT SEAL IT SOUVENIR NUMBER

No. 229. COLOGNE, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

TWO IRISH PARLIAMENTS.

COMBINED COUNCIL TO AFFORD OPPORTUNITY FOR COMPLETE UNITY.

OUTLINES OF GOVERNMENT PROPOSALS.

HOME RULE BILL.

OUTLINE OF THE NEW SCHEME.

A more dramatic moment could not have been imagined for the revealing of the Government proposals concerning "Home Rule" for Ireland.

The attempted assassination of the Viceroy of Ireland was as a rock flung into a pond. It has stirred the hearts of the British people—especially the millions of those who fought under French — as perhaps no dissimilar event could have done.

So far from causing feelings of hostile resentment, however, the occurrence has only deepened regrets that Ireland should be the one discordant element in an otherwise united, happy and proud British Empire.

Self Government to the utmost, but no separation, is the key-note of the proposals.

Not a single Nationalist member was present in the House of Commons on Monday night when Mr. Lloyd George, the Prime Minister, made his statement on Ireland.

The Premier began with a reference to the attack on Lord French and said that an atmosphere charged with the reek of attempted assassination was not the most favourable one for promoting a measure of reconciliation. To allow the judgment of Parliament to be carried away by indignation, however, would only be to play into the hands of the miscreants whose aim was to make reconciliation impossible.

No proposal which the Government could put forward in the least degree acceptable to British opinion would have a chance of acceptance in the present position of Irish affairs. Parliament must therefore take the responsibility of proposing what it thought was right, fair and just.

Any structure they built must be based on three facts. The first was the hostility of three quarters of the population of Ireland to British rule — a hostility which had no connection with material conditions, for Ireland had never been more prosperous and the majority of cultivators owned their own land. The second fact was that the remainder of the population was as bitterly opposed to Irish rule as the other section was to British rule and it would be an outrage on the principle of self-Government to place the former section under the rule of the latter. Thirdly, any severance of Ireland from the United Kingdom would be fatal to both. He declared that any attempt at secession would be fought with the same resource and resolve as the Northern States of America put into the American fight (cheers).

Subject to those three conditions the Government proposed to confer self-government on the whole of Ireland. Accordingly there would be one Parliament for Southern Ireland, and another for Northern Ireland.

As regards boundaries, after describing three systems, each of which would leave solid units of Protestants and Catholics in Southern and Northern territory respectively, Mr. Lloyd George said that a fourth system was to take the six North Eastern counties as a basis, excluding the Catholic communities from them and including the Protestant communities in adjacent counties, thus producing an area as homogeneous as possible under the circumstances. It was intended to give the Irish every opportunity to establish a Union (i. e. between North and South) if they desired it but the decision must rest with them. No act of the Imperial Parliament would be required to this end.

COUNCIL OF IRELAND.

In addition to the two Parliaments there would be a Council of Ireland, consisting of representatives elected by these Parliaments which would have complete discretion to confer any powers with regard to matters not reserved to the Imperial Government. The two Parliaments could thus arrange joint administration of certain common services such as transport, which it would be undesirable to divide. It was also proposed to confer on the two Parliaments full constituent powers, so that they could at any time, without reference to Imperial Parliament, create a single Irish Legislature discharging all or any of the powers not reserved to Imperial Parliament. As a further inducement to unity it was proposed to confer on the Irish Parliament certain additional powers of taxation directly Irish unity was accomplished. It would therefore rest with the Irish people themselves to determine whether they wanted a Union.

RIGHT RESERVED.

The powers reserved to Imperial Parliament include the rights of the Crown, the making of peace and war, foreign affairs, the Army and Navy, Defence of the Realm, Treason, Trade outside Ireland, Navigation, Wireless and Cable Services, Coinage, Trade Marks and Lighthouses, also the Higher Judiciary until the two Irish Legislatures agreed as to how judges should be appointed. These powers corresponded with those reserved in all Federal Governments, whether in Europe or America. The Imperial Government would also retain control of the police for three years. The Post Office would be transferred when two parts of Ireland were united in asking for such transfer. There would be clauses for the protection of minorities. Provision would also be made for a fair financial contribution to imperial services which on the present basis of Ireland's revenue and expenditure would be eighteen million per annum.

It was proposed to give each Parliament a grant of one million sterling for initial expenditures as so certain land revenues which this year amounted roughly to £2,400,000 from Nationalist Ireland and £600,000 from Ulster. The two Parliaments would have at first the same taxation powers as the American States.

Such was the outline of the proposed Bill.

AN INDISSOLUBLE EMPIRE.

Mr. Lloyd George appealed to the House, to Irishmen and to all concerned with the problem to give the proposals their consideration. There have been mistakes, follies and crimes on both sides, he said, and they wanted that chapter closed; but looking round for a solution of the difficulties he found no section that could accept anything except the impossible. In these circumstances the British Parliament must accept the responsibility of offering what wisdom and justice dictated, trusting that it might win acceptance and success in the end.

The Premier here repeated with the utmost emphasis that Great Britain cannot accept separation. "Those who thought that Britain could be forced to do so cannot have read the story of the last five years. (cheers). Some may ask: 'Is this the time to propose anything?' It is always the right time to do the right thing and Great Britain could never better afford to take the initiative. This is not the time when anyone will taunt the land which has done so much to destroy the greatest military Empire of the world with quailing before a band of wretched assassins. The world will know that we are entering upon it is course prompted by the same sense of justice which sustained this land through these last years of sacrifice." (cheers).

(Continued in next column).

MAHSUDS ACTIVE.

HEAVILY PUNISHED BY FLYING COLUMN.

Reuter learns that a large force of Mahsuds attempted to attack a British construction party near Jandola last Wednesday. The tribesmen lost heavily, while our casualties totalled thirty-four, including six killed.

On Thursday the Derajab Column advanced from Jandola and drove two thousand Mahsuds and fifteen hundred Waziris up the Jakkizam valley. The opposition was less than expected, although we sustained fifty casualties. The damage inflicted on the enemy is unknown, but the freedom from attack since enjoyed by our transport columns suggests very heavy punishment.

Two sections of the recalcitrant Waziris were again bombed on Wednesday. They have since asked for an extension of time wherein to comply with our terms.

"SOVIET ARK."

ANARCHISTS EXPELLED FROM AMERICA.

Further deportations of "Reds" from the United States to Soviet Russia are expected to be made during the next few days but the officials say that the brains of the movement are aboard the Burford, which has been nick-named "Soviet Ark."

The Bulford sailed at daybreak on Sunday, conveying 249 Extremists, including the well known anarchists Alexander Berkman and Emma Goldman, to Soviet Russia. Its precise destination is unknown.

DEAD ASSASSIN.

JURY'S SYMPATHY WITH RELATIVES.

At the inquest on Martin Savage, who was shot while in the act of throwing a bomb at Lord French's party, the jury returned a verdict that he met his death by a bullet fired by one of the Viceroy's military escort. They added a rider expressing sympathy with the relatives of the deceased.

LORD PIRRIE'S DEMOB.

Lord Pirrie is about to be "demobilized," the Prime Minister and Shipping Controller having consented to his release on the 31st December from his office as Controller General of merchant shipbuilding, to which he was appointed in March 1918.

IRISH FAIR PLAY.

MAD VENGEANCE ON DUBLIN NEWSPAPER.

The offices of the "Irish Independent," which are situated in the very heart of Dublin, were raided about ten o'clock on Sunday night by about forty armed men. They held up the staffs in all departments with revolvers, wrecked the machinery with crowbars and sledge-hammers and removed the vital portions of the stereotyping apparatus. The damage is roughly estimated at several thousand pounds. Telephonic and telegraphic communication was severed while the raiders occupied the offices and no one was allowed to enter or leave the premises for the twenty minutes during which the raid lasted. Everything was done so quietly that nobody outside the office suspected anything was wrong. There were no casualties.

Before leaving the building the raiders handed a note to the Editor declaring that the suppression of the "Irish Independent" was carried out to remind him that in ignoring acts of tyranny in Ireland and in branding as an assassin the "high souled youth" who was killed in the attempt on Lord French's life, the paper had outraged the sensibilities and endeavoured to misrepresent the sympathies and opinions of the Irish people.

No arrests have been made hitherto.

LEEDS BANK MURDER.

OTHER ALLEGATIONS AGAINST PRISONER.

The Manchester police are said to possess information that Redfern, who is charged with the murder of the Leeds Bank manager, is identical with the "Captain Carruthers" who in November secured valuable furs from a Manchester firm by means of worthless cheques.

Redfern again appeared in the dock at Leeds police court yesterday. During the preliminary proceedings he trembled violently and from time to time was supplied with water.

BOLSHEVISTS AGAIN ATTACK.

A telegram from Reval reports that the Bolshevists are making violent attempts to break thorough on the Narva front. The Chief of the Esthonian General Staff declares that although the situation at Narva has for long been serious, there is no reason for pessimism, as all attacks are being repulsed.

TRAIN WRECKERS AT WORK.

A determined attempt was made to derail a train between West Clare and Ennis on Saturday. A quantity of stones were removed from a wall and placed across the track near Gorolia. A train ran into the obstruction, considerable damage being caused to the engine and some of the carriages. Nobody was injured.

FISHERMEN PROTEST.

Aberdeen trawl-masters intend to take up a strong attitude if catches of fish are allowed to be landed at that port by German boats. At a meeting of the National Seamen's and Firemen's Union a resolution was adopted that if any German trawlers are allowed at any time to land their catches at Aberdeen all the trawl-masters will strike work.

THREE SAVED OUT OF FORTY.

There have been landed at Marshfied, Oregon, the captain and two others, believed to be the only survivors of a crew of forty, of the American tank steamer "J. A. Chancellor." This vessel broke in two on a reef off Cape Blanco last Thursday night. The only boat launched was capsized in the heavy surf.

FIRES ON SURRENDERED LINERS.

Another supposed incendiary fire aboard a former German steamer is reported, this time from Melbourne. The "Cooee," laden with oil and other inflammables, was the scene of the outbreak, which was fortunately extinguished before it had spread to the highly dangerous cargo.

COAL SHORTAGE IN PARIS.

The trams on several sections of the Paris tramways stopped running on Saturday owing to the failure of the current, due to the complete lack of coal. Local mayors threaten to resign en masse if coal and gas are not forthcoming immediately.

MUTINEERS PARDONED.

The seamen and stokers of H.M.S. "Australia," who were sentenced on the 20th June to imprisonment for mutiny without violence at Freemantle have been released on an act of clemency.

TERRORISTS EXECUTED.

A delayed message from Buda Pesth states that Joseph Czerney and thirteen other terrorists were executed on the 18th.

Major Tryon, M.P. has been appointed Under-Secretary of State for the Air.

THE BLACK LIST.

GERMANS "WANTED" BY THE ALLIES.

With reference to the visit to London of M. Ignace, the French Under secretary for Military Justice, for the purpose of drafting the list of German war culprits whose extradition will be demanded by the Allies, it is understood that France has already prepared a list of 500 names, including one of the ex-Kaiser's sons, the Bavarian Crown Prince Rupprecht and a number of Generals and Commanders of prisoners of war camps.

Some 1,500 persons will be arraigned before courts martial in France, Belgium and Great Britain, or before mixed courts in those cases where the victims belonged to different nationalities. It is also explained that in accordance with Article 228 of the Peace Treaty, even if German culprits are judged by German Courts they must nevertheless appear before the Allied tribunals.

The Inter-Allied Commission for drafting the list of names has held a number of sittings in Paris during the past month. Sir Ernest Pollock, Solicitor General, represented Great Britain.

ITALY AND FIUME.

DESIRE TO LIVE IN AMITY.

The Italian Minister for Foreign Affairs, speaking in the Chamber of Deputies at Rome on Saturday, said that Mr. Lloyd George told him at the London conference that the Anglo-French-American memorandum on the subject of the Adriatic was not a regular Note but was to be regarded merely as a starting point for discussion.

Signor Scialoja said he was confident that President Wilson, when confronted with the agreement of the Allies on the subject of the Adriatic, would consent to modify his scheme.

He added that Italy intended to remain united with the Allies, and that all her efforts would be directed to securing solid guarantees for the adherence of their Fiume brothers to Italy, the protection of Italian Dalmatia and the safety of the Adriatic. He declared that Italy was not aggressive but was only desirous of establishing amicable relations with her Adriatic neighbours.

EX-KAISER AGREES TO BE TRIED.

A Basle telegram reports that the ex-Kaiser has finally agreed to accept trial by the Allies, subject to reservations regarding place and time, and his defence by German experts and lawyers. If the Allies accept these conditions the ex-Kaiser will not be tried for at least six months.

ROSS-SMITH KNIGHTED.

The King has conferred on Captain Ross-Smith and his brother who accompanied him on the flight to Australia, Knighthoods of the Order of the British Empire.

A delayed message from Melbourne dated the 7th December says that Captain Ross-Smith and his crew, before landing at Anthony's Lagoon, Queensland, had exhausted their water supplies and were without water until they met with a party of workmen boring for water. Captain Ross-Smith is now repairing the broken propellor with hoop iron.

R.A.S.C. PAY STOLEN.

The offices of the R.A.S.C. at Parkhall Camp, near Oswestry, were broken into on Friday night, and the safe containing money, withdrawn from the bank the previous day, was rifled. Consequently payment of the men had to be suspended.

SUNDAY GAMES SANCTIONED.

The London County Council has decided that football, golf, quoits, lawn tennis and other games, also boating, shall be allowed on Sundays in all its parks, under the same conditions as on weekdays.

BANK CLERK WINS BIG LOTTERY PRIZE.

The first prize in the Spanish National lottery, amounting to 7,500,000 pesetas, has been won by the deputy manager of the Madrid Branch of the London County and Westminster Bank.

(The pre-war value of this huge sum was about £300,000.)

An amazing scene occured at the Crimes Court, Burnfoot, County Donegal, when four Sinn Feiners were charged with soliciting funds for a Sinn Fein Parliament. Only one recognised the jurisdiction of the Court but refused to give or find bail. He was sentenced to three months imprisonment.

His brother, one of the magistrates on the Bench, excitedly declared that this was a savage sentence and said he would fling his Commission to the winds. The other prisoners were sentenced to two months with three months more in default of bail.

Mr. McLauglin, another magistrate, protested against the sentence and was removed from Court. The noise in court was so loud that the Resident Magistrate threatened to have it cleared. When the case against two other men was called Counsel for the Crown stated that the witnesses could not attend having been shot at and badly wounded. This statement was received with laughter by the public present.

SUMMARY COURT.

SALE OF PROHIBITED BOOKS.

The sale in Cologne of a book, "Die drei kommenden Kriege" (The three coming wars), importation of which into occupied territory is forbidden, led to the appearance at the Summary Court of three booksellers.

Accused were Ludwig Stumm, 261 Venloerstrasse, Ehrenfeld; Josef Scharmitzel, Breitestrasse, and Ferdinand Sohn of the Arcade, Hohestrasse. All were charged with being in unlawful possession of copies of the book or with selling the same, or offering the same for sale.

The Prosecuting Officer produced copies of the book. "The whole idea of the publication is" he said, "a hope that England will come into conflict with her present Allies, and certain wars are actually hinted at."

An officer from the Intelligence branch said he had read the book. It was propaganda and intended to create trouble in the Occupied Territory. Its import had been forbidden.

From further evidence it appeared that on 28th October a letter was sent to the Oberbürgermeister of Cologne intimating that authority could not be given for the import of the book. It was then the duty of the Oberbürgermeister to notify the booksellers.

Accused all pleaded ignorance.

The Presiding Officer said he was satisfied the charges were proved. He looked on the cases as carelessness rather than anything more serious. Stumm, who had a small business, would be fined 350 marks or one week, and the other defendants 1,000 marks or three weeks.

AFTER HOURS IN CAFES.

Josef Stiels of 239 Neusserstrasse, Nippes, was charged with having civilians in his café after hours, and the following civilians were charged with being on the premises, Jacob Müller, 28 Steinbergerstrasse, Nippes, Franz Mielke, 7 Balthasarstrasse, Cologne; Anna Kaulfuss, 16 Baudrieplatz, Nippes; Josef Paulon, 16 Baudrieplatz, Nippes and Umberto Sauge, 37 Weidengasse.

The defendants were found in the café at 11.10 p.m. They appeared to be ready for departure. The café proprietor stated that owing to the illness of his wife he had had to remain upstairs, but he came down at about 10.45 p.m. with a view to getting the house cleared. He was upstairs when the police came.

The waiter asserted that he asked the guests to go at five minutes to eleven, but they remained. They were "merry."

The female defendant said she only arrived in Occupied Territory that day and was not conversant with the regulations.

The Presiding Officer noted that the proprietor had been previously convicted and fined a thousand marks; he would therefore now have to pay 1,500 marks. As for the customers, he did not consider that there was on their part any deliberate attempt to evade the law. The female defendant, who pleaded ignorance of the regulations, would have to pay the nominal fine of twenty marks and the other guests forty marks each. The Presiding Officer emphasised that the proprietor of the café, even though he might not be in the bar, was, so long as he was proprietor, the one person responsible.

AVIATOR'S FATE.

STORM PRECLUDED ASSISTANCE.

A Lloyd's telegram from Corfu gives further details of Captain Howell's tragic end. It says that about five o'clock on the afternoon of the 9th December during stormy and boisterous weather, Captain Howell came down in St. George's Bay, apparently in distress. Shouts were heard and peasants showed signals but no assistance could be rendered owing to the bad weather. The machine now lies on a sandy bottom in two fathoms of water and it is not improbable that the bodies of the crew are entangled in the wreckage.

NEW ZEALAND PROHIBITION.

Although the figures in the New Zealand liquor referendum are incomplete the defeat of prohibition is practically again assured. At the last referendum in April the soldiers' vote gave a majority of 24,258 in favour of the continuance of licensing, and the civilian vote a majority of 13,896 for prohibition, which was thus defeated by 10,362 votes.

TERRORISTS ON TRIAL.

The trial of Dr. Eugen Laszlo and four other terrorists has been concluded at Buda Pesth. They were sentenced to death on various charges of murder, robbery, etc. Nine more received terms of imprisonment or penal servitude, two of them for fifteen years.

CAPTAIN FRYATT'S SHIP.

The Belgian Courts have decided that Captain Fryatt's ship the "Brussels" is "Good Prize." The Belgian Government, has offered the vessel unconditionally as a free gift to the British Government which has gratefully accepted the same.

An immigration bill providing for the deportation of all aliens affiliated with Anarchist organizations has been unanimously passed by the House of Representatives at Washington.

HIGH SEAS MUTINY.

U.S. PEACE DELEGATION'S EXCITING VOYAGE.

Eleven civilian members of the crew of the transport America, which arrived at New York from Brest on Monday have been arrested and charged with mutiny on the high seas. Six men are in the ship's hospital suffering from gunshot wounds.

It is stated that gambling, stealing and fighting were rampant on the ship throughout the voyage. Members of the American Peace Delegation returned aboard the transport.

ANTI-GERMAN.

DIVIDED OPINIONS OF RAND MINERS.

Miners at the Simner Deep and Jupiter mines (Transvaal) struck work a week ago owing to the dismissal of a German, a former member of the Mine Workers' Union, who was interned during the war. The strikers received the support of the "War on War" party, but were opposed by Comrades of the Great War. The management agreed to the re-instatement of the German, upon which 600 officials and surface workers decided to refuse work if he were allowed underground.

A conference between the underground and surface employees of the mines in question decided to ballot on the question of re-instatement of the German, whose name is Krischker. The local branch of the Mine Workers Union instructed the miners not to participate in the ballot but to present themselves for work. When, however, the underground men arrived at the mines to start work nobody would take them down.

The ballot paper simply asked, "Are you in favour of working with a German on the Simner Deep? Yes or No?" The result was: Against working with the German, 319 votes, For, 27 votes.

TO THE ANTARCTIC.

A meeting held at the Mansion House on Monday was attended by representatives of the Colonial Office and a number of learned societies. The Lord Mayor presided over the gathering, the object of which was the formation of a Council to organise and finance the Imperial Antarctic expedition which it is proposed shall leave London next June in the Terra Nova.

The expedition will be commanded by Mr. John Cope, who was surgeon and biologist to the Ross Sea party of Sir Ernest Shackleton's expedition of 1914—17. Mr. Cope explained that the object of the expedition was to develop the Antarctic regions commercially. He proposed to ascertain the position and extent of the mineral deposits already known to exist, to obtain information with reference to the migration of whales with a view to creating a British whaling industry, to make meteorological investigations and generally to extend scientific knowledge of economic importance. His headquarters would be at New harbour on the Ross Sea and the expedition would occupy five years at a cost of £150,000 pounds. The equipment would include an aeroplane, a flight to the South Pole being contemplated.

TRAFFIC DISLOCATION.

An official statement with reference to traffic dislocation in Great Britain gives the following comparisons of percentages of rolling stock now under or awaiting repair in different countries. In Great Britain six per cent, of wagons and 21 per cent, of locomotives. In France the respective figures are 15 and 22, Italy 18 and 27, Austria 35 and 37, Hungary 24 and 73; South Russia 25 and 49 and Bulgaria 44 and 63.

ROYAL FAMILY'S CHRISTMAS.

The King and Queen have gone to Sandringham for Christmas. Since the beginning of the war the King has personally invested over fifty thousand members of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Nurses and civilians with various honours and decorations in recognition of meritorious service and acts of conspicuous bravery.

NO BRONTO ON THE CONGO.

It is now established that the story of the so-called Brontosaurus or ante-diluvian animal having been seen in a dense forest on the Congo was an elaborate hoax.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

A good tone prevailed, due to the rally in the American exchange and the more hopeful trade forecast, though the holidays interfered with the volume of business. Railways were buoyant on the official circular dealing with the railway position. Oils, after a dull opening recovered strongly. South African mainings were strong on dividend announcements. Gold declined to 108s. 5d. owing to a fall in the value of the dollar. Silver was inactive and unchanged at 77⅝. Money was in strong demand and Discounts were harder in sympathy, three month bills being at 5⅛. The exchange on Paris was 40.52; Belgium, 39.62; Switzerland, 21.10; Amsterdam, 10.13; Germany, 183-185; Austria 625-675.

Y.M.C.A. RHINE ARMY.

SPECIAL CHRISTMAS APPEAL to all

Officers, N.C.O.'s, Men and British Residents with the Rhine Army.

Issued with the full interest and support of the Commander-in-Chief, General Sir WILLIAM ROBERTSON, Bart., G.C.B., G.C.M.G., K.C.V.O., D.S.O., A.D.C., LL.D.

The Y.M.C.A. have just issued their final War-Work Appeal for Funds to the British Public.

What contribution can The Rhine Army make towards this National Appeal?

THE FACTS.

Cost of whole Y.M.C.A. War Work to date—		£7,000,000
Total amount received in subscriptions	£2,750,000
Gross Profit on all Y.M.C.A. Canteens	£3,500,000
		£6,250,000
Appeal now made to clear debt of—		£ 750,000

Unless this is forthcoming, the Y.M.C.A will have to close down all the work it is still doing with the Troops in Germany, India, Mesopotamia, Persia, Egypt, Palestine, Constantinople, Salonica, Russia, France, Belgium, and at all the London Stations.

Some Items of Y.M.C.A. War Expenditure:

£2,718,450 Huts, Tents, Rent, Equipment, &c.
158,423 Losses in German advance in 1918, (200 centres in all lost).
318,638 Stationery for the Troops.
166,672 Free Concerts and Entertainments for men on Active Service.
141,263 Free Lectures, Educational Classes and Libraries.
50,000 Work for Repatriated and Interned Prisoners of War.
54,866 Food and Drink for Walking Wounded.
33,241 Entertainments of Relatives of Dangerously wounded visiting patients in Hospital.

Extract from letter from the Commander-in-Chief, Army of the Rhine:—
"I cannot speak too highly of the value to the Army of the self-denying efforts made by your Association to increase in every way the moral and material well-being of the Troops, with whom, indeed, the name of your Association has now become a household word."

The Y.M.C.A. had over 90 centres established with the Rhine Army throughout the Spring and Summer months. A short account of the work at these centres, and of the various activities organized, will be found in the Souvenir Christmas Number of the "Cologne Post." The Y.M.C.A. is still working at 13 centres with the Rhine Garrison, at 9 centres with the Independent Division, and at one centre with the Tank Group.

A full programme of work, both with the Rhine Garrison and with the Independent Division, has been organized, but will only be able to be carried out if sufficient Funds are available.

The Y.M.C.A. court the fullest investigation of the figures of their expenditure, and will be glad to supply full particulars to any responsible enquirer.

Will the Officers, N.C.O.'s, Men and British Residents with the Rhine Army help the Y.M.C.A. to carry on its work?

WHAT ABOUT £5,000 FROM THE RHINE ARMY?

A guinea from every Officer, and half-a-crown from everyone else would do it.

All contributions should be sent to The Chief Accountant, Y.M.C.A., Rhine Army.

Y.M.C.A. RHINE ARMY.

XMAS IN THE HUTS.

WHAT'S ON TO-DAY?

1. Christmas Entertainment at Y.M.C.A. Central, Mulheim . . 6 p.m.
2. British Children's Fete at Y.M.C.A. Central, Cologne . . 3 p.m.
3. Electeras Concert Party at Y.M.C.A. Club, Deutz . . . . 6.30 p.m.
4. Special Concert and Acrobatic Performance at Y.M.C.A. Opladen 6.30 p.m.

LOOK OUT TO-MORROW MORNING FOR THE CHRISTMAS DAY PROGRAMME.

THE CHURCH ARMY XMAS ARRANGEMENTS.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

Festivities are being arranged for all troops at each of the following Canteens:—

C.A. Club—Hotel du Nord.
Station Canteen Cologne Main Station.
*White City (Remount Depôt) Soldiers' Club.
Mülheim (Stadt Halle) Skating Rink and Tea Rooms.
*Mülheim (Barracks) Canteen.
Ohligs, Canteen and Club.
Bonn, (Weber Strasse) C.A. Tea Rooms.
Berg. Gladbach (Independent Division) Canteen and Recreation Rooms. Open from 17 30 to 20.00.
Berg. Gladbach, Club and Tea Rooms. Canteen open from 12 to 15 only, Recreation Room open all day.

*Closed on Xmas day owing to Military Entertaintment.

In addition to the above—there will be Xmas Entertainments at the Rest-Houses—Mittelhäuser and Zur Post.

Further particulars will be advertised in the "Cologne Post."

NOTICE

The Church Army Skating Rink, will not be open for Officers and Ladies this afternoon.

N. A. C. B.

OFFICERS' CLUB

XMAS DAY AND NEW YEAR'S EVE

XMAS DINNER AND DANCE AT THE EWIGE LAMPE.

XMAS DINNER at No. 2 CLUB.

TICKETS 50 MARKS

TABLES SHOULD BE BOOKED EARLY.

"—cloisters where the bottle Meditates on joys to bestow" (George Meredith in "The Egoist")

DOORWAY of the Master's house, Hospital of the Gaunts (15th Century)—leading to the extensive cellars of John Harvey & Sons, Limited, where the world famous old golden sherry "BRISTOL MILK" and other choice wines are stored.

HARVEY'S 'Bristol Milk'

114/- per doz. f.o.b.

This Trade Mark is the recognised guarantee all over the world of consistently High Quality and Value.

J H & S BRISTOL REGD BRAND

John Harvey & Sons, Ltd. BRISTOL, ENG.

Send for Duty-free Price List

Purveyors of Wines to H.M. King George V.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.

Special Christmas production

Nightly until further notice,
THE BRITISH RHINE ARMY DRAMATIC COY in
"THE KNIGHT OF THE BURNING PESTLE"
a Costume Comedy of Merry England in four acts by BEAUMONT & FLETCRER.
BOOK AT AMUSEMENTS OFFICE.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.

Nightly at 6 p.m.

SPECIAL VARIETY PROGRAMME

ARTISTES.

THE THREE VERSATILES
in song and story.
HAROLD WALTERS
Baritone.
REX AND ERNO
The World's Worst Wizards.
ERB KARNO TRIO
Comedy Musician Act.
ERNO ELLIS
Comedian.
CHARLES STAIRS
"Git-Back"
THE FOURWHIZZ-BANGS
Comedy Tumbles.
One Act Farce, entitled
"BACK TO IT"
ALFRED BARKER
The English Violinist.
BOOK AT AMUSEMENTS OFFICE.

On Xmas Day all Army Amusements will be open as usual and at the usual times.

DEUTSCHES THEATRE.
"The Knight of the Burning Pestle," at 6 p.m.

PALACE THEATRE.
Grand Variety Programme, at 6 p.m.

No. 2 CINEMA (Modernes Theatre)
Breite Strasse.
Finest Picture House in Germany.

No. 3 CINEMA (Panopticum)
Hohe Strasse.
The Acme of Comfort.
2.30 and 6 p.m. Daily.

SKATING RINK, 32 Komodien Strasse
5.30 to 9.30 p.m. Daily.

N.B. The Army Gymnasium will be closed on Xmas Day and Boxing Day.

ARMY SKATING RINK.
NOW OPEN. This week, Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday other ranks and wives only 5.30 to 9.30.
Friday Officers and wives 3.30 to 10.0
Skates provided. Cloak Room Accommodation for spectators: Mugs' Alley for Beginners. Commencing shortly, Teas and refreshments will be served on the Balcony.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
CINEMA
Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

Church of England Services in Cologne.

THE GARRISON CHURCH (C. of E.)
Schildergasse
Wednesday, Dec. 24th: S. Thomas, transferred).
HOLY COMMUNION: 8.00 hrs.
The clergy will be in church from 17.00 to 19.00 hrs.

Christmas Day, December 25th.
7.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
8.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
10.30 hrs. Parade Service.
11.30 hrs. Holy Communion.

STAR THEATRE, LINDENTHAL
Christmas Day, 1919
Holy Communion at 8 a.m.

CHURCH ARMY CHAPEL Hotel du Nord.
Holy Communion: Sundays 8.00.
Tuesdays 7.30. Thursdays 7.00.
Fridays 7.30.

Christmas Day.
6.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
8.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
9.30 hrs. Matins.
10.30 hrs. Holy Communion with hymns and address, Rev. L. D. Agate: M.A.
17.30 hrs. Evensong and address: Rev. L. D. Agate, M.A.

Scottish Churches and English Free Churches.

THE MILITARY CHURCH.
6 Filzengraben (Turning off Heumarkt.)
SPECIAL CHRISTMAS SERVICE
Thursday Dec. 25 at 10.30 a.m.
Preacher Rev. G.A. Seath C.F.
Garrison Chaplain

INNISKILLING DRAGOONS PANTOMIME

JAN. 1. — JAN. 7, 1920

WATCH THESE COLUMNS.

The Cologne Post

Telephones: Military, No. 659. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Wednesday, December 24, 1919.

A MIGHTY PROBLEM.

The latest available figures show that on the whole the mighty problem of demobilizing our large army and re-absorbing its members in the great industrial machine at home has proceeded with comparatively little friction, and that 90 per cent. of the demobilized have returned to normal life.

Some idea of the enormity of what has been accomplished will be realised when it is stated that more than three millions and a half, or very nearly one-twelfth of our total population, have exchanged khaki for mufti since the Armistice. Prior to the war the opinion was generally held that ten per cent. was the maximum which any nation could put into the field, no matter how great the emergency, and this fact makes the accomplishment all the more astounding.

No small portion of the credit for this achievement is claimed by the Labour Exchanges. Without the aid afforded by these bureaux we must have experienced greater economic friction with a consequent delay in obtaining employment for the men returning. Some such link between employer and would-be employee was essential if the two were to be brought together with the minimum loss of time. By such a method an employer was enabled to find with comparative ease the right man for his work and in the same way the soldier discovered the kind of job for which he was best suited.

The Labour Ministry scheme has been even more successful than these figures at first sight suggest. In the ten per cent. still outstanding is included a considerable number of disabled men for whom it is of a necessity more difficult to find employment. In many cases they have to be specially trained for work of which they have had no previous experience and this all takes time. We have previously referred to the great work being undertaken on behalf of such men.

These figures carry a note of hope for men still in the army who have dreaded demobilization because of the prospect of joining the ranks of the unemployed.

A CHRISTMAS IN HOSPITAL.

The little town of Frevent, lying between St. Pol and Doullens, is exceedingly picturesque, and on Christmas Eve in the year 1917, the famous Stationary Hospital near the station looked like a Fairy palace.

The hospital was full of wounded lads from the Arras and Cambrai sectors and we were determined to give them a real good time.

It was an old-fashioned Christmas: the ground was covered with snow, icicles hung from the eaves of the buildings and the moon shone out in all its glory.

Like so many conspirators a band of officers and nurses assembled after dinner to sing the sweet old carols outside the wards. Willing hands carried a little harmonium, which accompanied the singing, and Chinese lanterns flickered in the snow.

How those lads in the long wooden huts enjoyed the carols! For a time they forgot their wounds and in memory they were carried to their boyhood days. It was a good beginning to the festivities of good old Christmas Day.

The nurses with loving hands had decorated the wards with festoons, pictures and huge Christmas trees. We all felt like a lot of school-boys, especially when we explored the mysteries of our Christmas stockings, for strange to say, Father Christmas himself, in all his gorgeous robes, had visited the wards and had left in each waiting stocking a wonderful assortment of presents.

The night nurses and orderlies were struck dumb with astonishment when he appeared. He had, he said, flown from Blighty, and had called to give his blessing to the sleeping wounded lads before making his tour of the trenches and the battlefield.

Good old King Christmas! what should we have done without him, during the years of bloody conflict?

Oh! the Christmas dinner, it was a dream of delight. For weeks past our little hospital farm had been carefully feeding up scores of turkeys, geese and rabbits.

It was a time of laughter and yet of tears, for some of the lads were so terribly wounded that we knew it would be their last Christmas on earth, and we thought too of those who had already made the great sacrifice.

We were surrounded with guardian angels, Sisters of Mercy, our dear warm-hearted gentle nurses, and no Christmas season shall pass without a grateful thought of those who ministered by our beds of pain in the land of terrific warfare.

In the afternoon prizes were given for the best snow-men, and the grounds were full of busy workers rolling up the snow, and erecting weird figures. What snow-ball matches we had too!

In the evening the Christmas Trees were illuminated, and a band of little French girls from a neighbouring convent came, and sang to us their carols, a touching tribute to all they felt for our boys.

The crowning feature of the day was an entertainment by the officers' Nigger Minstrel Troupe. How the men enjoyed their jokes and songs!

Twenty, and thirty, and forty years on when sitting round the Christmas fires at home we shall tell our children and grand-children the thrilling experiences of our war Christmases, but we shall have a special place in our hearts for those spent in hospital. G.K.

LIEBE GRETCHENLEIN.

Ein Roman aus Köln.

If the above headings are not good German, blame the Editor, not me. He writes to me, umpteen kilometres from any German local colouring, and asks for an article which must have the Chrismassy Rhine Army flavour; must be topical; typical of my peculiarly unique style of humour (whatever that may mean); worthy in every respect of my distinguished collaborators (Phew!); and fit in every way to appear in the "kolossal übertreiflich, wunderschön" unsurpassed unparallelled, ten-times-life-size, eighth-wonder of-the-world.

* * *

Even though the German of the headings may have been found lacking, surely the priority of the German construction of the last sentence must appeal to every lover of that simple, un-complex, easy to be understood, mellifluous tongue. Anyhow, beneath the following stars follows the romance.

* * *

Gretchenlein lived in Köln.
She was a native of that city
She was an inhabitant of that famous town.

If you cross the Hohenzollern-Brücke in the direction of Köln-Deutz you will not discover the residence of Gretchenlein.

She lives in another direction altogether

Behind the all-famous, once-seen-never-to-be-forgotten Church of the Apostles is a picturesque, two-storied-many-gabled, diamond-paned building dating from a century which escapes my memory.

It is the ancestral hall of the father of Gretchenlein.

He is a Gastwirt. That is to say he owns and controls a Gastwirtschaft, Bierstube, Gasthof, Gasthaus, or Café. More simple still—so that he who stands still may read—he runs a "pub."

The sign of the pub. is much too German for these pages. It is "Zum——" something or other, and the figure—most realistically painted— of a "Leberwurst" —is suspended over the front porch.

Gretchenlein is the Kemmerin, and dispenses with willing hands and all embracing smile to all ready-money customers the excellent beer always to be had in the establishment. If customers are lacking, she stands in the doorway till her charms attract some.

Let my facile and all-descriptive plume (French for pen) picture for the entranced reader our one and only Gretchenlein. Tall is she. Tow-coloured is her plentiful hair, neatly arranged "par derriere" in two long plaits tied at the ends with pink cotton bows. Well developed everywhere and succulent. Sucking-pig eyes has our Mädchen, with retrousé nose and such an ample mouth. Her teeth are perfect in number, colour and regularity, having been supplied by Herr——, the well known tooth-merchant ——Strasse (No free ads., my boy! Ed.) Her hands are large, plump, and red as a raw steak, and she takes a number nine.

* * *

It is Nachmittag.

The house is customerless. Sweet Gretchenlein stands at the door, but none approaches. Stay! Down the street comes a martial khaki-clad figure. It is HE, he on whom she has glanced, but ever failed to attract.

From head to foot he had that spick-and-span appearance so characteristic of the British Army, in whatever part of the globe you may find them. Lack of space and disinclination, prevent a detailed description of the brillance of his accoutrements.

Gretchenlein had an inspiration. Hastily rushing to the tap, she filled to the brim a litre seidel (cut crystal glass and solid silver heavily embossed lid) with Echtes Münchener Hof-Bräu seductive fluid — black as liquorice and almost as sickly. Flew she to the door just in time to present the foaming vessel to the distinguished member of the Fourth Estate.

Sorely tempted was our Hero! Sturdy did he resist, but he succumbed to feminine wiles. Sank he languidly on a cane-bottomed chair — detail is valuable in these matters — and pressed her — no I mean it, to his lips. You see, "se del" in German is feminine and that's how I came to say "her." Drank he deeply and well, till he foamed at the lips, until the fairy-like daughter of her father removed the superfluous fluid from his lips with her cambric "mouchoir" (one of the many looted from Valenciennes by her soldier brother).

* * *

Long and lovingly they talked. They understood each other perfectly for like all British soldiers, our hero was a perfect linguist, and spoke German (as well as many other languages) like his mother-tongue. As the shades of evening fell, they had sworn eternal troth, and he nearly got too late for the office.

* * *

The scene is changed! It is the "Demob" boat at Boulogne. Crossing the gangway is our hero. "Thank Heaven!" saith he, "Old Blighty once more and this time for good!"

* * *

The last tram has long left the Quay at Cologne. Some of the cafés are already closed. From its home in the Dom Turm the great Kaiser Bell would long ago have boomed midnight had it not (the bell not the toner or midnight) been some years since melted down for cannon fodder. The stars shine unintermittently and uncomplainingly over where the Bridge of Boats used to be, and are duly reflected in the pellucid, crystal waters of good old Father Rhine.

* * *

Gretchenlein weeps, then sleeps, alone!

* * *

Alas! for human hopes.

* * *

'Tis Christmas and snow is snowing on the eternal snows of the Swiss Alps.

* * *

Fröhliche Weihnachten!!!

* * *

Schlafen Sie wohl!
Essen Sie Kohl!
Trinken Sie Bier!
Und lieben Sie mir!

* * *

Adieu! liebe Gretchenlein.

N.B. Any reader who cannot read the German words in the above effusion needn't worry. He hasn't missed anything. G.W.R.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

Our Readers' Varied Views.

WILL A READER OBLIGE?

Sir,—I notice a few of the old 9th Divisional signs still being worn, and I want to know if the metal sign was an honour presented to the Division by the King of the Belgians.

This was stated to be the case by a 9th Division man.

Perhaps some reader will englighten me.

C.U.

THE TRUE CRITIC.

Sir,—I am in perfect agreement with R.M. in his letter "The True Critic".

I think there are far too many people who rejoice in finding faults, but never see the good points in their friends.

By all means let people find fault if there is a just cause, but then let them be careful to go the right way about it. Let them also see the good points in their friends, and then I think they will find their friendship growing stronger.

AGREEMENT.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

Sir,—It was with interest that I read the correspondence re "The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals" in Cologne.

It may interest readers to read this extract from Jerome's "Three Men on a Bummel." — "Germany is the only country in Europe where the traveller can settle comfortably in his hired carriage, confident that his gentle willing friend between the shafts will be neither overworked or cruelly treated."

I advise all men on the Rhine to read this book for the interesting descriptions of German home life and character.

FUSILIER.

WHEN TO SALUTE.

Sir,—I should like to reply to "Young but keen soldier," that he must be very young, and too keen. He should not imagine that he sees officers, but should make sure by identifying their rank first.

During the war, he may have noticed many officers with Tommy's clothes complete, but the little "pip" on the shoulder, made the big gap. I should like to point out that brown boots are an issue, and may be made smart and bright by "gentle persuasion."

OLD AND KEEN ENOUGH.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Sir,—Whilst admiring the contents of a large toy-shop in Columba Strasse to-day I heard a youngster's voice say "Ach! Englander."

On looking to my left I saw a small native with his index finger pressed against the glass. His companion questioned, "Wer ist der Englander?"

My eyes answered his question when I saw that the "Englander" was a comic figure in a brown sports cap and breeches with cap to match. The only part of his apparel suggesting an "Englander" was, I suppose the brown boots and puttees he was wearing.

ENGLANDER.

WHY NOT QUEUE?

Sir,—May I be permitted to enter a protest against the conduct of certain individuals, members of my own sex, on leaving the opera?

No sooner does the fall of the curtain signalise the close of the performance than there is a wild stampede for the cloak room. Here, instead of queueing in order of arrival there is a general scramble, and the woman attendant is expected to deal with about four or five tickets at once.

While loaded with an avalanche of furs, hats, coats, British warms, sticks, umbrellas, scarves, opera cloaks, to say nothing of opera glasses, people keep plying the poor woman with their tickets, and all clamouring at the top of their voices all the time. It is Bedlam let loose.

Can nothing be done to stop this?

I would suggest that people should line up in a queue at the counter and take their turn as they would have to in a shop. ENGLISH WOMAN.

A RANKER'S PLAINT.

Sir,—I notice that several letters have been published in reply to mine, most of them agreeing with me. Of course I do not expect people such as "One of 'um," and "A.F.B." to agree with me, as some people are never satisfied, and they are doubtless laughing up their sleeves to think they are the cause of some complaint on the part of the homely Tommy.

In reply to "Douze ans Service" I admit that there is such a limited accommodation at Bonn and such other places. My remarks referred to Cologne. I am not asking "Douze ans Service" to journey to Cologne every time, but when in Cologne I daresay he, as a sensible man, would prefer the "Dutch Kitchen" instead of one of the canteens catering for lower ranks.

I am, all the same, pleased to see that we have such men as "1915," "Lance-Jack," and "Just a private" in the Rhine Army, men that are not afraid to speak up when necessary, and I trust that some steps are being taken to deal with the matter. It has gone on quite long enough.

RANKER.

Christmas Eve.

One hour in all the year is sweet,
And passing sweet the rest beside:
When loving friends, long parted, meet,
And hearts with wealth of welcome beat
At Christmastide.

Dear Christmas Eve! When love is strong,
And strife and falsehood pass away,
And kindly actions round us throng,
And memories of ancient wrong
Die out for aye!

And yet in this wide world we know
There must be always some who grieve,
Who, all unloved, unloving, go,
Or sit enthroned amid their woe
On Christmas Eve.

God grant to hearts thus overcast
Such love and joy as we receive,
That, free from spectres of the past,
They, too, may find sweet peace at last
On Christmas Eve!

G. WEATHERLY.

THE CUP DRAW.

Holders to Visit Southend to Oppose the United.

CHELSEA V. BOLTON.

On Monday afternoon, in London, the Football Association decided that the final of the Association Cup will be played at Stamford Bridge, the ground of Chelsea, F.C. The Crystal Palace has, since the decision, always to play the cup-tie final in London, been the venue of this great attraction. In recent years, however, criticism has been levelled at this ground and its terracing and stands have been, from a spectator's point of view, very inadequate as regards witnessing the game.

Consequently, followers of the game will be glad to learn that the choice of ground has fallen on Stamford Bridge, and this will be hailed with especial delight by London enthusiasts. The Chelsea ground is one of the best in the country, and is in every way admirable for the staging of such a contest.

THE OPPONENTS.

The draw for the first round of the English Cup, to be played on Jan. 10th, took place at the same meeting, and provides a highly attractive programme. The cup holders, Sheffield United, will be visitors to Southend where the United of that town accounted for the strong Watford eleven last Saturday. The holders will have to be on their mettle in order to survive this round.

The runners-up in the last final, Chelsea, face Bolton on the latter's ground, and despite this disadvantage the London team may pass on to the second series.

Newcastle will have Crystal Palace as visitors at St. James Park where, it will be remembered, the "Glaziers" once previously inflicted a sensational defeat, scoring two goals to the "Magpies" nil. There appears no possibility of a repetition of this performance.

Darlington, whose surprising victory over Sheffield United will be fresh in the memory of many, are now drawn against Sheffield Wednesday at Darlington. The northerners play typical cup-tie football and may cause the downfall of another Sheffield eleven.

The other northern new-comers who make their debut in the first round proper are West Stanley who, with ground advantage, should triumph over the winners of the replayed tie between Gillingham and Swansea. Sunderland appear to have a gift in being drawn against Hull City at Roker Park and this despite the fact that the Tigers have no mean record as cup fighters.

Thorneycroft appear to have a hopeless task in having to meet Burnley.

WEST BROM'S PROSPECTS.

The League leaders will have Barnsley as opponents at the Hawthorns and this should prove the keenest battle of the draw.

Both have great cup fighting abilities. This match presents a very open appearance and the unorthodox methods of the visitors may just turn the scale in their favour.

Tottenham Hotspur, who head the Second League, should experience no difficulty in accounting for either Northampton or Bristol Rovers; ground advantage should avail their opponents little. Portsmouth, the Southern League leaders, will do battle at Valley Parade, against Bradford City. The cup should have no further interest for the southerners.

Aston Villa look a certainty for round two at the expense of Queen's Park Rangers, their record in previous cup competitions being one of the best in the country. Preston North End, who are down to meet Stockport County have a stiff hurdle to surmount, but in view of their remarkable record they may dispose of their opponent's ambitions.

Fulham and Swindon will provide excellent fare in London and one is inclined to think that the Railwaymen will be victorious.

Coventry will meet Luton on the latter's ground, and as they will be looking to the cup-ties to recompense them for their large outlay on players they may be relied upon to put up a great fight for the right to enter round two. They should be successful.

At Plymouth, where the Argyle oppose their fellow leaguers, Reading, a rousing cup-tie should result with the odds on the home team, whose forceful tactics are well-known. If there is any great certainty in the draw it is surely that Manchester City will blast all Clapton Orient's hopes. The Londoners are an unlucky eleven; and their spell is not improved by their having to meet the Citizens at Hyde Road.

OLD CUP FIGHTERS.

Two famous Cup elevens will be on view at Blackburn, where the Wolves provide the opposition. Danny Shea and Co. should be in further encounters.

Huddersfield, who will receive Brentford, are badly in need of funds and it is certain that they will not allow this opportunity of remaining in the competition to pass without a great struggle. The southern team will be exceedingly fortunate if they survive.

Middlesbrough will engage Lincoln City whom they should easily oust from the contest. Birmingham, who are making a great fight for the Second League Championship, are down to oppose Everton at St. Andrews and with ordinary luck should compel the "Toffies" to bid farewell to this season's cup.

Appended are the results of the draw.

South Shields v. Liverpool
Manchester City v. Clapton Orient
Luton v. Coventry
Newport v. Leicester City
Notts County v. Millwall
Bradford City v. Portsmouth
Birmingham v. Everton
West Bromwich v. Barnsley
West Stanley v. Gillingham or Swansea
Bolton Wanderers v. Chelsea
Lincoln City v. Middlesbrough
Huddersfield v. Brentford
Blackburn R. v. Wolverhampton
Rochdale v. Arsenal
Bradford v. Notts Forest
Preston North End v. Stockport County
Darlington v. Sheffield Wed
Plymouth Argyle v. Reading
Grimsby v. Bristol City

(Continued in next column.)

VILLA MOUNT THREE

Bradford City in Dangerous Waters.

HUDDERSFIELD'S PROGRESS.

In the first Division of the League the five leading clubs each maintained their position, and Manchester United came sixth by their victory over the Magpies. The only movements were among the clubs in the middle rungs of the ladder. We now have Aston Villa twelfth from the top. They climbed three places by their win over Oldham. Bradford City's lapse brings them well into the danger zone, and they can ill afford to lose points at this stage. The three bottom clubs show no change.

SECOND LEAGUE.

In this competition the three leading clubs are unchanged, but Huddersfield now occupy fourth place. Considering the adverse circumstances with which this club is faced, the position they now hold reflects great credit on the players concerned. Here also the three bottom clubs make no move, and the main movements concern the clubs about the middle of the table.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

Only one game was played under league auspices but it served to bring the two contestants nearer the top. Crystal Palace now occupy the fourth place and Swindon move from ten to eight on the table.

Watford's startling defeat in the cup now leaves the Southern League Championship as their only ambition, and they should prove even more dangerous opponents than before.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE.

If Celtic win the two games they have on hand, they will still be a point behind their great rivals, the Rangers, and as the Celtic Park lot are as reliable as the weather at present, it promises to be Rangers season.

Appended are the League tables:

The League.—Division I.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
West Bromwich Albion	19	14	0	5	54	25	28
Burnley	20	12	3	5	31	26	27
Sunderland	19	12	2	5	36	23	26
Newcastle United	20	10	4	6	27	19	24
Chelsea	19	9	3	7	29	22	21
Manchester United	18	7	6	5	30	22	20
Bolton Wanderers	20	7	6	7	35	32	20
The Arsenal	19	6	8	5	31	30	20
Sheffield United	20	8	4	8	35	34	20
Bradford	19	8	3	8	34	30	19
Everton	19	7	5	7	38	34	19
Aston Villa	19	9	1	9	34	36	19
Middlesbrough	20	7	5	8	25	31	19
Manchester City	19	7	4	8	43	40	18
Notts County	19	6	6	7	31	41	18
Blackburn Rovers	20	6	6	8	28	37	18
Liverpool	19	7	3	9	23	26	17
Bradford City	20	6	5	9	31	39	17
Derby County	20	5	7	8	20	30	17
Preston North End	19	6	3	10	28	44	15
Oldham Athletic	18	5	2	11	24	30	12
Sheffield Wednesday	19	3	4	12	14	32	10

The League.—Division II.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
Tottenham Hotspur	19	15	2	2	55	16	32
Birmingham	19	13	3	3	40	16	29
Blackpool	20	11	4	5	38	21	26
Huddersfield Town	19	11	3	5	37	15	25
Hull City	20	11	2	7	42	32	24
Bristol City	19	8	7	4	24	17	23
Stoke	19	11	1	7	31	24	23
Stockport County	19	9	5	5	31	19	23
West Ham United	19	9	4	6	19	21	22
Barnsley	19	9	3	7	30	21	21
Bury	19	9	3	7	26	23	21
Fulham	19	8	4	7	26	25	20
Port Vale	18	7	4	7	27	23	18
South Shields	19	7	4	8	16	20	18
Rotherham County	19	6	3	10	19	35	15
Wolverhampton Wand.	19	5	4	10	28	34	14
Nottingham Forest	19	4	6	9	18	30	14
Clapton Orient	20	6	2	12	20	31	14
Leicester City	19	4	5	10	16	35	13
Grimsby Town	19	4	2	13	14	39	10
Lincoln City	19	3	4	12	15	50	10
Coventry City	19	0	5	14	4	39	5

Southern League.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
Portsmouth	20	13	4	3	40	14	30
Watford	19	12	3	4	31	15	27
Reading	20	8	9	3	26	18	25
Crystal Palace	19	8	8	3	32	19	24
Queen's Park Rangers	19	10	4	5	31	19	24
Cardiff City	18	7	8	3	31	20	22
Brentford	19	7	7	5	22	20	21
Swindon	20	8	5	7	34	32	21
Norwich City	17	8	4	5	33	23	20
Plymouth Argyle	19	7	6	6	23	14	20
Exeter City	18	6	7	5	20	18	19
Swansea Town	20	6	7	7	22	21	19
Millwall	19	7	4	8	28	30	18
Southend United	18	5	8	5	23	26	18
Merthyr Town	20	5	7	8	24	29	17
Bristol Rovers	18	5	6	7	27	33	16
Southampton	20	6	4	10	27	36	16
Luton	18	5	4	9	21	32	14
Brighton & Hove A.	20	4	5	11	18	28	13
Newport County	19	5	3	11	16	34	13
Northampton	19	3	6	10	32	48	12
Gillingham	19	3	3	13	9	41	9

Scottish League.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
Glasgow Rangers	21	17	3	1	63	10	37
Celtic	19	13	5	1	40	15	31
Motherwell	21	10	6	5	36	32	26
Dundee	21	11	3	7	43	29	25
Ayr United	22	10	4	8	47	34	24
Airdrionians	21	8	7	6	26	18	23
Heart of Midlothian	21	10	3	8	32	29	23
Hibernians	21	10	3	8	39	40	23
Greenock Morton	20	9	3	8	33	18	21
Aberdeen	21	7	7	7	26	27	21
Queen's Park	22	8	5	9	36	39	21
Dumbarton	21	6	9	6	30	33	21
St. Mirren	22	7	5	10	32	44	19
Kilmarnock	22	8	3	11	27	47	19
Partick Thistle	19	7	4	8	26	31	18
Clydebank	19	7	3	9	34	32	17
Third Lanark	20	5	7	8	25	38	17
Albion Rovers	20	7	3	10	22	34	17
Raith Rovers	23	6	4	13	45	57	16
Falkirk	23	5	6	12	25	41	16
Clyde	22	5	5	12	29	42	15
Hamilton Academicals	21	5	2	14	29	52	12

Castleford Town v. Hednesford or Gnome Athletic Bury v. Stoke
Cardiff City v. Oldham Athletic
Northampton or Bristol Rovers v. Tottenham Hotspur
Blackpool v. Derby County
Sunderland v. Hull City
Southend United v. Sheffield United.
Port Vale v. Manchester United Fulham v. Swindon
Thorneycrofts v. Burnley
Aston Villa v. Queens Park Rangers
Southampton v. West Ham United
Newcastle United v. Crystal Palace.

CHELSEA THE VENUE.

Important Football Association Decisions.

TEAM FOR AFRICA.

At a meeting of the International Selection Committee of the F.A. on Monday it was decided to accept the invitation of the South African Association to send an English team to South Africa next spring, provided the terms are mutually agreed that the tour should not last more than three months. Further stipulations were that the English team should leave during the first week in May and return not later than the middle of August and that the number of matches played should not exceed twelve two per week.

Australian Invitation.

With regard to a second invitation to send a team to Australia, the committee decided to postpone further consideration of the matter until the question of the South African tour had been settled.

A communication was read from the British Olympic Association expressing the hope that the F.A. would not refuse to meet the team of a neutral country at the Olympic games at Antwerp on the ground that at some time since the war they had played against a German team. It was decided to defer sending a reply until after the conference at Brussels on the 28th inst.

A further important decision was the venue of the Association Cup Final, which will be played at Chelsea.

"C.B.'s" CORRECTION.

£60,000 as Dempsey's Share of the Purse.

THE BIGGEST OFFER.

Mr. C. B. Cochran, who is travelling to America on the "Mauretania," has sent the following radiogram.

"The reported offer of £60,000 is not for a purse, but is a fixed guarantee for Dempsey.

"Carpentier's remuneration is provided for in a contract already held by me."

Apparently Mr. Cochran, spurred by French and American bidding, is going all out for the Dempsey-Carpentier match. At first he said his limit was a £35,000 purse, split 60 and 40 per cent., and for a long time after—in fact, until he left to join the "Mauretania," he vowed that he would give no more, and that anyone who bid higher could have the match; but Mr. Cochran has changed his mind. Changed it, too, in no half-hearted way, for with £60,000 flat for Dempsey, a purse of £100,000 is suggested. And even at that figure he has not yet got the match! There may be an even more exuberant promoter in the field.

BILLIARDS.

The big match in England came to a conclusion on Saturday, the following being the final score:

Newman 8,000
Falkiner. 7,307

Breaks, Newman:—119, 297, 161, 101.
Falkiner:—219 and 208.

CARSLAKE GOES HOME.

Bernard Carslake, the well-known jockey, left England yesterday by the White Star liner Adriatic.

No fears need be entertained that "Brownie" is deserting the British Turf. He is just taking a long holiday, and after a visit to California it is understood he will strike for his native Australia.

We shall see him back in the saddle at the beginning of next year's "flat" season. Carslake rode several mounts in Lord Derby's colours last season, and was also on the back of the champion two-year-old Tetratema in his races.

LINCOLNSHIRE TO "CARRY ON."

It was decided at the annual meeting of the Lincolnshire County Cricket Club, held at Lincoln, to carry on the club next season, and the outlook is auspicious. Colonel A. G. Weigall, M.P., the president, is again lending his invaluable support. The old committee was re-elected, with instructions to reorganise the club and arrange fixtures for 1920, and the treasurer (Mr. R. Whitton) reported that there was a balance in hand which would, he estimated, with the subscriptions expected, be sufficient to see the club through next season.

SPORT NEWS IN A NUTSHELL.

No Draws.
West Bromwich Albion have not yet drawn a League game.

Poor Record.
Coventry City have not once scored in their last eleven games.

Better at Home.
Oldham Athletic and Sheffield United are the only First Division clubs without an away victory to their credit.

The Wrong Side.
Lincoln City are the first League team to have 50 goals scored against them.

Wells' Next.
It is stated that when next Billy Wells takes the ring his opponent will be Harry Reeves.

A New Record.
A. G. Kirby, the Ashford Manor professional, created a new record for his course by doing the first nine holes in 32, one stroke better than his previous best. Kirby finished the round in 66, one stroke above the record for the course.

Hairpin II. Unlucky.
In the course of the race for the Club Steeplechase at Haydock Park at the last fence before the winning post, where he fell on the previous day, Hairpin II. was knocked off his feet by Bonnie Charlie, who went on to win the race. Hairpin II. was going well at the time of the mishap, and must be considered unlucky.

Haydock Sales.
Phil was bought in for 370 guineas, and Ubeoff sold to Major Platt for 175 guineas at Haydock on Saturday.

Sound Defence.
In their last four away matches the Birmingham defence has not given away a goal.

Now French.
Fairy Thorn, Chaud, and MacGee, recently purchased in England, have arrived at Halsey's stables at Chantilly to be trained.

After a Year.
Charles Hawkins, who was injured at Manchester last New Year's Day, hopes to be able to discard his crutches in two months' time.

Golf Challenge.
C. Wingate (Castle Bromwich) and M. J. Lewis (Little Aston) have issued a challenge to play any two Midland golf professionals a 72 holes four-ball match for £25 aside, 36 holes, to be played at Castle Bromwich or Little Aston.

Hawkins at Hurst Park.
C. Hawkins, the incapacitated steeplechase jockey, was at Hurst Park on Saturday, and was accommodated with a chair on the Press stand to witness the racing. It will be some months before he will be able to walk without the assistance of crutches, though the specialist who is attending him is hopeful as to his being able to use his leg again.

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

The Palace Theatre.

Variety and excellence are the outstanding features of the programme submitted at the Palace theatre this week. Perhaps the most striking turn is that of the Four Whizz Bangs, comedy tumblers. Why comedy, I cannot fathom, for a "straighter" performance of really clever acrobatics it would be difficult to find. The foot and hand balancing of this quartette is extraordinarily good and the audience on the opening night made no attempt to disguise their delight.

Alfred Barker, violinist, again figures on the programme with customary success. But why is it always necessary for him to wait until he is on the stage to decide upon the lighting effects and alter them by arm revolutions? The Three Versatiles (in which talented combination is included the ever popular Miss Hilda Potts) present a bright and entertaining little show comprising song and story.

As the World's Worst Wizards, Rex and Erno are genuinely funny, as is the former in a solo turn. Charles S. Stairs sings and talks of humorous incidents while Harold Walters invariably delights his hearers by his vocal ability. On the programme the timbre of his voice is described as baritone but I think bass would be a more fitting description.

An extra turn, a ventriloquist whose name we are not told, displays considerable technical skill but his patter, not particularly strong in itself, is delivered in monotonous tones and the song at the conclusion is sung at about half the speed intended by the composer. Consequently, the ingredients of an entertaining show are rendered rather sleepy.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	STAR	£ 10
Wednesday	No Performance.
Thurs.	Tannhäuser	Wagner	6	10
Fri.	Der Bajazzo / Cav. Rusticana	Leoncavallo / Mascagni	7	10
Sat.	Figaro's Hochzeit	Mozart	7	10.30
Sun.	The Women without Shadow	Strauss	6	10.30
Mon.	Hansel und Gretel	Humperdinck	6	8
Tues.	Tannhäuser	Wagner	6	10

The orchestra, under the conductorship of Alfred Barker, accompanies splendidly, but the "Chords off" are irritatingly sustained.

Band Concert.

The Band of the 13th Battalion King's Royal Rifle Corps gave an interesting programme at the British Empire Leave Club on Sunday evening. Among the several items which were much applauded was "Maid of the Mountains." Miss Soxiers Cocks gave two 'cello solos and Miss Jameson sang with her usual charm. Rifleman Ryder played a violin solo, a Mazurka by Wieniawski, with much feeling, and Driver Pilgrim gave three recitations.

To Skaters.

I am asked to state that the skating rink at Mulheim will not be open from 2 to 6. p.m. to-day as is customary.

JACQUES.

A VOID RACE.

No Horses Finish in 'Chase at Folkestone.

The weather was fine for the Folkestone meeting on Monday and the going was good. There was an unusual occurrence in the Novices' 'Chase. Two horses started, but both fell, and as neither finished, the race was declared void.

Details.

Guildhall 'Chase:—1, Wee Sandy (2—1); 2, William Lad (100—8); 3, Our Boy (5—1). Four ran.

Seabrook Hurdle:—1, Ravello (7—4 on); 2, Manda (5—1); 3, Bridge of Sighs 6—1). Six ran.

Novices 'Chase:—Declared void. Two ran.

Dover Hurdle:—1, Monard (9—2); 2, Court Bleddyn (5—2); 3, King's Coat (5—1). Nine ran.

Maiden Hurdle:—1, Zuider Zee (6—4); 2, War Emblem (9—4); 3, Flying Simon (10—1). Five ran.

Ramsgate 'Chase:—1, Valentine (5—2); 2, Chang (13—8). Only two finished. Three ran.

LOCAL FOOTBALL.

No. 7 Field Ambulance v. No. 5 Field Amaulance.

The above mentioned teams faced each other on the ground of No. 7 on Saturday last. From the commencement of the game, No. 7 team were all over No. 5, half time arriving with the score in favour of No. 7 by 3—0.

On resuming No. 5 were very badly outplayed, the match being transformed into a game of shooting in, the final score reading 8—0 for No. 7 Field Ambulance.

231st H.Q. Coy R.E. v. 52nd R.B.

A fast and exciting game was witnessed on Saturday on the R.A.M.C. ground at Riehl, when the Sappers met the 52nd R.B. Play started at a hot pace, the game being fairly even for the first fifteen or twenty minutes when the sappers broke away and a goal was scored by Sapper Pattison, the Sappers right winger. The Sappers right tried hard to equalise but were unsuccessful, and the Sappers were leading by 1—0 half-time.

On resumption of the game, the rights tried hard to score but were again unsuccessful, the Sappers having best of the play. Neither side was able to score in the second half, the right's goalie saving some splendid shots, and the game ended with the Sappers having the only goal of the game to their credit.

RHINE GARRISON LEAGUE.

Matches to be played, Saturday next.

TEAMS.	GROUND.
121st Heavy Battery, R.G.A v. Rhine Garrison B.A.C., R.F.A.	Westhoven.
187th Brigade, R.F.A. v. 41st Bn. M.G.C.	41st Bn. M. G. C. Ground.
14 th Field Ambulance v. 51st Bn. Northumberland Fusiliers.	Exerzierplatz.
6th Inniskilling Dragoons v. 52nd. Bn. Rifle Brigade	6th Inniskilling Dragoons.
231st Field Coy, R.E. v. 23rd Bn. Royal Fusiliers.	Amsterdamerstrasse.
51st Bn. Rifle Brigade v. Rhine Garrison M.T. Coy.	51st Bn. Rifle Bde. Ground.
11th Bn. "Queens" R.W.S.Rgt. v. 2nd Field Ambulance.	Poller Weisen Ground.
Rhine Garrison Train v. 52nd Bn. North'd Fusiliers.	Stadt Wald, Lindenthal.
Camp Commandant v. 19th Bn. Middlesex Regt.	Marienburg Barracks.

BOXING EXTOLLED.

New C.O. Strongly Commends the Fistic Art.

At Aldershot Gymnasium, Lieut.-Col. Sir G. A. Armitage, C.M.G., D.S.O., on the first day of his appointment with a new unit spoke on the subject of boxing. He said:

"We want to encourage boxing, clean boxing, in this battalion. I am perfectly certain that, even if they are not boxing themselves, men will learn a great many more useful lessons at a boxing meeting than they will at a cinema. Boxing is a splendid pastime; it makes and keeps you fit; it makes you cool-headed; it teaches you to control your temper. The man who keeps fit for boxing will be fit whenever he is wanted to face the enemy."

RHINE BILLIARDS.

Championship to be Arranged at VI Corps Club.

Billiards enthusiasts among the officers in Cologne will receive with satisfaction the announcement that a competition is being organised at the VI Corps Club. The wish has been frequently expressed that such a project should be undertaken and it is, indeed, a matter of considerable surprise that nothing on a large scale in this direction has so far been attempted.

In the Club billiard room, a sheet is now available whereon budding Inmans may scribe their names as being desirous of taking part in the competition. Already the list is getting to lengthy proportions and the entrants, although chiefly composed of players in the purely novices class, include the names of some really expert exponents.

The games will be of 250 up, but the wisdom of deciding upon such a high figure is being freely questioned, in view of the inevitable protracted duration of the competition.

The opinion of many is that one hundred up would have been less fatiguing both to players and spectators alike, as well as having the advantage of sustaining interest throughout the course of the competition

G. H. Q. HOCKEY CLUB.

Efforts are being made to re-build the above club. With this object in view, a number of players have been got together and several matches have been played. There is, however, a scarcity of members and the committee will welcome fresh additions, good bad or indifferent. Further details may be obtained as to membership subscription etc. by application to: Lieut. C. Hanbury, H. Q. Military Governor, Cologne.

WHY THEY FAILED.

Upsetting Matches in Christmas Competition.

In contest No. 13 which is now under adjudication, the result of which is still in doubt, the majority of competitors were very naturally upset in their calculations by the victory of Barnsley over the conquering Spurs and the failure of Hull at Wolverhampton. Bradford City's inability to account for Notts County and Newcastle's defeat at Manchester were also the causes of many failures. Look out for the result of this contest tomorrow.

No. 14 competition, the coupon for which appears underneath, provides yet another opportunity for success in forecasting football results. Turn your attention to it now.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 14,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O./S. 40 Rhine Army.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 14.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 27th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 26th.

Burnley	v. Preston
Liverpool	v. Everton
Bolton	v. Blackburn
Notts C	v. Bradford City
West Ham	v. Huddersfield
Clapton	v. Coventry
Palace	v. Millwall
Southampton	v. Watford
Queens Park	v. Kilmarnock
Falkirk	v. Dumbarton

I enter Football Competition No. 14 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(in block letters.)
Rank and No. .....
Unit .....
Full Address .....

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

An Orgy.

Walking down a quiet street in Cologne the other day I counted seventeen empty condensed milk tins lying about.

German Humour.

In a Berlin revue England is described by a comedian as "a small island on the West Coast of Europe, the capital of which is Cologne."

All Hustle.

The British authorities are not the only ones suffering from the Xmas rush. The German post office is also working at top pressure just now.

After the Bird.

All the customers present in a poulterer's shop which I passed yesterday were British officers. They were busy making some large purchases of poultry.

At G.H.Q.

At G.H.Q. Christmas Eve will be a half holiday and office hours will be as on Saturdays. Christmas Day will be a holiday, and only urgent correspondence will be dealt with. Heads of sections will use their discretion as to the work to be done on Boxing Day.

Our Holiday.

For the benefit of my readers I would point out that the "Cologne Post" will not be published on Boxing Day or Saturday, Dec. 26th and 27th.

Fame.

Passing along a remote street I chanced to look in the window of a small stationer's shop. There, resplendent among gaily coloured Xmas cards, was a copy of our Christmas Number.

Don't Forget.

Post your efforts early for our No. 14 football contest, and thus assist the competition staff.

Christmas Dinner Out.

It is surprising how many individuals one meets who are doubtful as to where they are going to eat their Xmas Dinner. One mess I know of, having sadly deteriorated in number, decided to extend invitations to friends. The result is that the P.M.C. wonders where he is going to house the number seeking a place at the table.

Christmas Menus.

Some really stupendous menus have been prepared out here in some of the Cologne messes, ranging from soup, fish, to pork, beef, and turkey. At one N.C.O.s' mess the list of viands is so imposing that out of consideration for those who may be left to partake of tinned rabbit I resist the temptation to publish it.

For Luck.

Quite a number of competitors in our 13th Football competition entered 13 coupons. Was this to try and break their luck?

Blank Programmes.

The selling of incomplete programmes carrying blank pages is becoming an epidemic. A lady friend escorted to the opera looked far from pleased when on opening the text she found that the greater portion was missing.

Women Tram Employees.

Even now it is still possible to see women conductors on the trams. I saw two on the No. 14 route. Only a very small number are still employed.

Advertising on Trams.

Whether or no the powers that be have noticed the correspondence in the "Cologne Post" on the subject of advertising in trams, I see that a "Guide for Foreigners" is now advertised, by means of printed cards hung in the trams.

Hamburg Ring.

In a busy thoroughfare yesterday morning my batman was accosted by a civilian carrying a portmanteau in one hand and a razor in the other. "Kamerad, good razor, Hamburg Ring, ten marks," said the merchant, but Tommy didn't bite.

"I Say, Sadie!"

I notice one big store in Cologne which is specialising just now in American fashions.

Where the Trams Meet.

Just where Cologne traffic is at its busiest there is a wineshop which judging by appearances has its full share of custom. Unfortunately the tramlines at this point do not allow of the pulling up of drays, so it came about that an individual was to be seen trundling a barrel across the road while drivers of vehicles turned the air blue with lurid language.

Christmas Cheer.

It is really worth while paying a visit to the different hostels in Rhineland, and especially Cologne, which cater for Tommy. The British Empire Leave Club presents a delightful appearance, all rooms having dainty Chinese lanterns hanging from the ceiling. In the outer hall is to be seen a replica of a sandbagged trench.

Everyone is Reading it.

Dropping into the club bar the other day I found pleasure in the number of officers who had included a copy of our new souvenir number in their bundle of newspapers. Many were reading it. "Quite a topping idea," was a subaltern's comments. Did he know that his opinion is shared by many of higher rank?

Free Circulation.

I am informed that to-night free circulation of Germans will be allowed, while the electric cars will cease to run at 9 p.m.

Tantalizing.

The sight of a Tommy going down Marzellen strasse with a tray of eatables was too much for several of the civilians who passed him. They shouted "Kamerad! Kamerad!" and pointed to their mouths appealingly.

What Rumour Says.

Have you noticed the Fort in the Oberländer Ufer? A small blockhouse arrangement siands in front of it, which at some time or another has had a direct hit on it. Rumour has it that it was the result of a bomb dropped by our airmen during the war.

Wages Dependant on Things.

I met a waiter in a cafe the other day who spoke perfect English. He had been released from Abbeville, where he had been a prisoner of war for 12 months. He informed me that in this particular cafe his wages depended a great deal on his takings for the day, a system of commission.

Juvenile Criticism.

To those who left children behind on joining the colours, the following remark from a three and a-half-year-old boy will appeal. Speaking to a friend, he asked: "Have you a Daddy?" "Yes" was the reply. "So have I, but we don't see much of him," said the questioner.

All Gone Before.

Reminds one of other days when one spots the notice boards directing you "To Guards Division hostel," "To Midland Division hostel," and "To 62nd Division Club."

Beautiful and Striking Cartoons.

Do you want to see and maybe to buy some of the wonderful cartoons etc. done by Capt. Lander of the R.F? If so go to the N.A.C.B. Stores Tearoom in the Obenmarspforten and see them on the wall. The exhibition contains some wonderful war pictures grandly depicting the gruesome scenes at the front in Capt. Lander's inimitable style. Others, in bright contrast, are pre-war and extra-war studies of a pleasing type.

A Tip for the Demobbed.

In order to obviate the difficulty that arises in obtaining the verification of men's statements who proceed to England for demobilization, that they have been receiving dental treatment with a view to provision of dentures, it is advisable that all men whose mouths have been prepared, should report before demobilization to the Inspecting Dental Surgeon, 44th C.C.S., Cologne, for the A.F. Z.22 and dental certificate or the required dentures.

RHINELANDER.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

Strike of Waiters?—London waiters are threatening to strike for higher wages.

Starting Together. — Two sisters were married on the same day at Blackheath.

Theatre Boom.—About twenty-five new theatre sites are needed in London.

Crazes.— The dancing vogue has now reached its zenith.

Very Soft. — Bog oak which cuts like butter has been discovered in Lancashire.

And the Next. — Mr. R. Smillie says nationalisation of the mines is only the first step.

Merry Jack.—9,000 bluejackets were granted ten days Christmas leave at Portsmouth.

Big Schemes.—Housing schemes costing £4,500,000 have been decided on by the London County Council.

Suspect.—Beri-beri suspects from a Brazilian schooner are under medical supervision at Hull.

What it Cost Him.—A man admitted at a Doncaster inquest that he had paid £100 to get rid of his wife

Seven Thousand Tons Used.—The German liner, Imperator, arrived at Southampton with her bunkers nearly empty.

Shares Worth Holding. — There is an improved outlook for home railway securities.

The Guilty. — Lists of war criminals containing 1500 names, have been drawn up by the Allies.

Army Education.—It is said there is no intention to set up at home a college or school similar to that in Cologne.

The Price of Fish.—Lord Leverhulme's schemes for fish supplies at reasonable prices are going ahead.

Already.—Officers and men are wearing the ribbon for the recent Afghan campaign.

His New Commission. — An ex-officer is running a London boarding house and cleans the steps himself.

New Records.—Record bags of letters are being handled by the parcels department of the G.P.O.

Verboten.— Brighton police have been forbidden to play in any but friendly games.

The New Editor.—Mr. A. H. Mann succeeds Mr. J. S. R. Phillips as Editor of the "Yorkshire Post".

Native Representation. — Four Maoris were returned in New Zealand general election.

The Next Boom.—Boom in feather neckwear in the spring is predicted by the drapery trade.

"Whirligig."—Production of "Whirligig," the new Hippodrome revue, took place to-day.

The Old Showman.—Mr. J. W. Bostock, the noted showman, was buried at Abney Park Cemetery.

All There.—Second part of the German Peace Commission, under Herr von Simson, arrived in Paris.

Narrow Escape. — Cruiser Royal Arthur ran on the Folly mud bank, Chatham, but was successfully cleared.

Germany Asks.—German Government has asked Holland for the extradition of ex-Lieut. Vogel for murder.

Knew Parnell. — Mr. James Mullin, a personal friend of Parnell and Butt, has died at Cardiff.

Dearer Cheese.—Imported cheese has been increased by 2d. on the pound to 1s. 8d.

A Training Centre.—Ponder's End National Projectile Factory is to be a training centre for ex-Service men.

Strength.—Five women in a competition at a gathering at Lane End, Bucks, each stood on one leg for half an hour.

Miners' Campaign.—During the six weeks' nationalisation of mines campaign sixty M.P.s will address 100 meetings.

Lancs. Scheme.—Under the Lancashire scheme for settling ex-soldiers on the land, each Lancashire regiment is to have a farm on the ratio of 10 acres per man.

Died While Writing Sermon.—While revising his Sunday sermon the Rev. W. T. Edginton, Sheffield, rested his pen on his Bible, sat back in his chair and died.

Complimentary.—Women police sang "For he's a jolly good fellow" after being addressed by Sir Leonard Dunning, H.M. Inspector of Constabulary.

A great Advance in Soap Chemistry

As a result of many years strenuous work in chemical research and its practical application, "Sapon" Soap has been perfected. It is the greatest advance in the chemistry of Soap since that article was first manufactured.

Ordinary Soap consists of Fat deglycerined and saponified with Caustic Soda.

"Sapon" Soap is derived from Carbohydrates which when treated by the Company's patented process, yield Ammonia, Methylamine, and Trimethylamine. These Nitrogenous compounds are highly emulsifying agents, and do NOT combine with Lime or Magnesia Salts in water, as all fat-derived soaps do. Hence, no "scum" or insoluble lime soap is formed, even in the hardest water when "Sapon" Soap is used.

Dr. Shorter, of Leeds University, says of "Sapon" Soaps:—

"They contain 'surface active' colloids, whose 'surface activity' greatly exceeds that of an ordinary fat soap, and therefore it fulfils in an extremely satisfactory manner the fundamental condition for detergent action."

SKIN DISEASES

The Amines and Amido bodies in "Sapon" Soap are readily soluble in water. They are germicidal but non-injurious owing to their colloid nature. Besides their efficiency as cleansers, they have a wonderfully sedative action.

"Sapon" Soap gives wonderful results in irritable skin diseases, such as Scabies, Eczema, Pruritis, Insect Bites, Acne, etc. The following is the best method of application when it is used for curative purposes,—moisten the Soap, rub it on the part affected and allow it to dry, on.

You will never use old-fashioned Fat Soap once you have used "SAPON" SOAPS and given them a fair trial.

Sole Agents for "Sapon" Soap in Germany
ERIC MORTON & Co.
12, Lutticher Strasse
COLOGNE

SAPON SOAPS LIMITED
Sapon House, London Bridge, E.C. 4, England

THE ARMY GENERAL COLLEGE
(58 HANSA RING, COLOGNE)

The next course begins on 10th January 1920 and lasts for six weeks giving opportunities for study in various stages of the following subjects

A. GENERAL WING.

English. German.
French. Classics.
Geography. Civics.
History. Mathematics.
Mechanical Engineering (Elem.) Chemistry & Physics.

B. COMMERCIAL WING.

GROUP I.

(a) Economics. (To include, Money, Trade & Finance; and the Indust. Development of England.)
(b) Commercial Geography.
(c) Commercial Law.
(d) Company Law.
(e) Bookkeeping (Elementary).
(f) Bookkeeping (Intermediate).
(g) Accountancy.
(h) Auditing.
(i) Commercial Correspondence and Training (Elementary).
(j) Commercial Correspondence and Business Training (Advanced).
(k) Banking.
(l) Commercial Arithmetic. (Elem.)
(m) " " (Advanced.)
(n) Shorthand & Typewriting.
(o) Secretarial Practice.

GROUP II.

(p) French. (Elementary.)
(q) " (Commercial.)
(r) German. (Elementary.)
(s) German. (Commercial.)
(t) Spanish. (Elementary.)

C. AGRICULTURAL WING.

COURSE C (I).

The Allotment Holders' Course, which in intended to meet the requirements of students wishing to take up an allotment on demobilisation, and is held at the Army Educational Farm.

COURSE C (II).

The Agricultural Science Course, which is intended for men with farming experience who wish to continue their studies or take up science connected with agriculture.

D. ART CLASSES.

1. Pure Art, figure drawing, painting and sketching.
2. Commercial Art, drawing, design, construction and artistic crafts.

ALL RANKS wishing to enter for the above courses should apply at once to their Commanding Officers

Names must reach G.H.Q. By 30th December.

AROUND AND ABOUT.

NEW YEAR'S DAY.

New Year's Day has not always fallen on January 1st. The earliest calendars—the Jewish, the Greek, and the Egyptian—placed the beginning of the year at March 26th. This date was accepted in all Christian countries, and up to 1752 the legal year commenced on that day. Popular opinion, however, very early adopted the Roman calendar. As a sort of compromise, up to the middle of the eighteenth century it was usual to set down all dates between December 31 and March 25 thus: January 30, 1630-1.

PLUM PUDDING AND MINCE PIE.

The Christmas pudding in its contents is thought to symbolise, as does mince pie also, the rich offerings made by the Wise Men to the Infant Christ, and dates back to the early Christians.

"Once upon a time" plum pudding was called, "hackin", signifying the "hackin" or chopping of the ingredients—meats, suet, fruits and spices. After the revolution that enthroned the "merry monarch", Charles II., the "hackin" of our ancestors was baptised "plum pudding".

It seems to have survived in its original form only in England, where it is our National dish.

THE ORIGIN OF CHRISTMAS TREES.

The question of the origin of Christmas-trees is of great interest. Though their affinity to other sacraments of the vegetation-spirit is evident, it is difficult to be certain of their exact ancestry. Dr. Tille regards them as coming from a union of two elements: the old Roman custom of decking houses with laurels and green trees at the Kalends of January, and the popular belief that every Christmas Eve apple and other trees blossomed and bore fruit.

BRADSHAW DEMOBBED.

For over five years there has been no "Continental Bradshaw," and those of us who could not afford time or money to go to Constantinople or Moscow have not even had the old fun of tracing a journey there in the famous time-table. But now "Mr. Bradshaw" has put his Continental time-table on our desk again—his first appearance since August 1914. It is now in two parts, the first being the familiar Continental time-table, and the second a complete Continental guide There are, of course, some omissions—"there ain't no busses runnin' from the Bank to Petrograd," for instance—but the demobbing of "Bradshaw" is a welcome landmark on the way back to normal.

WHY IT IS DECEMBER 25.

Nobodly knows whether that is the exact date on which Christ was born, or what people first celebrated the festival on that date. After the triumph of Christianity the prejudice of the early Christians against the celebration of birthdays as heathenish died out. Some time between 337 and 352, Pope Julius directed Saint Cyril to ascertain the correct date. He reported that the Western Churches observed it on December 25, although other Churches kept the day in January, April, May, March, and September. Pope Julius was so satisfied with Saint Cyril's report that he set December 25 as Christmas Day, and our observance of that date has come down to us from that decision.

CHRISTMAS CANDLES.

Burning candles at Christmastide is a custom derived from the Roman Saturnalia. Not only were candles used for the purpose of illumination during that festival, but they were also exchanged as gifts in token of cheerfulness and goodwill. It is probable that the employment of candles was derived from the Jewish Feast of the Dedication, which was held about the same time of the year as the Saturnalia and the Yule. The burning of candles was one of the incidents of the feast, and it is not unlikely that at the time of the birth of Jesus thousands of candles were brightly burning throughout Palestine—a fitting, though unintentional, proclamation of the Light that had come into the world. A fact that bears out this supposition is that the Catholics of the Greek Church call Christmas the "Feast of Lights."

EYESIGHT IMPROVED BY ARMY LIFE.

If you want to improve your eyesight, join the Army. That, at least, seems to be suggested by a correspondent, who has heard of several cases of ex-soldiers who wore glasses before they joined up and no longer require them. One man he knows, who wore spectacles for years, has just returned to a sedentary occupation that throws a great strain on the eyesight, and is delighted to find, after doing his bit in the Army, that he can read the smallest print without any artificial aid, a thing he could never have done four years age. Certainly it would be interesting to know how far this improvement of eyesight prevailis amongst the "demobbed."

MISTLETOE AND KISSES.

DECKING THE CHRISTMAS-TREE.

The size of a Christmas-tree, as well as its "set out," must be in unison with its object: a large tree for a school or similar gathering, a somewhat smaller one for a family party. In addition to the gifts exchanged in a family, flags, bannerettes, sweetmeats, nuts, fruit, etc., etc., may be arranged and fastened up with advantage in many charming ways—ways which any ingenious person will easily devise.

Have a large mirror hung on the wall exactly behind the spot destined for the Christmas-tree, and when lighted up the reflection will be splendidly enhanced, and the richness and beauty of our scene added to.

Firmly plant the tree in a large pot, which in its turn is set inside a square tea-chest ornamented prettily by being first papered over with white, and then having strips of crimson paper, about 2in. or 3in. in width, pasted perpendicularly all round at equal distances. A crimson bordering can also be fastened round the top. The inside of the chest should be well packed up, and a layer of moss neatly arranged round the trunk of the tree.

To load the tree with its "fruit" is a work of little trouble, though needing thought and consideration. Put the candles on first—next a collection of tastily-made flags and banners. No Christmas-tree could possibly be successful without "goodies," and much might be said as to the ways of fastening up sweets in their several packages.

Boxes of bonbons should be laid at the root of the tree, on the moss, until wanted. Some people put apples and oranges on a Christmas-tree, but they are almost too heavy. Articles of needlework, books, cards, and anything that might be irretrievably injured by grease or any mishap should be neatly wrapped in white paper parcels tied with pink or blue ribbon, and have a Christmas card slipped underneath to brighten up the exterior.

Sometimes a tiny spray of mistletoe—just a leaf and a berry or two may be fastened to such parcels to be, perchance, of utility to some one finding it in close proximity to some unconscious damsel. All heavy articles should be fastened to the stoutest branches, on the lower part of the tree; on no account put them at the summit or in a frail part.

R.C. FLACK & CO.
Naval-Military and Civil Tailors
CAMBRIDGE.

The largest selection of newest materials for Mufti and Military; also a large stock of gloves-hosiery-underwear-shirts etc. etc.

KRONPRINZ HOTEL
Behind EXCELSIOR.

WANTED
FOR "THE COLOGNE POST" STAFF

1. ONE LEDGER CLERK. One used to newspaper accounts preferred, but accounts are fairly simple and any experienced clerk could do the work.
2. ONE REPORTER. Experienced in general reporting work.
3. ONE PROOF-READER. Must be a man of good education and wide general knowledge with experience in proof reading.
4. ONE GERMAN-SPEAKING PRINTER. To supervise German compositors. Knowledge of newspaper work required.

The above are urgently needed and application should be submitted at once. Officers and other ranks desiring to apply should first obtain permission from their C.O. and then forward their applications through the usual channels. A duplicate copy of the application, supported by details of experience, should be sent direct to:—

THE MANAGING EDITOR, COLOGNE POST:
A.P.O./S. 40, Army of the Rhine.

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O. S. 40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

SPLENDID PIANO, cross stringed, black, beautiful tone for sale 9500 Mks. Deutz. Mathildenstrasse 65 II.

GRAND piano, absolutely new and tadless, coming direct from the factory of one of the most renowned German firms, for sale. Cologne-Braunsfeld, Braunstr. 36 ptr.

MODERN MAIL COACH (four-in-hand), 10 seated, scarcely used, first-class peace material. Offers to A 454, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

GERMAN learned quickly. Call Spandow's, Rudolfplatz 7, near Opera house. 20 years experience at English schools.

WANTED.

BEDROOM with use of sitting room and kitchen required in Cologne for soldier and wife. Write Box 146, Cologne Post, A.P.O. S. 40. (1)

TYPEWRITER, visible, English or Continental. Write Box 147 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

SITUATIONS WANTED

YOUNG LADY with good certificates, skilled in cooking, household work and sewing, speaking French, wants situation on Jan. 15th. Moderate wages. Write A 456, Cologne Post, A.P.O. S. 40.

YOUNG LADY with good certificates skilled in cooking, household work, sewing, speaking French wants situation for the 15th Jan. Does not assume to much.

LOST.

TWO DOGS, one half Airedale, half sheep dog, Airedale coat, colour black and white, no tail, war-dog, 15 on collar. The other black and white fox terrier, answers to name "Gwinnie." Dogs last seen at Rhine Garrison Officer's Paper Chase, Dec. 2nd 150 Marks reward for information as to whereabouts of above dogs. Capt. Selby, D/51 Brigade, R.F.A., Rhine Army. (2)

LANGUAGES.

GERMAN lady gives lessons in German, English and French. Apply A 455, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

LANGUAGES

A YOUNG German lady seeks weekly conversation with educated, English lady. Write A 457, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

The high grade "TUCKMAR" Razor

Do you know why everybody asks to-day for a "Tuckmar" razor and why they are called the "Worlds Perfect Razor"???

Because they are the very best and most durable razors in shaving!!!

The excellence of the "Tuckmar" razors consists in their being made from the very best silver steel and in their having the best reputation in the world!!! Every razor fully warranted! SOLD EVERYWHERE!

TÜCKMANTEL & MARTIN, Ohligs-Solingen.
Factory-Agent and Exhibition: Germanns & Schallenberg, Cologne, Neumarkt 32-34.

TUCKMAR RAZORS P. LAAFF, Specialist KOMODIENSTR. 79 Opposite Army Cinema No. 1. Lowest prices

Open your Door
to all the Music of all the World

Buy a „Gramola"

Gramophone Spezialhaus
COLOGNE
Hohestr. 150

WINEHOUSE PALME
Ehrenstraße corner Benesisstraße
First class wines
Diners—Suppers
DAILY CONCERT

Winehouse Köhler
(formerly Carlton)
Grosse Sandkaul 24—26
behind "Coffeehouse Germania."
The most fashionable place in the city.
Small-Orchestra starting at 5.0 p.m.
For officers and civilians only.

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 39 Marzellen-strasse, Cologne, December 24, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S. 40 British Army of the Rhine.

THE Y.M.C.A. NOW SEEKS YOUR ASSISTANCE.

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

3,707 MARKS WON BY A LUCKY READER IN FOOTBALL COMPETITION SEE P. 3.

No. 230. COLOGNE, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 25, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS.

THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF'S MESSAGE TO ALL RANKS.

OF YOUR OWN GOODWILL, KIND SIRS!

TO YOU!

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS FROM THE C-I-C.

A SPECIAL ORDER OF THE DAY issued by General Sir William R. Robertson, Bart, G.C.B., G.C.M.G., K.C.V.O, Commander-in-Chief, British Army of the Rhine, and dated December 24th, reads:—

To the Officers, Non-commissioned Officers, and Men of the British Army of the Rhine:—

I desire to wish you a happy Christmas, and at the same time to express my appreciation of the general good conduct, tact, and courtesy which you have displayed during the past twelve months whilst in the novel situation of being an Army of Occupation in an enemy country.

You are called upon to pass yet another Christmas away from your homes, to keep watch on the Rhine whilst the new Regular Army is being made ready to relieve you, and I have no doubt that you will continue worthily to uphold the traditions of the Army to which we have the honour to belong.

In spite of being in a foreign land I trust that you may all spend a Merry Xmas and a Good New Year.

* * *

From the British Army of the Rhine to its Commander-in-Chief:—

Thanks. The same to you, Sir!

LITVINOFF PARLEY.

MR. O'GRADY'S HOLIDAY.

Mr. Harmsworth, for the Foreign Office, in the Commons confirmed the announcement that since the negotiations between Mr. O'Grady and M. Litvinoff for the exchange of prisoners had been broken off information had reached the Government that a basis for resuming discussions might be found, and that a solution might be possible.

The Government therefore instructed Mr. O'Grady to resume negotiations with the Soviet Government. He was coming home for a few days' leave and would return to Copenhagen on Dec. 30.

JUDGE ON CHANGED CUSTOMS.

In the City of London Court James Bennett Ross, painter, of Grays, Essex, made a claim against the Atlantic Transport Company (Limited), Leadenhall-street, E.C., as the owners of the steamship Maryland, of Belfast, to recover compensation for the death of his son, John Ross, who was buried in a fall of coal while working as a fireman.

Mr. Doughty, for the defendants, read a list of the plaintiff's earnings, showing that he had earned from £4 to £10 a week during the last two years. He urged that the plaintiff was in no sense a dependent on his son. Judge Atherley-Jones, K.C., said that times had changed a great deal among working men. He could remember the time when a working man never wore a collar except perhaps on Christmas Day, and when the wife of a working man never wore anything except humble garments. As for flowers in her bonnet, the most she would have would be a little groundsel. He awarded the plaintiff £50 and costs.

SMALL BOY'S LONG JOURNEY.

An eight-year-old boy, Frank Neal, has been brought to friends in Plymouth all the way from San Francisco by a lady who was a stranger to him and his family. The child lost his mother three years ago, and the war prevented the father from getting him home, as he wished, to relatives in England. Recently Mrs. Cann, who was leaving San Francisco for this country, offered out of kindness to act as the boy's escort.

MAILS FOR TURKEY LOST BY FIRE.

The Postmaster-General announces that mails, containing correspondence addressed to civilians in Turkey (except Mesopotamia, Palestine, and Syria), which reached the General Post Office, London, between 5 p.m. on November 18 and 5 p.m. on November 19 last, have been destroyed by fire.

WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES.

The National Savings Committee notify that the number of War Savings Certificates sold during the week ended December 13 was 1,331,031, bringing the total to that date up to 378,838,586.

The Postmaster-General announces that no air mail will be dispatched from London to Paris on December 25, 26, and 27.

Q. E. D.

HOW TO SQUARE A RED TRIANGLE.

Before the mathematicians have had time to re-write Euclid, Pythagoras, and other abstruse school books in the light of the new Einstein theory, let us put in a word or two on the subject of triangles.

There is a proposition in the First Book of Euclid to the effect that the sum of the squares of the sides of a right-angled triangle is equal to the square of the hypotenuse. Another proposition says that the squares of the sides of an equilateral triangle are equal and so forth—which means that they balance.

Now the normal sign of the Y.M.C.A. is a red equilateral triangle, but alas, tested by Euclid or arithmetic, or any other method, there is something wrong. The triangle is distorted.

Let ABC equal the Y.M.C.A. triangle. The base AB equals the Y.M.C.A work—its magnificent achievements during and since the war. AC, one of the sides, equals the expenditure of such work. When we come to the other side—the line BC, the income not all the mathematicians who ever lived could prove that it is equal to the line AC, which is just where you step in again.

The line is £750,000 too short!

Do you know that all the chief officials at the Y.M.C.A. in Cologne give their services? That they receive no salaries, but pay all their own expenses?

How much have YOU given to the Y.M.C.A.?

Yet, either you or yours, beyond all question, have received their ministrations.

If it were not you personally, then it was your brother or friend who received a cup of tea or a cigarette when leaving the trenches, or just before he was killed or wounded. In his need he was succoured. Well, then, at this season of giving, remember the Y.M.C.A.

What about a whip-round at your mess dinner to-day?

That Red Triangle has got to be squared up.

GERMAN CHARGED WITH THEFT.

300 MISSING WATCHES.

At Old-street Police Court, Louis Hendle, aged 67, described as a German subject and a linguist, living at South Tottenham, was remanded on a charge of being concerned with another man not in custody in stealing and receiving from a man 300 watches and a number of watch-cases valued at £1,000, the property of the Combine Watch Company, of Hatton Garden.

The prisoner was arrested by Detective Sharpe at Finsbury-pavement on November 13, and was originally charged with the unlawful possession of two silver watches found upon him at the time. He now admitted having pawned watches for a man he had known for some months. It was stated the police had been unable to find this man.

TERRITORIAL OFFICERS' DECORATION.

The Secretary of the War Office announces that it has been decided that recipients of the Territorial Officers' Decoration, none of whom have been summoned to Investitures hitherto, may attend the Provincial Investitures which are being held in commands by a member of the Royal Family on his Majesty's behalf, in order to receive the "T.D." due to them, provided they are willing to attend at their own expense.

Any Territorial Force Officer wishing to avail himself of this concession should apply to the General Officer Commanding the Command in which he resides, giving his name in full, the name of the unit he served with on the outbreak of war, and particulars of the approximate date of the award.

SAILOR'S "FAT HEAD."

"Has it been any lesson to you?" asked the magistrate at Thames Police Court of a young sailor in the Navy who appeared on a charge of drunkenness. "Yes, in a way," was the reply. The Magistrate: "What way?"—Prisoner: "Oh, fat heads." Magistrate: "I don't know what that means."—Prisoner: "Bit of a pain in the head." Magistrate: "Oh, I understand; I thought you were applying that to my surroundings here." (Laughter.) Prisoner was let off with a fine.

Ilford Education Committee has decided to include organised games of football in the school curriculum.

LARGE FAMILIES.

NUMEROUS APPLICANTS FOR FRENCH PRIZES.

The French Academy has already received 20,000 applications for the "Cognacq prizes," which are presented yearly to the parents of the largest families.

One of them is the Roger family of Houilles, which consists of 27 children, of whom 18 are alive to-day. Some of the sons died in the war. The father is a shepherd and the mother works in a factory. The eldest child is 40 years old, while the youngest is only two.

Since there are only 50 prizes of 25,000f. each to give away it is probable that no candidate with less than 12, and perhaps, 15, children will be successful.

LADY PATRICIA RAMSAY.

SON BORN AT CLARENCE HOUSE.

Lady Patricia Ramsay gave birth to a son at Clarence House on Sunday morning.

Last evening mother and son were stated to be doing well.

Lady Patricia Ramsay, formerly Princess Patricia of Connaught, married Captain the Hon. Alexander Robert Maule Ramsay, D.S.O., R.N., last February.

COMBINE AGAINST BOLSHEVISM.

A Denikin wireless message states that Denikin will negotiate with the Russian border states on the basis of reunion to Russia in order to unify the activities of all Anti-Bolshevist forces.

LOOT OF THE WAR.

DISCOVERY OF FURNITURE AT MUNICH.

According to the "Kreuz Zeitung" seven valuable suites of French and Belgian furniture have been found in the apartments of Dr. Wadler, of Munich, who was a Commissary during the Bavarian Soviet régime, and who is now undergoing imprisonment for high treason.

The furniture was stolen during the war and was sent into Germany from the occupied areas as "military goods" by means of forged stamps and signatures. The forwarding agent to whom it was consigned stated that Wadler had dispatched to Germany considerable quantities of furniture which he seems to have disposed of.

THE CENOTAPH.

BASE HEAPED WITH HOLLY.

The base of the Cenotaph in Whitehall is never without its covering of flowers placed there in memory of the gallant dead, but experience is showing that at certain times the tributes suddenly increase in number, so that wreath is piled on wreath. Anniversaries of battles, which will be for ever famous, and Armistice Day, have brought many pilgrims to the memorial, and now it seems that Christmas too is to be a time of special observance.

The Cenotaph this week is heaped with holly wreaths, and crosses. Some of these tributes are being brought from the country by relatives visiting London, and they bear the names both of men of the ranks and officers.

FROM THE COLOGNE POST TO THE BRITISH ARMY OF THE RHINE, AND ALL ITS OTHER READERS:

WISHING YOU THE COMPLIMENTS OF THE SEASON.

FOREIGN BACON DANGERS.

TWO DEATHS AT YARMOUTH.

At an inquest held at Yarmouth, on the body of Mrs. Mary Bracey, a well-known local lady, death was found to be due to blood poisoning following an accidental cut in the tip of one finger, while Mrs. Bracey was cutting up some foreign bacon. Mrs. Bracey had cared for a great many shipwrecked men landed at Yarmouth during the war, attending on them at the Sailors' Home. She also organized a service of parcels for Yarmouth prisoners of war besides engaging in various other public and philanthropic activities.

This is the second death from blood poisoning at Yarmouth within a brief period in which foreign bacon has been considered the cause.

INTER-ALLIED CONFERENCE.

Mr. Bonar Law informed the House of Commons that the principal subjects to be discussed at the next Inter-Allied meeting at Paris will probably be the Adriatic and Turkish questions, though other important matters will doubtless be dealt with. Asked regarding the present places of residence of the Hohenzollern Princes Mr. Bonar Law said that the Crown Prince is in Holland and that he had no reason to suppose that the other princes are anywhere but in Germany.

AMRITSAR SHOOTINGS.

Replying to a question in the House of Commons by Colonel Wedgwood as to whether, pending the result of the inquiry into the Amritsar riots, Brigadier General Dyer, who ordered the shooting had been relieved of his Command, Mr. Montagu said the reply was in the negative and added that he was in communication with the Viceroy of India on the whole matter. Colonel Wedgwood said he would raise the question on the adjournment to-day.

NITTI'S TRIUMPH.

ROYAL PREROGATIVE TO BE ABOLISHED.

Old parliamentarians in Rome say they cannot remember any Premier having such a triumph as Signor Nitti achieved on Monday when he announced in the Chamber of Deputies that war would never henceforth be declared by Italy without the will of Parliament and people. The House cheered again when he promised to bring in a Bill abrogating the King's right to declare war, to make peace, and to contract treaties. All these rights will henceforth be vested in Parliament.

The Italian Premier in a statement made in the Chamber said with regard to the Adriatic question that the Government sincerely desired friendly relations with the Yugo Slavs. Referring to Fiume he said that the plebiscite in that heroic town had made the aspirations of Fiume a matter very close to their hearts though the question should not be considered in a spirit of hostility towards their Allies. The Government was framing its action towards Fiume so as to avoid internal troubles.

He regarded their proposals to the Allies as a minimum. The Italian Government had recently asked both regular and irregular forces to retire from the town. In the last few days the National Council of Fiume had associated itself with the Government's programme and more than four fifths of the population favoured that attitude. As to the attitude of France and Great Britain on the Fiume question, Italy had their friendly consent if not their complete adhesion.

AMEER'S PRECARIOUS THRONE.

According to the "Times" the position of the Ameer of Afghanistan is far from secure. His life has been attempted on several occasions, and he has not been strong enough to put away Nasrullah Khan, his uncle, and others whose influence is still great. The belief is expressed in well informed quarters that the Afghans will avoid falling into the clutches of the Bolshevists.

SUMMARY COURT.

DEFECTIVE MEMORY AND A REVOLVER.

Johann Oster, 26 Hartungerstrasse, Nippes, who stated that his daughter was engaged to a British officer, was found in possession of a loaded revolver. His defence was that he lived in a very dangerous quarter, and his house had been broken into and 7,000 marks stolen. He had intended to apply for a licence, but had forgotten to do so. His memory was very defective owing to a wound in the head. The German police gave him a good character, and a fine of 400 marks was imposed.

Charged with failing to salute a British officer, and behaving in an impertinent manner, Wilhelm Friederick, a tramway official of 119 Amsterdamerstrasse, Riehl, excused himself on the plea that he did not recognise the officer's rank.

The officer stated that in company with another officer he was walking down Riehler Gürtel. The accused passed within a few yards of them and although obviously recognising them as officers, neglected to salute.

Accused stated that he was for four years a prisoner of war in the Isle of Man.

"Were you well treated there?" asked the Presiding Officer.

"I cannot complain" replied accused, who was fined sixty marks or one week's imprisonment.

Wilhelm Braun, of 278 Venloerstrasse, who described himself as an architect's student, was fined 100 marks or seven days. His offence consisted in tearing down a notice in a railway carriage, intimating that the compartment was reserved for officers.

Walking down the Hohe strasse an officer was struck by a handcart which was being pushed by Christian Lamper, a baker, of 26 Simon Meistersstrasse. The result was that Lamper was charged with assaulting the officer, and behaving in an improper and insolent manner.

Accused said he was taking a short cut to his destination and had no intention of running into the officer. The latter, in reply to the Presiding Officer, said the accused may not have acted in a deliberate manner.

Fifty marks or ten days was the penalty.

PARLIAMENT UP.

THE KING'S SPEECH.

Parliament was prorogued by His Majesty the King on Tuesday afternoon. The speech at the outset showed recognition of the new conditions by changing the time honoured phrase "My Lords and Gentlemen" to "My Lords and Members of the House of Commons." The speech opened with an announcement of the signing of peace treaties with Germany, Austria and Bulgaria and expressing the earnest hope that peace with the Ottoman Empire and Hungarian Republic will shortly be concluded. It expresses regret that there is no immediate prospect of the establishment in Russia of a constitutional Government, which alone can conduce to the Russians' permanent prosperity. References were made to the Prince of Wales' tour and the death of General Botha, one of the Empire's greatest and wisest statesmen. Dealing with the position of ex-service men the speech states that the King's appeal to employers has received a large response, but more remains to be done. Confidence is expressed that though difficult times are not yet past, the course is set fair towards the renewal of national strength and prosperity. There has been a steady improvement in industrial conditions.

HOME RULE.

PROPOSALS WELL RECEIVED.

Mr. Lloyd George's statement on Home Rule was well received by the House of Commons, which was pleased with the pathetic tone of the speech. Many members like Sir Edward Carson and his Ulster friends are dubious about the details. They would like to have the scheme in its printed Bill form for close examination before committing themselves to its support. There were also signs of hostility on the part of a small minority of English Unionists. The general opinion, however, was that if unity can be maintained in the Cabinet during the discussions which must take place in various stages of the Bill next session there will be no obstacles of a parliamentary character which cannot easily be overcome.

BYE ELECTION RESULT.

The result of the Parliamentary by-election for the St. Albans Division (Herts) was declared yesterday as follows:—

Freemantle (Coalition Unionist) 9,621; Brown (Labour Party) 8,908; Milner Gray (Liberal) 2,474. No change.

At the previous election the Coalition Unionist, Mr. Hildred Carlile, was returned unopposed.

READY TO ASSESS DAMAGES.

The Reparations Commission is prepared to set to work as soon as the Ratifications of the Peace Treaty are deposited. Already much preliminary work has been done, says Mr. Bonar Law. The British Government is in consultation with the Governments of the Dominions and India to consider the principles on which the British Empire claims shall be made out.

EGYPT CALMER.

STUDENTS RESPONSIBLE FOR AGITATION.

The week following Lord Milner's arrival in Egypt passed off better than had been anticipated. The situation cannot yet be described as altogether satisfactory, although none of the dire events predicted by the extremists has occurred. There has been some recrudescence of disorders since the 11th December and it is realised that these must be immediately and rigorously checked otherwise they may lead to a repetition of serious disturbances. All measures have therefore been taken to deal with renewed attempts at lawlessness. Meanwhile it is satisfactory to record that the provinces are reported quiet. The whole trouble in Cairo can really be traced to the students, who have abandoned their studies for politics. The hotheads among them undoubtedly excite the low elements of the population, who are prepared to commit any depredation. When one recalls the numbers of this class in Cairo it can well be imagined how sorely the police have been taxed in order to cope with the situation once the mobs get out of hand.

It is reasonable to assume that there would be little or no disorder if the students returned to their studies. The worst quarter is the Moslem University, Alazzar, where there is practically constant trouble. The strongest opinions are being expressed concerning the use of Alazzar as a sort of fortress harbouring the very worst elements, who sally forth attacking police and military with impunity.

This week's incidents have not been very serious as is testified by the fact that not a single ball cartridge has been fired. The work of the native police cannot be too highly commended, especially the police guard of 300 men who despite intimidation and constant risks loyally energetically carry on. The real object of the recurring tram stoning is to induce the tram men to cease work through injury, other means of bringing them out on strike having failed. Intimidation is still rife but the intimidators are not finding their path so easy as in April, when discontent, coupled with domestic conditions, undoubtedly did much to fill the ranks of the agitators. Meanwhile the hostility to the Milner Commission continues unabated, though not always taking the form of open demonstration.

OFFICERS' LANGUAGE COURSES.

An Army Order states that courses of study have been arranged to enable officers holding permanent commissions in the Regular Army to master the rudiments of certain foreign languages before proceeding abroad for further study.

At the School of Oriental Studies a six-months' course of Chinese will begin on February 2 next; five-months' courses in Arabic on March 1 and October 1; and a six-months' course in Japanese on October 1. At King's College, London, there will be five-months' courses in Russian, the first beginning on March 1 and the second on October 1; and at University College, London, a two-months' course in advanced German will begin on February 2, and a similar course on October 1. Ten officers will be admitted to each course, and applicants for admission should be unmarried and under 30 years of age. Previous records, educational and military, will be taken into consideration.

BRITISH OFFICER ASSAULTED AND ROBBED.

Lieut. Spedman, a member of Col. Longhurst's Commission at Berlin, was the victim of a brutal assault and robbery at the Charlottenburg railway station last Saturday as he was about to entrain for Danzig, receiving hurts which confined him to bed. The assailant escaped.

Defence Minister Noske, accompanied by the Police President at Berlin, personally called on Col. Longhurst to tender the German Government's regrets at the occurrence.

COST OF LIVING IN FRANCE.

As a New Year present for the French public a fifty per cent. increase in the cost of living is expected. Sugar will cost about thirty per cent more and the price of bread will be doubled. Cloth and clothing will be increased by twenty-five per cent owing to the adverse exchange and the lack of raw materials. Other increases comprise gas and electricity, thirty-five per cent; omnibus and tram fares, ninety per cent; railway fares fifty per cent and postage forty per cent.

FIRES ON EX-GERMAN SHIPS.

Investigations are being made regarding the constant recurrence of fires on ex-German ships. Sir Auckland Geddes says it is probable that in some cases fires have arisen through old bunkers not being cleared out.

John Roberts, the former billiards champion, is seriously ill.

"Sam and "Barbara," the Polar bears brought to the Zoo fifteen years ago, have again failed in their efforts to rear a family. A week ago "Sam" became the father of two cubs. One of them succumbed to pneumonia on Saturday, and the other died on Tuesday.

Y.M.C.A. RHINE ARMY.

CHRISTMAS DAY, 1919.

CHRISTMAS APPEAL FOR £5,000

from the Officers N.C.O.'s Men and British Residents of the Rhine Army, as the

Rhine Army Contribution.

Toward the

Final War-Work National Appeal for £750,000.

WILL YOU HELP TO CARRY ON THE WORK THE Y.M.C.A. IS STILL DOING WITH THE TROOPS IN

GERMANY	INDIA
MESOPOTAMIA	PERSIA
EGYPT	PALESTINE
SALONICA	RUSSIA
FRANCE	CONSTANTINOPLE
BELGIUM

and at all the London Stations?

Extract from letter from the Commander-in-Chief, Rhine Army, who has given his full interest and support to the Appeal:

"I cannot speak too highly of the value to the Army of the self-denying efforts made by your Association to increase in every way the moral and material well-being of the Troops, with whom, indeed, the name of your Association has now become a household word."

OVER 90 Y.M.C.A. CENTRES WERE ESTABLISHED WITH THE RHINE ARMY.

28 Y.M.C.A. CENTRES ARE STILL RUNNING WITH THE RHINE GARRISON AND THE INDEPENDENT DIVISION.

Do you want these all to close for lack of funds?

A GUINEA FROM EVERY OFFICER AND HALF-A-CROWN FROM EVERYONE ELSE WOULD RAISE THE REQUIRED AMOUNT.

WHAT ABOUT IT?

All contributions should be sent to the Chief Accountant, Y.M.C.A. H.Q. Rhine Army, who will be glad to send anyone a copy of the complete Balance Sheet, recently published in "The Times," a statement of the Facts of the Situation by Lord Askwith, and full particulars of the Appeal.

Y.M.C.A. RHINE ARMY.

XMAS IN THE HUTS.

CHRISTMAS DAY 1919.

1. Special Christmas Entertainments will be given to-day in the following Y.M.C.A. Centres:—Bonn Central, Godesburg, 25 General Hospital, Werneskirchen, Pattrath, Solingen, Opladen, Marienburg, Ehrenfeld (Bakerie.), Rotgen, (Tank Group)
2. The Etceteras Concert Party will give Christmas Day Performances to-day as follows: 44 C.C.S. 5 p.m. Cologne Central 7 p.m.
3. Special Pictures, Orchestra and Acrobatic Performance will be given in the Y.M.C.A. Cinema to-day at Muelheim. 6.30 p.m.

Look out for the Boxing Day Programme.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL MEN OF THE RHINE ARMY.

THE CHURCH ARMY XMAS ARRANGEMENTS.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

Festivities are being arranged for all troops at each of the following Canteens:—

C.A. Club—Hotel du Nord.
Station Canteen—Cologne Main Station.
*White City (Remount Depôt) Soldiers' Club.
Mülheim (Stadt Halle) Skating Rink and Tea Rooms.
*Mülheim (Barracks) Canteen.
Ohligs, Canteen and Club.
Bonn, (Weber Strasse) C.A. Tea Rooms.
Berg. Gladbach (Independent Division) Canteen and Recreation Rooms. Open from 17.30 to 20.00.
Berg. Gladbach, Club and Tea Rooms. Canteen open from 12 to 15 only, Recreation Room open all day.

* Closed on Xmas day owing to Military Entertaintment.

In addition to the above—there will be Xmas Entertainments at the Rest-Houses—Mittelhäuser and Zur Post.

Further particulars will be advertised in the "Cologne Post."

1919—1920

N New Year's Eve Ball Y E A R

December 31st 9.30—12.30

AT THE

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB

(Officers' Subscription Dance)

President: Major-General Sir S. T. B. LAWFORD, K.C.B.

FANCY DRESS OPTIONAL

Tickets 20 Marks — Apply: Controller Entertainments :: British Empire Leave Club ::

CHURCH ARMY CHAPEL Hotel du Nord.
Holy Communion: Sundays 8.00. Tuesdays 7.30. Thursdays 7.00. Fridays 7.30.

Christmas Day.
6.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
8.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
9.30 hrs. Matins.
10.30 hrs. Holy Communion with hymns and address, Rev. L. D. Agate: M.A.
17.30 hrs. Evensong and address: Rev. L. D. Agate, M.A.

Scottish Churches and English Free Churches.

THE MILITARY CHURCH.
6 Filzengraben (Turning off Heumarkt.)
SPECIAL CHRISTMAS SERVICE
Thursday Dec. 25 at 10.0 a.m.
Preacher Rev. G.A. Seath C.F.
Garrison Chaplain

Church of England Services in Cologne.

THE GARRISON CHURCH (C. of E.)
Schildergasse

Wednesday, Dec. 24th: S. Thomas, transferred).
HOLY COMMUNION: 8.00 hrs.
The clergy will be in church from 17.00 to 19.00 hrs.

Christmas Day, December 25th.
7.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
8.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
10.30 hrs. Parade Service.
11.30 hrs. Holy Communion.

STAR THEATRE, LINDENTHAL
Christmas Day, 1919
Holy Communion at 8 a.m.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.

Special Christmas production

Nightly until further notice,
THE BRITISH RHINE ARMY DRAMATIC COY in
"THE KNIGHT OF THE BURNING PESTLE"
a Costume Comedy of Merry England in four acts by BEAUMONT & FLETCRER.
BOOK AT AMUSEMENTS OFFICE.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.

Nightly at 6 p.m.

SPECIAL VARIETY PROGRAMME
ARTISTES.
THE THREE VERSATILES
in song and story.
HAROLD WALTERS
Baritone.
REX AND ERNO
The World's Worst Wizards.
ERB KARNO TRIO
Comedy Musician Act.
ERNO ELLIS
Comedian.
CHARLES STAIRS
"Git-Back"
THE FOUR WHIZZ-BANGS
Comedy Tumbles.
One Act Farce, entitled
"BACK TO IT"
ALFRED BARKER
The English Violinist.
BOOK AT AMUSEMENTS OFFICE.

On Xmas Day all Army Amusements wi l be open as usual and at the usual times.

DEUTSCHES THEATRE.
"The Knight of the Burning Pestle," at 6 p.m.

PALACE THEATRE.
Grand Variety Programme, at 6 p.m.

No. 2 CINEMA (Modernes Theatre)
Breite Strasse.
Finest Picture House in Germany.

No. 3 CINEMA (Panopticum)
Hohe Strasse.
The Acme of Comfort.
2.30 and 6 p.m. Daily.

SKATING RINK, 32 Komodien Strasse
5.30 to 9.30 p.m. Daily.

N.B. The Army Gymnasium will be closed on Xmas Day and Boxing Day.

DEUTSCHES THEATRE.

SPECIAL INVITATION TO THE TROOPS.

The whole of the 1st Rang and Gallery on Xmas and Boxing nights will be open free of charge. All soldiers of the Rhine Army invited.

INNISKILLING DRAGOONS PANTOMIME

JAN. 1. — JAN. 7, 1920

WATCH THESE COLUMNS.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB

CINEMA

Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post
Telephones: Military, No. 353. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Thursday, December 25, 1919.

A HAPPY CHRISTMAS!

Yet another circle of the wheel has been completed; one more lap of the track upon which we are making the journey of life has been accomplished.

It is Christmas day, the day of the year which holds for us the greatest call to celebration, and which, by reason of all that it signifies, demands from us the most reverent, as well as joyous, observance.

For this Christmas of 1919 we can for the first time for six years enter with a certain amount of the true spirit into the festivities. The great black shadow of war which was hung heavily over the whole world is at last lifting and the morning sun of hope is struggling to dispel the gloom. The river of blood in which Europe has been plunged is turning once more into clear and crystal waters, and the night of death is being slowly followed by the breaking dawn of good-fellowship and good-will.

Such a sea of sorrow and suffering as that which we have passed through could not but have the effect of remodelling many of our old customs and beliefs. Shall we ever again so trustfully and blindly take for granted that the good-will we freely proffered to all mankind during pre-war Christmases is being reciprocated, without irrefutable proofs of sincerity?

We have learned in a hard school that we made a fatal blunder in crediting the whole civilised world with feelings akin to our own. Many of us regarded war as a thing of the past, and fondly, but foolishly, hoped that we had reached the stage when it was unnecessary to resort to stronger methods than arbitration in order to settle international disputes. It was admittedly a great ideal, but August of 1914 proved it to be at least premature.

During the years which followed we were compelled to revise our views and to admit our error. We have found ourselves celebrating this sacred period while engeged in the prosecution of the bloodiest war the world has ever known and how could we reconcile the old teachings of "good-will toward men" under such uncongenial conditions? How could we enter into what we knew to be the true spirit of the occasion with such a ghastly setting to our thoughts and in view of the terrible evidence constantly before our eyes? Was it possible to deal out death with one hand and at the same time offer the other as a token of friendly feeling?

No! Christmas in those days was something of a mockery; the idealist's dream of the universal reign of the spirit of amity was shattered and the day of realization indefinitely postponed.

Last year it is true the Armistice had been signed and we were enabled to hold our festivities in the knowledge that the conflict had ended, but it was impossible then to enter whole-heartedly into the celebrations and to experience the feeling of light-heartedness and mirthfulness which we always associate with this season of the year.

Time is ever a great healer and after twelve months our memories have, happily, lost some of the old sting; new interests have come into our lives to blot out these recollections and we are now able to enter with something of the old zest into the joys of the festive season.

In the happiness of the hour it behoves us not to forget the reason for our presence in Rhineland and, if there is an inclination to overstep the bounds of propriety, memories which we can call to our aid, should be sufficient to act as a restraining influence.

We are pleased to learn that every preparation is being made by units in Rhineland to allow of the jolliest of Christmases being spent. Many of us, perhaps, would prefer to be at home at this period; there is an unmistakeable call homeward at this season of the year, but when we think of the Christmases we have spent in the sodden shell-holes of France and Flanders we shall doubtless appreciate the possibilities of pleasure presented in Rhineland.

We extend to every British resident in Rhineland and to our many readers at home our very sincere wishes for a full measure of happiness this Christmastide.

REMEMBER THE Y.M.C.A.

The magnificent work accomplished by the Y.M.C.A. during the war needs no eulogising here; we have all at one time or another had good reason for appreciating the wonderful provision they made for us in France and Flanders and are now making in the Army of the Rhine.

Some idea of the colossal nature of what has been accomplished can be gathered from the fact that during the period of the war no less a sum than £7,000,000 was expended in the worthy object of catering for the sundry needs of our fighting men in all parts of the Globe. Wherever British troops were to be found upholding the honour of the Motherland, there were to be found representatives of this admirable organization.

What has been the result? Questions of finance and solvency were relegated to a secondary place; irrespective of profit and loss, the comfort and well-being of the troops received first consideration. And now the organization, which despite all this, succeeded in paying its way during the war, finds itself confronted by a debt of £750,000, due to the fact that subscriptions have fallen off since the Armistice.

The special Christmas appeal they are making, will, we feel assured, not fall on deaf ears. £5,000 is the very moderate sum aimed at as the contribution from Rhineland and, as the debt is mainly ours, we shall be failing in our duty unless we make a ready response. One guinea from every officer and half-a crown from every other rank is all that is required to discharge our portion of the liability.

That the practical helpfulness of the work accomplished by the British Branch is realised in America is evidenced by the offer of £200,000 by the sister branch in U.S.A., one hundred thousand being conditional upon the remainder of the deficit being found. We must see to it that this important condition is fulfilled.

THE VEILED LADY.

A CHRISTMAS STORY.

"Yes," said Grandfather, as we sat around the fire, "I shall never forget the Christmas Eve of 1857, when I was a boy of fifteen. There were still people, like myself, who preferred the road to the new-fangled railways when they made a journey, and I was travelling North for the holidays by the Glasgow coach. We had a lot of snow and progress was very difficult.

"We were a merry party, though small. I sat on the box with the coachman, while behind us were a commercial traveller (we called them "bagmen" in those days) an actor, and a cheerful young ensign who said he had just returned from the Crimea. The inside was occupied by a lady, heavily veiled, her maid, and a merchant from the city. (You always knew what your neighbours were on a coach). The ensign kept us entertained with his piquant stories about the Crimea, and I was enjoying the ride immensely, when suddenly the horses floundered, and the coach sank deep in the snow.

"Strike me blue if we ain't all in the ditch!" said coachee. "All off, please."

We were off in a second, trying to extricate the inside passengers, which we accomplished with difficulty, while the coachman and guard freed the horses.

It was a cheerless predicament, for we were miles away from the nearest town and night was coming on. The veiled lady was much concerned.

"Oh, is there no means of getting forward?" she cried, "I have promised to spend the day at a military hospital at Nottingham to-morrow, and I must be there."

"I'm afraid it's no good, ma' am" said coachee "She's stuck fast as glue. We need more horses than we've got to shift her. But there's a farmhouse two or three miles up the road where we can put up for the night."

But everyone was anxious to push on except the ensign, who said that he had spent so many nights in the snow in the Crimea, that he was used to it. The coach-man gave in, and we set off in a body to find this farmhouse and beg the loan of some horses, leaving the guard in charge of the stranded coach-and-four.

We walked, or rather ploughed, ankle-deep through the snow for the better part of an hour before we arrived at the farmhouse, in which lights were still burning.

The door was opened by the house-wife, a matronly looking person in a mob-cap who would hear no explanations until we were safely sheltered in her living room, where a blazing log fire gave us a cheery welcome. The coach-man then stated the case to her.

She said that her son, who looked after the horses, had gone over to spend the evening at the village, and would not be back for a couple of hours. Meanwhile, we were to make our-selves comfortable and she would get us something to eat. We were not slow to take advantage of this invitation, and were soon seated around the fire, toasting our numbed toes.

Our hostess, assisted by the lady's maid, then prepared the table, and in a short time a cold duck, a dish of potatoes, and an enormous mince pie graced the board, and we were told to leave nothing.

I have had few meals in my life that I have enjoyed more than that homely supper in a wayside farmhouse, with people I had never met before and would never see again. Both the bagman and the actor were delightful company, while the ensign talked of martial deeds in the Crimea and the coachman yarned of the road. It was noticeable that the lady did not remove her veil.

We were sitting around the fire after supper when our hostess came in and said that her son had returned in a very "cranky" mood, and was not inclined to bestir himself on our behalf that night.

She added that he frequently had these "fits" since he had been invalided home from the Crimea two years ago, but that if the officer-gentleman would go and speak to him it might have a good effect. This, strange to say, our ensign seemed anything but anxious to do. However, he went, but was back again very soon without having achieved much success.

"It's no use," he reported gloomily. "The good lady's son nurses a grudge against Society, I think. He says he wouldn't turn out to-night to pull the Prince Consort himself out of a ditch."

The veiled lady begged us to accompany her into the kitchen, and we all trooped behind the ensign into a low, flagged chamber, where a consumptive-looking youth sat frowning at the fire.

The merchant broke into mingled entreaties and reproaches, and waved a fat pocket book. The ensign, backed up by the bagman and the actor, also returned to the charge.

"It won't do, ladies and gentlemen," said the youth when they had exhausted their breath. "The horses have been littered down for the night, and so they'll remain. You are welcome to sleep here to-night if mother can find you room."

His mother tried to put in a good word for us, and he lost his temper.

"How many of them would turn out to help a poor man on a night like this?" he demanded fiercely. "I've finished obliging folk. I turned out in the snow to fight for my countrymen in the last war, and precious little I got for it. I've done a hard day's work, and so've the horses. Don't they deserve a rest?"

Then a curious thing happened.

The veiled lady went up to him, laid her hand on his shoulder, and whispered: "Won't you—for my sake? I have promised to visit some of your old comrades at Nottingham to-morrow, and they will be hurt if I don't go."

She suddenly raised the veil, and,—there was our hostess's son on his knees before her, sobbing and kissing the hem of her dress.

"For you, dear, sweet, lady," he murmured, "I will do anything!"

* * *

Ten minutes later, while I was holding the lantern for the young farmer to unlock the stable-door, the ensign loitered up, puffing a cheroot.

"I say, Giles," he drawled casually, "who is that lady?"

"That lady, Sir, saved my life two winters back, when I was nearly dead with cold and disease at Scutari. Her name is Miss Florence Nightingale."

I thought the ensign would have a fit.

"My God," he muttered. "I've been talking to her for the last two hours about the Crimea as if I'd been there."

E. SULLIVAN.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

COMPLIMENTS RECIPROCATED.

Sir,—May I be permitted to tender to you and your very excellent staff best wishes at this festive season? If I may be permitted to, say so since its inception your paper has rendered yeoman service to all ranks and all units. Life would be dull without it.

As a humble ranker please accept my very best thanks. A.C.

WHEN TO SALUTE.

Sir,—One appreciates the desire of the young soldier to apply touches to his uniform, in order to give it a distinctive appearance, but I am inclined to agree with your correspondent that this craving after effect, and wearing of non-regimental articles of attire, is carried too far.

Apart from difficulties in saluting, to which attention is being quite rightly called, there is the question of discipline involved. It seems to me that drastic action is called for. Only inspection at the barrack gates is likely to me to stamp it out.

By all means be smart, but let dress be regimental. Then we shall know where we are. EX OFFICER.

Sir,—As a young guard it seems to me that a deal of the trouble over saluting is due not so much to the "poshness" of the rank and file as to the semi-officer-dress affected by those who are working in various voluntary institutions.

Yesterday when walking through the town I saluted two officers of senior rank. Immediately behind was an individual who had all the appearance of an officer. Thinking he was an officer I saluted him and had my salute acknowledged. Needless to say I was very angry for while I am only too eager to salute all who hold the King's commission I draw the line at individuals who do not hold commissioned rank. C.G.M.

SILLY FILMS.

Sir,—I am not concerned over the merits of serial films. To me they do not make any appeal. What the "Clutching Hand" is likely to do at next Monday's performance doesn't interest me in the slightest, but perhaps "Cinema Manager" will enlighten me as to when we may expect films of the Carpentier-Beckett fight on the Rhine. So far, I have been unable to discover when these are likely to be show, though I know that the announcement, whatever "Anti-Box" may feel, will fill the picture house selected to overflowing.

"Cinema Manager" seems an authority on these matters, so perhaps he will enlighten us on the point without delay. JOCKO.

A BAD HABIT.

Sir,—When first writing upon the use of obscene language I was certain that there was nothing to be said in justification of it. By the nature of the replies to my letter I am more convinced than ever of this fact.

First there is "Anti-Cant", who in the absence of argument dropped into the "bad habit" of abuse, besides making the mistake of identifying me with "Anti-Box".

Then there is "Blunt", who besides living up to his nom-de-plume displays the limit of his intelligence. There is really not one phrase of his letter which merits reply.

"Blunt" is silly enough to identify me, not only with "Anti-Box" but with "One of the Gods". I turned up my "Cologne Post" to read the latter's remarks and find—protests against bad behaviour? no; merely a very mild criticism of the Rhine Army Dramatic Coy.'s stock of plays and a list of new plays suggested. So that we have an idea advanced that to condemn obscene language, however unjustifiable, boxing in a Y.M.C.A. or even to suggest plays of a simpler nature savours of hypocrisy.

This being the only form of reply from my critics it only remains for me to thank those who wrote in support of my protest, and to assume that the sarcasm of "Blunt" and abuse of "Anti-Cant" have had to serve in the place of argument. CUPID.

CHRISTMAS 1920—AND AFTER.

For years the roar of guns and crash of shell
Drowned that sweet song the Angels consecrate;
How think of Heaven while you lived in Hell?
How love, while steeped in Hate?

The tumult ceased; yet left our deafened ears
Stunned, and insensitive to softer strains:
The horror and the din of those dread years,
Its curse, with us remains.

Yet this must pass: Mankind was made to love;
His heart is not a stone; that Fairer Call
Shall we not hear, this Christmas, from above
To reach and bless us all? W. INGE.

CHRISTMAS NIGHT.

Ah! deep and still and solemn was that night—
The night most beautiful the earth hath known—
The Holy City, marvellous and alone,
Lifted majestic, in the starry height,
Her silvered towers and her walls of white
O'er Galilee and Moab's hills there shone
A candent moon, till burned the wondrous Dawn—
That mystic Dawn, a weary world's delight!

Then did the wakened Earth enraptured thrill
To a high melody from Heaven's choir,
That land and sea and sky with joy did fill;
The gladdened Shepherds left their smouldering fire,
And journeyed down the glimmering roads, until,
At Bethlehem, they viewed the World's Desire!

JAMES B. DOLLARD Lieut. D.

PLAYERS WITH IDEAS OF THEIR OWN.

BY

F. FLEETWOOD.

(THE WELL-KNOWN HALF-BACK OF EVERTON AND ENGLISH INTERNATIONAL FAME.)

Just by the remarks which some people fling at professional football, one might imagine that the only thing not to be found in big football is men with ideas of their own. We are told that we lack originality; that one game is so much like another that when you have seen one match you may as well say that you have seen them all. Whether this charge of sameness against football of to-day is justified, it is perhaps outside the scope of these notes to argue.

Even if football is largely played on the same plan, however, I do not think it necessarily follows that the game is becoming dull in consequence. It must be remembered that football as we know it to-day has been arrived at by a process of evolution. Through the years methods have been tried, and the methods most in use are those which have stood the grim test of those trials.

STEREOTYPED PLAY.

And after all, it seems to me that the people who persistently bring the charge of sameness against professional football are somewhat inconsistent. Take the case of defensive tactics as a striking example. In one breath we are told that defensive play generally is stereotyped—that the defenders of this or that team adopt exactly the same methods as the defenders of some other team. Yet when we find a side like Newcastle, playing what is commonly called the one-back game, up go roars of disapproval. Because the men of Newcastle have perfected a type of defence different from that adopted by most teams, these same people who charge football with lack of originality, yell at the players of Newcastle to "play the game!"

After all, the methods adopted by the Newcastle defenders simply serve to show that there are people in football with ideas of their own. I am not going to enter into a discussion as to the advantages to the game or otherwise of the McCracken methods. One thing must be said here, though, and that is that so long as the rules of the game stand as they do, then McCracken and his imitators are perfectly justified in using those rules for the benefit of their side. If the rule is wrong, then let it be altered, but meantime, it is up to the forwards who meet this "one-back game" to put their heads together and devise some method by which to render it inoperative.

My experience of football tends to bring me to the conclusion that players with ideas of their own—who play a type of game with which the public generally is not familiar—are not encouraged. For instance, let a young forward with ideas of his own about hanging on to the ball appear on the field. He is very quickly told by the man in the crowd to "get rid of it," or words to that effect. Moreover, I am not so sure that the man in the crowd is wrong because especially as regards the forwards, a player must be understood by his colleagues; he must do things in the orthodox way if the benefit of any skill he may possess is to be turned to good advantage.

ORIGINALITY.

Take a case in point. The other day I was talking to a well-known centre-forward, and asking him how he got on with a certain new man who was then playing for the club at outside right. "He's all right," came the reply, "but I wish to goodness he was a little bit less original in his methods. It is true that by the things he does he sometimes bamboozles the other fellows, but he bamboozles me at the same time, so that when the ball does come across I am generally in the wrong place."

I suppose if that outside right the centre-forward was referring to, is persevered with long enough, the centre-forward will get accustomed to his ideas, and make his plans accordingly, but until the two men do become acquainted with each others play, there is likely to be a lean time in store for that particular side in the way of goals scored.

Don't let it be imagined for one moment, however, that I am condemning wholesale the players with ideas of their own. So long as those original ideas work out for the good of the side, then they must also be for the good of the game generally. Take a player like Buchan of Sunderland, for instance. Here is a man with ideas if you like—a player who hangs on to the ball when by all the ordinary accepted tenets of the game he ought to part with it, and a player too, who is very often found quite out of position. But the success which has attended the play of Buchan is the best index to the ideas for which he is responsible. Whatever else we do, let us be careful not to rule out the football genius by the demand for orthodox methods.

I have not had the pleasure of seeing much of Harold Fleming, the Swindon Town inside right, as he plays in a different competition, but I am told that he is another of the players in the same position as Buchan with ideas of his own.

Fleming takes upon himself a sort of roving commission, and he wanders succesfully too. A player on somewhat similar lines—that is a man who doesn't stick too closely to his chosen position on the field is Whittingham, the Stoke man.

Our own right full-back at Everton, John Macconnachie, is a full-back with ideas of his own as to the defensive game and how it should be played. Incidentally, too, John is one of the hardest kicking full-backs I have come across, and when he gets his foot to the ball you may depend upon it that the ball will move from the vicinity of his own goal.

SUCCESSFUL METHODS.

A player with ideas of his own with whom I was much struck in the Victory International matches against Scotland last season, was Grimsdell, the left half-back of the 'Spurs. Theoretically, the half-back who dribbles is acting contrary to what is generally considered the best methods of wing half-back play. Yet you can't say that Grimsdell ought not to dribble, because he does it so well, and chooses the right moment so carefully, that so far as I have seen him his dribbling has made for strength rather than for weakness. Grimsdell scored two goals against Scotland at Glasgow last spring—a most unusual thing for a half-back to do, and I notice that he has also been finding the net for the 'Spurs this season. You may say that Grimsdell's methods don't conform to the text-books, but you can't say stop to a man whose ideas are the means of matches being won.

A centre half-back with ideas of his own, too, who seems likely to be heard quite a lot of in the future, is Bowser, the West Bromwich man. It must be a long time since a centre-half scored three goals in a game as he did the other day, but then Bowser used to be a forward, and that may account for the fact that he plays the centre-half game differently from most other people.

I have not exhausted the list of men with ideas of their own, but my space is gone. Summed up in a few words, though, the whole thing amounts to this in my opinion. The football genius must be encouraged always—by managers and spectators, but for most of us of just ordinary ability, it is better for our teams that we jog along on orthodox lines, playing the game in the way which experience has shown is the most likely to bring success.

HOLIDAY FOOTBALL.

Christmas Day—League Fixtures.

3 DAYS.—3 MATCHES.

Professional footballers are to have a busy time during the holidays. Fixtures have been arranged for to-day, to-morrow and, as usual, of course, for Saturday.

Below is the list of matches to be decided on Christmas and Boxing days:

THE LEAGUE.—DIVISION I.

Aston Villa v. Chelsea.
Bolton Wanderers v. Preston North End.
Bradford City v. Sheffield Wednesday.
Derby County v. Arsenal.
Liverpool v. Sunderland.
Manchester City v. Everton.
Notts County v. Blackburn Rovers.
Burnley v. Middlesbrough.
Sheffield United v. Bradford.

THE LEAGUE.—DIVISION II.

Bury v. Blackpool.
Clapton Orient v. Stockport County.
Coventry City v. Stoke.
Fulham v. Grimsby Town.
Huddersfield Town v. Rotherham County.
Port Vale v. Barnsley.
Leicester City v. Birmingham.
Lincoln City v. Nottingham Forest.
Tottenham Hotspur v. Hull City.
West Ham United v. Bristol City.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

Brighton and Hove Alb. v. Crystal Palace.
Gillingham v. Reading.
Luton Town v. Southampton.
Merthyr Town v. Cardiff City.
Newport County v. Northampton.
Plymouth Argyle v. Exeter City.
Queen's Park Rangers v. Brentford.
Southend United v. Millwall.
Swindon Town v. Norwich City.
Swansea v. Bristol Rovers.
Watford v. Portsmouth.

BOXING DAY.

THE LEAGUE.—DIVISION I.

Arsenal v. Derby County.
Bradford v. Sheffield United.
Chelsea v. Oldham Athletic.
Everton v. Manchester City.
Manchester United v. Liverpool.
Middlesbrough v. Notts County.
Newcastle United v. Burnley.
Preston North End v. Bolton Wanderers.
Sheffield Wednesday v. Bradford City.
West Bromwich Albion v. Sunderland.

THE LEAGUE—DIVISION II.

Barnsley v. Port Vale.
Birmingham v. Leicester City.
Bristol City v. West Ham United.
Hull City v. Tottenham Hotspur.
Nottingham Forest v. Lincoln City.
Rotherham County v. Huddersfield Town.
Stockport County v. Clapton Orient.
Stoke v. Coventry City.
Wolverhampton Wand. v. South Shields.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

Bristol Rovers v. Swansea Town.
Brentford v. Queen's Park Rangers.
Crystal Palace v. Brighton and Hove Alb.
Cardiff City v. Merthyr Town.
Exeter City v. Plymouth Argyle.
Millwall v. Southend United.
Northampton v. Newport County.
Norwich City v. Swindon Town.
Portsmouth v. Watford.
Reading v. Gillingham.
Southampton v. Luton Town.

HUDDERSFIELD CLUB.

Chairman on the Gloomy Possibilities.

An unexpected development has arisen in the affairs of Huddersfield Town Football Club. A meeting of the club supporters on Friday requested the mayor to appeal to the Football League Management Committee to extend the time allowed to raise the necessary £25,000 till the end of the season, in the belief that the money to save transference to Leeds could be raised.

This was followed by the service of a writ upon Mr. Arthur Fairclough, the club's financial secretary, for payment of more than £10,000 due to Mr. Stonor Crowther for money lent to the club and interest to October last, for which the club had given promissory notes.

SECRETARY RESIGNS.

Mr. Fairclough, communicating this to Mr. W. Hardcastle, the chairman of directors, stated that he had resigned the secretaryship and had been appointed receiver by the trustees for the debenture-holders Sir Charles Sykes and Mr. T. H. Moore.

Mr. Brook Hirst, chairman of the committee for retrieving the club, who have raised £8,000, told a Press representative that the action of the trustees had been taken without consultation with other debenture-holders, whom he thought had between £2,000 and £3,000 invested. He did not know what the effect would be, but it seemed there would be great possibilites of the club being wound up and lost both to Leeds and Huddersfield. He was not quite sure whether the appointment of a receiver was not governed by the Courts Emergency Powers Act.

FULTON HOME.

His Challenge to the World's Champion.

In a letter just received in England Tom O'Rourke states that after a fairly good passage he and Fred Fulton arrived back quite safely, and hopes to be in England again before long. O'Rourke says that immediately he arrived he challenged Dempsey on behalf of Fulton, the whole of the purse to go to the winner, but up to the time of writing he had received no reply.

Fulton left for his home as soon as he arrived, and will not box until the middle of January, owing to having to undergo a slight operation to his arm, which he injured while training for Townley. Already there are three contests fixed up for him—on Jan. 12 he meets Willie Meehan over 8 rounds at New Jersey; Frank Moran over six rounds at Philadelphia, and another at a later date.

ANOTHER DRAW.

The English Cup replay between Swansea and Gillingham resulted in another draw, the score, after extra time, being 1—1.

FINAL RUGBY TRIAL

Drastic Changes in the English Side.

FINAL SELECTIONS.

The Rugby Union Selection Committee have made drastic changes in the English team for the third and final trial game, which is to take place at Twickenham on Saturday, January 3. Millett displaces Pemberton at full back, and, of the "three," only the wings remain, Krige and Hammett, the Newport man, coming in at centre. The half-backs, Davies and Kershaw, are retained, though their display was by no means faultless on Saturday.

Forward, Major Harrison, Pillman, Neser and Merriam are dropped. J. G. Greenwood has been persuaded to reconsider his decision to retire, and will captain the side, Conway, Mellish and Wright, of Saturday's Southern team, also coming in.

A surprise selection in the Rest side is that of A. R. Aslett, a Sandhurst cadet, who is making a name for himself at centre three-quarter. Other men to come on trial for the first time are B. S. Camberlege, H. L. V. Day and W. Dix.

The selected sides are:—

England.—H. Millett (Richmond); C. N. Lowe (Blackheath), J. O. Krige (Guy's Hospital), E. Hammett (Newport), W. M. Lowry (Birkenhead Park); W. J. A. Davies (United Services), C. A. Kershaw (United Services); J. C. Greenwood (captain) (Cambridge University), C. S. Conway (Cambridge University), S. G. Bolford (Gloucester), F. W. Mellish (Blackheath), Captain W. W. Wakefield (Harlequins), H. J. White (Headingley), W. H. Wright (Plymouth), A. T. Voyce (Gloucester).

The Rest.—B. S. Cumberlege (Blackheath); H. L. V. Day (Army), A. M. Smallwood (Cambridge University), A. R. Aslett (R.M.C. Sandhurst), S. W. Harris (Blackheath); H. Coverdale (captain) (Blackheath), W. Dix (Gloucester); S. Smart (Gloucester), A. F. Blakeston (Northampton), E. Dove (Sunderland), A. Morgan (Carlisle), L. P. B. Merriam (Blackheath), W. Rodda (Camborne), R. E. Sharp (Newton Abbot), H. F. Wadock (Oxford University).

GODDARD WINS.

Coghill Knocked out in the Sixth Round.

After a hard fight at the National Sporting Club on Monday evening Frank Goddard, late of the Queen's Bays, knocked out Gordon Coghill, of Australia, in the sixth round.

Both men are of splendid physique and considerable interest was taken in the fight.

HOW HE WON.

Carpentier to Reconstruct His Fight.

In a letter to Mr. Redmond Barry, one of the promoters of the Albert Hall tournament on Boxing Day, Carpentier writes, "There seems to be a good deal of misconception in London, even among those present at the ringside, as to what actually brought about Beckett's defeat. I really believe I was the coolest man in the building that night, and every detail of the finish is still fresh in my memory.

"I shall illustrate on Friday my version of the fight, and I believe that those present at the Stadium who will be present at the Albert Hall will be convinced that they missed something on the night of Dec. 4. It was a left-hand punch, quickly followed by a right, and not the right alone, as everybody seems to think, which actually knocked out the British champion."

A ONE—NIL VICTORY.

C Coy. 52nd K.L.R. Defeat A Coy. 52nd Manchester's.

This match was played on the Sports Platz, Bonn, on Monday. The opening stages of the game were very tame, but after a time "C" Coy. began to force the pace, giving "A" defence trouble time and again.

Though "A" Coy. were acting on the defensive for a considerable time during the first half, they kept their citadel unpierced until a couple of minutes before half time, when, by a break away Lieut. Lewis scored a fine goal for "C" Coy. Half time arrived with "C" leading by the odd goal.

After the interval "A" Coy. went all out to equalise, but all their efforts were fruitless. "C" Coy. although they did most of the pressing, could not score again, thanks to "A" Coy's goalie, who played a fine game. The end came however with "C" pressing.

Final: C Coy. 52nd K.L.R. 1; A Coy. 52nd Manchesters 0.

JOCKEY'S MESPOT SUCCESS.

Sgt. W. Burley, a young Birmingham jockey, who before the war showed promising form as a rider of jumpers when attached to a Lambourn stable, has made something of a reputation in Mesopotamia.

At the autumn meeting held on the Basrah course in October he had five winners and one second. In the majority of the races his opponents were native riders but in the chief event, the Ashar Stakes for Arab ponies, which he won on Areolas, Frank Wootton was unplaced on Patchwood.

Burley, who has been attached to the Army Veterinary Corps for some years, hopes to be demobilized early in the New Year. He has an ambition to ride under National Hunt Rules in this country before the close of the season.

CLERIC RACE OFFICIAL.

The Rev. E. E. Dorling, a nephew of the late Mr. H. M. Dorling, who is now the proprietor of the business of Dorling and Co., printers of the Epsom racecards, has for some time been a member of the Management Committee of Epsom Grand Stand Association. He is a well-known writer on heraldry and architecture, and was formerly for ten years Master of the Choristers School at Salisbury. He has for some years been familiar with the working of the office at Epsom.

"CANTEENERS" BEATEN.

254 Area Emplopment Coy. v. N. A. C. B.

An exciting game was witnessed on Sunday, when the above teams met at Riehl. With the wind in their favour the "customers" opened smartly, but White interrupted when things looked dangerous. Not to be denied, however, they attacked again, a fine run by their outside lef resulting in the ball being sent over. Mid-field play followed, Zang being responsible for some good work at centre half.

Whittingham eventually sent the Coy. going which ended in Amond forcing a corner, which however proved fruitless. Neat combination between Timpson and Whittingham sorely troubled the "customers" defence, and from one of these episodes the ball was handled in the goal area. Whittington made no mistake with the resulting kick.

The "customers" made great efforts to equalise but were weak in front of goal. Their outside left was always prominent, and from one of his centres, White had the misfortune to put through his own goal.

The Second Half.

Half time arrived with the score 1—1.

On resumption the Coy. immediately set up a hot attack. Good work by Maddock and Amond ended in the latter giving the Coy. the lead with a nice shot. Urged on by their supporters the Coy. were soon attacking again, and Maddock increased their lead with a lightning drive. The "customers" strove hard to reduce the score and had hard luck on several occasions. An unfortunate thing happened midway through the second half, the "customers" outside left being injured. The unfortunate player had to be assisted to the touch line.

The Coy. taking advantage of the wind did not miss many chances and Whittingham put them further ahead after beating their opponents. "The customers" eventually scored from a breakaway and just on time Whittingham added No. 5 for the Coy. from a penalty. It was raining hard when the final whistle went with the score: Coy., 5; N. A. C. B., 2.

PIONEERS' VICTORY.

19th Middlesex v. 52nd Northumberland Fus.

One of the finest games yet played this season was witnessed at Bonnerstrasse Barracks on Saturday when the 19th (S) Bn. Middlesex Regt. (P), received the 52nd Northumberland Fusiliers, and after a sterling game defeated them by 3—0.

The game opened with the Pioneers attacking in great style, but they were prevented from scoring by the defence of the visitors. This did not put the Pioneers off, who returned to the attack, and with an excellent shot Lt. Griffin opened the scoring.

The Fusiliers then pressed hard but they were stopped when in front of goal by the good work of the Pioneers defence. Then occurred an exciting moment, when Bultimore, the Pioneers custodian, was penalised from a goal kick. The Pioneers crowded the goal out, and charged the ball down. From the replay the Pioneers swept all before them, and with an excellent shot, Lt. Griffin again put the Pioneers further ahead.

Upon resumption of play the Pioneers played in great style, Watson playing a great game. The light began to fail, but still the game was very fast, and from a last attack on the Fusiliers, Thane scored. The Fusiliers continued to work hard, but the game closed with no further scoring.

BOXING BARRED.

Extraordinary Decision of Abergavenny Council.

The Abergavenny Town Council have refused by 7 votes to 1 the use of the Market Hall for a boxing tournament in aid of the funds of St. Dunstan's Hostel. The promoters were not invited to the meeting, and thus a deputation of the local Free Church Council had every chance of putting forth their narrow views without opposition, and the Rev. J. P. Millward, one of the deputation, stated that "No self-respecting man would allow his boy to take part in boxing. It would do harm to the moral and spiritual welfare of Abergavenny."

A FORTUNATE SAPPER.

Wins our Special Christmas Contest Outright.

Our special Christmas football contest, No. 13, for which the record sum of 3,207 marks was subscribed and to which we added as a Christmas gift a further five hundred, was won outright by

Sapper G. W. Burrows,
9th M. A. L. Section
R. E. Signa's
Rhine Army

He succeeded in forecasting correctly nine of the ten results.

THE INTERVIEW.

When I set out to interview Sapper G. W. Burrows, the winner of our special competition, writes our football representative, I had no idea that I had been set a task so difficult of accomplishment.

No one appeared to have any knowledge of the whereabouts of the 9th M.A.L. Section, of which unit the lucky competitor is a member.

At last by the merest chance I learned that they were stationed at Riehl Barracks and eventually found the object of my quest.

"Can I see the Sapper Burrows?" was my inquiry. "Certainly," was the reply of the clerk in charge; "Come along Mr. 'Cologne Post,' I'll find him for you." That he was acquainted with my identity surprised me, and, on my questioning him as to this, I was informed that the whole unit were aware that Burrows had forecasted nine correct results and were anticipating that he would be the lucky recipient of our bumper prize. Consequently the inquiry for Sapper Burrows could only mean that their expectations and hopes had been realised.

I was quickly conducted into the presence of the successful sapper, and on my handing him the cheque for 3,707 marks conveying the Editor's compliments and my own, he remarked that it was a splendid Christmas box.

WHY HE WON.

A Woking man, who favours none of the leading football clubs, he had entered our contests for five successive weeks, sending in five coupons per week. He admitted that he was not a sound judge of football form, and smilingly attributed his success to this fact, pointing out that had he legislated for what should have happened he would never have won No. 13 contest.

The prize will be shared by one of his chums, Sapper Russell, who is also a weekly competitor in our competition. The pair had previously agreed to share any prize they might win as a result of their efforts.

As I bade farewell to the winner, who was the centre of a crowd of merry and equally pleased associates, there were many suggestions as to how the money could be best utilised in providing for a happy Christmas. Quite a number seem to have hopes of participating in the celebrations.

The wonderful success which attended our last contest augurs well for No. 14, the coupon for which will be found in this column. Remember that there will be one less coupon for this contest, and make your forecasts early.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 14,
"Cologne Post",
A.P.O. S. 40 Rhine Army

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 14.

Date of matches, Saturday, Dec. 27th.
Closing date, Friday, Dec. 26th.

Burnley	v. Preston
Liverpool	v. Everton
Bolton	v. Blackburn
Notts C	v. Bradford City
West Ham	v. Huddersfield
Clapton	v. Coventry
Palace	v. Millwall
Southampton	v. Watford
Queens Park	v. Kilmarnock
Falkirk	v. Dumbarton

I enter Football Competition No. 14 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(in block letters.)
Rank and No. .....
Unit .....
Full Address .....

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

"THE KNIGHT OF THE BURNING PESTLE."

Allow me, ladies and gentlemen, to get it off my chest right away: A thundering good show! Nay, by my halibut, a wonderful production—or rather, if I swear by my evening posset, a blankety blank good show. Descending, however, to vulgar modernity, I was distinctly pained at the response given to quite the best production that has been put on at the Deutsches since the inauguration of the B.R.A.D.C.

On Monday the bookings would have made an angel weep, and on Tuesday, although the house was a little better, a large number elected to leave at the end of the third act. In this production you have costumes (by Peter von Bougardt, not as previously stated by "von Gardt") that are both picturesque and correct; you have scenery that is delightful; you are transported for a space back to the joyous days of Merrie England; but—and I think this is the rub—the play is one of which the majority has never heard, and the authorship is equally unknown. But is that any reason for staying away? Because Alf or Bert have never heard of the blinkin' thing, is the show necessarily damned?

Come, men of the Army of the Rhine, your British justice compared with the previous wonderful record of the company will persuade you to spend three most enjoyable hours witnessing the best (in spite of being the most ambitious) production which your hard-working friend, Lieut. Esme Percy, has set before you this Christmastide. Candidly, I don't think I have ever enjoyed an evening at the Deutsches more than that on which I saw the "Knight of the Burning Pestle." It was simply great.

I know full well that the most insignificant member of the caste has in proportion to his or her job worked as hard as the most prominent, but I must be forgiven if only some of the most striking persons are mentioned. If I said all I wanted to say about everybody either my contribution would be ruthlessly cut, or the Editor would shoot me at sight, for space is as valuable to him as Bradburys.

I have no hesitation in saying that the outstanding features of the entire show were the performances given by Major Ball as "Mistress Citizen", and Mr. Eric Morgan as "Merrythought." We all know Major Ball's performances. In this particular production he is as clever and amusing as ever. We have often heard Mr. Morgan sing, but this is the first time that I for one have heard him both sing and act. His make up, his acting, and his rendering of "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes" would have saved the production, even if the rest of the company had been suddenly struck with epilepsy.

Miss Frances Chisholm was both dancer and Speaker of the Prologue, and in each case she pleased me. She might, however, be a little more certain of her lines. Lieut. S. E. Percy played Ralph, apprentice and Knight, and played eminently throughout, but I rather doubt whether the satire or the play penetrated the minds of some of the audience. God help them. It was so simple.

Lieut. Humphrey Hope as a citizen did his usual excellent work, and Major C. C. Chance was a thoroughly convincing "Venturewell." Special mention should also be made of Lieut. J. W. Knight who played the part of "Humphrey", the beau. He was in faith a very perfect beau. Miss Inez Bensusan, as Luce, made a very charming and graceful figure, and I quite envied Jasper. Her costumes were superb, as was also the dress that Miss Gabrielle Paul wore as Pomponia. I don't blame Ralph in the least for saying he dare no longer stay. Personally I should not have been so strong-willed.

And then we have "Mistress Merrythought"; as this character Lieut. Leigh Farnell was it. And now I really must stop talking about individuals, much as I should like to go through the whole caste, but I must be allowed to mention Capt. W. B. Jemmett, who, in addition to playing the part of the "Barber Giant", and, together with his Art School students, being responsible for the beautiful scenery, often working till three in the morning, gave us one of the most attractive pictures of manhood that has yet been seen on the Deutsches stage. And—don't cut me off yet—two dancers in particular: Miss Tuckett, prominent in all the excellently carried out dances and Pte. W. Wheatley, the jester.

We must not forget the real live horse (none of your two quarter-some guinea-a-weekers inside the skin of an extinct animal for us, thank you), nor dog Rachel, who looked slightly bewildered at the antics of her human friends. Truly for her had all Cologne gone mad.

There were faults, certainly, but what can you expect? It must be so for the first few nights in a production of this magnitude. There was, for instance, too much noise going on behind the drop curtain, some people were by no means word-perfect, and others made tardy entries, but if a usually lenient Deutsches theatre audience will excuse these few things (which will rectify themselves as time goes on) they cannot fail to enjoy a thoroughly brilliant, merry, musical and truly Christmassy production.

I heard compliments paid on all sides to the really marvellously capable manner in which the play was produced, and costumes, wigs, and make-up were all perfect. I beg to take this opportunity of wishing all the members of the B.R.A.D.C., both regular and temporarily attached, all the compliments of this merry season, and at the same time in the name of all those who visit the theatre to tender them thanks for their very suitably chosen and entertaining Christmas production, at which, I know full well, they have all worked like slaves.

E.H.S.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Thurs.	Tannhäuser	Wagner	6	10
Fri.	Der Bajazzo Cav Rusticana	Leoncavallo Mascagni	7	10
Sat.	Figaro's Hochzeit	Mozart	7	10.30
Sun.	The Woman without Shadow	Strauss	6	10.30
Mon.	Hansel und Gretel	Humperdinck	6	8
Tues.	Tannhäuser	Wagner	6	10

B.E.L.C. Xmas Events.

On Christmas day at the British Empire Leave Club there will be a cinema performance at 2.30, "Toy-Town," gift of souvenirs, Christmas revels and carnival from 6.15. On Friday "Babes in the Wood" will be given at 2.15, and in the evening a supper and ball, for which five prizes are offered and which includes special dances. The band of the Sixth Inniskilling Dragoons will provide the music. On Saturday a dance at 6.30 is the attraction, while on Sunday Miss Bertha Moore's Concert Party, including Miss Marjory Moore, will provide the entertainment.

JACQUES.

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

Another Fancy Brand.

Hindenburg Cigaretten was the name on a cigarette packet I saw recently. Same quality, any old name.

Some Mail.

To get an idea of the tremendous mails leaving Rhineland for Blighty one should see the mail bags being cleared on the coast bound trains. It gave me a surprise.

What Next?

I have seen many queues in Rhineland, but the latest to catch my eye was in a large store where folk were queued up waiting their turn to reach the pay desk.

Sold Out.

In one big store in Breitestrasse yesterday I was informed that they had no "Herren Handschuhe" left. The assistant said she could not remember such a rush for these articles.

Six Months' Notice.

The German railwayman, when wishing to leave the service, must, I learn, give six months notice. On the other hand he is only in danger of dismissal when guilty of comm[illegible] a crime. In other cases he is reduc[illegible]

The Guards Mark.

On the shutter of a window in Marzellen strasse I notice there is still in existence the mark of the Guards Division. Quite the oldest sign of our occupation I have seen.

Diligent.

A Tommy who dined with me last evening asked to be excused half way through the meal, the reason being, he informed me, that he was decorating his mess for Christmas. This was the third evening he had spent on the task.

In Other Days.

A poster I have come across advertises a concert which was held in the early days of our occupation. The prices marked are one mark for officers and other ranks 20 pfgs. But the mark was not 181.60 in those days.

Closing of M.F. Services.

Packages for transmission to England through M.F. Department will not be accepted in future. A contract is being arranged for the conveyance of officers kits and Government Stores, at present being dealt with through the M.F. Department, to England. Details will be published when arranged.

Cologne's Carnival.

Cologne's Carnival was famous in Germany before the war. During the past few years however it did not take place, and the police have prohibited all demonstrations for 1920. The Cologne Carnival Association have now decided not to prepare any festivity before 1923.

How to Carve the Turkey.

To make the turkey go farthest, I should be properly carved. Both sides of the breast should be carved in thin, upright slices, beginning at the wing and working up to the breast bone. The legs should not be detached, but sliced in the same way as the breast; while the wings should be removed and divided.

The Zoo.

If you visit the Zoo next year it will cost you more, the prices from Jan. 1 being, officers 1 mark 50 pfgs, and other ranks 75 pfgs.

Fire at Aerodrome.

The red-tongued monster, fire, paid an unwelcome visit to the aerodrome at Ostheim and practically completely destroyed the recreation room there. The library, especially, was in a sorry state when the fire was eventually extinguished.

No Kisses.

I now see mistletoe on sale in the florists' shops, but the custom attached to it does not exist in Germany.

"The Rain it Raineth."

In England the appearance of people carrying open umbrellas is usually a sure indication of the state of the weather. Such is not the case in Cologne, however. Yesterday, for instance, quite half an hour after the rain had ceased to fall, I passed six people, within a couple of hundred yards, all with their umbrellas up.

Greetings.

In a certain mess the members of a well-known Headquarters staff have sent a Christmas card to "The Boys of the mess."

The Wrong Way.

Last evening I passed a tram going in an opposite direction to that shown on the boards. Evidently the conductor had forgotten to change the boards.

A Reminder of the Past.

There is still to be seen in the city at least one proclamation issued by the German Military Governor of Cologne. It is of all places on the Hohenzollern bridge; there are no other notices near it and the date is July 1916.

Chivalry.

An old frau's large velour hat blew off and started away down the tramlines at a terrific speed. Although there were several men about, none made an effort to recover it for her, until a British officer, perceiving the old woman's plight, retrieved her lost poperty for her. "Merci, M'sieur!" was her acknowledgment.

At Last.

In a German cafe last night I was surprised to hear selections played by the orchestra from "Tonight's the Night", "The Wedding Make," and "The Girl in the Taxi', a change from "Navarro".

Honesty.

Some German shopkeepers are nothing if not honest. Rather than give an officer five pfennigs short in change the old frau scraped up all the small change she had, amounting to six pfennigs (three two pfennig pieces) to give to him

Good for "Essen."

The German at my billet invited me to partake of supper with him. The fare consisted of brown bread and cold raw bacon with an "apfel" to follow as dessert. Under the circumstances I thought it best to decline the invitation.

RHINELANDER.

A CHRISTMAS DINNER.

A SOUTH AFRICAN SHOOTING STORY.

I have been asked for a Christmas story. It seems to me that in a cold climate it may be a bit cheerful to tell a yarn of a warmer clime, for the same reason that a skipper of the Union Castle Line once told me that when he was very cold he usually placed a thermometer into a tumbler of hot water and watched the temperature rise, when he could reassure himself that he was not really so cold as he had thought.

In Rhodesia some years ago it was not at all unlikely when one arrived at a dinner party to find that one's own spoons and forks formed part of the miscellaneous assortment of silver and cutlery on the table, the servants of the host or hostess having borrowed from the servants of the guests, without thinking it necessary to ask permission, for in the native mind there is the fixed idea that white man always shares with white man—not a bad maxim either; but of course the food was provided by the giver of the party. Now I will tell you the story of such a dinner party.

The occasion was a big Christmas shoot in which every man within forty miles joined, huts and shelters were specially put up, for of course for a shoot of this description everyone must stop the night and the spot chosen was close to Mickie McBride's hut, for Mickie, although a bachelor, had an unusually large hut, kept cows and poultry, was an excellent shot and known to be very hospitable, in fact, he had invited the party to dinner.

The day arrived, the weather was perfect, Buck was plentiful and every man present shot well except Mickie. The devil was in his gun, or he had got a bee in his bonnet, or something usually had taken possession of him, for crack-shot as he was known to be, he could bring down nothing and each time he missed, he stole away from his friends and when out of sight, comforted himself with a drap o' the craytaor, in short, some whisky he had managed to get after a wait of five months. Still his aim did not improve and finally towards the end of the afternoon he went home and on arrival took a very strong dose of his Scotch medicine and then determined he would at least shoot something, so he ordered his boy Shilling to drive thirty-two fowls out of the poultry yard. He had made up his mind that he would get his hand in again by shooting those fowls. In Rhodesia fowls can be eaten the same day they are killed, if wrapped up for an hour or two in certain leaves which makes them tender.)

Mickie shot the fowls and then fell asleep. The hut of Mickie was unusually large, but was absolutely packed by the time all the shooting party were there. Mickie was again wide awake, and able to receive his guests. Then they waited, but no sign of any dinner, everyone was hungry, Mickie grew impatient, and calling for his cookboy, asked why skoff (food) was not ready.

"Ikona skoff" the cook replied, meaning 'No food.'

"Where the blankety blank are the thirty-two fowls I shot?" yelled Mickie in a fury.

The cookboy disappeared without a word, and again they waited, then back came the cook, and held out to his master a handful of feathers.

Mickie had shot those thirty-two fowls with explosive bullets!!! P.S. History does not chronicle the language of either host or guests, neither is the menu handed down, relating what those men actually did eat,—but I think it would be safe to say it was tinned salmon.

CHARLOTTE MANSFIELD, F.R.G.S.

LETTERS TO CHARLES.

It's almost too late to discuss Xmas presents, isn't it? What have you done about it this year? I find it so very difficult to be original—to infuse the proper Christmas spirit into it, you know—to each individual, the gift most suitable, and all that sort of thing. I find I'm so apt, like most people, to rush out at the eleventh hour and buy poetry in limp leather for the fair sex and cigars or cuff-links for the gents. I know a girl who got sixteen "Omar Khayams" last year like that, and for all I know she'll get as many this year.

What would you like me to send you, Charles—a model of the "Dom" or a silk picture-card? But seriously, though, the shops here have a really great Christmas display. Would I could take you down the "Hohe Strasse" (which, I have just learnt, is German for ye homely "High Street"—who'd have thought it?), and you would see whether Bond Street and Regent Street were not licked to a frazzle as far, at any rate, as mere window-display is concerned.

Gleaming cutlery for the male, dazzling bead bags for the dear little girls (costing simply Pounds, at home, I know), and velour hats both masculine and feminine—all simply screaming to be bought, with the mark at 180 odd to the Bradbury. Someone really ought to do something about this question of the Exchange before weak creatures like myself, who consistently yield to the impulse to buy a thing just because it is so ridiculously cheap, are parted from all their cash.

Among our Christmas attractions, Charles, is the show which the Rhine Army Dramatic Company are giving, and it is called—(are you ready?)—"The Knight of the Burning Pestle." Isn't that a simply gorgeous name? I defy you to keep away from a play with a title like that. If you don't know it already (I didn't), it's an obscure Elisabeth—a comedy by Beaumont and Fletcher; but I don't care—I'll eat my hat if I haven't discovered what a "burning pestle" is by the end of the week.

And I think that's all the excitement there is for the moment—oh, no, I was nearly forgetting, apropos of names—I have discovered some new cigarettes called—you'd never guess—Waldorf-Astoria! Isn't that perfectly splendid? Only one really needs a monocle and spats to go with them. I don't smoke much, as you know, but I think I shall always have a few on me in the future, so that, when anyone offers me a cigarette, I can simply say: "No thanks, old chap; try one of mine, though, won't you? I'm afraid I only smoke these—I expect you know them—they're Waldorf Astoria." (Help!).

JOHN.

A MISTLETOE LEGEND.

Odin was a happy man in spite of the trouble he had with his evil son Loki, for he loved that son Baldur whom the people had named the Beautiful. A shadow one day crept over the heart of Odin and he knew it at it was a message of death to one whom he loved, so with a sorrowful bearing he went to his wife to tell her of his trouble,—how he felt that they were to soon lose Baldur the Beautiful. At first the fond mother sat down and wept, but she soon dried her tears and told her husband to sorrow no more, for she would bring joy into his life.

Then it seemed that the shadow was lifted from the heart of all men. But still Odin felt that in one corner of his own heart there was a darkness which was not yet removed. Again the fond mother enquired of all things and living creatures if they had sworn and they all repeated the solemn oath. At last she remembered that there was a small shrub that she had thought was too small to trouble her, and so she did not call the mistletoe that grew upon the different trees.

When the feast was at its height and all the people of Asgard had wandered into the place of sport, Loki came back to the city of his birth, and there he saw the crowds who were shouting and praising their idol, Baldur the beautiful. Soon the young men of the place made a game and placed Baldur in the middle of a circle and began to shoot at their friend and throw stones; nothing however could hurt that noble boy, for had not every thing on the earth shown that no harm should ever come to him through them? Bitter hatred filled the heart of Loki and he went away and swore that Baldur should die. A witch who had been turned out of the city by the Chief, whispered in his ear that the mistletoe bough had never sworn to the mother, and an arrow made of it would end the life of Baldur. So Loki made that arrow of death. Going back to the ground he found his blind brother, who was crying, because he could not throw anything at his brother and join in the sport. Fitting the mistletoe arrow into the bow, he guided the hand of his brother and the arrow was sped. Baldur fell, and a dark shadow swept over the whole earth.

Calling the people together Odin made all the world swear that if ever they passed under that fatal mistletoe bough, they would salute each other with a kiss to show that no longer death lurked near that emblem. And so the custom grew, and lives to-day.

REV. C. E. R. WHEELER C.F.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

For Sadie.—The Madonna headdress is much in fashion in America just now.

Official Sanction. — Germany's silver coinage may now be melted down with official sanction.

All Gone.—The German wines purchased for the House of Commons have been all consumed.

Khaki as Usual.—The Guards will not revert to their pre-war red tunic and bear skin cap before next summer.

Theatre Worker's Threat. — Londoners are asking "Shall we have any pantomimes in London this Christmastide?"

Food for Pictures. — Austria is giving up works of art as security to the United States.

No Quailling. — The Prime Minister' speech on Ireland lasted an hour and a half less two minutes.

Only the War Medal. — It is now said that there is no special medal or riband for the Afghan campaign.

By the Sea. — All the big hotels and boarding houses on the coast at home are full up for Christmas.

The Elite.— Coutt's bank customers included Kings and Emperors. The fallen of Amerongen had an account there.

Despite Increasad Price.— Silver goods have been very much in demand as presents in London.

The Disappearing "Toothbrush". — A clean upper lip is now the order with demobilized officers.

Press Agent.—Bernard Shaw is managing the publicity side of the miners' nationalisation campaign.

First in Jerusalem — Major Barry, the first man to enter Jerusalem has been married at Cambridge.

Bank Fusion.—There is to be a fusion of the banking interests of the National Provincial and Union Bank and Messrs Coutts and Coy.

A Good Arrangement.—A Leeds railway parcels clerk married the girl who took his place while he was on active service.

The Red Flag.—To prohibit red flag processions as being "Anarchistic" is the purport of a Bill to be introduced in the United States Congress.

Floods. — All the illustrated journals are featuring photographs of the floods in South Germany where large tracts of land have been inundated.

The Way to Ruin. — In the first 10 months of this year 52,000 more deaths occurred in Vienna than last year, and 60,000 fewer births.

Ducal Landowner.—When the Rutland estates are sold, the young Duke of Norfolk will be the only ducal holder of agricultural estates in the South of England.

Good News for Women.—Through the purchase of one million yards of balloon cloth from the Disposal Board a Manchester firm hopes to produce costumes at £2 each.

Anonymous Generosity.—An anonymous £150,000 gift has been promised to the Welsh Calvinistic Ministry Fund on condition that a similar sum is collected in three years.

The Job for Us.—Mr. C. T. Cramp the President of the National Union of Railwaymen, is one of the highest paid trade union officials in the work. He starts at £800.

A THURSDAY CHRISTMAS.

In an old poem reserved among the Harleian MSS. in the British Museum appears the following superstition connected with the falling of Christmas Day on a Thursday:—

If Christmas Day on Thursday be,
A windy winter you shall see;
Windy weather in each week,
And hard tempests, strong and thick.

The summer shall be good and dry,
Corn and beasts shall multiply;
That year is good lands for to till;
Kings and princes shall die of skill.

If a child that day born should be,
It shall happen right well for thee—
Of deeds he shall be good and stable,
Wise of speech and reasonable.

Diamond, 15 ct. Gold and Enamel Scarf Pin, Irish Guards. £9 10 0.

Diamond and Pearl Fancy Cluster Ring. £27 10 0.

Diamond, Sapphire, Black and White Onyx Sleeve Links set in Palladium. £75 0 0 per pair.

BY APPOINTMENT
Jewellers to His Majesty the King.

CHRISTMAS JEWELLERY

THE Goldsmiths and Silversmiths Company have a comprehensive collection of Jewellery, from which a selection of Christmas Presents can be made. This Jewellery is of highest quality and at the moderate prices charged represents the best value unobtainable.

A Catalogue of Christmas Gifts will be posted free on request.

ONLY ONE ADDRESS.
NO BRANCHES.

THE GOLDSMITHS & SILVERSMITHS COMPANY LTD. with which is incorporated The Goldsmiths' Alliance Ltd 1778
112, REGENT STREET, LONDON, W.1.

THE ARMY GENERAL COLLEGE
(58 HANSA RING, COLOGNE)

The next course begins on 10th January 1920 and lasts for six weeks giving opportunities for study in various stages of the following subjects

A. GENERAL WING.

English. German.
French. Classics.
Geography. Civics.
History. Mathematics.
Mechanical Engineering (Elem.) Chemistry & Physics.

B. COMMERCIAL WING.

GROUP I.

(a) Economics. (To include, Money, Trade & Finance; and the Industrial Development of England.)
(b) Commercial Geography.
(c) Commercial Law.
(d) Company Law.
(e) Bookkeeping (Elementary).
(f) Bookkeeping (Intermediate).
(g) Accountancy.
(h) Auditing.
(i) Commercial Correspondence and Training (Elementary).
(j) Commercial Correspondence and Business Training (Advanced).
(k) Banking.
(l) Commercial Arithmetic. (Elem.)
(m) " " (Advanced.)
(n) Shorthand & Typewriting.
(o) Secretarial Practice.

GROUP II.

(p) French. (Elementary.)
(q) " (Commercial.)
(r) German. (Elementary.)
(s) German. (Commercial.)
(t) Spanish. (Elementary.)

C. AGRICULTURAL WING.

COURSE C (I).

The Allotment Holders' Course, which is intended to meet the requirements of students wishing to take up an allotment on demobilisation, and is held at the Army Educational Farm.

COURSE C (II).

The Agricultural Science Course, which is intended for men with farming experience who wish to continue their studies or take up science connected with agriculture.

D. ART CLASSES.

1. Pure Art, figure drawing, painting and sketching.
2. Commercial Art, drawing, design, construction and artistic crafts.

ALL RANKS wishing to enter for the above courses should apply at once to their Commanding Officers

Names must reach G.H.Q. By 30th December.

The high grade "TUCKMAR" Razor

Do you know why everybody asks to-day for a "Tuckmar" razor and why they are called the "Worlds Perfect Razor"???
Because they are the very best and most durable razors in shaving!!!
The excellence of the "Tuckmar" razors consists in their being made from the very best silver steel and in their having the best reputation in the world!!! Every razor fully warranted! SOLD EVERYWHERE!

TÜCKMANTEL & MARTIN, Ohligs-Solingen.
Factory-Agent and Exhibition: Gormanns & Schallenberg, Cologne, Neumarkt 32-34.

R.C. FLACK & CO.
Naval-Military and Civil Tailors
CAMBRIDGE.

The largest selection of newest materials for Mufti and Military; also a large stock of gloves-hosiery-underwear-shirts etc., etc.

KRONPRINZ HOTEL
Behind EXCELSIOR.

N. A. C. B.
OFFICERS' CLUB

XMAS DAY
AND
NEW YEAR'S EVE

XMAS DINNER AND DANCE
AT THE
EWIGE LAMPE

XMAS DINNER
at No. 2 CLUB.

TICKETS 50 MARKS

TABLES SHOULD BE BOOKED EARLY.

Zoological Gardens
Wednesday 31st December
Sylvester evening 7 p.m.
SOCIETY EVENING
PROGRAMME
I Part
MIZZI FINK, Berlin Operahouse
JULIUS GLESS, Cologne Operahouse
KARL SCHRÖDER, " "
HEINRICH ANDERS, Concertmaster (Violin)
JOSEF STREIFFELER at the Piano (Ibach)
II Part (Humoristic)
THEA DEGEN (at the Piano: Emil Palm)
WALTER KORTH of the Cologne Theatre.
a New Year Draw—3 prizes
1) a live lucky pig
2) a live goose
3) a splendid hare.
Orchestra: The increased band conducted by J. ITSCH, and other bands.
Ticket: (with tax and lottery ticket) 12 Marks; at KONEMANN, Rudolfplatz; NEUBNER, Hohestrasse; TONGER, Am Hof and at the entrance.—The Restaurant is only open to ticket holders from 1 p.m.—Only a certain number of tickets will be sold.

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O.S. 40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

PHOTO HOUSE and camera repairing works. Aug Lang, mechanician of precision, Kl. Neugasse 9(1). Always bargains in second-hand binoculars Zeiss-Goerz, Voigtländer & Ledix.

CUTLERY, especially haircutting machines, razors pocket knives, scissors and any other kind of Solingen and Remscheid steelwares. Apply immediately to Grün wald, Hotel Dortmunder Hof, Bars. a. d. Wupper.

ZEISS-GOERZ Binoculars, 6× and 8×, in splendid condition. Poll, Boissereestr. 12 I (near Hohenstaufen Bad).

TABLE SILVER Carvers, dessert knives, dinner knives and forks, spoons etc. 12 pieces of each of nine varieties. Price about 20000 mark; samples seen at Wachenstein, Gladbacherstrasse 10, after 4.30 p.m.

MODERN artistic seals, japanese pieces in nacre for sale H. Frechebach, Cöln-Poll, Sandberg 33.

DIENST suit from owner very handsome mink cloak with ex trimming for sale 30 000 Mks. Apply Box A. 458, Cologne Post.

BRILLANT-RING and goats, hunter watch. Offers A 458 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

SPLENDID Toilet case for gentleman, 10 parts, in heavy Tortoise shell, new, for sale. Pieper, Hotel Grosser Kurfürst, Room 54, 11 a.m. 1 p.m.

GENTLEMAN'S FUR. Splendid piece—otter's skin collar. First class beaver lining, black cloth—almost new. Also a Persian collar for sale Pieper, Hotel Grosser Kurfürst, Room 54. 11-1.

FOR AMATEURS! Old, valuable coin collection about 3500 pieces, 700 in silver, to sell. Offers A 450, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

SITUATIONS WANTED

YOUNG LADY with good certificates skilled in cooking, household work, sewing, speaking French wants situation for the 15th Jan. Does not assume to much.

WOULD any English gentleman in Cologne require an English speaking lady secretary? Please apply to A 51, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A merry Christmas and a happy New Year to all my customers. Lieut Hosmer, English Tea Room, 52a Hohenzollernring. Table Cloth.

TO LET.

NEAR the Deutscher-King in a fashionable house a serious Eng. officer can have directly a furnished bedroom. He can use the parlour, dining and bath room, kitchen. Room for servant. Schulz, Cologne, Weissenburgstrasse 131L

LOST.

TWO DOGS, one half Airedale, half sheep dog, Airedale coat, colour black and white, no tail, war dog, 15 on collar. The other black and white fox terrier, answers to name "Gwinnie." Dogs last seen at Rhine Garrison Officer's Paper Chase, Dec. 2nd 150 Marks reward for information as to whereabouts of above dogs. Capt. Selby, D/51 Brigade, R.F.A., Rhine Army. (2)

BLACK and tan fox terrier. Answers to name of "Jack". Will finder kindly communicate with S. S. M. Wickstead H.Q. Independent Div. (1)

MUSIC

SINGING LESSONS! Lucy Götzer, Opera and Concertsangerin, hour of consultation 9-1 p.—11 in the morning, 1-4 in the afternoon. Geisterstr. 26 II.

CAFÉ BIOSCOP
Breitestr. 58—60. Corner Langgasse.
Near the Empire Leave Club.
Every day 5 o'clock tea with Concert
First Class Ice Creams. Special Tea Room.
Concert on Sunday morning.

GOLD-FLAKE
NAVY-CUT in big quantities wanted only from importer
A. KATZ
Cigaretten - Großhandlung
Duisburg a./Rhein

Souvenirs Jewellery-Watches-Steelware etc. cheapest at
B. Prechner, Cologne, 27 Weidenbach

"Café Prinzess"
Corner of Waidmarkt.
Open to all Troops of the British and Allied Armies
DAILY CONCERT

For Exporters & Wholesalers
Coutellerie-Cutlery
Pocket knives, Scissors, razors-spoons, forks and knives, safety razors, haircutting machines etc.
BAUMANN & Co.
KÖLN, Berlich 43.

PELZHAUS WEILLER
FURS
COLOGNE, 4 Rudolfplatz
(Near Opera House) — Refined work
English spoken

KODAK
Wulff & Kleinholz, Hohestr. 168
Cologne
Developing and Printing.
All Photographic work carefully executed.
— Prompt attention. —

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 8 Kaiserhof, Cologne, December 18, 1919, [illegible] of consumption. "The Cologne Post" [illegible] Army of the Rhine.

BRITISH CHRISTMAS IN RHINELAND SEE THIS PAGE.

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

DO YOU WANT TO LEARN? ARMY CORRESPONDENCE COLLEGE WILL TEACH YOU FREE. SEE PAGE 2.

No. 231. COLOGNE, SUNDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1919. Price 50 Pfg

THE MAGIC NUMBER SEVEN.

HAPPIEST AND JOLLIEST CHRISTMAS FOR SIX LONG YEARS.

RHINELAND FESTIVITIES AND FUNCTIONS.

CENTRAL Y.M.C.A.

FAIRYLAND AND FAIRY DOINGS.

Keen artistic sense, infinite resource and patient toil must have been devoted by Miss E. K. Beale and her Staff to the task of converti g the series of Halls, at the Central Y.M.C.A., all of them except Loreley and the Library, (striking examples of German "frightfulness") into "things of beauty" which will be a joy to the beholders of them so long as the Christmas decorations last. The Ober-Bayern, as the restaurant was called before its occupation and redemption by the Y.M.C.A., was almost as hideous as it was vast; but its chief demerits seem to have been compelled to surrender themselves most effectively to the purposes of the decorators who, by cleverly covering each monstrosity with green garlands and ada ting each particular feature to a general and harmonious scheme, brought the floor-space, the platform, the numerous châlets and the galleries rising tier upon tier, into accord, with the walls. The bright paintings of the Bavaria n hills lost their excessive vividness and the illusion of being in green fields with a distant view of snow-capped hills is almost, if not quite achieved. The pr per suggestion of a festive occasion is made by the innumerable fairy lights that gleam through the leaves and enliven the scene.

"The Great Hall" has had attention paid chiefly to its stage which is itself garlanded with green and is flanked by two huge Christmas tress. The chandeliers are linked together with festoons which stretch enormous distances, and make us realise the vast dimensions of the Hall; and of course, fairy-lights are here, there and everywhere. Two particularly horrid faces which disfigured the end walls have been blotted from view by merciful curtains which seem destined to remain to prevent the nightmare which must hitherto have disturbed the slumbers of all who looked upon the countenances that are now concealed. In the Loreley and the Library Halls, which have a certain dignity of their own, the decorations are more severe in character and they serve merely to tone down the excessive gaudiness given the unadorned halls as an expression of the taste of the class of Germans who in pre-Armistice days frequented the "Gross-Cöln."

THE CHILDREN'S REVELS.

Surely no more beautiful sight was seen anywhere this Christmas as was afforded by the Children, the Tree, the Snowball (containing the children's gift) the Fa ries and their dance on the afternoon of the 24th. We have already expressed our congratulations to the Associations which work so hard with the troops upon their co-operation in this entertainment for the children. We now congra ulate them on the magnificent result, so beautiful, so harmonious, so expressive of the very spirit of Christmas-tide.

The Assistant Chaplain General was the soul of the enterprise, and to him more than to any other is due the union on this occasion of the Associations that ordinarily work apart in space, but, as this event proved, not in spirit, for the troops. Miss Harper, of the Church Army, made a notable contribution in the idea of the Snowball and Fairy Dance, as also in personal services, in which also the Hon. Mrs. Morris of the Church Army, and Miss Holway of the Catholic Club shone conspicuously.

Inevitably however, the heaviest burden was borne by the Ladies of the Y.M.C.A. Staff, whose untiring efforts, superimposed upon their ordinary work and their special Christmas arrangements, would have overwhelmed any less capable and energetic band of women. Miss Fry, who in the absence through indisposition of Miss Lett, trained the children in their Fairy Dance, was herself their Fairy Queen; and she and they were ethereal in their aspect and seemed to have come from and to belong to another and fairer world than ours. The beautiful music for the Fairy Dance was the composition of Miss Nash, of the Y.M.C.A.

GENEROUS DONORS.

In the Hall, the children and their parents had a most sumptuous tea. Contributions were made of sweets, by the 6th Corps Club; of oranges by the Catholic Club; of a bumper cake by the N.A.C.B.; of crackers by the B.E.L.C.; of 1000 marks by the Assistant Chaplain General; and of all else by the Y.M.C.A. To realize the effect of the children's tree and tea one must see the photographs of them that can be had at the Central Y.M.C.A.

On Christmas Day, in this Hall, a special Fairy Film was shown in the afternoon for the children and their friends; and every evening in the week, special entertainments were given to crowded audiences, the greatest attraction of all being the concert given by Madame Bertha Moore's "Etceteras" party. To each of the ladies of this party a Christmas souvenir of their visit to Cologne was presented by Dr. Francis on behalf of the grateful troops. As for Dr. Francis himself, he prefers to do things rather than talk about them (as we noticed when he was on the stage on Xmas Day but it may be taken for granted that among the labours of the devoted band of workers, who concentrated on the wonderful success achieved, he spared himself the least.

ROUND THE HOSPITALS.

NO. 44 C.C.S.

The patients and staff of No. 44 C.C.S. will remember for many a long day, with pleasure, the Christmas festivities. Eager preparations had been going on for weeks. It will be claimed with entire confidence that no more tasteful decorations were to be seen in the whole of Rhineland. The spacious entrance hall struck the note of welcome, with its fine display of bunting, Christmas trees, garlands of evergreens, pots of white lilac and crimson Azaleas. It would be invidious to select any one ward as deserving of special praise, each scheme being a gem of its kind.

Every ward is a mass of colour, ordered colour with decorative schemes worked out by the sisters and their patients; and the whole secret of the success was given away to us by a patient who, although in bed, was accused of "nigger-driving" the others. "No I didn't nigger drive, it wasn't necessary, they all did it because they knew it would please Sister." That is the reason the various wards of No. 36 look so lovely.

The recreation hall, like the entrance hall, had received the special attention of the matron and the sisters.

The Commander-in-Chief of the Rhine Army, accompanied by Lady Robertson, paid a much-appreciated visit in the course of the morning. In each of the wards Sir William addressed a few appropriate words to the patients, wishing them all happiness and good cheer. Shortly after midday dinner was served to the patients; and, an hour later, came the turn of the personnel. The feast was choice and abundant, revealing the patient care of the Quartermaster's department. The members of Madame Moore's Concert Party, the "Etceteras", passed through the wards, with kindly words and smiles for all, especially the patients confined to their beds. At a later stage they gave a delightful concert to a crowded and appreciative audience in the recreation hall. At the conclusion of this pleasing function Capt. Black appeared, suitably arrayed as Father Christmas and soon the wealth of good things in the vicinity of the giant Christmas Tree were in the possession of the eager recipients. On the invitation of the Amusements Officer hearty cheers were given for the commanding officer, Lt.-Col. Marshall, D.S.O., the Matron, the sisters and nurses and for the men who had toiled so willingly in preparing the decorations.

Still later the orchestra discoursed sweet music, various games were played and a number of favourite dances were enjoyed. Said one of the patients: "This has been the happiest Christmas I have had for eight years. When I went to bed last night I lay down as happy as a kiddie who has had a topping good time." The words were evidently sincere and they reflect the general opinion. No higher praise could be given.

142 FIELD AMBULANCE.

The patients at No. 142 F.A. appeared to be having a royal time, when we dropped in on Christmas afternoon. Special dinner, special tea and a whole round of mirth and music was part of their programme. Some members of the Varieties Concert Party were there, the audience enjoying in particular the trio in which Miss Hilda Potts took part, and Corporal Barker's violin performance.

The Ambulance was beautifully decorated and had a thoroughly Christmas air.

Y.M.C.A. BONN.

On Christmas Day "Gross Bonn Y.M.C.A." threw open its doors to the troops at six o'clock. and laid itself out to give the men a real old fashioned jolly Xmas. Free smokes and free refreshments were the order of the evening, the guests taking full advantage of the good fare provided. The games, to which valuable prizes were attached, caused much interest, most of them developing into contests between Liverpool, Manchester and Durham, and much good humoured chaff ensued. At eight o'clock great excitement was caused by the entry of Father Christmas in full regalia drawn on a sleigh by a terrible Turk and a Russian Nobleman. These three brilliant figures stood out in relief against a sea of khaki. Father Xmas then presented the holders of lucky numbers with more than a hundred gifts of many kinds. At least one man in four received a prize. Mr. Walter Ashley (the Y.M.C.A. Secretary for the Rhine Army) paid a flying visit and made a short speech in which he paid a tribute to Father Christmas (the Leader) Miss Sutton and the excellent staff of workers to whose efforts the success of the evening was due. The brilliant electrically-lit Xmas tree of gigantic size was the work of the ladies of the Bookroom in Bonn. Mr. Skeeles and Mr. Seward superintended the games. Altogether a very excellent evening's entertainment.

LEAVE CLUB.

THREE DAYS' CONTINUOUS ENJOYMENT.

On seeing previous decorations at the B.E.L.C. we thought that the climax had been reached, but our opinions had to be revised. The Xmas decorations surpass them all. They are wonderful, beautiful, delightful, and when the Xmas Eve fancy dress ball started, the scene in the theatre could scarcely have been surpassed.

Festoons of Chinese lanterns, electrically illuminated, are all over the place. There are between 700 and 800 of them in all, while numerous illuminated "Weihnachtsbäume" add to the general lustre.

Of the enormous amount of labour expended to produce this effect only those who did it can adequately judge, but chief credit is due to Capt. Amy, ably assisted by L./Cpl. Green.

In the entrance hall one finds that the "bureau" has been converted into a dug out, with real sand bags, trench orders, weird signs and many other of the paraphernalia of that trench warfare now so happily a thing of the past. But we have never seen anything in the trenches of France and Flanders so attractive as there is in the Leave Club dug-out. Every room has had hours and hours of loving labour spent on it, the Music Room being especially beautiful, and we are quite certain that nothing further could possibly have been done to produce a more Christmaslike atmosphere of revelry for the setting for the excellent amusement fare of the Leave Club this Yuletide.

The ball was a great success and really the dancing at the Club could give points to many dances at home. The music provided by the band of the 23rd Royal Fusiliers was of the highest order.

Lady Robertson and Mrs. Acheson were the judges of the dresses and must have found it extremely difficult to arrive at their decisions, but the three selected dresses certainly deserved to have their success recognised. They were: — 1. Poudre, Sgt. Howell 51st Royal Warwicks; 2. Chinaman, L. Cpl. Guest, M.F.P., 3. Tramp, Cpl. Green, R.E.

Lady Robertson presented the prizes and on being asked to speak passed the invitation to the Commander-in-Chief who said that everyone had deserved prizes although only few got them. He also wished all those present and all the Garrison a Very Happy Christmas and New Year.

The Honorary Director, Miss Decima Moore, in thanking Lady Robertson and Mrs. Acheson for their kindness in judging an extremely difficult task—said that it gave her especial pleasure to see both the Commander-in-Chief and Commander Acheson there, for her husband had had the honour of serving under the former and her son under the latter.

It would take too much space to describe the dresses, but they showed on the whole that a large amount of ingenuity and labour had been spent on them.

CHRISTMAS NIGHT.

Christmas night furnished a scene of brilliancy which will long live in the memories of those who were fortunate enough to be present when Miss Decima Moore, C.B.E., and her workers played the Host to over 2000 men.

A "real live fairy" was not missing from this Fairyland, for Miss Richmond, with great beauty and dignity, played the part to perfection, and had but to wave her magic wand to charm one and all.

The long and varied programme commenced with selections by the British Empire Leave Club Jazz Band. This was followed by a Revue—"Toy Town"—and once again we were glad to enjoy the clever antics of the Showman, and the fascination of Dances by the living mechanical dolls.

The Curtain then rose to find Miss Decima Moore on the Stage surrounded by her aides-de-camp, and by a bevy of charmingly dressed Columbines who were to assist her in distributing souvenir presents to the various guests.

We understand that the holders of tickets Nos. 73, 900, 52, 999 and 13, which were lucky numbers in the draw for special prizes, have not yet claimed their gifts.

Carnival followed, and wild scenes of enthusiasm ensued. Caps, hats, flowers and all manner of trophies were thrown from stage and gallery to a surging crowd beneath. The noise was deafening, trumpets, songs and laughter adding to the increasing din, and it was only when Miss Marjorie Moore, with all that charm that is hers, commenced to sing, that a great peace reigned. Miss Urquhart too, held her audience entranced when she danced Highland Dances to the strains of the pipes.

No small success of the evening was due to Captain van Dyck, who dressed as a Prussian soldier, amused everyone by his humorous by-play. A very charming break in the frivolities was made by the singing of Carols by Miss West's Choir.

Choruses, games and wild romps filled in the time between various dances, and before the grand Snowball Fight with which the evening was to end, Gunner Chapple in a very happy speech called upon the men to show their appreciation to Miss Decima Moore for all that she had done for them. This met with a rousing reception, and cheer after cheer testified to the love and affection in which Miss Moore is held by the men of all ranks. Miss Moore then responded and with her usual enthusiasm carried the whole house with her when she called for three cheers for King and Empire! Then gracefully declining to take the credit for the evening upon herself, she led the cheers for Colonel Levey, and for all those who had worked with her at the Club.

(Continued in next column.)

WOMEN J.P's.

COMMITTEE OF SELECTION APPOINTED.

With a view to the coming into force of the Sex Disqualification Removal Act, the Lord Chancellor has appointed the following as a committee to assist him in the selection of the first women to be placed upon the Commission of the Peace: Marchioness of Crewe, (chairman) Marchioness of Londonderry, Mrs. Lloyd George, Miss Elizabeth Haldane, Mrs. Gertrude Tuckwell, Mrs. Humphrey Ward and Mrs. Sidney Webb. These ladies will be placed upon the Commission of the Peace at once. As the Bench throughout the country is fully up to strength very few appointments will be made for the present, except for Children's Courts, but in future the claims of women will be considered equally with those of men.

So Christmas night came to an end—and one is inclined to agree with the Scotchman who was overheard to say of Miss Decima Moore, that — "She may be wee but every bit of her is magic", and certainly it was magic for everyone who was privileged to spend Christmas at the British Empire Leave Club.

BOXING DAY.

Friday brought more revels—Pantomime "The Babes in the Wood" in the afternoon and in the evening a Christmas supper and dance; and what a supper! Turkey, sausage, vegetables, sweets, beer or lemonade and cheese, with dessert—all for fifteen marks! Over a thousand such meals were served.

Up in the theatre a most enjoyable dance took place and at intervals dancing competitions for prizes were held. The splendid band of the Inniskillings made the music and made it in their usual finished manner. Some excellent dancing was seen too, and it is remarkable that many of the competitors have learned all the dancing they know at the Leave Club. Many wives and daughters were present and added greatly to the enjoyment and "homey" feeling of the function. We were also pleased to note the presence of the N.A.C.B. girls with those of other women workers on the Rhine. How Miss Decima Moore and her merry band of voluntary workers managed to dance so much after the strenuous labours of the past week is beyond our comprehension, for to prepare the Leave Club as it was prepared must have meant days and days of deep consideration and much hard labour.

The Prizes for dancing fell to the following:—

Veleta:—Cpl. Berry, R.F.A. and Pte. Barrett, 51st N.F.

Valse:—Sergt. Kimber, R.F.A. and Pte. McKenzie, Lancs. Regt.

Decimore:—Pte. Parish, R.A.M.C. and L/Cpl. Sealey, R.E. (Sig.).

Tickle Toe:—Cpl. Gerrard, 11th Bn. Queen's Regt. and Pte. McKenzie, Lancs. Regt.

On Leave Fox Trot:—Miss Barnes, Mrs. Humphries, N.A.C.B., Miss Buckland, Miss Percival.

The Masters of Ceremonies were:—S.S.M. Felgate, R.A.S.C., Sergt. Howell, R.W.R., L/Cpl. Foote, R.E.

G.H.Q. W.O.'S AND SERGEANTS NO. 1. MESS.

Among all the functions which were held in Cologne on Christmas Day none could have furnished more happiness and pleasure—always remembering that we are away from home—than was concentrated at the G.H.Q. Warrant Officers and Sergeants No. 1 Mess. The French expression for home—"chez nous"—however, exactly describes the event, for the members and ex-members with their wives and children made up a large family which feasted and revelled to the height of enjoyment. A huge Christmas tree, ablaze with light and loaded with toys, stood conspicuous in the gaily decorated mess, and the "children of a larger growth" were to be seen cajoling the youngsters to borrow their mechanical toys in order to "see the wheels go round."

A dinner that would have given equal satisfaction to Epicurus and Gargantua was succeeded by a musical feast, interpolated in which were two spells of chorus singing, one consisting of Christmas Carols and Hymns, which were very heartily rendered.

This very happy party was presided over by Sgt.-Major R. H. Chambers, who gave the toast of the King. Sgt.-Major J. Reddin proposed "Our Guests", to which Sgt.-Major Hackett responded. "The British Army of the Rhine" was submitted by Staff Sgt.-Major Nevill and "Our Comrades at Home and Abroad" by Sgt-Major Burton.

Post prandial diversion, in the shape of music, was only beaten by the clock. The G.H.Q. Jazz Band excelled itself, especially Sgt. Hallmark, who can syncopate anything, even a box (car). Members of the Fragments Concert Party, Mrs. Covey, Alfred Barker and others contributed to the feast and an impromptu dance brought a memorable evening to a close.

The thanks of the Mess are due to Mrs. Stockley for her assistance with the Christmas tree and decorations and to C.Q.M.S. Wolstencroft, Sgt. Butt, Sgt. Smart and others for their efforts in the same direction; to Q.M.S. Cook and the others members of the Committee, Q.M.S. Attill, Q.M.S. Peirce, Sgt. McDonald, ably seconded by Conductor Bush, Q.M.S. Gardener and Sgt. Soden, for the catering and general arrangements and to Sgt.-Major Hollywood—the Mess President, who was unable to be present, being on leave, for designing the Menu Card (cleverly drawn by Corpl. Mills, R.E.,) which will always serve to remind those present of a memorable Christmas.

FATAL FIRE.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE AT CINEMA WORKS.

One of those grim disasters which somehow seem to coincide with holiday seasons occurred at Newcastle-on-Tyne on the 23rd December when twelve were killed and thirty injured as the result of a fire which took place in the premises of a cinematograph film maker.

The fire is supposed to have had its origin in the basement and the flames spread to the top floor with incredible rapidity.

When the fire brigade arrived it was found that the ladders were several feet short of the upper windows. Sheets were hurriedly procured and a number of girls who were hanging precariously from the upper windows, and others who jumped from a height of ninety feet, were safely caught.

The efforts of the firemen were seriously handicapped by the smoke fumes and several had to be removed to the local Infirmary.

A very dramatic discovery was made after the fire, six girls being found uninjured in one of the rooms of the building where the fire failed to penetrate on account of the concrete floors.

The fire burned for three hours and a number of bodies were found unrecognisably charred.

INDIAN HOME RULE.

KING APPEALS FOR UNITY.

Having given his assent to the Government of India Bill the King has issued a proclamation to the Viceroy, the native princes and peoples of India. His Majesty appeals for the patriotic co-operation and forbearance of all to make the new Constitution a success. With a view to promoting such co-operation he directs the Viceroy on his behalf to exercise the Royal clemency to political offenders in the fullest measure compatible with the public safety. He trusts that the Prince of Wales on his arrival in India to inaugurate the new Constitution, will find mutual good-will and confidence prevailing among those on whom will rest the future service of the country, so that success may crown their labours and progressive enlightenment attend their administrations.

ROUND THE CLUBS.

(K)NIGHTS OF GLADNESS JUBILATE.

Each of the Officers' Clubs in Cologne rose to the festive occasion admirably. The interior of the N.A.C.B. as well as the Sixth Corps Club, through the agency of lavish decoration, breathed the Yuletide spirit in unmistakeable manner, During Christmas Day and Boxing Day revelry continued practically without cessation. Special fare of a thoroughly seasonable nature attracted the organisers of many private dinner parties, while of music and dancing there was no deficiency.

On Christmas Day a merry party of Bohemian spirits numbering about seventy made their home in No. 2 club. They included members of the Editorial Staff of the "Cologne Post" Intelligence Corps and of the Rhine Army Dramatic Company, who after their performance turned up to an excellently served dinner in the wonderful garb of "The Knight of the Burning Pestle" characters. Song and dance carried the party well into the "Wee Sma' hours." Meanwhile a public dinner and dance proceeded successfully at the "Ewige Lampe".

The VI Corps Club also opened its doors to all and sundry and on both holidays the spirit of Christmas was well maintained. Christmas trees were of course, much in evidence at all the institutions to delight the hearts of the youngsters in occupation.

Among the private dinners the particularly cheery function was that given in honour of Lieut.-Colonel Batson, O.B.E., M.C., Commanding the Rhine Signal Battalion, who is leaving for England in the near future. The dinner took place in the "Ewige Lampe" and was well attended by the Officers of the Rhine Signal Battalion and Head Quarter Troops as well as a few privileged guests. Major Holt, M.C., presided over the post prandial proceedings and the following contributed speeches, songs, etc., to a well arranged programme: Capt. and Adjt. Adams, Capt. Haines, Capt. Dean, Lieuts. Barn, Rishworth, M.C., Class, M.C., Shields M.C.,

The opportunity was taken of making a wedding presentation of a card tray to Lieut. H. J. Ost, whose marriage was recently solemnised.

The excellent arrangements made by the VI Corps Club included a dance on Boxing night, but for some extraordinary reason the jollification, which was very crowded, came to an end at 12.30. There were many disappointed souls in consequence, since the general idea had got abroad that 3 a.m. was to be the finishing time. While it lasted, however, the dance was one of the most successful in Cologne.

Among the outside entertainments available, the Deutsches theatres and Palace were open to add to the gaiety of events, while the "Jesters" spent a busy time entertaining in various parts of Cologne.

Owing to extreme pressure on our space reports of the R.E. Postal Section, Military Governor's Staff, N.A.C.B. etc., are held over till our next issue.

RHINE OVERFLOWS.

FOOD DELIVERIES BY MEANS OF BOATS.

The Rhine has overflowed its banks and the roadway for a considerable stretch on the Cologne-Bonn tram route is impassable to pedestrians. Where the tram service was in full swing on Boxing Day boats have now to be used and the inhabitants of the old houses on the esplanade by the Rhein hotel have had to move upstairs. They are being provisioned through the windows and boats go from window to window. Up to last evening the N.A.C.B. Canteen had not become involved, though it may be affected at any moment.

The boathouse which accommodates H. M. Rhine Flotilla now stands up like a four storey house but Jack is carrying on as usual The huge warehouses by the Hohenzollern bridge are fast being emptied of their stores and the gangways of the various boats now reach right across the road. Needless to say the Bonn-Cologne cars are no longer running to the Hohenzollern bridge; in fact all the river bank services, except that to the Zoo, have had to be suspended.

PUBLIC BARS.

COMPULSORY WHERE CHEAP BEER IS SOLD.

The Food Minister has issued an order that "in every licensed premises there shall be at least one public bar except on premises in which it is proved that no beer has been sold since August 1st 1916, at or at less than the rate of fivepence per imperial pint." A notice "Public Bar" and list of prices shall be conspicuously displayed.

In other words all licensed houses at which beer has been sold at fivepence per pint or less, must have a public bar. The new Order will make little change in London, where very little fivepenny beer has been sold. Even then it has been sold in a public bar which is already existing. In country districts however, fivepenny beer has been much more extensively sold, and in Lancashire, says the Secretary of the Licensed Victuallers Defence League, it will mean that not a single house will be without a public bar.

IN THE THROES.

BOLSHEVISTS MAKING THEIR LAST KICK.

Referring to the retirement of Denikin before the Red onslaught on the centre of his front, General Sir Charles Briggs, lately head of the British Mission in South Russia, said to a Reuter representative that there is not the slightest reason for pessimism. This is the last dying kick of the Bolshevists as is evident from their repeated attempts to negotiate peace. Risings are taking place behind the Bolshevist front, and the highest military strategists on Denikin's Staff believe that the Bolshevists will be driven out of Moscow not later than May.

RED VENGEANCE.

HORRIBLE FATE OF RUSSIAN SOLDIERS.

A telegram received at the War Office from Siberia states that the American Railway Mission reports as follows: On December 12th a party of 200 Reds took possession of Dormidonbocas station, 69 versts South of Hebarovsk, capturing 79 Russian soldiers and four officers. They put the four officers and one soldier in a box car and burned them up. According to the latest reports the Reds are still in possession of the station.

BAD CHARACTERS IN THE ARK.

The Washington State Department has cabled to various foreign capitals explaining that the men and women who were deported to Europe aboard the Bulford—the Soviet Ark—are "undesirables and anarchists arrayed against any Government of decency and justice." The Department however, asks for a safe conduct and humane treatment for them en route to Soviet Russia.

RETAILERS LICENCES.

Another war time restriction has disappeared with the revocation of the Order requiring any person wishing to open any new retail business first to obtain a licence. Licences are still required, however, for new businesses dealing with meat, milk, bacon, margarine, flour, bread, potatoes and sugar.

TRANSFERS TO MILITARY POLICE.

It is stated in a new Army Council Instruction that in future only regular soldiers and those re-enlisted for short periods will be transferred to the Military Police or to the Military Provost Staff Corps.

The Foreign Office hitherto has been unable to confirm the report from Rome, that D'Annunzio has relinquished command at Fiume whence he is said to have departed aboard a British liner. Such appears possible, however, in view of the decision of the Fiume Plebiscite.

Y.M.C.A. RHINE ARMY.

CHRISTMAS 1919.

CHRISTMAS APPEAL FOR £5,000

from the Officers N.C.O.'s Men and British Residents of the Rhine Army, as the
Rhine Army Contribution.
Toward the
Final War-Work National Appeal for £750,000.

WILL YOU HELP TO CARRY ON THE WORK THE Y.M.C.A. IS STILL DOING WITH THE TROOPS IN

GERMANY	INDIA
MESOPOTAMIA	PERSIA
EGYPT	PALESTINE
SALONICA	RUSSIA
FRANCE	CONSTANTINOPLE
BELGIUM

and at all the London Stations?

Extract from letter from the Commander-in-Chief, Rhine Army, who has given his full interest and support to the Appeal:

"I cannot speak too highly of the value to the Army of the self-denying efforts made by your Association to increase in every way the moral and material well-being of the Troops, with whom, indeed, the name of your Association has now become a household word."

OVER 90 Y.M.C.A. CENTRES WERE ESTABLISHED WITH THE RHINE ARMY.

28 Y.M.C.A. CENTRES ARE STILL RUNNING WITH THE RHINE GARRISON AND THE INDEPENDENT DIVISION.

Do you want these all to close for lack of funds?

A GUINEA FROM EVERY OFFICER AND HALF-A-CROWN FROM EVERYONE ELSE WOULD RAISE THE REQUIRED AMOUNT.

WHAT ABOUT IT?

All contributions should be sent to the Chief Accountant, Y.M.C.A. H.Q. Rhine Army, who will be glad to send anyone a copy of the complete Balance Sheet, recently published in "The Times," a statement of the Facts of the Situation by Lord Askwith, and full particulars of the Appeal.

Y.M.C.A. RHINE ARMY.

XMAS IN THE HUTS.

FINAL NOTICE.

Special Christmas Entertainments will be given in the following Y.M.C.A. Huts, on the days stated:—

Tuesday, December 30th — 1. 25 General Hospital; 2. Wahn Barracks.
Wednesday, New Year's Eve. — 1. Cologne Central Club; 2. Kalk Central Club

The ETCETERAS Concert Party will give the following Special Concerts:—

To-day December 28th	Y.M.C.A. British Empire Leave Club
Monday December 29th	Y.M.C.A. Central, Bonn
Tuesday December 30th	Y.M.C.A. 25 General Hospital
" " 30th	Y.M.C.A. Mülheim
Wednesday, New Year's Eve	Y.M.C.A. 3rd General Hospital
	Y.M.C.A. Solingen
Thursday, January 1st	Y.M.C.A. Wermelskirchen

NB. You are asked to make a note of these remaining fixtures of the special Christmas week programme, as NO FURTHER NOTICE of these will be published in this column.

1919—1920

New Year's Eve Ball

December 31st 9.30—12.30
AT THE
BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
(Officers' Subscription Dance)
President: Major-General Sir S. T. B. LAWFORD, K.C.B.
FANCY DRESS OPTIONAL
Tickets 20 Marks — Apply: Controller Entertainments :: British Empire Leave Club ::

THOS. COOK & SON

BANKERS, TOURIST, ARMY & FORWARDING AGENTS

OUR COLOGNE BRANCH IS OPEN AND AT THE SERVICE OF OFFICERS, N.C.O's AND MEN OF ARMY OF THE OCCUPATION

FOREIGN MONIES EXCHANGED

ADDRESS 1, DOMHOF
OPPOSITE THE CATHEDRAL

METROPOLE THEATRE

THE GRAND PANTOMIME
ALADDIN
(BY A.M.THOMPSON&R.COURTNEIDGE)

OPENING PERFORMANCE JAN. 1st at 6 p.m. and every evening till JAN. 7th (Sunday excepted). SATURDAY JAN. 3rd CHILDREN'S MATINEE at 2.30 p.m. and evening performance at 7 p.m.

BOOK SEATS EARLY at VI Corps Club, N.A.C.B. Club No. 2, Amusements Office, B.E.L.C. and Metropole Theatre.

N. A. C. B.
OFFICERS' CLUB

NEW YEAR'S EVE

DINNER AND DANCE
AT THE EWIGE LAMPE

DINNER
at No. 2 CLUB.

TICKETS 50 MARKS

TABLES SHOULD BE BOOKED EARLY.

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstrasse.

Special Sunday Concerts

Tonight at 6 p.m.

GRAND OPERATIC CONCERT

Wanda Achsel } of the Cologne
Karl Renner } Opera House
Therese Pott, Solo pianoforte
Lieut. N.C. Ingall, R.E., Bass.

Book at Amusements Office.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.

Monday, December 29th, 1919, and until further notice owing to enormous success,
THE BRITISH RHINE ARMY DRAMATIC COY in
"THE KNIGHT OF THE BURNING PESTLE"
by BEAUMONT & FLETCHER.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.

Monday, December 29th, 1919,
Return visit owing to continued success of
Mr. ALFRED HURLEY's London Variety Coy.
"THE JESTERS"
Artistes:
Mr. JOE MORLEY
The Celebrated Banjoist from the LONDON PALLADIUM.
Miss VIVIAN MACKAY
Contralto.
Mr. HARRY KING
Comedian.
Miss JESSIE MOUNTJOY
Songs at the Piano.
Mr. CHASS. LEWIS and "JOEY."

No 1 Cinema is now closed.
No: 2 ARMY CINEMA.
(Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.
No: 3 ARMY CINEMA.
(Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.
Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc.,
Staff Instructor in attendance.

British Empire LEAVE CLUB
Hon. Dir. Gen. Miss Decima Moore, C.B.E.
Programme for Week ending Jan. 3rd 1920.

ENTERTAINMENTS

Sunday, Dec. 28th.
6.30 Madame Bertha Moore C.B.E. and "Etecetras" Concert part.
Monday, Dec. 29th.
6 German Class.
6.15 Pantomime, "Babes in the Wood" by men of the Rhine Army.
Tuesday, Dec. 30th.
Chess Tournament.
6.15 Pantomime, "Babes in the Wood".
Wednesday, Dec. 31st.
German Classes.
6.30 Dance.
Thursday, Jan. 1st.
6.30 Whist Drive.
Chess Tournament.
6.30 to 10 Dancing Class and Dance. Band of the 52nd Durham Light Infantry.
Friday, Jan. 2nd.
2.30 Continuous Cinema.
6.30 German Class. Debate.
Saturday, Jan. 3rd.
6 German Class.
6.30 Dance.

CINEMA
EVERY DAY. From 2.30 p.m.
Admission 2 Marks.

Church of England Services in Cologne.

THE GARRISON CHURCH (C. of E.)
Schildergasse
HOLY INNOCENTS.
Sunday December 28th 1919.
8.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
10.30 hrs. Parade Service.
Pracher: Rev. A.W.P. JAGGARD C.F.
Chaplain to the 36th C.C.S.
11.30 hrs. Holy Communion.
14.30 hrs. Children's Service (Y.M.C.A. Central) Rev. G.W. Dominey C.F.
Chaplain to the 24th Vet. Hospital.
18.00 hrs. Evensong.
Preacher: Rev. E. Douglas C.F.
Chaplain to the 23rd Royal Fusiliers.
19.00 hrs. Holy Communion.

Wednesday, December 31st.
8.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
Thursday, January 1st 1919.
FESTIVAL OF THE CIRCUMCISION.
8.00 hrs. Holy Communion.

CHURCH ARMY CHAPEL Hotel du Nord.
Sunday, December 28th. Holy Innocents
8.00 hrs. Holy Communion.

Tuesday, December 30th.
Holy Communion. 7.30 hrs.
Thursday, January 1st 1920.
Circumcision.
8.00 hrs. Holy Communion.
18.00 hrs. Devotional Service.
Friday January 2nd.
Holy Communion. 7.30 hrs.

Church of England Services in Bonn

IN GARRISON CHURCH, BONN.
EVERY SUNDAY:

Holy Communion	8.00 hrs.
" "	11.45 hrs.
" "	19.00 hrs.
Garrison Parad. Serv.	10.00 hrs.
Evening Sermon	18.00 hrs.

Scottish Churches and English Free Churches.

THE MILITARY CHURCH.
6 Filzengraben (Turning off Heumarkt.)
Sunday, 28th December
11 a.m. Preacher: Rev. G.A. SEATH, C. F.
Garrison Chaplain
6 p.m.
Cars Nos. 6, 7, 11, 18 and 20.

Welsh Service 2.30 p.m. in Y.M.C.A. Central.

The Cologne Post

Telephones: Military, No. 653. Civil: A 3513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S.40, British Army of the Rhine.

Sunday, December 28, 1919.

RHINELAND CHRISTMAS.

In the history of our great Empire Britishers have never been called upon to celebrate Christmas under more unique conditions than those which prevailed in Rhineland this year. Our very presence here as watchers on the Rhine was a sufficient reminder of the terrible years which have gone before, and, while nothing occurred to suggest that this was forgotten, the fact remains that the whole of the British element in Germany have rarely, if ever, spent a more jolly Christmas.

It was indeed, a strange setting for the festivities of the season of "Peace and Goodwill," yet such was the spirit prevailing that it was almost impossible to realise that we were in an "enemy" country. For the most part Britishers, as was only natural, kept strictly to themselves in their merrymaking, but even the Germans who have less cause for mirthfulness appeared to forget the unpleasant realities of the present in the universal desire to enter into the spirit which this period demands. Each country has its own peculiar method of celebrating Christmas, and the German manner, apparently no less sincere than our own, was a revelation to some of us.

Each unit made its own preparations, and in every case they were wonderfully comprehensive and thorough. From the great Christmas banquet to the most minor detail, nothing calculated to add to the pleasure of the occasion was omitted, and with the dominant thought and ambition, the happiness of a fellow, it was not surprising that such a right royal time was spent.

The Commander-in-Chief set a highly creditable example in this respect, and was to be seen in many places where troops were congregated offering his personal wishes for happiness and good cheer.

In Cologne a vast amount of the credit for the success of the celebrations will be readily awarded the many voluntary workers at the various institutions in the town for their sterling efforts to promote entertainment befitting the occasion. With what unbounded success these efforts were attended and how immensely they were appreciated can only be fully realised by those who had the good fortune to be present at the British Empire Leave Club, Y.M.C.A., and such institutions.

They were truly Christmas scenes; there was a wealth of colour, an abundance of gaiety, and by all an obvious delight was taken in the dispensing of happiness and joyousness.

At the hospitals, too, the Christmas note was predominant, and all that was possible was accomplished to compensate the patients for their bad fortune in being confined to beds of sickness at such a time.

There was an unlimited supply of good old English beer, and it was extremely gratifying to see that despite this the celebrations were everywhere conducted in orderly fashion. There were surprisingly few cases of drunkenness or happenings of an unseemly nature.

TUITION BY POST.

The long winter nights are upon us and many will want something to do in their spare time. All can take advantage of the Army's wonderful educational offer by enrolling for correspondence courses.

The G.H.Q. Correspondence College is for the use of those Officers, N.C.O's and men of the Rhine Army who cannot be spared by their C.O.'s for a residential course at G.H.Q., General and Commercial College, but who wish to continue their education.

Highly qualified instructors deal with each case according to its need, and the flow of work is regulated according to the attainments and capability of the individual, and it costs the student nothing beyond the time he is willing to devote to it.

The G.H.Q. Correspondence College gives instructions in all grades of the following subjects:

English,
English Literature.
History:—English, European, and Imperial.
Geography:—General and Commercial.
Civics and Economics and Industrial History.
Mathematics: — Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry and Calculus.
Modern languages including Commercial Correspondence.
French, German, Spanish.
Shorthand, Typewriting, Book-keeping.

Work begins again after the Xmas holidays on Monday, January 5th. Intending students should apply through their Commanding Officers for a course at the G. H. Q. Correspondence College.

Students can be enrolled at any time. The Principal will be glad to give further information about courses to those who are interested. The offices of the G.H.Q. Cor.-Coll are situated at No. 6 Glockengasse and letters and enquiries should be addressed there, or to Room 124, Excelsior Hotel. Should they be moved to other stations out here the work need not be interrupted. Should a man be stationed near Cologne he can call in at the College occasionally and consult his tutor about any special difficulty he has encountered.

BARRACK-ROOM DIALOGUES.

V.—THE DOM.

"Got a light Fatty? Thanks. A scratch, a spurt of flame, and Konky was contentedly puffing, at his cigarette.

"I been up the Dom s'afternoon" he said, "climbed right to the top".

"How did you like it"?

"Made me legs ache gettin' up all them steps".

"Yes, but how did you like the view"?

"O, orlright . . . I dropped a nempty box o' matches down to see how long it took to reach bottom".

"How can you have an empty box of matches?"

"O, come orf it . . . you're always pullin' flies out o' wot I says".

"I'm sorry, Konky, but what do you think of the Dom as a building"?

"O, 'sorlright, I suppose . . . can't see wot there is to make such a fuss about me self".

"Ah, well, you're not alone in that respect. I hear that quite a number of people who come to Cologne, are disappointed with the Cathedral. Goodness knows what they expect to see. They would be equally unimpressed by Turner's seascapes, or Rodin's sculpture, or Pavlova's dancing or Elgar's music".

"D'yer reckon it's very wonderful then, Fatty?"

"I certainly do. I think it ranks with some of the most beautiful and impressive buildings we have. Its one of the wonders of the world like the Taj Mahal at Agra, or the Palais de Justice at Brussels, or the Pyramids of Egypt, or St. Paul's Cathedral, or the Forth Bridge".

"The Forth bridge ain't a building . . . got you there, Fatty".

"I suppose you think it grew up in the water".

"Now then, dont be sarcy. Wot I wants to know is, where does all this 'ere beauty come in?"

"Have you never felt any pleasure when you've looked at it?"

"O, I dunno . . . I likes to see it when the sun is a shinin' on it."

"Yes, isn't it glorious? I sometimes stand in the Wallraf Platz and marvel at the loveliness of the towers in the light of the afternoon sun. I can't understand how people can pass by without troubling to look up."

"It looks rather nice on a moonlight night," said Konky, who was slightly infected with Fatty's enthusiasm.

"Yes, doesn't it . . . when the spires are silhouetted against the sky, and in an early morning mist when they do in very truth seem to aspire to Heaven."

"Yes," said Konky reflectively, "I suppose it is a bit out o' the common."

"I should just say it was. Think of it in the mass . . . think of it in beautiful detail . . . think of the master mind that could dream of such a structure . . . think of the architects, artists, builders and thousands of obscure workmen who helped to realize the dream . . . think of the infinite patience and labour it represents. And there it stands, majestic and grand . . . a testimony to the immortal soul of man."

"You oughter bin a parson, Fatty, straight you did. It must a bin a lot o' trouble to build up them towers, but Buggins says a mountain is as grand as any old Dom."

"O yes, indeed, that is very true. For beauty and grandeur, a mountain is quite incomparable and worship there is as natural and spontaneous as breathing."

"There you go . . . whatever are you a torkin' about?"

But the sergeant switched off the electric light, and ended the conversation.

C.W.Y.

JIMMY.

It was all Jimmy's fault, but wait, let me tell you who Jimmy is. His name appears weekly in the sporting papers and his job is kicking a ball about on Saturdays; albeit he is an amateur. He is an amateur solely becuse his pater made his money out of a war invention, and Jimmy has no need to worry over trifles such as earning a living, etc.

I met him on a Saturday morning and he made me jump into his motor and convinced me that the best thing I could do was to accompany him to a town thirty miles away to see him play against a prince of centre forwards. Jimmy, by the way, is a centre half.

The chauffeur handled the car until we reached the open country then Jimmy called a halt and took over the wheel.

A car overhauling us "tooted" warningly and Jimmy, after steering a zigzag path, accompanied by certain utterances which made me blush, managed to reach the right side of the road, only to gracefully succeed in getting his two off-wheels into a ditch, himself and a chauffeur in a hedge, and myself over this in a field. When I returned to the road, I found Jimmy telling a pleasant-faced young man that "the bally car went it's own way, almost human it was! What!" I refrained from expressing my thoughts.

Then the stranger spoke. "Went its own way did it; why you ass you couldn't drive a cow to market and I wouldn't trust you to handle a cycle, let alone a car."

He was in his car and moving ere Jimmy found his voice, but there, what he said needn't be printed.

Swearing vengeance if ever he met his traducer again, we once more started and with the chauffeur at the wheel began eating up the mileage. Then came a breakdown, a thunder shower, no shelter and Jimmy was like unto a raving maniac. To cut a long story short he arrived at the ground with four minutes to spare soaked through and Jimmy swearing it was the stranger of the road who had caused his ill-luck, and he'd kill him if he ever met him.

The teams lined up, and when I saw the centre forward Jimmy was opposing, I gasped. It was our stranger of the road. I foresaw trouble and it came, but here is an extract from a report of the game.

"—(Jimmy) was always the master of —and used his shoulders to good effect. Scrupulouly fair the tussles between this pair was the tit-bit of the game and—(he of the road) must have felt glad when time blew, for he got more robust shoulder charges yesterday in one game than he has had this season."

I knew why, and so did Jimmy.

W.Le C.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

Our Readers' Varied Views.

OUR SOUVENIR NUMBER.

Sir,—I have greatly enjoyed your "Souvenir" number and think the idea an excellent one, but may I be allowed to offer one small criticism? Is not Cologne rather "overdone"? What about Bonn? It has been an important military centre since the occupation and yet very little mention is made of it.

Would it not be possible to publish a special number dealing with the history of Bonn since the occupation? I think it would be appreciated greatly.

BONNITE.

WHEN TO SALUTE.

Sir,—I hold with "Observer" in his criticism of the dress of some members of the Rhine Army. It may interest you to know that I was on guard in one of the main streets of Cologne the other day, and a private went by with a female friend. It was beginning to get dark and with the lights on everywhere I took the private to be an officer by the way he was dressed, and of course I at once sprang to attention, which of course it was my duty to do.

When he saw my mistake he laughed.

I quite agree with men endeavouring to be smart, but when they dress up so much that all distinction in rank is lost I think something ought to be done.

VICTORY AND G.S.

"POSHNESS" OVERDONE.

Sir,—Several correspondents have been writing to your most valuable paper, drawing attention to the prevailing custom of troops trying to look "posh" by wearing unofficial additions to their uniforms.

In this connection may I point out that it is becoming the habit for quite a number of them to wear caps of German manufacture?

In my opinion these are not only unbecoming but in a great many cases bordering on the ridiculous, as in style they are apt to remind one of the caps worn by the tramway officials, etc. of this country.

In fact I consider them an insult to our much venerated uniform, which after all never looks at its best unless worn properly.

COAT OF ARMS.

SCARCELY TACTFUL.

Sir,—At a season of the year when the prevailing sentiment is one of "Goodwill to all men" it seems out of place for one to strike a discordant note.

I am not a member of the A.S.C. but in common with all of us they did their bit in the war and were just as necessary as even the humble Chinese labourer.

I have no doubt too that a big percentage of the male personnel of the N.A.C.B. Canteens have also served in other capacities than their present, but I can see no reason at all for the chalked notice on the door of the N.A.C.B. canteen at the Staplehaus, on Christmas night, on the occasion of a dance there, to the effect "Brave A.S.C. Scroungers keep out. For N.A.C.B. Only."

As a display of wit it is not even like the proverbial curate's egg, "good in parts," but as a display of ignorance of even the elementary principles of tact it is indeed an outstanding example, a truly brilliant sample of smug complacency and egoistical self importance.

HAWKEYE.

DESIRABLE PUBLIC-HOUSES.

Sir,—It would be instructive to have an interchange of opinions on the subject of reformed public-houses, taking the continental al fresco café as a basis upon which to work, with the addition of any other features for improvement.

I contend that it is a matter of more than passing interest, and calls for the attention of all social reformers, trade unionists and others.

This matter is as much a woman's concern as it is a man's. In almost any part of Great Britain a man with the best of intentions is not thought a fit companion if he takes his sweetheart or wife into a public-house even if for solid food. At the same time a woman may like a drink, yet because of Mrs. Grundy's age long prejudice she has to deny herself beneficial refreshment. If continentals can carry on a system of desirable and attractive beer cafés without any harmful effects why cannot we do likewise in Great Britain? In this, sir, lies the solution of the drink question. Such means of catering for the requirements of the public would do more to promote temperance than all the teetotal campaigns of the past 50 years put together.

Let us have really good public-houses on up-to-date lines to which we need not be ashamed to ask our womenfolk. This suggestion is not at all impracticable or unprofitable. Let the Tommies on their return to Britain insist upon such places—bars with coffee, lemonade etc., for teetotallers, games to play, papers to read, music and open-air refreshments wherever accommodation permits.

REFORMER.

THE WANDERER.

Land of my birth, how I long for thee,
In a distant country whilst roaming.
Thou hast become, much more dear to me,
A land of my dreams, of my moaning.

Often I think of my boyhood days,
Of a little cottage far away
Of the little kirk, God's house of praise
And the meadows where I used to play.

Mother! I am wond'ring where thou art,
Is that tiny cottage still thy home?
I ne'er dreamt that when we did part,
I should be so weary, and so lone.

When the sun's first rays awaken me,
And another day dawns bright and clear
In the bright blue sky I seem to see, —
The soaring lark, and his song to hear.

When the evening shadows are falling,
In the darkness a cottage I see
In the window a light is burning
And dear mother is waiting for me.

C. J. SKETT.

HOLIDAY FOOTBALL.

Heavy Goal Scoring in the First Division.

COVENTRY'S FIRST WIN.

The two cup replays have been lost and won and the results find Northampton and Gnome Athletic bidding goodbye to this season's cup.

FIRST LEAGUE.

Goals were very cheap in this division the home teams contributing 28 against the visiting clubs 13.

Aston Villa gave Chelsea a whack by placing five efforts out of the "Pensioners" goalkeeper's reach and the "real" Villa are once again mounting to their proper sphere. Sheffield Wednesday did well to take a point from Bradford City while the Arsenal made a sad blot on their away record at Derby where the Rams took both points.

Sunderland were favourites at Liverpool but failed by the odd goal in seven, the Anfield lot putting up a good show. Notts County emphasised their Bradford win by beating Blackburn five-nil, a staggering result considering the improved display of the Rovers. Manchester City found Everton a rare handful and were lucky to effect a draw at Hyde Road.

SECOND LEAGUE.

Congratulations to Coventry on breaking their luck; their solitary win has been a long time in coming but it was a good one. Huddersfield's seven against Rotherham was not exactly an expression of "Goodwill" but it serves to show how good the former's forwards are. Barnsley conquered at Port Vale and Birmingham came a cropper at Leicester. To be beaten there was a nasty jar to the leadership aspirants.

Tottenham revived against Hull and the "Tigers" had no reply to a four goal deficit. West Ham gave a good display when facing Bristol City and deservedly won a hard fought game.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

Reading bagged both points at Gillingham, where the homesters again failed to present a cohesive line. The Welsh battle at Merthyr where Cardiff were visitors ended in a draw and reflects the run of the game. The home men tried hard for the winning goal but had to retire with only one point. Portsmouth put up a spirited fight at Watford and were fortunate enough in securing the full spoils, while Southampton created a surprise by winning at Luton. Palace were worthy victors at Brighton and Norwich City's success at Swindon was a staggering result for the Railway centre's supporters.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE.

One match was played in this competition and Third Lanark at home to Dundee took both points.

Cup Replays.

Bristol Rovers	3	Northampton	2
Gnome Athletic	0	Hednesford	3

XMAS DAY MATCHES.

First League.

Aston Villa	5	Chelsea	2
Bolton Wanderers	4	Preston N. E.	1
Bradford City	1	Sheffield Wed.	1
Burnley	5	Middlesboro	3
Derby County	2	Arsenal	1
Liverpool	3	Sunderland	2
Manchester City	1	Everton	1
Notts County	5	Blackburn Rovers	0
Sheffield United	2	Bradford	2

Second League.

Bury	1	Blackpool	2
Clapton Orient	2	Stockport C.	1
Coventry	3	Stoke	2
Fulham	2	Grimsby	1
Huddersfield	7	Rotherham	1
Port Vale	0	Barnsley	2
Leicester	1	Birmingham	0
Lincoln City	1	Notts Forest	4
Tottenham Hotspur	4	Hull	0
West Ham	2	Bristol City	0

Southern League.

Southend	1	Millwall	0
Merthyr	1	Cardiff	1
Plymouth	3	Exeter	1
Luton	0	Southampton	1
Gillingham	1	Reading	2
Swansea	2	Bristol Rovers	1
Q. P. Rangers	2	Brentford	0
Swindon	0	Norwich	1
Brighton	2	Palace	3
Newport	3	Northampton	0
Watford	0	Portsmouth	1

Scottish League.

Lanark	2	Dundee	0

BOXING DAY.

Home Team Successes: Birmingham's Second Lapse.

Not a single away team won in the first division, and while on Xmas Day goals were plentiful, this day's football, excluding West Bromwich's score, produced few goal-scoring efforts. The "Throstles" gave Sunderland's hopes a rude shock at the Hawthorns, four goals to none reads anything but good for the Wearsiders. Arsenal, Bradford, Everton, Preston and Sheffield Wednesday each improved on the results of the previous day's encounters, but only Everton managed to score more than once.

Chelsea scraped home by the only goal against Oldham and Liverpool succeeded in taking a point from Old Trafford.

Newcastle disappointed when at home to Burnley and the goal scoring efforts of the homesters were far from worthy of the line they played. Middlesboro and Notts County have to do battle another day, the game not being playable owing to frost.

SECOND LEAGUE.

Coventry after scoring their first win on Christmas Day came an awful cropper at Stoke where the Potters scored six to their one. Still it reads well that the City scored four times against the Stoke men in two days. This was their previous total for nineteen games. Leicester gave Birmingham another shock, this time at the latter's ground and the defeats of the Brum men have created a great surprise.

West Ham managed to draw at Bristol and their taking three points from the City ranks as a good performance. Tottenham again accounted for Hull City, who have struck a bad patch, and Huddersfield repeated their efforts to make the Rotherham defence fail.

South Shields were a trifle fortunate in drawing at Wolverhampton.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

Northampton at last gave their supporters a home win and it was a convincing performance. Five goals proved their forwards have found their long lost scoring boots. Plymouth won at Exeter and the Rangers had to acknowledge defeat at Brentford. The surprise of the day was Watford's reversal of the previous day's result and they did well to win at Portsmouth. Millwall, and Cardiff also improved on the results of the Xmas Day battles, but Luton again found Southampton too strong for them.

Swindon's return game with Norwich City was postponed. Appended are the results:—

BOXING DAY.

First League.

Arsenal	1	Derby County	0
Bradford	1	Sheffield United	0
Chelsea	1	Oldham	0
Everton	2	Manchester City	0
Manchester United	0	Liverpool	0
Newcastle	0	Burnley	0
Preston	1	Bolton	1
Sheffield Wed.	1	Bradford City	0
West Bromwich	4	Sunderland	0

Middlesboro, Notts County, postponed, frost.

Second League.

Barnsley	1	Port Vale	0
Birmingham	0	Leicester	1
Bristol City	0	West Ham	0
Hull	1	Tottenham	3
Notts Forest	2	Lincoln	1
Rotherham	1	Huddersfield	3
Stockport	3	Orient	1
Stoke	6	Coventry	1
Wolverhampton	0	South Shields	0

Southern League.

Northampton	5	Newport	1
Palace	4	Brighton	0
Millwall	2	Southend	1
Brentford	2	Rangers	1
Bristol Rovers	3	Swansea	3
Reading	3	Gillingham	0
Southampton	2	Luton	1
Exeter	0	Plymouth	1
Cardiff	3	Merthyr	2
Portsmouth	1	Watford	2

Norwich, Swindon (postponed).

RUGBY RESULTS.

Llanelly	19	London Irish	0
Newport	12	Watsonians	0
Swansea	10	Neath	3

RHINE GARRISON LEAGUE.

Matches to be played in the Fourth Round.

The Fourth Round of the Rhine Garrison League will be played off on Wednesday next, 31st December 1919, as follows:—

	TO BE PLAYED AT.
41st Bn. M.G.C. v. 121st Heavy Battery R.G.A.	R.G.A. at Bonn.
51st Bn. North'd Fus. v. 187th Brigade, R.F.A.	Blucher Park.
52nd Bn. Rifle Brigade v. 140th Field Ambulance.	Stadt Wald, Lindenthal.
23rd Bn. Royal Fusiliers v. 6th Inniskilling Dragoons.	6th Inniskilling D.G.'s Deutz.
M.T. Company v. 231st Field Coy, R.E.	41st Bn. M.G.C. Ground.
143nd Field Ambulance v. 51st Bn. Rifle Brigade.	Poller Wiesen Sports Ground.
52nd Bn. North'd Fus. v. 11th Bn. "Queens" R.W.S. Regt.	Germania-Strasse, Kalk.
19th Bn. Middlesex Regt. v. Rhine Garrison Train.	19th Bn. M'sex Bks. Marienburg
Camp Commandant v. Rhine Garrison D.A.C.	Westhoven.

Trotter Stolen.

A trotting mare, Orfraie, while on its way to a recent meeting at Vincennes, was stolen from the station. The man in charge of the van containing the trotter went to lunch, leaving the van unattended. When he went to resume his journey he found that someone had driven off with the van and the mare.

H.Q. LEAGUE.

Results of last Saturday's Matches.

The games on Saturday last produced several surprises. The complete list of results are appended:

Labour Coy	2.	R.A.F.	2.
R.A.S.C.	3.	Vetry & Rmts	2.
G.H.Q.	4.	Tanks	1.
R.E. Signals	3.	R.A.O.C.	0.
Command Pay Office	2.	Police	0.
R.A.M.C.	2.	Transportation	0.
R.A.V.R.P.	3.	Siege Park	1.
Naval Flotilla	2.	20 M.A.C.	0.

BONN BILLIARDS.

An interesting series of games were held on Xmas Eve at Gross Bonn, when teams from the 121 (Heavies) Bde. R.G.A. and 52nd Kings L. Regt. opposed each other.

The result was as follows:—

R.G.A.			52nd Kings.
Dr. McAteer	100	v.	Pte. Monks S.	50
Gr. Philpip	100	v.	Pte. Taylor	91
Gr. Lee	56	v.	L Cpl. Emsley L.	100
Gr. Riley	62	v.	Pte. Wainwright	100
Dr. Carney	100	v.	Pte. Holt	97
Total:	418		Total:	438

It had been previously agreed that the best aggregate was to count, and so the 52nd Kings won by 20 points.

BOXING DAY BOXING.

Two American Victories at the Albert Hall.

MATT WELLS RETIRES.

An attractive boxing programme was staged at the Albert Hall on the night of Boxing Day and the results of the principal contests were wins for Americans, that is if Kid Lewis can be called an American. Johnny Griffiths the Akron welter-weight knocked out Francis Charles of France in the third round and Matt Wells, who was opposed by Kid Lewis the ex-welter-weight champion of America, retired in the twelfth round.

The results can scarcely be described as surprising, though it is disappointing to find yet another British boxer going under to a foreigner. But it must be remembered that whereas Lewis has now lived in America several years he began his brilliant boxing career in Great Britain and won the British feather-weight championship and the Lonsdale belt little more than six years ago.

Those who had not seen Lewis since 1914 scarcely recognised in the finely developed man who caused Wells to retire, the raw-boned youth who figured so successfully in British boxing before going across the water. He now has almost the development of a middle-weight and is especially strong about the shoulders and arms. With it all he is supple and elastic, is wonderfully quick on his feet and possesses a punch which many a "middle" might envy.

AN IMPORTANT CONTEST.

Lewis showed good form in his preparations and in many quarters was fancied as good enough to account for Wells. The match is important as showing the respective values in relation to their contests with Wells of Johnnie Basham our welter-weight champion and Lewis. A very short time ago Wells gave Basham a hard time of it and unless some reason is forthcoming for his retirement Basham's chance against Kid Lewis looks none too rosy.

Johnnie Griffiths who defeated Francis Charles is a stranger on this side of the Atlantic, but evidence of his ability was provided by his victory over Hughie Mehegan in eight rounds. He boxed a draw with Jack Britton and has met Kid Lewis, Fred Welsh and other men of note in America. As Griffiths accounted for Charles in such summary fashion he will now in all probability seek a contest with Johnnie Basham who also defeated the Frenchmen in a recent contest.

WELLS v. REEVE.

Jack Callaghan Reappears in the Boxing World.

Bdr. Billy Wells and Harry Reeve have agreed to meet in a 20 3-min. rounds contest at the Canterbury theatre on the 27th January for a substantial purse given by Jack Callaghan.

The match is the outcome of negotiations which have been progressing for some weeks. Reeve had deposited some months ago a sum of money as an earnest of his desire to meet Wells for a side stake of £500 and a purse. The challenge had not been accepted, and it was not until Mr. Callaghan brought the men together a few days ago that the match was ratified.

Harry Reeve lost to Eddie McGoorty at Sydney, N.S.W., in October, 1915, but before that he had knocked out Joe Beckett in seven rounds at the Ring. Subsequently he beat Dick Smith twice in 20 rounds, Bandsman Rice in 15 rounds, Jim Sullivan in 11 rounds, Harold Rolph in 20 rounds, and lastly Bob Whiteford in 13 rounds.

It is interesting to recall that it was at the Canterbury that Wells beat Gnr. Moir.

'CHASE AND HURDLE.

Acceptances for Manchester New Year's Meeting.

The acceptances for the two big events of the Manchester New Year's meeting are in every sense satisfactory. In the Victory Steeplechase, sixteen out of the twenty-five original entrants are left in, and though it is a matter for regret that last year's gallant winner, Water Bed, is amongst the missing, this was fully expected.

On the other hand, Pollen, who finished second on that occasion, remains in along with his distinguished stable companion Poethlyn. Others of last year's field who can take part again are Bernstein and Bell Toll.

Apart from Water Bed, the most notable non-acceptors are Mr. James Buchanan's recent purchase Silver Ring, Turbine Secundus, and Salt Spray, Pennant as yet having had no public experience of steeplechasing.

Amongst those who stand their ground are Turkey Buzzard, Tally Ho, Herod's Daughter, Clonree, Loch Allen, Top Hole, and Toadstone, and, on the whole, therefore, there ought to be a representative field.

The Victory Hurdle.

As regards the Victory Hurdle Race, ten of the thirty-one entrants have retired, but last year's winner, John Jackett, is eligible to make another attempt. Stainton, Golden Melody, Saxham Prince, Knight of Manister, Manrico, Ballyhandy, Granchester, Vanitie, Trezidella, Palmer's Hill, and Theodosius, are all useful performers, while if Procurator is the only four-year-old he is quite likely to run creditably against his seniors. At all events, his failure at Gatwick last Saturday can be ignored, as he had little or no chance from the fall of the flag.

ESSEX CROSS-COUNTRY ASSOCIATION.

At the annual general meeting of the Essex Cross-Country Association, at Romford, it was resolved to hold the championship race on Jan. 24, the committee being left to decide the venue. Places suggested were Southend, Shenfield, and Woodford Green. A Junior championship was also decided upon, an individual championship to be held in conjunction therewith, open to any athlete holding birth or residential qualifications as laid down in the S.C.C.C.A. rules.

RHINE "SOCCER".

Doughty Dragoons Good win.

INNISKILLING DRAGOONS 3; RHINE REPRESENTATIVES 1.

This game was played on heavy ground and in dull weather, but did not tend to decrease the number of supporters, who turned up in good spirits to witness an exceedingly fine display of football. The game commenced very fast, and the Fusiliers tried their utmost to overwhelm the Inniskillings' defence, but were met in an astoundingly cool and stubborn manner, and soon after their first wave had lost its sting, the Inniskillings' forwards carried the ball to the opposite end. Sergt. Bennett, by a fine cross-dribble, tricked the two backs, and with a powerful oblique shot hopelessly beat the goal-keeper.

After this, the Inniskillings were soon back again to the attack, and were on several occasions within an ace of adding to their lead. The shooting was, however, weak. The Fusiliers eventually cleared the ball from their goal-mouth, and the inside-left, in gaining possession of the leather, carried it hurriedly down the field and fired in a beautiful shot which brought the scores level.

For the remainder of this half, neither side added to their scores.

On resuming the game, there was at first a considerable amount of mid-field play. When the Fusiliers' right wing seemed to be making good head way for another goal the Inniskillings' centre-half broke up a fine movement, and ran the ball some twenty-five yards down the field. He drew the Fusiliers' defence and then placed the ball to Sergt. Vince for him to centre, and from this, the Inniskillings' centre-forward scored their second goal.

From now onwards, the Fusiliers appeared a hopelessly beaten side, and by an erratic kick of their left-back, who drove the ball into his own net, the score became 3—1, and so it remained until the finish.

The Fusiliers' inside left played an excellent game, and throughout sorely troubled the Inniskillings' defence by his cleverness in passing, shooting and dribbling.

GARRISON CUP TIE.

11th Queen's 1; 231 Field Coy. R.E. 1.

In the first round of the Rhine Garrison Cup tie the 11th Queen's met the 231st Field Coy. R.E. on the Germania Strasse Football Ground, Kalk, on Christmas Eve and the match ended in a draw of one all.

Shortly after the kick off, the R.E.'s had the misfortune to lose their inside right, who damaged his knee and had to leave the field.

This misfortune, however, put more determination into the R.E. players and very shortly afterwards they scored through the medium of L./Cpl. O'Sullivan.

The Queen's then put a good deal of pressure on the R.E.'s but the latter's backs always rose to the occasion and kept the Queen's forwards from scoring. Towards the end of the first half, the R.E.'s back stopped the ball with the hand in the penalty area but the Queens did not score from the resultant kick. Half time arrived with the R.E.'s leading 1—0.

The Second Half.

On the resumption, the R.E.'s had the wind with them but the ball was kept in the centre of the field for some considerable period. Eventually, Lieut. Bratchell obtained possession of the ball, dribbled it down, passed to Sgt. Ellerby who had nobody marking him and the latter scored with a splendid shot.

The Queen's made further efforts to obtain another goal and on one occasion it looked as if Lieut. Bratchell was going to score but the R.E. goalkeeper rose to the occasion and saved the shot. The R.E.'s then broke away and the Queen's goalkeeper was called upon to run out and save, which he just succeeded in doing. The whistle went leaving the match a draw.

The R.E. backs both played a brilliant game and there was plenty of dash in their forwards. The Queen's forwards were always muddling about and passing back instead of forward. Queen's team:—Sgt. Daniels; Pte. Morris and Pte. Scircle, Pte. Ginger, Lieut. Bratchell, (Capt.) and Pte. Goodwin; Pte. Lutrell, L./Cpl. Osborn, Sgt. Ellerby, Sgt. Angent and Pte. Ray.

HONOURS EVEN.

D/113 Bde. R.F.A. 2; Southern Trench Mortar Battery, 2.

Played on the formers' ground at Berg-Gladbach. A real good game was put up, marred only by rain.

From the kick off, the redoubtable "Dons" went straight to the visitors goal, Lieut. Edwards from outside right grazing the bar with a beauty in the first minute. From the goal kick the T.M.'s got well away and for five minutes severely tried the home defence. Then the "Don" people got busy, and a fine centre by Lieut. Edwards went begging. Give and take play followed, until the T.M.'s centre got the ball, but after making a splendid run through, he finished weakly. The T.M.'s now began to press severely but their shooting was poor. However, they registered their first goal after 20 minutes play. A promising attack by Dvr. Batty was spoilt by a bad case of hands. Half time arrived with the score unchanged.

Upon resumption "Don" Batty opened with a dash, Deddall almost making things even. After a great few minutes play Edgar went through and scored a beauty for the homesters. The T.M.'s got going but the home gunners took the lead amid great excitement. Efforts by the T.M.'s for the equaliser were finally rewarded, and the game closed, both sides having scored twice. S. M. Williams was badly missed from the visiting sides defence.

Italian Record.

The sum of 3,595,715 lire was distributed in stakes this year in Italy, a larger figure than ever was competed for before. It is anticipated that nearly five millions will be offered next season.

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

"THE KNIGHT OF THE BURNING PESTLE."

An Impression.

When I entered the Deutsches Theatre last night I discovered to my surprise and delight that some forward little elf had, on the sly, reversed old Time's hour-glass and, before anyone could hold his hand, he had run us back four-hundred years. "Deutsches Theater" sayest thou—snuffling knave! What Welsh gibberish art prating?—'tis the Globe Playhouse in London town!

There on the stage were the Patrons—but the Patrons of all time—nouveaux-riches, lordlets, some inane and good-natured, others merely inane, but all possessing the characteristics of the perfect dramatic critic—intransigent self-satisfaction and colossal ignorance. But good Mistress Citizen I owe you a grudge, for sure as death, if laughter makes one fat, you've turned me into a being beside whom all your Falstaffs and fat boys of Peckham will seem like living skeletons.

* * *

And Ralph—no, I prefer Rafe—his wealthy master and mistress would send him on the stage! They roared with delight at the antics of their bullet-headed boy the apple of their eye, what time I clung helplessly to my Kubsess—I, pardon—my settle. Cannot you see him now, bedizened and gaily caparisoned, pestle, halbert and all, accompanied by his adoring and idiotic Sancho Panzas, prancing and capering, seeking dragons to slay and fair maidens to free (oh! Mistress Merrythought) somewhere down Waltham Forest way. And that potted Hamlet—poor unoriginal Pelissier! Rafe, moping and mowning, fuming and fretting—a very Hamlet-Tamerlane. I'm positive I'll be forcibly ejected for hooting with laughter the very next time I see Martin Harvey in Hamlet.

And then, was there ever anything so delightful as the impotent wrath of Luce and Humphrey at the constant interuptions of the Jacobean Mr. and Mrs. Bullion Boundermere who'd bought the "show" and must have "our Rafe."

* * *

With all the delighted terror of an eight year old I waited breathlessly for the giant to appear and when he did appear! None of your two-pence-coloured on stilts but a real live one, crashed only after a terrific fight.

"Golden lads and lasses" dancing on a May morning, but such dancing and such colour! Cheery "boozy" old Micawberish Falstaffian, Merrythought, forty years old but the unquenchable boy in him still alive and thank God for it! Merry fiddlers, lilting songs and dance tunes, gay gallants and beauteous ladies, merchant princes and rollicking 'prentice lads, and there, running through the rich and priceless fabric of the piece, the golden thread of old, yet ever new philosophy. Gather ye roses while ye may—old Time is still a'dying.

F.C.C.

Christmas Carol.

On Tuesday evening at Gross Bonn Y.M.C.A., Mr. W. Seward gave a reading of Dickens' Christmas Carol to an attentive and appreciative audience. Time limits prevented the reader from giving the whole of the work but he wisely restricted the reading to the first and last chapters and made the most of Mr. Fizziwig's ball and the Xmas dinner of the Cratchits with the pathetic addition of the supposed death of Tiny Tim. When the Xmas season is over it is to be hoped that Mr. Seward will continue these readings weekly at Gross Bonn, coming on to Kipling, Barrie, Wells etc.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Sun.	The Woman without Shadow	Strauss	6	10.30
Mon.	Hansel und Gretel	Humperdinck	6	8
Tues.	Tannhäuser	Wagner	6	10
Wed.	Barbier von Sevilla	Rossini	6.30	9.30
Thurs.	The Woman without Shadow	Strauss	6	10.15
Fri.	Hansel und Gretel	Humperdinck	6	8
Sat.	Die Zauberflöte	Mozart	7	10.30
Sun.	Lobetanz	Trunte	7	9.30
Mon.	Tales of Hoffmann	Offenbach	7	10
Tues.	Tristan und Isolde	Wagner	6	10.45

New Musical Play.

Gross Bonn Y.M.C.A. began its Christmas week's festivities on Monday with an excellent entertainment given by the 52nd D.L.I. The band contributed four orchestral selections which were most cordially appreciated by a crowded house, but Bandmaster Etherington, as well as conducting, also produced a new musical play of his own entitled "O.C. Demobo." It is unusual for a musical comedy to have but one author, composer and producer, but Mr. Etherington can well bear comparison in all three roles. Pte. Brown in the title role was very amusing, and his dancing in particular won great applause. Sergt. Metcalfe was very successful both as "1880 recruit" and afterwards a baronet. The Beauty chorus was led by Boy Etherington looking very lovely in a yellow wig. He sang as usual with clear sweetness of tone and intelligence. With such talent available the 52nd D.L.I. should also boast of a full-rigged concert party as well as of a first rate band.

Pantomime Success.

The second performance of the British Empire Leave Club Pantomime — "The Babes in the Wood," was given on Friday, Boxing Day, before a crowded house. Owing to the success of the entertainment, and so many being unable to gain admittance, there will be an extra performance to-morrow at 6.15 p.m., as well as the one advertised for Tuesday Dec. 30th at the same hour.

Leave Club Events.

To-night at 6.15 Madame Bertha Moore's "Etceteras Concert Party," including Miss Marjorie Moore, will, by courtesy of the Y.M.C.A., give a concert; on Monday and Tuesday at 6.15, the Pantomime "The Babes in the Wood" will be performed, and there will also be a chess tournament in the quiet room at the same hour.

On Wednesday German classes from 6-8 and a dance from 6.30 to 8.30. Thursday is taken up with a whist drive and chess tournament at 6.30, a dancing class at 6.30, followed by a dance from 7.30 to 10. Continuous Cinema from 2.30 and a debate at 6.30 on Friday and on Saturday a German Class from 6 and a dance at 6.30 complete the week's programme.

New Year's Eve Ball.

There will be a New Year's Eve Ball organised by the Officers' Subscription Dance Committee, at the B. E. L. C. Major General Sir S. B. Lawford is president of the committee. Fancy dress on this occasion will be optional. Apply early for tickets, which are available at the Club at 20 marks each.

JACQUES.

ENGLISH RACING.

Favourites Win at Kempton Park on Boxing Day.

Favourites, for the most part, had things all their own way at Kempton Park on Boxing Day; The results were follows:—Hounslow' Chase: — Declared void.

Kew Hurdle:—1, L'homme Sans (2—1); 2, Geodie (11—8on); 3, Lee White (5—1). Four ran.

Kempton 'Chase:—1, Monsyl (5—4); 2, Simon the Tanner (10—1); 3, Desmonds Song (8—1). Nine ran.

Christmas Hurdle:—1, Sippet Charlie (6—4); 2, Golden Daisy (5—1); 3, Sea Voyage (10—1). Six ran.

Catland 'Chase:—1, Platonic (13—8on); finished alone. Two ran.

Hampton 'Chase:—1, White Trout walked over.

Richmond Hurdle:—1, Furious (evens); 2, Royal Diamond (5—1); 3, Louboy (20—1). Twelve ran.

Wolverhampton Results.

Boxing Day Hurdle:—1, Warbine (6—5 on); 2, Brunswick (4—1); 3, Paddington (5—2); Three ran.

Wyford Hurdle:—1, Girvan (2—1); 2, Pomar (6-1); 3, Saint Eloi (7—2). Twelve ran.

Buckley Hurdle:—1, Tompool (5—1); 2, Saint Cyrus (6—1); 3, The Settler (4—1) Nine ran.

Christmas 'Chase:—2, 1, Wavylace (6—4). Top Hole (6—1): 3, Royal Truce (8—1); Five ran.

Shifnal 'Chase:—1, George B. (13—8 on); 2, Warbine (5—1); Only two finished. Four ran.

Kinlet 'Chase:—1, Wavertree (7—4) finished alone. Five ran.

"RIFLES" RIVALRY.

18th Battn. K.R.R.C., 3; 13th Battn. K.R.R.C., 0.

A match was played on the 18th Battn. ground at Ohligs between the above teams, and, in spite of the wet state of the field, a fast game ensued. The first goal was scored in the first half by Rfn. Paton of the 18th Battn., and two further goals were added in the second half by Sgt. Rawlinson and Rfn. Pickett respectively, both of the home team, the 13th Battn. being thus defeated by 3-0.

C. S. M. Pepper, playing goal for the home team, was not idle, and succeeded in stopping several hot shots from the 13th Battn. forwards. Among the shining lights were Lt. Partridge, who captained the 18th Battn., and particularly the outside left of the 13th Battn., K.R.R.C.

Mishap to Toadstone.

The backers of Toadstone at Haydock Park were unlucky, as the horse was going like a winner in the race for the Handicap Steeplechase when in taking off too soon he came down at the open ditch. In falling Mr. Wren's horse ricked the whole of the back muscles, and it will be some time before he can be raced again.

OUR COMPETITION.

Another Chance for Football Prophets.

Our weekly football skill competition continues to go strong. With the Christmas festivities finished there will be more time and inclination for readers to try their skill at forecasting league football results.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 15,
"Cologne Post,"
A.P.O./S. 40 Rhine Army.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 15.

Date of matches, Saturday, Jan. 3rd.
Closing date, Friday, Jan. 2nd.

Blackburn	v.	W. Bromwich
Bradford City	v.	Bradford
Arsenal	v.	Manchester C.
S. Shields	v.	Hull City
Bristol C.	v.	Birmingham
Fulham	v.	Stoke
Stockport	v.	Tottenham
Northampton	v.	Crystal Palace
Third Lanark	v.	Airdrieonians
Kilmarnock	v.	Ayr

I enter Football Competition No. 15 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(In block letters.)

Rank and No. .....

Unit .....

Full Address .....

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

Christmas Charity.

The poor we have always with us. Not a few pathetic cases may be seen in Cologne streets, especially during the past few days, and civilians, no less than Tommy, are not slow to help.

A new Magazine.

A magazine called "The Weisdorf Times" will shortly appear, the first number being a typewritten production. The Editor is one of our regular contributors.

What was in it?

The unusual spectacle of an officer shouldering a huge sack containing, presumably, material for Christmas decorations was to be seen in a certain Cologne thoroughfare the other day. Was this one of the outcomes of shortage of batmen, I wonder?

Presents and Things.

One can imagine the surprise of the recipients when their Rhineland visitor home on leave produces for their inspection a real German goose. One individual I know took one along with him a day or two ago instead of the usual Christmas gifts.

Popular Superstition.

Apropos a recent echo in the "Cologne Post" as to the superstitions of the Germans with regard to the Number 13, one ingenious costume seen at the Leave Club fancy dress dance had on it "Wo ist Linie No. 13?"

Confusing.

Speculation was rife for some time as to whether a certain "girl" at the dance was a boy. Information from a reliable source has it that it was only a Tommy although the make up was really splendid.

And Still Going.

The decorations with which the German Xmas trees are bedecked are in many cases handed down through the years. I was shown a gilded walnut shell and three glass balls which had done duty on 33 occasions.

Ever the Same.

The danger of naked lights on Christmas trees has I learn again been demonstrated. A commotion in a house near the Deutscher Ring was I found on investigation due to this cause. Happily in this case only the tree and some curtains suffered.

No Stockings.

The custom of hanging up stockings on Christmas Eve does not apply generally to Germany. Christmas gifts are presented on Christmas Eve contrary to our custom but a happy idea out here is the giving of a "Weinnachtsteller" i. e. a plate piled high with fruit, nuts and chocolate.

Our Souvenir Number.

On all hands I have heard nothing but praise of the "Cologne Post" Souvenir number. The only discordant note is introduced by two correspondents, who do not question the merit of the production, but resent the fact that attention is paid to Cologne to the exclusion of the outside areas. One complains that there is not enough notice given to the East bank of the Rhine and the work of the Independent Division, while another plantively asks, "What about Bonn?" The only thing I can do is to refer my friends to the Editor's foreword.

More fifty Mark Notes.

Another fifty mark note has made its appearance. It is of similar design to that already issued of green tint except that "Reihe 2" is marked "No" instead of "Nr." as in the case of "Reihe 1."

A new Medal.

I hear that a design has already been prepared for a new medal to be issued to members of the Army of Occupation of six months standing. The ribbon is apparently to include all the Colours of the Allies in Occupation with edges similar to the iron cross ribbon.

A Talented Scene Painter.

The patients of the General Hospital at Wiesdorf are hard at work completing their cinema and concert hall. One man, quite a genius with the brush, is painting the scenery. He has the real artist's touch and his work is worthy of Drury Lane.

Embarrassing.

It was a merry Christmas party. Everything was going with rare gusto, when a young subaltern nudged his friend and spoke of the charm of a certain young lady looking very sweet in the raiment of a flower girl. Verily she returned the interest, and soon two subalterns were in competition for her favours. "Excuse me," said one to a fellow diner near by. "Can you tell me that lady's name?" at the same time indicating the direction. "Yes, that lady is my wife" came the reply. Explanations followed. Embarrassing, did you say—oh, no.

No Tinder.

Members of the caste of the "Knight of the Burning Pestle" dined as a body on Christmas night, and, believe me, did themselves well. Their picturesque costumes gave colour to a merry scene, but it was amusing to see one member of the party trying to unearth a box of Bryant and Mays from the cumbersome folds of an Elizabethan gown.

From Small Beginnings.

Of course everything has a beginning however small, but the members of a certain officers' mess had no idea that from a casual suggestion so much enjoyment would accrue for a large party of guests who otherwise might have been left "all dressed up and nowhere to go" on Christmas Day. As it was, a comprehensive programme included all the usual festivity at the Club Annexe blended with roller skating, the theatre and dancing, and for all this the party had to thank one jovial being. His reputation as an organiser has increased twentyfold, but I must not forget the debt owing to the staff of the club.

Disconcerting.

Encouraged by the warm enconiums of my friends I looked in at the Deutsches Theatre last evening to see our old friend, Lieut. Percy, and his admirable band of players giving unstinted enjoyment to a full house. Major Ball as Mistress Citizen had a great reception, but it was somewhat disconcerting for him when acknowledging the applause to have the fringe of the curtain catch him on the nape of the neck. Right merrily did the show go, and I anticipate a long run.

RHINELANDER.

THE NEW YEAR.

"Let us think together, act together and work together. I beg that we do not demobilize the spirit of patriotism in this country." These words were given to the world by Mr. Lloyd George in the House of Commons, and I know of no better words to use for a New Year motto.

Let us think together. There has been too much difference of opinion on certain points which after all do not matter, and this has not made for harmony in our country. While we all acknowledge that men cannot think alike, we must in fairness admit that in many things a common meeting ground could be found, and thus add to the welfare of our nation. Certain ideals can be given to the whole world and every inhabitant of the globe can take those ideals and base their lives upon the ultimate issue. While men can differ on certain points of political economy, all men must agree on those things which are of vital importance to a nation's well being. The past five years have shown what can be done by a nation united in one common ideal with one common purpose, and that spirit of unity must never be allowed to die in the breasts of true Britons. Men of all creeds have fought side by side. Women of all religions have united for the welfare of their country. The great fundamental truths of the Christian religion are always the same for all creeds of that religion, and in the future we want to see all those small differences of opinion forgotten in the great common weal. Let us think together.

To act together is the second appeal. Among the wealthy, among the poor, in the midst of the masters and in the midst of the men, there can still be those common ideals and actions which will harmonise the opinions of all classes of the community. When the common foe faced our country we found petty class distinctions forgotten, and 'duke's son, cook's son, son of a millionaire," were acting together in unity to bring about the destruction of that foe. To-day there are countless foes arraigned against the welfare of our nation, and these, alas, are found in the nation itself. Selfishness and greed, which are not the least of these, require a strong front to withstand their onslaughts, and for the New Year, as we love our country, as we love our own families, let us act together and reap the reward of those awful years of strife.

Let us work together, is the final word, and in this lies the acme of perfection. In the days that have passed the British Empire found no idlers in the great work that faced the world. With a spirit of Patriotism all with one accord worked for the common good that made the great blow that was launched against the world, a failure. There is misery and want in our country to-day and the blow failed, it is almost impossible to think what would have been the condition of Old England if that blow had succeeded. A just Treaty has been made with the foe. A Treaty that will ensure that Germany in the future will not menace the world from a military point of view. Stern but just are those terms. But there is still work to do in our own country; she must be made to forget those awful gaping wounds caused by the loss of her sons and fresh blood must be found, blood that can be given by all who are left in the coming year to carry on the work for which those noble fellows died. Let us work together in all things, work that the Kingdom of God may come in the hearts of men. Work that the time may come when all will be peace. Work that all men may see in Jesus Christ the Master, who can give rest unto the weary soul.

Keep the spirit of patriotism and that spirit with the help of God will bring to us a real victory, a triumph that will last through time and through eternity.

Rev. C. E. WHEELER, C.F.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

Paper.—West Africa has shilling notes.

Fed Up.—The Italian Premier says Italy wants absolutely no other wars.

Lucky Find.—A valuable gold vein has been found in the mines near Barmouth.

Gaby's Illness. — Grave anxiety is felt for Gaby Deslys.

His Home. — Sir J. Alcock was buried at Manchester.

Inconsiderate. — Hungary is said to be preparing a new war.

A Slur. — Of Birmingham's 13,200 unemployed 8,000 are ex-service men.

No Change.—Food Controller declines to change the maximum prices for apples

Useful for Housing.—Lewes, Sussex, prison and workhouse are both empty.

Wily Ten.—Ten foxes were recently seen in one field at Bampton, Devon.

Drifting.—Attempts to settle moulders' strike failed.

New Style. — Naval dockyards are to build merchant ships.

Ambitious.—Devonport wants to become a liner terminus.

Alarming.—Foot-and-mouth disease has appeared near Sheffield.

Nearly All In.—Of 1,000 police strikers at Liverpool only 80 are still out of work.

The Bill. — Up to Sept. 30 coal control cost £552,600.

Treasure.—Salvage work on the "Lusitania" is to be begun at New Year.

Not Wanted. — The scheme for the formation of Citizen Guards has been abandoned.

Still Going. — The "Spanish prisoner" swindle has been revived in the Isle of Wight.

Free. — Anti-influenza vaccine is to be supplied by the Ministry of Health for distribution.

Others Overlooked. — Admiral Sims has created a sensation by refusing to accept a Distinguished Medal.

Unwanted.—Fifteen Germans who had been in South America since 1914 were arrested at Bristol and sent to Germany.

How much for ours?—For a lock of Napoleon's hair £20 was paid yesterday at Sotheby's.

The next.—After Christmas leave the Atlantic Fleet will cruise in the Mediterranean.

A Fact.—Fishing with rod and line off Hastings, a resident, caught one 22.b. cod and another of 13lb.

Confession.—A "New Poor" dance club for those possessing this "distinction" is advertised.

Ducal Gift. — Kelso Abbey has been handed over to the State by the Duke of Roxburghe.

A Little War.—In further fighting on the Indian frontier there were 84 British casualties.

Presents Gone. — Mails for Turkey, which reached London on November 18-19, have been destroyed by fire.

The New Order.—At Feltham the driver of a motor scooter was fined for failing to show a red rear light.

Still Hope. — Mr. O'Grady will resume negotiations with M. Litvinoff on the exchange of prisoners on December 30.

Freedom of the Bath. — Increases in Lambeth bath charges have been found to be illegal.

At Christmas Too. — Twin Polar bears at the London Zoo have died of pneumonia.

Now for the Match.—The Barry fund being now complete, Barry tenders his thanks to all subscribers.

Princess Pat's Son.—The little garments for Lady Patricia's baby were made by English workers from their own designs.

The Glutton.—A chief stoker at Cowes has not lost a minute from work in 25 years.

Liked Her Pipe.—Jimmy Wilde's grandmother was picked up dead on the roadside near Port Talbot. A clay pipe was found on her.

New Style.—"The flying Santa Claus." was how Lieut. Game described himself on leaving London for Paris on the Airco mail service.

Out.—Claiming, as members of the Warehouse Workers' Union, a 44 hours week, 1,500 women bag and sack makers have gone on strike.

Now Sorry.—Two German officers who escaped from the camp near Leeds are to remain behind to undergo punisnment though their comrades are going home.

NOTES FROM LONDON TOWN.

CHRISTMAS EXODUS.

The rush of Londoners out of town at Christmas was probably greater even than before the war. One explanation is that the dearth of domestic servants and coal makes home life intolerable on a holiday, while those who have to cook their own turkey lose half the savour of it. Hence hotel proprietors hoped for a bumper exchequer, and I learn that some of the most favoured hostelries are to be found at Brighton, Folkestone, Ventnor, Eastbourne, Bexhill, Torquay, Sidmouth, Harrogate and Buxton. One result of the hotel Christmas was the revival of that once celebrated institution the Master of the Ceremonies.

DEMAND FOR TORTOISESHELL.

London jewellers say that there was quite a big demand this Christmas for presents in tortoiseshell, more especially in the form of pencil cases, cigarette-holders, and fancy combs. Cases in tortoiseshell fetched almost anything up to 14 guineas for plain shell, and prices up to £30 if gold mounted. Of course during the war tortoiseshell was well-nigh unknown, the vogue of Neptune being for quite another kind of shell. There was also, I am told, a very high demand for the aquamarine set in any form you like.

END OF THE WORLD.

A certain Scottish M.P. who was by no means disturbed by Dr. Porta's prediction, said that when he left home on the fateful morning, his 9-year-old daughter said "You'd better say good-bye, to Mummie, Daddy, because you will both be in different places this evening." A switch-board girl rang up her city employer to say that she was not coming up to town because "Mother says as it's our last day I'd best stay at home. If it's our end our family will all die together." That conversation in Poe's Eiros and Charmion will have to wait for another sun-spot agitation.

THEATRE STRIKES.

Theatre workers threatened to spoil the children's shows in the West End yesterday. No less than 42 theatres were affected by the threat, and even if Mr. Johnson, Secretary of the National Association of Theatrical Employees, is justified in his assertion that the malcontents did not choose the moment with a view to affecting the greatest possible number of theatre-goers, it was to be regretted that the terms of the award, with which the men quarrelled, was only issued a few days ago. However, the whole matter was settled very soon in a way that satisfied the various daymen, hall-keepers, dressers and so forth.

A LOST DOG.

Speaking of strikes reminds me that certain ill-paid journalists in Fleet Street were threatening to down tools recently for an 8 guinea per week flat rate. Some of these people are certainly very poorly paid, and forcibly remind me of that story of a Scotch newspaper staff and their visitor. The latter walked in to the editorial offices of the paper and handed in an advertisement offering a reward of 5/- for the recovery of his lost dog. He returned a moment later to alter the advertisement but on this occasion could not find the editor. He asked for the chief sub-editor, and then for any sub-editor.

AN IRISH POOH-BAH.

The suppression of "Freeman's Journal" recalls a curious experience of Mr. Edward Dwyer Gray, who was proprietor of the paper in 1882. For adversely criticising the composition of the jury in a certain Irish trial he was sentenced to imprisonment and a stiff fine. But the High Sheriff of Dublin, the proper official to make Mr. Dwyer's arrest, was in fact Mr. Dwyer himself. The result was that the Editor-cum-Sheriff was haled to gaol by the Dublin coroner. As a matter of fact he only stopped there for six weeks, while not only was his fine paid by public subscription, but he promptly received the "freedom" of nearly all the incorporated boroughs of Ireland.

THE QUEST OF THE BRONTOSAURUS.

As I was in a position to state in my last notes, the name of the English explorer who is going out to Central Africa in quest of the brontosaurus is Captain L.B. Stevens, M.C., who is, I need hardly say, the well-known golf-player and a quondam staff officer in the Artillery. His knowledge of gunnery is perhaps a desideratum if the various descriptions of the saurian monster of the African swamps are to be credited. The gallant Captain will be armed with a 12 bore double barrelled shot gun, besides a Mannlicher rifle and a Winchester repeating rifle.

TESTY JUDGES.

Centenaries are often the occasion of repeating reminiscences, and this being the centenary of Mr. Justice Denman, I may be pardoned for recalling that occasion when he point-blank declined to hear a certain young barrister who had a juror sen to open his case. Denman was as very austere man and highly old-fashioned. He vouchsafed no reason for his aversion and the barrister was only extricated from his embarrassment by a brother member of the bar who whispered: "Take that rose from your buttonhole; he thinks it disrespectful to the bench." Some judges are not such sticklers for etiquette. I remember a counsel apologising to the Bath County Court Judge for having come from London without his wig. His honour graciously pardoned the transgression, the more so as counsel feared his clerk had supposed he was going not to Bath, but to the baths.

A NEW AESTHETIC CRAZE?

To be in the height of fashion o' nights, you must be garbed as Beau Brummel or the Scarlet Pimpernel. You should roll from your club a thing of purple glory, your cloak baudrier-wise to reveal its caina-blue silk facing and its medieval tapestry vest, your knees graced with silver buttons, and your calves amplified by art's dexterity. And thus bedizened you should saunter into the Ritz and as Pepys would say, "hie thee to a playhouse." At least this is the impression one derives from the array of brilliant shop dummies with their jabots, ruffles and lace falls to be seen in most fashionable tailors. Will the modern man about town have the courage? Ah!

PERISCOPE.

A great Advance in Soap Chemistry

As a result of many years strenuous work in chemical research and its practical application, "Sapon" Soap has been perfected.

It is the greatest advance in the chemistry of Soap since that article was first manufactured.

Ordinary Soap consists of Fat deglycerined and saponified with Caustic Soda.

"Sapon" Soap is derived from Carbohydrates which when treated by the Company's patented process, yield Ammonia, Methylamine, and Trimethylamine. These Nitrogenous compounds are highly emulsifying agents, and do NOT combine with Lime or Magnesia Salts in water, as all fat-derived soaps do. Hence, no "scum" or insoluble lime soap is formed, even in the hardest water when "Sapon" Soap is used.

Dr. Shorter, of Leeds University, says of "Sapon" Soaps:—

"They contain 'surface active' colloids, whose 'surface activity' greatly exceeds that of an ordinary fat soap, and that therefore it fulfils in an extremely satisfactory manner the fundamental condition for detergent action."

SKIN DISEASES

The Amines and Amido bodies in "Sapon" Soap are readily soluble in water. They are germicidal but non-injurious owing to their colloid nature. Besides their efficiency as cleansers, they have a wonderfully sedative action.

"Sapon" Soap gives wonderful results in irritable skin diseases, such as Scabies, Eczema, Pruritis, Insect Bites, Acne, etc. The following is the best method of application when it is used for curative purposes, —moisten the Soap, rub it on the part affected and allow it to dry, on.

You will never use old-fashioned Fat Soap once you have used "SAPON" SOAPS and given them a fair trial.

Sole Agents for "Sapon" Soap in Germany
ERIC MORTON & Co.
12, Luttichér Strasse
COLOGNE

SAPON SOAPS LIMITED
Sapon House, London Bridge, E. C. 4, England

SPARKES HALL
308, REGENT ST. LONDON W.
4, AVENUE FRIEDLAND, PARIS and
ROOM 71, DISCH HOTEL
Brückenstr. COLOGNE
(Next Door to N.A.C.B. Canteen)

FIELD, HUNTING & POLO BOOTS
Hand-Sewn Field Boots, Civilian Boots, Shoes and Pumps made to order and delivered to Germany in 18 days or in England in 10 days.

R.C. FLACK & CO.
Naval-Military and Civil Tailors
CAMBRIDGE.
The largest selection of newest materials for Mufti and Military; also a large stock of gloves-hosiery-underwear-shirts etc., etc.
KRONPRINZ HOTEL
Behind EXCELSIOR.

Urban's Wine Saloon
(near the 6th Corps Officers' Club)
Under the same management as Club I
DAILY CONCERT
(by first-class artistes)
First-class Kitchen - Choice Wines
RE-OPENING WEDNESDAY, 31. DEC. 1919
Reserving tables - - - - Telephone A 7766
Separate entrance opposite the Town saving-bank
S. URBAN

Rosenhof
COLOGNE, Hohestrasse 9.
5 o'clock Tea and Evening Entertainment. From 5.00 till 10.45 p.m. continous performance. Renowned singers, dancers and reciters. First-class House for Officers and civilians only.

SIMPLICISSIMUS
Cabaret and Wine-Room
— Hohestrasse 152—154. —
Daily first-class singing and dancing performances.
Open from 6.30 to 10.45 p.m.
— For Officers and Civilians only. —

ODEON COLOGNE
HOHESTRASSE 9
Variety performance from 7-10.45 p.m.

Haven't you got a camera yet!?
Why don't you go to the:
Cölner Photo- & Kino-Centrale
Inh. N. HELFER
COLOGNE, Neumarkt 32/34.
Largest stock in Cameras, Photogr. materials, Cinema-machines, Cinema Cameras, etc.
Only firm in Cologne with own large Repair department.
All photogr. work done.

Professional Photographers
buy cheapest through
"HARBERS" 'RIVAL BRAND'
44, Prinz Heinrich Str. Köln-Mülheim Tel. 353
Manfrs. of Photo-printing machines.
Camera studio and all supplies, (papers, plates, chemicals &c.)
Great Bargains in High-class "KODAKS"

Visit the British Shop in Cologne
Miss EDITH CAVE'S
Etablishment, 84 Hohenzollern Ring
The best place for Souvenirs, Stationery and Military supplies of every description.
Tram 18 passes the door.

Goerz Taro Tenax 9 by 12, with D. A. Dagor lens. Zeiss, Goerz and Voigtländer prismatic glasses.
Good opportunity to purchase.
Funk, Wholesale Photographic Dealer
Köln, Elstergasse 8, near Museum.
'phone B 4484.

Do you want Postcards or other Printing?
HEISS & CO.
COLOGNE-LINDENTHAL
WEYERTHAL 61
(tramway number 15)
deliver postcards with views of towns in coloured and variegated print with a minimum edition of 1000 cards and all kinds of printed matter and reproductions in best work and quickest delivery.

Steinway-Salon Grand piano
Model B 1914, recently bought, for sale.
PH. ERLE, Piano merchant, Cologne
Corner Jahn and Humboldtstrasse.

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O. S. 40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

I SELL my beautiful, well trained POLICE DOG (German shepherd's dog) only to private person—Karol is accustomed to shooting and to fight a man—defends his owner at the price of his own life—fetches and carries in water and on land—searches lost objects—excellent companion—fetches slippers—brings boots to their place—watches over things—used to stay in doors—guaranteed clean—ROBBERY IMPOSSIBLE, is up to the mark—leaves an attached person alone if ordered—splendid jumper etc.—Liebers at the Palast Theatre Herzogstrasse 9 II.

GENTLEMAN'S FUR. Splendid piece - otter's skin collar. First class beaver lining, black cloth - almost new. Also a Persian collar for sale Pieper, Hotel Grosser Kurfürst, Room 54. 11-1.

SPLENDID Toilet case for gentleman, 10 parts, in heavy Tortoise shell, new, for sale. Pieper, Hotel Grosser Kurfürst, Room 54, 11 a.m. 1 p.m.

PHOTO HOUSE and camera repairing works Aug Lang, mechanician of precision. Kl Neumarsse 9/11. Always bargains in second-hand binoculars Zeiss-Goertz, Voigtländer & Leitz.

LOST.

BLACK and tan fox terrier. Answers to name of "Jack". Will finder kindly communicate with S. S. M. Wickstead H.Q. Independent Dio. (1)

BLACK dog, white mark on chest. Answers name of "Snowball." Reward given. Information to C.R.E. Rhine Garrison (3).

Stock of Alumiuium cooking utensils finest quality, for sale.
Marienplatz 12, near Hohepforte
Cologne

FOR SALE
25 000 Viennese—chairs
5 000 office arm chairs
1000 desks
A. RÖHR, Cologne, Engelbertstrasse 28

Iron and steel wires mattress springs, mattress ready to be delivered in Wagonsfull
Friedrich Löttgert C.H. Sohn
Altena (Westfalen)

200 year old big Luther
ILLUSTRATED BIBLE
120 large & small engravings to be sold at
F.R. SCHMIDT, Cologne, Ursulaplace 1.

Electrical Piles
for pocket-lamps
to deliver immediately in big quantities
JUNKERMANN & CO.
G. m. b. H.
COLOGNE, Wolfsstrasse 12/14.
Tel. A 892, A 6367, Telegr. Juco, Köln

MOTOR CAR
2 seats, pointed radiator, Wire-Wheels sporting model 5/14.
HANSA LIMOUSINE
8/24 H.P. 4 seats
fashionable small car. FOR SALE.
ING. PAUL DAHMEN
COLOGNE-NIPPES, Neusserstr. 367

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marzellen-strasse, Cologne, December 28, 1919. Address all communications: "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. 40 British Army of the Rhine.

BRITISH CHRISTMAS IN RHINELAND SEE THIS PAGE.

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

SEND IT HOME

No. 232. COLOGNE, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

FIGHTING ON UPPER NILE.

TWO MAJORS KILLED IN FIERCE ATTACK BY SUDANESE TRIBE.

SUSPICIOUS AFFRAY AT PHOENIX PARK.

SUDAN TROUBLE.

SEVERE FIGHTING WITH NATIVE TRIBE.

Some details of an unfortunate and serious affair which happened in the Sudan a month ago have just transpired, wherein Major C. H. Stigand of the West Kents and Major R. F. White, Essex Regiment, were killed.

On the 30th November one of the Dinka tribes attacked a police post near Tombe, between the Nile and the Lau river. The attack was repulsed and the post retired to the Nile with twelve killed. A company of the Equator al Battalion was sent to reconnoitre and reported that the entire tribe appeared to be implicated and that other neighbouring tribes were affected and were distinctly res less. Major White, commanding the Equatorial battalion, proceeded with another company to make an extended reconnaissance and found the villages deserted. On the night of the 15th December his Zareba was attacked by a considerable force which he succeeded in repulsing after severe hand to hand fighting in which the enemy sustained heavy losses, our own casualties being seven killed and nine wounded. Major White was then joined by a half company of the same battalion with which was Major Stigand, Governor of the Mongalla province, and the combined force then proceeded to clear up the country.

What ensued is unknown but on the 13th December a mutilated telegram was received which reported that an enemy force about a thousand strong had rushed the advance guard of the column, which was marching in open square through thick grass seven feet high, and drove it back on the main body. Fierce hand to hand fighting ensued in the course of which Major White, Major Stigand, one native officer, twenty-two other ranks and three carriers were killed. The enemy was ultimately driven off and the column managed to withdraw with its wounded and baggage. The enemy followed up in considerable numbers for four days but beyond one night attack which was repulsed did not interfere with the march of the column, which eventually reached Tombe, five days distance from the fight. Punitive measures are impossible until late January owing to the weather.

FIRST WAR-SENTENCES.

EXEMPLARY PUNISHMENT OF GERMAN OFFICERS.

Ten years imprisonment and a fine of ten million francs is the sentence inflicted by a Court-martial at Amiens on two German officers named Robert and Hermann Roechling, great steel magnates. They were accused of systematic destruction of ironworks at Briey, Rehon, La Chers, Micheville and Longwy.

In the course of the case it transpired that out of the material destroyed eight million tons was removed to the Carlsrütte Works, which were managed by Robert. These works were blown up just before the arrival of the French last December.

BRUTAL MURDER AT LIVERPOOL.

Early on Christmas morning in a recess in Covent Garden, Liverpool, the naked corpse of a murdered woman was found in a quiet byway and on the opposite side of the street was all her clothing. Her assailant appears to have used great violence, and it was evident that her clothes had been torn off her. Her name is given as Bella Wilson, a woman of about forty-five years of age, who lived in Richmond-row. The police have detained a man in connection with the affair.

N. W. FRONTIER FIGHTING.

According to telegrams received in London further severe fighting has taken place with the Mahsuds on the North West Frontier. The British forces sustained 280 casualties, including 58 killed and missing.

AN OFFENDING JOURNAL.

An order was made in Dublin on Saturday for the seizure of all available copies of "The Catholic Herald," the weekly paper published in London. It is understood that an article headed "Killing no murder," in which pointed reference is made to the recent attack on Lord French, attracted the attention of the authorities and induced them to take this action.

The Guildford War Pensions Committee has granted fifty pounds to a disabled soldier who wished to start a fishmonger's business in the street market "to compete with profiteering."

DUBLIN MYSTERY.

FATAL AFFRAY OUTSIDE VICEROY'S HOUSE.

What was at first assumed to be an attack on the Viceregal Lodge, Dublin, by a number of men estimated at about a dozen, occurred about two o'clock on Sunday morning. In the affair two persons lost their lives, one a British Army officer, Lieut. Boast, of the South Lancashire Regiment, who was mentioned in the Court Circular as having been invited to dine with the Lord Lieutenant, the other being a civilian who is believed to be a member of the attacking party.

About two o'clock shots were heard being fired at a distance, and guests and others began making enquiries. Little disorder occurred and residents of the Lodge assumed that some revelry had been the cause of a disturbance.

Later it was reported that the body of Lieut. Boast had been discovered shot dead and the body of the civilian was also discovered. Later on news was received at the Viceregal Lodge that an attack had been made on the Lord Lieutenant's residence, and a few hours afterwards four men were requested by the police to accompany them to Headquarters and were detained. The affair appears to have been a concerted one, and though details cannot yet be pieced together there appears no doubt that the attack was cleverly conceived, though it failed completely in its objective.

Contrary to the first reports the latest telegrams from Dublin show that there was no actual attack on the Lodge. Shots were heard in Phoenix Park, which is adjacent to the grounds of the Viceregal Lodge, and the officer and a number of soldiers (one report states that they took a machine gun with them) left the Lodge to ascertain the cause. It was in the park that Lieut. Boast was shot, the man who shot him being himself killed immediately after.

N.W. FRONTIER.

BRITISH FORCE SUSTAINS HEAVY CASUALTIES.

It is officially announced that some sections of the Tochi Waziris, notably those at the head of the Tochi Valley had not completely complied with the terms imposed by the date fixed. With reference to enemy losses on the 21st it is now confirmed that over 200 Mahsuds and thirty Waziris were killed. According to unconfirmed reports from Wana the Waziris are retiring home owing to the shortage of rations. Gangs of Kharadis aggregating some 300 strong looted Eranband on the night of the 21st December. Some of the raiders were killed but we sustained no casualties.

THANKS TO AMERICAN Y.M.C.A.

The Y.M.C.A. London has acknowledged the gift of two hundred thousand sterling from the American Y.M.C.A. by the following cable: "The English National Council of the Y.M.C.A. sends most cordial thanks to the American War Work Council for the generous contributions, also for the appreciatory message concerning the services rendered to the American and Allied Troops. Both will encourage us tremendously, and we hope will lead to a generous response by the British Government and public, and weld still more closely the lasting bonds of brotherhood uniting our two countries through the Association movement."

HEROIC RESCUER INJURED.

A dramatic rescue was witnessed about midnight on Saturday when a woman either fell or jumped into the Thames from Hammersmith Bridge. Lieut. Wood, of the South African Artillery, who was passing the spot, unhesitatingly dived into the river and rescued the woman. In doing so, he was so badly injured that he had to be taken to hospital and operated on.

FUNERAL OF SIR JOHN ALCOCK.

The body of Sir John Alcock, which had rested in Holy Innocents Church, Manchester, since Christmas Day, where it was visited by many people, was removed on Saturday to the Southern Cemetery for interment. The bearers were six officers of the Royal Air Force. A firing party attended and the Last Post was sounded over the grave.

A terrible avalanche disaster is reported from Davos, Switzerland. Half a dozen avalanches fell on to the town within the space of an hour, overwhelming a sanatorium and one hotel. The majority of the residents had miraculous escapes. Nine bodies have been recovered from the snow and wreckage.

XMAS REVELS.

R.E. POSTAL AND OTHER MERRY FUNCTIONS.

Having dispensed happiness generally throughout the Army on Christmas morning it was but fitting that the senior ranks of the Army Postal Service should foregather later in the day. Accordingly the H.Q. Staff, including guests from all Corps and Divisions in Rhineland, sat down to dinner at the Römer Hotel Cologne. In the unavoidable absence of Col. D. J. Lidbury, D.S.O. the chair was ably filled by Capt. J. Crowe. The toast of the "King" by the chairman was followed by "Our Comrades at Home and Abroad" proposed by C.S.M. Slater and "Our Guests," given by C.S.M. MacIndoe and responded to by Major P. G. Bennel of the Independent Division. The gathering was in some ways unique in that many members present have been with the Corps since the historic 4th of August 1914, and it was in keeping with the occasion that tribute to the work of the Corps should be made. This was happily done in a short resumé by Lieut. Cawthorne, D.C.M.

Thanks are due to the many artists who so admirably sustained the social side of the affair and too much cannot be said of C.S.M MacIndoe who, assisted by Sgt. Maidment, found time to arrange such a successful gathering despite the heavy postal traffic.

A very wittily worded programme and distribution of toys and other articles accurately "hitting off" the characteristics of every member of the staff caused great interest and merriment. C.S.M. MacIndoe can hardly have ceased chuckling yet at the remembrance of how his clever jests hit the mark every time.

MILITARY GOVERNOR'S STAFF.

Unparalleled is the only word that can describe the Christmas festivities at the Monopol Hotel where the Military Governor's Clerical Staff regaled themselves during the holidays. Too much praise cannot be given to those responsible for the arrangements and a special word of thanks is due to Sgt.-Major Watson for the painstaking manner in which he brought the affair to such a successful conclusion.

The Military Governor who with his Staff Officers was present for a short time, drank the men's health and wished them a Merry Christmas and every good luck in the coming year

Subsequently Lieut Haines who is acting as Camp Commandant in a neat speech congratulated those present on the admirable manner in which they had performed their duties during the time he had been associated with them.

Three hearty cheers were given for the Military Governor, and Lieut Haines, fittingly described as one of the most popular officers in Cologne, was accorded a similar compliment later.

L/Cpl. Le Crerar submitted the National toast and later complimented Cpl. Snowdon and Pte. Forster who together with Sgt.-Major Watson were responsible for the arrangements, on the splendid manner in which they had carried out their duties. A Musical evening brought an enjoyable festivity to its close.

Having acted as waiters to the lesser lights, the W.O.'s of the Military Governor's Staff held their own festivities on Sunday. R.S.M.-Major Ryan presided over a merry function, details of which had been arranged by Sgt.-Major Watson. A few guests were present, and the evening was spent in a manner befitting the occasion.

N. A. C. B. STAFF.

The Stapel Haus by the Rhine was transformed from a vaulted cavern to some semblance of Ali Baba's cave as depicted on the stage. Festoons of paper decorations and evergreens, with clusters of coloured electric lights, disguised it out of all recognition. Consequently when the staff of the N. A. C. B., some 350 all told, assembled to spend Christmas Day together they had cause to be doubly happy. Firstly, because they knew that the resources of the N. A. C. B. had proved equal to the extraordinary demands for Christmas Fare and secondly because, knowing their own work had been well and truly done, they could give themselves up to undiluted enjoyment.

Before the seats were occupied the tables looked wondrously attractive, and spotless napery and cutlery, crystal glass and table decorations laid out with immaculate precision, whetted the appetite. Soon the festive board was graced by Jack and Jill alternately, and the seasonable fare was rendered ample justice.

During the dinner Major Tatler, the O.C., looked in, spoke a few cheery words and read the following telegram from Lieut.-Col. Sir Francis Towle, C.B.E., Controller of the N. A. C. B. "Wishing you and your staff a happy Xmas and every good luck in the New Year. Many thanks for all your efforts during 1919."

Capt. Pardo and Miss Butler supervised the affair, the general arrangements of which were most successfully carried out by Staff Sgt. Turner.

A dance to the strains of a full orchestra was held in the evening.

WITH THE DEVONS.

The first and last Xmas Day abroad as a service battalion will always be a pleasant memory to all ranks of the 52nd Devons.

Dingy billets and mess rooms had been transformed into veritable fairylands, even the smallest billet boasting at least one Xmas tree, and the taste displayed in the colour scheme and decorations was admirable.

A sumptuous dinner was followed in the evening by an elaborate programme of amusements. It was not possible to

(Continued in next column.)

PROHIBITION.

MANY DEATHS CAUSED BY WOOD-SPIRIT.

It is reported that in Chicopee, Holyoke, and Hartford (Massachusetts U.S.A.) thirty men and one woman have died from drinking wood alcohol in the belief that it was whisky. Numerous similar deaths have occurred throughout the country.

In various New England cities there are fifty-four dead and many more are in hospital blinded from the same cause. It is believed that the stuff is manufactured at Bronk, New York City, and transported perhaps by means of launches on the river. Agents of the Department of Justice are looking for this "whisky" factory. The poison is sold at one thousand dollars per barrel.

Latest figures from New York show that since prohibition was adopted in the United States there are at least 137 dead and 119 blind who are in danger of death, as the result of drinking wood alcohol.

HOLY INNOCENTS.

AUSTRIA'S PITIFUL PLIGHT.

Sunday was Holy Innocents Day in the Church Calendar, and in response to an appeal from the Archbishops, the President of the National Free Church Council and other leaders of religious thought, special sermons were preached at all places of worship throughout the Kingdom on behalf of the "Save the Children Fund". The object of this fund is to relieve the distress in Middle and Eastern Europe, particularly among the children. Throughout London there were large congregations and substantial sums were raised.

How urgently such relief is needed is shown by the following telegram to the "Sunday Express" from Vienna:

"Scurvy and hunger typhus are beginning to devastate the population, ninety per cent. of whom ate only sour cabbage during Christmas. Over 74,000 unemployed tramp the streets. The police, armed with revolvers, guard every railway waggon to prevent looting. The fashionable quarter swarms with starving and barefooted children piteably begging. Wounded soldiers lie about the pavements exposing stumps of limbs which are suppurating owing to the lack of surgical treatment, while the big hotels are filled with overfed, bloated food profiteers, who are responsible for sucking the last drops of Austria's life blood".

O'GRADY CONFERENCE.

BRIGHTER PROSPECTS OF SUCCESS.

It is officially announced that the negotiations between Mr. J. O'Grady, M.P., and Litvinoff have taken a more favourable turn. Conferences will be resumed, and the issue narrowed down to a few points which it is hoped are not incapable of ultimate settlement.

Mr. O'Grady is satisfied from statements of Litvinoff himself and of impartial witnesses, that our prisoners are being fed as well as the internal conditions of Russia permit, while with regard to the wounded he hopes that the Soviet Government will be persuaded, from considerations of humanity, to agree to the release of the wounded before a definite exchange takes place.

M.O.'s WANTED FOR INDIA.

It is announced by the India Office that fully qualified European medical practitioners under thirty-five years of age are required for temporary service with Indian troops. Selected applicants must enter into a two years contract. Special rates of pay (in rupees) are as follows: 700 per month for Lieutenant and 750 for Captain. Three years service as Medical Officer in the Forces are required for higher rates. Free passage is given both ways and wives and families will be sent out at Government expense next Autumn if shipping is available.

TRANS-AFRICAN AIR ROUTE.

The Air Ministry has issued a very interesting account of the survey work on the Cape to Cairo aerial route, describing the difficulties of cutting out aerodromes in the dense jungle, clearing anthills, conveying stores etc. The survey parties are returning to Africa shortly. It is proposed to organise the route into six areas, each under the general supervision of British officials.

TICKETS FOR WARRANTS.

The Army Council states that from the 1st January railway warrants and vouchers must be exchanged for tickets before the journey. The only exceptions to this ruling are dispersal warrants and overseas combined leave and rail tickets.

produce the projected pantomime but the "Flashlights" (the battalion concert party), gave an excellent show, contributed to by Pte. E. Cole, Sgt. Strange, Sgt. Etheridge, C.Q.M.S. Selby, Sgt. Hawse, Sgt. Hopkins, Lieut. Carswell, Lieut. Hartley and Pte. Buxton.

In the gymnasium, a grand indoor fair was held. The regimental band, under Band Sgt. Bone helped to make it a complete success.

TREATY DELAYS.

GERMAN PLEAS AT VARIANCE WITH FACTS.

Baron von Lersner, head of the German Peace Delegation at Paris, has declared that the final date of the repeatedly delayed exchange of ratifications of the Peace Treaty of Versailles depends largely upon the speed with which the Allied Missions in Germany verify the German figures of the available floating docks, tonnage and harbour material available for delivery to Allies as compensation for the sinking of the German Fleet at Scapa Flow. He estimates that this will take at least a fortnight, owing to the difficulty of transport and the considerable detail involved in verifying the German estimates.

The Allies' reply to the German Note was presented on the 22nd December. It takes note of the German admission that the non-ratification of the Peace Treaty by America does not affect the applicability of any provisions of the Treaty and insists upon the signature of the Protocol as it stands. It also reaffirms the readiness of the Allies to reduce the amount of floating material claimed as indemnity for the Scapa Flow sinkings if it is shown that vital economic interests justify such reduction, but at the same time points out that the Allies have learned that floating docks, cranes and tugs have been recently sold. It therefore gives notice that in view of the economic position of Germany as stated by the German Delegates, the Allies will recognise no such sales. The Note also rejects the German proposal to substitute for the five small cruisers mentioned in the Protocol five others under construction, and further states that directly the Protocol is signed all German officers interned as a result of the Scapa Flow affair will be liberated except those charged with war crimes.

AGRARIAN CRIMES.

CHRISTMAS DISTURBANCES IN IRELAND.

A number of disturbances occurred in Ireland during Christmas week. On Christmas Eve a police constable named Keogh was shot at and seriously wounded during a disturbance at Killarney. It appears that shortly before ten in the evening an attack was made upon some soldiers and a number of shots were fired. A strong body of police arrived and were trying to restore order when Constable Keogh received a bullet wound and had to be removed to the police barracks.

Between forty and fifty men armed with fixed bayonets raided a farmhouse at Bernahinagh, near Skibbereen. The raiders evicted the occupant and his wife and family, turning them and all their belongings out on the roadside.

A number of raids for arms took place on Sunday night in the Moycullen district of Galway. One of the houses raided was that of the agent for the estate of Lord Strutheden and Campbell. In the course of the search the raiders found a gun and a revolver which they carried away. They also took an officer's sword which was a family heirloom.

It is stated that a consignment of twenty thousand rounds of ammunition addressed to the military authorities has been stolen from Dungarvan railway station, despite the vigilance of extra police.

SEASIDE MURDER.

TRAGEDY OF LANCASHIRE SANDS.

While gathering driftwood on Christmas Eve, along the shore at St. Anne's-on-Sea, a man discovered the body of a well-dressed woman lying among the sandhills. There were wounds in the head and back, caused apparently by a sharp instrument, in the opinion of the police surgeon, injuries which could not have been self-inflicted.

The victim was a married woman named Breaks, aged 25, and of attractive personality, who had been living apart from her husband. A wedding ring was found in her pocket. The principal clue was a man's glove which was found partly embedded in the sand near the scene of the tragedy. An ex-2nd Lieutenant named Holt, of the 4th Loyal North Lancs, has been arrested in connection with the affair.

The inquest was opened on Saturday on the victim, Mrs. Kathleen Breaks, but after evidence of identification was adjourned until the 12th January. Miss Daisy Fish identified the body as that of her sister, the wife of John Stoddart Breaks, whose address she did not know, though it is said to be Bridlington. For the last eighteen months Mrs. Breaks had been separated from her husband.

On Sunday some children found a heavy revolver partly covered with sand near the spot where the body was discovered. Two chambers had been discharged and four others were loaded. Apparently however, none of deceased's injuries were caused by bullets.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE.

It is stated that the Government intends to introduce a new Bill into Parliament in February extending compulsory unemployment insurance to practically all trades. The Bill will include an additional seven to eight million workers instead of the three and a half million under the present Act. The new scheme proposes payment of fifteen shillings weekly to men and twelve shillings to women.

Glasgow taxi and other cab drivers have struck for higher wages.

HOTEL TRAGEDY.

CANADIAN OFFICER'S GRIM RESOLVE.

The military authorities and police have pieced together the facts of a Christmas shooting drama which occurred during Boxing night. A Canadian officer engaged a room at the Grosvenor Hotel, Victoria, about noon on Boxing Day, and after lunching with some friends spent the remainder of the day in his room. He was found shot there shortly after midnight and was removed to St. George's Hospital, where he died. The body was subsequently identified as that of Captain Charles Vesta Victoria Coombes, employed in the Narrative Department at Canadian Headquarters.

Women friends testified that when they left the deceased in the evening he remarked "I am going to get absolutely drunk and them pass out." The lady subsequently returned to the hotel with a male relative and saw Coombes, who was evidently ill. During the interview he suddenly drew a revolver and shot himself through the temple. Coombes served in France with a Canadian battalion until the Armistice and Major Watkins of the Canadian War Records, who was interviewed, said that deceased had a very severe wound in the right side which gave him constant pain. He had frequently been operated upon but without success.

SEAL OF HONOUR.

9000 PATRIOTIC FIRMS.

The Ministry of Labour has been making a special effort during the Christmas period to increase the number of firms pledging themselves to employ a proportion of disabled men by bringing the claims of the latter prominently to the notice of employers and public. For this purpose the majority of big employers in the West End who have earned the seal of honour displayed posters in prominent positions. The number of pledged firms has now reached 9,000, representing employment for about 80,000 men.

Many remarkable instances are given of workmen minus an arm or leg now doing useful and renumerative work. There are, however, still large numbers of unemployed, while the hospitals continue to add to their numbers by discharging men who are sufficiently recovered to restart work.

EX-SERVICE MEN'S LAND.

In a Christmas message to the Ex-Service Man newspaper the Minister for Agriculture said that the Board of Agriculture takes a keen interest in the welfare of ex-service men and is providing as rapidly as possible adequate opportunities for them to acquire and cultivate the bit of land which was promised them by Parliament. The Minister looks forward to the day when every ex-service man who has the necessary qualifications will be comfortably settled upon his own land.

FLANNEL THIEVES ARRESTED.

An American motor driver named Hawkins of Islington, and another Islington man were charged at Nottingham on Saturday in connection with the Bethnal Green robbery of khaki flannel worth £15,000 as already reported. The arrests were effected at a Nottingham hotel.

Both men were smartly dressed but circumstances having aroused suspicion they volunteered a statement that they were in Nottingham training for a boxing match. The Magistrates ordered the prisoners to be handed over to the Metropolitan police.

CLAIMS FOR SINN FEIN OUTRAGES.

The proprietors of "The Irish Independent" have lodged a claim for £44,000 compensation under the Malicious Injuries Act for the damage done to their machinery and other property on the occasion of the recent raid by a supposed Sinn Fein gang. A claim has also been lodged for some hundreds of pounds as compensation for damage done to the Vice Regal motor cars in the attack on Lord French.

FREE POSTAGE ABOLISHED.

The Postmaster General gives notice that after the 31st December all unpaid and underpaid Inland letters posted by soldiers, sailors, or airmen in camps, barracks, shore depots or hospitals in Great Britain will be surcharged in the ordinary way at double rate.

POOR GUESTS OF THE KING.

For the eleventh year in succession the King again provided a Christmas tea for 700 poor men and women at the Great Assembly Hall, Mile End Road on Saturday. His Majesty sent a telegram hoping that his guests would spend a pleasant evening and wishing them a Happy New Year.

The railway station at Marseilles has been destroyed by fire, the damage being estimated at several million francs.

On Sunday, as on the previous Sunday, the offertories at the United Evening Service held at the Cologne Central Y.M.C.A. were devoted to the Fund for starving Children in Vienna and a large sum was contributed by the congregation.

VENUS PENCILS

The 'VENUS PENCIL" owes its tremendous demand and extensive use not simply because it can satisfy the greatest variety of requirements, technical and otherwise, but because it is the best and can be relied upon as dependable for all work where perfect results are required.
17 degrees Black Lead, 6 B (soft-st) to 9 H (hardest), and in 3 styles copying
Of all Stationers and Stores throughout the world.
"VENUS," 173/5 Lower Clapton-road, London, E. 5.
VENUS
for Every pencil purpose

N. A. C. B.

NEW YEAR'S EVE
TURKEYS
AND GEESE

THE N.A.C.B. HAS A NEW SUPPLY OF ABOVE. ON SALE AT GENERAL STORES

27 OBENMARSPFORTEN.

BRITISH ADVERTISERS
APPLY FOR TERMS etc. to
ROY HARDY AGENCY
292, HIGH HOLBORN,
LONDON, W.C. 1.

METROPOLE THEATRE
APOSTELNSTRASSE

The Grand Pantomime
ALADDIN

(by A. M. Thompson and R. Courtneidge)

Presented by
The Inniskilling Dragoons Dramatic Society

OPENING PERFORMANCE
Thursday, January 1st
Every Evening (except Sunday) at 6 p.m. (except Saturday)
Saturday Evening, at 7 p.m.
Till January 7th, 1920

CHILDREN'S MATINEE
Saturday, Jan. 3rd, at 2.30 p.m.

BOOK SEATS EARLY at:—
BOX OFFICE, METROPOLE THEATRE
AMUSEMENTS OFFICE, KOMÖDIENSTR.
VI CORPS OFFICERS' CLUB
N.A.C.B. CLUB
INNISKILLING DRAGOONS
Tel. Nos.—G.H.Q. 632 Civil A 1118

R. C. FLACK & CO.
Naval-Military and Civil Tailors
CAMBRIDGE.

The largest selection of newest materials for Mufti and Military; also a large stock of gloves-hosiery-underwear-shirts etc., etc.

KRONPRINZ HOTEL
Behind EXCELSIOR.

Mention The Cologne Post when replying to advertisements. It helps you and the advertisers.

1919—1920
N New Year's Eve Ball Y
December 31st 9.30—12.30
AT THE
E BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB E
(Officers' Subscription Dance)
President: Major-General Sir S. T. B. LAWFORD, K.C.B.
FANCY DRESS OPTIONAL
W Tickets 20 Marks Apply: Controller Entertainments :: British Empire Leave Club :: A R

I. MARCUS
& CO. Dept. C. 54a
HOUNDSDITCH
LONDON, E. 1

Wish to buy large quantities of all Clocks, Watches, Mouth Organs and Musical Instruments, Mechanical Toys, Dolls, Cutlery, Brooches etc.

We are also willing to act as Agents in England for all commodities required for the German market. Write direct and tell us what you have to offer and what you want to buy.

LARGE STOCK
MOUTH ORGANS
READY FOR SHIPMENT
ROBARTS AND QUANTOCK
100 HOHESTRASSE COLOGNE
IMPORT-EXPORT

CONTINENTALE INSERATEN-ANNAHME FÜR THE COLOGNE POST
F. J. BIRGEL & Co
35/43 MARZELLEN-STRASSE, CÖLN (RH.)
PREISE UND ALLE INFORMATIONEN AUF ANFRAGE

N. A. C. B.
OFFICERS' CLUB

NEW YEAR'S EVE

DINNER AND DANCE
AT THE
EWIGE LAMPE.
DINNER
at No. 2 CLUB.
TICKETS 50 MARKS

TABLES SHOULD BE BOOKED EARLY.

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.
Tonight and until further notice owing to enormous success,
THE BRITISH RHINE ARMY DRAMATIC COY in
"THE KNIGHT OF THE BURNING PESTLE"
by BEAUMONT & FLETCHER.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.
TONIGHT
Return visit owing to continued success of
Mr. ALFRED HURLEY's London Variety Coy.
"THE JESTERS"
Artistes:
Mr. JOE MORLEY
The Celebrated Banjoist from the LONDON PALLADIUM.
Miss VIVIAN MACKAY
Contralto.
Mr. HARRY KING
Comedian.
Miss JESSIE MOUNTJOY
Songs at the Piano.
Mr. CHASS. LEWIS and "JOEY."

No 1 Cinema is now closed.
No: 2 ARMY CINEMA.
(Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.
No: 3 ARMY CINEMA.
(Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.
Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc.,
Staff Instructor in attendance.

ARMY SKATING RINK.
NOW OPEN. This week, Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday other ranks and wives only 5.30 to 9.30.
Friday Officers and wives 3.30 to 10.0
Skates provided. Cloak Room Accommodation for spectators: Mugs' Alley for Beginners. Commencing shortly, Teas and refreshments will be served on the Balcony.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
CINEMA
Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post
Telephones: Military, No. 653. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.
Subscription: In Rhine Army area 13 mks. a month, post free.
To Great Britain or Colonies, 20 marks a month post free.

Tuesday, December 30, 1919.

LEARNING ON THE RHINE.

Early in the morning at an hour when the ordinary man is still turning over in a comfortable bed, bracing himself to undergo the pain of rising, men who have been working in factories all the week are already in the classrooms, and so in a Midland town, in an adult school, the gates of knowledge were open to eager seekers thereafter.

Yet why should so many obstacles, so many barriers, intervene between the student and the knowledge he craves?

We are a generous and large-hearted country; yet we appear to think that the enjoyments and refinements of education should be limited to one class.

Need the "education of a gentleman" be confined merely to the well-to-do? No, surely not?

The mind is God's endorsement; all honest knowledge and research is from God, therefore we must meet the demand for the best sort of education from the lips of our poorer brethen.

They too must learn true history, sound science, inspiring literature, ennobling art and music; these are the mind's right the soul's education.

We have made in civil life some small beginnings such as Oxford tutorial classes and our adult schools. Already in the North of England the worker appreciates first-class music; beyond the border, evening schools are crowded, and last of all, the university of the people, the great educational system of the new Army, has in the Army of Occupation made a beginning.

The War Office has discovered, as civilian employers will discover also, that an educated man is easier to train than an uneducated one. Think of the inestimable value upon national character of a stream of educated soldiers imbued with traditions of loyalty, manliness and discipline passing into civil life.

With a trade acquired also by which to earn their living, with a brain trained perchance in economics and civics, they can oppose the Bolshevik creed and perchance be the saviour of the Empire.

Surely an impossible ideal! No, not impossible, for we have seen it here, in our Army of the Rhine. Germany, too beholds it and wonders.

We all knew how difficult it was for the pre-war soldier to obtain employment on his return to civil life. Taken away before he had learned a trade, he was, under the short service system, thrown back unprepared upon the labour market.

No wonder that military service which is really the highest form of citizenship, came to be regarded as unenviable. We have changed that now.

The soldier of the New Army is different for he is educated and when all is said and done, educated men are as a rule better mannered and more interesting than uneducated men.

They are also more employable; moreover the young soldier surrounded by terrible temptation is occupied during the leisure hours which are inevitable in a military training.

The gates of knowledge are set ajar, and the result already is that the old contemptible army of learning has left the barrack rooms of Cologne, and he who is lucky enough to be chosen as a student goes joyfully to his lectures and to pass what many tell us are the happiest days of their life in the Army of the Rhine.

A WORSHIPFUL COMPANY.

WHEN PEACE IS RATIFIED.

The worshipful company of staff officers.

I hesitated for a moment on the doorstep; the big board with "Officers' Mess" painted across it stared me in the face. "Dare I enter?" I said to myself. Some four months previously, prior to my wife's advent in Cologne, I had been a member of that mess, and I wondered what would be my greeting on entering now. I plucked up my courage, however, and pushed the door open. There was a little group seated round the ante-room fire, arguing vehemently, but the argument ceased and all eyes were turned on me as I entered the door. "Come here, you giddy battle-thinker!—Just the man we want to see!—look at his pretty colours!" These, and similar epithets were hurled at me in succession.

I must explain that, since leaving the mess, I have become one of that noble band who have risen—according to their own opinions, by sheer hard work and perseverance, and according to all regimental officers, by sheer thick headedness and lack of brains—to the lofty heights of a Staff Officer, an honour which carries with it the right to relieve the drab of the eternal khaki by means of bits of colour on the lapels of the tunic, and coloured armbands round the right arm!

The whole group round the fire rose and greeted me with open arms. "We have a question which you, being a member of the Worshipful Company of Staff officers, can answer," said Dyer, with huch unnecessary emphasis on the superfluous aspirate. Dyer, who is a regimental officer, is firmly convinced that all who wear "tabs" of whatever colour are banded together into a society, more secret than the fabled Mafia, one of the strictest rules being that members are never to give away any information.

"If there is any way in which I can assist to unburden your weak intellects, I shall be delighted to do so", I replied.

"We have heard", said Dyer, "that when peace is ratified"—he was interrupted by a chorus of groans,—"When peace is ratified", he emphasised the first word still more strongly,—"There is a rumour afoot that we shall no longer be permitted to travel on trains, trams and similar institutions free of charge, but will have to pay our fares like common civilians! Is it true, Mr. Staff Officer?"

Dyer and I used to be great friends, but his nasty habit of jeering whenever he and I happened to enter the same tram and he saw me paying my twenty-five pfennigs for my wife's fare, broke the threads of our friendship, consequently the picture of Dyer gingerly tending three dirty blue pieces of paper each marked "10" to a triumphantly smiling conductor who deliberately smooths out the creases in the notes and gives him 5 pfennigs and a piece of paper labelled "25" in return, was beautiful to imagine.

"Your information is perfectly correct", I replied. "I really cannot see why you should not pay your fare."

"B-b-but", he gasped, "Have we won, or have we lost, this war?".

"My dear fellow," I answered, "Do please use what few brains you have. How do you expect Fritz is going to pay the indemnity if you and your colleagues do not pay your fares?"

Dyer was getting visibly more puzzled. "Are we to pay our own blooming indemnity then?" he asked. "Of course you have to, that is what Fritz has always intended you to do."

He was silent for a moment, and knowing him of old, I expected that a commencement of hostilities was not far distant, and consequently I moved nearer the door, and ordered my drink. Dyer was still thinking when my whisky and soda arrived, so I hastily sampled nearly half of it.

"Well, there is only one consolation," he said slowly, as he recovered his speech. "You will have to pay as well, in spite of your pretty colours and your shut-this-door-and-don't-make-a-damn-noise-airs'."

I finished my whisky before answering, and then turned to him with my best what-I-said-to-the-General manner. "I intend proposing that all Staff Officers shall, in consequence of the importance of their work, be issued free season tickets on all such concerns! Mr. Dyer will pay for my whisky," I added to the waiter, and just shut the door behind me in time to hear the rain of match-boxes, pipes, books, etc. descending on the other side.

HARRIS BARTLETT.

CAN YOU WRITE?

We pay for all literary contributions to "The Cologne Post," and are pleased to consider articles, humorous sketches and poems by members of the Rhine Army. No article should exceed 500 words, and shorter ones can be submitted.

DREAMLAND AND A DREAM.

A NEW YEAR STORY.

I had just come down from the mess and had dined well.

The fire in my billet gratified, and it was with a sigh of satisfaction that I soothed my sense of animal comfort, and sank into the inviting softness of an easy chair. The wind howled outside, and snow was falling in a manner that boded discomfort for pedestrians. But I was at peace with all the world. My body and my mind were lulled to a state of drowsiness by the cheerful warmth of the roaring fire.

* * *

I was back in Blighty and the proud possessor of a new suit of "civvies," cut in the latest fashion. Moreover it was New Years's Eve, and I was feeling ready to honour the time-honoured customs to which I had been such a stranger whilst in khaki. I was just finishing my third glass of old and mellow port when a thunderous knock heralded the approach of a stranger. But I was wrong, for no stranger would walk into my house in such a manner. A head was thrust into the room a curly head which surmounted a cheerful face and a pair of laughing eyes—and then I recognised him. It was my old chum, Jack Mann, whom I thought was still in Salonica. And he was in "civvies."

"You demobbed?" was our mutual greeting, and soon we were exchanging confidences and experiences as old friends always do when they meet.

"And now for a real old time New Year's Eve," said Jack. "Can you remember the good old days when we used to go 'first-footing,' and generally drink more port than was good for us?"

"Yes," I replied, "And what is more, we shall sample quite a number of peoples' port to-night."

But my forecast was wrong for no sooner were we in the street—it was quite early, about a quarter past eight—when a mutual friend invited us to go with him. And in a neighbouring hotel he kept us busy drinking port and whisky, which he supplied whilst we related our experiences at home and abroad. By the time we left the hotel Jack and I were very garrulous and inclined to sway about in a most alarming fashion. But in any case it was New Year's Eve, and the world would forgive us. "First-footing", however, was entirely out of the question, so when Jack proposed a visit to the theatre, I agreed.

Somehow or other we at last managed two box seats in a popular theatre, where a still more popular revue was being staged before an appreciative audience. As soon as we were seated, Jack produced a box of chocolates, full of the most delicious creams.

"Look at that poor kid," Jack said rather thickly. "She looks half starved," and he pointed out a girl with white face and appealing eyes, in the line of chorus girls. The face was nearest to our box, and Jack dropped a big, rich, chocolate over the side of the box. Shortly afterwards the sweet was transferred to the mouth of the girl, and heartily consumed. At the same time she shot up a glance to us which was purely "Oliver Twistish" in character. And soon she had gauged Jack's drops to such a nicety that the creams were dropping straight into her mouth, which seemed to be assuming appalling proportions.

As he dropped each dainty tit-bit my chum leaned further out of the box and by the time he had finished his self-imposed task of Charity he was in a very dangerous position. And just as he let go of his last precious sweet, he lost his balance and fell. In a futile effort to pull him back I found myself being dragged over with him. Down, down, down, we went hurtling through the heated atmosphere of the theatre and ever that capacious cavity yawned below us until in my flight I compared it with the darkest caves of Hades.

Two feet separated us from the cavern of Greed and then—

* * *

Some one was pulling my shoulder. "Hey, sergeant, here's a letter for you," said a voice and I blinked into the face of my Corporal, with the terror of my dream experience still upon me.

"Oh," I gasped weakly, "Am I still in the Army?" He gazed at me in a queer manner and walked out of the room.

My fire had burnt itself low and after building it up to its former size I tu ned to my letter. This is it.

Dear Wilf,

Have been "sweating" on "demob" for the last fortnight but nothing has turned up yet. You will most probably get this letter on New Year's Eve and, at that time, like myself will no doubt be thinking of the happy times we had together at home. Hope you have better luck in the way of "demob" than I have had.

Yours, Jack Mann.

ARGUS.

LEST WE FORGET.

Now the carnage red is ended, and the men who have defended
Britain's honour in her hour of sore distress.
Come with Triumph in their bearing,
victory's well won laurels bearing,
Who have nobly borne the conflict's strain and stress.
Now unto the skies we laud them, while we welcome and applaud them
And throughout the land our loud Bravo's! shall ring
Now with thankful hearts we'll meet them, and heartily we'll greet them
Gallant lads, who fought for God, and Home, and King.

Now the peace which they faced death for,
which we prayed with bated breath for.
Has been granted us, and Victory is secure.
What reward shall we then render, to the men who scorned surrender.
Who were strong, to dare! to suffer! to endure!
Some are strife worn, bruised, and broken,
every scar is War's grim token.
Every wound is proof of steadfeast loyalty.
Let us loyalty then show them. Don't forget the debt we owe them.
Who have borne the battle's brunt for you and me.

PTE. JAS DAVEY.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

Our Readers' Varied Views.

THE SHORTEST WILL.

Sir,—You mention Lieutenant Kirkley's will as the shortest on record. This is not correct.

The shortest will on record was made some twenty years ago by Mr. Thorn, of Streatham, who left some £8,000 to his wife, with these words, "All to Mother" The two sons witnessed the will, which was valid.

HUGH MOEDOR.

SILLY FILMS.

Sir,—The controversy on this subject has been allowed to drift beside the point. It is not a question of nationality in films at all, although as a frequent visitor to cinemas when in England I feel bound to say that most of the silly pictures shown are American.

My own opinion as to the reason for presenting so much ridiculous rubbish on the screen, in which people are shown scrambling over housetops, overturning stalls and house furniture, firing pistols at anybody and anything, etc., is that a sufficiently large sum is paid artistes to "act the goat."

The only way to stop such silly shows is to walk out when they are screened. After all they are only fit for children to see, and it seems that the managers do not estimate the intelligence of the adult section of the audience as being any higher than that of a child.

It is a pity if managers cannot show any comic films without portraying so much nonsense and useless mimicry.

INTERESTED.

ANOTHER QUERY.

Sir,—I wonder if any of your readers can enlighten me as to whether the same rules apply to German football as to ours.

Watching a game, I was struck by the constant infringement of the rules of the game, players pushing, fouling and throwing the ball in, in absurd fashion.

The referee stood on the touchline and only blew the wistie for half-time. The players seem to have no fixed idea of the game, forwards, half-backs and backs each following the ball indiscriminately all over the field.

The enthusiasm for the game introduced by our troops, has got firmly fixed in the German youths though I think another generation will have to pass before they get a true grip of the game.

P.B.

OUR SOUVENIR NUMBER.

Sir,—If tribute were required to the excellence of your souvenir number it is furnished by "Bonnie," who is evidently disappointed and quite naturally, through the exclusion of Bonn from the resumé of events during the Occupation.

I hope you will accede to his request for another special number, though personally I am more than satisfied with the present production which adds one more debt to that which the Rhine Army already owes the "Cologne Post."

MARIENBURG.

DESIRABLE PUBLIC HOUSES.

Sir,—"Reformer" is of course entitled to his views but does he suggest for one moment that English wives and sweethearts would for one moment enter a public house even though it were run on the lines suggested by him?

Continental ideas are alright in their way when confined to the continent but I do not believe for a moment the licensing justices at home would countenance the institution of public houses on these lines.

Does he pretend for one moment that the beer cafés of the Rhineland are not productive of drunkenness just because one is enabled to drink in the open-air and to the strains of a motley party of musicians? Any observer is aware that they are productive of drunkenness not confined to one sex either. Call on one at a late hour and look around, and notice the semi-inebriated condition of the majority of the people to be found there, a state which is increased as the evening wears on.

There are many ways of amusing the masses without tempting people to drink wines and liquors by the provision of profit making concerns as those outlined by "Reformer."

ANTI-DRINK.

Sir,—I am at one with "Reformer" in his expression of opinions as to improved drinking facilities in that good old country of ours.

Let us have good open-air dancing and drinking cafés instead of the smoke-laden, germ-generating, uninteresting, old interiors of the average hotel and public-house bar. There, is to be found increased temptations to drink because there is nothing to command one's attention and nothing stimulating about the whole show.

Give us cabarets, good turns such as those doing duty on the music halls, and let us be merry and bright.

TOPER.

Sir,—I gladly accept the invitation of "Reformer" to express an opinion with regard to reformed public-houses at home. I agree that they require to be brightened, but there is another point to which I would call attention. It is the average English Sunday.

If ever the song "All dressed up, and nowhere to go" carried any real meaning it does with regard to our Sabbath at home.

The masses put on their best clothes, are glad for the respite from the daily grind, and then wonder where they can go, particularly in the winter-time.

As a general rule the day's programme is as dead as mutton, and is productive of that Monday morning feeling of which we know so much.

JIMMY.

MUSIC (?) HATH CHARMS.

Sir,—Cannot you start a public subscription for the demolition of the organ (or harmonium, or whatever the wretched instrument is) that figures so largely and loudly in the orchestra at the Ewige Lampe Club?

I have seldom been in the "Earwig" without seeing someone or other borderng on insanity as a result of the weird and depressing noises emanating from this conglomeration of inharmonious reeds.

I will willingly head the subscription list.

MUSICUS.

ALL LEADERS WIN.

The Villa Making Great Headway.

RECORD SCORE IN DIV. II.

It takes ones memory back a few years ago to recall a holiday season succession of games which provided such few surprises. The outstanding feature of the matches has been the consistent form of the leaders.

West Bromwich added Derby County to their list of victims at the Birminghan enclosure and although the "Rams" made several changes they failed to hold the dashing "Throstles". Newcastle were all over Manchester United and only the brilliant display of Mew in goal saved the Mancurians from a decisive defeat.

Preston did well to take a point from Burnley and Manchester City caugh Sunderland without Buchan operating and defeated the weakened Wearsiders at Hyde Road.

Liverpool surprised by accounting for their neighbours and the Arsenal improved their splendid away record at the expense of Sheffield Wednesday. The Villa won handsomely at Oldham and are now eighth on the table. Their recent performances are making their supporters hope for League honours. It is not an impossible feat. Notts County certainly found Bradford City's weak spot and greatly improved their goal average.

SECOND LEAGUE.

The sensation of the holiday was Hull's defeat of Wolverhampton by ten goals to three. The aggregate score is a record for Second League football. Such scoring recalls Aston Villa's ten against Sheffield Wednesday at Christmastide a few years before the war.

Tottenham took their revenge when Barnsley visited the Metropolis, while Birmingham have got out of the losing rut by winning over Grimsby. Coventry's draw at Clapton was a good performance and their goal scoring efforts are receiving their long due reward. An unfortunate occurrence for them was that Roberts put through his own goal.

Bristol City were a fortunate side to draw at Blackpool where they relied on a "packed goal" to save themselves. Fulham had themselves to blame for not winning at Rotherham where Cock failed from a penalty.

Huddersfield's remarkable form brings them into the running for Second League honours and what a sensation it would be if they managed to go to Leeds as first leaguers,

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

Watford's terrible fall at Southampton, after beating the leaders at Portsmouth was a good index to holiday form. They could do nothing right and their keeper had a busy afternoon. Crystal Palace by their victory over Millwall are now second on the table and a keen struggle is promised for this Division's honours. Portsmouth easily accounted for Newport and Luton gave Reading a shock when winning at the Biscuit town.

Cardiff City, visitors to Brentford, provided a surprise by bagging both the points at issue, while Gillingham deserved their point at Bristol. Northampton's fall at home to Brighton must be causing uneasiness. Home wins, bar the one on Boxing Day, seem beyond them and their display was wretched. Swansea were fortunate at Plymouth and the Argyle, with Flood absent for 70 minutes, deserved at least one point.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE.

Rangers did well to win at Ayr, but as Celtic accounted for Third Lanark no change in the relative positions takes place. Dumbarton were "expected" at Falkirk but failed by the odd goal in five. Morton's six at Edinburgh where the Hearts scored three, was a surprising occurrence.

Kilmarnock always do well at Hampden Park and added to their record by administering another Queen's defeat.

Appended are the results:—

The League.—Division I.

Bolton Wanderers	2	Blackburn Rov.	1
Bradford	1	Middlesbrough	1
Burnley	1	Preston N. E.	1
Sheffield Wednesday	0	The Arsenal	1
Chelsea	1	Sheffield United	0
Live pool	3	Everton	1
Manchester City	1	Sunderland	0
Notts County	5	Bradford City	2
Oldham Athletic	0	Aston Villa	3
West Bromwich Alb.	3	Derby County	0
Newcastle United	2	Manchester United	1

The League.—Division II.

Birmingham	4	Grimsby Town	0
Blackpool	0	Bristol City	0
Clapton Orient	2	Coventry City	2
Hull City	10	Wolverhampton W.	3
Lincoln City	2	Bury	1
Rotherham City	1	Fulham	1
South Shields	3	Stockport County	2
Stoke	3	Leicester City	0
Tottenham Hotspur	4	Barnsley	0
West Ham United	1	Huddersfield Town	1

Southern League.

Bristol Rovers	1	Gillingham	1
Brentford	1	Cardiff City	2
Crystal Palace	1	Millwall	0
Merthyr Town	2	Exeter City	1
Northampton	1	Brighton and Hove	5
Norwich City	3	Queen's Park Rang.	1
Plymouth Argyle	0	Swansea Town	1
Portsmouth	3	Newport County	1
Reading	1	Luton	1
Southampton	5	Watford	1
Southend United	0	Swindon	1

Scottish League.

Airdrieonians	2	Aberdeen	0
Ayr United	0	Glasgow Rangers	3
Celtic	2	Third Lanark	1
Clydebank	4	Raith Rovers	1
Dundee	3	Hibernians	1
Falkirk	3	Dumbarton	2
Hamilton Academic.	2	Clyde	2
Hearts	3	Greenock Morton	6
Partick Thistle	2	Albion Rovers	0
Queen's Park	1	Kilmarnock	3
St. Mirren	2	Motherwell	1

RUGBY UNION.

Richmond	13	Old Alleynians	8
Harlequins	0	Blackheath	23
Rosslyn Park	11	United Services	26
Leicester	22	R.A.F.	5
Swansea	0	Aberavon	3
Newport	19	Barbarians	0
Bristol	0	Pontypool	8
Gloucester	9	Llanelly	13
Cardiff	46	Old Merchant Taylors	5
Neath	9	London Welsh	4
Cheltenham	13	Glasgow University	0
Bath	0	Crosskeys	0
Nuneaton	15	Moseley	3
Southport	3	Clyde	2
Tyldesley	46	Bowdon Rangers	5
Heaton Moor	19	Liverpool	6
Sale	22	Broughton Park	11
Broughton Park A.	3	Sale A.	40
Old Salfordians	31	Manchester Y.M.C.A.	0
Kersal	3	St. Helens Old Boys	17

THE GREAT FIGHT.

Cochran's Views about Dempsey's Terms.

LATEST OFFER.

It will be a relief to hear that a decision has been arrived at as to the terms of the big fight between Carpentier and Dempsey. The long drawn out terms controversy is getting just a little tiring, and the bargaining by promoters for the privilege of staging the world's championship is becoming ludicrous in its magnitude.

A telegram from New York contains the latest details of Mr. Cochran's negotiations, which he disclosed in the course of an interview. He declared that Dempsey is too good a business man to risk the chance of his title growing cold before finally closing to fight Carpentier, pointing out that there is always a possibility that the Frenchman may be beaten while the negotiations are in progress. In the event of such a happening, Dempsey's chance of a big purse would obviously be lost. For this reason, if for no other, Mr. Cochran believes that the champion will be amenable to terms.

Cochran's Confidence.

Continuing his interview, Mr. Cochran says:—"I telegraphed Dempsey's manager an offer on Thursday. It is too soon to expect an answer, but I am confident that the uselessness of Dempsey considering any other offer will be realised, as I have bound Carpentier indefinitely that the fight will take place at Olympia towards the end of 1920."

Mr. Cochran scorned the possibility of Dempsey refusing to leave the United States, having received absolute assurance that Dempsey is willing to fight in any part of Europe if paid a high enough sum. In the meantime it seems that there is no possibility of Mr. Cochran agreeing to the fight being staged in America.

YANK TREBLE.

Moore, Lewis and Griffiths Win at the Albert Hall.

More particulars are now to hand of the Albert Hall boxing on Boxing night, and to the victories of Lewis and Griffiths, reported in our last issue, must be added that of Pal Moore.

The American stable thus brought off a treble, all winning before the full number of rounds had been boxed.

Lewis was a disappointment at long-range fighting, but he was sufficiently master of Matt Wells to cause the old Lynn man to retire for the first time in his career. Possibly the presence of Basham had something to do with Lewis' restraint at long-range work.

Griffiths is a good man, and outclassed Charles. Enthusiasts will flock to his next fight.

The Moore-Criqui contest was the best of the three. The Frenchman was the better boxer, as we have been taught to understand boxing, but Moore sometimes scored at the rate of three to one. Moore was warned several times for hitting with the open glove. Criqui in the fourteenth round claimed that he had been hit low, and as his appeal was ignored he retired at the end of the session.

REEVE'S RETURN.

His Chances in his fight with Billy Wells.

In view of the meeting of Billy Wells and Harry Reeve on Jan. 27th, the question being asked is:—Will Reeve go the way of most of Wells' English opponents? He does not think so himself, and makes no secret of faith in his ability to beat the ex-champion. I was talking to Reeve yesterday, and he got going on form. "Take," said he, "my fight with Beckett as a guide. I only had one leg to stand on, yet managed to prevent him doing me any damage to speak of, and moreover, I put him on the floor once for nine seconds. Then the wound in my leg opened, and I had to hold out my hand for the first time in my life.

"Now, I think you will agree that Wells did not make nearly such a good show against the Southampton man." It is an old saying that comparisons are odious, and it is also true that collateral form in boxing is often misleading, but one must admit on the evidence as given by Reeve that he has a splendid chance of defeating Wells on January 27.

WHAT COGHILL SAYS.

Gordon Coghill, the Australian, stated at the Albert Hall on Friday that he wants to meet Goddard again. "I will bet him another century that he can't repeat his victory," he said. "I don't want to make any excuses," he continued, "but I feel sure I would not have lost my strength as I did had I fed a couple of hours later.

"You see, I was due to enter the ring at ten o'clock according to the articles, and it was 11.30 before the fight began. I would have given anything for a drink of champagne in the fourth round when I felt my strength going."

Olympic Boxing Events.

Boxing is to be included in the Olympic Games at Antwerp next year. The weights that have been agreed upon are: Fly, bantam, feather, light, welter, middle, and light-heavy.

NORTHERN UNION.

Swinton	3	Barrow	8
Batley	9	Leigh	9
Bramley	9	St Helens Recreation	2
Bradford	0	Huddersfield	23
Broughton Rangers	15	St. Helens	0
Hunslet	0	Dewsbury	21
*York	3	Hull	3
Hull Kingston R.	0	Widnes	3
Halifax	0	Leeds	2
Rochdale	25	Oldham	2
Wigan	4	Warrington	15
Wakefield Trinity	16	Keighley	0

*Abandoned at half-time.

Army defeated.

Corinthians	7	Army	2

KEEN LOCAL GAMES.

52nd Manchesters Win Northern Bde. Competition.

HIGH SCORING.

At the present time there is no dearth of football in Rhineland and during the week-end several keenly contested games were decided.

One of the principal matches was the final of the Northern Brigade Knock-out Competition, which after a keen struggle was won by the 52nd Manchesters.

52nd MANCHESTERS 4
52nd KINGS LIVERPOOLS 1.

Before approximately 1,500 spectators these teams met to decide the final of the Northern Bde. Knock-out Competition on the Hofgarten, Bonn. The weather was overcast, but fair, while the ground was on the soft side. Intense excitement prevailed among the rival supporters of the opposing teams.

Although the Liverpools pressed at the commencement it was soon evident that the Manchesters would not allow them to have things all their own way. It was the left wing of the King's which was causing anxiety. Atkinson, the "Merseysider's" outside right, put in a very neat shot, but Tinney hesitated and missed a good opportunity. C.Q.M.S. Tinney later made two valiant attempts to open the scoring but failed.

THE FIRST GOAL.

The first goal came as a result of the bad state of the ground; Tyler stumbled when about to clear and Lieut. Lewis (King's) nipped in and scored. This reverse put the Mancunians on their mettle; they attacked with determination and equalised three minutes later through Chadwick, centre forward. At this stage the game underwent a decided change and little doubt was left in the minds of the spectators but that the Manchester men would win. Time and again they put in excellent shots which might easily have resulted in goals but for the remarkably fine display of "keeping" by Beatty. With only five minutes to go before the interval Chadwick, after a scrambling effort, again got through and the half-time total was:—52nd Manchester 2; 52nd Liverpool Regt. 1;

GREAT KEENNESS.

Roughly three thousand spectators had assembled when the game was resumed. Both sides showed the utmost keenness, and it was evident that it was going to be a fight to the finish. Play continued for the majority of the time in the King's half and Beatty many times rose to the occasion in fine style. The Manchesters third goal was registered by Price, who converted a very neat pass from Blackstone.

An infringement of the rules enabled Donnelly, who took the free kick, to add goal No. 4, the last of the match. In the later stages the Liverpools were quite outplayed and the Manchesters deserved their victory.

Final score:—52nd Manchester 4; 52nd Kings Liverpools 1.

Among the outstanding players was Beatty, who saved his side from a much heavier defeat; Harrison, who well maintained his reputation for smartness; Tinney, who is an excellent forward, very fast and possessing a powerful kick; Scholfield was very sound in defence; Chadwick showed a return to his true form and did useful work, and Price, who, in spite of his lack of weight, made some fine individual runs.

TWO HAT TRICKS.

Inniskilling Dragoons heavily Trounce B.A.C. Rhine Garrison.

At Westhoven in the first round of the Rhine Garrison Cup, played before a large crowd, the B.A.C. met with defeat at the hands of the fine Cavalry side. The game commenced by the B.A.C. kicking off and except for a blob attack in the first few minutes of the game by the Column forwards, which was met by the cool and collected Inniskilling defence, the B.A.C. remained on the defensive.

The scoring opened through Sgt. Bennett who dribbled close into the goal and beat the goal-keeper with a fine shot. The second point was scored by Keys, the third by Southwell, the fourth by Bennett, the fifth by Southwell, sixth by Bennett, and the seventh by Southwell, some very fine runs by Sgt. Vince put the opponents' defence in a complete mist, this player being faultlessly fed throughout the game by the Cavalry's little right-half.

The Cavalry left-half also played a great part in the victory by the hemming-in of the Column's outside-right, who is undoubtedly a class winger, and had he been better partnered some scoring would have accrued. Of the Cavalry forwards Sgt. Bennett was easily the best.

REMARKABLE SCORING.

Con. Camp score eight goals in twenty minutes.

On the Pola-Wiesen ground, on Xmas morning, the Rhine Concentration Camp and No. 2. C.C.S. met in a friendly encounter; what was expected to be an interesting game, turned out a poor and very one-sided match. However, although the "Con. Camp" pressed throughout, half-time arrived with no score; this being chiefly due to a strong cross wind, which made combination almost impossible.

The second half opened with a general assault on the "Medics" goal, but the "Con. Camp" could do everything but score. However, when Cpl. Bond opened the scoring for the "Con. Camp" with a low shot in the corner of the net, the "Medicals" seemed to collapse, and in 20 mins. eight goals were scored, through Cpl. Boyd 3, L/C Thompson 2, Jebb 1, Clark 1, and Green completed the scoring, while the C.C.S. stood appealing for offside. Nothing further occurred, and the "Con. Camp" won by eight clear goals.

redeem

Jimmy McPher cted. the popular Newcastl in Holland acting

Creedy has been appointe R. H. Brade as Permanent ry to the War Office.

RUGBY REVIVAL.

The France v. Scotland Match on New Year's Day.

STRONG FIFTEENS.

Followers of Rugby in all countries where the sport is familiar are making no effort to disguise their gratification at the fact that the regrettable dispute of 1913 in connection with the match between France and Scotland has so far blown over that the international matches are to be revived.

The great international is to take place in Paris on New Year's day, and it is stated that M. Paul Deschanel, President of the Chamber of Deputies, will in his official capacity be present. This fact shows a new spirit by the French Government for the encouragement of sport and emphasises the importance of the match.

Scotland's team, on paper, looks distinctly useful, including as it does no fewer than seven old "caps." These are A. T. Sloan and A. W. Angus in the three quarter line; J. H. Hume and A. S. Hamilton, halves; A. D. Laing; C. M. Usher and A. Wemyss, forward.

The French Team.

The French team will be very different from that which was so easily disposed of by New Zealand when the players were chosen from the Army only and not, as is the case in the international, from the whole of France. As a matter of fact only two members of the former team will be included on Thursday.

Here in Germany, the liveliest interest is being taken in the match, and many enthusiasts will spare no efforts in endeavouring to be present.

A writer points out the absurdity of the rules governing the eligibility of players, pointing out that Dr. I. C. Fanmy, the former Edinburgh University half back, who is to play in the Scottish three quarter line, has already played in a Welsh Rugby Union trial this year.

BILLIARDS.

Champion Returns to Form in Victory Tourney.

On Saturday in the fourth heat of the victory billiards tournament at Burroughs Hall, Inman displayed considerable improvement on recent form in his match against Reece. From the commencement of the match, which was one of 16,000 up, Inman steadily reduced the 1,500 which he conceded his opponent, and won by 499. The final scores were:—

Inman 16,000
Reece 15,501

Breaks Inman:—103, 138, 257, 207.
Reece:—157, 211, 112, 123, 100, 151.

At Thurston the scores were:—

Newman... 7,000
Falkiner... 4,468

Breaks Newman:—280, 140, 116, 145, 163, 216, 107.
Falkiner:—249, 237, 110, 274.

ENGLISH RACING.

Good Time for Backers at Kempton.

The Kempton Park holiday fixture, which concluded on Saturday, was little short of a backers' paradise, seeing that every race yielded a result profitable to the majority of the punters.

It was quite a well-balanced card with no dull intervals for walk-overs such as have been experienced of late. Every winner was an easy one at the finish, but that between Matruh and Killigray was an evenly fought-out contest between the pair practically from the start, the remainder being easily beaten off quite early.

Matruh was attempting something very big in trying to give 31lb. to his younger Weyhill rival, and as well as he struggled up to a couple of furlongs from home he had to rest content with second honours.

King's Carol merely had to hack-canter the last half a mile to win the Sunbury 'Chase, as three of his opponents had fallen and the other two, L.B. and Cresley, were some distance behind. The latter gave his usual sorry display, and there is no doubt the early speed of the winner carried him off his legs.

Results.

Waterloo Selling 'Chase.—Wee Sandy (8—13), 1; Our Boy (5—1), 2; The Admiralty 3—1), 3. Three ran.

Chiswick Hurdle.—Llanthony (5—4 on), 1; Dismount (100—8), 2; Flaming Fire (3—1), 3.

Sunbury 'Chase.—King's Carol (2—1). 1; L.B. (10—1), 2; Cresley (2—1), 3.

Twickenham Hurdle.—Killigray (7—4), 1; Matruh (7—4), 2; Cricket (7—1), 3.

Shepperton 'Chase.—Martes (evens), 1; South Lodge (11—10), 2.

Mortlake Hurdle.—Eston Jetty (7—4), 1; Last Born (5—4 on), 2; Priority (10—1), 3.

WOLVERHAMPTON.

Stockwell Hurdle.—Joffrette (10—1), 1; West (evens), 2; Brunswick (10—1), 3.

Open Three Y.O. Hurdle.—Merry Aldford 5—2), 1; Charioteer (7—2), 2; Gavrelle (9—2), 3.

Wolverhampton Hurdle.—Jenny Jones (6—5 on), 1; Vanitie (7—2), 2; Pennent (8—1), 3.

Staunton Handicap 'Chase.—Warbine (9—4 on), 1; Birvani (3—1), 2.

Staveley 'Chase.—Copper Hill (6—4 on), 1; Ballymendel (3—1), 2; Free Gift (10—1), 3.

Dunstall Park 'Chase.—Cyrill's Hope (evens), 1; Great Crime (5—1), 2; Wild Cat (6—1), 3.

LEOPARDSTOWN.

Three-Y.O. Optional Selling Hurdle.—Young Brian (5—4 on), 1; Castanea (20—1), 2; Fealty (100—8), 3; 15 ran.

Handicap Hurdle Race.—Navan Boy (10—1), 1; Red Spider (10—1), 2; Fethernay (5—1), 3. 9 ran.

Leopardstown Steeplechase.—St. Pam (10—1), 1; Serpolette (10—1), 2; Picture Saint 4—1), 3; 11 ran.

Tower Selling Handicap Steeplechase.—Captain Scott 6—4), 1; Craganock (50—1), 2; Gallant Tipp (5—4), 3; 5 ran.

St. Stephen's Handicap Steeplechase.—Clonree (5—2), 1; Ocean Star (4—1), 2; Long Lough (4—1), 3. 8 ran.

AMUSEMENTS AND RECREATIONS.

Sunday Concert.

Operatic selections, well chosen and admirably rendered by members of the Opera House, were the chief features of the usual Sunday concert at the Deutsches Theatre. The ever popular Wanda Achsel charmed her hearers with her magnificent soprano voice. She included in her number Hans Hermann's beautiful "Legende," "Csardas" from "Fledermaus" by Strauss, and the duet from "Mignon" in the latter her voice blending perfectly with that of Karl Renner. The latter, too, contributed several solo items with customary power and technical perfection. Therese Pott was a new-comer who scored a distinct success with her pianoforte solos. Her playing was marked by wonderful precision and a thorough sense of the dramatic. The programme was judiciously relieved by four numbers in English, in submitting which Lieut. Norman Ingall, R.E., revealed the possession of a baritone voice of exceptional richness and range. The accompanists were Mary Jansen and Arthur Engel, both of whom did their work sympathetically.

Amusements and Refreshments.

I hear that negotiations are in progress between the Amusements Office and the N.A.C.B. with the object of the latter taking over the provision of refreshments—liquid and otherwise—at the Deutsches Theatre and the Skating Rink. The innovation, if it should materialise, will be hailed with the greatest satisfaction by devotees of both places. As it is at present one may go into the bar at the Deutsches and order either sherry, vermouth or port, and be served with the identical drink taken from rows of glasses of mysterious fluid tactfully prepared before the doors are opened.

A Chance for budding Thespians.

If there are any budding Robeys or Vesta Tilleys among you people in the Rhine Army, roll up to the Amusements Office and enlist your services for the great pantomime, in connection with which rehearsals commence to-morrow. Already the principal characters for Robinson Crusoe, which is the pantomime in question, have been cast, but there are big deficiencies in the minor parts and the chorus. Captain Haygarth will be very pleased to receive names of volunteers.

"Loud Laughter."

We have often heard from the lips of those cheery people whose business it is to administer to our entertainment requirements the expression "Pulling the house down." Seldom, however, is the achievement performed literally. At the Palace Theatre on Saturday night, Corporal Ellis created such a great burst of laughter that a large chunk of the ceiling fell in. Fortunately nobody was hurt by the incident and the resourceful comedian did not fail to grasp an opportunity to make witty references anent earthquakes.

Christmas Panto.

Bookings for the Inniskilling Dragoons, Pantomime "Aladdin", which is to be produced at the Metropol theatre on the 1st of January, have been enormous. It was announced in these columns a day or two ago that the evening performance on Saturday Jan. 3rd would be dispensed with and that a matinee only would be given on that day. Owing to the big demand for seats it has now been decided to give an evening performance.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Tues.	Tannhäuser	Wagner	6	10
Wed.	Barbier von Sevilla	Rossini	6.30	9.30
Thurs.	The Woman without Shadow	Strauss	6	10.5
Fri.	Hansel und Gretel	Humperdinck	6	8
Sat.	Die Zauberflöte	Mozart	7	10.30
Sun.	Lobetanz	Thuile	7	9.30
Mon.	Tales of Hoffmann	Offenbach	7	10
Tues.	Tristan und Isolde	Wagner	6	10.45

"Etceteras" Concert Party.

A delightful concert was given on Sunday evening at the British Empire Leave Club by Madame Bertha Moore, O.B.E., and the "Etceteras" Concert Party. Many were turned away; even standing room was not possible.

The Concert opened with a piano solo rendered by Mr. Robert Elkins. Violin solos were played by Miss Dorothy Brooks with great brilliance of execution. Madame Bertha Moore and Miss Marjorie Moore sang some delightful duets, one of which, "Le Coeur de ma Mie," especially appealed to the audience.

The Prologue to "Pagliacci" was beautifully sung by Mr. Colin Ashdown, who gave "Homing" as an encore. Three recitations by Miss Marjorie Moore gave much enjoyment and caused much mirth and merriment. Mr. Hugh Sidthorpe thoroughly mystified his audience with his wonderful skill as a conjuror.

At the close of the Concert Colonel Levey voiced the feeling of the huge audience, and in apt words thanked Madame Bertha Moore and her Concert Party for the most enjoyable evening they had so kindly given.

The Deutsches.

Doubtless owing to the numberless counter-attractions in Cologne, the remarkably fine production at the Deutsches Theatre, "The Knight of the Burning Pestle," did not come in for the amount of support and patronage it demands and deserves, at the initial performances.

On Friday night, however, I found a full house and it was at once evident that there were not two opinions as to the merit of the performance. Rarely have I seen Deutsche's audiences more enthusiastic and appreciative and those who have been fortunate enough to enjoy some of the B. R. A. D. C's most popular productions will have some idea of the manner in which the play was received.

The style of this play has been previously dealt with in these columns and all it is necessary for me to say is that the execution was in every particular beyond reproach. There is a wealth of colour, the costumes being remarkably fine, while the acting would have done credit to a first class London company. A delightful feature of the "Revue" is the singing of Mr. Eric Morgan in the cheery part of Mr. Merrythought, his ditties being wonderfully catchy. Altogether a first class show and one which theatre lovers cannot afford to miss. The "Knight of the Burning Pestle" will be played each night of this week and I prophecy for it a run of exceptional success.

JACQUES.

HUGE LEAGUE "GATES."

Football Ever Increasing in Popularity.

The attendances at Saturday's League football matches in England and Wales were remarkable, and the aggregate of 628,000 spectators for the 32 matches of the First, Second, and Southern Leagues is easily a record for any single day.

Many grounds were taxed to the utmost, and at Tottenham the gates had to be closed before the game started and when there were still thousands outside—although 50,000 had been admitted.

To relieve the congestion on the terraces, many spectators were allowed to jump the fence and take up positions along the touch-line. There were 45,000 spectators on the Liverpool ground, and they got out of hand and crowded the enclosure to such an extent that the police had to clear the touch-line to enable Chedgzoy to take a corner kick.

There were 361,000 spectators at the 11 First League games, 151,000 at the 10 Second League games, and 116,000 at the 11 Southern League games. The attendance of 25,000 at West Ham was the record for the season, and the drawings were £1,980. Several First League "gates" during the past week have exceeded £3,000.

H.Q. KNOCK-OUT COMPETITION.

The knock-out competition for H.Q Troops teams is creating considerable interest among local "soccer" enthusiasts. At a conference at G.H.Q. on Saturday over which Major Morgan presided, the draw for the first round of the competition was decided. The matches which are to take place on Wednesday next will be as follows:—

Teams.	Referee.
20 M. A. C. v. R.A.S.C.	Cpl. Aggus, C.P.O.
R.E. Signals v. Vets Remounts	Cpl. Young, C.P.O.
C.P.O. v. Police	S.M. Aston 4th F.S.B
R.N. Flotilla v. R.A.M.C.	S.M. Warran A.B. and S.S.
R.A.F. v. R.A.L.C.	Sgt. Chamberlain F Corps Signal Coy.
G.H.Q. v. Labour Coy.	S.M. Whelan, Military Governors Office.
Transportation v. V.R.P.	S.M. Dogg 140 Fd. Amb.
Siege Park v. Tanks.	Pte. Day, M.T. Depot.

HEADQUARTERS LEAGUE.

Vetty and Remounts	1	G.H.Q.	1
V.R.P.	7	Tanks	1
R. E. Signals	3	Pay Office	1
Police	1	Transportation	1
R.A.F.	3	Siege Park	2

MILLWALL'S LATEST.

James Hodge, of Manchester United, arrived in London on Boxing-day, and in the afternoon turned out for Millwall Athletic, who had secured his transfer from the Old Trafford club. The fee was not disclosed, but it is understood to be four figures.

OUR COMPETITION.

Falling off in No. 14 contest.

The competition now under adjudication has, as was to be expected, fallen much below the usual total but now that the Christmas festivities are over we see no reason why the entries should not again reach a high level.

On Saturday we again had surprises and on the coupon matches one of the biggest upsets of the day was down to be forecasted. This was the defeat of Watford at Southampton and this result has floored the great majority of competitors. Six home teams won and three draws were effected while the only away winner was Kilmarnock who Prought about the downfall of Queen park at Hampden Park Glasgow.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—

FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 15,
"Cologne Post,"
A.P.O./S. 40 Rhine Army.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 15.

Date of matches, Saturday, Jan. 3rd.
Closing date, Friday, Jan. 2nd.

Blackburn	v. W. Bromwich
Bradford City	v. Bradford
Arsenal	v. Manchester C.
S. Shields	v. Hull City
Bristol C.	v. Birmingham
Fulham	v. Stoke
Stockport	v. Tottenham
Northampton	v. Crystal Palace
Third Lanark	v. Airdrieonians
Kilmarnock	v. Ayr

I enter Football Competition No. 15 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions already announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed _____
(In block letters.)

Rank and No. _____

Unit _____

Full Address _____

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

All Indoors.

I do not remember seeing Cologne so quiet as it appeared about 10 o'clock in the morning of Christmas Day. The neighbourhood of the Dom was fairly busy but many of the main streets were deserted.

Father Rhine.

The Rhine is certainly in full flood now. The clock tower arrangement just below the Suspension Bridge seems to have reached its limit and in its endeavours to go one better came to grief. The whole of the roadway from the Hohenzollern Bridge to the Docks entrance is flooded to a depth of over a foot.

Tram Service held up.

The service of trams from Cologne to Bonn is restricted. Owing to the floods the trams are only able to reach the Docks just by Filzengraben. The No. 14 Car Service which usually runs up to the Dom and on to Nippes from just by the Hohenzollern Bridge can now only get as far as Rosenstrasse, and is in imminent danger of being stopped altogether as the Rodenkirchen end is under water.

Cut off.

The N.A.C.B. canteen at the Staplehaus is rapidly becoming an island. Entrance can still be gained from the back, although the river is still rising and threatens to entirely surround it. Two W.A.A.C. officers reached it on Sunday by means of an antiquated boat.

Worse at Sea.

A row boat is being used by the Rhine Flotilla to bring officers and men ashore. One thing the flood has done is to relieve the sentry who usually stands outside the Flotilla Headquarters, so it's an ill wind that blows nobody any good.

On the Front.

The inhabitants of the old houses on the Rhine front clustered round the Rathaus are having a very bad time. The water is as high as the first floor windows of some of these houses, which are unfortunately below the level of the roadway in a hollow.

Higher Up.

At Rodenkirchen many houses situated at the lower end of those streets running down towards the Rhine are under water to a depth of about six feet, the ground floor rooms in many cases being entirely under water.

Gone to Pastures New.

I hear of an officers' mess in a cafe on the other side of the Rhine which is now entirely surrounded, and left to its fate.

Wasted Labour.

Many hours of labour spent on the allotments on the eastern bank of the river are now fruitless. The turbulent Rhine is flowing over them.

Over the Road.

Two or three tugs moored at the Docks entrance are showing a tendency to come to rest on the tramlines. It seemed strange to see a small motor boat darting among the shipping on a level with the roadway, and boys boating over the surface of the road.

The Oberlander Ufer.

Along practically the whole length of the Oberlander Ufer the Rhine overflowed to the roadway. Gangways were to be seen resting on the top of the railings which border this part of the river and roadway.

Hung up.

By the irony of fate a large paddle steamer named the "Stadt Koeln" became wedged beneath the Suspension bridge, and it became necessary to remove part of the funnel and the upper structure to prevent her from poking through the bridge. She had been moored directly under the bridge.

"Hawkeye" in a new Role.

A noticeable character at the British Empire Leave Club Fancy Dress ball on Christmas Eve, was "Hawkeye", whose articles are well known to my readers. He was charmingly attired in a 17th century costume.

"COLOGNE POST" CELEBRITIES. VII. "RURAL."

Gone from him.

The spectacle of an immaculate top hat floating down the Rhine would probably be very amusing to all but the unfortunate owner. The hat in question became detached from a portly bourgeois, and his language, to say the very least of it, was vitriolic. It happened on the Sud Brucke.

Printer's Errors.

A striking example of the difficulty of producing a British paper, using foreign compositors who know no English, is afforded on p. 31 of our souvenir number. There, at the foot of the photographs of the B.R.A.D.C., is one line which was sent down late and escaped the proof-readers. One line, and it contains five or six printer's errors. In our everyday paper there are, say, some 3000 lines! Our proof readers do not do so badly, nicht wahr?

Charity.

The men of the 205th Divisional Employment Company have contributed two sums of £61.4s and 3,433 marks to "John Bull's" "Greatest of These" fund.

Early Mass.

In addition to the Cathedral there was High Mass at 4 a.m. in practically every city church on Christmas Day. A British officer, his wife and children were the only representatives of the A. of O. in one crowded church.

Deserted.

That popular summer resort, the Wald, at Königsforst, is no longer patronised on Sunday afternoons by gay parties of civilians. Chancing to be in that direction on Sunday, I could not help noticing how lonely it seemed after a comparison with the summer months.

A Misinterpretation.

An example of simplicity rather hard to beat was shown in a cafe. Two soldiers were about to leave, and one of them, finding himself out of cash, tendered a cheque payable on Messrs. Cook's. It was good for some sixty odd marks. But the fraulein, suspecting some catch, immediately upon reading the words thereon, exclaimed, "Ah, no; you try to twist me. This paper is only from the cook-house for food."

Decoration Afloat.

Traffic on the Rhine was suspended on Christmas Day, and many tugs with their flocks of barges were moored by the docks. Some pretty effects were to be seen, many of the tugs and barges having Christmas trees decorated with the usual ornaments and tied to the bowsprit. The motor launches of the Rhine Flotilla were similarly decorated.

Up from the Country.

Cologne was reminiscent of London during Bank Holiday days. The ubiquitous German business man was missing, most of the people one met being of the country cousin type, typical of the class who flock to London to see it when it is quiet. One portly frau I saw seemed to be having a busy time of it keeping an eye on her offspring of three sturdy lads.

Who'd go a Motoring?

Despite heavy rain a party started off light-heartedly from Cologne with the idea of proceeding beyond Bonn. All went well until, having missed the road, the driver found himself well into a ploughed field with the car sunk to the axles in the mud. After great difficulty the car was extricated, but progress had not been made very far when one of the tyres was punctured. Of course, there were no spares, and it was a very muddy bespattered party that eventually resumed the journey. At last Bonn was reached but, in the middle of the traffic, one of the back wheels parted company! The trip was completed in a taxi-cab.

The Irish Situation.

An Irish officer recently demobbed, writing from Belfast, says that in that corner of Ireland there is no sign of unrest. "People are immersed in business, and politics are submerged here at present," he writes. "This is not for lack of interest but rather because the Sinn Fein activities have made the people here more determined than ever to stand by their old war cries."

RHINELANDER.

FROM EVERYWHERE.

More Money.—Lads are leaving Lancashire cotton mills for the mines.

The Record.—A bull scaling 1¼ tons was sold at Hitchin market.

A Western Tip.—Roast chestnut stalls are now a familiar sight in Tokio.

Out.—Glasgow taxi and cab drivers have struck for increased wages.

Gone.—Fire has destroyed Marseilles railway station.

Existence.—An old lady has spent fifty years of her life in a Putney hospital.

Terrible End.—A Birmingham lay brother was digging a grave when the sides collapsed and he was suffocated.

Slow But Sure.—Up to Dec. 1st work had been commenced on 3,005 houses in Great Britain.

Cheerful.—Sir Ross Smith is in the heart of Australia with his plane badly out of gear.

Our Share.—Seven former German liners in New York harbour are to be turned over to the British.

No Collectors.—The first strike of insurance agents in the country has just taken place.

Service of Peace.—For the first time since 1914, Christmas High Mass was celebrated at Rheims Cathedral.

After a Month.—Two men have been arrested at Nottingham in connection with the thefts of Army flannel.

In Paris.—For the first time since the war the ex-Empress Eugenie has visited the French capital.

Council's Advice.—West Ham council have advised all employees to join a trade union.

All Gone.—Mr. Creswell, the well-known oarsman has had practically all his silver cups stolen.

The Bag.—Ratcatchers employed by Herts County Council killed 5,600 rats in two months.

The Premier's Christmas.—Mr. Lloyd George spent his Christmas at his Welsh home.

His Resting Place.—The body of Captain Howell has been buried beneath a mountain on an Ionian island.

Inconvenient.—The French military train known as the "Entente Express" is held up on the Arberg Pass by snow.

Prince and the Guards.—The Prince of Wales gained his Military Cross when serving with the Welsh Guards. He is to preside at the opening dinner of their Club.

Re-united.—Not for many years has there been so complete a gathering of members of the Royal Family as at Christmas this year.

Home Reminders.—It is said that 18 months will be required to complete the distribution of 260,857 scrolls in memory of soldiers.

Nature Tames the Deer.—The worst snowstorm for 30 years in U.S.A. has forced the deer to beg their food from the inhabitants.

Dearer Drunk Fines.—Fines for drunks now cost fifty per cent. more at Clerkenwell. There were 33 cases there on Boxing day.

Old Inmates.—Fifteen women whose combined ages totalled 1200 years were present at Norwich Workhouse Christmas festivities.

FOR BUSINESS MEN IN RHINELAND.

CHRISTMAS SLUMP.

As was to be expected, all commercial men who found it possible, tried to get away for Christmas, with the result that things have been pretty quiet in and around Cologne during the past week. Mr. Lee, who represents Flights, Ltd., is in London and hopes to be back early next month, whilst a number of other English people are making an even shorter stay "over there."

TEXTILE FAIR AT KOENIGSBERG.

A Textile Sample Fair is to take place at Koenigsberg next February, and all preparations, it is stated, are well advanced. Many firms from Berlin, Breslau and Stettin have already taken stands. The following branches are represented:—Men and Women's Ready-made Clothing, Fur Hat and Cap Manufacturers, Curtain and Carpet Manufacturers and Dealers, Woollen, Cotton and Linen Manufacturers, and all kinds of Sewing Machines. The office of the Fair is at Kneiph. Langg. 14, Koenigsberg.

GERMAN PROPERTY IN BRITAIN.

According to statements obtained from the Public Trustee, the British Government holds property to the value of nearly £121,500,000 belonging to enemies whereas British subjects own nearly £65,000,000 worth of property in the late enemy countries. Besides this, more than £15,000,000 is owing by persons in the United Kingdom to persons in Germany, Austria and Hungary, Bulgaria, and Turkey; while the debts due from such persons to creditors in Gt. Britain exceed £76,000,000. The following table gives particulars:

IMPORTED DYES PETITION.

The petition presented to the Prime Minister by the Chemical Trade Association, urging the sale of imported German dyestuffs on the open market, in small parcels, and the representation on the licensing committee of the smaller makers and users and the merchants is "under consideration." The petition was signed by thoroughly representative members of the textile industries and other users of dyes.

THE ENGINEERING INDUSTRY.

All branches of the electrical engineering industry are enjoying exceptional activity. Inquiries for new lighting installations indicate a still greater pressure in the near future, when building becomes general. Widespread prosperity is reflected in the remarkable call during December for lighting and heating equipment.

Careful observation in several quarters indicates that wooden packing cases offer the best protection to consignments, both as to weather and pilferage.

GERMAN IMPORT DUTIES.

A new German law authorizes the Finance Minister to decree the temporary suspension of the law of July 21, relating to the payment of duties in gold, and empowers that Minister to decree that the provision in the first paragraph of Article 269 of the Peace Treaty, regarding the levying of the most favourable rates of duty in force on July 31, 1914, on imports into Germany is to be applied even before the coming into force of the Peace Treaty. With a view to avoid hardships the Minister may also in certain cases dispense with the "agio" leviable according to sections 1 and 2 of the proclamation under the law of July 21, 1919, relating to the payment of duties in gold. In accordance with this new law the Finance Minister has issued a proclamation suspending as from December 12 until further notice the payment of duties in gold and applying forthwith to goods of any origin the most favourable rates of duty in force on July 31, 1914.

WINTER PHOTOGRAPHY.

BY W. ROBERT PATTERSON, F.R.G.S.

I have lately seen many examples of snowy landscape photographs, and was quite pleased with the effects of light and shade they produced.

I am afraid, however, that many of our spring and summer enthusiasts have put their cameras aside until the sun shall cast more brilliant rays upon the scenes we have about us. This is a great mistake, for winter photographs are as charming as any others.

Germany, like Switzerland, Scotland, Russia and the Scandinavian countries, presents ideal scenery for winter photographic work. It seems, from meteorological forecasts, that we are to have a real winter here and I would advise all keen photographers to be prepared. Apart from the value as a souvenir the print may have an artistic worth, and, as I have said in former articles, a pretty picture is a thing to be cherished.

When the snow is thick enough I should advise a visit to that splendid forest known as the Königsforst. I have already seen it enveloped in a mantle of snow and can vouch for its charm. There you will discover alleys and lanes, trees and shrubs, brooks and ditches, and vast stretches of picturesque open land. And if these are mantled in the snowiest of snow, you may ask for no more suitable scenery for your efforts.

Now, should the light be rather strong, use a yellow screen and make your exposure longer, or the reflection of light from the snow will fog your plate and you will be disappointed in the result. Also notice that a forest of heavily snow-covered trees presents as little light as if it were decked in foliage, and the question of exposure must therefore be considered.

One must not be hasty in these things. Now that the Lumière colour-plates have appeared in Cologne, here is an occasion to review your scenes in their natural tints. They are, of course, more expensive than ordinary plates, but the results are well worth the extra outlay. I have recently taken a few photographs in colour and these may be seen by any reader of the "Cologne Post" who may be interested in this branch of the art, on application to the editor. Photography may become a great help to all inasmuch as it teaches one to observe.

One learns something of the values of light and shade, and in colour photography one discovers how intense a shade may prove to be. For instance, the shadow under a tree, in certain lights, will be more appreciated, as regards its colour effect, in a colour photograph, than if seen in ordinary circumstances. There is a deep indigo in such shadows.

In such cases photography teaches us the values of the various tints to be found in Nature, and also causes us to observe much that we otherwise might have missed.

VOLUNTARY EDUCATION CLASSES.

The popular Voluntary Classes (Educational) held at the Army College and discontinued December 15th, 1919, are to be opened again on Monday, January 12th.

They will include Lectures in English Literature, Lectures in Economics and Civics, Shorthand, French.

A Time Table will be published in the course of a few days.

All ranks and British civilians are cordially invited to take advantage of these classes.

LIBRAIRIE HACHETTE

Modern Language Publishers, etc.
LONDON: 18 King William Street, Charing Cross W.C.

	s. d.
Public School German Grammar, with Exercises, Composition, Conversation, Lists of Verbs and full Vocabularies. 434 pages - - - - - - - - - net	3.6
——Key to Same - - - - - - - net	3.0
First German Book.—Grammar. Conversation, Readings, etc., with Vocabularies. 184 pages - - - - - - - - - net	1.0
——Key to Same - - - - - - - net	2.6
Practical Lessons in German Conversation (German Towns, Railways, Steamboats, Theatres, Newspapers, Anecdotes, etc.) (Dr. Meissner, M.A.) 264 pages net	2.6
New English and German Dialogues, for Travellers and Students. 230 pages net	1.6
Hier spricht man Deutsch. Pocket Conversation Manual - - - - - net	0.6
Pictures of German Life. Stories from Contemporary German Authors, with English Notes - - - - - - - - net	1.6

The above can be obtained through, and Catalogues seen at, the "Cologne Post" Bookshop Arcade, Hohestrasse, Cologne.

SPARKES HALL

308 REGENT ST. LONDON W.
and
4. AVENUE FRIEDLAND, Paris
ROOM 71, DISCH HOTEL
Brückenstr. COLOGNE
(Next Door to N.A.C.B. Canteen)

FIELD, HUNTING & POLO BOOTS

Hand-Sewn Field Boots, Civilian Boots, Shoes and Pumps made to order and delivered to Germany in 18 days or in England in 10 days.

FOR SALE

BEAUTIFUL DWELLING HOUSE near FOREST.

Built in 1910—11, massive, in quiet and healthy position near forest, central heating, electric light and power-gas; municipal water and own water canal system.

Seventeen rooms in addition to kitchen, cellar, laundry, store rooms etc.; 3 servants' rooms; winter garden and terrace, each 185 sq. metres, 6 large bathrooms, garden, lawn adjoining house.

The whole is 13,500 sq. metres, with 120 sq. metres open shed with stables and garage

Price 520,000 Marks

Apply:—Jos. Merten, Hansa Ring, 68 I, Cologne.

The Cologne Post BOOK ROOM

Large stock of books.
Any book obtained from England for you.
Daily, weekly and monthly periodicals of all kinds on the tables.

SPECIAL LADIES ROOM

THE ARCADE, HOHE STRASSE

Exportation Auto Exportation

Phaenomobil

for the conveyance of passengers, a four seat carriage, Model V, a four cylinder motor 6 12 PS.

The most economical and best motor vehicle of the whole world market.
Gives all the comfort of a big car and is an excellent mountain climber.
Most economical in use, everybody can steer it, numerous results in first-class competitions.
To be delivered in about 3 or 4 weeks after being ordered.

Phaenomobil

Purveyor's car. Model LK for maximum 400 Kilos load and 2 drivers, four cylinder motor 6 12 PS.

A well proved and cheap vehicle for transporting purposes of the different industrial businesses, the most type of all small cars.
Can be fitted with trough, platform or box and delivered in about 3 or 4 weeks from date of order.

For further particulars apply to the firm of

Ernest & Otto Schoeller
Cologne, Ubierring 4.

GOLD-FLAKE NAVY-CUT

in big quantities wanted only from importer

A. KATZ

Cigaretten - Großhandlung
Duisburg a./Rhein

For Exporters & Wholesalers

Coutellerie-Cutlery

Pocket knives, Scissors, razors, spoons, forks and knives, safety razors, hair-cutting machines etc.

BAUMANN & Co.
KÖLN, Berlich 43.

Attention! Cheap!

WATCHES

Pocket watches, Wrist watches, alarm clocks

JOSEPH GOLDSTEIN
Cologne, Blindgasse 24

ERMINE SURPLICE

24 skins, 2,56 m. splendid piece for sale. Palmstrasse 11.

Urban's Wine Saloon

(near the 6th Corps Officers' Club)

Under the same management as Club 1

DAILY CONCERT
(by first-class artistes)

First-class Kitchen - Choice Wines

RE-OPENING WEDNESDAY, 31. DEC. 1919

Reserving tables - - - - Telephone A 7766
Separate entrance opposite the Town saving-bank

J. URBAN

Directly opposite the Dom and Main Station.

Special House for Amateur Photography

ANDREAS PILLEN

I. COLOGNE, Deichmannhaus, opposite the Dom & Main Station.
II. COLOGNE, Hohenzollernring 70.
Big depot for Ica, Goerz, Zeiss, Ernemann, & Nettel Cameras.
Projectors and Cinema Apparatus.

AUNTS read The Cologne Post. Send it daily to yours.

CINEMA

Hotel-restaurant with hall for Cinema, 600 to 700 seats, in a much frequented industrial town of the occupied territory, on the right side of the Rhine, for sale, inventory included. Price 500,000 Mks. Mediator refused. Apply to K.N. 1754, Cologne Post, A.P.O.S. 40.

Lead-ore min (claim)

near Solingen,
to be sold by the sole proprietor

Franz Volmer

at Oeventrop (Kr. Arnsberg)

THE COLOGNE POST HOME SUBSCRIPTION FORM

To Subscription Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40 Rhine Army/
I enclose remittance for 20 marks. (From United Kingdom 3/4.)
Please send "The Cologne Post" daily for one month to:

PLEASE WRITE IN BLOCK LETTERS

NAME: .....

ADDRESS: .....

20 MARKS COVERS ALL BRITISH POSSESSIONS

.....

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE

Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O.S. 40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.

PHOTO HOUSE and camera repairing works. Aug. Lang, mechanician of precision. Kl Neugasse 9/11. Always bargains in second-hand binoculars Zeiss-Goertz, Voigtländer & Leitz.

SIX-SEATER open car (45 h.p.) for sale. Complete with tyres and spares, head lamps, hood, etc., upholstered in leather, practically new (1000 miles), guaranteed in perfect condition. Price 100,000 Marks, or near offer. Write Box 351. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

ZEISS-GOERZ Binoculars, 6×30 and 8×, in splendid condition. Pohl, Boisserées tr. 12 I (near Hohenstaufen Bad).

LETTER-STAMPS, post fresh, English Colonies, very rare specimens, for sale. Sale from 10½—1. Jossey Rappaportze, Richterstrasse 45.

IVORY CHESS FIGURES (East Asiatic), beautifully carved, complete set, for sale. Price £200, photo against 10 Mks. Offers under A 462, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

NEW, fashionable gold-ware, and first-class anchor clocks for sale, cheap. Offers to A 463, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

MISCELLANEOUS.

KRAEMER'S Central Translation Office, Theobaldgasse 93, nr. Neumarkt. Business and private transactions, English, French, German, Dutch, correct and quickly.

TO LET.

TWO BEAUTIFUL ROOMS, ground floor, electric light, central heating, bath, use of kitchen, to let. Cologne-Nippes, Simon Meisterstrasse 36, ground floor.

LOST.

BLACK dog, white mark on chest. Answers name of "Snowball." Reward given. Information to C.R.E. Rhine Garrison (3).

IN the vicinity of Deutzer Freiheitstrasse Pocket Wallet, containing paper-money, 8 War Savings Certificates. Anybody returning same to R.F.O. Deutz-Pass will be suitably rewarded. (1)

LOST or stolen, 17, Belvederestrasse, Mungems by member of headquarters, ring Army. No article should be "Lily." 150 Marks and shorter ones officers Mess Mungersdorf.

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 25 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, Dr

"The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

ALL ABOUT SPORT IN RHINELAND ON PAGE 3.

The Cologne Post

A Daily Paper published by the Army of the Rhine.

DO YOU KNOW RHINELANDER? SEE "ECHOES" ON PAGE 4.

No. 233. COLOGNE, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1919. Price 50 Pfg.

PHOENIX PARK SHOOTING.

IDENTITY OF THE CIVILIAN ASSAILANT ESTABLISHED.

SEAMAN CHARGED WITH MURDER.

DUBLIN OUTRAGE.

DEAD ASSAILANT IDENTIFIED.

The civilian killed in the shooting affray in Phoenix Park has been identified as Paurence Parey, of Lucan, a popular resort outside Dublin.

Parey is reported to have been recently treated in hospital for injuries to his head.

The following account of the shooting from an authoritative source:

Lieut. Boast and three soldiers were reconnoitring in the Viceregal grounds, and hearing shots in the park went out by the Phoenix gate and walked down the main road.

When opposite the polo ground they met a civilian with a bandage round his head. They challenged him when a few yards away, but he still advanced.

When Lieut. Boast went up to him the civilian caught him by the throat, and while the two were struggling a shot was fired. The soldiers then fired at the civilian, who fell. The officer fell shortly afterwards, and one of the soldiers went to his assistance. The other two soldiers said they heard further shots, and saw civilians on the other side of the road. They fired at them, and they immediately dispersed.

LIEUT. BOAST'S RECORD.

Lieut. Fred W. Boast was one of a family of soldiers with a proud record in the South Lancashire Regiment. Born in the regiment in Ireland, he joined it as a drummer-boy about seven years ago, and, like his father, rose to commissioned rank. He went to the front as soon as he was of age and gained his commission for conspicuous service in the field in the great push last year. His father, Major Sidney Boast, M.C., D.C.M., served during the war with the 4th Lancashire. David Boast, brother of the officer killed is a drummer-boy in the same regiment. One uncle, John Boast, was killed at the front, and another is Capt. Sidney Boast, M.C.

SHAMEFUL CASE.

FATHER AND SON'S WIFE.

"As shameful a case on the part of a father as I have ever come across," was the comment of Mr. Justice Horridge in granting a decree nisi to Charles E. York, of the 11th Lancers.

Mr. York cited his father as co-respondent, and neither the wife nor her father-in-law, who were stated to be living in Paradise-road, Clapham, London, appeared to contest the charges.

The husband said he was married in 1915. From January 1916 until March this year he was in the East on active service. When he returned he learned that his wife had had two children.

A sister of the husband said she had often been to her father when he had not paid her mother's money under a separation order, and had seen her brother's wife there.

The Judge: How do you know they are living together?—They live in two rooms and have three children with them, one by my brother and two by my father.

DEAR CLOTHES.

NO REDUCTION IN PROSPECT.

The clothing trade is looking forward to another year of high prices. One trade organization says outright that there is no prospect of cheaper clothing. Delays in delivery are attributed partly to the refusal of the wool combers to work overtime and to the coal strike, which caused dye houses and many mills to close for six or seven weeks. There are those who predict that the price of fine worsted suitings will rise to three pounds per yard.

LORD GREY'S HOMECOMING.

Lord Grey will sail from New York on Jan. 3 on board the "Aquitania," accompanied by his suite. The Hon. Ronald Lindsay will conduct the business of the British Embassy after Lord Grey's departure.

SHIPS RESTORED TO BRITAIN.

By direction of President Wilson seven ex-German ships loaned to the United States after the armistice, namely, the Graf Waldersee, Zeppelin, Pretoria, Cap Finisterre, Mobile, Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm and Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, have been returned to Great Britain.

LOOK BEFORE YOU LEAP.

A shocking accident occurred on Monday evening opposite the Cologne main post office. A young lady telegraphist jumped off a moving car, slipped and fell beneath the vehicle. Both legs were severed and she was removed to hospital in a critical condition.

LIVERPOOL TRAGEDY.

SEAMAN ARRESTED AND CHARGED.

An arrest has been made in connection with the death of Elizabeth McDermott or Isabella Wilson, at Liverpool on Christmas morning.

The naked body of the woman was found by a telegraph messenger. There were injuries about the head and face.

The arrested man is John Brien (23), a seaman. At the Liverpool City police court on Saturday he was charged on suspicion with causing the woman's death.

Detective-Inspector Hughes said that when charged Brien replied:—

"Well, on Christmas Eve I left the ship at six o'clock. I went up Scotland-road to meet a friend of mine. I saw him at eight o'clock, and I was with him and a girl friend of his until half-past eleven when I lost my friend.

"Me and the girl waited until a quarter to twelve, and then the girl showed me the way to the pierhead and she then went home. I went to the station and stayed there until the policeman wakened me up. That is all I have to say."

Brien was remanded.

BOGUS WHISKY.

DEATH ROLL INCREASING.

The death-roll from Christmas drinking of "whisky" manufactured from wood alcohol is now 73 and is still steadily growing. Dozens of other persons are suffering in their homes from all kinds of terrible after-effects of the concoction, ranging from the convulsions of slow poisoning to blindness.

The Federal officials are vigorously searching for the manufacturers of the deadly drink on information furnished by four men arrested and charged with murder after they had been identified as distributors of the product. A general alarm was sent out by the police last night for a certain Adolf Paranelli, an importer of olive oil and wine, of New York. He is believed to have been responsible for the manufacture of whisky which sold for £2000 a barrel.

Municipal authorities, as well as medical men, are cautioning the public against purchasing any kind of spirit, as the chances of drinking the mixtures without serious consequences are practically nil. Even those which do not contain the deadly wood alcohol, are highly dangerous.

GERMAN EAST AFRICA.

The Belgian Foreign Minister, who is now in London, is stated to be making arrangements for the transfer to Great Britain of the Bukoba and Ujiji provinces of former German East Africa, which will be administrated by Great Britain in the name of the League of Nations. He is also negotiating with a view to obtaining for Belgian subjects specially favourable rates on the railways of ex-German East Africa, similar to those granted to British.

PROTEST AGAINST EJECTMENT.

At St. Martin's, near Oswestry, on Saturday night, a meeting of discharged soldiers and miners protested against the action of the Oswestry County Magistrates in granting an ejectment order to a local farmer to evict a discharged soldier, Thomas Lewis, who worked for him many years before enlisting, but since demobilization had gone to work at another farm.

SERIOUS FLOODS IN ALSACE.

The floods in Alsace are assuming alarming dimensions, the low-lying country near Strasbourg being nothing but an enormous lake. Extensive damage is reported, many villages being completely inundated. Iron bridges have been swept away, and railway traffic is interrupted in almost the whole of the Vosges valley. Several people have been drowned.

KELSO ABBEY FOR THE NATION.

An agreement has been reached between the Duke of Roxburghe and the Commissioners of Works and Public Buildings for the guardianship of Kelso Abbey, on the left bank of the Tweed, one of the most impressive relics of monastic times in the Kingdom. The fabric will be maintained by the State and in future will be recognised as a public monument.

It has just transpired that during the railway strike ten destroyers, twenty mine sweepers, six sloops, sixteen drifters and twenty-four trawlers were employed for the conveyance of food.

WORKERS' IDEAL.

LARGER SATISFACTION WITH LIFE.

A preliminary statement with reference to the Industrial Conference summoned by President Wilson on Dec. 1, says:

"Our modern industrial organisation, if it is not to become a failure, must yield to the individual a larger satisfaction with life. We have failed to adjust our human relations to facts.

"Not only must the theory that labour is a commodity be abandoned, but the conception of leadership must be substituted for that of mastership pending the growth of better relationships between the employers and employees.

"The Conference believes it is possible to set up a more effective series of tribunals than at present exists. To be successful the tribunals must be so organised as to operate promptly, and must be thoroughly representative of employers, of employees, and of the public, which long has been uneasy about the power of the great labour organisations.

"It is not proposed to wipe out the ultimate right to strike, to discharge, or to maintain the closed or open shop. Plans for the national co-operation of all citizens are invited."

THE NAME OF ROSTAND.

DEAD DRAMATIST THANKED BY WILL.

M. Jean Alexis H. G. Rostand, uncle of the dramatist, Edmond Rostand, one of the directors of the Comptoir National D'Escompte de Paris, left property in the United Kingdom valued at £6,896. The total value of the estate is estimated at about 1,000,000 francs. The deceased had intended to leave his famous nephew one-fourth of his property, and the following sentence occurs in the will: "I wish here to thank Edmond for the glory he has earned for our name." M. Rostand had also intended to leave 100,000 francs for a musical foundation, "to facilitate the development of music truly French in both form and spirit," but he revoked this bequest by codicil, as "the terrible war which desolates Europe has considerably diminished my fortune."

LONG-DISTANCE TELEPHONY.

Christmas Day marked the opening of the new long-distance telephone between Berlin and Stockholm. It covers a distance of approximately 1,000 miles, and, considering its length, works fairly satisfactorily.

Previous to the war there already existed long-distance telephone connection between Berlin and Paris (1,200 miles) and Berlin and Milan (1,350 miles), and the Germans were on the point of extending the last mentioned line to Rome, when the war broke out.

But all these, like the New York-Frisco line, were overland lines, whereas the new line to Sweden includes a submarine cable nearly 150 miles in length, which makes this, for the present at least, the longest long distance submarine telephone cable in the world.

TRIAL OF CAILLAUX.

The trial of Caillaux before the High Court has been fixed for the 14th January. Some delay in commencing the proceedings is not unlikely, however, as the High Court is composed of members of the Senate. The election for the next Senate does not take place till the 11th January; on the 12th the official papers concerning the elections must be forwarded to Paris from all parts of France and on the 13th the Senate will meet and validate the elections.

This is the arrangement if everything goes normally but considering the lamentable state of transport in France it is very probable that some of the documents will not arrive in time.

EX-KAISER'S TRIAL.

According to a telegram from Amsterdam the Dutch Government denies having informed the Allies that it refuses its consent to the extradition of the ex-Kaiser. Mr. Bonar Law states that there is no change in the intention of the Government to try the ex-Kaiser in London.

THE UNCO' GUID.

Acting on a suggestion from the local Free Churches the Town Council of Abergavenny has refused to allow town property to be used for boxing contests. Councillor Rosser declared that colliers who wanted to go to boxing tournaments on Saturday nights were flabby degenerates and if, married, should find better use for their money.

SCOTTISH BANKNOTES AS TENDER.

The London Gazette publishes a Proclamation revoking that section of the Currency Act of 1914, whereby banknotes issued by any bank of issue in Scotland and Ireland were temporarily made legal tender. The obligation to such banks to redeem their notes is naturally unaffected.

Sir Herbert J. Creedy has been appointed to succeed Sir R. H. Brade as Permanent Under Secretary to the War Office.

XMAS REVELS.

NO. 25 GENERAL HOSPITAL AND OTHERS.

This Christmas season will long be remembered by the patients and staff of No. 25 General Hospital. The wards were all beautifully decorated, prizes being awarded for the best efforts.

On Christmas Eve the Concert Party, accompanied by Father Christmas (the Rev. George Kendall, C. F.) and suite at the Officers' Mess sang carols, afterwards making a tour of the eighteen occupied wards.

Christmas Day opened with morning service in the Y.M.C.A. hut. The dinner proved a huge success, and the patients undoubtedly enjoyed themselves thoroughly. A special cinema performance in the afternoon, was followed later by a grand entertainment, given in the Hospital Concert Hall by the "Merry Blue Boys." Two sketches, "The Ghost" and "The Doctor's Shop" caused infinite amusement, and the concerted item "Come on, Papa," by Cpl. Rush—the lady—and Father Christmas fairly brought down the house. Cpl. Simmons, Sgt. Cornett, Gunner Rogan, and others gave excellent turns, ably supported by Lieut. Young, of the Independent Division, who acted as accompanist throughout the evening.

During the interval, the Rev. George Kendall made a short opening speech, and Cpl. Simmons thanked the Commanding Officer, Lieut.-Colonel C. C. Cumming, C.B., the Rev. George Kendall and the staff for their very successful efforts to brighten the lot of the patients.

The Christmas Dinner of the R.A.M.C. personnel was no less successful than that of the patients, and the Whist Drive which took place in the evening was thoroughly appreciated.

On December 27th a grand Concert, Cinema and Dance was held for the R.A.M.C. personnel and employed patients in the Wiesdorf Cinema. A German orchestra of eleven players supplied the music, and as many of the dancers appeared in fancy dress the affair was a really brilliant one.

On December 28th the Sergeants' Mess Christmas Dinner was held, after which Sgt. Cornett, Cpl. Simmons, and Cpl. Rush entertained the members of the Mess in their own inimitable way.

Very great credit is due to Lieut.-Col. Cumming; the Hospital Quartermaster, Captain Withey, and R.S.M. Mars for their untiring energy in arranging such a fitting celebration for the festive season. The Rev. George Kendall, C.F., the Amusements Officer had charge of the arrangements for the various entertainments, etc., and the enthusiastic gratitude of the patients and personnel must have recompensed him to some extent for all the work he had put in.

HOSPITAL PATIENTS AT THE Y.M.C.A.

Amongst the innumerable festivities of the season, one stands out pre-eminently as appropriate to the occasion, for at it, well soldiers entertained sick soldiers. The hosts were the members of the Cologne Central Y.M.C.A. Sunday Afternoon Religious Discussions Class and the guests were patients from the Casualty Clearing Stations. In the Loreley Hall, which still retains its beautiful decorations, the guests were royally entertained, tea, Christmas gifts, music, recitations, games and "magic" affording a varied and delightful programme. The Y.M.C.A. contributed 1,000 marks from its Christmas Entertainment Fund, and the Staff of "the Central" joined the members of the Class in entertaining the guests.

A FUSILIER CHRISTMAS.

The 23rd Battalion, Royal Fusiliers decided that this festive occasion should be upheld by them in the time-honoured way, and made extensive preparations accordingly.

All Companies were anxious to have the best decorated rooms in the Battalion, and the Commanding Officer encouraged this spirit by offering prizes for the best decorated room in each Company Block.

Messages of goodwill and Christmas wishes were in evidence on all walls, everyone being remembered, from the Officers and their wives to all the men. Regimental Crests were also devised and displayed, and in one case a Fusilier badge was cleverly contrived with the aid of a "tin hat" and fancy paper.

One Company obtained dress suits, which were "donned" by some of their Sergeants, who very effectually carried out their new role of waiters.

The Commanding Officer accompanied by the Adjutant, Quarter Master, Padre and others, visited each Company and made a few remarks, wishing everybody a happy Christmas. He said this would probably be the last Christmas that would be spent together, but hoped that all would look back with pleasure to their Christmas of 1919, whilst serving with the 23rd Royal Fusiliers, and he felt sure nobody would regard it as the unhappiest.

Companies made their own arrangements for the evenings in the way of concerts etc.

On Boxing Day, a Football Match was arranged between the officers and sergeants of the Battalion, when the officers were the victors by 3 goals to 1.

The evening was allotted to the Sergeants for their Christmas dinner, and their dining room was a blazing mass of splendour. The Colonel, Adjutant, and Quarter Master came in and made appropriate speeches, and autographed all menus, and their healths were all most heartily rendered. Many Officers attended the subsequent Concert, and also assisted by giving turns themselves.

Saturday evening was given up to a Battalion Concert, as a conclusion to the Christmas entertainments, and much talent was displayed, and much amusement

(Continued in next column.)

SUMMARY COURT.

EXPENSIVE BORROWED PLUMES.

Before proceeding on leave, a private in the R.A.S.C. left his fur lined overcoat (Government issue) at the house of Peter Scheuer of 12, Im Ferkulum, where he usually had his washing done. During his absence on leave Scheuer wore the coat, and was promenading in borrowed plumes down Luxemburgerstrasse when he was spotted by an officer.

It was represeuted on Scheuer's behalf that the soldier had given him permission to wear the coat, but the excuse was unavailing and he was fined 200 marks or as an alternative ten days imprisonment.

Lorenz Schmitz, described as a farmer, having no fixed abode, was sent to prison for one month for being in the unlawful possession of a revolver and thirteen cartridges.

RED CROSS.

"TIMES" WAR FUND CLOSES AT RECORD TOTAL.

With total subscriptions standing at £16,121,939, "The Times" Red Cross Fund has closed.

Sir Robert Hudson, Chairman of the Joint War Finance Committee of the British Red Cross Society and the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, in a letter in to-day's "Times," formally indicates the closing of the fund and expresses "our profound indebtedness and deep and abiding thanks to "The Times" for the constant and unvarying help it has given to us in our work since August 1914."

The first million was reached on February 20, 1915, the fifth on November 15, 1916, the tenth on April 17, 1918, and the fifteenth on April 22, 1919.

WAITERS WAITING.

AWKWARD STRIKE AVERTED.

The threatened strike of hotel and restaurant chefs and waiters which was imminent just before Christmas was fortunately postponed.

Mr. Cann, Secretary of the British Allied Waiters Union, states that among the grievances of the Hotel workers are the food supplies and the tipping system. "We are out, "he said," for the abolition of the Tronc, whereby all tips are taken by the managements and shared out among the staffs. The managements take the biggest part and pay the staff therewith. It is not generally known," added Mr. Cann, "that vegetables left by one customer are served up for another. Other odds and ends left on the plates go into the stockpot for staff meals."

A. AND S. HIGHLANDERS RELIEF.

The Battalion of Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders which has been stationed for the past year at Constantinople and was previously on the Salonika front, embarked at Constantinople on the 13th December for home. It will be replaced by a Battalion of the Scots Fusiliers. No further cases of plague have been reported from Constantinople though spotted fever has reappeared.

PLAGUE IN THE EAST.

The Director of the Plague Department of the Pasteur Institute in Paris has confirmed the rumours of a recent recurrence of the plague in the Eastern Mediterranean. He said there were several cases at a number of ports notably at Salonica, Alexandria, Constantinople and in Syria. Precautions have been taken by inoculation to guard against the spread of the disease among the Allied troops.

caused by the performance of two remarkable skits, which were billed as "The nightmare of a demobilized Adjutant" and "The nightmare of a married soldier about to go on leave." This Concert was thoroughly enjoyed by all, and formed a very fitting conclusion to an ever-to-be remembered Christmas.

11th QUEENS.

The 11th Queens made up their minds that although they were having to spend Xmas as part of an Army of Occupation they would nevertheless celebrate it well.

Most of the barrack rooms had been tastefully decorated by their various occupants, each trying hard to out-do one another and one could almost imagine oneself in Fairyland.

The indefatigable Messing Officers had arranged a splendid Xmas dinner, the table being prettily arranged with evergreens, fruit and crackers. All the officers and sergeants helped to serve and wait on the men whose dinner menu was elaborate and satisfing.

When the popular Commanding Officer arrived he was greated with tumultuous cheers. At the end of a short speech in which he thanked them all for his cordial reception, Lt.-Colonel Dillon proposed the health of His Majesty the King and the National Anthem was sung with great vigour.

On the departure of the Commanding Officer the men struck up "For he's a jolly good fellow", keeping the refrain up for some little while.

In one dining hall Lieutenants Kelly and Penfold played bright selections of songs and choruses during the dinner which were much appreciated.

CIGARETTES.

CHIEF ITEM IN NEW CAMPAIGN.

The New York Presbyterian Church has begun a movement for the world-wide abolition of the cigarette. The Church has set aside £50,000 to start a fight against foreign brewers and distillers, and has sent the Rev. John Steele, the associate secretary of the Board of Temperance and Moral Welfare, to Britain to support the fight for prohibition. The Board announces the following programme: elimination of foreign brewers and distillers, the abolition of the cigarette, which, it says, "became so firmly entrenched during the war and is a special object of attack," the study of marriage and divorce problems, the humanisation and Christianisation of prisons, closer supervision of cinematographs, the elimination of social diseases, narcotic drugs, and the use of alcohol.

SUGAR PRICES.

RATION REDUCED TO CONSERVE STOCKS.

Sooner than raise the retail price of sugar in Great Britain to 1s. 1d. or 1s. 2d. a pound—it is now 7¾d. to 8¾d.—which the Food Ministry said it should have to do if it bought sugar at present prices, it has been decided to decrease the ration from 8oz. to 6oz. per head weekly (the ration during the railway strike week) at an early date, and thus conserve stocks.

The Food Ministry states that the reduced ration to the public is necessary "in order to defeat what appears to be concerted action on the part of producers to take advantage of the general position by raising prices for early delivery to no less than six or seven times the pre-war level."

It is pointed out that if the Government purchased largely at present the retail price would have to be raised to over one shilling a pound.

DESTRUCTION OF RATS.

The new Act which makes the killing of rats and mice compulsory comes into force on Thursday next, and the second "national rat week" starts to-day. Millions of these vermin were destroyed during the first rat week in October, and with concerted action on the part of the London Borough Councils and local authorities throughout the country, it is hoped that the second phase of the campaign will result in an even larger casualty list.

FORTHCOMING WEDDING.

Considerable public interest is being displayed in connection with the wedding which is to take place on New Year's Day, of Capt. C. E. H. Bird, R.A.S.C., Adjutant S.M.T.O., VI Corps and Miss E. M. Gardner of Cobham, Surrey. The ceremony which is to take place at 2.15 p.m. will be at the Garrison Church and there will be a subsequent reception at the Trocadero.

MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL.

St. Luke's Hospital, Bradford, which has been a military hospital during the war, is to be taken over on lease by the Bradford Corporation. The hospital has accommodation for 1,200 patients, and the estimated cost of running it is £100,000 a year.

DEALING IN PREMIUM BONDS.

In consequence of the opinion of the Law Officers of the crown that dealings in Premium Bonds are illegal under the Lottery Act of 1823, the permission given by the Committee of the Stock Exchange for dealing in French Premium Bonds is cancelled.

INJUNCTION REFUSED.

In the Irish Chancery Division Mr. Justice Powell dismissed with costs the application of "The Freeman's Journal" for an injunction against the military and police authorities to restrain them from supressing the paper and withholding its plant.

ANTI-INFLUENZA VACCINE.

The Ministry of Health, in view of the possibility of a further outbreak of influenza has made arrangements for the preparation of a stock of anti-influenza vaccine which will be furnished to all medical officers of health for distribution.

NELSON RELICS FOR AMERICA.

A batch of eighty letters written by Nelson to Captain William Locker, granat her of Air Marshal Locker Lampson fash been sold at Sothebys for one thousand pounds. An American was the purchaser.

PAPAL NUNCIO'S VISIT.

The Pope's Nuncio, Pacelli, who called upon Herr Ebert, President of the German Republic, on Monday, is expected to-day (Wednesday) in Cologne in connection with the election of a new Archbishop of Cologne.

TO-DAY
VI CORPS
OFFICERS CLUB
GRAND ORCHESTRAL
CONCERT
under the direction of
BERM. BLUM
Augmented Orchestra
of 20 Performers
3.30—5.30

N. A. C. B.
NEW YEAR'S EVE
TURKEYS
AND GEESE
THE N.A.C.B. HAS A NEW SUPPLY OF ABOVE. ON SALE AT GENERAL STORES
27 OBENMARSPFORTEN.

1919—1920
N New Year's Eve Ball Y
December 31st 9.30—12.30
AT THE
E BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB E
(Officers' Subscription Dance)
President: Major-General Sir S. T. B. LAWFORD, K.C.B.
FANCY DRESS OPTIONAL
W A R
Tickets 20 Marks
Apply: Controller Entertainments :: British Empire Leave Club ::

N. A. C. B.
OFFICERS' CLUB
NEW YEAR'S EVE
DINNER AND DANCE
AT THE
EWIGE LAMPE.
DINNER
at No. 2 CLUB.
TICKETS 50 MARKS
TABLES SHOULD BE BOOKED EARLY.

Large Stock
MOUTH ORGANS
Ready for Shipment
Robarts & Quantock
100 Hohestrasse Cologne
Export - Import

Mention The Cologne Post when replying to advertisements. It helps you and the advertisers.

METROPOLE THEATRE
APOSTELNSTRASSE
The Grand Pantomime
ALADDIN
(by A. M. Thompson and R. Courtneidge)
Presented by
The Inniskilling Dragoons Dramatic Society
OPENING PERFORMANCE
Thursday, January 1st
Every Evening (except Sunday) at 6 p.m. (except Saturday)
Saturday Evening, at 7 p.m.
Till January 7th, 1920
CHILDREN'S MATINEE
Saturday, Jan. 3rd, at 2.30 p.m.
BOOK SEATS EARLY at:—
BOX OFFICE, METROPOLE THEATRE
AMUSEMENTS OFFICE, KOMODIENSTR.
VI CORPS OFFICERS' CLUB
N.A.C.B. CLUB
INNISKILLING DRAGOONS
Tel. Nos.—G.H.Q. 632 Civil A 1118

COLOGNE CENTRAL Y.M.C.A.
On account of the
NEW YEAR'S DAY SPECIAL ENTERTAINMENT of the Troops by the British School Children and the Staff of the Cologne Central Y.M.C.A. at 44 FRIESENSTRASSE
the Canteen will be closed at 4 p.m. to allow of necessary arrangements being made in both the Restaurant and the Great Hall.
All British Children and their Parents are cordially invited.

R.C. FLACK & CO.
Naval-Military and Civil Tailors
CAMBRIDGE.
The largest selection of newest materials for Mufti and Military; also a large stock of gloves-hosiery-underwear-shirts etc., etc.
KRONPRINZ HOTEL
Behind EXCELSIOR.

ENGLISH ADVERTISERS
APPLY FOR TERMS TO THE
ROY HARDY AGENCY
292, HIGH HOLBORN
LONDON W. C. 1
TELEPHONE - CENTRAL 5589

MOTHERS
read "The Cologne Post". Send it daily to yours.

CONTINENTALE INSERATEN-ANNAHME FÜR THE COLOGNE POST
F. J. BIRGEL & Co
35/43 MARZELLEN-STRASSE, CÖLN (RH.)
PREISE UND ALLE INFORMATIONEN AUF ANFRAGE

ARMY AMUSEMENTS

Deutsches Theatre, Bismarckstr.
Tonight and until further notice owing to enormous success,
THE BRITISH RHINE ARMY DRAMATIC COY in
"THE KNIGHT OF THE BURNING PESTLE"
by BEAUMONT & FLETCHER.

Palace Theatre. Herzogstrasse.
TONIGHT
Return visit owing to continued success of
Mr. ALFRED HURLEY's London Variety Coy.
"THE JESTERS"
Artistes:
Mr. JOE MORLEY
The Celebrated Banjoist from the LONDON PALLADIUM.
Miss VIVIAN MACKAY
Contralto.
Mr. HARRY KING
Comedian.
Miss JESSIE MOUNTJOY
Songs at the Piano.
Mr. CHASS. LEWIS and "JOEY."

No 1 Cinema is now closed.
No: 2 ARMY CINEMA.
(Moderne Theatre), Breite Strasse
Finest Picture House in Germany.
No: 3 ARMY CINEMA.
(Panopticum) Hohe Strasse.
The acme of comfort.
ALL COMMENCE AT 6 O'CLOCK.
MATINEES AT CINEMAS AT 2.30 p.m.

ARMY GYMNASIUM Kreuzgasse.
Open daily (Sundays excepted)
Officers 2 to 4 p.m. O.R's. 5 to 8 p.m.
Fully equipped.
Badminton, Boxing, Basket Ball etc.,
Staff Instructor in attendance.

ARMY SKATING RINK.
NOW OPEN. This week, Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday other ranks and wives only 5.30 to 9.30.
Friday Officers and wives 3.30 to 10.0
Skates provided. Cloak Room Accommodation for spectators: Mugs' Alley for Beginners. Commencing shortly, Teas and refreshments will be served on the Balcony.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAVE CLUB
CINEMA
Every day at 2.30 Admission 2 Marks.

The Cologne Post
Telephones: Military, No. 659. Civil: A 9513.
Postal Address: "Cologne Post" A.P.O., S. 40, British Army of the Rhine.

Wednesday, December 31, 1919.

TOMMY'S CIGARETTE.

Those good people who would reform the world by "world wide movements" with which we become more familiar day by day, are now turning their attention to the cigarette.

Whether Tommy will appreciate their attentions we do not know; but as a contemporary points out it seems such a misdirection of valuable energy to denounce the little pleasures of life while there are so many things which call for attention, so many injurious things which darken human lives.

These good folk cannot realise all that the cigarette has meant to our lads. They can have no idea of the solace it afforded when the body was wracked with pain, or how it helped to while away the tedium of a long spell in the trenches. Men went to certain death with a cigarette aglow and in their last moments craved the ease of mind which it gave.

In lesser degree the cigarette now serves its purpose. It gives solace to the tired body, breaks down barriers and creates new friendships. Without it we should find life lacking one of its most popular institutions, and individual pleasures are attacked because, as it appears, it is easier than attacking the array of social wrongs.

If not, then, the crusade for which some of our Yank friends are responsible is much too premature.

CANTEEN WAR PROFITS.

The subject of the canteen war profits stated to be somewhere in the region of £7,000,000, is one that comes frequently under discussion in Rhineland, and the consensus of opinion appears to be that it is high time some announcement was made as to their allocation.

The amount at present forms what is known as the United Services Fund, on the Executive Committee of which Lord Byng is chairman. Up to early in November the committee worked through the Incorporated Soldiers' and Sailors' Help Society, but since then, owing to the endeavour of the United Services Fund to impose a condition which this society was unable to accept, no further grants have been made.

We who are still serving naturally take an interest in the expenditure of such a vast sum, and, as we have all contributed towards it, we are justified in asking that a clear statement should be made giving the exact amount in hand and also clearly defining the lines upon which it is to be disposed of.

There are numerous organizations which have a rightful claim upon the fund, and if it is utilised to compensate ex-service men in proportion to the sacrifices they have made in the interests of their country, then all will readily agree that it has been put to the very best possible use.

The incapacitated and totally disabled appear to have the first claim, and no one, we suggest, will grudge them a substantial share of the canteen war profits.

THE FUTURE CITIZEN.

A PLEA FOR THE TEACHING OF CIVICS.

Have you ever realised the vital importance of Civics? Has it ever struck you that Civics has the power of moulding out of the youth of the present age a future race of better citizens? Perhaps it has and then comes the question—"Is modern youth being acquainted with this all-important, ever new, ever old, subject?"

The reason that I ask the above queries is because (in the Army at any rate) I have met the most appalling ignorance concerning matters relating to the whole social and legislative fabric of our country.

In the first place, Civics, or, better still Citizenship, (as applied to every Englishman and woman) means the study of our constitution and so increasing interest in the affairs of the country. At the same time it compels us to form a higher conception of life—life dedicated to the welfare of the state—broadens our ideas and elevate our principles on the side of good. The study of this essential knowledge embraces Municipal and Government legislation; deals with the whole structure of the social system and builds its foundations on concrete stones of fact and unassailable principles of material good which have stood the test of many centuries. And with these principles and facts the citizen of to-morrow should be fully cognizant. Altruism is one side of life which Civics advocates, for does it not point out that one of the duties of a citizen is to try and make his country better fit to live in than it was for himself?

In England to-day there are always a number of people who fail to take an interest in affairs of public importance. And they alone are not to blame. Let us take the life of an average English workman to-day.

He goes to an elementary school until he is about fourteen years of age, and if he is lucky he may put in two years at a secondary school. At that tender age he is thrust into the ever greedy arms of the world—a world which is ever ready and eager to dispel from youth long-cherished visions and bright ideals. What does he know about the misery which goes on and the need for reforms? He does not know what a police-court is like. He is ignorant of even the faintest principles of Civics. He has never been taught so that he could grasp and appreciate our grand and glorious constitution—famous for its liberty and broad-mindedness. Nor does he dream of the privileges and rights which he is now enjoying having been fought for by martyrs and patriots, who made our country what it is to-day. Little does he think of the pure loyal blood which was shed in order that he might live a pleasant and easy life. And when he attains his majority the greatest and most precious privilege of all is given him—the vote, which cost his forefathers so much trouble and painstaking work before it was granted so freely.

And now that he possesses the right which allows him a part in the choosing of the peoples' representatives, does he value it? In the majority of the cases (and it is the majority that matter) No. He has not had comparisons drawn for his benefit, between the constitution of our little island and the more narrow-minded administration of other countries. He does not appreciate those hard-won liberties which he accepts in so matter-of-fact a manner. He does not realise when he fills in a ballot paper and exercises his right as a British citizen, that he is adding an infinitesimally small voice to the swelling storm of sound which moulds the future government and the destiny of the nation.

You ask where the fault is. And it is at this juncture that the glaring mistake in the schools of the country shows itself, with such a force that it compels us to think. Here is the answer: "They have never learnt Citizenship".

How many Council schools and how many secondary schools in the British isles, include in their curriculum, at the present day, Civics? I will be so bold as to say, not one in a thousand. Thus the pitiful waste of learning (comparatively speaking) goes on. The citizen in the past has never had a chance to take his place in the tide of public affairs fully equipped with knowledge and an opinion of his own.

Gone are the days when Education was all done by rule of thumb methods and when every other subject was excluded to the better teaching of the three "R's." Education in the future must be of a wider and more modern description where the young scholar is told of his future place and duties as a citizen of the nation. Civics should be pre-eminent as an everyday subject in the schools of the near future, whilst every school of any importance whatever should have on its staff a fully qualified and competent civics master. And in this manner would be built up that cleaner, higher, and better world for which we all yearn. A better and more intelligent race would in time be born—a race, fully alive to the problems, social, industrial and economic, which are badly in need of solution.

Without Education of the proper sort the above far-reaching improvements are impossible but it is gratifying to note that soon the Education Bill will come into force, and then, no doubt, the whole of our present system of Education, which is so obsolete and hopelessly inadequate to the needs of the country, will undergo many radical and sweeping changes. The sooner, the better. ARGUS.

[Editor's Note: "Civics" and "Economics" are in the curriculum of the Army Correspondence School which we publish to-day. Start at once, it costs nothing and the possession of such knowledge, as "Argus" points out, is a valuable asset for you and your country.]

A GERMAN CHRISTMAS EVE

The Christmas tree, bright with candles and gold and silver fruit, stood in a corner of the room and overshadowed the Christmas table beneath it. On the table were ranged the high-piled Weihnachtsteller, one for each of us, and the parcels which we were presently to undo. But what most interested us was the little Christmas play which was acting for the delight of the children. The distant notes of a fiddle had called us in a hurry to the room, and we had arrived to find there by the table Hans Muff in person—a swarthy figure, in clothes as black as his hands and face, an old beaver hat on his head, a fiddle under one arm and a bunch of twigs under the other, and a book as big as the Recording Angel's in his hands. The terrible sack at his feet held something living, for it stirred now and then. Was it an unfortunate child?

The two flaxen-haired children, Heini and Mariechen, one on each side of their mother, looked at Hans Muff with a good deal of fear. Mariechen, conscious of a record of obedience and good behaviour, looked less frightened than Heini, who was aware of neglected lessons and certain wildnesses. The boy was possibly at an age when he was inclined to speculate on the identity of Hans Muff. For the moment, however, he was credulous, though we knew he would swear stoutly afterwards that Hans Muff "was only somebody dreesed up."

Meanwhile the Christkind, in discreet retirement behind the door, was a comforting presence. It—for what is the sex of angels?—was as white as Hans Muff was black, white from head to foot, a long veil over its flowing hair, and with a voice as dulcet as Hans Muff's was gruff. And the play proceeded. Hans Muff read his records of omission and commission, and the Christkind intervened from time to time with excuse and kindness.

Few of us escaped castigation—verbal or bodily, from the twigs of the birch. The eyes of the children grew bigger, and their demeanour more solemn. And suddenly the sack of Hans Muff's feet shook convulsively, and began to spin in erratic circles, until it darted in a sinuous line across the room. It was seized and removed. We who were in the secret knew that it contained the unhappy dog of the household, but to the children it was a mystery and a portent.

Things came at last to an end. Hans Muff took up his fiddle, started to play, and followed the Christkind out into the night. We all took up the song that the fiddle had started—"O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum, wie grün sind deine Blätter!" The wistful lovely melody came charged with remembrances—memories that had the dust of years upon them were young and fresh again, and cool with the dew of lost innocence.

After Hans Muff had washed off the burnt cork and the Christkind had become a backfisch, we slipped out of the house by the back way—the going of the Christmas visitors must be as mysterious as their coming—and went up on the Rhine bank. A great wind was blowing, the stars gleamed at intervals through hurrying rain clouds, and the mighty river, high in flood, rushed seawards. From the other side of the river, where the lights of Cologne quivered upon the dark water, all the bells of the city were ringing. Sounding were a better word, for only in England is the art of bell-ringing "that music nighest heaven," understood.

And while we stood and listened, I remembered that all the bells in England were ringing too, on this Christmas night. In fancy I was again in the country that bred me and nourished me—the bells of Arundel on its hill were sounding across the sea plain, were answered from the lonely tower of Climping and lost as echoes in solitary coombes of the Downs. I followed the links of the melodious chain over the counties into the sweet West Country, and stayed at length to hear the music of the bells of Lyme Regis blown inland off the sea by the same west wind that was sweeping over Germany. LOOKER ON.

AN APPRECIATION.

On December 6th. 1918, the first British troops entered Cologne, the forerunners of an Army of Occupation that will go down in history.

A state of tension after a prolonged war undoubtedly prevailed during the festive season of Christmas which followed, and the real spirit of "Peace on earth, goodwill towards men" could hardly be expected to exist in its full sense.

I do not know whether Miss Decima Moore has made a study of the physiology of that truly remarkable and lovable person, the average British Tommy, but I venture to state that there is no other being in Rhineland to-day who more thoroughly understands his little whimsicalities, his ever fresh and perfectly spontaneous humour, his very joy of life, in fact, his second school day pranks.

To hear Miss Moore announcing the winning numbers in the big free present distribution on Christmas night was a typical example of the great admiration and respect we all feel for one who has done so much, together with the splendid women helpers of the Leave Club, to brighten life in the Perfume City on the Rhine.

The silent Navy were there. As Miss Moore says. "God bless them!" We echo her sentiments. Even more so, we would add "God bless her, and all her splendid helpers."

As a nation I do not think we have a great deal to fear so long as we can boast such splendid women.

"For she's a jolly good fellow." Perfectly spontaneous was the outburst after the Christmas Carnival, but it is typical of how Tommy can show appreciation.

For five minutes it was impossible to see Miss Moore for confetti, as everyone struggled to chair her round the hall.

As one who remembers the Leave Club in Paris, its splendid air of welcome to all, and now the Leave Club in Cologne I find it hard to put in mere words sufficient thanks for all that has been done.

I think I am expressing the sentiments of hundreds of troops out here in Rhineland when I say that may the future hold every happiness for Miss Decima Moore and her helpers. HAWKEYE.

THE EDITOR'S LETTER-BOX.

POSHNESS OVERDONE.

Sir,—In reply to "Ex-Officer" and his talk on Tommy's posh dress, surely he never knows what a relief it is to be able to walk about after a hard day's work, in civvy boots instead of the Army boot.

It would only be a real "green 'un" who would salute a Tommy because he happens to wear an officer's cap, for I don't think any Tommy with all his "poshness" has yet donned the collar and tie or Sam Browne of the officer.

A SUFFERER.

MUSIC (?) HATH CHARMS.

Sir,—"Musicus" is one of those few public-spirited individuals who take action while others sit and grumble. He offers to head a public subscription list for demolition of our old friend the "Earwig" harmonium.

I will go one better and head a raid, Mills bombs and gas if necessary, in order to successfully effect the removal of that monstrosity.

But how about a pension for the player? Perhaps a subscription list will be necessary after all. JUMBO.

GERMAN FOOTBALL.

Sir,—I am unable to enlighten P.B. as to the rules of the "Soccer" game as played by budding German sportsmen, but from what I have seen of it as played out here I should say that the only resemblance to that as understood in "Blighty" is that the players sport the regulation attire.

As he suggests there is no doubt that military teams have given a fillip to the game out here in Rhineland but so far as my observation goes we shall have to wait a long time before local players master the science, footwork and general principles of the game as understood by Britishers.

The German character is very difficult to understand, for while he used to marvel at the sight of some of our fellows attired for a cross-country run he saw nothing funny in the wearing of a bowler hat as part of his sporting kit.

GASPER.

WAR SERVICE RIBBONS.

Sir,—Kindly allow me space in our most interesting Rhineland paper to secure the views of your many readers on the subject of Service ribbons.

I had a quiet conversation the other day with a young soldier of the New Rhine Army, and we discussed the two ribbons, "G.S. & Victory" and were agreed on that. When I expressed my opinion that an "Occupation of the Rhine" ribbon would no doubt come into being later on for all soldiers who served with the British troops in Germany, he was of opposite opinion, and said if ever such a decoration came out, it would only be granted to men of the New Army.

I failed to agree with my comrade, because to take my own case I am not a member of the New Army nor a volunteer but have been retained for the Army of Occupation and have served with troops in Cologne since December 26th 1918.

If any such ribbons came into force I claim I should be entitled to it. Do your readers think so? L/Cpl.

THE CATHOLIC CLUB.

Sir,—The Souvenir Number of the "Cologne Post" contains an article on the Cologne Catholic Club, in which the following statement appears:—

"The birth of the organisation was in 1914, shortly after the outbreak of war when Mr. Harding early realised the great need and opened, with the help of a band of voluntary workers, the first canteen at Westminster. Then came the call for such work among the fighting troops on the soil of France, and the little band immediately responded and carried their work across the channel, opening up branches at Havre, Rouen, Calais and Boulogne, and later at Abbeville and Cayeux."

The fact is that the Catholic huts at Westminster, Calais and Boulogne were built and managed by a quite distinct organisation, the Catholic Women's League, which can claim the honour of being first in the field. In addition to a number of huts erected in England and France during the war the League is responsible for a soldiers' club at Bonn.

I venture to make this correction as we find that these two societies are constantly being confused in the public mind and this is often a source of inconvenience to both. C.W.L.

SILLY FILMS.

Sir,—"Interested" must be one of those doleful, miserable, pessimistic, sad-faced individuals who never laugh.

He appears to be one of those gentlemen who like to go to a cinema just for the sake of seeing nothing else but topical pictures describing scenery and how something comes from the tree to the breakfast table, with an occasional film thrown in about the curse of drink or gambling or some other terrible vice.

Speaking for myself I can say that I appreciate a variety of films.—A thrilling drama, a life portrayal, an amusing comedy, and a rollicking comic such as "Interested" would not like.

I agree with him that such films are silly, but they are the means of a good laugh and that is what I like.

I don't go to the pictures just for the sake of looking down in the mouth and miserable all the while. I go to enjoy myself.

With regard to people walking out when a comic film is being shown, I have been a regular patron at cinemas for the last ten years. I should not think that many people would have the wish to get up and walk out when they are convulsed with laughter, that is, if they wanted to.

No, "Interested," I think that you find yourself very much in the minority in such matters, and I am sure that there will be many others who take my point of view. C.G.M.

A MEMORY.

Alas! naught is left but a memory,
A memory; bitter, sweet.
Singers like a perfume behind
Dear heart; thy heart is mine,
And mine is thine.
Yet dreams will ne'er come true
Fate hath deemed it otherwise
Sweet memory; Farewell.

C.J.S.

CHRISTMAS IS OVER.

Turn Your Attention to No. 15 Football Contest.

Now that the Christmas festivities are over competitors will doubtless once again turn their attention to our football competition. Our No. 13 contest, the result of which appeared on Christmas Day was a record in every way and we want to keep as near this total as possible. No. 14 contest, the result of which will appear to-morrow, naturally showed a falling off in the number of coupons sent in; there were countless attractions claiming the attention of us all during Christmas week.

But now that the festive season has passed we confidently expect that the pre-Christmas totals will again be reached. One point it is advisable to bear in mind; the winner of the three thousand seven hundred and seven marks sent in no fewer than five coupons. On four he failed, but the fifth won for him our bumper prize.

On the coupon printed below, strike out the team you think will lose, or, if you predict a draw, leave both teams standing, add your name and address clearly, place the coupon in an envelope with one mark and send it along to this office. Any number of coupons may be sent at the rate of one mark each.

Coupons must be addressed:—
FOOTBALL CONTEST No. 15,
"Cologne Post,"
A.P.O./S. 40 Rhine Army.

List of Rules.

1. All forecasts must be made on coupons from this journal.
2. Any alteration or mutilation of the coupon will disqualify the effort.
3. If any match or matches on the coupon should be abandoned or full time is not played for any reason, such match or matches will not be taken into consideration in the adjudication.
4. In the event of ties, the prize will be divided.
5. No correspondence may be enclosed with the coupons, and none will be entered into. Neither will interviews be granted.
6. The Editor reserves the right to disqualify any coupon for what, in his opinion, is good and sufficient reason, and it is a distinct condition of entry that the Editor's decision shall be accepted as finally and legally binding in all matters concerning this competition.
7. Any entries received after Friday will be disqualified. No responsibility can be undertaken for any effort, or efforts, lost, mislaid or delayed. Proof of posting will not be accepted as proof of delivery.
8. Competitors may send in any number of coupons but one mark must be sent with each coupon.
9. Members of the staff of the "Cologne Post" are debarred from entering this competition.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION No. 15.

Date of matches, Saturday, Jan. 3rd.
Closing date, Friday, Jan. 2nd.

Blackburn	v. W. Bromwich
Bradford City	v. B adford
Arsenal	v. Manchester C.
S. Shields	v. Hull City
Bristol C.	v. Birmingham
Fulham	v. Stoke
Stockport	v. Tottenham
Northampton	v. Crystal Palace
Third Lanark	v. Airdrieonians
Kilmarnock	v. Ayr

I enter Football Competition No. 15 in accordance with the Rules and Conditions alredy announced and agree to accept the published decision as final and legally binding.

Signed .....
(In block letters.)
Rank and No. .....
Unit .....
Full Address .....

COLOGNE BOXING.

Second Fortnightly Competitions on Friday and Saturday.

Lovers of boxing will have already earmarked the 2nd and 3rd of January —next Friday and Saturday—for the second of the series of fortnightly competitions being held under the auspices of the P. and R.T., G.H.Q. Particulars to hand make it evident that this week's show will be even better than the initial meeting, for in addition to a large number of attractive bouts, Pte. Glinnan, 19th Middlesex and R.Q.M.S. French have been matched for a contest of four three-minute rounds.

Both men figured at the first competitions and the displays they then gave, give promise of a rattling good bout. They are probably the best middle-weights remaining in Rhineland and both men have long acquaintance with the ring. It is hoped to arrange further contests for this meeting of a similar nature.

Tickets can be obtained at the Amusements Office daily between the hours of 10—12, 14—16, and 18—19. On both days doors will be open at 16.45 and boxing will commence at 18.00 hours.

Competitors will weigh in at the hentral Y.M.C.A. Friesen Str. at 11.00 ours on Friday.

ELLERBY GETS THREE.

11th Queens Heavily Defeat 142nd Field Ambulance.

The 142nd Field Ambulance met the 11th Queens on the latter's ground, Germania strasse, Kalk, in the Rhine Garrison Football League.

The Ambulance, having won the toss, elected to play with the wind in their favour, but five minutes after the start the Queens managed to break through and score through the medium of Sgt. Ellerby.

The remainder of the first half was fairly evenly contested, and half time arrived with the Queens leading 1—0.

On the resumption the Queens had the wind in their favour, of which they took full advantage.

A second goal was added to the Queens score through a powerful shot from Pte. Ginger being fumbled by the Ambulance goalkeeper. Sgt. Argent, who followed up, succeeded in getting the ball between the posts.

Later L./Cpl. Osborn managed to score a third goal by a high dropping shot, which the Ambulance goalkeeper just failed to reach. A fourth goal was added through a fine piece of combination between L./Cpl. Osborn and Sgt. Ellerby, the latter netting with a neat shot.

Sgt. Argent scored a fifth goal, and shortly before the whistle went Sgt. Ellerby succeeded in adding one more to the Queen's total, making the final score 6—0.

This big total does not represent the run of the game. It was not an entirely one-sided affair, but the Queen's appeared to make more use of their opportunities. 11th Queens, team;—Sgt. Daniels; Pte. Morris and Pte. Sairile; Pte. Ginger, Lieut. Bratchell and Pte. Goodwin, Pte. Beldham, L./Cpl. Osborn, Sgt. Ellerby, Sgt. Argent and Pte. Ray.

MEREDITH'S RETURN.

A long-drawn-out disagreement between Manchester United and their famous Welsh international, William Meredith, was settled during the past week, the club agreeing to pay the benefit money—over £700—and sign him on at the maximum wage of £10 per week. There were many reunions at Old Trafford on Boxing-day, when Meredith donned the United's jersey for the first time this season.

Hagen, Newcastle United's clever inside player will improve when he loses the "Magpie" fault of overdoing the "fancy business."

H.Q. LEAGUE TABLE.

	P.	W.	L.	D.	Goals F.	A.	P.
V.R.P.	3	3	0	0	18	3	6
R. E. Signals	3	3	0	0	11	1	6
G.H.Q.	3	2	0	1	6	2	5
R.A.M.C.	2	2	0	0	4	0	4
R.A.S.C.	2	2	0	0	5	3	4
Pay Office	3	2	1	0	11	3	4
R.A.F.	3	1	1	1	6	6	3
Naval Flotilla	2	1	1	0	3	8	2
Tanks	3	1	2	0	5	13	2
Labour	1	0	0	1	2	2	1
Vety. & Remounts	3	0	2	1	5	7	1
Police	3	0	2	1	1	8	1
Transportation	3	0	2	1	1	11	1
Siege Park	2	0	2	0	3	6	0
20 M.A.C.	2	0	2	0	0	4	0
R.A.O.C.	2	0	2	0	0	4	0

HOCKEY TOURNEY.

Entries for Y.M.C.A. Knock-out Competition.

PRELIMINARY ROUND.

Seventeen entries have been received for the Y.M.C.A. Hockey Competition and as there is some doubt as to whether certain units will be remaining long in the Rhine Army it was deemed inadvisable to run the Competition on the league principle and the knock-out system has been adopted. The dates for playing, selection of grounds and referees must be mutually arranged and agreed upon by units concerned.

All teams are requested to send results of matches to the Director of Athletics, Y.M.C.A. H.Q. Rhine Army within 24 hours of their taking place.

As there are seventeen teams in the competition it has been found necessary to have a preliminary round in which the 51st Northumberland Fusiliers will meet the 12th Squadron R.A.F. and the winners will qualify to enter Round 1 proper of the tournament. This match should be played as early as possible.

The other teams who will meet in the first round are:—

R.A. Tanks; 51st Warwicks; 52 Durham L.I.; 10th Queens; Y.M.C.A.; 52 Kings L.R.; 41st Machine G.C.; 20 K.R.R.C.; 20 Durham L.I.; 52nd Warwicks; 11th Queens; R.A. Signallers; G.H.Q.; 52nd Rifle Bde.; and Rhine Army Reception Camp.

MIXED HOCKEY.

Are Women Players Equal to Men?

In view of the interest being taken in the proposed mixed Hockey Club in Cologne, the following observations by a writer in the "Sporting Life" are opportune:—

"I notice that somebody has been discussing the respective merits of men's and women's hockey, and going to great pains to show that there is a big gap, and refuting the contention that the women can play the game as well as the sterner sex. I do not think that sensible women hockey players of the best class would claim that they are the equals of the men. I have seen some of the women's international matches, and they have been a sheer delight in their finesse, and revealed most of the fine arts of combination, but I should not like to aver that they can approach the men for sustained pace or for general alacrity in carrying out any particular manoeuvre.

On the whole, the best-class women's hockey has struck me as more mechanical and less resourceful than that of the men, whilst in athletic pursuits generally the latter obviously have the advantage in physical attributes. I think that mixed hockey best reveals the difference, and most first-class men players who have indulged in it appreciate the fact that they have to some extent to hold themselves in, although they would probably be too gallant to admit it."

HOLIDAY BOXING.

20th Durham L. I. hold successful Tournament.

LIST OF WINNERS.

The very successful Xmas festivities in the 20th Battalion D.L.I. were terminated by a boxing tournament on Boxing night. Great interest was taken in the competitions by all ranks; the fact that points were awarded by platoons brought the spirit of inter-platoon rivalry to the fore. There were numerous competitors at the respective weights.

Without a single exception, the bouts were gamely contested, and right throughout the right spirit was manifested. Hard hitting was the order of the evening, the result being a large number of knock-outs.

Lieut.-Col. Webb-Bowen, of the 19th Middlesex, made an efficient referee, while Lieut.-Col. Pearson and Capt. Andrews acted as judges. To Sgt. Riley must go the major portion of the credit for the success of the evening, he displaying tireless energy in making all the admirable arrangements.

The winners at the various weights were:—

Bantams	Pte. Hutchinson, D Coy.
Feather	Pte. Thomson, H.Q. Coy.
Light	Pte. Cunningham, D Coy.
Welter	L/Cpl. Osterfield, A Coy.
Light-heavy	Sgt. Strachan H.Q. unopposed

The winning platoon was No. 16 H.Q. Coy. with a total of 16 points. Mrs. V. L. W. Pearson kindly distributed the prizes.

A VIGOROUS GAME.

Transportation Forward breaks a Collar Bone.

In the Headquarters Football League, the Transportation eleven met the R.A.M.C. on Wednesday at Poll, the Medicals winning a vigorous and well contested game by two goals to nil.

After few minutes play Ferguson opened the scoring with a splendid shot, and Bates put on the second goal shortly afterwards. There was no further scoring in the second half although both goals had some narrow escapes. The game was marred by an unfortunate accident; five minutes before time a Transportation forward collided with an opposing back and broke his collar bone.

WALTER ROSS UNFIT.

Disappointment was caused at the Cosmopolitan Gymnasium, Plymouth, by Walter Ross, the bantam-weight champion, declining to carry out his fifteen-rounds match with Joe Symonds, of Plymouth, the ex-fly weight champion. It was explained that Ross was out of condition owing to illness, and so a ten-rounds "no decision" bout was staged between the pair. Pretty work was shown by both men, but Symonds was the more vigorous and developed greater speed than Ross.

"THROSTLES" FIRM.

Crystal Palace Threatening Portsmouth.

HUDDERSFIELD'S CHALLENGE

The greatest surprise of the First Division is the remarkable run of success of Aston Villa; beaten by their near neighbours and great rivals West Bromwich on Nov. 15th, they have since then figured in seven games and have taken full points from each of their opponents. From the danger zone to eighth on the table is "some" jump and Villa folk are naturally proud of their team.

West Bromwich hold a commanding position, but Burnley have a very insecure hold on the second place. To allow Preston to draw at Burnden Park robbed them of a valuable point. Sunderland's run of ill luck removes them from third place where they are replaced by their great rivals, Newcastle United.

Sheffield Wednesday leave the bottom rung and Oldham drop down to this unenviable position.

Notts County by reason of their recent successes climb, but the Rovers of Blackburn have not maintained their form and drop back.

DIVISION II.

The 'Spurs are seven points ahead of the next on the table and unless they crack up as many teams have done in the past they are "certs" for the upper circle.

Birmingham's recent lapses greatly affect their chance of promotion and Huddersfield making great strides, are hard on their heels.

At the other end of the table it is good to note the improvement in Coventry's figures. They should soon leave the bottom rung. Wolves, who suffered such an awful trouncing at Hull City's ground, drop down to fourth bottom.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

The surprise of this competition is the bold bid of the Palace for the head of the table. Portsmouth cannot afford to make any mistakes and the Glaziers have a glorious chance to put a London club on top.

Watford had a terrible lapse before Southampton and are now three points behind the Palace, whereas a week ago they were just the reverse.

Queens Park are gradually slipping down the table and their fine burst has not been sustained. There are no changes in the relative positions of the five bottom clubs.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE.

There is no change in the positions of the Rangers or Celtic and the Ibrox men are still six points ahead. The four leading clubs are unchanged, but Airdrieonians now occupy fifth place.

Appended are the tables up-to-date:

The League.—Division I.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
West Bromwich Albion	21	16	0	5	61	25	32
Burnley	23	13	5	5	37	30	31
Newcastle United	22	11	5	6	29	20	27
Sunderland	22	12	2	8	38	31	26
Bolton Wanderers	23	9	7	7	42	35	25
Chelsea	22	11	3	8	33	27	25
The Arsenal	22	8	8	6	35	33	24
Aston Villa	21	11	1	9	42	37	23
Bradford	22	9	5	8	37	33	23
Everton	22	8	6	8	42	38	22
Liverpool	22	9	4	9	29	29	22
Notts County	21	8	6	7	41	43	22
Manchester United	20	7	7	6	31	24	21
Manchester City	22	8	5	9	45	43	21
Sheffield United	23	8	5	10	37	38	21
Middlesbrough	22	7	6	9	29	37	20
Derby County	23	6	7	10	22	35	19
Bradford City	23	6	6	11	37	46	18
Blackburn Rovers	22	6	6	10	29	44	18
Preston North End	22	6	5	11	31	50	17
Sheffield Wednesday	22	4	5	13	17	35	13
Oldham Athletic	20	5	2	13	23	34	12

The League.—Division II.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
Tottenham Hotspur	22	18	2	2	66	17	38
Birmingham	22	14	3	5	44	18	31
Huddersfield Town	22	13	4	5	48	18	30
Blackpool	22	12	5	5	40	22	29
Stoke	22	13	1	8	41	28	27
Hull City	23	12	2	9	53	42	26
West Ham United	22	10	6	6	22	22	26
Barnsley	22	11	3	8	43	25	25
Stockport County	22	10	5	7	37	25	25
Bristol City	22	8	9	5	24	19	25
Fulham	21	9	5	7	29	27	23
Bury	21	9	3	9	28	27	21
South Shields	21	8	5	8	19	22	21
Port Vale	20	7	4	9	27	26	18
Nottingham Forest	21	6	6	9	24	32	18
Clapton Orient	23	7	3	13	25	37	17
Leicester City	22	6	5	11	18	38	17
Rotherham County	22	6	4	12	22	46	16
Wolverhampton Wand.	21	5	5	11	31	44	15
Lincoln City	22	4	4	14	19	57	12
Grimsby Town	21	4	2	15	15	45	10
Coventry City	22	1	6	15	10	48	8

Southern League.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
Portsmouth	23	15	4	4	45	17	34
Crystal Palace	22	11	8	3	40	21	30
Watford	22	13	3	6	34	22	29
Reading	23	10	9	4	32	21	29
Cardiff City	21	9	9	3	37	24	27
Queen's Park Rangers	22	11	4	7	35	24	26
Norwich City	19	10	4	5	37	24	24
Plymouth Argyle	22	9	6	7	27	16	24
Swansea Town	23	8	8	7	28	25	24
Swindon	22	9	3	8	35	33	23
Brentford	22	8	7	7	25	25	23
Southampton	23	9	4	10	35	38	22
Millwall	22	8	4	10	30	33	20
Southend United	21	6	8	7	25	29	20
Merthyr Town	23	6	8	9	29	34	20
Exeter City	21	6	7	8	22	24	19
Bristol Rovers	21	5	8	8	32	39	18
Luton	21	6	4	11	24	36	16
Brighton and Hove A.	23	5	5	13	25	36	15
Newport County	22	6	3	13	21	42	15
Northampton	22	4	6	12	38	57	14
Gillingham	22	3	4	15	11	47	10

Scottish League.

	Pld.	Won.	Drn.	Lost.	Goals. For	Agst.	Pts.
Glasgow Rangers	22	18	3	1	66	10	39
Celtic	20	14	5	1	42	16	33
Motherwell	22	10	6	6	37	34	26
Dundee	23	12	3	8	46	32	27
Airdrieonians	22	9	7	6	28	18	25
Ayr United	23	10	4	9	47	37	24
Greenock Morton	21	10	3	8	39	21	23
Heart of Midlothian	22	10	3	9	35	35	23
Hibernians	22	10	3	9	40	43	23
St. Mirren	24	9	5	10	36	45	23
Queen's Park	23	8	5	10	37	42	21
Dumbarton	22	6	9	7	32	36	21
Aberdeen	22	7	7	8	26	29	21
Kilmarnock	23	9	3	11	30	48	21
Partick Thistle	20	8	4	8	28	31	20
Clydebank	20	8	3	9	38	33	19
Third Lanark	22	6	7	9	28	40	19
Falkirk	24	6	6	12	28	46	18
Albion Rovers	22	7	3	12	22	38	17
Clyde	23	5	6	12	31	44	16
Raith Rovers	24	6	4	14	46	61	16
Hamilton Academicals	22	5	3	14	31	54	13

PLAY: MUSIC: SONG.

COLOGNE OPERA HOUSE.

DAY	OPERA	COMPOSER	START	END
Wed.	Barbier von Sevilla	Rossini	6.30	9.30
Thurs.	The Woman without Shadow	Strauss	6	10.15
Fri.	Hansel und Gretel	Humperdinck	6	8
Sat.	Die Zauberflöte	Mozart	7	10.30
Sun.	Lobetanz	Thuille	7	9.30
Mon.	Tales of Hoffmann	Offenbach	7	10
Tues.	Tristan und Isolde	Wagner	6	10.45

The Panto Season.

Always up-to-date in the matter of social attractions, it is only natural that Cologne should not be neglected by "King Pantomime." The Leave Club is the first to put before us the immortal form of Christmas fare. In the theatre—still brightly decorated after the 25th—on Monday evening a repetition of the exceptionally bright pantomime "Babes in the Wood" was given to a crowded audience. The "book," which is by Miss Anderson, sparkles with humour, and contains just sufficient "local colour" to be agreeable.

The scenery and dresses reflected a great deal of thought and hard work in their preparation. Of those who took part A. Chapple, as Baron Stonybroke, stood out as a confident and really funny comedian. As such, of course, he had the lion's share of the work and he did it well. The Babes were C. H. Irving and W. Jackson, who made an undoubted success of difficult parts. The robbers were G. G. Belmore and J. T. Parkinson, who ably assisted in the merry making. The other characters, who are all to be congratulated upon their efforts, were V. Deighton (Lumina, Fairy Queen) J. Barnet (Diabolo, Demon King) A. Borrill (Dame Stonybroke) C. H. Farrance (Buttons) G. Rowley (Village Idiot).

Specialities were performedby R.H. Dix, A. Gordon, and W. J. Jackson, while the chorus was composed of J. P. Flinn, J. D. Girli, F. H. Hibbert, B. Rollott, A. K. Everett, A. Farnell, R. T. Gam, W. T. Croon, F. W. Markse, W. Hayes, D. F. Lloyd, W. Popper, and M. Seeley.

The conductress of the orchestra, Miss West, was responsible for the instrumental music provided by a capable orchestra.

New Year's Day at "The Central."

I hear that the staff of the Central Y.M.C.A. are preparing great things for N.C.O's and men on the evening of New Year's Day, when there will be an entertainment by Mr. Hugh Herring, the Y.M.C.A. Illusionist in the Restaurant Hall at 6 p.m., followed by another entertainment in the Great Hall at 8 p.m. I am asked to state that as there will be dancing and some of the features of a carnival, a cordial invitation is issued to all British ladies in Cologne. Particulars will be found in our advertisement columns to-day and to-morrow.

A Fancy Tickler.

The following amusing letter has reached me from a contributor signing himself "March Brown," and I fully endorse the sentiments expressed. He says:—

"Having heard such conflicting reports upon the Christmas play, "The Knight of the Burning Pestle" at the Deutsches Theatre, and having read your able and diplomatic critic's remarks thereon I felt impelled,—in spite of a No. 1 size Christmas liver and a nasty dark brown taste i' the mooth — to go and see and judge for myself.

Now Sir, it takes a lot to amuse a man who is suffering from the afore-mentioned complaints, but, by my habidour, this is a monstrous fine diversion and right well played with the true old English spirit.

I have seen practically all of the B.R.A.D.C. productions up to date, but none which liked me so well or tickled my fancy more than this. The text is a little sinewy in places, but that is all to the good and of course in keeping with the times; and even the fact that the ghost wears a wrist watch only adds to the general gaiety of the show. So I say to all of you readers who are suffering from large brass knobs on their livers "gird up your loins" and get you to the Deutsches, and I warrant that the Knight and his merrie company cure you."

20th D.L.I. Sergeants' Mess.

The members of the 20th D.L.I. Sergeants Mess celebrated their Christmas festivities on Boxing Day.

At 1.30 p.m. a five-course dinner was served, in which all the members took a very keen part. In proposing the toast to the King R.S.M. Newman commented on the glorious past record of the 20th D.L.I., and pointed out that this was probably the last occasion on which all the members would meet together for a festivity before the breaking up of the battalion.

At 8 p.m. the officers and their wives joined in for a whist drive and concert, and an excellent musical programme was rendered. Songs were given by Lieut. and Mrs. Mearns. Lieut. Milestones, Capt. Hitchin, Sergt. Greenless and C.Q.M.S. Carlow.

A very enjoyable evening was spent, and the thanks of the officers were voiced by the Adjutant, Capt. Graham, a very happy speech, and replied to by R.Q.M.S. Foster.

"Robinson Crusoe."

The Rhine Army pantomime, "Robinson Crusoe", which is to be produced at the Palace theatre, Cologne, in about a fortnight's time shows promise of much success. The caste is being rapidly got into shape, but members are still wanted for the smaller parts and for the chorus. Mr. Eric Morgan, who is one of the outstanding characters in "The Knight of the Burning Pestle" at present at the Deutsches theatre, is to be "principal boy" and I understand he will adopt the style of the celebrated Bobby Hale. The result should be particularly pleasing in view of Mr. Morgan's undoubted accomplishments. Miss Hilda Potts should make the delightful "principal girl" while Cpl. Ellis, who will be chief of the laughtermakers is sufficiently resourceful to take full advantage of the wide scope allotted to him. I have not heard the details of the remainder of the caste but if it is to be up to this standard the production is bound to meet with success.

JACQUES.

ECHOES FROM RHINELAND.

No Lights.

Passing over the Hohenzollern Bridge the other night I could not help being struck by the dismal appearance of the vast expanse of water which met my gaze. With the total absence of the embankment lights which gives such charm to the Rhine after dark I was tempted to make an early return to my quarters.

Very Bad.

Owing to the flooding of the Rhine most of the houses within two hundred yards of the river have had the supply of electric light cut off, and candles and lamps have been in use everywhere. Fortunately, the supply has been resumed.

Good Business.

Proprietors of eating houses and cafés around this district are doing well. Both civilians and Tommies flock into the shops for supper after having had their fill of sight-seeing.

Inappropriate.

While people were splashing about in the wet retrieving their goods and chattels in the darkness and while the rain was falling heavily the strains of "Fierce Flames are Raging" came from a phonograph in a house near at hand.

Worth Seeing.

A favourite pastime of some Tommies was to mount a car crossing the Hohenzollern Bridge or the swing bridge and obtain a kind of birds-eye view of the floods. Of course the lights on the promenade were not to be seen and as there was no moon I could not see that it was worth while.

A New Game.

The kiddies seem to enjoy themselves, dancing about in the wet. They do not seem to mind in the least about getting wet-footed. I came across one juvenile enjoying a game of "Chase-me-Charlie" round the pillars of the Hohenzollern Bridge.

Merry Youth.

I noticed two youngsters who had constructed a raft from some boards enjoying themselves immensely on the flooded roadway in the vicinity of the Hangebrucke.

"Watches" on the Rhine.

The inundation of the N.A.C.B. and several houses around the riverside must have been extremely unpleasant and distressing to inhabitants especially coming, as it did, before the holidays were over. Yet some humour was to be extracted from such a situation. Of course there must needs be several "watches" on the Rhine whilst its waters pay such unwelcome visits to people's houses.

Leave Club Fancy Dress Ball.

I hear that the fancy dress (optional) ball at the B.E.L.C. this evening is going to be a glorious affair. If you want to be there, get a ticket, toute suite. The dress, fancy or plain, is optional, but if you want a really swagger one of the "Fancy" variety, you can get it at the club in the gallery on the top floor. Tickets are going quickly and everyone will be there. I recommend immediate booking.

Anticipated.

I suspect that many of the river folk expected the flood, as only a day or two ago it was remarked on the enormous amount of traffic going up the river, one continual stream for hours on end.

A Wharf Difficulty.

The wharves just by the Hohenzollern Bridge under water, goods are being landed and taken across the flooded roadway on precarious looking plank pathways. As the warehouses are also flooded the only alternative has been to dump goods in the open road.

Surprised.

Late at night, three Tommies, who were evidently unaware of the state of the Rhine, went rushing down the steps from the Hohenzollern Brucke in the darkness. A moment later howls of dismay arose, and three wetter but wiser Tommies climbed the steps again.

Something to Talk About.

I heard one Tommy remark to his friend as he stood at the very edge of the water, "Say, Jack, I can say now that I've stood in the Rhine."

16 Busy.

Owing to No. 14 cars not being able to do the whole journey and Bonn cars starting from the Ubierring, several extra No. 16 cars have been put on. Last night I came across three following each other and two more coming from the same direction. The tramway company do not intend to be out of pocket through the floods.

Business as Usual.

Despite the fact that the Fire Brigade were busy with hatchet, hose, etc., in a flat off Schildergasse, the occupants of the flat below and the one higher up, went on with their Christmas cleaning as if nothing unusual was happening.

The Old Query.

My thoughts went back to the old days in the vicinity of the Arras-Bapaume road, when I noticed in Columba strasse last evening, a motor lorry, still bearing the old query, "What have you salved to-day?"

Holiday Spirit.

I was amused to note a civilian walking down Glockengasse carrying a gramophone which was reeling off a popular German operetta melody, which his associates were keeping time to.

A Restless Motor car.

A car, left standing outside the Excelsior Hotel, was caught by a gust of wind and set in motion. A tram was passing at the time and the vehicles collided violently. The incident emphasises the importance of "braking" securely before leaving a motor unattended.

"Ye Warriors Bold."

Durham house on Saturday did good homage to the lads by giving high tea, winding up with games for prizes. I was forcibly reminded upon witnessing one of the latter of the Roman gladiators of old, when teams of wrestlers were engaged from amongst the Tommies to battle for victory. A circle was chalked for the arena, and the various victors looked quite doughty when they smilingly received the cheers of the multitude.

RHINELANDER.

VANITY FAIR.

A Feature For The British Woman In Rhineland.

Prices Coming Down.

At several West End establishments "marking down" has set in with great severity, and, really, things are being very much reduced, particularly day and evening gowns. The reason is that the new spring fashions will be entirely different from this winter's. During the autumn and winter of 1919 dresses have been as scanty as possible. I suppose with the spring and summer of 1920 we shall have long skirts and collars up to our ears.

A Note on Millinery.

Just how the weavers combine the different shades in squares or line checks or stripes, without lapsing into eccentricity, is their own secret. Results, in the dress world, are more important than methods any season of the year.

Avoiding Monotony.

The present fashion for using plain instead of patterned materials has brought about interesting developments in trimmings. A garment may indeed have a patterned effect, but the ornamentation is worked directly on it and comes, not all over, but just where the designer thinks it will be of the greatest value. Usually the embroidery is of the same colour as its background, contrast being obtained by using different materials—brown velvet on brown cloth, for example.

New Scarves.

Fascinating novelties are constantly making their appearance. The latest comer is a woolly scarf. In itself there is nothing particularly novel about a woolly scarf, but the new arrival is quite unlike any of its predecessors. Carried out in wool about the thickness of an ordinary pencil, it has long fringed ends, and the surface, always bright in colour, is still further enlivened by groups of hand-worked woollen flowers. The scarves are wide, too, and can be disposed round the shoulders in such a way as to suggest a cape.

Ribbons for the Hair.

Shoes and stockings should match the frock exactly. A simple wreath of leaves forms the prettiest bandeau for the hair-though there are many possible variations, among them being a ribbon tied at the back with falling ends, a gold galon band to which are attached Dutch wings of fine gold lace, or ribbons knotted over each ear, with clusters of tiny coloured flowers. Not only do these bandeaux produce the real "party feeling" but they make it possible for a girl to dance through a whole evening and still retain, in place of the usual tousled locks, a well-coiffured head.

Imitation Furs.

Coats are more often fur-trimmed than entirely of fur, and we have this season the curious alliance of imitation and real fur, the former forming the main portion and the latter the trimming. Fur may be used as a border, as a line from neck to hem emphasising the front opening, or there may be slabs of fur forming bushy side panels. Generally speaking, every smart woman must in her out-of-doors attire achieve a wrapped-up and shawled effect. All wraps are softly draped with inside pockets, which serve to keep warm the hands holding the drapery in place. Muffs are not required.

The Costly Rabbit.

Prices are so high that even the dressmakers are complaining of the cost of these new models on which their own designs are based. A plain three-quarter length coat of blue serge with a collar and binding of black plush costs in Paris £100. With the prices of other models on a similarly extravagant scale it is no wonder that exclusive London houses are refusing to make even the simplest of evening frocks for a young girl for less than thirty guiness. But it is a wonder that so many women can afford to buy them so readily.

AGNES.

MUDDLETON CRICKET CLUB.

A TALE ABOUT COLOURS.

My friends wonder why I, sworn advocate of coloured clothes for men, wearer of shot socks with spots, whose pyjamas were the admiration of three messes, should so consistently wear a black tie. There's a reason, writes W. Alexander in "London Opinion."

I had just bought some collars, and successfully resisted a broadside of "And the next thing, sir?" when the wretched hosier man drew my attention to a collection of ties on the counter.

"The very latest," he said impressively. "Have you seen them?"

As a matter of fact, no man without a bandage over his eyes could have missed them. They made any futurist picture a thing of quiet and decorum in comparison. Reds, oranges, yellows, greens, blues, indigos, violets, and all the betwixts and betweens, in stripes and wriggles, spots and blobs, were in those ties.

"What are they?" I gasped. "Has jazz extended to ties?"

"Regimental colours," he replied, fingering a neat little affair of bright heliotrope with a pink stripe. "Ought to wear yours, sir. Promotes good-fellowship. You wear your colours, sir, and you'll never need to tell anyone that you've been in the service."

The idea appealed to me. I would wear my colours. Fond mothers would point me out to their children as a "Fighthard," policemen would salute me, taximen would be polite, my tie would be the open sesame to everything. I capitulated.

Between us we found a "Fighthard" tie. It was labelled on the back—a daring creation of green and yellow, with a soupçon of red.

I put it on in the shop. It would be wrong, I argued, to leave the world any longer in ignorance of the fact that I was a real "Fighthard."

It was a great success. At a modest estimate, one out of every three people I passed took an interested glance at my tie. I bore my honours as becomes an officer and a gentleman.

But it was when going home in the train that evening that I scored my greatest triumph. Just as we were on the move, a portly old gentleman burst in and flopped on the seat opposite mine. At once I saw it. He wore the tie; he was evidently a "Fighthard," too. Simultaneously he fixed his eye on mine, and his whole face lit up with enthusiastic friendliness.

"Charmed to meet you, sir," he said, leaning across the carriage and extending his hand. "Glad to see you're wearing the old colours."

"Reminds you of old times, eh?" I responded, not to be outdone in good fellowship. (I did'nt recognise the old chap, but concluded he was of another battalion.)

"It does that, my boy," he answered. "Though I'm a veteran now," he added, with regret. "Done nothing since 1906; but I'm still one of you in spirit," and he fingered his tie with pride. "Say what they like," he went on, "there's not a game to beat it."

"True," I said; "but a dangerous game."

"Tut, tut," said the old fire eater. "A bruise or two; what's that? But tell me, how have the boys been getting on—and yourself?"

"Oh, I came through all right," I answered. "Got a bad knock in '16, though."

"Yes, yes," he said. "I had dozens in my day. D you keep up your average all right?"

"Average?" I queried. "I stopped one, as I said. I didn't make a business of it."

"Your batting average, sir," he said testily, "not your fielding. You're a Muddleton man, aren't you? You're wearing the Muddleton Cricket Club colours."

I was endeavouring to deal with the situation as a "Fighthard" should, when the train ran into my station. I stopped stuttering and rose to go.

"Oh, my average," I said, as I stepped from the carriage. "A fair number of 9.2's and a sprinkling of 5.9's—nothing much bigger."

But I don't know if he understood my little jape, for I hurried homeward. It was a warm day, but I turned up my coat collar.

And that's why I wear a black tie now, all day and every day.

GLADSTONE AND CHINA.

When Gladstone was at the Treasury he was also consumed with a passion for old china. There were stories about this hobby no more true, I dare say, than the one of how he went to a toyshop and ordered the whole contents to be sent to his house. Someone once asked an old friend whether there was any truth in the story. "I begin to think there must be," she said, "for I have heard it afresh every session as long as I can remember." But he did like china, and once, when Prime Minister, took the opportunity of a wait for a train in a provincial town to buy some, finding afterwards that he had not money enough to pay. So he gave his name, and, turning to Lowe, who was with him, added: "Here is my friend, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who will vouch for me." It would have been just like Lowe to have refused!

FROM EVERYWHERE.

Very Sad.—A sister of a Nuneaton bride fell dead when at the marriage ceremony.

Paris Suffers.—The coal shortage in France is becoming more and more acute.

The First.—First Jewish ship has been launched at Jaffa.

Coming Home.—Lord Grey will sail from New York on Saturday.

Unaltered.—Price of French loaf is left unchanged until next August.

Short-sighted Policy.—Army huts are banned as temporary houses at Leicester.

Debrett, 1920.—The roll of honour in Debrett contains 3,150 names.

Initiative.—Paddington is to acquire 84 houses for conversion into flats.

A Revival.—Paris has just revived the pre-war sport of skating on artificial ice.

To Civil Use.—Bradford is to take over St. Luke's Hospital, a war-time military hospital.

Collapse.—The roof of an ironworks at Charleroi collapsed. Two workmen were killed.

Guarding the Spoils.—Strict watch is being kept on the German ex-liner "Imperator" at Southampton.

Back to Cannibalism.—It is seriously asserted that cases of cannibalism are occurring in starving Vienna.

The Hotel Form.—It is said that hotel registration forms at home will soon be abolished except for foreigners.

Trouble in Store.—Ninety bombs have been found at the home of a Lisbon Syndicate.

Dear Travel.—Spanish Government contemplates increasing railway fares by 35 per cent.

A new Source.—France proposes a special tax on bull fights, cock fights, and boxing matches.

The Date.—Trial of M. Caillaux before the French High Court has been fixed for January 14.

The Sequel.—During a brawl in a Boulogne café, a British soldier was killed and another injured.

Oil.—Two oil tankers (20,500 deadweight tons each) ordered by Standard Oil Co. cost £875,000 apiece.

Won't they be Pleased?—Allied troops in the plague-infected areas in the Eastern Mediterranean are being vaccinated.

"Wind Up."—Owing to the advance of the Bolshevists the civilian population is beginning to evacuate Odessa.

Their Tribute.—Bethune, Lens, Arras and Bapaume—scenes of British victories—have been decorated with war honours.

Another Election.—An election is necessitated in the Wrekin Division of Shropshire through the death of its member.

Their Weakness.—The Labour Party's weakness in debate is said to be painfully evident.

To Pay More.—Bolton cotton mills are to be re-assessed for rating at their new value.

Still Less Sugar.—Temporary reduction of the domestic sugar ration at home will be necessary at an early date.

Welsh Coal Deal.—Another big deal by Mr. Llewellyn, the coal magnate, is announced.

Help for Dublin.—Hundreds of London police are to be drafted to Dublin in order to strengthen the police there.

Holiday Frolic.—Civilians and soldiers at Shoreham threw a German gun into the river.

Unknown.—No one has yet succeeded in identifying three soldiers in military hospitals suffering from mental trouble

Funerals Held up.—Funerals are being delayed at Glasgow through the cabmen's strike.

Prisoners Leave.—Two thousand German prisoners are now on their way from Hull to the Fatherland.

Rush for a House.—There were five applications for a house at Newton Abbot the same day as the tenant died.

A Son's Bride.—A Clapham soldier returned home from the East to find his wife living with his father by whom she had had two children.

More Statistics.—A history of the Ministry of Munitions is in course of preparation. The sum of £10,000 has already been expended upon it.

Taking his Son's House.—Mr. Asquith has sold his house in Cavendish Square and is to take that formerly tenanted by his late son, Raymond.

Service Men's Letters.—Unpaid Inland letters, posted by Service men at home, will, after Thursday, be surcharged in the ordinary way.

Angry.—It is said that the Chairman of the U.S. Shipping Board has resigned as a protest against the giving up of German liners to Great Britain.

His Opinion.—General Denikin says the Bolshevists are incapable of fulfilling obligations into which they may enter.

Strikers Become Owners.—Miners, who have been on strike, have started work on several derelict mines in the Peak district.

Drama of the Sands.—It has now transpired in connection with the sands drama at St. Annes that the woman was married three years without her relations knowing it.

A great Advance in Soap Chemistry

As a result of many years strenuous work in chemical research and its practical application, "Sapon" Soap has been perfected.

It is the greatest advance in the chemistry of Soap since that article was first manufactured.

Ordinary Soap consists of Fat deglycerined and saponified with Caustic Soda.

"Sapon" Soap is derived from Carbohydrates which when treated by the Company's patented process, yield Ammonia, Methylamine, and Trimethylamine. These Nitrogenous compounds are highly emulsifying agents, and do NOT combine with Lime or Magnesia Salts in water, as all fat-derived soaps do. Hence, no "scum" or insoluble lime soap is formed, even in the hardest water when "Sapon" Soap is used.

Dr. Shorter, of Leeds University, says of "Sapon" Soaps:—

"They contain 'surface active' colloids, whose 'surface activity' greatly exceeds that of an ordinary fat soap, and that therefore it fulfils in an extremely satisfactory manner the fundamental condition for detergent action."

SKIN DISEASES

The Amines and Amido bodies in "Sapon" Soap are readily soluble in water. They are germicidal but non-injurious owing to their colloid nature. Besides their efficiency as cleansers, they have a wonderfully sedative action.

"Sapon" Soap gives wonderful results in irritable skin diseases, such as Scabies, Eczema, Pruritis, Insect Bites, Acne, etc. The following is the best method of application when it is used for curative purposes, —moisten the Soap, rub it on the part affected and allow it to dry, on.

You will never use old-fashioned Fat Soap once you have used "SAPON" SOAPS and given them a fair trial.

SAPON SOAPS LIMITED
Sapon House, London Bridge, E. C. 4, England

GOLD-FLAKE NAVY-CUT
in big quantities wanted only from importer
A. KATZ
Cigaretten - Großhandlung
Duisburg a./Rhein

First quality only. Guarantee with each article. To be obtained in all good shops.

Worth millions.
500,000 tons of salt residues from the manufacture of potash, suitable for Chemical Works and extraction of chlorine, Glaubersalt, sulphite of manganese, hydochloric acid, apply to
C. A. MÜLLER,
BENRATH, Schlossallee 17.

ALPACA-SETS
stock Cologne if you want.
ALPACA-SETS
Apply to A 465, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.
All orders will have our prompt and careful attention.

EXPORT
SAVE TIME TROUBLE MONEY
BY BUYING YOUR CUTLERY
IN COLOGNE SUCH AS
RAZORS, POCKET-KNIVES, SCISSORS, MANICURE, KNIVES, FORKS AND SPOONS. SAFETY-RAZOR BLADES.
AT THE LOWEST PRICES FROM STOCK IN COLOGNE
F. ADAMS, GLADBACHER-STRASSE 21

Paul Horstmann
COLOGNE
Schildergasse 112
Toys Wholesale
MOUTH-ORGANS
MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
Big stock. Manufacturers Agents

The Cologne Post
BOOK ROOM
Large stock of books.
Any book obtained from England for you.
Daily, weekly and monthly periodicals of all kinds on the tables.
SPECIAL LADIES ROOM
THE ARCADE, HOHE STRASSE

SIMPLICISSIMUS
Cabaret and Wine-Room
— Hohestrasse 152—154. —
Daily first-class singing and dancing performances.
Open from 6.30 to 10.45 p.m.
— For Officers and Civilians only. —

LARGE
OIL PAINTING
1st class painter & work (about 10 □m) for sale. Representing an historical crown procession marching through London, it offers special interest to Britishers. Easy facility for export. Price £1200.
Apply to A 466 A.P.O./S. 40 Cologne Post.

For Exporters & Wholesalers
Coutellerie-Cutlery
Pocketknives, Scissors, razors, spoons, forks and knives, safety razors, hair-cutting machines etc.
BAUMANN & Co.
KÖLN, Berlich 43.

FOR SALE.
10 tons of 1917 hops best quality.
One half BAVARIAN HOPS,
the other half SAAZER HOPS.
To apply to
Mr. J. STENGER
WORMS-NEUHAUSEN
Müllerstrasse 1.

FOR SALE.
Best selected, first class collection of stamps. Contains OLD GERMANY, EUROPE, GERMAN COLONIES
complete 6.000 pieces.
Write A 467 Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40.

Direct Import of Spanish Wines
Single Bottles, Old Port Wine quality Superior or in small cask at very low prices owing to purchase at growers.
A. MIRET, COLOGNE-MUELHEIM
Buchheimerstr. 17.
Take Car 2, from cathedral.

BRÜHL NEAR COLOGNE
HOUSE
9 rooms and 2 attics for sale. Easy railway connection to Cologne-Bonn.
Offerts K. A. 4120, Cologne Post A.P.O./S. 40

MOTORBIKE. N.S.U. 3 H. P. 1 Cylinder, double transmission supporting dish, with springs forward and rear, big search light, new tyres, automatic oiling, almost new, for sale to highest bidder WIEGAND, Cologne-Ehrenfeld, Eichendorfstrasse 88.

THE COLOGNE POST
HOME SUBSCRIPTION FORM
To Subscription Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O./S.40 Rhine Army
I enclose remittance for 20 marks. (From United Kingdom 3/4.)
Please send "The Cologne Post" daily for one month to:
PLEASE WRITE IN BLOCK LETTERS
NAME:.....
ADDRESS:.....
20 MARKS COVERS ALL BRITISH POSSESSIONS

THE RHINELAND EXCHANGE
Count number of words — reckon 7 to a line — and send 4 Marks per line to Small Advt. Dept. Cologne Post, A.P.O.S./40 British Army of the Rhine.

FOR SALE.
SIX-SEATER open car (45 h.p.) for sale. Complete with tyres and spares, head lamps, hood, etc., upholstered in leather, practically new (1000 miles), guaranteed in perfect condition. Price 100,000 Marks, or near offer. Write Box 351, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

LETTER-STAMPS, post fresh, English Colonies, very rare specimens, for sale. Sale from 10½—1. Jossey Roppaportze, Richlerstrasse 45.

HANDSOME silk Damask table cover, with eighteen napkins to match, new, also Otter fur lining for coat; Lady's side saddle and riding boots, and one pair field glasses. Apply Pt. Thomas Smith, Remount Camp, Cologne-Deutz. (1)

BEAUTIFUL PICTURES, by very good painters, for sale. Rittorstr. 50 III, opposite the College Hansa Ring. Tram car 12.

TO LET.
BEAUTIFUL HOUSE with garden, suitable for office; owner was agent of foreign firms for a long time. Write A 464, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

LOST.
GERMAN female shepherd dog, six months old, called Rita, with leather collar and brass rivets, lost on Xmas day. Reward to anyone bringing it to Kurfürstenstr. 27, ground floor.

BLACK dog, white mark on chest. Answers name of "Snowball." Reward given. Information to C.R.E. Rhine Garrison (2).

LOST or stolen from 17, Belverderstrasse, Mungersdorf, on 26th inst., a small white Fox Terrier, black patch on hindquarters, ring on forehead. Answers to "Lily." 150 Marks reward. T. Whitfield a/51 Officers Mess Mungersdorf. (1)

LANGUAGES.
WOMAN student of the Cologne University would give German lesson to English lady or exchange lesson with her. Write to A 468, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40.

VOELKER SCHOOL, Neue Langgasse 3 I German, French, Italian and Russian lessons for Englishmen.

WANTED.
ENGLISH LADY requires post as interpreter. Full or part time. Many years resident in Germany. Translations carried out at short notice; terms moderate. Write Box 354, Cologne Post, A.P.O./S. 40 (3)

FOR SALE.
51 SOLID BAND TYRES—press-on type—size 720 mm × 120 mm × 560 mm fitting (Inside Diam of Rims 560 mm), absolutely new, for delivery in Cologne. Apply to O., i.c., M.T., N.A.C.B., Baumwollen Spinnerei, Bayenstrasse 25, Cologne. (6)

Printed and published by "The Cologne Post" at 35 Marzellen-Strasse, Cologne, December 31, 1919. Address all communications "The Cologne Post" A.P.O. S.40 British Army of the Rhine.

Zeitung 549